This is not con-nected with the fall of Port Arthur or the present war, as the Russians recognize the necessity of recruiting their navy without reference to the contest with Japan. Therefore naval experts, consisting of Dolgoroukoff, Porectkind, Brinck and others, have arrived here after visiting the shipyards of Germany. Holland, Austria, Italy and France, to learn their capacity for the execution of an extensive programm for naval construction. Admiral Dou-bassoff, who is chief constructor by the Russian navy, will go over the reports. Their visits included the shipyards at Toulon and La Sayne-Sur-Mer, where they viewed the progress made on four new Russian torpedo boat destroyers and a large mode of the battleship Czarevitch which is considered to be a favorable type for future construction. It is understood that the Russian programme contemplates the expenditure of $200,000,000 during the next three years on navarehabilitation. The meeting of the experts leads to a coincident gathering of representatives of the leading ship-yards.

to £30,000.

London, Jan. 9. - Some 14,000 mer have registered themselves in London as unemployed, and the subscription fund at the Mansion House is now good to relieve the distress, but great hopes are entertained that the committee of borough councilors, etc., under Mr. Long, may do excellent service in providing work for the workless. Yesterday over 60 men were sent by this ommittee to the Salvation Army Farm Colony, at Hadleigh, in Essex, and in a few days some 200 will be employed here at farming and brick-making, and the men will have their board and get 10s a week and 1s to 2s per week for each child. The borough councils are busy arranging contracts for municipal works, which will shortly employ a large number of men. But all that can be done in our congested areas is as nothing compared with what might be done for these workingmen if they were assisted with loans to enable them to emigrate to Canada, where, instead of temporary relief, they would get a permanent relief from the distress which periodically overtakes so large section of workers here, where there s not enough to go around.

BATTLES ON LAND AND SEA

Two Armies and Navies in Sharp Engagements and Long Casualty Lists Result.

London, Jan. 8. - The war between Japan and Russia has been the overshadowing feature in foreign affairs in the last twelve months. Differences between the two countries with regard to Manchuria and Korea led to hostilities, which practically began Feb. 6, when the Japanese minister at St. Petersburg demanded his passports. Two days later shots were exchanged between ships of the two nations off of Feb. 8 a torpedo attack was made by Togo's fleet on the Russian squadron at Port Arthur, with disastrous results to the Czar's ships. The next day the cruiser Variag and the gunboat Korietz were destroyed at Chemulpo, and with the virtual bottling up of the Russians at Port Arthur the way was made clear for the dispatching of Japanese troops to Man-

The first land skirmish of the war took place at Cheng Ju, Korea, on the 28th of March, and the Russians were slowly driven northward across the Yalu River. From April 29 to May 1 the battle of the Yalu was fought, The Russians under Sassalitch were defeated at Chiuliencheng and retreated to Feng Wang Cheng, whence they were driven on May 5. Manwhile the Japanese had landed two additional armies-one at Pitsewo and Kinchow, the other at Taku Shan, Kinchow was captured May 26 and Nan Shan the following day, resulting in the severing of land communications with Port Arthur, After the Nan Shan fight Gen. Oku moved northward with a large force, while General Nogi began working his way southward tothe great Russian stronghold of Port Arthur. June 14 and 15 Oku won the battle of Telissu or Vafangow. He occupied Kaiping July 9, took Hai Cheng on the 3rd of August, and a few days later his troops entered New Chwang. Gen. Nodzu, moving northward from Taku Shan, captured Siuyen, and Kuroki, advancing from Feng Wang Cheng, drove the Russians from Fenshui, Motien and Ta passes, June 30 and July 1. A few days later the three Japanese armies effected a junction, and from Aug. 24 to Sept. 4 were fought the series of battles that put the Mikado's forces under Marshal Oyama in possession of Liao Yang.

The Russians retreated in good order across the Taitse River, and moved rapidly to Mukden, the Japanese pursuit lacking spirit and animation, Milicritics have asserted that Oyama at this time missed his opportunity to defeat Kuropatkin's forces utterly. Having received reinforcements, the Russian commander decided upon an On the 13th the Russians were again a desultory character, severe cold infrom the sea, and after June 27 the at-tacks from the land side were begun by Nogi's troops. A ruinous disaster for Russia occurred April 13, when the squadron was decoyed from the harbor. In attempting to return the battleship Petropavlovsk was blown up, and Admiral Makaroff, the so-called "Cossack of the Sea." and 750 others perished.

