PASSED THE HIGH SCHOOL ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

London Students Made a Brilliant Record Despite the Criticism of Papers That They Were Too Difficult.

DAVID McNORGAN, OF WATERLOO ST., HEADS THE LIST FOR THE ENTIRE CITY

Phyllis Johnston, of St. George's School, Wins the Robb Medal in Public School Competition-Names of the Successful Students.

Despite the fact that strenuous objection was raised to the severity of the entrance examination papers, the results announced this morning by Public School Inspector Edwards, show that ninety per cent of the candidates in the city of London passed, 311 of 347 being successful.

David McNorgan, the 13-year-old son of Joseph J. McNorgan, of 152 Waterloo street, a pupil of Sister Gertrude, of St. Mary's Separate school, Lyle street. East London, is credited with the highest standing in the city, he having come through with a total of 595 out of a possible 650. His showing is looked upon as being exceptionally meritorious, and the standing is said to exceed that of the highest candidate in the city of Toronto. PHYLLIS JOHNSTON WINS MEDAL.

The McNorgan lad is the winner of the Murphy gold medal, donated by Ald, T. J. Murphy, captain, for the highest standing in the Separate schools of the city, and while he is the leader in London, the Robb medal is for public school competition alone, and goes to Phyllis Johnston, of 812 Maitland street, a pupi; of St. George's school, whose marks totalled 590. She is thus placed third among the 347 candidates who tried the examinations. David McNorgan is also the winner of the medal donated by Mr. William McPhillips, for the best percentage in arithmetic, his score in this department having been perfect.

THE SECOND HONORS.

The second highest pupil in the city was Harry Coles, a pupil of Sister Hildegard, who resides with his parents in St. Peter's parish hall on Richmend street. Although only 12 years and 2 months old at the time of the examination he made the brilliant total of 592. His reward is the John Dromgole medal,

The Separate schools of the city sent 36 candidates to the entrance examinations and all passed, while 90 per cent of the pupils of the public schools were successful.

Principal Wyatt, of St. George's school, is also being congratulated, as only one of his 38 candidates failed. A BRILLIANT STANDING.

Miss Phyllis Johnston, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brethwaite Johnston, 812 Maitland street, is the stu standing in the public schools of the city. For her standing she is awarded the Robb medal. She is a student of St. George's school, of which Mr. Edward Wyatt is the principal.

When The Advertiser reporter called at the Johnston home this morning he brought the tidings of success with him. It was the first intimation the family had of Phyllis' victory, and they were naturally elated. No one was more pleased than the daughter of the house herself, who could hardly believe the good news.

This is not the first time Miss Phyllis has distinguished herself. On the 24th of May her essay, "My Favorite Character in Canadian History," captured first prize, for which she was the recipient of a handsome prize, awarded by the Daughters of the Empire.

AN OPEN QUESTION.

The question of ownership of the Martin O'Sullivan medal for the highest in grammar in the Separate schools, is yet to be decided, as David Mc-Norgan, Harry Coles and Cyril Murphy are all tied. Christine Nelligan, of St. Mary's school, wins the Robert Burns' medal for the leading percentage in literature. The results are especially pleasing to the pedagogues of London, as 90 per cent of students who tried were successful, while in the city of Toronto but 73 per cent went through.

MESSAGE COMES TOO LATE.

A pathetic feature of the publication of the results is that the list contains the name of Norman Milligan, the Maitland street lad, who, after trying his examinations, went to swim in the Thames above Dexter's dam and was drowned.

The daughter of Mr. S. S. Jones, of the Collegiate Institute staff, who died in Victoria Hospital on Friday, is also among the successful. John Norville McLean, a young lad who died in Victoria Hospital on Friday, is also on the list with the successful candidates. His funeral was held this afternoon. PAPERS THAT PLUCKED.

Arithmetic, spelling, grammar and geography were the subjects that plucked those who failed. However, the failures are few despite the fact that the examiners worked rigidly. One instance of this is shown in that Miss Gladys McEvoy, of Victoria school, had 100 per cent in spelling, and had a total of 435 marks. Only 390 out of a possible 650 is necessary to pass, but because of the fact that she falled on one subject, arithmetic, she was not permitted to go through.

Only four of the 347 candidates had perfect answers on the arithmetic paper. They were David McNorgan, of St. Mary's school; Harold Hayman, of Rectory street school; Marjorie Mallagh, of Alexandra school, and Gordon McGillivray, of Simcoe street school, a son of Major McGillivray, of the Salvation Army.

100 PER CENT IN SPELLING Those who had one hundred per cent in spelling were Phyllis Anthistle, of St. George's; Neale Coughlin, of St. Peter's; Kenneth Dawson, of Wortley road; Maude Fisher, of Princess avenue; Levice Guest, of St. George's; Eva Jones, of St. Mary's; Gladys McEvoy, of Victoria; Marjorie Mallagh, of Alexandra, who also had one hundred per cent in both arithmetic and composition, and a total of 568; Mandeville Moir, of St. Peter's; Christine Nelligan. of St. Mary's; Paul Phillips, of Aberdeen; Amy Pearce, of St. George's; Harry Renton, of Alexandra; Mabel Skelly, of Aberdeen; Dorothy Wingett and Madeline Whitmore, of Sim loe. Tleanor Shaw, of Alexandra school, had a perfect standing in composition. the average age of the successful candidates was 14 years and 6 months, but al of the three leaders were even younger. According to Public School Inspetor Edwards the most desirable age is fourteen years.

