THE FAIR IMPOSTOR.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Miss North's Story.

Then he leaned back, and covering his face with his hand, seemed lost in deep thought. Presently he rose and looked down at her. She, meeting his gaze, saw that a change had come over him. All the languor, apathetic indifference had vanished, and in its place was the expression of a man who saw before him some great difficulty which he had resolved to conquer.

She rose, too, and so they stood. "Yes," she said, "I will trust you, but you trust me still further?" She hesitated a moment.

"That, time will show," he said. "I want you to promise that you will not tell to anyone what you have this night told me, until I give you permission. It is such a presumptive, an unreasonable request, but—will you grant it?"

"I will," she said, looking hard at him; and as he held out his thin hand, she put hers into it.

"Thank," he said, calmly. "What strange fate was it," he said, still holding her hand, "that brought about our meeting that afternoon in the park? What fate was it that prompted me to refrain from asking your name?"

He criticised my wedding dress. "The lace is too new, my dear," he said, shaking his head. "I can give you some better than that, and going to his room he returned with a roll of costly antique point, and threw it over her white shoulders. "There," he said, "that is better. It was your mother's, my dear. There is no finer lace in the county, I think. You see I am getting quite an old woman!" and went out with his eyes moist.

Among the arrangements had been the selecting of bridesmaids. Lillian had been asked to name them, but seemed unable to do so; but Gerald had come to her assistance. There was a niece of the duchess staying at the Grange, and he had begged that she might act as one.

"Why not ask Laura Warner for another?" suggested Harold, innocently. Lillian acquiesced at once. "Two would be quite sufficient," she said, and Laura was asked.

In the first moment of surprise she refused, staring at Lillian with some thing like alarm in her face, which was suddenly pale; but Lillian quietly pressed her request, she consented.

"Does—does Harold know that you are going to ask me?" she said, with downcast eyes. "Yes," said Lillian; "it was he who suggested that I should do so."

Laura looked up, with a sudden flush. "It was very kind of him," she said, in a constrained voice. "Yes, I shall be very glad, dear Lillian."

But when Lillian had gone, she stood with white face and clinched hands, and with anything but gladness gleaming in her eyes.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

Those Beasty Carriages.

It was the day before the wedding. No expense and no pains had been spared to hasten the preparations. The heir to the bar-

And what will anything that man Green can do matter after they are married? She will be Lady Woodleigh, and able to laugh at us. He has deceived me, but why—but why?" To be continued.

An Ocean Balloon Trip.

Big Airship Almost Ready for Its Long Atlantic Voyage—Expect to Cross in Four Days—Will Carry Six Passengers and Lifboat With Provisions for a Month.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 1.—A serious attempt to fly across the Atlantic Ocean will be made from this city within the next two weeks. The public has hardly realized the seriousness of this attempt and the elaborateness of the preparations are a revelation to those who see them. Walter Wellman is at the head of the enterprise and has associated with him Mr. Vanniman, a skilled engineer of high repute, and a corps of assistant engineers, mechanics, etc. The balloon is now being inflated here with hydrogen gas, and this process has been in progress for nearly a week. The gas works are attached to the hangers and consist of a series of cylinders containing sulphuric acid and iron filings, which when brought in contact, produce hydrogen gas. This is drawn into the balloon by its own suction at a very perceptible rate. The balloon on Sunday was apparently three-quarters full of gas, and this week will be filled.

The buoyancy of the balloon is made apparent by the extraordinary efforts needed to keep it down, although it is less than three-quarters inflated. Bags of sand in clusters of five are suspended by ropes from each side of the balloon. Already nearly ten tons of this ballast are

THE WOES OF THE WEAK-STOMACHED MAN

Relieved by Father Morrisey's "No. 11" Did you ever see a happy dyspeptic? Or a man cheerful over his indigestion? No wonder you didn't, for the man who cannot digest cannot enjoy very much. When the stomach refuses to work the whole system goes wrong, and there follows heartburn, headache, constipation, bad breath and severe pain. This is caused by acid, and your person becomes irritable, sarcastic, surly—in fact, almost unbearable. Father Morrisey gave this matter special study, and devised a tablet now known as "Father Morrisey's No. 11," which relieves the misery. Each tablet is capable of digesting 150 pounds of food—a good square meal. One tablet after eating, with a half tumbler of water, insures perfect digestion, providing reasonable care is taken to avoid foods that have been found especially disagreeable to the stomach. If you have suffered from a weak stomach, why not do as thousands have done—take Father Morrisey's No. 11 Tablets and be cured? See your dealer's, or from Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

hanging from the partly filled envelope to restrain it from rising through the roof, and it will probably require 20,000 pounds of sand to keep the balloon in the hanger when it is fully inflated.

The car, in the unscientific language, is made of drawn steel, about 150 feet long. It will be fitted with seven compartments, wide at the bottom to gangway of wood.

