

GRAND MASTER JUNKIN WINS RE-ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

At the Morning Session of the Canadian Oddfellows.

WARM FIGHT FOR DEPUTY

But Wm. Irwin, of St. Thomas,
Was Again Chosen To Fill the Office.

The election of officers was commenced, but not completed, at the morning session of the C. O. O. F. convention.

The first ballot was for the grand master's position.

Mr. W. F. Junkin has been grand master during the past two years, and so efficient have been his services that he was re-elected this morning without opposition. His election created a great deal of enthusiasm among the members, with whom Mr. Junkin is very popular.

He thanked them in a brief speech for the great honor done him, and promised to do his duty during the coming term.

The D. G. M.

There was a great contest for the deputy grand master's chair.

The present occupant is Mr. William Irwin, of St. Thomas, who was up for re-election.

He was opposed by Messrs. McWatters, Lindsay, Adams, Toronto, and Lindsay, Evelyn.

It was a merry fight, and it took four ballots to show Mr. Irwin again a winner with a small margin over his competitors.

The remainder of the officers will be elected this afternoon.

No Optional Insurance.

The discussion on the constitution was resumed this morning, when the question was finally settled.

There was a long debate on some features of it, especially on the subject of "Optional Insurance."

It was decided to make the insurance compulsory, as it has been heretofore.

The Rates.

The matter of raising the rates was also discussed, but no action was taken on this matter.

In 1905 the rates had been raised for new members, and it was thought advisable to raise the rates on all members. Some advocated that the rate be raised on all members to correspond with the new rate, allowing the old members to come in at the age they were when joining. This did not meet with the favor of the majority of the delegates, however.

Constitution Adopted.

There were several slight amendments to the constitution, and it was finally passed.

DIVORCED WITH AN AXE

Farmer's Wife Killed Her Husband, and Then Took Poison.

Little Falls, N. Y., June 18.—Martin Finn, a farmer, was instantly killed by his wife Elizabeth as he lay asleep in his home in Salisbury, N. Y., early today.

Mrs. Finn walked to the home of her mother, a mile distant, where she drank Paris green and chloroform. She probably will die.

Mrs. Finn used an axe to kill her husband, striking him a terrible blow on the head as he lay in bed. When she reached her mother's home she told her mother what she had done and announced her intention of committing suicide.

Mrs. Finn is 42 years of age and her husband was 45. Mrs. Finn had taken steps towards securing a divorce from his wife, and it is believed that domestic difficulties were the cause of the tragedy.

CASE OF LOCKJAW AT VICTORIA HOSPITAL

Frank Clery's Recovery Is Not Looked For.

Frank Clery, of 384 Hill street, is in such a critical condition at Victoria Hospital today with tetanus, that the physicians have given up all hope of his recovery.

Mr. Clery was brought to the hospital on June 8 from Port Stanley where he was engaged in working on the new Government docks.

Mr. Clery is totally unable to move, every joint in his body being locked. He is suffering intensely and although the doctors are doing everything possible to relieve his suffering, it is not thought that he will recover.

A physician stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that the case is the second one in the city within the last five years.

GOOD MAN GONE

Publisher of Gloversville (N. Y.) Herald Dies in Montreal.

Gloversville, N. Y., June 18.—Chas. B. Knox, aged 50, one of Gloversville's most philanthropic citizens, publisher of the Morning Herald of this city, and a man widely known for his public-spiritedness, died early today in Montreal. He had been ailing for some time, and had but recently gone to a camp near Montreal in search of health. He was on his way home when he died.

TWO WORK CARS CAME TOGETHER

Small Collision on Dundas Street Line of the Street Railway.

Another street car collision occurred on Dundas street yesterday, when two work cars came together.

The construction car was standing on Dundas street, where the new tracks are being laid, with several rails on.

The Victoria, which is being used for a work car, came along, and before it could be brought to a stand one of the rails on the construction car rammed in the front of the vestibule, and poked a hole in the roof.

The rail ran in to the left of the motorman, but did not strike him.

No person was injured.

BULL TERRIER KILLED P. J.'S CAT

Mr. Watt Gave Battle, But Could Not Save the Feline.

There was a short but interesting fight, followed by a short but interesting chase on the market square yesterday afternoon.

It seems that a pet cat of Mr. P. J. Watt came out on the back steps of his store to look around and see what was doing.

The cat had only just emerged when a bullterrier belonging to someone, at present unknown, made a dash for it, and before it knew what was doing it was being shaken as it had never been shaken before.

At about the 23rd shake, Mr. Watt "got wise" to what was doing, and, grabbing a heavy cane, made for the dog.

The bullterrier saw him coming, and made off with the cat in its mouth.

Mr. Watt pursued it, and the dog dropped the cat and made off.

The cat was so badly injured that it died during the afternoon.

ELEVEN SOLDIERS IN HOSPITAL ARMY MEDICAL CORPS BUSY

But No Serious Cases Have as Yet Been Reported From Goderich Camp—General Otter Pleased With Inspection—News From the Militiamen in Training.

[By Our Own Man.]

Goderich, June 18.—Among divisional orders for the day are the following:

Medical officer of the day, Capt. Sinclair, Thirty-second Regiment.

Next for duty, Prov. Lieut. R. G. Kelley, Twenty-seventh Regiment.

The Army Medical Corps of the camp has eleven men in the hospital today.

There has been no serious illness reported to date, however.

General Otter There.

The Goderich camp was inspected yesterday by General W. D. Otter, chief of general staff, and Lieut.-Col. J. Peters, D. O. C.

Everything was found to be in first-class order.

Gen. Otter expressed himself as being pleased with what he saw. The men of the camp are very thankful to Sergt-Major Woodburn, of the Royal Canadian Engineers, and his very able corps of workers, for the pontoon bridge built across the Maitland River just outside the camp grounds.

The bridge saves a walk of two miles in going to Goderich.

Artillery Instruction.

Sergt-Major Instructor Burbeck, R. C. H. A., Toronto, is giving a course of instruction to the Sixth Field Battery.

Shooting began at the ranges yesterday, one company from each regiment taking part. High scores were the order of the day.

Canteens are run strictly in accordance with regulations.

The citizens of Goderich are very highly pleased with the camp.

The non-commissioned officers and men of the R. C. H. A. were very agreeably surprised yesterday when Quartermaster - Sergt. Instructor Blake-Foster, of Toronto, formerly of London, arrived in camp, and reported at headquarters.

He was assigned to the instruction of sub-target machines.

Continuing its session practically all night in order to reach, as it did, just after 2 a.m., a final vote on the platform, obviated any further recess of the convention on account of unfinished committee work.

There were three major matters left to be disposed of when the convention began this morning, the nomination for the presidency, the nomination for the vice-presidency, and the adoption of the platform.

In point of general interest the last is first. Nothing else has so divided sentiment among the delegates as the proposed plank in the platform dealing with the question of court procedure, better known as the "Injunction Plank," by reason of its special reference to the use of injunctions and restraining orders of courts in connection with controversies between employers and employees. The plank was finally adopted in the form

Presentation To a Worthy Soldier Major Hayes To Be Honored Monday

Popular Officer Will Bid Farewell To His Regiment in the Armories.

Major Hayes, who has been connected with the Seventh Regiment for thirty-three years, but who resigned his command not long since, will be presented with a magnificent set of silver cutlery by his fellow officers at the Armories on Monday night.

Col. Reid has the arrangements in hand and the affair promises to be out of the ordinary.

The retiring officer, Major Hayes, is very popular with the men, and great regret was expressed at his retirement.

His fellow officers desired to show their appreciation of his valued services and decided to present him with the cabinet of cutlery.

The regiment will be drawn up in hollow square on the Armories floor, and Major Hayes will be presented by the cabinet by the commanding officer, his adjutant Capt. McCrimmon reading the address.

Major Hayes has devoted a large part of his time to the regiment, and his proficiency in marksmanship is due to his untiring efforts along these lines.

Republican Platform Builders Busy Put in a Heavy Night at Chicago

The Court Procedure Plank Was a Puzzler—Speculating on Possibilities.

Chicago, June 18.—Whether the Republican national convention will finish its work and reach the point of final adjournment today, or whether it will extend over into tomorrow (as seems probable, or even longer), was the subject of much speculation today. Two hours of time were gained to begin with over the two preceding days by fixing the hour of convening at 10 a.m. instead of noon, and an agreement was reached yesterday to the effect that the army of nominating speeches planned for should be curtailed materially to two speeches being made for each nominee.

The committee on resolutions by continuing its session practically all night in order to reach, as it did, just after 2 a.m., a final vote on the platform, obviated any further recess of the convention on account of unfinished committee work.

MR. STEVENSON BY ACCLAMATION

Supreme Chief Ranger Unopposed—Fred Darch Auditor—Other Officers.

Toronto, June 17.—Mr. Stevenson's statement to the brethren last night cleared the air. He declared that the year before he came to Toronto his practice had netted him $45,000, and one year afterwards it had dropped below $20,000, and continued to decrease as he gave more time to the order. He intended, however, to disregard the emoluments that still awaited him in private life and continue with the Foresters. Following is the list of officers elected:

S. C. R.—Elliott G. Stevenson, Toronto (acclamation).

P. S. C. R.—Victor Morin, M. P., Montreal.

S. V. C. R.—Joseph D. Clarke, Dayton, O. (acclamation).

S. Secretary—R. Mathieson, Toronto (acclamation).

S. Treasurer—H. A. Collins, Toronto.

S. Counselor—W. H. Hunter, Toronto.

Auditors—George E. Bailey, Antwerp, N. Y.; Fred J. Darch, London, Ont.

Medical Board—Dr. C. B. Dixon, Los Angeles; Dr. C. Roy Clarke, Toronto.

For Past S. C. R.—Dr. W. E. Crane, Chrysler, Ont.; opposed Victor Morin and was defeated, 155 to 41.

There were two ballots for the treasurer, Collins winning on the second ballot, when he had 93 votes. The other candidates, with second ballots, were: D. W. A. Henderson, Barrie, 65; Judge P. H. Emerson, Moncton, N. B., 18; E. J. Hearn, Toronto, 6; J. R. C. McCann, Kingston, 6.

Three ran for supreme counselor's chair—W. H. Hunter got 107 votes; John O. H. Meyer, New York, 65; George A. Ellington, Chicago, 18.

Messrs. Bailey and Darch had 156 and 127 votes respectively for the auditorship over S. P. Cochrane, of Pennsylvania, 42, and Sam. Martin, Ireland, 40.

Considerable progress was made on amendments to the constitution as appended to the report of the supreme chief ranger.

After Sept. 30 applicants initiated shall be deemed to be the age of the nearest birthday at the date of initiation. Heretofore they have been rated as of age at last birthday.

Women may be admitted as social members to companion courts or courts into which both sexes are admitted. These will not carry insurance, but will pay the local rates.

An ambiguity in the constitution which allowed the offices of financial secretary and treasurer in local lodges to be held by one person, was done away with.

It was also decided to abolish the total disability department by transferring it to the mortuary department to which it formerly belonged.

A special committee was appointed to prepare a suitable memorial of the late supreme chief ranger, Dr. Orin Hyatt. The members, all of whom were intimate associates, are: Messrs. Edward Botterell, Jas. B. Halkett, E. S. Cumner, Dr. T. Millman and Hon. D. D. Attkin.

KAISER SAVES THE GIRLS

Prevents Yacht From Running Down a Boating Party.

