Maidenhood.

When the buds are white and pink,
On the cheek the budding green,
In the land of 'Oh, I think,'
In the years, years that have been
To the bliss of perfect bliss,
With the smile upon her lips,
And the wonder in her eyes,
And the world at her feet tips.

Merging from the dreamy morn,
Dawning in the sunny day,
And the thought of the dawn,
With its quick, pulsating beat;
Watching shadowy figures glide
In a new world just won;
And the world at her feet tips.

To the future vaguely reach,
As a mortal glance behind,
Lending, while the new hour teaches
With great eyes that seek to find
In the land where shadows meet
For the still, calm, unknown part.

THE DEACONS' MEETING.

THE meeting of the deacons of the Mayfield Avenue Union Church was nearly over, and it had not been a pleasant meeting. Nothing had been said that could be called positively offensive to the minister, the Rev. John Gaunt, but a good deal had been implied. John Gaunt had been minister of the church for nearly seven years. He had come to it on an enthusiastic call when its prestige had somewhat declined, and the force of his personality and preaching genius had raised it within two years to a position of commanding influence. In the fourth year of his ministry the zenith of success was reached. The pews were all let, and many persons applied for seats in vain. In the fifth year a change began to be perceptible. There was no longer a crowd. In the sixth year, there were many vacant seats, and some of his most substantial supporters had moved into new and distant suburbs. In the seventh year the process of disintegration was manifest. Hence the present meeting, the object of which was the discussion of what Deacon Roberts irresolutely described as the situation of the church. In the early years of his ministry Gaunt had been accustomed to describe himself as more free than any minister in New York. He could preach any doctrine he pleased, he was untroubled by any question of finance, and he was conscious of an atmosphere of warm joy among his people. When some of his less successful brethren complained of their difficulties in relation to their people, he smiled with the suave consideration of a superior person. It seemed to him the easiest thing in the world to manage men, to attach them to one's self, to evoke from them the best feelings and acts. But he had never had a day's trouble in his church, he was accustomed to say.

This was true in the broad general sense in which he intended it, but nevertheless it had never represented the real facts of the case. He had always been perfectly aware that he could not have done so, but for the fact of his success in the pulpit. The most contented church circle is silent in the presence of visible success. But it does not follow that he will be always silent. Churches, like armies, cease to exist when conquest ceases, and they are left to the mercy of the conqueror.

During the last year John Gaunt had slowly come to a partial understanding of this law. It was only partial, for his own reluctance to face the facts of the case made him a slow learner. He had carefully closed his ears to many veiled hints on the part of the members of the church, the significance of which was obvious in the pressure of facts, however slowly exerted, cannot be continuously resisted. His own eyes told him that his congregation was falling off. To himself he explained this disastrous fact by the departure of many of his best supporters to the rapidly growing suburbs of the city. But he soon found that such explanations explained only a part of the loss. He had to face the fact that many of his best supporters were leaving the church, and that many of those who remained were not so devoted as of old. ### What is McClure's.

Everyone who has thought of the danger of facing poverty in this old age will be interested in Burton J. Hendrick's article on "The Superannuated Man" in the Christmas number of McClure's Magazine. Mr. Hendrick tells of the growth of the pension system among corporations and the work of the Carnegie Foundation on behalf of retired college professors. Dr. Henry Smith Williams contributes a paper dealing with alcohol as a chief cause of crime, insanity and pauperism; Samuel Hopkins Adams shows how Coppenhagen solved the pure milk problem; General Kuroptok tells why Japan defeated Russia. The number contains two Lincoln articles: one the hitherto unpublished account of the eye witness of the assassination of Mr. Lincoln and the other the story of "Our American Cousin," the play he went to see on the night of the tragedy. An attractive feature of the number is a paper by John La Fargue, his series on "One Hundred Masterpieces of Painting," which is handsomely illustrated in colors. There is an unusually interesting list of short stories: "The Mistletoe Bough," by Lucy Pratt; "On the Gulf Road," by Willa Sibert Cather; "Simon the Gentle," by E. F. Sterns; "The Closing of the Ranks," by Margaret Wilson; "Beast," by Adeline Knapp; and "The Countess of Overland Hall," by I. H. Bickford.