On the 10th of August Russia met another great naval misfortune. The fleet made a sortie, and in a fight with Togo's ships was battered and scatter. Admiral Vitoeft being killed. Gen. Nogi continued to press the land siege at Port Arthur, and late in July captured Wolf Hill. Persistent assaults were made on the northern and eastern forts, and troops that had been landed at Pigeon Bay attacked the western fortifications. In the fighting thousand at Pigeon Bay attacked the western for-tifications. In the fighting thousands of men were killed on both sides. On the 17th of August the Japanese made a de-mand for surrender of the stronghold, but it was immediately rejected by Gen. Stoessel, the Russian commander. For days at a time during August and September, Japanese shell was rained on the Russian works, and by means of trenches, sapping and parallels the main forts were gradually approached. What were reported as general assaults were of weekly occurrence during October and November, with the result that the Czar's men gradually were driven into Czar's men gradually were driven into the inner works.

On Nov. 30 the Japanese achieved the remarkable military feat of capturing 203-Meter Hill, but it cost them, as reported, 15,000 men. On three successive nights the Russians attempted to regain the position, but were repelled at each attempt. From the top of the hill Nogi's forces were enabled to bombard the harbor, and continued shell fire on Dec. 6, 7 and 8 resulted in the destruction of the Russian squadron and the burning of the greater part of the town.

After a number of minor attacks another grand assault was delivered on Sunday, Dec. 18. On Dec. 18, too, joyful news for the Japanese was published at Tokio. It was declared that all the largest ships of the Russian fleet at Port Arthur, with the exception of the battleship Sevastospol, had been practically destroyed by shell fire from 203-Meter Hill, and that the Sevastopol was in a badly-damaged Sevastopol was in a badly-damaged Another announcement was

The fighting at the Port Arthur forts was continued daily. The heights east of Houyanshukou were captured on Dec. 24. This was followed by the loss to the Russians of their entire advanced position in front of the Japanese right. With these victories for the besiegers, however, came victories for the besiegers, however, came the tidings that Gen. Nogi had been seri-ously wounded in the storming of 203-Meter Hill. But the Muscovites also lost Meter Hill. But the Muscovites also lost some notable leaders. Gen. Kondratenko and Gen. Irman were reported to have been killed, while Gen. Fock, Stoessel's chief aide, was badly wounded.

Another distinct advantage was gained by the Japanese on Dec. 28, when they captured the Rihlung fort after a desperate assault, during which hundreds of the assailants were slain.

ENVOY IS NOT WELL INFORMED

Statement That 700,000 Men Will Be in Manchuria Next June Is Considered Ridiculous.

Washington, Jan. 9.—"Russia carry on the war to the end," Count Cassini, the Czar's ambassador to Washington, yesterday. "In fact, Russia has only begun to fight. General Kouropatkin now has nearly 300,-000 soldiers. By March he will have 500,000. By May or June he will have 750,000. Russia's resources have hardly been touched. My government will throw into Manchuria a force large enough to overwhelm the Japanese. There is no talk of peace in St. Petersburg. I repeat what I have said all -there can be no negotiations for peace till Russia has won a great victory. Your General Grant once said: 'l propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer.' Russia will fight it out on the lines already adopted if it takes several summers. So far as I am officially advised, there is no thought whatever at St. Petersburg of entering upon peace negotiations. All who have the idea that Russia is suffering discouragement are simply laboring under a delusion." Asked as to the rumors of internal troubles in Russia, of discontent and The threatened revolution, Count Cassini That is all the work of the imagination. Russia is patriotic. Russian patriotism will support the government till victory perches on the national banner. There may be some criticism in the Russian newspapers, but in The war record for the year practically time of war and trouble there is criticloses with the announcement that peace cism in the press of every country. negotiations were probable, with France Such criticism does not mean that the people are turning against the government. Count Cassini was asked if it is true that Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet is about to return to European waters. "I have no official advices on that subject," he replied, "but I should not be surprised if the fleet were ordered return. If it is it will be only for the purpose of combining it with a third squadron, now being prepared, and perhaps a fourth. When all is ready, early in the coming summer, the great fleet will proceed to the Far East in sufficient strength to give it more than an even chance of overwhelming the enemy. I do not know what my government has decided to do, but the return of Admiral Ro-jestvensky's fleet for this purpose would be the natural sequence of the oss of the base which we had hoped to relieve and occupy at Port Arthur. Now that Port Arthur has surrendered there is no need of the fleet going on to the China Sea. It was going thither to relieve the fortress, to raise the siege. (Continued from page 1.) Saturday night, announces that the transfer of the Port Arthur prisoners was completed Saturday afternoon. The total number of officers and men transferred on Saturday was as follows: Gen. Stoessel's headquarters. 21; engineers' company, 280; telegraph corps, 65; railroad detachment, 56; cavalry, 181. Officers and crews of the war vessels: Retvizan, 22; Pobedia, 22; Pallada, II; Peresviet, 15; Bobr, 111; Storozhevoi, 56; Otvashni, 130; Gilliak, 77; Amur, 180; navai defense headquarters, 232; harbor office, 985; navai brigade, 90; torpedo brigade, 151; field posts and telegraphs, 56. Of this number 306 were officers and 3,654 soldiers and sailors. Three judges and three clerks of courts were also transferred.