Berlin, June 18.—The Kaiser's presence of mind averted what might have been a serious accident while the imperial yacht Alexandria was carrying him to Berlin from the annual regatta at Gruna.

The yacht was threading its way up the Spree among the densely crowded boats when a skiff, rowed by girls and steered by a man, attempted to cross its bows.

The Emperor was the first aboard the yacht to notice the danger and promptly signaled: "Stop. Reverse engines."

At the same time, by the Kaiser's orders, a sailor lowered himself overboard and pushed the skiff clear of his foot, to the great relief of the occupants, who seemed paralyzed with fright.

The Alexandria proceeded, while the crowds on the river bank who had noticed the incident cheered.

SENDING SOLDIERS TO THE ISTHMUS

Another Detachment of U. S. Troops Ordered to Panama.

Washington, June 18.—Eight hundred additional officers and enlisted men of the United States marine corps are to be sent to the Isthmus of Panama in anticipation of the coming elections there.

They will be sent by the direction of the President and will leave on the battleship New Hampshire and Idaho next Saturday and Sunday.

About 300 officers and men of the marine corps are now on their way to the Isthmus which with those now there and those to be sent on the New Hampshire and Idaho, will make about 1,250 officers and men.

Administration officers say the additional force is being sent for use in case of necessity, but they do not think there will be the slightest need for them.

CROKER'S HORSE BADLY BEATEN

London, June 17.—Richard Croker's Rhodora, which is a favorite for the gold cup at Ascot tomorrow, was badly beaten in the race for the biennial stakes at Ascot today. Rhodora was not even placed. She started a hot favorite in the betting at 6 to 4 against. Mr. W. H. Walker's White Eagle was first, Reine Claude, owned by Lord Hamilton, was second; H. C. T. Pulley's Eaton Lad was third. Seven horses ran.

ARE GOING BACK BY THOUSANDS

Steamers Crowded With Persons Who Are Returning to the Old World.

New York, June 18.—More than a thousand persons holding steerage tickets for European ports were left behind by the steamer Potsdam when she sailed yesterday with her steerage accommodations filled to their capacity of 2,000. The thousand who were unable to find accommodations were taken on the next outgoing steamer, but many of them made determined efforts to get on board the Potsdam. They were held in check by a large force of policemen which had been summoned to the pier, however, and the beat they got was a sight of the ship as with swarming decks she dropped out into the stream and started on her voyage.

As early as Tuesday evening the steamer's steerage quarters were filled, but every train from the west brought its scores of homeward-bound foreigners who had purchased tickets through the company's western agencies. The police had considerable difficulty in holding back the crowds of new-comers who attempted to force their way on board the Potsdam and several times clubs were used by the guardians of the law.

Many of the prospective passengers have little money beyond that required to get them to their homes, and it is likely that they will remain in one of the Hoboken Parks where they are now camped until the next steamer sails.

The great homeward rush of foreigners is believed to be largely due to the extremely low rates now offered for eastward-bound steerage passengers.

ROSS RIFLE ALL RIGHT

New Recruits Do Good Shooting With the Noted Weapon.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 17.—If the first day's experience of the new recruits in camp here with the Ross rifle is a criterion, that much-abused rifle is all right.

Less than 90 per cent of those firing today failed to earn the efficiency which gives them the 20 cents per day extra.

It is the first time the arm has been in the hands of a large body of militia.

FOR TOO MUCH MARRYING

Harry Cook, Toronto, Sent to Kingston for Three Years.

Toronto, June 18.—Harry Cook was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary yesterday by Judge Winchester for bigamy.

In 1906 he married Lettie Lankin, in Richmond Hill, while he had already been married for six years and had a 5-year-old baby by his first wife.

From the evidence it was shown that the second wife knew that Cook had been previously married, and the judge said that had she not been called as a crown witness he would have punished her too.

ACTOR DALY BANKRUPT

Liabilities Are Over $40,000—The Assets Only $1,375.

New York, June 17.—Arnold Daly, the actor and theatrical manager, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court today.

The petition places his liabilities at $40,246, and his assets at $1,375.

Among his creditors is Lole Fuller, the actress. He owes her $7,300 on a contract for services.

FLASH BURNED HER HAIR

Lindsay Woman Has Most Marvelous Escape From Death.

Lindsay, June 16.—Mrs. Alex. McCarty, a resident of the East Ward, had a miraculous escape from instant death yesterday.

During a severe thunder storm, which passed over the town shortly after 5 o'clock in the afternoon, lightning struck the house. Mrs. McCarty has just opened the door to call her two children, when the bolt shattered the cable end of the house.

Mrs. McCarty was struck and her hair was burned off. She was rendered unconscious, and it was two hours before she recovered her senses. She is expected to recover. The building did not catch fire.

BOYCOTT AGAINST JAPS

Strongly Maintained in China—People Dying Off Like Flies.

Hong Kong, June 18.—The boycott against Japanese is still strongly maintained.

The Government has prohibited meetings at restaurants called to discuss the question of self-government and similar subjects.

A mission, arriving from the Province of Hainan, states that people are dying of plague like flies. The scourge is abating in Hong Kong.

WANTS $100,000,000 AT ONCE

St. Petersburg, June 18.—Finance Minister Kokovtsov has introduced in the Duma a bill authorizing the immediate issue of an internal loan of $100,000,000 to cover the deficit in the 1908 budget, and other expenditures that cannot be deferred. The approval of the Duma to the project is necessary.

DREADED PLAGUE COMES TO CARACAS

Presence of Bubonic Scourge Alarms People—Not Epidemic as Yet.

Caracas, June 18.—The dreaded plague has at last come to Caracas, which for a few months past, has been spared against hope that it might be spared from the scourge, which had stricken the neighboring port of La Guaira. The city has awakened to the full knowledge that the disease is here, and the fact that the case is that of an employee of the famous La India, cafe, one of the finest in Caracas, did not tend to decrease the general alarm. It was realized that the presence of the bubonic in such quarters meant that no section of the city was safe from the scourge.

Recently an employee of La India cafe died suddenly, and it was announced that the cause of death was tetanus or lockjaw, although it became known that the body was buried immediately, and was not on one house by the police. It was only today that the people became convinced that the plague had got real hold on the city.

Officially no epidemic exists in Venezuela. President Castro's decree of May 23 announced the stamping out of the nameless disease and the opening of La Guira to commerce.

This decree has not been revoked, although the port has remained closed and there are numerous cases there at the present time.

The most reliable figures obtainable from private sources give about 100 cases in La Guira since the epidemic began there. This is a little more than one case a day, but the city has a little over 5,000 inhabitants.

CALLED TO WINDSOR

Methodists Seek to Secure Services of a Kingston Pastor.

Windsor, Ont., June 17.—The quarterly official board of the Central Methodist Church has decided to extend an invitation to Rev. Charles A. Sykes, of Kingston, to be the pastor of the church, succeeding Rev. Thomas Manning, whose term expires in June, 1909.

Rev. Mr. Sykes is a graduate of McGill University, and was ordained to the Methodist ministry in 1894. Since then he has held one or two charges in the United States, and prior to being called to the Kingston church was pastor at Smith's Falls, Ont.

DIAMOND FORMULA

FANTASTIC FARCE

Case Came To Unexpected Close at Paris—Lemoine Takes To Flight.

Paris, June 18.—The Lemoine diamond case came to an unsatisfactory ending with an unexpected climax yesterday. Lemoine has fled and his famous formula for the manufacture of diamonds is a fantastic farce.

Henry Lemoine is the Frenchman who was taken into custody a few months ago on the charge of having secured money from Julius Wernher, the English diamond merchant, on false pretenses.

Lemoine declared he could manufacture diamonds, and it is alleged that he secured a large sum of money from Mr. Wernher on this pretense. Lemoine was released to give him an opportunity to manufacture diamonds and make good his claim, and he was to vindicate himself by exhibiting stones of his own manufacture.

When the case was called in court Lemoine did not appear, and it was announced that he had fled.

In the presence of Mr. Wernher the court then opened the famous envelope said to contain Lemoine's formula. The paper inside was read, but it contained only a jumble of fantastic and senseless phrases.

CAMP IS NOW IN FULL SWING

Men Are Being Put Through Drills and Rifle Practice Daily.

Goderich, June 17.—The camp here is in full swing, and the orderly routine of military life is being carried out without a hitch. The citizen soldiery is being drilled in military maneuvers and company formations, and are becoming most proficient in the duties of soldiery. The boys were put through a hard drill today and tonight and are tired but pleased with the work accomplished.

The grounds here are ideal for the work, giving the regiments plenty of room for the most difficult battalion movements, and the officers in charge are enthusiastic.

General Otter, chief of the general staff, was at the camp today and made an inspection. He is reported to be highly pleased with the efficiency of the camp.

Rifle Practice.

Rifle practice is being carried out systematically. Capt. McCrimmon, of the Seventh Regiment, is musketry instructor, and is drilling his men most carefully. Yesterday he had a range of 100 yards, a fine practice was had. Capt. McCrimmon is assisted by Lieut. Gibson, of Wolsley Barracks, Sergt. Blake-Forrester, of Stanley Barracks, Toronto, and Sergts. Black and Youngman, of Wolsley Barracks.

Orderly Camp.

The camp has been very orderly so far, and little disturbance has been noticed. The town of Goderich, owing to the fact that it has only two policemen is picketed at night by soldiers from the camp. The squad for picket duty is large, and sufficient to cope with any disturbance. Every man out after "last post" has been sounded is hustled off to the guardhouse immediately. This has materially assisted the townspeople in maintaining order.

The Infantry.

There are 2,600 infantry in camp, divided as follows: Twenty-sixth, 369; Twenty-seventh, 269; Twenty-eighth, 344; Twenty-ninth, 300; Thirtieth, 450; Thirty-first, 320; Thirty-second, 350. The Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, and Twenty-eighth Regiments compose the First Brigade and the other regiments form the Second Brigade.

The Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. has a large tent on the grounds, on the extreme east of the lines. It is in charge of Mr. S. B. Wilson, secretary of the Brantford Y. M. C. A. He is assisted by Mr. Stanley Brent, physical instructor of the Y. M. C. A., London; H. H. Hamilton, secretary of the Paris Y. M. C. A., and Messrs. J. S. McPhail, Stratford; Cyril Carls, and Reginald Tye, of Goderich, and William Ross, of London.

A bridge is being erected over the Maitland River making the distance to town two miles shorter. The work is being done under the superintendency of the Royal Engineers.

The health of the camp is good.

RECOUNT FOR GOVIN

Ex-Premier's Friends Say Ballots Were Tampered With.

Montreal, June 17.—A sensation was caused here today when a recount of the votes cast in the provincial election in St. James' division, where Henri Bourassa defeated the late Premier, was asked.

In St. Hyacinthe, where he also was a candidate, Mr. Bourassa was declared elected by a majority of 28 votes, the 31 ballots rejected being allowed by the judge.

MOORE—ROBINSON

Popular Couple Wedded at Bride's Home in South London.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season, mention of which was made in Wednesday's Advertiser, took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Robinson, South London, when their eldest daughter, Maud, was united with Mr. Ernest Moore, a very popular traveler of the city.

The bride, looking charming in a dress of cream silk organdie, trimmed with French valenciennes lace, carrying a bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Charlotte Robinson assisted the bride, while Mr. Charles Moore ably supported her in the groom.

The bridesmaid wore a very becoming gown of pale blue silk organdie, trimmed with French valenciennes lace and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played very cleverly by Miss Eva Stephenson, cousin of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. A. K. Birks, before a bank of orange blossoms, followed by a dainty wedding luncheon.