Certificates for those who passed may be obtained at Mr. Edwards' the city hall next week, while the marks of those who failed will be sent to them by the department for their own satisfaction within a few

REV. FATHER TOBIN TO LEAVE ST. MARYS

Assistant Rector Is Named Principal and Professor of Church History in Catholic Seminary.

BISHOP FALLON SPEAKS

Seventeen Students Will Begin Their Work in London in New Institute in September.

His Lordship pBishop Fallon this morning disclosed some of the details concerning the plan for the establishment of a new Catholic educational institution in this city to be known as St. Peter's Seminary, and as before stated, arrangements have been made for the inauguration of the classes in September in St. Peter's Palace and Parish Hall, the temporary headquar-

Three members of the staff have al ready been selected. Rev. Father J. V. Tobin, assistant rector of St. Mary's Church, East London, ha sbeen named professor of church history, and will be removed from St. Mary's Church in

The other members of the staff have not as yet been named. Having in view the establishment of such an institution in the Diocese of London. Bishop Fallon a year ago sent Rev. Francis Brennan and Rev. Gerald Labelle to Rome, where they have since been specializing. They have now returned and will be well fitted to take charge of their ourses in September. Father Tobin has also studied Rome, and as he is well versed in this subject he will be especially valuable. It is also understood that Father Tobin will be named head of the seminary. Seventeen Students.

Seventeen Students.

Thus far seventeen students have been enrolled. They are: Tillman Corcoran, city; Joseph Gleason, city; Joseph Emery, of Dover South; J. Rondot, of Tilbury; John R. Quigley, of Elginfield; Joseph Fallon, city; ames Harding, city; Parnell Mahoney, Dresden; Thomas McCarthy, Moncton; A. Grenier, Windsor; Joseph Bell, Blyth; Fred Costello, city; Hubert Dignan, Fred Costello, city: Hubert Dignan, city: Arthur Finn, Windsor: Wilfrid Langlois, Windsor; John Young, Goderich, and Francis McCarthy, Kincora. A Generous Gift.
Bishop Fallon explained to The Advertiser that since coming to London he had had in view the establishment the bishop with what is known as Sunshine Park, the 50-acre site on the Thames, already referred to within the past few days. This is the morning, but in the end the city engineer was empowered to go ahead gineer was empowered to go ahead shortly.

That is the respect you have for the workingman?" Ald. Ashplant asked, somewhat shortly.

That is the respect to within the past few days. This is the gineer was empowered to go ahead gineer was empowered to go ah of such a seminary, and the scheme was given quite an impetus recently who secured the highest when a prominent Catholic gentleman Sunshine Park, the 50-acre site in the past few days. This is the most considerable gift ever made to the diocese, and will assist materially in contributing to London' reputation as an educational centre.

Supported by the Diocese. The seminary, said the bishop, is to be erected by and supported y the Diocese of London, and the return to the parishes will be made in clergymen. Hitherto it has been necessary for students for the priesthood to roceed to some other seminary, either at Ottawa or Montreal, or on the other side of the border, after completing the course at Sandwich. Young nen may now be prepared for ordination in London, however, and will be fully educated in canon law, holy scripture, church history, dogmatic and moral theology and liturgy.

The importance to London of the establishment of the seminary in this city is recognized by those who have taken an interest i neducational matters here, and particularly those who have worked in the best interests of Western University. St. Peter's Seminary will be the only Catholic insti-tution of the kind in Canada west of the city of Ottawa.

The Western University. While Bishop Fallon explains that he is naturally working toward the betterment of his own diocese, it is obvious that the interests of the Western University have not been lost sight of. The hands of the governors of the Western will be materially strength-ened, and another instrument to assist in obtaining recognition of its degrees

Will thus be provided.

While it appears that the first classes will open this fall with about twenty students, a rapid development is looked for.

An Extensive Campaign. An extensive campaign in the in-terests of the new seminary is to be naugurated without delay by Bishop Fallon, who plans to form seminary societies in every parish. He will personally visit each section to assist in the work, and in the meantime nothing definite as to building on Sunshine

Park is known.

It is rumored several prominent gentlemen will make substantial contributions, and that the erection of the seminary will proceed without unnecessary delay. STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Damage Done to the Residence of C. S. Manuel, Marley Place.

The house of C. S. Manuel, 22 Marley Place, was struck by lightning shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. The bolt struck the gable on the roof and ran along the top of the house, roping off some shingles and seeting and setting fire to them. An alarm was sent in to the fire department, 550 and the men of No. 3 hall were soon on the scene.

The fire was easily extinguished and the damage, which was very slight, will not amount to more than $10. The bolt did not enter the house at all, and 497 the occupants were unhurt. Roy Singer, found guilty of theft in London, was sentenced to one year in prison by P. M. Judd today.

GAMBLING IS VERY BAD FORM OF THEFT

Went on at London Races. "Thou shalt not steal." This is the text from which a strong sermon was preached Sunday evening by Rev. W. R. McIntosh, of the King Street Pres-

London had seen a great deal of this heinous of the market lying at the rear sin comitted last week when the races were being held here. True, it is permitted, but steps to abolish it should be immediately taken, rather than set a demoralizing example to younger

You may lose your property by fire, and supporters will rally round you to reinstate you in business, but if robreinstate you in business, but if robbed of your reputation by a slandering tongue you are compelled to fight a lone battle. Beware also of the gossiper. The one who commences conversation by, 'Oh, have you heard?' to be followed by an avalanche of that which may be far from truth, and ruinous to the influence and reputation of others. Such people have the 'poison of asps' under their lips. Beware of them. ware of them.