It is understood that the San Yo Railway has been instructed to make preparations to transport 20,000 Russian prisoners from Shimonoseki to Kure. It is possible that the prisoners will be quartered near Kure. The most serious cases of sick and wounded will be left at Port Arthur in the field hospitals for the present. Those capable of being moved will be befought to Jaran when arrangements

Arthur in the field hospitals for the present. Those capable of being moved will be brought to Japan, when arrangements for housing them have been completed. The Japanese intend to establish a naval station at Port Arthur. Vice-Adniral Y. Shibayama will probably be blaced in charge of it. The military ad-ministration of Port Arthur will retain only a small garrison as soon as the prisoners are withdrawn and order is restored. The fleet is busily engaged in clearing mines, but, owing to their great number, havigation will be unsafe for a long time. Only Government craft will be allowed to enter the harbor. It is be allowed to enter the harbor. It is probable that Dalny will soon be opened up to neutrals. Japanese companies are preparing to establish weekly services to hat port. portant acts thus far in the pontifi-cate of Pope Pius X., has been embodied in a secret bull, the text of which will not be made public until the pontiff is dead, when it will be read as forming part of constitution in the next conclave to elect his suc-cessor. The bull is in connection with the claims of Austria, France and Spain as to their right to veto the election of any cardinal to the papacy. All the cardinals have not been informed as to the contents of the document, it having been drawn up in meetings held by the cardinals living in Rome, with the exception of Car dinal Rampolla, who is absent from the city. The bull is the direct result of veto against Cardinal Rampolla should he have been elected as suc-cessor to Leo XIII., which was preented to the conclave on Aug. 2, 1903, by Cardinal Puzyna, Bishop of Kraskow, Austria, at the instance of En peror Francis Joseph. Briefly, the bull says that all cardinals are absolutely forbidden under penalty of exclusion from the conclave, and being not allowed to vote, to be the bearer

TREASURE HUNTERS

Accident.

London, Jan. 9. - Earl Fitzwilliam's treasure-hunting expedition in the Pacific has met with a mishap. The Veronique, the old Castle liner, which Earl Fitzwilliam purchased for the trip, and which was subsequently transferred to the Yacht Register, left Southampton Oct. 22, under command of Captain Morrison, ostensibly for Valparaiso, the ultimate destination, however, being understood to be an island in the Pacific Ocean, where a vast amount of treasure was said to have been hidden on inquiry at Earl Fitzwilliam's hous in London tonight it was found that much anxiety existed there because his lordship left England for Panama to join the Veronique Nov. 21, and it was understood that he was on board. In consequence of the news received today the rates for reinsurance on the risk which had been placed at Lloyd's sprang up to 50 guineas per cent. The idea prevails that the Veronique had plenty of time to get through the Straits of Magellan, and it is thought she struck on one of the many islands between there and Valparaiso.

Beliot, Wis., Jan. 9.-At the dedication of the new library building of Beloit College, the fact was for the REGULAR first time made public that Andrew PRICE. Carnegie has given more than $39,000, 000 for libraries. This, and other interesting figures, showing the extent of his benefactions formed the subject of an address delivered by Horace White, of New York.

Mr. Carnegie has, up to the present time, given or pledged himself to give, 1,290 library buildings to the Englishspeaking people. Of these 779 are in the United States, The aggregate cost of these buildings is $39,325,240, of which $29,094,080, or practically thre fourths of the whole, has been expended in this country, about $6,000,000 ir England, about $2,000,000 in Scotland and $1,475,500 in Canada. The proportion of the total population which Mr. Car-Negie has supplied with library facilities is, for the aggregate of the English-speaking race, a little more than 18 per cent, and that is the percentage for the United States, for England and for Canada, taken separately.