Underneath the car is a long tank pointed at each end like a torpedo about 150 feet long and nearly two feet in diameter. It is made entirely of drawn welded steel and will be filled with gasoline. There will be two engines of eighty horse-power each similar to those used in motor boats. They will drive four immense propellers, two on each side, which resemble the fins of a fish. They are made of wood, and have a tremendous thrust that can propel the airship at twenty miles an hour.

Underneath the gasoline tank a life-boat will be suspended, equipped with supplies for thirty days. It is now arranged that five persons will accompany Mr. Wellman on the trip. Besides Mr. Vanniman, the chief engineer, there will be three assistants and a wireless telegraph operator. The passengers will probably sleep in the lifeboat.

The distance from Atlantic City to Europe is about 3000 miles. The trade winds at this time of the year are steady and continuous from the American shores to the European coast, and follows almost the course of the Atlantic liners. It is believed that they will blow at an average rate of about twenty miles an hour which would give the ship a speed of forty miles. If this can be maintained the voyage from Atlantic City to the European coast would require about four days.

Robbed in Woods and Shot to Death

Hudson, N.Y., Sept. 3.—The brick-makers of the Atlas yards, north of this city, were waiting at lunch time today for three weeks' pay, a little over $8,000, which young Dent Fowler, treasurer of the Atlas Building and Material Company, was bringing up from the bank at Newburgh. They were to have been paid a week ago, but a delay in getting the rolls straightened out made it necessary to bunch three weeks envelopes.

Young Fowler was due to arrive with the bagfuls of cash a little after noon as the men knew. They were impatient to get their pay and knock off work, and as they sat in the sheds they expected any minute to see Geo. Ragsdale, Fowler's negro driver, whipping his horse along the private road from the woods above the Firemen's Home.

Rain was drizzling and it was very quiet in the neighbourhood of the brickyards. The pistol shots that startled the employees out of their seats, which gossip sounded like the report of small cannon. The sound of firing came evidently from the woods through which Dent Fowler and George were bringing the money. The brickmakers jumped up, listened for more shots and then ran by ones and twos toward the thick timber and brush north of the Firemen's Home.

Suddenly a frightened horse burst from the woods at a plunging gallop dragging a covered buggy which rebounded and rebounded from side to side as it struck stones and stumps along the edges of the rough, little-used road. The lines were trailing and the brickmakers saw instantly that there was nobody in the buggy. A dozen men caught the horse and examined the vehicle. There were bullet holes in the side curtains and the laprobe was stained with blood.

The employees hurried down the road and entered the woods. Less than half a mile from the Atlas yards a point where the trees and underbrush were dense that it was impossible to see a dozen yards on either side they found Ragsdale, the driver, and Denton Fowler. They lay a few feet apart. The negro was dead; he had been shot three times in the head and chest. Mr. Fowler was unconscious and bleeding terribly. There was a wound in his abdomen and he had been beaten over the head with a club or an iron bar.

Of the money that he had brought from Newburgh in an Oxford bag, there was not a trace, and the tangle brush furnished no signs of the direction the bandits had taken in escaping. But the brickmakers knew that the murder and robbery had occurred less than half an hour before the bodies were discovered. A hundred of them hastily organized into four parties and without weapons began to beat up the woods. Two men on a telephone to notify the Hudson police and the hospital, and others remained with Mr. Fowler trying to staunch the flow of blood.

Dr. Collins, of the Hudson Hospital came with Supt. Luke Van Etten, of the Atlas Company. Dr. Collins realized in a few minutes that young Fowler was a dying man. A bullet had torn through his stomach, cutting a large intestine in passing downward.

About 2 o'clock he regained consciousness. He was able to tell Sheriff Lane, Deputy Sheriff Jeffords and the Coroner what had happened. His weakness caused frequent interruptions and it appeared likely that he would die before he finished the story. Bit by bit, though, he described the killing of Ragsdale, his own wounding, and the desperate attempt the plucky negro had made to dash through the bushes. He was not able to give a description of the men who were four or five of them and he was sure that all were masked, but there had been no time, he said, to form any impression of their appearance.

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM. This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. Its symptoms are—break-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. The more important these forces are, the more serious the symptoms are. The symptoms are—loss of energy, depression of spirits and loss of appetite, and a general feeling of weakness. Now, what is the cause of this? It is a condition of the system which is called "Broken-down System." It is a condition of the system which is called "Broken-down System."

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that a slight success in the day may be more certainly secured by a course of the "Broken-down System" than by any other means.

THERAPION No. 3 This is a condition of the system which is called "Broken-down System." It is a condition of the system which is called "Broken-down System."

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE and a new chance, in the shape of what we call "The Expiring Lamp of Life." This is a condition of the system which is called "Broken-down System."