He was the kind of man who had any message to the poor? From the day he left the seminary he had grown accustomed to his tastes and habits. Circumstances had helped him. He had lived among people of good manners and easy lives. He had met a good many persons of intellectual tastes, and he had developed wonderfully through the use imposed upon

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., DEC. 4, 1908.

Town Council.

The regular monthly meeting of the Council was held on Wednesday evening, with the Mayor and all the Councilors except Coun. Abbott present.

The streets and public property committee reported that the flag-pole on the school property had been replaced by a new one, and that considerable work on culverts, bridges and ditches had been done on Gasperau, Highland and Linden avenues and Prospect street.

The water committee reported that the reservoir at the upper dam had been thoroughly cleaned, hydrants had been flushed out and the service had been repaired generally where needed.

The finance committee reported receipts for November $1469.59, with expenditure $609.77. The overdraft Nov. 30th was $2261.18, to meet which there is owing taxes amounting to $550.

A communication was read from Policeman Crowell asking to be supplied with an overcoat for the coming winter, in accordance with agreement. This was referred to the proper committee.

The following accounts were read and ordered to be paid:

- Wood & Mahaney ..... $39.50
A. Delahant ..... $11.06
Valley Telephone Co. .... 1.65
Wolville Division ..... 4.00
F. J. Porter ..... 18.45
Davison Bros. .... 19.88
Harry Spence ..... 2.00
Joseph Christie ..... 17.81
R. E. Harris & Son ..... 30.57
Acadia Electric Light Co. .... 43.35
Halifax Herald ..... 4.30

The following offers for $20,000 town of Wolville 4 per cent. debentures were read: P. B. McCurdy & Co., Halifax, 91.25 per cent.; J. C. MacKintosh & Co., Halifax, 91 per cent.; Royal Securities Corporation, Ltd., Halifax, 87 1/2 per cent.; Dominion Securities Corporation, Montreal, 89 1/2 per cent.; John W. Wallace, Wolville, 77 per cent.

Resolved that the Electric Light Committee take immediate steps to secure offers for its electric light debentures lately advertised.

Mayor Black asked to be relieved from service on the Electric Light Committee as he expressed himself as not being in sympathy with work being undertaken at this season of the year.

Resolved that a notice be published in this week's ACADIAN that all overdue rates and taxes must be paid on or before December 10th.

Resolved that steps be taken forth with to lay out and open up a street thirty-three feet wide, in continuation of Central avenue from Prospect street to Acadia street with a view to continuing the same later on from Acadia street to Main street, and that Mr. A. E. Caldwell be engaged to make a survey and plan of such street at such location and running such course as may be directed by the committee on streets.

The clerk was instructed to engage about one thousand feet of granite curbing at sixty cents per foot to complete the work contemplated by the Council.

The Christmas number of The Canadian Magazine stands as evidence that in literary quality and artistic ability Canadian writers and illustrators can hold their own with the average of production anywhere. It is easily the best representative Canadian magazine yet published, and is a splendid indication of the advances that have been made in a literary and artistic way in the Dominion.

We incline to the opinion that citizens generally will agree with Mayor Black that this is no time of year to begin work at Black River, and will support his wish in the effort to restrain the chairman of the electric light committee in his zeal for an unreasonable expenditure of public funds.

The annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association will be held in Middleton, opening on Monday, Dec. 14th, at 2 p. m., and closing at noon on Wednesday, 16th. Misses' Listened Cares dignified.

A Nova Scotia Enterprise.

SOMETHING OF WHAT IS BEING DONE 'OVER THE BAY.'

Nova Scotia, with the exception of P. E. Island, is the smallest of the provinces of the Dominion of Canada, and yet in its natural resources it is without doubt the richest. The people of this province—with its coal, iron, gold, fruit, forest and fishing industries—have always overlooked their own possibilities and have permitted other people to develop the riches with which nature has so bountifully provided them.

Six years ago the Maritime Coal, Railway and Power Company began operations in the county by purchasing and opening up the Chignecto Mine which lies about six and a half miles from Amherst. This company was the first to follow the suggestion of Edison to convert the waste material of the mine into electrical power, and on the last day of July, 1907, they turned on the current at Amherst from the finest electrical plant in Nova Scotia—the governor of the province pressing the button—and received the congratulatory telegram from the famous wizard: 'I little thought that this would first be accomplished in Nova Scotia, where my father was born over a hundred years ago.'