Very beautiful and costly gifts were received, some coming from very long distances, which showed the high esteem in which the young couple are held.

Some of the friends from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Welsh, Clinton; Miss Mary Drysdale, Hensall; Miss Emma Rothwell, Clinton.

The happy couple left on the east-bound flyer for points on the Muskoka Lakes, where they intend spending a short time before taking up their residence in West London.

The bride wore a travelling suit of tan and hat to match.

They carry the best wishes of their many friends.

“Sunshine” Furnace

Where Shaking is Respectable

A Draft off furnace dome, with no other assistance, is powerless to overcome the dust nuisance in shaking time. Only surplus dust rises off itself above the fire. Great bulk descends into ash-pit, and unless legitimate outlet is therein provided, dust will escape through ash-door slots and into operator's face.

In “Sunshine” Furnace the legitimate dust outlet is provided. It's a great big dust-pipe running straight from ash-pit to dome, thence to chimney. When big pipe damper is opened, all dust in ash-pit ascends to dome; then, when direct drafts are opened, all dust passes up chimney.

Always the clean and quick dust route in “Sunshine” Furnace—via grate, to

THE COLLAPSE OF THE HODGINS CHARGES.

Major Hodgins has been taught a lesson which should be of service to him for the remainder of his life. When dismissed from the employ of the Transcontinental Railway, Commission he made accusations in the Victoria Colonist against that body of such a character as to prompt the commissioners to demand an investigation. The inquiry had not proceeded far before it could plainly be seen that Major Hodgins had been relying more upon imagination than facts, and had evidently been feeding his grudge at the expense of his veracity. When placed under oath he picked his own bubbles. Instead of being a prosecution he was placed on the defensive. He resorted to the old trick of "blaming it on the reporter," claiming that he had been misrepresented by the Victoria newspaper. The Colonist, a Conservative journal, countered on him in this fashion:

"Hodgins was correctly reported. He either did not tell the truth in Victoria or he is not telling it at Ottawa. We state in the most emphatic manner possible that Hodgins knew and approved of what the Colonist represented him as saying. This paper has a reputation to maintain, and it does not propose to allow any man to create the impression that it has published false or misleading statements."

It is noteworthy that Hodgins allowed his accusations to be spread broadcast over the country without even hinting at misrepresentation or exaggeration. But for the fact that Chairman Parent, on behalf of the commissioners, demanded an investigation, the Hodgins "charges" would still be serving as Conservative political capital.

Going into details, Hodgins, in the witness box, admitted that he had never appealed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier to take action, which clears the Premier of the imputation of having refused to act to protect the country. He was also compelled to admit that if there was any wrongdoing the commissioners were in no way responsible for it, and that none of the commissioners had ever discussed with him the matter of classification, or made improper suggestions to him. Indeed, Hodgins' whole grievance dwined down to a dispute between himself and other engineers on a technical sum of classification, the sum involved, instead of amounting to millions of dollars, being a comparatively small affair.

The sequel came yesterday when Hodgins abandoned his charges and his counsel threw up the case. While this should be a lesson, as already said, to Hodgins himself, there is not much hope that it will be taken to heart by his party abettors. From one end of the country to the other the Conservative press raised the cry of "scandal" against the Transcontinental Railway Commission on the strength of Hodgins' accusations. It would have been ordinary fair play to have waited until the Hodgins charges could be tested by the committee of inquiry, but this is not the manner in which the Ottawa Opposition and its press prefer to play the game.

BRITAIN'S COLOSSAL WEALTH.

The phenomenal growth of the wealth of the people of Great Britain is set forth by a Fellow of the Royal Statistical Society in a letter to the London Nation.

The income of the part of the British nation assessed for income tax is £980,000,000 this year, according to the Government returns, compared with £734,000,000 in 1898. The former figure is the income of about a million of income tax payers, who are in receipt of £180 per annum and upwards. Statisticians in the past have assumed that income tax payers have half the total income of the population. On this basis the total income has risen from £1,164,000,000 in 1875 to nearly £2,000,000,000 in 1908. They have also assumed that the total capital of the nation is eight times as great as its annual income. On this basis the capital of the British people today is £16,000,000,000 and has increased £235,000,000 annually for the past 33 years.

"In 33 years," adds the writer in the Nation, "we have gone far on the road to double our income and capital. There seems no slackening in our industries, trades, or commerce. This globe consists of about 48,000,000 square miles of cultivable lands, and we possess, in one form or another, about a quarter of it. Our ships carry half the whole maritime trade of the commercial world. And yet we are not progressing, in the opinion of some of us, simply because we are importing more than we export, and must, thereby, be impoverished. If so, how does it happen that we have added an average of £235,000,000 to our capital per annum for the past 33 years?"

He goes on to compare British progress with that of Prussia and France, which have populations nearly equal to Great Britain's. In Prussia the incomes exceeding £100 per annum aggregate £200,000,000 per annum, or about one-fifth the British total. In France, two eminent statisticians, Dr. Bertillon and M. de Flaix, have recently estimated the total assets of the country at $9,000,000,000, or a little more than half of Britain's capital. "Each of these great countries is hopelessly behind this country as a wealth-producer," says the writer, "and both have 'scientific tariffs' that the tariff reformer's own heart?"

The Nation argues that in view of the enormous accumulation and growth of British wealth, it is absurd to argue that the resources of a free trade Chancellor of the Exchequer are exhausted.

A GREAT REFORM.
The Laurier Government has taken another bold and forward step. The civil service reform bill introduced yesterday is one of the finest achievements of the Administration, and a hopeful omen for Canadian public life.

Briefly, the bill aims to take the whole inside civil service out of the hands of politicians; to divorce it from the patronage system; to free it from party pull.

Entrance to the service will be by merit alone, as determined by competitive examinations open to all applicants without distinction of party. It will be no longer necessary for candidates for the inside service to belong to the party in power, and to have a pull with the dispensers of patronage. The only test will be ability and fitness, so far as these can be ascertained by an examination system, combined with the personal judgment of the civil service commissioners, who are to be independent of party.

When vacancies arise in the inside service, the commissioners will advertise the offices open, and hold examinations. They will rank the competitors in order of merit, having regard not only to their standing in the written test, but to their character, habits and other qualifications. The commissioners will also regulate promotion in the inside services, not by examination, but by the issue of certificates of merit, based on monthly records of the conduct of employees.

While the new law will apply only to the inside service—i. e., the service at Ottawa—any branch of the outside service may be brought under its provisions by order-in-council. Doubtless in time the new system will cover the whole service, inside and outside, but the Government has thought it wiser to restrict the new plan to the Ottawa service, so as to test it thoroughly before going further.

The new regulations will raise the tone and efficiency of the public service, and at the same time help to elevate party politics by relieving it of some of the incubus of patronage.

The Opposition found the Hodgins case a boomerang, not a scandal.

Now for a Whitney civil service reform bill! If it is good for Ottawa, it will be good for Toronto.

Bravo, Laurier! The civil service reform bill is an exhibition of the higher politics and the moral spirit of the Liberal party.

The Ross rifle appears to be doing well at the militia camps. It will receive a fairer test there than in the House of Commons.

Chicago is maintaining its reputation as the Windy City. The Republican convention yesterday shouted 45 minutes for Roosevelt.

A New Brunswick society bells has eloped with a coachman. The young lady is scarcely up-to-date in her romantic notions, or she would have chosen a chauffeur.

It is easy for an Opposition to advocate civil service reform, but a Government, with the power of patronage in its hands, requires moral courage to take the step.

The Ottawa Opposition complains that it has been "thrown down" by Major Hodgins. The Opposition wouldn't have been thrown down if it hadn't built so high on foundationless charges.

Every lad under 18 caught smoking is now a case for the policeman. Sir Wilfrid Laurier favored a sound spanking, but it seems that more and more the law must step in to fulfill the duties which parents neglect.

LORD CROMER ON THE PREFERENCE.

[Lord Cromer, in House of Lords.]
Everybody knows that at periods of electoral excitement the standard of veracity in this country sinks to a somewhat low ebb. I confess as an impartialist I should look forward with little satisfaction to a general election taking place where every political party would ring with the statement that the dear loaf was due to the sacrifices made for our fellow-subjects in the colonies. Would such a contingency strengthen the bonds of union with the colonies? It appears to me that it would produce the very opposite result.

"Yes, sah, I does. One ob dese yeah lawyers done gib me foah dollars for to swear to suffin'. Dat's de value of an oath. Foah dollars, sah." And then there was consternation in the court room.

DEGENERATE TORY LEADERS.

[Dr. McPhail's Address in Boston.]
In Canada public life is not so desirable as it used to be. In our representative assemblies one hears language which would not be tolerated in any company of decent and civilized men. Instead of being actuated by principle, too many of the members are animated by party spirit and individual hate. A member likens a minister to a whipped spaniel. By an unfortunate accident a government face-breaking steamer was sunk to the bottom of the St. Lawrence, and the most party could ask was if steps had been taken to recover the silverware with which it was furnished.

YE EDITOR RUMINATES.
[Oakville Record.]
Isn't it queer how people will take foul-smelling old bank notes, put them in their pockets and never think a thing about it? Yet there is a strong aversion to having anything to do with the pasted board bread ticket or, for fear of catching some dread disease therefrom, A bank note passes through many hands, and is gladly received by all.

DOLLAR BILLS BY WEIGHT.
[Kansas City Star.]
"Dollar bills are worth almost their weight in gold," a bank president said the other day to a depositor.

"Yes, I suppose they come in handy for change and are easy to carry," the depositor replied, absently.
"No, I was speaking literally," the bank president said. "We got into an argument in the bank here the other day as to how much a dollar bill weighed. A $20 gold piece weighs 50 grains. We found that 27 crisp new $1 bills weighed the same as a $20 gold piece. We tested some that had been in use, and found that they took but 26 of them to balance to gold piece. I suppose that 2 used bills gather an accumulation of dirt in passing from hand to hand that weighs about what one new bill does."

HARDSHIPS OF FRENCH PRIESTS.
[London correspondent New York Sun.]
The decline in religious sentiment in France is illustrated in a rather remarkable manner by the publication in the Gazette de France, a leading Roman Catholic organ, of its inquiries concerning a series of collections organized throughout the country for the maintenance of the clergy and certain pious works. Apprehensions were rife that the contributions would not suffice to cover the needs of the clergy, and the clerical order regret that the result had been below the worst expectations. In the Diocese of Sens, 133 parishes have not contributed a single cent toward the good works, although the local cures made house-to-house visitations. In other dioceses receipts have also been very poor.

At many places priests have to turn to manual work to support themselves. Many of them have taken to sewing and knitting, and by the sale of their handiwork they manage to earn a precarious living.

A CANDID FRIEND'S ADVICE.
[Hamilton Spectator, Conservative.]
As the Spectator has intimated before, and here repeats, there is room for improvement in the methods and management of the attorney-general's department of the Province. That story of Ancester barn burnings is further evidence of the need for a shuffling among the dog bones.

"O! MY POOR HEAD"

STOP THOSE HEADACHES.

Headache and neuralgia are pronounced signs of blood poisoning. This poisoning of the blood comes from the waste matter of the body being left in the system, instead of being regularly carried off by the bowels, kidneys and skin.

When the bowels do not move regularly, the refuse is absorbed by the blood. Thus, the blood is loaded with foul poisons which irritate the nerves.