Reverent Speech. "The world is longing for reverent, restrained and sympathetic speech, words of moderation and truth," declared Mr. Bingham. "The art of conversation is one of the greatest, and influence most far-reaching, and nowhere will its influence be more felt than in the home. If we are to give an account to God of every idle word we certainly need the spirit of Christ in our hearts that from the heart may proceed Christlike speech."

SOME OPPOSITION TO THE SEWAGE BYLAW

The Question of Assessment Is Being Figured On by Ingersoll Ratepayers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ingersoll, July 15. — Of the three bylaws on which the electors will vote on July 22, interest is centred in the one for the installation of a sewerage system. Some opposition is being encountered by the promoters of the bylaw, principally on the ground that the cost is not equitable. Comparisons have been made in opposing the measure to the effect that the cost to some properties, where the assessment is comparatively small, but with a large frontage, will be considerably more than will be the case where there are more valuable houses on smaller land, more valuable houses on smaller land, and this side of the question has given rise to considerable controversy. The proposed scheme has been indorsed by Dr. Amyot, of the provincial board of health, and the method of payment is on the level pan, which is supposed to be fair to ail. Notwithstanding this fact, much capital seems to be made out of comparisons in some quarters. This evening there will be a meeting of the council, board of trade, and others interested in the passage of the bylaw for the purpose of making arlangements to get out the vote.

83 pairs only to be cleared in most cases at about half-price. After a very busy season in this section, we find on going through the stock many packages are sold down to single pairs, and many also contain only two pairs. Others are slightly soiled or show the result of handling, being slightly mussed. These include some of our very best Curtains, as well as medium and lower priced lines—Cable and Scotch Nets, Nottingham, Irish Point, Duchess, Alexandrian Point, Marie Antoinette and Connemara Curtains. There is scarcely a curtain which could not be used with-out doing up, so slightly are they soiled. The prices range from $1.85 up to $15.00 a pair, but we have grouped them into six lots, so you will find at the different prices some better or higher priced than others. This suggests the advantage of coming early for two reasons: First, there is always a preference in design, and secondly, the higher priced curtains will go first. Quantities and prices will be found exactly as listed below:

NOT OLD AT 120; REV. CLARIS' SERMON

Moses' Faith in God Preserved His Youth to the End-Sunday in the Churches.

Rev. W. H. A. Claris spoke last night on the subject, "Not Old at One Hundred and Twenty," and illustrated his sermon by reference to the life of Moses. His text was Deuteronomy xxxiv., 7,-"And Moses was an hundred and twenty years old when he died; his eye was not dim nor his natural force abated."

"Moses was one of the most wonderful men in the Bible, and during his life went through three stages that would try the principles and beliefs of any strong For the first forty years he was in attendance at the Egyptian court as a courtier, and here he met with many temptations, but he remained true to his convictions. For the next forty years he was banished, but still kept up his communion with God; and was finally called to lead his people to the promised land. He, along with the Israelites, was forty years in the wilderness before ar riving at the borders of the promised

"Moses maintained his youth and vigo to the end, because of his long and stead-fast faith in God. So those who obey God's commands today will retain their youth and vigor much longer than those who do not obey him."

"The Value of a Man."

"The Value of a Man" was the title o the address given by Rev. H. A. Graham at Centennial Methodist Church last night. In the early days sheep were held as more valuable than human lives, and at the present time the same tendency to underestimate the value of human life still exists. In order that we might rightly value one another we must look upon our fellows from the same stand-point that God does.

That God values man above all other of his creatures, is shown by the dignity that he has given us. He has endowed us with mental powers and spiritual faculties that no other of his creatures ossess. When separated from man, what value is gold, diamonds and real estate. It is only from God's standpoint hat we can truly estimate the values of our fellow-men, and he, by giving the life of his only Son, shows that he values us very highly.

BAILEY SEES REVOLUTION

He Predicts a Situation in United States Similar to That of France. [Canadlan Press.]

Washington, D. C., July 13 .- Senator Bailey, of Texas, in a farewell address to a score of his colleagues at a private dinner last night, predicted that if conditions in the United States continued

49m He virtually charged the Democratic party with exaggerating the importance of existing evils. "This republic is near a crisis which is greater than the wisest men think," said Senator Balley. "I do not forget that the French Revolution came while the governors were at the theatre, and that they rose from their banquet tables to come face to face with violence and bloodshed in the streets of Paris. I do not say the United States are facing such a state of affairs, but I do maintain that if within the next 30 years the country should continue to change as it has in

Expert Explains the Cause of Tragedy at Atlantic City. [Canadian Press.] Atlantic City, N. J., July 13 .- The explosion of the gas envelope of Melvin Vaniman's airship here on July 2, which caused the death of its crew of five men, was due, not to the action of the sun's rays, as at first supposed, but to a fault in construction, which allowed the expanding gas to exhaust directly over the exhaust of the propeller engines, thus igniting This is the conclusion reached by Charles Hillman, an expert, who has just concluded an investigation of the Mr. Hillman made an examination of the Vaniman balloon on June 15, and one of the first things that struck his notice was the arrangement of the six exhaust valves in envelope, by means of which the gas, when it began to expand, was allowed to escape. This was Vaniman's invention to prevent ac-cident. These valves, according to Mr. Hillman, were placed three either side of the envelope in a horizontal line slightly on the lower side of the bag. Four of the valves, he says, were located directly over the exhaust of the propellers. Consequently, when any one of the valves was opened, the rush of gas be ignited. This theory, Mr. Hillman thinks, is borne out by the fact that one of the exhaust valves, which has been found, was smoked, showing signs of the explosion. "THE SIGNRY," MARLEY & WEEKES

LONDON, MONDAY, JULY 15.