THERAPION is sold by all druggists and chemists. It is a condition of the system which is called "Broken-down System."

Letters From a Successful Business Woman to Her Niece.

Dear Niece Joan:—

Of course I'm glad its to be stenography and typewriting, both because I started that way, and because I believe, there will always be a great call for first class stenographers. What you say you have heard about the field being crowded is all very true. The field is crowded—most fields are—but remember this, niece—the hill isn't. And that's where I expect you to be.

I don't happen to be acquainted with either of the two schools you speak of, but when you say that one of them offers to make you a good stenographer in three months, that settles it. I don't want any introduction to that one.

Never lose sight, niece, of the fact that you can't get something for nothing in this world, and you'll have an axiom that will fit in, in love, and business, and a good many other relations of life.

Your specific training is to be your stock in trade, and if you pay little in time and money for it, you must expect it to inferior, just as a shopkeeper's would if he didn't pay standard prices.

The most hindering haste you can possibly make is in preparation for work.

I had a stenographer once who came from one of those schools and after a few weeks, instead of dismissing her on some pretext as her four previous employers had, I told her the truth, and said that I would lend her a hundred dollars and give her a position when she was ready for it, if she would start in all over again and really learn the business. She is one of my best stenographers to-day, but she wasted a year making haste too fast.

Of course I know you are anxious to get to work and earn money, but it's the race to the tortoise every time when preparation is the race track.

You think I'm lucky, niece, because I make better money than most of the men who started out when I did, but if it doesn't sound too much like self glorification your aunt would like to tell you that it wasn't all luck.

When I started in to be a stenographer I was in as tight a place financially as anyone could be and then a bit tighter. I had to borrow the money to take the course, and I can tell you it took a good deal of courage to borrow one hundred dollars and spend eight months, when some schools were offering to do it for fifty dollars in three months.

One of my girl friends took the shorter course and tried to persuade me, and I don't think I'll ever forget how I felt when she began earning her eight dollars a week while I was still paying out money.

How I used to envy her the pretty new clothes she kept buying. The only new thing I had that winter was a five dollar coat, the buying of which was such an event in my life that the whole family went in to help me select it.

I can tell you her eight dollars a week looked like a fortune to me then.

But, somehow, the twelve dollars she is earning to-day doesn't.

You see, niece, you are getting just what you asked for—my honest opinion.

I wonder if you are like most people who only ask your advice in the hope that you will take the responsibility off their shoulders by advising them to do what they want, but know isn't best.

How about it?

Your plain speaking but affectionate Aunt.

Ruth Cameron

Do You Feel This Way?

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to force ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your lazy liver to work. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. It will purify your blood. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. ## HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Boiling, not hot, water greatly simplifies the peeling of tomatoes, the peeling of peaches or the scaling of fish. Simply plunge the fruit or fish into the boiling water for an instant.

Camphor is a valuable assistant for checking colds through inhalation, and stains on mirrors or windows are easily vanquished with camphor poured on flannel and rubbed on until dry.

When next cooking prunes, just before removing them from the stove add a little arrowroot, wet with cold water. This will thicken the syrup ever so slightly, enhancing the flavor of the fruit.

The odor of onions may be removed from the hands by rubbing them with dry mustard. Articles if sprinkled with mustard and then lightly shaken, will be freed from all odors left by gasoline or other cleansing fluid.

Raisins or currants, whether for cake or pudding, will be richer in flavor if they are plumped the day before they are used. To do this, plunge the fruit into boiling water and then spread it on pans or a pastry board to dry.

A good old-fashioned way of cleaning iron kettles when they are rusty is to fill them with hay and water and let the water come to a boil.

Another way is to put potato peelings into the kettle and boil hard for a short time.

Terra-cotta figures may be washed with soft water, applying very little and using a brush when necessary. A little soft soap could be used, putting it in the water; fuller's earth removes grease stains; polish with an old silk cloth.

When ink is spilled on the carpet take up as much as possible with blotting paper. Then apply milk with a cloth, changing the milk often. When the ink has been removed, wash with ammonia and water and the stain will vanish.

An excellent way to freshen a carpet is to put a tablespoonful of ammonia into a pail of warm water and wipe the carpet with a cloth wrung out of it. This removes the dust, brightens the colors and will kill any insect harboring there.

Slippers for dress occasions, especially when of the light-colored silk or leather, should be kept carefully wrapped in soft tissue paper when not in use. Not only should the slippers be slipped on shoe-trees, but they should be kept well protected in boxes or drawers.

Individual shortcakes either of dough or cake batter are attractive as a luncheon dessert. Bake in deep gem pans, fat on the bottom and three inches in diameter. When baked cut in half, fill with fruit mixture, heap fruit on top and serve with whipped or plain cream.