Fall of Campanile Showed the Writes Christmas Story Which Condition of Art Antiques.

Venice, Jan. 9.-The report of Prof. Manfrede Manfredi the eminent archiect, and Signor Luigi Marangoni, the engineer, on the condition of St. Mark's shows an alarming state of attention to the Venetian antique monuments of art. The greatest danger to St. Mark's is n the foundations which have been constantly giving away in divers direc-tions. All the walls show such cracking and weakening that it leads to the conclusion that under the magnificent dress of marble and mosaic is concealed the most alarming decrepitude. So bad is the condition of the vaults called the Paradise and Apocalypse that their complete and definite res-toration is absolutely necessary. It is equilibrium. The dome of the cheir claims the most immediate and radical measures, as does also the great dome. Both are ut of place and show fissures. Restoration will have to be made of the walls and decorations almost everywhere to preserve intact their artistic and antique value. Apart from the work necessary to ebuild the foundations, it is estimated I that the cost of restoration will be the whole of the $10,000 provided yearof St. Mark's.

Resembles the Great Author's.

London, Jan. 9. Marie Corelli's latest story is a sermon to the rich. She preaches loving-kindness and goodwill, pity and charitableness.

Just as Dickens preached the gospel of charity, in "A Christmas Carol," It confirms the statement that the fall of the Campanile two years ago, Miss Corelli preaches it in was a blessing in disguise, as it called 1904 in "The Strange Visitation of Jovears ago, Miss Corelli preaches it in siah McNason," which has been issued as a companion volume to the New Year's number of the Strand Magazine. The manner in which she has done, it, too, is extremely reminiscent of that which Dickens adopted.

McNason is a multi-millionaire, and churchwarden. Yet, in spite of his wealth and his religion, he hardens his heart to the poor and lives only for himself. So, on Christmas Eve, "Prof. miracle that they maintain their Goblin," of "Hell's United Empire Club," visits him and teaches him a

"I was once a churchwarden," says the Goblin, before he starts on a journey that is to work reform and to make McNason learn charity in a single night.

and Germany Were Near It a Few Days Ago.

Berlin, Jan. 7.—The National Liberal leader, Dr. Paasche, addressing his constituents at Creuznach today, made the astonishing statement that Germany and Great Britain were on the going to Great Britain regarding a bellicose threat against Germany in the Army and Navy Gazette.

Dr. Paasche's words were: "I know with absolute certainty that Germany and Great Britain last week were much nearer warlike complications than many people dream. Our diplomacy succeeded in averting the danger, though with difficulty." Referring to the United States duty on German wines, Dr. Paasche said he had mentioned the matter to Chan-cellor Von Buelow, who had promised to do everything in his power to prevent it. Nevertheless, he added, the Americans were incensed against Germany because of difficulties thrown in the way of importation of American goods into Germany.

EXPERTS DIG UP REDMAN'S LINEAGE

Thinks He Has Found Origin of Indian.

Chicago, Jan. 9. - Lo, the poor Indian! His untutored mind is about to be tutored, Poor Lo! The blissful myshesion and sympathy of the empire as a great whole. He had much pleasure covered. In addition to the endless list of crimes charged to him in the past he will have to answer for an ancestry. He has one, and it has been discovered by Professor Frederick Starr, of the University of Chicago's anthropology department.

With the days of the endurance of his race numbered, the noble red man's carried in the same hall nearly two fast-fading years are to be burdened through science lifting the curtain from his past. With his end almost in sight, his beginning has just been found. True, the facts are clothed in pictorial hieroglyphics, but these are as chaff before the prowess of an anthropologist bent on clearing up the records. And in the near future, when only a few of the children of the forest remain of a once mighty race, these few may proudly wear a crest in addition to the other ornaments which make up their attire.

There seems to be a hand of fate in Professor Starr's discovery. The blight that is about to be visited upon the

As an incident to this latest discovery Professor Starr spent six weeks with his class on the "Pike" at St. Louis, presumably engaged in original research, and then it is recalled that he departed hurriedly for Tomola, in Southern Mexico.

To the credit of Professor Starr it must be said that he has not agreed with any of the uncertain theories heretofore advanced as to the first

IS SUCH THING AS BASEBALL INSTINCT

Players Do Right Thing in Crisis, Without Reasoning Out Their Play.