THE NEW SEMINARY. It is now officially announced that a Roman Catholic seminary the plans of Bishop Fallon are disclosed, it does not appear what relations it is intended the new institution | 500,000 annually. should have to the Western University, which has always had a warm friend in the bishop. Quite apart from that, however, it will be a good thing for the city, in both educational and material Affiliated with the Western University the Roman Catholic College might add largely to the opportunities of its students in some studies, and for the University the connection would mean much. The usefulness of the University to this whole region would be enhanced, and its claims upon both private and public support greatly strengthened.

Such an institution as is being established will add to the prestige of London as an educational centre. The University with its cluster of theological schools would act as a magnet to draw other denominations to place patients who may then employ doctors their seminaries in this beautiful, healthful, eminently central and suitable city. But no matter what its bearing upon the University may be, the step taken by the Roman Catholic au- larger benefits than before by reason thorities will do something to build up London.

AN IMPROBABLE DISPATCH. The cable dispatch from London asserting that Canada will hand over $7,500,000 annually to the Admiralty to be spent as the Admiralty wishes, seems to have been based on a random remark by Captain Faber, M. P., who is nobody of importance.

The Canadian Government could not assent to such a policy, without appealing to the people within a year, and it is in no mood for a premature election, after the chastening it received at Saskatchewan last week. The policy of contributions would be also a violation of the pledges given by the Prime Minister himself. He is committed to the Canadian navy project by his votes and speeches. He seconded Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Canadia navy resolution in the House of Commons in March, 1909. He defended it in a Dominion Day speech in London, England, the same year. Upon his return from England he spoke to a Halifax audience on Oct. 14 as follows:

"The House of Commons last session laid down a certain policy touching naval defence, in which both political parties united. It may not have satisfied the aspiration of all Conservatives, but it seemed our bounden duty to place, if possible, above the limits of partisan strife, a question so vital and far-reaching.

"One governing principle at least should control namely, that OUT OF OUR OWN MATERIAL,S BY OUR OWN LABOR, AND BY THE IN-STRUCTED SKILL OF OUR PEO-PLE, ANY NECESSARY PROVI-SION FOR OUR NAVAL DEFENCE SHOULD BE MADE SO FAR AS MAY BE REASONABLY POSSI-BLE. In this connection we may now hope that there shall be given a stimulus and encouragement to shipbuilding industry of Canada which has been long lacking."

A faction of the Conservative party was disgruntled, and urged the alternative of a cash contribution, with the scarcely concealed object of dragging the issue into the party arena. Some of the dissentients taunted Mr. Borden with having played into Laurier's hands. He rebuked them in a public statement issued on Oct. 29, 1909. In this he said:

"So far as the Conservative party is concerned, the question of Canada's participation in the organizaand maintenance of Imperial naval defence rests today exactly where it did when the unanimous resolution of Parliament was passed on March 29 last."

It is true that he spoke equivocally in the election campaign of 1911 in order to catch the Nationalist vote. Although he had called for speedy action in 1909-the word "speedy" having been inserted in the resolution at his own request-he began in 1910 to counsel delay, and a reference to the people. But he never definitely turned his back on the Canadian navy idea. He may now ask for the contribution of a Dreadnought or two on pretext of an "emergency" - which doesn't exist-but this would be merely a device to postpone a general election. The duty of the Liberal party will be to demand that Canadian money shall be spent upon a Canadian navy at once, and not sent out of the country to serve a party exigency.

THE BRITISH INSURANCE ACT BEGINS.

Today the greatest of modern meastires of social reform, the Lloyd George insurance act, went into effect in the United Kingdom. The act covers over 14,000,000 men, women, boys and girls, who six months from now will be entitled to free sick benefits. Men will draw ten shillings weekly, and women seven veeks. If illness persists after that period, the benefit will be reduced to five shillings, payable for life in case SASKATCHEWAN ELECTION of permanent disability. Every insured woman or wife of an insured man will receive 30 shillings for a maternity benefit. Free treatment for consumption will be provided in nuperous sanatoria to be erected at the cost of the state. Medical attendance s to be free in all cases. For these benefits each man insured will pay four pence weekly if his wage is equal to two shillings and six pence day, and each woman three pence reekly if her wage is equal to two shillings a day. The employer will contribute three pence daily for each man or woman, and the state two pence daily. The lower the wages the higher must be the contribution by the employer. Each employee carries an insurance card, which he must present every week to his or her emis to be located on the fine property player to have the insurance stamps secured by Mr. Philip Pocock at the affixed. When the act comes into full north end of Waterloo street. Until maturity the contributions by employees will be £12,500,000 annually and by the state and employers, £14.-

> It had been feared that the operation of the act would have to be postponed owing to clamorous opposition from several quarters, incited largely by the Unionist party, But the employers seem to have accepted it, excepting a few titled ladies who are trying to stir up a revolt among domestic servants for partisan purposes, and the only class standing out against it is the doctors. They refuse to work under the act unless their fees are raised from six shillings per annum for every insured person, to eight shillings per annum. As it will be six menths before medical benefits begin. a working arrangement may be effected in the meantime. cards at the postoffice. The world will watch with interest this colossal experiment which unites the principle of self-help with state co-operation.

