

SRC SUPPORTS NG CAUSE

Premier's "Undecided Now" So What's He Going To Do?

By Gord Howse
And Pat Gundry

Premier Hugh John Flemming appears to be undecided regarding changes in the province's liquor regulations. In an interview with Brunswickan reporters, Mr. Flemming evaded giving any direct opinion on the question of possible easing of present restrictions.

In his view "A yes or no answer" could not be given, when posed with a question as to whether changes in the liquor act were coming.

Speaking after a meeting of the university Progressive Conservative Club Monday night, Mr. Flemming seemed shy of giving direct answers to a number of questions on the liquor problem here. He did allow, however, that "one might say" control of bootlegging operations is an administrative problem.

The meeting itself offered little opportunity to seek out opinions from New Brunswick's political leader. With PC Club head John Bates presiding, most of the Student Centre session was taken up with the premier's hour-long talk on conservatism.

Following a lone two-part question from the floor, the formal end of the meeting was abruptly cut-off with a suggestion from the club executive that coffee be served. The 30-to-40 students present, representing various political leanings, were given no chance to hold Mr. Flemming under their collective gaze if tricky questions had been asked.

Most frequent criticism voiced after the meeting, was that his remarks contained very little concrete material. Others felt that Mr. Flemming had missed an opportunity to declare himself in various fields before an interested audience.

The Brunswickan asked for an opinion on MP J. C. VanHorne's view, that only Mr. Flemming is holding up a liberalization of the liquor code.

Mr. Flemming granted that Mr. VanHorne was entitled to his opinion.

Asked when a provincial election might be held, he advised that it was "inadvisable to forecast."

Asked about the possibility of instituting written hunting licence tests for those under 21 years, in regard to hunting fatalities, he agreed that "it might be under study."

Asked if he felt that efforts to keep the port of Quebec open all winter would have an adverse effect on Saint John, he replied "Let's hope there are some factors we don't know about yet."

Mr. Flemming did say how

A SCENE OF THE PAST

Our artist depicts the last of the great non-conformists, calling for his date after a late soils lab in yon woodlot. Will the tradition be driven from us?

FALL FORMAL TO BE "FORMAL"

Reminiscent of a cutting from the fashion pages of Playboy, UNB's social committee has come up with a move to put "formal" back into the university's major social events.

In essence the committee advocates that a dark suit become the acceptable minimum in male attire at UNB formal dances. First test of this force of opinion comes next weekend, at the annual Fall Formal.

Says the committee's collective voice, "In the past few years, people have been going to 'formals' in everything from full dress (acceptable) down to sports and tartan jackets (unacceptable)."

Civil Service Seeks Grads

The Civil Service Commission has announced that the federal government is seeking 600 university graduates for continuing employment and 1200 undergraduates and post-graduates for summer work.

At the graduate level, approximately 120 engineers, 100 agricultural scientists, and about 200 arts and commerce graduates will be required. As the first step in its program the Commission is sending senior officers to the universities to describe the needs and acquaint the students with conditions of government employment.

Among the 1200 to be employed next summer, there will be approximately 300 undergraduates in engineering, 150 in geology, 250 in agriculture, and 120 in forestry.

Seniors: Get those Year Book write-ups in to the Year Book office or the hands of the "Books" staff. The Deadline has passed, and should write-ups fail to be submitted immediately, they will be omitted from the Year Book.

The voice adds that the calibre of dances will not improve until habits of dress (sports, tartan jackets) improve. Apparently there is a belief that attire for UNB formals is being taken as lightly as that for Friday night sock-hops.

So far, criticism has been levelled mainly at male students and professors. Legitimately so, feels the committee, as all members of the fairer sex seem to appreciate that a formal dress is the ONLY thing — for a "formal" dance.

The 10 member social committee feels so strongly on the subject, that they point out that this is one of their prime objectives. By emphasizing proper clothing for the "gents" at dances, it's felt each function will become a "special" and worth remembering.

Just in case you think we're kidding, committee chairman Carol-Ann Brewer has instructed the Fall Formal orchestra to keep "jive" numbers to a minimum.

RED 'N' BLACK

Red 'n' Black skits are to be handed in to director Paul Rennick no later than Wednesday, November 11. Everyone who is in the show or is planning to be in it, should be at "Mem Hall"

In a report to the SRC last Wednesday, President Boswell stated that D. Mackay had given full support to the Frank Ng cause. In an interview Mr. Boswell optimistically added, "Dr. Mackay has agreed to meet the necessary people and I now feel that there is nothing to stop our helping Frank Ng".

The band was granted the $450 which they had requested the previous week. Council had turned down the first request because, contrary to the constitution, it was not in writing. Being in writing this time, it was passed without question. However first-vice president, Doug Caldwell, suggested that hereafter the band present a budget.