Manager Kelley, of the St. Paul, Minn., team, is a firm believer in what has been called baseball instinct, where players intuitively do the right thing in a crisis, where they have no time to reason out what should be done. At he stopped, and swept his hand across Paul baseball headquarters, he cited numerous instances of instinctive action by players, which was the right thing for them to do, but which they did without taking any time to reason out the situation.

The most striking of these instances was a play pulled off by Charlie Jones on the Minneapolis grounds on July 5 Vanley to accept you, go to her and propose for you, I certainly will not,"

Saints, and at the end of the eighth the score stood 2 to 2. The Saints got last. Corbett was pitching for the busy in their half of the ninth and made three, putting them many ahead. Corbett started in bad in the last half of the ninth and two runs were scored after two men were out.

McNichols was in first, with Cy Coulter at bat. Coulter knocked out one of his long singles to right center and the ball on about its fourth bound, For the first time Faradeane's face ball he was traveling at full speed, with one hand. When he caught the grew crimson, and his dark, sad eyes headed toward the right field fence.He "Sit down," he said, pointing to the ball straight as a die to Eddie Wheelmissed by the home crowd, which was sore at losing the game in this manner. "At the time," says Manager Kelley, "I remarked to Bausewine that the play was one of the best I had ever

"But I do. See here: I have a kind of faith that if you—if you would tell her to—to accept me, that she'd do it less," continued the manager. "I would be she'd do it less," continued the manager. There is something about right baseball sense an unconscious prompting as to what to do, and they do not reason out the plays they make under these circumstances until after

The talk drifted to unusual happen-ings on the diamond last summer, and the manager told of a remarkable play which came off at Columbus. Wrigley next man up laid down a perfect bunt along the third base line, which did not roll fifteen feet from the plate. Wheeler was waiting for a bunt, scooped up the ball beautifully and retired the batter. Meanwhile Wrigley was headed for third for all he was worth with no one on the bag. Wheeler was tearing back to his station and Kelley took the only chance he had of retiring the runner. He looped the ball high in the air timing it to arrive with Wheeler. He judged the time and distance perfectly and Wheeler arrived just in time to catch the ball and tag Wrig.

Congregationalists Hold Pleasant Meeting in Southern Church on Sunday.

A very successful reunion of the Congregational Sabbath schools of the city was held in the Southern Church yesterday afternoon. It was the regular New Year's reunion rally-an even which each year is looked forward to with the greatest pleasure by scholars and teachers. Mr. Cannom, superintendent of the Southern Congregational Sunday school, presided, and he extended a hearty welcome to all, at the same time expressing regret that Mr Alfred Anundson, the superintendent of the First school, could not be present, owing to the death of his mother. The programme was an especially worthy one, the music for the occasion being supplied in an artistic manner by the First school orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Chadwick. Dr. McDonald, president of St. An drew's Church Guild, gave a very enteresting address, and he was followed by Revs. W. H. Claris and D. S. The attendance at the fourth weekly 'pop" in the Auditorium on Saturday night, was the largest since the series commenced, every seat being occupied. This looks as if the "pops" are grow-ng more and more popular. The fine programme was heartily enjoyed. One programme was heartily enjoyed. One of the features of the evening was the appearance of Miss Lillian G. Wilson, the new soloist of the Dundas Center Methodist Church. She was given a sood reception which was well deserved Her voice is a light, but true and sweet, soprano, and she will prove a great addition to London musical circles. A little about the new-comer's past history will be interesting. worthy successor to the late Rev.Maurice S. Baldwin.

The regular order of evening prayer was first conducted by the rector, Rev. Dyson Hague, assisted by Rev. Arthur Carlisle. The lessons were read by the bishop. The candidates for confirmation were seated at the front of the church, the boys on the left side of the exercising Judicially that he became strong. So in the spiritual life, we did not create our own salvation; but the way to gain the fullest sepiritual development was simply by submitting to the workings of the Holy Spirit.

And God had left us, said the bishop, certain means of strengthening ourselves. First was the Bible, "There is a lamentable lack of knowledge in this country with regard to the Bible," said his lordship. "Many knew who Adam, Samuel and others were, but they have failed to get any grasp of the spiritual wealth which is contained within the book's pages." He advised his young hearers never to let a day go past without reading at least a few verses of Scripture. Secondly, they should be regular attendants at public worship, as well as being constant in private praver. The third and last was the Lord's Supper. His lordship closed his sermon with a strong apparent for-a larger sitemance at the com-