The British Liberals have won the by-election in Hanley, one of the 'Five Towns' immortalized by Arnold Bennett. The candidate, Mr. Outhwaite, a London journalist and land reformer, defeated the Unionist by 654 and the Laborite by 4,953. This is an extraordinary victory, as the seat had been held since 1906 by a Labor member. The determination of the Liberals to contest it nearly caused an open rupture with the Labor party. The result does not bear out the theory that the Liberal party is doomed to be ousted by the Laborites. It is a working-class district, yet the Laborite polled only a fraction of the Lorimer, of Illinois, has been expelled from the United States Senate at last. The lumber trust spent a fortune in electing him in order to get his vote against the reduction of the duty on Canadian lumber. There was not much difference morally between Lorimer and the Canadian opponents of reciprocity, who caused to be reprinted in this country the literature of the American lumber trust last September. The trust, which fought the reciprocity agreement, inserted in the Southern Lumber Journal and its other organs articles suggesting that reciprocity would lead to the annexation of Canada. These were then shipped to Canada for reproduction in anti-reciprocity newspapers, which represented them as the opinions of American daily newspapers friendly to reciprocity. These dastardly tactics were resorted to in London and in other places.

QUITE SATISFIED.

[Pittsburg Dispatch.] Imports into Canada from the United States in the first month of this fiscal year increased 46 per cent, while those from Great Britain were cut 38 per cent, and the total of the latter was one-quarter of those from the United States. If Canada is satisfied with the result of defeating reciprocity, we do not see any reason why the United States should be huffed over it.

The real issue of the campaign was the need of the West for larger markets, and this the Conservatives persistently failed to meet. This will probably end the Borden-Rogers attempt of making it appear that the West regards reciprocity as dead. OF POETRY [By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

It is hard to find anything new under the sun. Fashions in dress and in literature are usually very ancient; the new thing is the old-fashioned device revived and garnished with twentieth century trimmings. I dare say the WEST CAN'T BE BULLIED OR hoop skirt was in vogue in Babylon BOUGHT. modern craze for symbolism in poetry was anticipated by the ancient Hebrews. When we read the prophesy of Zachariah, for instance, we find that it is exceedingly difficult to understand just because it is rich in symbolic utterances. We read of the flying roll, its present representation in the Federal the red horse, the myrtle trees, the seven lamps, and the mountains of FLOOD SWEEPS brass. When the prophet sees the golden candlestick with a bowl upon it, and two olive trees beside it, he is puzzled. The angel that talks with him says unto him, "Knowest thou not what these be?" The prophet's invariable reply is "No, my lord." Then explanations are made. Sometimes these explanations leave the reader in as mystified a condition as when he began to read, but the prophet and theangel between them at least try to make things clear,

Now the great difference between ancient symbolic poetry and the modern variety is that the latter does not deign to make any explanations. And there is no angel at hand to offer his expository assistance. Consequently, the mass of symbolic poetry is anathema maranatha to one who likes to understand what he is reading about. But if you like mystery, cloudiness, suggestiveness in verse, then read the earlier dramas of Masterlinck, or the poems of such writers as Verhaeren, Elskamp, expressed confidence in the Scott Gev- Kahn, and de Regnier. I have before me a little French lyric by Verhaeren

> Un vol passant de herons lents Laisse tomber des ombres,

The flock of herons slowly sailing above him cast their shadows in the water. The fisherman, a grave, old man, fancies these shadows are fish, and he spreads his nets to gather them in. The reality is in the air, and the light, what he seeks in the water and ooze is illusion.

Now this seems to be a very simple story, a delightful little poem about a course, reducing the available holes to short-sighted fisherman, but if that is all you can get out of it you are no symbolist, and what is more you will never appreciate this kind of poetry, outlying districts. of symbolism is this: "We are all this poor man; with lowered head we cast our nets into the mud and shame which are hidden by the false gold of hypocritical life, and we have to take from higher clothes and the course of the city hall just before the crest of the flood reached the city, many could not have escaped death. But the ideal we seek hovers above us, and we never see it, for we fix our eyes on the ground. We shall never seize it, for it is not of this world. The slowflying merons pass on and on, their shadows glide over the mirror surface in which each one of us sees but the reflection of himself and of things, while man continues to nurse his illusions and to wait for what he is never to attain." Another critic declares that the poem suggests other meanings. It may be the plaint of a lover deceived, the longing of a Don Juan, who hopes to find the reality of beauty - the soul not the body he clasps. Indeed it may refer to any human aspiration. It is to be seen, therefore, that the modern French poet can make as much of a puzzle about a brandy-breathed old fisherman as the prophet Zachariah about the flying roll. But poetry is most powerful when it is most sugges-

Within 30 minutes a wall of water many feet high descended upon the city from Cherry Creek, which floats through the Country Club grounds, passing within five blocks of the city hall, the county hospital, the west side court, out to the South Platte, five miles distant. It ripped out concrete walls that confined it for two miles, destroyed bridges and hundreds of small drives. The occupants were driven from their homes on to the roofs, from which they were rescued by members of the police an dthe fire department.