It is a comparatively simple matter to remove paint stains, which are old, from cotton or woolen goods, if this method is followed: First cover the spots with olive oil or butter, rubbing in well. At the end of 15 minutes sponge vigorously with chloroform until every vestige of the paint disappears.

When silverware gets tarnished, if it is washed in a pint of very hot water to which has been added one teaspoonful of aqua ammonia, rubbed with a soft brush and dried with a clean linen towel, then rubbed very dry with chamois, it will become again very brilliant and will last much longer than if polished with powders.

White marks on mahogany are often caused by hot dishes having been put on a table without a mat underneath. To remove, rub with a little sweet oil, then with spirits of wine and polish with a soft, clean cloth. For ink stains drop one drop of nitre on the spot and then wash it off, using lukewarm water and a soft rag.

To remove grass stains from children's clothing, wet stains well with alcohol, then wash. Mildewed articles should be wet in soapsuds, the spots covered with a paste of soft soap and powdered chalk, and the article exposed to the sun for several hours. When washed the spots will usually disappear after one treatment. If not, repeat it.

Message to King George

Of Loyalty and Gratitude One of the First Acts of Eucharistic Congress—Cable From the Pope—Magnificent Sight at St. James' Cathedral.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—The 21st International Eucharistic Congress and the first ever held in America, opened at eight o'clock to-night in St. James' Cathedral, with a blaze of pomp and splendour. Cardinal Vanutelli, in his opening address stated that in future these congresses would probably alternate between the Old and the New World. An important feature was the telegram to the King, and His Majesty's reply, as follows:

Montreal, Sept. 6, '10.

To His Majesty King George V., London:

"The Catholics of the empire, bishops, priests and laity, present at the International Congress in Montreal, pray your Majesty to accept their respectful homage of unwavering loyalty and their expression of profound gratitude for the modification made in the royal declaration. With them and the other visiting members of the Congress, hailing from all parts of the world, wish your Majesty and the royal family continued happiness and prosperity.

"(Signed) CARDINAL VINCENZO VANUTELLI"

"Balmoral, Sept. 6, 1910.

"His Eminence Cardinal Vanutelli, Montreal:

"I sincerely thank your Eminence and all who are present at the International Eucharistic Congress in Montreal for the expressions of loyalty and good wishes contained in the telegram which I have received to-day with much pleasure and satisfaction.

"(Signed) GEORGE R. I."

In answer to a telegram to the Holy Father, the Cardinal Secretary of State sent the following:

"Cardinal Vincenzo Vanutelli, Montreal, Canada:

"The Holy Father, profoundly touched by such noble sentiments expressed by countless visitors to the Congress from the countries of the Old and New World, of 120 bishops and a large number of priests surrounding your Eminence, to offer a sublime universal homage of faith and love to Jesus and the Eucharistic, at this first International Eucharistic Congress held on the continent of America, learns with lively joy and emotion of the splendid manifestation of admirable piety, union and devotion of the government, city and Canadian people, with the religious authorities, unite most cordially with the congressists during their touching solemnities and praying the God of the Eucharist to shower the abundance of His favor upon the people and their labors, he sends with effusion his apostolic benediction.

"(Signed) CARDINAL MERRY DEL VAL.

Address by Dr. Robertson

At the Wood Memorial Hall yesterday afternoon Dr. Robertson addressed Superintendents of Education, members of Board of Education, teachers and teachers in training. The Premier took the chair and introduced Dr. Robertson in a brief speech, expressing the hope that Dr. Robertson would do something to stimulate the better training of our school children. Dr. Robertson expressed appreciation at the attendance of teachers, who had put in a day's work at toll "which takes it out of one." In Canada teachers gave much more than they received. That was their contribution to civilization. Teachers, of course, worked for a living, often at poor remuneration, but he had scant respect for those who worked only for a living. Their proper ambition should result in progress. He had seen a community living in the twentieth century whose stage of progress was the sixteenth century. In birth and blood they were of the best that England produced in that country. But they had no schools among them. They did not support teachers to work amongst them. They were the crackers of the South, who neglected one of the fundamental occupations which were worth while in the progress of the world. There were only three fundamental occupations: by one man obtained the fruits of the earth; by the second he obtained a home; by the third he trained up the young to continue and advance the other two. But schools were not the only means of training. In fact they were a small part of it. Many a man and woman was well educated who had never been at school. The man takes a man's part in gathering the fruits of the earth, and the woman a woman's part in making a home comfortable. Such were educated. They would do better by knowing how to read, write and cipher, but after all, these formed but a small part in training, and were not qualifications which mattered most. By curbing the activities of children, keeping them cooped up and quiet in a schoolroom and grinding away at the three R's, schools often did more harm than good. Teachings was not telling merely. If it was, phonographs would make better and cheaper teachers. Teaching was a profession requiring much ability, deftness and knowledge to utilize the activities of children in giving expression to what was in him. The activities of the hand and eye improved the motor faculties of the brain. The making of things gave the mastery of hand, eye and brain. The comparing of things improved judgment. The exercise of the faculties gave confidence and a mastery over self and surroundings. In England the Minister of Education prided himself on the extraordinary increase in the number of centres where children were brought from schools around to be trained at the manual bench, the school kitchen, and in the school garden. In Canada they had taken up the work by the generosity of Sir M. MacDonald, introduced a number of English manual trainers, trained their own teachers, and now centres where these three forms of activities engage the attention of children have been established all over Canada. The children are keener and more attentive. School attendance has become more regular quite voluntarily, and children learn to read in one third the time they used to take. These things were worth while. They captured the children and made them capable of taking their part in the world. Following the address a few words by Dr. Curtis and Messrs. Burke and Blackall brought the meeting to a close with a vote of thanks.