The objective point of this development is Moncton, only fifty miles away; and this company hopes in the near future to supply light and power to Sackville, Dorchester and Moncton. In these four towns alone are expended yearly over $100,000 for these utilities. All this will be accomplished simply by using the culm coal of their mines.

The company purchased in 1907 the property of the Canada Coal Company with its railroad and mines at the Joggins. They at once began operations and in less than sixteen months had opened up the Maritime Mine, which extends under the Bay of Fundy. The old Joggins mine was dismantled and the new Maritime has taken its place. Nothing remains of the old mine except its name.

The new bankhead is situated at the head of No. 7 slope, immediately on the shore of the Bay of Fundy, and from it coal is dropped direct to the docks. The new bankhead has a capacity of 1,500 tons a day, and is equipped with revolving tripplers, automatic quick-weighing hoppers, distributing chutes, shaking screens and picking belts. The building of the bankhead was commenced on May 16th, 1907, and it was put into operation on the 31st ult., on which day it handled 240 tons of coal. This output will increase constantly and rapidly.

The company has also had its franchise extended, and the governments have given it a subsidy to enable it to carry its railway line to Tidnish, where its coal can be shipped by water to all upper province points. This will give the company, which carries besides its own coal the output of the Straitheads, Miandis and Pandy Mines, unsurpassed shipping facilities for both the Bay of Fundy and Strait points.

All this development was brought about by the simple and persuasive suggestion of a member of parliament, the representative of the county, who merely asked Montreal capitalists to 'come and see.' And what is being done in Cumberland can be repeated in many counties of this fair province if the people will only realize that all the 'green fields' are not far away.

The Reign of Slander.
This seems to be the 'Age of Slander.' I'm led into the following thoughts by a friend telling me this morning of a BRAN NEW LIE about myself.
Slander, I understand to mean, injurious statements about persons—WITHOUT PROOF. If one knows, positively, of personal knowledge, or of undoubted proof, that another is guilty of evil, and bravely takes his life in his hand and says what he knows; instead of being a slanderer he may be a benefactor!
But I simply want to point out the universality of slander to-day, and the hold it has on our boasted civilization. Beginning at home. I know of but few persons in Wolfville but have been, or are, the subjects of slander! No one escapes the slanders of this little town! Stories, the most absurd, utterly without foundation, based on some flimsy and misunderstood appearance or circumstance, or on the imagination of a corrupt heart and tie, or on some misunderstood word, of some child or irresponsible half-witted individual, etc., etc., go forth and are repeated and retailed and added to ad infinitum! And that is the 'hash' of scandal fever. Perhaps I do not know other places well enough to judge; but I believe this place the worst I have ever lived in.

A CITIZEN WHO WILL LONG BE MISSED FROM OUR TOWN.

The death of Mr. George V. Rand, which took place on Monday night last, removes one who perhaps in a greater measure than any other citizen was connected with the public life of the community. That for over fifty-three years he filled the position of post-master here was sufficient of itself to make his life a very prominent one. A faithful official he was in every respect, as well as a public-spirited citizen and a good man.

Mr. Rand was born at Canard in the year 1829 and was within a few weeks of having reached his eightieth birthday. A son of the late Deacon Thomas Rand, he was of a large family, only one of whom—Mr. Everett Rand, of Sheffield Mills—survives him. The late Dr. Theodore H. Rand was a younger brother.

His boyhood was spent on the farm at Canard, and after taking a course in pharmacy in Boston, and spending some years in the practice of his profession elsewhere, he established the first drug store in this county in 1853. He was also the first telegraph operator in Wolfville and in 1885 was appointed postmaster. This position he held up to the time of his death, although for the past year he has been unable to attend to its duties.

He was a most enterprising man, and was instrumental in promoting valuable reforms in horticulture and in the general life of the community. As a member of the water commission the credit is chiefly due to him for the securing of the splendid water service we now enjoy.

For many years he was organist and chorister of the Wolfville Baptist church, and it was largely owing to him that the fine pipe-organ was presented to the church by Mr. Richard Pines.

He was an active member of Wolfville Division for many years, and untiring in his efforts to promote the advancement of temperance and moral reform. His influence was always on the lines of enlightened progress, even although more than once he suffered because of his advocacy of right.