Alumni Secretary Downed by 'Flu

Pulled down by a continuing 'flu attack and eventually further complications during the past three weeks, Alumni Secretary J. C. Murray has been transferred to Montreal for specialist's treatment.

General duties handled through the Alumni Office in the Student Centre will continue to be directed by the regular staff during Mr. Murray's indefinite absence. Overall control of the Centre has been delegated to professor A. L. MacAllister of the Geology Department.

Prof. MacAllister indicated the temporary closing of the All-Purpose Room is due to indiscriminate parking of soft-drink bottles and the grinding of butts into the floor.

Cash for Songs

The search is on.

Are there any Irving Berlins, Cole Porters, Hoagy Carmichaels, Rogers and Hammersteins in our midst? If so, SRC representative Steve Hart would like a sample of your work.

Mr. Hart has been appointed chairman of a committee with the purpose of producing (believe it or not) a school song. Tentative plans of this committee include requesting songs or ideas from students on a competitive basis with a cash prize being offered as added incentive for the originator of the best item.

Further details such as where to send entries have yet to be ironed out but as Mr. Hart states "It is time the University had a school song", and hopes that it will be given serious consideration.

Drama Society Cheered by Mac

Richard MacDonald, National Director of the Dominion Drama Festival, gave encouragement to local longhairs on Wednesday evening, when he asked for opinions regarding what he Canada Council could do to help amateur theatre groups in all parts of the country. He is doing a report for the Council on the recommendations received and promised that a number of useful suggestions by the UNB Drama Society would be considered.

this Sunday at 2 pm. Those in the cast of the opening number should be at this session also, but at 1:30 pm.

In further business, the SRC constitution itself came under fire. Several revisions were made concerning voting procedure in SRC elections. One such motion was that the candidates' full names appear on the ballot.

Barry Yoell reported a grim outlook for a closed-circuit radio system on the campus. He explained that with the Radio Club's present equipment such a system would be illegal. (see story, page 3).

It was moved that Arts senior Dave Case and junior Artsman Ed Hagerman be sent to the McGill Conference on World Affairs. Mr. Case is honouring in Political Science and Economics, and is Year Book editor, Debating Society president, and an IAC member. Mr. Hagerman, honouring in Political Science and History, is also a member of the International Affairs Club.

The Council considered organizing a petition against the execution of Hungarian students awaiting death in their home country, because of alleged political crimes. The petition was voted down by the SRC, on the grounds that it had no right to interfere in another country's affairs. Furthermore, it is the policy of this Council to remain uninvolved in international political affairs.

Other business: The library will remain open on Saturdays until 6 pm; it was recommended that Council members read the SRC constitution.

STAFF LOOKS FOR OPINIONS

Brunswickan reporters are once more on the prowl for opinions. We want your ideas on SRC sponsored dances. Should we have them, and if so how often, what night of the week, admission price and dress? Would you rather have records or live music, and would the student being questioned support these dances on a fairly regular basis?

All these questions will be directed towards as large a cross-section of the student body as possible.

The SRC gave the Brunswickan this task as a result of our successful poll concerning the spring "Con". Using the results of the latter poll the council decided against changing the date of the "Con".

Shuddup and Yell

There are two problems on this campus which are as perennial as is the ivy which climbs the hallowed walls of the Lady Beaverbrook Residence—student lethargy toward campus events and student loquacity in the library. Two problems may be quickly summed as one: The UNB student is too vocal in the library and not enough so at the campus gatherings.

These dilemmas do have at least one common characteristic: Both are on the upswing. The noise within the library confines is increasing. The shouting at UNB fixtures is subsiding.

What is to be done? Well, one problem at a time, please. First, the case of the vociferous library-occupants. We, at UNB, are unique in this problem. Usually, the chit-chat characteristic is tagged to effervescent females. However, the girls are not solely guilty this time. The remarkable feature of it all is that the male student of the campus participate in these conversations as enthusiastically as do the females.

Somehow these offenders must be told once again, as they have in this space countless other years, that the library is a hall of study and not a student union where friends gather to discuss last night's date or next week's dance.

And to think that we have other buildings, the construction of which has left exposed rafters for this vocal ringing—buildings like the gymnasium and the rink—in which a little loosening of the larynx might help a great deal. This, of course, brings us to the second problem—that of student apathy—as old a chestnut as chestnuts can be old.

The college spirit at UNB is at an all time low. In fact, it's practically non-existent. Pep rallies are a thing of the past. We don't even have a college song.