Daily Advertiser Fashion Expert Tells How to Use Macreme Lace on a Long Coat

If you can find in the attic a piece of macreme lace that was used in grandmother's time to drape the mantlepiece, you are in luck, for it will make the smartest possible trimming for your new long coat. Or perhaps you can make this lace yourself-a most useful accomplishment.

The hat and coat illustrated are late ideas in outdoor dressing. The coat is large and made on the straight tres worn last year. The sleeve, however, instead of eing out in one piece with the coat, is set in at the houlder and reaches down in a "V" shape under the arms. The pockets are formed of long panels of the goods, reming from the collar and trimmed across the bottom with the new Terry cloth, a glorified bath toweling. of which this coat is made.

Slack taffeta is put under the lace and touches of linch cord about the cut-glass buttons give a most dis-tinctive air. The lining is dull blue.

The hat is a panama and looks stunning, particularly so as many small hats are being worn this season. It is ir mmed with a soft sash of printed crepe and a bunch of pheasant feathers. These feathers are being worn more and more, although the beginning of their vogue was with the production of "Chantecler" by Maude Adams a couple of seasons ago.

Americans Show Well.

The Americans certainly gave a death-blow to the theory that the athletes of the United States are better at contests which require quickness and agility than in tests of endurance. While 30,000 spectators who were grilled on the Stadium seats, strained their eyes Toward the archway from under which the runners emerged, they saw the American shield on the breasts of six of the first ten men who entered. The names on this roll of honor are: Strobino, Andrew Sockalexis, Old Town: John J. Gallagher, Yale: Joseph Erxleban, Missouri A. C.; Richard F. Piggott, North Dorchester A. C., and Joseph Forshaw. Missouri A. C. The American team numbered 12, and 10 finished. The last of these was Thomas H. Illley, North Dorchester A. C., who finished eighteenth. The two Americans who fell by the wayside were Michael J. Ryan, of the I. A. A. C., who made a good run for 19 miles, and then succumbed to the heat, and John J. Canada All Right.

Sweden furnished another dozen to the race, and if their strength had been equal to their ambition they would have had a different tale to tell. They started at a great pace, but during the first few miles put forth all their powers, and had nothing left when the final test came. Canada had no reason to be ashamed, for two of her representatives, J. Duffy and W. H. Forsythe, finished fifth and stateenth respectively. KICKED WINDOW OUT AND LEFT THE JAIL

Men Arrested at Glencoe Made Their Escape Very Easily.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Glencoe, July 13. — Two men who tectives pending an investigation, kicked a window out of the local jail today and walked away. The men had not been out in the cells owing to the heat, and as soon as they were left alone they made good their escape. Detective Tisdale and an assistant went out in an auto immediately and searched about in the woods, but could find no trace of the men. One, who gave the name of Frank Wilson, was held for having thrown stones at a conductor who threw him off the train. The other, who was a German, came to the local depot with a bunch of unsigned tickets, and wanted to trade them to the agent for a ticket to Windsor. As a number of tickets were recently stolen from the depot at Appin, suspicion was at once aroused and the man arrested. He told the police that the tickets had been given to him by another man.

Mrs. Varney caught him by the arm "Let me speak to her," she pleaded.

"Let me speak to her," she pleaded.

"No, I will see her myself."

But Miss Mittord, who had been the indirect cause of so much trouble, once more interposed. She had listened to him with scarcely less surprise than that developing in Mrs. Varney's breast. She took a malicious joy in thwarting the Becret Service Agent. She barred the way, her slight figure in the door, with arms extended.

"Where is your order for this?" she isked.

Arrelsford stared at her in surprise.

"Get out of my way," he said surtly;
"I have a word or two to say to you after I have been upstairs,"

"Show me your order," persisted the to give way.

"It's Department business and I don't

"It's Department business and I don't require an order."

"You are mistaken about that," said Caroline with astonishing resourcefulness. "This is a private house, it isn't the telegraph office of the Secret Service Department. If you want to go upstairs or see anybody against their will, you will have to bring an order. I don't know much, but I know enough for that."

Arrelsford turned to Mrs. Varney.

"Am I to understand, madam, "he began, "that you refuse—"

But before Mrs. Varney could answer, the soldiers Arrelsford had brought with him gave way before the advent of a sergeant and another party of men. The

"I have an order from General Randolph's office to search this house

"Can't go through on this order," said the Sergeant shortly.

"You were sent here to—" began Mrs. Varney.

"Yes; sorry to trouble you, ma'am, but we'll have to be quick about it. If we don't find him here we've got to follow him down Franklin Street; he's over this way somewhere."

"Who are 'you'. What do you want?"

"Man named Thorne, Captain of Artillery," answered the Sergeant; "that's what he went by, at least. Here, two of you this way! That room in there and the back of the house. Two of you outside," pointing to the windows. "Cutside," pointing to the windows. "The men rapidly dispersed, obeying the commands of the Sergeant, and began a thorough search of the house. Caroline Mitford preceded them up the stairs to Edith's room. Arrelsford, after a moment's hestiation, stepped toward the door and went out, followed by his men. Without a word of acknowledgment or even a bow to Mrs. Varney, he and his men presently left the house. As he did so, two of the Sergeant's men re-entered the room, shoving old Jonas roughly before them. The man's livery was torn and dirty, his head was bound up, and he showed signs of the rough handling he had undergone.