Mr. Rand married Miss Annie Rousefelt, of Wolfville, who predeceased him by many years. Of a large family only one son, Mr. A. V. Rand, druggist, of this town, survives him. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, and notwithstanding the extreme cold was a very large one. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Webster and the interment was in Willow Bank.

Higgins-Stokes.

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, Miss Margaret May Higgins and Mr. W. S. Stokes were united in marriage at the First M. E. church by the Rev. C. C. Rarick, pastor of the church. The church decorations were carried out in green and white, being banked with ferns and palms and presented a very pretty scene. Miss Reba Hobson sang before the wedding ceremony and Miss Maude Ross played the wedding march. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. J. E. Higgins. The ushers of whom there were five in number, were J. A. Beckwith of Portland, cousin of the bride; Mr. M. McCloud, Lieutenant Park of Vancouver; Mr. Rob McLean. The bride looked radiant in a beautiful gown of white crepe de chine, made in empire style, with train and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. A beautiful bride veil completed her outfit. Miss Winifred, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and looked beautiful in a gown of pink messaline and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Grace Stokes was bridesmaid, and wore a dainty gown of blue sailline silk and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

After the wedding ceremony there was an informal gathering at the beautiful Higgins' home, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and the ladies of the Thursday club and their husbands being present. The house decorations were in pink and green. In the spacious dining room, where the wedding party assembled the table decorations were pink, carnations, carnations and milk. The bridal party were seated in the center of the room at a small table and the others sat at small tables which formed a circle around the bride and groom.

[The above is taken from an Oregon paper and refers to the marriage of a young lady well known in Wolfville. THE ACADIAN extends best wishes.]

Beware of Frequent Colds! A succession of colds or a protracted cold is almost certain to end in chronic catarrh, from which few persons ever wholly recover. Give every cold the attention it deserves and you may avoid this disagreeable disease. How can you cure a cold? Why not try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended. Mrs. M. White, of Butler, Tenn., says: 'Several years ago I was bothered with my throat and lungs. Someone told me of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I began using it and it relieved me at once. Now my throat and lungs are sound and well.' For sale by Rand's Drug Store.

Attention is directed to the notice of the town clerk which appears in another column. It is to be hoped that citizens generally will co-operate with the town government in the laudable effort to present a creditable balance at the end of the year. At present the town is paying interest on a large overdraft at the bank, which might easily be wiped out if those in arrears for taxes would make prompt payment.

Billtown.

The Rev. A. H. Whitman has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Billtown Baptist church, and has commenced his labors among the people. His last pastorate was at Sydney Mines, where he did excellent work.

A very cordial reception was given him on Monday evening. Several pastors were unable to be present.

There was first the ceremony of presentation in the vestry and afterwards the more formal service in the audience room conducted in a satisfactory manner by Rev. M. C. Higgins. Mr. John Lantz gave a fitting address to the pastor in behalf of the deacons. He was followed by M. P. Freeman, one of the former pastors of the church, Revs. D. W. Cendall and J. D. Spidell with words appropriate to the occasion, to which pastor Whitman suitably responded.

The new pastor comes with a fine record, and in the buoyancy of early manhood, and to a fine field for Christian effort.

Mr. Harry Dickey, of Canard, has purchased the Paine property from Mr. Glawson, who has returned to Halifax. Mr. Dickey is one of the most enterprising young farmers of Kings county, a brother of the late Dr. E. E. Dickey, formerly of this town. We gladly welcome him to Wolfville.

It Stops Itching

HEALS THE SKIN. It is because Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment possesses a remarkable degree of the ability to stop itching and heal raw skin, that it has become known the world over as the most successful treatment for such diseases of the skin as eczema and skin rashes.

Any one who is familiar with the life of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous Florida Book author, knows that few physicians ever had such an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the most effective medical treatment, and knowing that the doctor ever put his name to his name so marvelously successful as Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment.

MOTHER

This happy mother, like thousands of others, believes in nothing so much as Mother Seigel's Syrup. The days when household work was a burden and the least exertion painful, when even her own children irritated her, are a long way behind. So are the headaches, the nasty taste, the heartburn, the dizziness and the constant feeling of fatigue. They vanished like a bad dream the day she first bought Mother Seigel's Syrup, and they will stay away as long as Mother Seigel's Syrup has a place in her cupboard. It is the standard remedy for Indigestion and Liver Disorders, and the regular family medicine in thousands of Canadian homes. Goodly for mother. Good for father. Good for all the family!