Poor skin action also causes headache and neuralgia. Impurities cannot escape through the skin, so the blood must take them up and deposit them on the nerves.

If the bowels and skin are not riding the system of waste, the kidneys try to do so and are overworked.

There is just one way to cure headaches and neuralgia—to regulate the bowels, kidneys and skin so that all the poisons of the body will be properly carried off.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep blood pure and rich—relieve the stomach and kidneys—regulate the bowels; and invigorate the skin to healthy action. "Fruit-a-tives" are a wonderful discovery, being a combination of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box—six for $2.50. At all dealers, or from "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa.

Pleasing Feature of the Convention in the City Hall

Yesterday.

Discussions on the new constitution took up most of the time of the convention of the C. O. O. F. at the city hall yesterday. Satisfactory progress is being made with the work, and the delegates are well pleased with the situation.

In the afternoon, Mayor Stevely, accompanied by Ald. Ferguson and Ald. Beattie, was introduced to the convention, and made an address of welcome. He expressed his pleasure at meeting the members of the C. O. O. F., and hoped that they would enjoy their visit to the city.

Ald. Beattie and Ald. Ferguson also welcomed the visitors to the city, and hoped they all would enjoy their visit here.

Brief replies were made to the speeches of welcome by Mr. W. T. Junkin, grand master; Mr. W. H. Shaw, grand treasurer, and other members of the order.

Evening Session.
There was also a large representation of the delegates at the evening session.

The question of "Optional Insurance" was discussed at considerable length.

It was decided to have the Hunter system of insurance in use in the order.

It is expected that the discussion on the new constitution will be finished this morning, after which the election of officers will take place.

P. G. Mearns, of Peterboro, arrived last evening, and was given a royal welcome by the delegates.

THE CRIMSON BLIND

BY FRED M. WHITE

Rawlins was really interested at last.

"Pardon me," he said, eagerly, "if I ask a question or two before you proceed. Is Mr. David Steel the gentleman who found a man half-murdered in his house in Brighton?"

"The same. But don't you know who the injured man was?"

"You don't mean to say it was Van Sneek?" Rawlins cried.

Chris nodded gravely. Rawlins looked like a man who was groping about in a sudden daze of blinding light.

"I begin to understand," he muttered. "The scoundrel!"

"After that I will resume," Chris said. "You must understand that Mr. Steel was a stranger to us. We hit upon the idea of interviewing him anonymously, so to speak, and we were going to give him a gun-metal cigar-case mounted in diamonds. A friend of mine purchased that cigar-case at Lockhart's. Mind you, Reginald Henson knew all about this. The same day Henson, we should have said, purchased a similar case from Van Sneek—a case really procured for your approval—and later on in the day the case passed from Van Sneek to Henson, who dexterously changed the cases."

"Complex," Rawlins muttered. "But I begin to see what is coming."

"The cases were changed, and the one from Henson's in due course became Mr. Steel's. Now note where Henson's diabolical cunning comes in. The same night Van Sneek is found half-murdered in Mr. Steel's house, and in his pocket is the receipt for the very cigar-case that Mr. Steel claimed as his own property."

"Very awkward for Steel," Rawlins said, thoughtfully.

"Of course it was. And why was it done? So that we should be forced to come forward and exonerate Mr. Steel from blame. We should have had to tell the whole story, and then Henson would have learnt what steps we were taking to get rid of him."

Rawlins was quiet for some time. Admiration for the scheme was uppermost in his mind, but there was another thought that caused him to glance curiously at Chris.

"And that is all you know?" he asked.

"Not quite," Chris replied. "I know that on the day of the attempted murder."

to imagine for a moment that David Steel was the criminal. Who else could it be, then, but Reginald Henson?

"I'm afraid this has come as a shock to you," Rawlins said, quietly. "It has, indeed," said Chris. "Your reasoning is so dreadfully logical."

"Well, I may be wrong, after all," Rawlins suggested.

Chris shook her head doubtfully. She felt absolutely assured that Rawlins was right. But, then, Henson would hardly have run so terrible a risk for a little thing like that. He could easily have silenced Van Sneek by a specious promise or two. There must be another reason for—

It came to Chris in a moment. She saw the light quite plainly.

"Mr. Smith," she said, eagerly, "where did you first meet Henson and Van Sneek?"

"We first came together some eight years ago in Amsterdam."

"Would you mind telling me what your business was?"

"So far as I can recollect it was connected with some old silver—William and Mary and Queen Anne cups and jardinières. We had made a bit of a find that we could authenticate, but we wanted a lot of the stuff, well—faked. You see, Van Sneek was an authority on that kind of thing, and we employed him to cut marks off the silver, and then we sold them to spurious large ones. On the whole, we made a very successful business of it for a long time."

"You found Van Sneek an excellent copyist. Did he ever copy anything for you?"

"No. But Henson employed him now and again. Van Sneek could construct a thing from a mere description. There was a ring he did for Henson—"

"Was that called Prince Rupert's ring, by any chance?"

"That was the name of the ring. Why?"

"We will come to that presently. Did you ever see Prince Rupert's ring?"

"Well, I did. It was in Amsterdam again, about a year later than the time I mentioned just now. Henson brought the real ring for Van Sneek to copy. Van Sneek went into raptures over it. He said he had never seen anything of the kind so beautiful. He made a copy of the ring, which he handed back with the original to Henson."

Chris nodded. This pretty faithful copy of the ring was the one that Henson had used as a magnet to draw Lady Littimer's money and the same one that had found its way into Steel's possession. But Chris had another idea to follow up.

"You hinted to me just now that Henson was short of money," she said. "Do you mean to say he is in dire need of some large sum?"

"That's it," Rawlins replied. "I rather fancy there has been some stir with the police over some business up at Huddersfield some years ago."

"A so-called home both there and at Brighton?"

"That's it. It was the idea that Henson conveyed to me when I saw him at Moreton Wells. It appears that a certain Inspector Marley, of the Brighton police, is the same man who used to have the warrants for the Huddersfield affair in his hands. Henson felt pretty sure that Marley had recognized him. He told me that if the worst came to the worst he had something he could sell to Littimer for a large sum of money."

"I know," Chris exclaimed. "It is the Prince Rupert's ring."

"Well, I can't say anything about that. Is this ring a valuable property?"

"Not in itself. But the loss of it has caused a dreadful lot of misery and suffering. Mr. Smith, Reginald Henson had no business with that ring at all. He stole it and made it appear as if somebody else had done so by means of conveying the copy to the very last person who should have possessed it. That sad business broke up a happy home and has made five people miserable for many years. And whenever you turn, whichever way you look, you find the cloven foot of Henson everywhere. Now, what you have told me just now gives me a new idea. The secret that Henson was going to sell to Lord Littimer for a large sum was the story of the missing ring and the restitution of the same."

"Kind of brazening it out, you mean?"

"Yes. Lord Littimer would give three times ten thousand pounds to have that ring again. But at this point Henson has met with a serious check in his plans. Driven into a corner, he has resolved to make a clean breast of it to Lord Littimer. He procures the ring from his strong box, and then he makes a discovery."

"Which is more than I have. Pray proceed."

"He discovers that he has not got the real Prince Rupert's ring."

Rawlins looked up with a slightly puzzled air.

"Will you kindly tell me what you mean?" he said.

"It was a forgery. Van Sneek made a copy from a mere description. That copy served its purpose with a vengeance, and is now at the bottom of the North Sea. I need not go into details, because it is a family secret, and does not concern our conversation at all. At that time the real ring came into Henson's possession, and he wanted a copy to hold over the head of an unfortunate lady whom he would have ruined before long. You told me just now that Van Sneek had fallen in love with Prince Rupert's ring and could hardly bear to part with it. He didn't."

"No? But how could he retain it?"

"Quite easily. The copy was quite faithful, but still it was a copy. But a secretly Van Sneek makes a copy that would deceive everybody but an expert, and this he hands over to—"

"To Henson as the real ring," Rawlins cried, excitedly.

Chris smiled, a little pleased at her acumen.

"Precisely," she said. "I see that you are inclined to be of my opinion."

"Well, upon my word, I am," Rawlins confessed. "But I don't quite see why—"

WHIRLWIND OF ENTHUSIASM

and aisles and galleries and platform joined in the flow of agitation and enthusiasm.

Temporary Chairman Burrows called the convention to order promptly at 12:20, but the delay of committees in reporting gave an hour for diversion before the serious work of the day was begun. This time was given over to the visiting clubs, with bands and vocal choruses, bearing banners and strange devices of G. O. P. elephants. In front of the delegates passed this motley throng, eliciting laughter and applause.

The Young Men's Blaine Club of Cincinnati wore tall white hats and carried small American flags. Their appearance produced frenzy in the Ohio delegation. Instantly every man was on his feet, their flags tossed up and cheer after cheer rang through the hall.

The blue banner with the face of Secretary Taft, which it produced, other outburst and the Ohio men screamed and danced about while the band in the gallery struck up "Hail to the Chief."

The Hit of the Day.

The hit of the parade was a glee club which halted before the Ohio delegation and varied the enlivening strain of "Billy Taft, Yes, That's Me," with a melancholy dirge for Bryan.

This diversion over, the convention turned to work.

The presentation of the report on permanent organization was the signal for Senator Burrows to yield his place as temporary chairman and to escort to the platform the permanent chairman of the convention, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts.

Mr. Lodge, trim and businesslike, looked as from a later generation than the white-haired, roiling, clubby, His voice, too, had that resonant New England twang which made it ring out to the furthest corner of the galleries, which startled the listeners to attention.

"The President," exclaimed Mr. Lodge, "is the best abused and most popular man in the United States today."

This was the long-awaited signal. Instantly a shout broke from the galleries and was echoed back from the floor, as first only a tempest of detached yells and catcalls and shouts of "Taft!" "Taft!" gradually gathered force and volume, until it swelled to a whirlwind of sound and motion, and delegates and spectators rose en masse, mounting chairs, waving banners, cheering, shouting, and waving anything which could be seized upon to add to the tumult.

The tumult of the band struck up, but the crash of the brasses and drums, which completely lost in the babel of sound, which welled up from 14,000 throats.

Tremendous Applause.

For the first minute, Senator Lodge stood waiting to proceed, occasionally raising his hand for silence, only to see a defiant yell twice louder than before.

Five minutes passed, and instead of abating the uproar was increasing. The sergeant-at-arms moved up a chair for the presiding officer and Senator Lodge sank back to wait ten minutes—fifteen minutes.

There was no lull, no abatement. A hoarse roar had taken the place of the detached yells.

"Four, four, four years more," came in a deafening chorus from the full sweep of the gallery, as if preconcerted, each "four, four" exploding like the boom of heavy artillery.

Fifteen minutes, twenty minutes, twenty-five minutes.

Now delegations were joining in the outbreak. Some had mounted chairs—Texas, Kentucky, Tennessee—were gestulating madly. One delegate far to the left had torn off his coat and was whipping it wildly about his head. Texas and Kentucky appeared to be the center of the agitation on the floor. New York viewed the storm with calm, and so did Ohio, except, strangely, one of the loneliest, for-aker delegates, Judge Marcus Shoup, who, mounted on a chair, kept both arms in motion with a waving flag and a newspaper and his voice joining the general pandemonium.

Forty-five Minutes.

Thirty minutes, thirty-five minutes, forty minutes, forty-five minutes.