Open cars on the run to the beaches would certainly find favor in the eyes of Sarnia citizens, considering the number of remarks made because of this deficiency. We're looking for some one else. Put him back in his closet. Here, this room! Be quick now! Cover that door. Sorry to disturb you, ma'am.

As the men hurrledly withdrew to continue their search, the voice of a newcomer was heard on the porch. The words came to them clearly:

There was a bit of a skirmish and he got a clip across the neck. Nothing at all, ma'am. He rode back all the way, and—"
"Oh, my boy! He's hurt—he's hurt—"
"Nothing serious, ma'am; don't upset yourself," returned the orderly reassur ingly.
"Where did you—"
But that moment the object of their golicitude himself appeared on the scene. The boy was very pale, and his neck was bandaged. Two of the Sergeant's men supported him.
"Oh, Wilfred!" cried his mother; "my boy!"
"It's nothing, mother," said Wilfred, boy!"

"It's nothing, mother," said Wilfred, motioning her away. "You don't understand." The boy tried to free himself from the men who still held him by the arm. "What do you want to hold me like that for?" he expostulated, as he drew himself away and took a few steps. "You see I can walk," he profested.

few, steps. "You see I can walk," he protested.

His words were brave, but his performance was weak. His mother came close to him, and extended her arms to ward him. But Wilfred was a soldier now, and he did not want any scenes. Therefore, with a great effort, he touk her hand in as casual a manner as possible, quite like a stranger paying an afternoon call.

"How do you do, mother?" he said. "You didn't expect me back so soon, did you? I will tell you how it was. Don't you go away, orderly. I will just rest a minute, and then I will go back with you." Another outburst of the common and the frantic pealing of the alarm bells caught his attention. "See, alarm bells caught his attention. "See, they are ringing the bells calling out the reserves." He started toward the door. "I will go right now."

"No, no, Wilfred," said his mother, taking his arm; "not now, my son."

"Stand by there!" cried the Sergeant.

The two men immediately caught hold of him as he fainted. They carried him to the lounge.

"Find some water, will you?" cantinued the Sergeant. "Put his head down, ma am, and he'll be all right in a minute. He's only fainted.

One of the privates who had hurried off in search of water soon came back with a basin full, with which Mrs. Varney laved the boy's head.

"He'll be all right in a minute," said the Sergeant. "Come, men."

He turned as he spoke, and, followed by the men, left the room, leaving Mrs. Varney with Wilfred and the orderly. It was the latter who broke the silence.

"If there isn't anything e'se, ma'am, I believe I'd better report back to the General."

"Yes," said Mrs. Varney, "don't wait.

"Yes," said Mrs. Varney, "don't wait.
"Yes," said Mrs. Varney, "don't wait.
The wound is dressed, isn't it?"
"Yes," I took him to the Winder Hos wait.
"Yes," I took him to the Winder Hos bill.
"They said he would be on his bill. They said he would be on his bill. They said he wants to be kept pretty quiet."
"Tell the General how it happened."
"Yery well, ma'am," said the order-intouching his cap and going out.

The next person to enter the room was Caroline Mitford. The noise of the men searching the house was very plain. Having informed Edith of the meaning of the tumult, she had come downstairs to inquire if they had found Thorne. She came slowly within the door—rather listlessly, in fact. The exciting events of the night in which she had taken part had somewhat sapped her natural vivacity, but she was shock ed into instant action when she saw Wilfred stretched up on the sofa. "Oh!" she breathed in a low, tense whisper; "what is it? Is he—"
"Caroline deaf," said Mrs. Varney, "it is nothing serious. He isn't badly hurt. He was cut in the neck and fainted. There, there,"—the woman rose from Wilfred's side and caught the girl—"don't you faint, too, dear."

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, July 14.-The unusual numper of alarms of fire turned in lately, many of which have been false calls, has begun to attract more than passing attention among the citizens. "Can't go through on this order," said the Sergeant shortly.

WYOMING MAN HAS

Black Foxes, Magnificent Pheasants, a Pet Crane and Many Others.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Wyoming, July 15. — Mr. Samuel Lucas, who resides on the London road two miles from here, has one of the most unusual collections of strange fowls and animals to be found in the country. He has an unusually fine assortment of pheasants of many different types, including the weaver, English, Amherst, silver, each very beautiful in its way, but the showy, brilliant made birl, strutting about in which characterizes the church of the sunshine, seems assured of holding first place. These birds are all carefully kept in separate inclosures in groups of three and four, and vary value from $6 and $10 each to $130 per set. Muskoka Ducks.

A pair of Muskoka ducks and a penful of geese appear to be very much at home in that demesticated state. Pet and lord of all is "Old Pete," crane from some far north land, which stands about five feet high and is known to be 38 years of age. He is petted by all, and when tired of his wired pen, or when the horses are brought rom the stable to the field, "Old Peter" flaps his wings, and with an unearthly noise follows them to the far corner of the farm. He dearly loves this taste of liberty, and but for the fear of his straying to the highway and frightening other horses, as he would not fail to do if he indulged in one of his discordant songs, might be most pleasing external design. House of Commons in the by-election in Hanley held today to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Enoch Edwards, Laborite. He defeated the Unionist candidate by 654, and the Laborite by 4,953.

The action of the Liberals in contesting the seat is bitterly resented by the Labor party, threatening to strain the alliance to the breaking point.