What are the reasons for this? Why do the rafters not ring now as they once did? It has been offered that the student disinterest is all part of the growing pains of an expanding university. This could be so but it sounds more like an excuse than an actual fact. The Solution, however, may lie in an idea carried back from the recent NFCUS conference in Saskatoon by the SRC President. It calls for the appointing of a Director of Spirit (that's SPIRIT not SPIRITS) who would organize and co-ordinate such events as pep rallies preceding sports fixtures, and also generally make known all up-coming campus events. Perhaps this is the solution.

If not, then we had better start scheduling basketball games in the Beaverbrook Reading Room.

Letters to the Editor

Maggies Misguided

Sir: In reply to the misguided missive from the Two Maggie Jeaners. Inasmuch as I am a mobile male and brought up as a gentleman towards "ladies" however, it might occur to them that the males concerned might warrant consideration as well. Henceforth, any services rendered shall be governed by those women deemed as acceptable as ladies, rather than the egocentrics that have fallen to my lot.

In return may I state that I will be present at the Fall Formal, but will you? After all, the Maggie Jean and its associates are not the sole supply of pulchritude in our fair city.

Hugh L. Awalt
 P. S. Read Emily Post sometime. I have.

★ ★ ★ DAVID vs GOLIATH

Sir: In a recent Hotbed article Mr. Fairbairn attacked the Business Administration Club in an indirect and "evasive" manner. The fact is that he failed to bring to view the real problem which developed from this haste on the choosing of faculty queens.

In his feeble attempt to make foresters look like "Goliaths" and the business faculty "Davids", he so much as told us that once the forestry faculty has nominated its queen candidates, other faculties have the "hands off" signal until they (the foresters) choose their representative. This as any artsman or engineer can see, is ridiculous. All they need to do is choose for nomination every possible candidate, then sit back and wait until they're good and ready for the election. The end result is obvious. Nomination and election dates are placed earlier each year so the small faculties get the jump on the larger ones.

The method by which the Business Club chose their queen was completely ethical. The meeting had been planned two weeks prior and the choosing of our queen was placed on the agenda. For Mr. Fairbairn's information, the club constitution states that meetings will be held on Thursday nights.

We sincerely hope we have not embarrassed either of our nominees but we feel justified in the method of choosing our queen. We would respectfully suggest to the Winter Carnival Committee that they make provision in their rules, so that in future years, there will be no recurrence of this problem.

The Business Administration Club

Girls, are you average? Then, according to the learned professors, you say "Yes", almost twice as often as you say "No."

Radio UNB To be or Not . .

Radio UNB received a foul blow this week. A letter was received from the Department of Transport (the primary ruling body concerning radio stations) stating that "radio transmissions by carrier current . . . may be licensed, but the use of such a system for broadcasting programs would not be permitted". This cuts out any plans that might have materialized in connection with a purely 'Residence' system of broadcasting. The letter continued, mentioning the possibility of a live radio station to the general public from the UNB campus, but rather dampened the idea by stating that the Department would be "reluctant to accept an application (for a licence) from the SRC of UNB, knowing that its membership changes from time to time." As Queens University has been operating a live radio station for many years and UBC is hoping to start one in the near future, it seems possible that this latter statement of policy may be eradicated in the future.

Thus the possibilities of a campus radio station have been postponed considerably; until adequate broadcasting facilities can

Where do they learn it? How is this insidious pattern of thinking passed on from generation to generation? How can the least intelligent of women manoeuvre the cleverest man into begging for permission to give her the thing she wants most? Why is it that man is completely defenseless against such tactics even when perfectly aware of their existence. This manoeuvring is present in every level of society and practically governs modern social life. In fact, it completely dominates social life on this campus.

The Sadie Hawkins dance is one of the more obvious stratagems. Girls with a certain amount of basic honesty use it to establish contact. A variation of the Sadie Hawkins method is thumbing rides up the hill. The more common, more sneaky, more successful plan of attack is the "grapevine" method. Somehow word filters through channels (quite obvious to women but non-existent for men) that a certain young man should take a certain young co-ed to a coming event (i.e. the fall formal). The young man is both surprised and flattered and subject to immediate, strong social pressures. If he doesn't take her he's a cad and if he does he has that "railroaded feeling".

Surely with all the generations of refinement a more human method should have evolved.

EDUCATION IN THE SOVIET UNION

(CUP) Igor Biriukov, the first Russian student representative to visit Canada, warned the NFCUS congress in Saskatoon that his countrymen are trying to make the Soviet Union "the most educated and richest country in the world".

Yearly, the Soviet's 800 universities graduate 90,000 engineers compared with 30,000 in the U.S. and 2,100 in Canada.

Everyone is eligible for university entrance once they have completed the lower school, although there are two main requirements: entrance exams, and work experience in industry.