IN THE BRITISH HALL.
At night Dr. Robertson addressed a public meeting under the presidency of the Governor. Many farmers were present and there was a good attendance. His Excellency introduced Dr. Robertson in an eloquent and stimulating address, pointing out that whatever attractiveness the discovery of gold might have had in Australia, Africa and elsewhere, the sole and enduring prosperity of the people depended on the working of the land. Dr. Robertson expressed appreciation at his reception in Newfoundland. It was a splendid place to live in. If they enjoyed sunshine for the rest of the year as he had enjoyed during his visit, they had no room for complaint, not even about agriculture. For after all what was agriculture but the catching of sunshine and bottling it up in the plant and using it in the body by consuming the plant.

Agriculture was not merely a question of land. The latter was but a root hole, where the ground was scratched, fertilized a bit, giving the plant a little food, but in the main it was a mere standing place where the plant could have room to spread and get sunshine and obtain most of its nourishment from the air; particularly was this so in regard to potato plants. Agriculture was the ripping and loosening; harrowing, finding good standing room for the plant. It was true culture for man, too. It was not the sham culture of varnish to hide defect, white shirt to cover an unhandy body. Culture was ability to do things and to obtain things. In Newfoundland, he was informed, there were 90,000 acres of land under culture. This gave $3,500,000 worth of produce annually. By better cultivation this should be doubled. This could not be done in one year or two years. As to potatoes, for which the soil and climate were particularly suitable, more attention should be paid to the seed. They should make their own seed by selecting medium sized potatoes with eyes not too deep. If the eyes were deep and the eyes were cut out and the potato peeled, throw one-third the potatoes were thrown to the pigs. The pigs got the most nutritious part of the potato, and the refuse in the centre was eaten by men. The most nutritious part of the potato was about the eyes, where food was packed for the next year's plant by Nature. The next in value for nutrition was that immediately under the skin; the least nutritious was the centre of the potato. The Irish, who boiled potatoes in their skins, got most value out of them and used them most economically. As to canker, Dr. Robertson gave a most impressive warning. As canker had a hold, if there was any carelessness now and canker spread generally, then God help the land for potato growing. In England it was regarded so seriously that a potato grower who failed to notify the authorities of the disease was punished by fine or imprisonment. It was the worst possible disease that could attack potatoes. It was worse than the disease

Children Had Eczema
Treatment prescribed had no effect—DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT made thorough cure.
Mrs. Oscar Vandort, St. Antonio East, writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment to be a permanent cure for Eczema and other skin diseases. One son, while nursing, broke out with itching watery sores all over his head and around the neck. My salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered agony untold. He became weak and frail and would not eat and we thought we would lose him. "Providentially we heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment and it soon thoroughly cured him. He is seven years old now and strong and well. An older boy was also cured of eczema by this Ointment and we hope more people will learn about it so that their little ones may be saved from suffering." As a cure for eczema and itching skin disease there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment. 25 cents a box, at all dealers of Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto. that caused the potato famine in Ireland, and every effort should be made to stamp it out. It was so insidious in its spread that the spores were often carried from a diseased field to a healthy one on the boots of a man walking from one to the other. In regard to hay, he thought insufficient clover was grown here. It improved the feed for cattle and the sod ploughed in was as good as a coating of manure. As to horses, he advised that the breed imported be no larger. A small breed was most suitable for local farming conditions. He recommended greater attention to poultry and pig raising. He believed in agricultural societies, competitions, prize giving with explanations of the merits in which the award was made. He had great faith in travelling teachers of agriculture, who knew their business and could do things and show how they were done and why done in a particular way. He also enlarged on garden cities, school gardens, manual training and domestic science teachings. He hoped that a means would be devised whereby some Newfoundland teachers could attend the MacDonald Donald and obtain thorough training in these practical and effective methods of educating children. This college was built out of $3,000,000 entrusted to him by Sir William MacDonald, who had also endowed it with $2,000,000. In conclusion he hoped that Newfoundland and Canada would, as partners of the Empire, not as members of the Dominion Confederation, be able to help one another. The Premier moved a vote of thanks which was carried by acclamation.