Glained by the Way.

It's queer how some people imagine they are having a good time when they do things you dislike.

"How is Nell going to make up that flake colored dress?"

Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. Edward Schwartz, Latham, Ont., writes: "I had nervous prostration could not sleep, had frequent headaches and dizzy spells, palpitation of the heart, was tired, exhausted and very irritable and nervous. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured it all and I cannot find words to express my thankfulness. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures in nature's way by forming rich, red blood and building up the system."

Mr. Goldleigh (severely)—There must be a check to this extravagance. Clarice—Exactly, papa; and make it a big one, won't you?

Owner—What made that horse kick you? Stableboy—I may be a fool, gay nor, but I ain't fool enough to go back and ask him!

Constipation and Headache.

Mrs. R. Morrow, Beaufort, Ont., writes: "For many years I was troubled constantly with constipation of the bowels and never got any relief until I used the medicine which has been obtained from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This also cured me of headaches and improved my general health very much. There is a place for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in every home as a cure for constipation, headache and indigestion."

Blotbe—I hear you have been up in Maine shooting. Have any luck? Slobs—Great luck. A fellow shot at me for a deer and missed me.

"You say she married for love; but I happen to know that the man she married is worth a million." "Of course; the million is what she loves!"

Piles

To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every case of hemorrhoids, bleedings and protruding piles, the manufacturer has arranged to issue a pamphlet in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it for one year money back if not cured. See a box, at all dealers or from Chase, Harris & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Mr. Benham—You should say nothing but good of the dead. Benham—That doesn't mean that you should say nothing but bad of the living.

"I say, do you think that Wiggins is a man to be trusted?" "Trusted? Yes, rather. Why I'd trust him with my life!" "Yes, but with anything of value I mean?"

"Did you take your shoes to that place with the sign, 'Shoes Repaired While You Wait'?" "Yes, they repaired six while I waited, and told me to call in three days for mine."

Customer—I don't want these moth balls. Druggist—Why not? Customer—Well, I've been throwing them at the moths for a week and can't hit a single one.

The lecturer had been describing some of the sights he had seen abroad. "There are some spectacles," he said, "that one never forgets."

"I wish you could tell me where I can get a pair of them," exclaimed an old lady in the audience. "I'm always forgetting mine."

Wedderly—My wife and I went down town to select a new rug for the parlor this morning. She liked one prtern and I liked another.

Singleton—What did you do about it? Wedderly—Oh, we compromised on the one she liked.

Origin of Fruits.

The strawberry, says a European authority, comes from a cross between the native strawberry of Virginia and that of Chile. The raspberry is native in temperate Europe and in Asia. The apricot originated in China. The peach was originally a Chinese fruit. The cherry originated round the Caspian Sea. The plum comes from the Caucasus and Turkey. The pear is native in temperate Europe and Western Asia. The quince comes from Southeastern Europe, the Caucasus and the Caspian region. The apple is native all over Europe, in the Caucasus, round the Black Sea and in Persia. The almond comes from Transcaucasia, Mesopotamia, Persia, Turkistan and Algeria. The fig seems to have originated round the Mediterranean, particularly in Syria. The grape is native in Southern Europe, Algeria, Morocco and Western Asia. The red currant grows wild all over Europe, in the Caucasus, Persia and Northern India. The sweet orange originated in Southern China and Cochin China. The citrus is of Indian origin.

The old-fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Bismuth—has been directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fall, then those organs cease to function. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Bismuth. That is a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by J. C. Watson, Toronto, Ont.

Send Advice. A man advertised recently, in a London paper to forward, on receipt of postage stamps, sound, practical advice that would be applicable at any time and to all persons and conditions of life.

On receipt of the stamps, he sent his numerous victims the following: "Never give a boy a penny to hold your hand, while you climb a tree to look into the middle of next week." The Catholic News.

Regularity in Feeding.

A horse that is fed regularly will be in better condition on three meals of oats in the day than one that is fed irregularly will be on four. He knows exactly when his attendant will feed him, and does not weary for his meals; whereas a horse that is fed at any or all times is never really satisfied, and will worry while waiting for his careless attendant, and his meals. Irregularity in feeding is also a productive cause of many stable ills. No more straw or hay should be placed before a horse in the morning than he can eat up cleanly in an hour, a less quantity should be given at midday, and in the evening he should never get any more than will reasonably serve him over night. Regularity in feeding is important in any class of live stock in insuring the best results.