A full three-quarters of an hour had passed in this bewildering confusion of sight and sound. For a time some fear was felt by some that a stampede might ensue. But the political generals were glad to give the pent-up enthusiasm of the multitude this outlet of expression, and at no time was there the slightest apprehension among them that the well-devised business would carry through some overpowering movement. Frank H. Hitchcock, the Taft manager, moved about the floor, smiling, as the tumult was at its height.

A Prophecy.

"The cheers for Roosevelt today will be for Taft tomorrow," said he with confidence.

With the subsidence of the Roosevelt storm Senator Lodge completed his stirring speech, and then the convention turned to the reports of the other committees. That on rules and order of business brought a majority report against the resolution offered by James Francis Burke, of Pennsylvania, reducing the representation of States to a basis of the Republican vote cast by those States.

Mr. Burke presented a minority report, in which 17 of the states concurred. The resolution was finally defeated.

The final details of the platform are being arranged by the platform committee tonight, and the accomplished the convention will be equipped to-morrow to make its declaration of policy and proceed to the selection of candidates.

Chris smiled, a little pleased at her acumen.

"Precisely," she said. "I see that you are inclined to be of my opinion."

"Well, upon my word, I am," Rawlins confessed. "But I don't quite see why—"

WAS 2,000 YEARS LOST TO WORLD

Samaritan Text of the Book of Joshua Found By Hebrew Scholar.

London, June 17.—The eminent Hebrew scholar Moses Gaster describes in the Times a discovery which he believes on good ground to be the authentic text of a Samaritan version of the Book of Joshua, which has been lost to the world for two thousand years.

Three hundred years ago Scaliger obtained an Arabic chronicle based on this text from Samaritans at Cairo, but failed to secure the original, the existence of which has been denied by Biblical scholars. Gaster, however, in 1907, while visiting Samaritans at Cabulis, was given a copy by a high priest and purchased a second copy from the verger of the sanctuary.

The text of the Samaritan version, he said, is substantially the same as our canonical or Massoretic version to the end of the thirteenth chapter, after which there are radical differences, omissions and incidents derogatory to sacred history or discrediting the claims of the Samaritans. But in regard to the genuineness of the text, Gaster does not doubt that the two versions are alike on the ground of style and of its having been the basis of the Arabic chronicle and its close correspondence with the narrative of Josephus, who evidently used it as a genuine source.

Internal evidence in the text and the history of the Samaritans induce Gaster to fix the date prior to the middle of the second century, B. C. The high priest seemed to be quite unaware of the importance of the book which apparently had not been preserved in any old manuscript, but Gaster thinks that this in no way invalidates the authenticity of the text.

INTERESTING DIARY OF DYING MAN

Curious Case at Guelph—John Tcherniac a Victim of Morphine.

Guelph, June 17.—Dying by inches, and writing bulletins of his fast-ebbing life as he did so, was the peculiar and self-inflicted fate of John Tcherniac. Six hours after death his body was found in a room in the Royal Hotel on Sunday afternoon. He had taken 30 tablets of morphine, with chocolates to take away the taste. Every little while he wrote a note describing his condition.

One note says that the druggist told him that 50 tablets were enough to kill a horse, and that "29 ought to be enough for me; or, if not, he does not know his business. I hope to die."

From the notes it is learned that the first dose was taken at 10:55. The next waiting was at 11:15, when more pills were taken, and the victim wrote: "Am sweating as though I were pitching hay on a hot July day."

At 11:15 five more tablets were taken and the notes state that the unfortunate man was beginning to have difficulty. One minute later another note was made, but it is unintelligible, except that five more tablets were taken.

The last writing was at 11:35, which states: "I have just taken another five tablets. I won't be long now."

In another place he states that his friends are Mr. Black, of Acton, with whom he worked; President Creelman, of the Ontario Agricultural College, and Dr. Cox, of Acton, to whom his watch and clothes were to be sent, while among his last notes he adds that he has another friend in the druggist who sold the drug.

A letter was also found from his mother from Cannes, and a couple of applications for work. The notes do not mention any of his relatives.

Tcherniac is known here, having been a student at the Ontario Agricultural College a year or so ago. He was then considered a kleptomaniac, and was convicted of a couple of thefts in the city. He was dismissed from the college and has been working at Acton with Mr. Black for some time. He was known as a "remittance man," although one of the letters found states that he has been employed in a woodware factory in the States.

FARMER AND HIS WIFE

PRASE ZAM-BUK
As a family balm and salve Zam-Buk is unequalled, and should be on every Canadian farm. Mrs. C. E. Tibbs, of Oak Vale Farm, Winnipeg Beach, writes: "We have found Zam-Buk a wonderful healer. I used it for a very bad burn on my hand, and by the next day the pain had gone and the wound well on the way to healing. My husband also used Zam-Buk for a nasty flesh wound on his arm which it healed. In several ways we have found Zam-Buk so healing and soothing that we would not like to be without it in the house. Before we could get Zam-Buk in Canada, we used to write to England for it, we thought so much about it."

This great skin healer is sold by all druggists and stores at 50 cents a box.

FATE PURSUES SEVERAL WOMEN

One Dies on Fly-Wheel—Others Victims of Locomotives and Gas.

Chicago, June 17.—Mrs. Mary Grill was whirled to her death by her hair on a huge rapidly revolving wheel in the McCormick International Harvester works.

Two other women lost their lives under the wheels of locomotives, and another, 75 years old, was asphyxiated with her husband, 79 years of age, after she accidentally had left the gas turned on in their bedroom.

A girl 15 years old died from injuries received when she leaped from a third-story window to escape from custody.

Such was Saturday's accident list in Chicago.

Mrs. Gill, who was 24 years old, and recently married, was employed in the twine-room of the harvester works, Western and Blue Island avenues. Finding the heat oppressive, she loosened her abundant hair, and as she leaned over the loom at which she was at work the wind blew the strands over the great wheel at her side.

She was jerked from her chair before she was aware of her danger and dragged up and around with the wheel until her scalp was torn off.

Girls in the place died from the room. One of the men sought to save the victim, while another shut off the power. When the machine was stopped Mrs. Grill was dead. She lived at 640 West Eighteenth street.

Mrs. Henrietta Kornitzki, 42 years old, 829 Harlem avenue, Oak Park, was one of the women killed by a locomotive. She was crossing the tracks of the Chicago Great Western Railroad at Harlem avenue. A passenger train bore down upon her and she seemed to stand transfixed with terror. Her body was ground under the wheels.

The victim of the other railroad accident was Mrs. Benjamin Austin, 45 years old, of Edison Park. She had stepped behind a north-bound train of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad at a crossing in the suburb and was struck by one southbound.

Body was hurled high in the air and her skull was fractured and every bone in her body was broken.

Mrs. Louise Klehn and her husband, Carl, were dead in their bedroom at 448 Augusta street, by their grandson, Charles Koekoek, 30 years old, 1001 North Kedzie avenue, when he called early in the morning, as had been his custom for years, to supply their wants.

Gas was escaping from a partly opened jet. Mrs. Klehn's arm was partly paralyzed and it is believed that her infirmity led to the accident.

Desire to witness the confirmation of a cousin, which took place May 31, led to the death of Lizzie Parsch, 16 years old. It occurred yesterday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. The girl was committed to the House of Good Shepherd several weeks ago by Judge Tuthill after she had been arrested for seeking to obtain goods from department stores by fraud. The night of May 29, in order to attend the confirmation, she leaped from the window of her room in the institution, receiving the injuries which caused her death.

TEST FOR CHAUFFEURS

Auto Accidents Charged to Defective Vision of Drivers.

Paris, June 17.—That no chauffeur be granted a driver's license without first undergoing a test of eyesight, similar to the one employed with locomotive engineers, was the urgent recommendation sent to the Government this week by the Marselles Medical Society.

In the request, reports are presented showing numerous accidents on the road directly due to defective vision. Dr. Roche, who made the report to the society on the subject, related the case of a chauffeur afflicted by astigmatism who drove a car at full speed into a flock of sheep. When arrested, the man explained that he could see a gray mass ahead, but thought that this was caused by the road being freshly sprinkled. He was greatly surprised when he discovered his mistake.

Dr. Roche also cited the cases of four one-eyed chauffeurs, all of whom were known to take part in speed contests.

"To any one of these men a grain of dust might be fatal," said the physician. "Their presence at the steering wheel constitutes a public menace."

Dr. Gauthier, another prominent physician, cited the case of a chauffeur subject to temporary attacks of complete blindness.

The automobile clubs of France are requested to support the recommendation, but thus far have deferred action.

TILBURY IN A TURMOIL

Citizens Claim Rich Family Is Not Paying Share of Taxes.

Chatham, June 17.—One of the most bitter disputes that ever agitated an Ontario town will be settled on June 23, when the Tilbury West Council will decide whether the Ainslee family, who own the town, should pay their full income taxes. The numerous branches of this family are said to own the best part of the village of Comber, Essex county. Their properties are said to aggregate about $250,000.

Other taxpayers have for some time past been impressed with the smallness of the incomes of the Ainslee family, as shown by the assessor's roll. A fund was collected to investigate, and it is the intention of the appellants, in case the council decides against them, to carry the matter before the county judge.

One small bottle has done more for me than all the doctors' medicines I have taken in the last three years. "DEAD" MAN COMES TO HIS OWN WAKE

Supposed To Have Drowned in Swimming Race—Noted for His "Charmed Life."

New York, June 17.—John Green, "Jack the Swimmer," proved again that he bears a charmed life, when he walked into his home at No. 123 York street just as his parents and neighbors were preparing to hold a wake in his memory. This was after he had performed a swimming feat which was supposed to have ended his life in the East River.

Green's adventure began at the pier at Washington street, Brooklyn, where a group surrounded the swimmer and Jas. Ryan (a rival of Green), who had been anxious to have a try at the champion ever since Green won a prize last summer by swimming from the Battery to Coney Island in record time.

Green fell seven stories from a building in Brooklyn some years ago and his life was despaired of at that time. He recovered, but the fall left him somewhat deaf. Hence he had difficulty in making out all that Ryan said. His deafness, too, was responsible for the hairbreadth escape that followed.

The Race.
When the swimmer became fully alive to the determination of Ryan to egg him on to a contest he lost patience and said: "Well, get trunks, and I will swim you from here to the recreation pier at Market street in Manhattan, but you must understand that this is final. I don't want you to bother me again." Then he entered the water ten minutes later, for Ryan, it appears, had the trunks on hand.

Crowds on both sides of the river watched the swimmers as they neared the center of the stream. Green was swimming with long easy strokes, and rapidly drawing away from his rival. He was 400 feet ahead of Ryan when he reached the Market street pier, amid the cheers of the visitors there. Green touched the pier, rested a moment, and then started back. He grinned broadly when he saw Ryan still well up in the river, swimming for the pier. The latter, when he saw he was hopelessly disconcerted, turned and swam back to Brooklyn.

Green Disappears.
Up the East River was steaming a powerful harbor tug, with a float lashed to each side of it. Green was almost directly in the path of the tug and hundreds on both sides of the river shouted to the swimmer to look out. But he did not hear them, and kept on swimming for Brooklyn, his face still bearing the joyful grin at his victory over Ryan.

On came the tug and struck Green as he was reaching out for a stroke. In the twinkling of an eye he was under the water, and the tug went up from the spectators on the river banks, for they believed he had been sucked under and lost. Fifteen minutes later, however, the fireboat Abram S. Hewitt, and a number of Brooklyn policemen, entered a row-boat at the foot of Washington street, and searched for the body in vain.