S. U. F. Rowers Entertained.

The S. U. F. crew who rowed the Society Race at the Regatta this year and were a good second were entertained at the British Hall last night and had a very enjoyable time. Some fifty persons were present, including representatives of the N.B.S., C.E.T.S., People's Club, the Regatta Committee and Press men. The crew received handsome medals and Bro. W. Simmonds, who coached them, was tendered a gold coin. Mr. G. E. Withycombe presided and the following toast list was discussed—after refreshments had been served: "The King"—Prop, the Chairman. "Presentation of Medals by W. M. Cox and Crew"—Prop, G. Lang. "The Winners and other Losers"—Prop, Wm. McGilvary; resp. W. H. Goodland (N.B.S.), Thos. Shortall (People's Club); G. Summers (C. E. T. Hallett, (2), Phillips, Plover, Gardiner, Veisley, Bridden, Goodland, J. L. Noonan, and the song of the evening, an original composition by Mr. Jas. H. Nicholls of the Telegram Office, entitled the "S.U.F. Crew," was loudly applauded.

Lady Cuts Her Hand.

While cleaning the glass at her residence, New Gover Street, Saturday, Miss Minnie Duggan met with a painful accident. She accidentally broke a pane of the glass, and her right hand was cut severely near the wrist, the arteries being severed. A relative applied a ligature stopping the flow of blood and then took the young lady to Dr. A. Tait's surgery where the severed veins were sewn together and proper treatment administered. Miss Duggan stood the painful ordeal without flinching.

Banking News by the S.S. Portia

No bankers have arrived on the West Coast since the first caplin baiting. The two Holletts, of Burnin, who were in on the second trip of caplin baiting, had 400 and 300 qts. respectively, and their fares were very much exaggerated in the reports given of them. The Holletts went right around the Island. All the bankers are now down at the Labrador and will finish the voyage there. Mrs. J. W. Caldwell who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. N. Phillips, of Chappel, returned here by the Portia yesterday.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

To-day two disorderlies were each fined $5 or 14 days. Two boys found wandering the streets at 4 o'clock this morning and arrested for safekeeping were released. The Bursay Larcenies. Ananias Bursay, baker, of New Melbourne, pleaded guilty to (1) the larceny of two gold rings, the property of Angus Martin and valued at $6, on the 4th inst.; (2) a pair of pants, valued at $5; coat, $6, and three other articles, the property of Edgar Froude, of Clarendville, on the 3rd; (3) a quantity of railroad tickets, the property of the Reid Nfld. Co., from Kelligrows station, valued at $9.37, on the 7th inst., and (4) $4 cash from Dr. Chisholm's drug store, Manuels, on the 7th. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of stealing $5 cash from the post office at Clarendville. He was remanded for 8 days.

Not Yet Returned.

The man James Dillon, who was reported missing to the police Sunday night, has not yet turned up at his home on Signal Hill Road, and his wife and family are very anxious about him. The police made strict enquiries but could find no trace of him, but one of the members of the force says he saw the man on A. J. Harvey & Co's. premises while the Bornu was taking cargo there Saturday afternoon. The man is a fisherman and might have gone to work on the ship just before she left and may not have had time to send a message to his family. Mrs. Dillon, however, says that this cannot be correct as her husband was home with his week's money and had tea with his family, leaving his house again shortly after 9 o'clock. Friends searched for him yesterday but without avail. He might, however, have gone on the ship after quitting his residence, and a message will be sent to Halifax today after the ship arrives to ascertain if he is on board the vessel.

Train Notes.

The local arrived at 10 last night bringing Mr. Walsh, Miss Garrett, H. Hayward, G. Byrne, Rev. E. Curtis, Staff-Capt. Cave, S. A. Miss Kavanagh, Mrs. Vetch and a number of others all week-end excursionists.

Three Men Missing.

Mr. Hutchings received the following message to-day from Magistrate March, from Curling, stating that Francis Flanagan and Dammy Camney, of Flat Bay, and Augustus Butler, of York Harbor, left the latter place on the 5th inst. on a hunting trip and up to the 12th had not returned; they had three days provisions. A search party has set out from York Harbor to try to locate them.

Grocer Seriously Hurt

Mr. Walter Kennedy, grocer, of Springdale Street, while driving to Steer's wharf to put provisions on board a craft this morning, was thrown from the express by accident and fell heavily to the ground. He was cut badly about the forehead, and his left arm coming under him was badly hurt also. Dr. Cowperthwaite, to whom he went, put his arm in splints as some of the small bones are broken. The limb is so seriously injured that he had to go to Hospital to have the X-rays put on it for examination.