For the Superstitious.
To make tea too strong is a sign of new friends.
If you make it too weak then you will lose friends.
If you sing, while making bread you will weep before it is eaten.
If while opening a tin of fruit or anything similar, the juice should happen to spurt up in the operator's face, it is a sign of some coming good.
If a girl who is kneading dough clutches a lad's face, he'll never grow a beard.
When bread, cake, or pie will burn in spite of you, your husband or lover is angry with a tin of fruit or anything similar, the juice should happen to spurt up in the operator's face, it is a sign of some coming good.
N. B.—And if you place too much weight in these omens, you are simply looking for trouble.

Death or Insanity
Nervous, Sleepless, Worn Out.
Expected to die or go crazy with nervousness.

"I could not sleep—I could not rest—was ready to cry on the least occasion—yet I was plump and fat. Can you imagine a more distressing condition than weakness of body and mind?" writes Mrs. Wensley, of Halifax. "I lost myself in a sort of self pity because health seemed so shattered, and with the mental distress that grew with my bodily weakness, I was a burden to myself and a greater burden to my family."

"Though I sought and really needed help, I got very little, for I did not look so very sick. It was only my nerves that were sick, and anyone who has sick nerves knows too well how awful a sickness it is."

"From the first Ferreroze strengthened my nerves, and it seemed to help them for I became stronger, more composed, slept more and grew more hopeful. When I had taken Ferreroze for about two months I lost that miserable sense of dread I never could tell what I was afraid of, but expected something dreadful was going to happen to me. Ferreroze gave me the strength to throw aside these tangles and made me well again."

Go at once to any druggist, for a few boxes of Ferreroze—start right on the road to vigor. Ferreroze will keep you there—will show you what it means to be healthy, vigorous, full of nerve energy. Once you're braced up and energized with Ferreroze you'll never again be content with ill-health.

All dealers sell Ferreroze, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50.

HELPLESS 3 WEEKS

HANDS COVERED WITH ECZEMA AMPUTATION FEARED, BUT ZAM-BUK SAVED.

"For three long months I was not able to attend to my own needs; and for three weeks the eczema on my hands was so bad that I was unable to feed myself. I had to be fed on one feeds a baby, because I could not hold knife, fork, spoon or cup." So says Miss Violet McCorley, of 75, Gore Street, South Ste. Marie, in telling how Zam-Buk cured her of eczema. She adds: "Hands, wrists and arms up to the elbows were covered with eczema. The itching and the soreness were so high unbearable. As the disease developed, the skin actually peeled off leaving raw sores. The palms, fingers, backs of my hands and wrists were all in this shocking state, and I was forced to sit in agony all the while."

"The raw sores were soon in a foul condition, and my finger nails, all except two, fell off. During the different stages of my trouble, I sought the advice of three different doctors and received treatment, but although getting slight relief at first there was no cure. Amputation was at one time thought necessary, but the timely introduction of Zam-Buk prevented this fearful ending."

"Zam-Buk was recommended by a friend and we bought a supply. The first few applications gave me a little ease, but it was not until I had continued with it for some time that I felt a decided improvement. After that my cure went on quickly. Zam-Buk did what everything else had failed to do. Now my hands and arms are quite free from the terrible eczema."

Are you suffering from skin disease? If so, take Miss McCorley's advice and try Zam-Buk.

Zam-Buk cures eczema, skin, piles, bad leg, ringworm, itching sores, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, poisoned wounds of all kinds, sunburn, face and eye, bed sores, chapped ankles, and all itching, irritation and inflammation. Of all druggists and stores, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for same price. Beware all cheap and worthless substitutes of the "Just as good" type.

The Deciding Vote.

There lives in a Western State a humble old lady whose interest in politics is confined to the single fact that her son was elected a member of years ago a member of the legislature, and has several times since been re-elected. What he has actually done in the legislature she does not know. She has no doubt, that he has done all that a good boy grown to be a great man, ought to have done or could do; and one good thing, at least, he did to justify her confidence.

When the legislature assembled in the autumn of 1906, the son visited his mother, and chided her good-naturedly for not reading the speeches he had sent her. She had saved them all, and knew just where they were; but she confessed that she had not been able to read them all, nor to understand very well what she had read.