The previous member for Hanley, Enoch Edwards, was president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain. Mr. Edwards, who was 60 years of age, had not been in good health for some years past. The worry and physical strain of the coal strike negotiations are believed to have been respon-sible for his final illness. He started work at the age of 9 in a mine at Kidsgrove, and at 18 he was treasurer of the local miners' lodge. He became closely associated with the public life of the Potterles, and after serving on the school board and town council, he was elected mayor of Burslem in 1899, Common sense, caution and moderation characterized the tion and moderation characterized the

The Chancellor of the Exchequer grinned while the youth, who had a cut over the eye, was flung aside by the police and landed on the pavement in a dazed condition. He finally ran off to the lower of the county.

Death List May Run Into Many Hundreds and Survivors Face Starvation, All Foodstuffs Being Swept Away by the Racing Waters-Aid Sent From Capital.

Mexico City, July 14.—Details of cloudbursts and floods which again destroyed several thriving cities and exacted a toll of hundreds of lives in the State of Guanajuato, were received in this city today. The advices declare that the cities of Salamanca and Celaya have been wiped off the map and that the number of victims cannot possibly be foretold until the waters have subsided. The first of the series of cloudbursts and floods which have stricken the wealthy State of Guanajuato occurred several weeks ago, when a large part of the capital was washed away, together with several hundred unfortunpart of the capital was washed away, together with several hundred unfortunate peons, who were unable to reach places of safety. The natural outlets became clogged, and within half an hour nothing was seen of the two little cities but the roofs of the houses covered with terror-stricken people pray-

Darkness fell over the doomed cities as the electric light plant, further down the valley, was washed away, and this tended to add to the panic. According to advices received from the correspondent of II Imparcial, it is probable that more than 1,000 lives and at least $20,000,000 in property were destroyed. The vast body of water, suddenly as it came, went out with a rush, carrying houses and people to destruction. Every house in the path of the flood was torn from its foundation and left ruin and misery in its place.

that there was nothing left in the entire valley to feed the half-crazed multi-tude, including hundreds of babies crying for milk. How many have suc-cumbed to hunger has not been ascertained, but the correspondent already on the ground asserts that the figures will prove staggering. Notices have been received from Santa Cruz that all of the crops covering more than 1,000 square miles of rich agricultural lands have been destroyed, and that famine stares the survivors in the face unless relief is sent from other parts of the country. other parts of the country.

Owing to the unsettled conditions prevailing as the result of the war, and the fact that crops generally have been neglected, it is feared that thousands HELP SENT TO SCENE.

Nearly 2,000 laborers were collected in the city of Mexico, and sent to the scene of the disaster to aid in the work of recovering bodies and restoring the city sufficiently to shelter those who escaped death. Another telegram says it will take several days to repair telegraph lines and railroads destroyed by the flood, and until that time it will be impossible to even approximate the losses owing to the lack of news from many important settlements in the path of the flood, which are believed to have been included in the work of TORONTO, July 13.—Mining stocks today were exceptionally quiet and, if anything, the prices were inclined to sag. Hollinger worked down to around 12.30, but there was but a small amount of business transacted. In the Cobalt of business transacted. In the Cobalt group Contagus holds remarkably firm, and the stock is now around 7.50. Our Cobalt correspondents; are continually harping on the excellent condition of the Nipissing plant. At the present price of the stock the return on the money involved is nearly 20 per cent, and men walved is nearly 20 per cent, and men that should know give it as their opinion that the company will be able to pay the present rate of dividend for several years yet and afterwards a reducel one for many years to come. If these opinions are correct the stock is cheap around its present price. 104 105 90

On the water the machine travels as fast as thirty miles an hour, while in the air it goes at the rate of 50 miles an hour. As an aviator, Mr. Brookins needs no

The Company is purchasing 100 acres at Streetsville, close to the C. P. R., with practically an unlimited supply of the finest quality of Shale Clay, which will make the highest grade of bricks.

It is intended to erect a plant capable of turning out 100,000 bricks daily, with building and power equipment for increasing output to 125,000 daily. Electric power is available at very low cost from the plant of the town of Streetsville. CHARACTER OF OUTPUT.

The plant, equipment and clay will enable the Company to supply a very superior, high-class common brick, and the very best quality of face brick. Analysis of the Shale Clay has been made by Thos. Heys and Canadian Laboratories, Limited, and show same to be most suitable for making high

MANAGEMENT.

The Company has in view for manager a man of long and successful experience, who has made good in the highest sense.

Mr. J. W. McReynolds, one of the directors, is a public works contractor of wide experience, and is thoroughly conversant with the requirements necessary to turn out the very best product in the way of brick, at the minimum of cost.

Mr. McReynolds organized one of the largest brickmaking plants in the United States, which plant has never obtained a price higher than $8.00 per 1,000 for its brick, and yet has never paid less than 25 per cent per annum dividend since its origin some twenty years ago.

With brick at $12,00 to $18.00 per $1,000 delivered as obtained in Toronto, a plant of this capacity should return unusually large dividends to shareholders.

ESTIMATED EARNINGS

Based upon only five days per week and forty weeks per annum, and basing the average price to be obtained for the Company's output at the conservative price of $10,000 per 1,000, the estimated earnings will be as follows:

100,000 BRICKS PER DAY FOR 5 DAYS PER WEEK.

500,000 BRICKS PER WEEK FOR 40 WEEKS PER ANNUM.

WHICH, AVERAGED AT $10.00 PER 1,000.