Leg Cut Off.

Saturday evening at Sydney a lad named Breen, a resident of Port aux Basques, aged 17 years, met with a terrible accident. He was working on a ballast train from which he fell when the wheels of one of the cars went over his right leg, cutting it off, just below the knee, while all the toes were severed on the left foot. Passengers by yesterday's express say he was rushed to the hospital, and when the Bruce left Sunday morning he was in a precarious condition.

Child's Narrow Escape

A little girl, 3 years old, narrowly escaped being killed by a loaded train on Bambrick Street this forenoon. The horse knocked her down, but fortunately the driver saw her in time to haul in his horse. Had the wheels gone over her she would have been crushed to death. She was cut about the face.

The Fife Returns.

The yacht Fife with Mr. W. D. Reid on board returned from Trinity today. Mr. Reid visited and went over the new branch railroad which is being expeditiously built, and is quite satisfied with the progress of the undertaking.

RETURNED WITH THEIR PRISONER.

Police Drive Seventy-Two Miles and Walk Ten More to Capture Him—Both Got a Drenching.

Sgt. Byrne and Const. Tobin arrived here by the shore train at noon yesterday with the prisoner, Annes Bursey, against whom there are six charges of larceny, committed at Kelligrews, Manuels, Grand Falls and other places.

The man, we learn, has been six years out of the country in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and it is alleged did two years in Dorchester prison for the larceny of a gold watch and other valuables at Halifax. He is a deserter from a military organization there, and was four months in Wellington Barracks there before coming to Newfoundland.

The charges against him are as follows:—

At Kelligrews station, where he is charged with stealing tickets, he got in through the small aperture in the wall; and when he forced his way into Dr. Chisholm's drug shop, in Manuels, he might have made a big haul of money but evidently was in a hurry, fearing that some person would hear him, and that he would be captured. He removed what money was in the desk there, and failed to notice that the key of the safe which contained several hundred dollars, hung to the wall on a nail. The telegraph office advised this, and in the safe there, there were about $500 which had he taken his time, he might also have bagged. He took a ticket at Topsail on Thursday morning last for Carbonar intending then to go home to New Melbourne and see his relatives after 6 years absence.

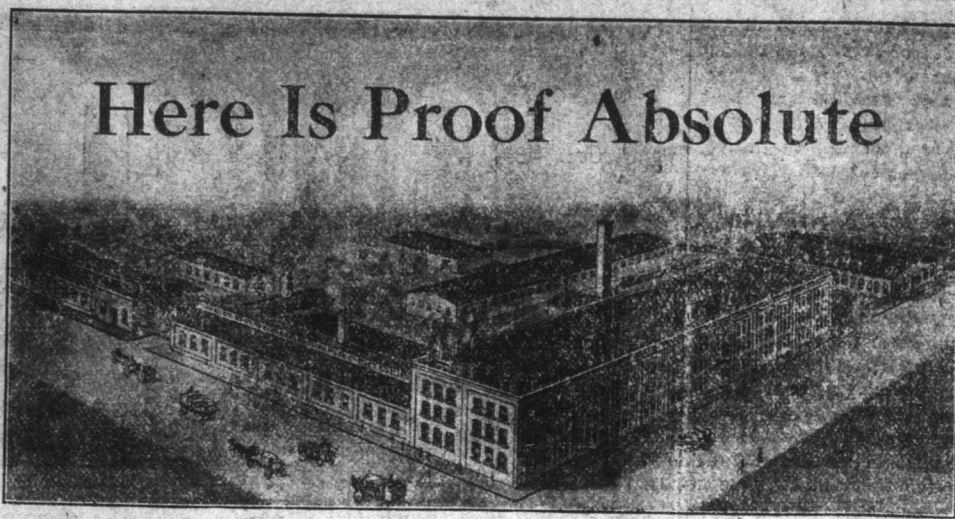

Some of the larcenies of money which it is charged he has committed are very heavy.