The clothing of Green was taken to his York street home and the news of his death was broken to the relatives. Then the police entry of the tragedy was made at the Fulton street station, followed by the statement: "Body not recovered."

Preparing for Wake.
In the early afternoon preparations for the wake had been completed and an undertaker was discussing arrangements for the ceremony of the wake, which would be held in a strange suit. For a minute they did not know him. His mother fell fainting at his feet and his father and others in the room shouted in their astonishment.

Green picked up his mother and placed her on a sofa. After she had recovered and the swimmer had been almost suffocated with hugs and kisses, he was allowed to tell his story. It was very simple, after all.

"When I was struck I lost consciousness for a second or so, and I must have involuntarily grabbed hold of one of the car floats. I woke to find myself between the two craft in a very narrow space and in danger of being squeezed to death. The fenders saved me. I shouted, but no one heard, and no one thought to look behind the boats. It was not until a deckhand led down a bucket to get some water that I was able to grab the line and so discover myself to him. I had been carried three miles, hanging to that fender."

I was dragged aboard a minute later and given a dry suit of clothes and food. I was landed at Mott Haven, took the bridge and came home. That's all there is to it," said Green. But he was wrong. It was long after midnight before friends stopped shaking hands with him.

REBEL FLAG HAULED DOWN

Grand Army Veteran Objects to the "Stars and Bars."

Ossining, N. Y., June 17.—A Confederate flag, flying from the printing office of William J. Phipps on Main street, was hauled down by Commander Sumner A. Smith, of Morell post of the grand army.

Physicist was cited to appear before the post, and explain his action in hoisting the flag, and he discovered that the American flags also flying from poles on the roof.

Ossining is in gala attire because of a convention of farmers, and Physicist decorated his building in honor of the celebration. He declared that the flag belonged to his father, a Virginian, who fought under it during the civil war, and that he hoisted it intending no disrespect to the Stars and Stripes, but to add to the beauty of the decorations.

Physicist, it is said, was a member of the Rough Riders' Regiment during the war with Spain. He was not at his office when Commander Smith appeared there to demand that the flag be lowered, and in his absence Smith hauled it down and carried away the emblem.

YOUNG MILLIONAIRE BEGINS FACTORY LIFE

Son of President of Hard Rubber Factory Starts at Bottom.

New York, June 18.—Although he could have traveled from his father's handsome estate at College Point to the rubber works in a $10,000 automobile, John Archibald, son of the American Hard Rubber Works, started to work at 7 o'clock yesterday morning clad in jumper and overalls. He carried a tin dinner pail.

At 6 p.m. when the whistle blew he quit work and went home, tired but happy. He had put in his first day at the bottom of the ladder he has determined to climb.

Young Archibald is said to have several millions in his own right. He is just out of college and has decided to learn the hard rubber business from the ground up.

Yesterday he was assigned to the gum department, where the mixing is done. The work there is peculiarly hard. The young millionaire told the foreman when he reported for work that he would take his whack the same as any other employee.

He was rewarded in the afternoon by words of commendation from his foreman, who said that if all the employees would labor as hard the factory could be run with fewer men.

BOWLING, RACINGThe Saints Drop Double-Header
To Londons By 3-0 and 4-3

Catch and Somersault By Gracion Feature of the Contests—Jack McHugh Plays Right Field Brilliantly—Umpire Burke Has His Own Troubles.

BUMPTY, bump, bump, bump! With a crash that could almost be heard in St. Thomas, the Caboose Riders slid down the International League percentage table as if they were greased yesterday at Tecumseh Park, when they essayed to stack up against the Londons in a double-header.

Londons tanned the visitors twice, winning both games by timely hitting. The score of the first game was 3-0, and that of the second 4-3.

Barrie was permitted to hold down the slab for the railroaders in both games, and each time he weakened toward the end of the contest.

The Ump In Difficulty.

Umpire Burke had troubles of his own in the second affair, and several times it looked as though he would treat McHugh or Allen to a spanking in fatherly fashion, however, he forbore to show his temper, and everything went along as smoothly as a hayrack traveling over a rough road until the last man had been retired when only the intervention of Able Johnson prevented a disturbance.

One Look-In.

In only one session, the eighth, did the railroaders have a look-in in the opening game, and a nice throw from Klincke to Dauber settled things just as it began to look as if Staub would score a run.

Staub, by the way, is a new man on the St. Thomas team, and judging by the way he carried himself he should have no trouble in holding down a berth in the league.

Three in the Seventh.

Londons scored all three of its runs in the seventh, when singles by Leo Dauber and Johnson, coupled with a stolen base and a gift allowed the runners mentioned to score.

Payne pitched a nice steady game, as did Barrie, but the condition of the inning just mentioned. It was a pitcher's battle and the London man took the honors.

Keenan Robbed.

Keenan was robbed of a two-bagger by Staub in the eighth, the latter pulling off a wonderful back running catch. The score:

GOOD RACES AT MATINEE
GREAT DAY FOR ROBINSON

"Billy" Cleaned Up Everything in Sight—J. Darch's Pacer Also Covered Himself With Glory—A Great Day's Sport at Queen's Park Yesterday.

It was a great day for "Billy" Robinson at the matinee yesterday, and his teaming was the feature of the day. He won three races and was a bang-up second in the other.

In the first race he piloted President's McCormick's horse "Charley K." to victory.

In the second he landed Pearl Carter, owned by himself, and was third in the next race with his own mare, Ruby K. He teamed a great race in the last event with J. Darch's Billy D. and won the red ribbons. There was a fair crowd.

The Fast Class.

There were only two starters in the fast class.

George McCormick's Charley K. and James McCartney's Sailor Boy. The trotter was unsound the first time away, while Sailor Boy paced an even, steady half and won.

Sailor Boy did some galloping in the second, and Charley K. won an easy heat.

The third heat was a good one. Sailor Boy got away fast, and took the pole going round the first turn. He opened a good lead, turning into the stretch, but Charley K. was rated a splendid half by Robinson, and by a fast drive down the stretch, forced Sailor Boy to gallop, and he came home on the bit in the fastest time of the season.

Pearl Carter Won.

Pearl Carter, Billy Robinson's handsome mare, was the winner of Class 2, coming home in straight heats. She was steady as a clock, but was forced to step fast to beat Dr. Fred Wood's Pierpont. Neither Fred H. nor Bobby Burns were as good as they generally are or there would have been some racing.

Keenan Released From Londons Had Differences With Manager

Joe Jo Keenan is no longer a member of the London International League baseball team. Keenan was handed his papers last night by the local management, because he was alleged to have created dissension on the team.

Manager Wreath gave out the following statement to The Advertiser: "Let Keenan go because he has been trying to 'knife me.' The game, as I can understand it, was to form a stock company, and make Keenan manager of the team."

Mr. Wreath stated that he had been suspicious of Keenan for some time, and in order to test him, recently reduced his wages $50 a month. "Keenan took the cut without a whimper," said the local manager, "and no player would accept a cut like that without some sort of a kick."

A meeting of the team is being held today.

President "Chris" Fitzgerald Announces Changes in Plans

New York, June 18.—The Tribune says C. J. Fitzgerald, manager of the Brighton Beach Race Association announced yesterday that at the meeting of the directors of the association it was decided that the meeting at Brighton Beach could not be held on the lines mapped out before the passage of the Agnew-Hart bills.

Four Stakes Declared Off.

Four stakes which would have been run at the fall meeting and which closed yesterday were declared off including the Triumph and Undergrad stakes, the Seaside Handicap, and the Chantilly Steeplechase. It was also decided to ask owners for a release on the contracts made for the stakes to be decided at the summer meeting in July in case it should be necessary to modify or withdraw them.

PARKINSON'S PIRATES LOSE TO SAINTS

Jerry Collins Twirls Great Ball—Corcoran Knocked Off the Mound.

In a poorly contested game of ball played in the North End League last night, Cy Parkinson's Pirates were easily beaten before the hands of Jerry Collins, the curving dispenser for the Saints, by a score of 10-7.

Corcoran Hit Hard.

Corcoran, who twirled for the Pirates, was hit hard in the first inning, and was replaced by Tommy Phalen, who kept the Saints guessing from the second inning until the end.

THE W. F. A. Team Accepts Challenge

Replying to a challenge from the North End Stars the local W. F. A. team are ready to meet them on the Heights Saturday afternoon at 3:30. This should prove an interesting game and a good crowd will be in attendance to witness the play.

Fine Practice.

The W. F. A. team in playing off with the North Enders will get a fine practice game for their future matches which will in all probability take place next week.

Providence Whips Buffalo

In Eight-Inning Rally by 6-3—Made Five Hits and Four Runs.

Providence, R. I., June 17.—With the game apparently lost when the Grays went to bat in the eighth inning of today's contest, they went at it with a thousand of brick, and by means of five hits and an error on the part of the Grays, won the game by a score of 6 to 3. Tozer pitched grand ball for the first five innings, but weakened in the sixth, and never quite recovered during the remainder of the battle. He got away lucky in the sixth when two singles came with two out, and again in the seventh, when with two gone, he hit Rock and Peterson. Schum's fine catch of Froek's long fly saved him a lot of trouble. The score:

Englishmen Will Invite Everybody

The executive committee of the English picnic at the last week meeting decided to send invitations to every society in London and the surrounding country.

The committee does not represent any particular society, but is representative of every society in Canada, and the Englishmen of the city extend a hearty welcome to all.

Everything is now in good shape and the picnic an assured success, financially and otherwise.

A queen of beauty will be elected to hold court on that day and presentations to be numerous, many applications having been made.

The thanks of the committee is due to the merchants of the city, irrespective of nationality, for the very generous donations made to the fund. The prizes are valuable, and the sport promises to be first-class and the side shows most attractive.

Covered Patrol Wagon for London

At the next meeting of the police commissioners the question of a covered police patrol for this city will be brought up and steps will likely be taken either to cover the old wagon or else to get a new covered one.

Many citizens have objected strongly to taking prisoners to the station in the present wagon, especially drunken people, who shout at others in the street, and behave in a most unbecoming way on many occasions.

Occasionally women have to be taken to the station and it is not thought desirable to submit them to the curious crowd who invariably collect.

In all large cities covered wagons are used, and it is said that London is the only city in Canada where an open patrol wagon is in use.

Great Year for Pavements in London

There seems to be a run on pavements this year. Several have been laid. Several more are being laid, and several petitions are in the hands of the council.

Now it is rumored that several more pavements will be petitioned for.

A petition has already been circulated along the street between Dundas and Adelaide street between Dundas and Queen's avenue, and it has been sufficiently signed.

The same petition is being circulated further up the street and it is expected that the pavement will be carried up Adelaide street from Dundas street to Central avenue.

The petition for a pavement on street to Talbot street has been signed by Bathurst street from Richmond street to Talbot street has been found to be sufficiently signed, and tenders will be called for shortly.

The pavement difficulty on Carling street between Talbot and Ridout streets will come up before No. 2 committee tomorrow night. It is expected that the committee will recommend that an asphalt pavement be initiated on the street by a two-thirds vote of the council.

"There has been a very great deal of pavement petitioned for this year," said City Engineer Graydon, "and the end does not seem in sight yet."

The board of works will have a busy year.

There will be as much sidewalk laid this year as last, and a great deal more sewers laid.

"We have a lot of work to be done this year," said Mr. Graydon.