"But you are going to make a speech this year that I shall read, every word," she said.

"Tell me which one that is, and I'll be sure to make it," said he.

"It's the one on the anti saloon bill," said she.

"Oh, that one!" he said, somewhat confusedly.

"Yes. I know it will be a good one. My boy, you know what liquor did for our home years ago. I have prayed all the years that my son might grow up to save other boys from his father's fate. And this is your opportunity. I know you will be true to it."

"Well, mother," replied the son. "I don't know that I have confidence in these efforts to make men good by legislation. You can't very well do more than regulate the liquor traffic. The attempt to prohibit it altogether always fails. I don't know that I can make a speech in favor of that bill."

But these arguments fell unheeded on her ears. She did not take them seriously. She thought her son joking, as was his wont, and said: "Oh, I know you like to tease me," she said, "but I know you'll vote for that bill, and speak for it. And I shall read every word of your speech, and I shall pray for you every day, that God will bless that speech and make it win the fight."

The son had, indeed, expected to speak on the bill, but on the other side; and he never had doubted, nor had his political friends, which way he would vote. But the weeks went by, and the date of the bill hung in the balance, and he kept his own counsel. It was assumed, however, that he would vote against the bill in the end, and so his silence caused no uneasiness to the liquor men.

"I know why you are waiting to make your great speech when the great fight comes. God bless you, my boy! I am praying for you. How proud I am of you!"

It was that letter that put all doubt aside. When the lines began to tighten and a dead-lock was threatening, he first voted on an amendment which forecasted his final action. That vote brought surprise to the friends of temperance and discouragement to the friends of the liquor cause.

And when the bill came up on its third reading, he spoke. He did not see the members of the House, but he saw an old woman, reading his speech through spectacles that required frequent wiping, and it was a speech that carried conviction.

The vote was so close that any one of a dozen things might have turned the scale; but among the stories told in the committee-rooms, after the bill became a law under which several hundred saloons were obliged to close, is that related. It is the true story of the way a mother's prayer and confidence had their decisive influence in the making of a law—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

The War Against Absinthe.

The war against absinthe is extending. Some time ago the sale of it was forbidden in Belgium. Now it has been introduced into the French Chamber of Deputies a bill forbidding the manufacture and sale of absinthe and liquors having absinthe as a basis. The penalties imposed for breach of the law are, according to the British Medical Journal, imprisonment from three months to two years.

Good Cough Medicine for Children.

The season for coughs and colds is now at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the sole reliance of many mothers, and few of those who have tried it are willing to use any other. Mrs. F. F. Starcher, of Ripley, W. Va., says: "I have never used anything other than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for my children and it has always given good satisfaction." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult. For sale by Rand's Drug Store.

"Can you conceive," asked the professor, "an eternal vacuum, a portion of space unoccupied, an empty void into which nothing ever enters, from which nothing can ever come, which maintains inviolate and for ever its own eternal emptiness?" "I can," replied the student "immediately; 'I have a fountain pen."

Prevention, the new Candy Cold Cure Tablets, are sold by druggists to have four special specific advantages over all other remedies for a cold. First—They contain no Quinine, nothing harsh or sickening. Second—They give almost instant relief. Third—Pleasant to the taste, like candy. Fourth—A large box—48 Prevention—a 25 cents. Also fine for feverish children. Sold by A. V. Rand.

"Are you going to settle anything on your daughter?" asked the young man with the cigarette and languid air. "Well, it rather looks, if she marries you that she is going to settle something on me," replied the parent.

For That Dull Feeling After Eating. I have used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for some time, and can testify that they have done me more good than any tablets I have ever used. My trouble was a heavy dull feeling after eating.—DARRY FARRAR, Kemp, Nova Scotia. These tablets strengthen the stomach and improve the digestion. They also regulate the liver and bowels. They are far superior to pills but cost no more. Get a free sample at Rand's Drug Store and see what a splendid medicine it is.

Self-Conscious Customer (much annoyed)—What if I am? You needn't talk so much. How about that squint of yours?

For Eczema, Tetter and Salt Rheum. The intense itching characteristic of these ailments is almost instantly relieved by Chamberlain's Balm. Many severe cases have been cured by it. For sale by Rand's Drug Store.

In Tasmania no person less than thirteen years of age may smoke in public.