The school term begins September 1st, and there are no holidays until a study period which starts January 1st, prior to the mid-term exams. After these exams, there is a ten day vacation period, and then school until July 3.

STUDENT DISCOUNTS

After a month or so of the 10 % discount for students at some Fredericton stores, arranged by NFCUS, the committee in charge has conducted a survey. This committee, by the way, is called the Student Discount Committee, and is composed of chairman, Sid Grant, members Dave Wilson, Laurence Friedman, and Bob Gilmore.

Generally, the stores seem happy with the arrangement. Of course, there have been a few adverse comments, stemming from the fact that the students do not seem to know about, or take advantage of, the discount.

So, for the benefit of the uninformed, here is a complete list of Fredericton stores, now offering a 10 % discount to UNB students:

THE HOTBED

In an exclusive interview with Hotbed, Miss Allie Bonner blasted liquor as an evil influence in today's society. This dynamic lady, well-known in Fredericton political and social circles, confidentially stated that liquor does physical damage as it "rots the body and arouses evil passions within one". She continued by divulging a scalding exposé of bootlegging in the Fredericton area, stating that "13 are now operating in the Killarney district". She refused to divulge phone numbers of these law-breakers. When asked how she felt about the present liquor laws in N.B., she advocated total prohibition and stated that "Van Horne is crazy and this type of lunacy should be eliminated".

The interview was interrupted by the untimely entrance of the Premier who later gave an uninspiring speech to a totally disinterested audience of over 50 UNB PC's or DT's or whatever they call themselves. Very interesting to know that no less than 6 cars were reported to have had accidents over the Mount A. weekend — two have still not been heard from. Did the university administration really believe that if they cancelled the train, it would eliminate drinking? It appears to me that whoever is responsible for the cancellation of the train has succeeded in creating many more menaces on the highways. Possibly the rain was a shocking, scandalous, and sordid affair if they think that the situation was so bad they had to put lives in jeopardy by encouraging drunks to drive, then their reasoning is slightly (to say the least) idiotic. Just as the death of Stan Cooke, three years ago, was the only thing that prompted the putting of signals on the University Avenue railway crossing, we can safely assume that the administration will wait until the highways are red with blood and cluttered with broken liquor bottles before they decide that the re-establishment of this train is advisable. Another example of locking the barn after the horse has been run over by a drunken motorist. The on-the-ball Winter Carnival Committee has once again succeeded in having another first on the UNB campus, they have arranged with Weekend Magazine, one of the top weeklies in the country to do a feature on this year's Carnival — expected that the various organizations will outdo themselves in building floats and sculptures that will be suitable for national exposure. Bridge Club started with a loud bang as 27 members showed up for the initial games. Drama Society's "Mousetrap" to be held December 5th, appears to be a dark horse. Director Mike Gordon states — "no sex but a real who-dunnit thriller". Seems that WUSC is slipping back into its lethargy of yesteryear. Looking for improvement before the next issue appears.

ONE DOWN — TWO TO GO

Three UNB teams will wind up their schedule in the 1959 Maritime Intercollegiate Championships tomorrow. The Football, Soccer and Cross Country squads will all play away from home. The Bombers and Redshirts both travel to Acadia but whereas the footballers are already Maritime champs, the soccer players will have a tough job to take their respective title. The Harriers will have the hardest job of the three, however, at their meet in Sackville, where the Swamp collegians are favorites to win.

The result of the Football game at Acadia cannot alter the Bombers position on top as they have beaten their only possible rivals, St. Mary's, which is what counts in the event of a tie for first place. Of course, the champs are expected to keep their unbeaten record intact. Coach Nelson is relying on his rookies to win the game and is expected to experiment with next season in view. However, he is only too aware of Acadia's recent capabilities at scoring and will dress all but his injured men. The wounded include McLellan, Clark, Ciotti, McLenahan and "little" Ted Boswell, who is reputed to have sucked his thumb too hard!

The team without a star, the Redshirts, who rely on teamwork to drive them through are out to take their championship for the first time since 1954. The weakness in shooting power must be eradicated if they are to stand an even chance against Acadia. Acadia have already scored convincing wins over St. FX, Dalhousie, and King's, winning the final 4-1. The Axemen have outplayed all opposition in the Nova Scotia loop this year. The game will be played in the morning with the Football scheduled for the afternoon.

The Lahave Trophy for the Maritime Intercollegiate cross country supremacy, awarded last year for the first time and won by UNB, will once again be open for competition. It appears that Mount A. will be the only rivals and led by Vic McLeod they are overwhelming favorites to win on their own 4-mile course. In spite of enthusiastic training, however, it is unlikely that UNB can pull off a victory this year.