London Street Numbering Very Bad

The numbering of several of the city streets does not meet with the approval of many of the citizens, especially merchants, whose drivers have a great deal of trouble locating numbers.

"London is about the worst city in Canada or anywhere else to find houses," said a visitor to the city this afternoon. "It is very hard to find the streets, and when one finds them it is almost impossible to find the number one wants. The only way to do is to make a guess as to the location of the house you want, and then keep on inquiring until you get it. You Londoners do not realize the fact that the number of the trees of the city make it dark around the houses, and as a result it is very difficult to see the number. This should not be. The trees are beautiful, but the numbers of the houses should be made so plain that anybody could find them. It is only thoughtlessness that causes the people of this city to overlook this important matter."

Merchants complained very much to The Advertiser this morning about Beaconsfield avenue. This is considered one of the worst in the city. "I have had no complaints," said City Engineer Graydon. "If serious complaints are made, I presume something will be done."

Springbank League's New Schedule

Owing to the fact that the Iveys have been suspended for continual infraction of the rules, it was found necessary to revise the Springbank Baseball League schedule. The revised schedule is as follows:

June 27—Crescents vs. Blues; Blues vs. St. John's.

July 4—St. John's vs. Crescents; Greys vs. Blues.

Firemen Prevented a Serious Blaze

A serious fire was prevented by the splendid work of the fire department at noon today.

Shortly after 12 o'clock an alarm was sent in from Tanton's drug store, on York street, at the rear of the Tuncmen House.

Chief Clark and the brigade were on the job in a hurry and found the storehouse on fire under the roof.

The building is a frame structure, connecting with the Tuncmen House on one side and Tanton's large building on the west.

The blaze was burning merrily, but the brigade soon had two streams and the chemical on the fire, and after half an hour's work the fire was under control.

The loss is estimated at $500. The origin of the fire is not known, although it is supposed to have started from a spark from the smokestack or from a spark from a passing locomotive.

Altogether Too Many Collections

Many complaints have been made of late regarding the number of collections that have been taken up at the band concerts in Victoria Park.

"This is getting to be too much of a good thing," said a prominent merchant this morning. "The concert last night was the thirteenth concert within a week, and I do not think it is fair that a collection plate should be thrust in front of a man every time he enters the park. I am not saying that the objects for which the collections have been taken are not worthy."

I do not mean that, but I do insist that even charities may be worked to death. Give the people the privilege of attending at least one concert without having to pay for the privilege twice over. The concerts are given for the people and the people pay for them. Let us cut this collection business out for a while. We have had just enough. If it keeps up, we will have to drop a nickel in the slot every time we want to look at the fountain. The poor people give willingly, but they should not be imposed upon. Let us have a few concerts in peace."

FOR MOVEMENT OF WESTERN CROPS

Mr. Fielding Moves the Second Reading of His Dominion Notes Bill.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, June 18.—The banking and commerce committee this morning heard Mr. Alf Desjardins in support of the co-operative bill. Among other things he stated that the organization of co-operative societies was the only remedy for usury. In spite of the strong usury law passed a few years ago money-lenders in Ottawa were declared to be exacting 200 per cent interest right under the shadow of the capitol where the law had been made. The bill was referred to the Minister of Justice for opinion as to whether it infringed provincial rights.

This morning in the Commons, Mr. G. E. Foster protested against a circular which had been sent out under frank, making charges against him, based on the insurance commission's report. Mr. Foster denied the accusations.

POSED AS A DOCTOR

Alleged London Man Held for Larceny in England.

London, June 18.—At Huddersfield John Walker, who posed as a doctor from Windsor, Ont., was charged with the larceny of £95 from a woman he married here in October, 1907. Walker subsequently disappeared, and was found at Bristol, living with another woman to whom he had been married. He was remanded for investigation. Other and more serious charges are expected.

NO COMMISSIONS PRICES EXCESSIVE

Further Evidence Re Charges Against the Department of Marine.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 18.—Accountant Owen and Deputy Minister Gourdeau were chief witnesses this morning in the investigation of the marine department affairs before Judge Cassels.

Mr. Owen declared that while he knew of no cases where officers of the department had received a commission from contractors or others, yet there had been a number of instances of excessive prices paid for supplies. The officials who had allowed excessive prices, he said, included J. M. Gregory, the agent at Nova Scotia, and Agent Harding, of St. John. He knew of no officials at headquarters whose accounts he had to object to.

The total annual expenditure of the department was about $6,000,000. He explained the new system of purchasing supplies, whereby the department had a double check on all accounts. He had no knowledge of irregularities of any kind in accounts, vouchers, etc., of any of the headquarters officials.

Commander Spain was recalled to answer a few questions from Mr. Watson with regard to the Auditor-General's statement that the commander had padded his accounts for $500 or $900 in 1905. The wrecking commissioner explained that in 1904 and 1905 he had been almost continuously away from Ottawa, and had later lost his notebook containing items of his traveling expenses. The minister, Mr. Prefontaine, had told him to make up the accounts as correctly as possible from memory and notebook notes. This he had done. The Auditor-General had revised the statement on account of a couple of errors, and he thought the deduction amounted only to $400 or $500. Commander Spain declared none of this refund had come from the deputy minister. He again denied absolutely any padding of his accounts.

The deputy minister, Col. Gourdeau, prefaced his statement of affairs in the marine department with a vigorous and outspoken criticism of wastefulness and out-of-pocket expenses. He said that the department was being run on a shoestring, and that the minister, Mr. Prefontaine, was being run over by the department. He said that the department was being run on a shoestring, and that the minister, Mr. Prefontaine, was being run over by the department.

Col. Gourdeau paid his compliments to what he termed the "boorish" methods employed by Mr. Fyche in conducting his investigation into the marine department. The latter's report to Parliament, said the witness, had clearly his animus. Mr. Fyche had carried out an inquiry practically independently of any assistance or explanation from officials of the department, and could easily have avoided some of the obvious mistakes in the report.

Col. Gourdeau read copies of letters written by Accountant Owen to himself, and by himself to Hon. Mr. Brodeur, expressing in strong terms opinions as to Mr. Fyche's arbitrary actions in the marine department. Mr. Owen stated that the commissioner had started to tear out pages from original files of the department, and when remonstrance was made, had declared he didn't give a damn for the minister.

NEGROES RUNNING A NEW PARTY

Minister Says That 10,000,000 Blacks May Choose Their Own Candidate.

Chicago, June 17.—"If Roosevelt or Taft is nominated as the Republican candidate, an independent Republican convention will be held in Chicago immediately after the close of the present convention to nominate candidates for whom the 10,000,000 negroes of the country and as many millions of independent Republicans can vote next November."

The ticket will be headed by some well known man as Senator Foraker, and indeed, we have hopes that Mr. Foraker may accept nomination. He knows he would be entirely acceptable to the entire negro vote, and to as many white independent Republicans as negroes. We believe we can assure him of the solid vote of eight southern states.

"We already have several hundred negro delegates in Chicago representing all sections of the country, and with the nomination of Mr. Taft or Mr. Roosevelt a hurry call immediately will be sent out for the independent convention. It is not necessary that a regular lengthy platform be framed, for the fight will be purely for a presidential candidate who will pledge himself to support the negro race as far as the constitution allows."

"The National Negro-American Political League is a confederation of the Niagara movement, the Afro-American council, the New England Suffrage League, the Boston Suffrage League, the Independent Negro Civic and Political League, and the Constitution Brotherhood of America, with the purpose of banding the negroes into a separate political party. It already has enough strength to defeat the regular parties. There will be no attempt to nominate a negro, and the whole fight will center on carrying out the slogan, 'Anything to defeat Roosevelt and Taft.'"

The programme of the league was developed at the anti-Taft meeting in Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, Thirtieth and Dear-

Advertiser Correspondence

Sunday Concerts.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I take this opportunity to criticize the sacred concerts that are being held in the Princess Rink. I attended the last one and must say I am proud of the orchestra, and I really think that these concerts have a good moral effect on the public. I have only this against them, however—the class of music that is being rendered. I would suggest to Mr. Stevens that in selecting his programme he should adhere strictly to music in keeping with the Sabbath and refrain from such selections as "William Tell," "Poet and Peasant," etc. If this is done I cannot see what objections any one will have to these concerts. Yours sincerely, A CONSTANT READER.

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Thursday, June 18.

The market today would not have been a very important one, excepting for the fairly large supply of straw-berries. There was a good demand for almost everything offered.

Grain—Oats were a trifle easier from Tuesday's prices, at $1 55 to $1 58 was paid. Wheat sold at 85c per bushel.

Hay and Straw—Hay sold quickly at $3 to $3 25 per ton; most of the sales were made at $3 50 per ton. There were about a dozen loads offered. Straw was slow at $6 to $6 50 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Butter was in good demand at 18c to 20c per pound for crocks and rolls. Eggs were scarce, but there was not an extra brisk demand, as the packers were asking 17c per dozen, while the dealers refused to pay but 16 1/2c per dozen, and they secured what they required at the latter price.

Vegetables and Roots—Potatoes sold quickly at 90c per bag wholesale and 95c to $1 retail. Green peas sold at 20c per quart, new beets 40c per dozen. Asparagus was in good demand at 50c per dozen. Onions, lettuce and radish at 20c per dozen.

Poultry—Spring chickens sold well at 20c per pound alive, or 50c to 65c per pair. Old fowl 8c per pound alive or 9c to 10c dressed. Turkeys were steady at 11c per pound alive and 12 1/2c to 14c dressed.

Strawberries—There was not half as large a quantity offered today as on the last market day. We want rain, and unless we get some soon the crop will be small compared with what was expected a couple of weeks ago. Sales were brisk, and prices firmer for what was offered today, sales ranging at 7 1/2c to 9c per box; most of the loads sold at 8c, and a few at 8 1/2c per box.

Dressed Hogs—The supply small, and the demand good at $3 to $3 25 per cwt.

PRODUCE MARKET.

TORONTO.

Toronto, June 18.—The demand for Ontario wheat continues quiet and the market is easy. Those who consider keeping prices up a tenet of faith, are quoting 80c and even 85c, but the buyer who bids 80c has no difficulty in getting wheat. Corn prices are getting nearer businesslike.

"FLAYS" FOSTER AND FOWLER

Echoes of the I. O. F. Election—
Supreme Chief Ranger
"Says Things."

Toronto, June 18.—Though Mr. Stevenson stolidly refuses to say anything about the speech he made on Tuesday night before the supreme court, additional details have leaked out. It transpires that he had some severe censure for the Hon. George E. Foster, and that his speech in connection with western land deals as investigated before the royal insurance commission. The delegates are still averse to telling exactly what the supreme chief ranger really said, but everyone seems to agree that some rather strong talk was applied to Mr. Foster.

"Is it true that he roasted Foster and Fowler?" a reporter asked a prominent Forrester, who was at the session.

"Roast? That's no name for it," answered the delegate with a reminiscent smile. "He flayed them."

"What was the question discussed?" "Chiefly the western land deals, he admitted that there had been improprieties, but showed that he had known nothing about them."

Mr. Stevenson had refused to pass a check signed by Treasurer Collins and payable to Supreme Auditor Fitzgerald. This check was for $500 and purported to be expense money. Mr. Stevenson alleged that such an expense and others like it which it had been customary to pay were quite unnecessary. A few words, it appears, were also devoted to Sir John Boyd.

Mr. Stevenson said, had remained quiet while certain deals had been put through.

Deadly Tuberculosis.

The report of Dr. Millman, supreme physician, presents some unusually interesting features. He states that tuberculosis is responsible for 17.5 per cent of the deaths. Regarding intemperance, he adds that he tries to impress upon the minds of organizers and medical examiners that applicants for membership must be temperate. Liquors steadily, though not to excess, in the ordinary acceptance of the term, are not safe risks. He regretted to report that there were many in the order, however, who came within this category.

Disbursements.

Among the disbursements from the general fund were salaries of officers, $104,534; organizers, $34,704; expenses, $262,347; bonuses and commissions, $125,547; wages of employees, $200,000; advertising, $25,481; official publication, $61 3/4. An increase of 31,391 members in the last three years was reported by the supreme secretary, Mr. Robert Mathison, making the total membership 1,191,257, carrying policies amounting to $284,950,142. Out of 119,391 applicants, the supreme physician passed 104,995 for $85,580,000, and rejected 15,396 for $12,550,000, which added to the 1,176,861 of the previous year, reduced, makes a total of $13,335,500 declined by the medical board.

HAPPENINGS OF A DAY IN BUSY EAST LONDON.

Western Fair Will Be a Hummer

Secretary Hunt of the Western Fair board announces that preparations are being made in earnest for a big exhibition this fall.

Already the three-sheet posters are being put out. Several applications have been made for positions in the buildings, while many entries have been made.

The buildings are being improved, a new stand has been built, and alterations are being made in several of the buildings.

"The exhibition this year will be the best ever held," said Mr. Hunt.

MISS SELLERY HAS RESIGNED HER POSITION

As Teacher of the School in Chelsea Green.

The school board of Chelsea Green is again advertising for a teacher to fill the place of Miss Sellery, who has resigned, and will return to college.

Although the school has been open but a few years, there has already been several changes of teachers.

BREAK IN WATER SUPPLY OF SUBURB

Men Now at Work on Pipes in Chelsea Green.

Chelsea Green's water pressure has been lessened considerably by a break in the supply main leading from McClary's powerhouse, where the springs are situated to a large reservoir in the green.

The leak was discovered the other day where the main runs beneath the river.

Men are now at work repairing it, however, and the pressure will again be up to the standard.

ANGLICANS MAY ERECT A CHURCH

Congregation of Chelsea Green Is Steadily Growing.

Although Chelsea Green has already a Presbyterian Church, it is thought that an Anglican Church may be erected on the green.

The Anglicans have now a mission which is held in one of the residences but it is hardly large enough to accommodate all at the Sunday services.

CHELSEA GREEN WILL HOLD A PICNIC

Big Outing to Springbank Is Planned by the School Board.

At a recent meeting of the Chelsea Green school board it was decided to hold the school picnic to Springbank on Saturday, June 27.

Both the Sunday and day schools will attend the outing.

The picnic will be a very large one, as nearly all of the residents of the green will be present.

A big programme of sports has been arranged, and all that is needed to make the picnic a success is fine weather.

The "kiddies" are not perfectly satisfied, however, as they would prefer to have their picnic held on a school day instead of Saturday.

McINNIS-BUTLER.

Wedding of a Popular East London Couple.

A quiet June wedding was performed by Rev. Wm. Lowe at his residence, 392 Lorne avenue, last Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Margaret Butler, daughter of Mr. Walter Butler, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert McInnis, son of Mr. Wm. McInnis, of this city.

After a short honeymoon, taking in eastern points, the happy couple will take up their residence in the east end.

SMITH-SMALL.

Very Pretty Wedding in the East End Yesterday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Small, at 844 Stedwell street, was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday afternoon, when Miss Carrie Small, became the wife of Mr. Jas. Smith, a prosperous farmer of Thorndale.

Rev. D. E. Martin, of Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left last night for their home in Thorndale.

POLICE WILL STOP SWIMMING IN THAMES

Young Men and Boys Have Outraged Decency.

The county police are making a determined effort to stop swearing and swimming in Chelsea Green.

Crowds of young men hang around the Adelaide street bridge and use language which the residents object to.

Swimmers are also causing trouble. Many young men use Burkett's as a swimming hole in full view of several residents.

The county constables have been notified and are keeping watch on the green.

A HAPPY EVENT IN THE EAST END.

Miss Eva Martin and Mr. John Cartmel Married This Afternoon.

A happy event took place at the residence of Rev. A. J. Bowen, Egerton street, at 3:30 this afternoon, when the marriage of Miss Eva Martin and Mr. John Cartmel was solemnized.

Both the bride and groom are of Brantford.

The wedding was performed by Rev. Bowen in the presence of a few friends of the happy couple.

Mrs. Cartmel is a sister of Mr. Fred Martin, of 629 King street.

Members of the Brigade Were Apparently in Very Bad Humor.

Peterboro, June 17.—The appointment of W. A. Howard, of Owen Sound, formerly of London, as chief of the local fire brigade, was decided upon by the council at a special meeting held last night and the new head of the forces will begin his duty at Saturday at a salary of $1,250.

Chief Rutherford and most of the members of the brigade were present, and the chief and Mr. Jos. R. Metheral addressed the council, as did Messrs. Chas. Murty and H. Carveth, while Ald. Morgan took occasion to protest against the report in mild terms. A petition signed by 193 ratepayers was read, protesting against the appointment of an outsider.

Applications for the position of chief were read from Chief Rutherford and Messrs. John Gibbs and Jos. R. Metheral.

The report adopted reads as follows:

1. That W. A. Howard be appointed chief of the fire department at a salary of $1,250 a year, he to have full control of the personnel of the brigade, his duties to begin on June 20, 1908.

2. That the brigade consist of a chief, an assistant chief and six other permanent men and six call men.

For a while last night it looked as if the city would be without any fire protection at all for the next few days. When the council was adjourned after appointing W. A. Howard, of Owen Sound, chief of the brigade, the firemen present announced that they intended to quit at once, saying that they had agreed to continue in their duties until the committee reported. In the midst of the heated discussion among the members of the council, the fire alarm was sounded, but it was merely a call to the firemen to hold a meeting to talk the matter over.

The special committee maintained that the action of the council did not affect the men, who were under contract to remain in office until June 30th. But the situation, nevertheless, was taken seriously by the aldermen when his worship pointed out that some of them would have to accompany him to the fire hall and remain there the night should the firemen refuse to hold themselves in readiness for a possible call. After a short consultation, the mayor left the committee-room and brought in Chief Rutherford with a view to reaching an amicable understanding.

In the interview with Chief Rutherford, his faithful services of 40 years—28 as chief—were admitted by one and all. Ald. Neill claimed that while the men had been paid as well as in some cases more than other volunteer brigades, he contended that Chief Rutherford had been underpaid. And he took figures of the sum total of the chiefs' salary the past 40 years with a view to securing a substantial recompense to him for the splendid work done by him for the city.

Ald. Neill also admitted that it was the committee's intention to give Chief Rutherford the office on the permanent staff, excepting that of the chief to the present firemen.

Chief Rutherford remarked that he was quite satisfied to resign his position.

The New Chief.

Under the head of "Something About the New Chief," the Examiner publishes the following:

"W. A. Howard, the newly-appointed chief of the fire brigade, has had many years' experience as a fire-fighter. He started in London, Ont., as a call man and when the brigade was made a permanent one and call men done away with, he remained on the force, rising to the rank of captain. When it was proposed to reorganize the Berlin Fire Brigade into a paid organization, and a new chief was wanted, Mr. Howard applied for the position and was accepted. He remained in charge of the Berlin brigade until about a year and a half ago, when Owen Sound decided to have a paid brigade, and as a good opening was offered there he left Berlin and took charge of the fire ladders of the northern town, remaining here on Saturday to commence his duties as head of the brigade."

Congregation of Hyatt Ave. Church Honors Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Martin

Resolution of Confidence and Regret Passed Unanimously Last Night.

At a congregational meeting in the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church last evening the following persons were elected as members of the quarterly official board:

Alfred T. Andrus, James Campbell, Alfred T. Andrus, H. Pocock, C. Dengate, E. Meyer, H. Meyer.

The pastor, Rev. D. E. Martin, and his estimable wife, were highly honored by the board, when the following resolution was passed unanimously:

"Rev. D. E. Martin and Mrs. Martin, London, Ont.,

"We, the members of the congregation of the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, on this occasion desire to express our sincere regret that the time for your departure from us is near at hand. The four years which you have spent with us in earnest and devoted service for the Master have not been in vain. The recent material prosperity which is evidenced in many ways, one of the most outstanding being the building of a suitable structure in which we all might comfortably and respectfully worship God, will stand as monuments to the wise, energetic and faithful leadership, which each of you have exercised in your different departments, and have thus brought all of your undertakings to a successful issue, and while our material prosperity has been in excess of that of any previous term in the history of this congregation, we believe that of the spiritual and moral tone in every department has made advancement to that of our financial, and while you will not be permitted to remain with us a sufficient length of time to be able to enjoy some of the fruits of your work, you know we are already reaping the harvest, and it will be with pleasure that you will look back to this cause, for which we know you have secretly had many anxious care, not that you might receive any personal gain, but that God might be glorified.

"Our associations with you have always been of the most pleasant nature. Your example has been one which we might well follow. You have led us and exhorted us to walk in the path of righteousness, and while we, of ourselves, have not often through weakness on our part, been all that we might have been, we have both labored and without a murmur, over-riding all difficulties, leaving your own sorrows and cares untold, but, nevertheless, you have all helped us to bear our burdens.

"In a short time you will be laboring in other fields, and while you are not with us, we will always cherish a pleasant remembrance of you, and we desire on this occasion to present you with a silver cabinet, which we beg of you to accept, not for its intrinsic value, but as a remembrance wherever you may be of the interest and sympathy we will always have in your welfare.

"We trust you will have success in your new field as you have had here, and that you will have many happy days in the service of the Master."

"Signed on behalf of the congregation:

"F. W. J. BALL, Sec. Trustee Board.

"MRS. A. ARNOTT, Pres. Ladies Aid Society."

Mr. Martin feelingly responded, expressing gratitude to God for his blessing and to the congregation for their loyal support, their warm friendship and generous gift, and wished for the church a most happy and prosperous future.

The address was read by Mrs. A. Elgie, and the presentation made by Mrs. J. Grieve.

Wortley Road School Mothers' Club

The Mothers' Club connected with the Wortley road school yesterday afternoon held a most interesting meeting. President, Mrs. Atkinson, in the chair, with a large attendance, and a number of visitors were also present.

Principal Wyatt, of the Wortley road school, led the discussion on the question, "How Best to Dispose of the Children During the Summer Vacation," being followed in the talk of Miss Clara Brenton, Mrs. W. Richmond, Mrs. J. Cotterell, Mrs. L. Westland, Mrs. L. Atkinson and others. Some favored the use of day for modeling purposes, others advocated gatherings of the children for the purpose of story-telling, as well as occasional picnics in the woods or in the yards of parents. The furnishing of tools for boys was also urged, in order that they might learn their proper use, following out the manual training idea. Many other good suggestions for profitably and pleasantly caring for the youngsters were also offered during the talk, which was taken part in by the members generally.

Miss Hattie Westman favored the club with instrumental selections, and Miss Lea Westland contributed a recitation.

Refreshments were served, and the meeting closed with those in attendance forming a circle and singing "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgotten." This is the last meeting for the summer.

The Union Mothers' Club will hold its closing meeting in the Rectory street school at 2.30 on Friday afternoon, and no doubt it will be largely attended, as clever speakers have promised to attend, and a good programme is assured.