The officers who were despatched to run him to earth had not a very accurate description of the man, and are to be congratulated on their success. Leaving Kelligrews by Friday morning's train they got to Carbonar at 3 p.m. and took a carriage for New Melbourne there. The drive is 36 miles over a bad road, and on their way they were overtaken by a heavy rain storm, and when they arrived at 2 a.m. on Saturday they were saturated, as they had no rain coats or overcoats with them. This was especially a hardship on Sgt. Byrne who was just recovering from an attack of quinsy. They put up at the residence of Mr. Elisha Burton, J.P., and he and his brother James got out of bed, started a fire and dried the officers' clothing and gave them the best of the house to sleep in. On arrival the officers found that their quarry had not reached his home, and feeling certain he was on the road somewhere they travelled back fully 15 miles over the ground by which they had arrived, and between Hanter's Harbor and Scilly Cove saw in the soft mud the tracks of a man's boot freshly made and directed towards New Melbourne. This nonplussed the officers who knew that a man whom they had not seen had passed that way and might have taken to the woods where he could have remained in hiding indefinitely. The men again retraced their steps and walked back about 5 miles until they came to a hamlet locally known as "Paris", where there is one house tenanted by a fisherman, a deserter from the Army, and his son. This is about a mile from Seal Cove. As they came towards the house they saw a man sat in the window of the kitchen with his back to them, and on entering here was the "bucco" sat on a chair and taking things easy. When the officers wished all good day, Bursey asked them if they were not Halligonians, and getting an affirmative answer, was highly pleased with them. Byrne then called the man aside and deftly whipping out the handcuffs snapped them over his wrists almost before he realized what had happened. The tickets and a little money were found on him. After he was captured the prisoner told the officers that if he had not been mindful he could have given them trouble before they would have captured him. He is an athlete of the first water, an excellent boxer and wrestler and could put a man out of commission by turning a somersault and without touching the ground, striking him in the chest or face with his feet. The people there say that he is a very daring chap whom nothing could scare, and when a boy of 12 often performed the feat of walking over the jump stay of a schooner and never suffered accident, as he was cool and had splendid nerve. The officers were armed, and they covered fully 90 miles in driving and walking before and after capturing their man.

Here Is Proof Absolute

The buildings of the Lehr Agricultural Company, Fremont, Ohio, were among the first buildings, anywhere, to be roofed with a ready roofing. They were roofed with Ruberoid—the first ready roofing ever invented. That was seventeen years ago. This is the longest test ever given a ready-to-lay roofing. There is no theory, no uncertainty, in such a test as this. And today, this roof, put on in 1892, looks good for many years more.

Don't test any ordinary roofing to stand such a test as this. Many roofings look like Ruberoid. Don't let that fact deceive you. No other maker can use Ruberoid gum—and it is the use of this flexible gum which makes Ruberoid waterproof—sun proof—cold proof—weather proof—resisting acids, gases and fumes.

It is the exclusive use of Ruberoid gum that makes Ruberoid roofing so good a fire resistant that if you drop live coals on the roof it will not take fire.

A One-Piece Roofing

Ruberoid roofing is sold by dealers everywhere. In each roll is Ruberine cement for joining the seams and laps. A roll of Ruberoid is practically one piece, flexible, durable, and attractive. It also comes in attractive colors—Red, Green, Brown—suitable for the finest homes. These color roofings are made under our exclusive owned patents. The colors do not wear off.

or fade, because they are part of the roofing. You can lay a Ruberoid roof yourself. Everything you need comes with the roll. Or, if you have it laid, the cost of laying is the lowest of any roofing—of any kind. Don't decide on any roofing for any purpose until you have read our free book.

Get This Free Book

This book tells all that we know about various roofings—all that we have learned in twenty years of experiment about tin, tar, iron, shingle and other roofings.

It gives you a good idea of the advantages and the disadvantages of each. It tells the first cost, the upkeep cost—how long each kind of roof will last—what repairs will probably be needed.

The book is fair, frank and impartial. It is a gold-mine of roofing information. Because it tells about Ruberoid roofing, too, we do not charge for it—we send it free. To get this free book, address Department The Standard Paint Company of Canada, Ltd., Montreal.

RUBEROID

Be sure to look for this registered trademark which is stamped every four feet on the under side of all genuine Ruberoid. This is your protection against substitutes which many dealers brazenly sell as Ruberoid. Ruberoid is usually sold by one dealer in a town. We will tell you the name of your Ruberoid dealer when you send for our free book.

FISHERMEN IN DISTRESS.—Several fishermen who were on the Labrador and did nothing, arrived here by Mr. Dawe's schooner, and on Duckworth Street they told citizens that they and their families were destitute and they came here to try and get help. It is now up to the Government to look after these men.

A QUIET CITY.—The police only made one arrest last night, the party taken in being a man who often appears in court for drunkenness.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman. I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsoftened and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs. Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letters as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

We had no less than four whalers and a like number of whales anchored in our harbor on Sunday.

The whaler Port Saunders is now out seeking whales to bring to this port to be manufactured. A number of laborers arrived on Saturday to do the work at the factory, thus keeping employment from a number of our needy men. All we stand to gain at present is the terrible odor coming from such an establishment.

Constable H. Humber is in town on a holiday and staying with Mr. Thomas Martin, Victoria Street. It is said the constable will shortly make an arrest on his own account in the person of a fair daughter of the city. We wish the constable and prospective bride much happiness.

Miss May Chafe is in Bonavista visiting a school friend, Miss Lawrence.

Mr. Hector Ash, whose sudden death we reported last week, was to have been married next month to a young woman of the West End.

Mrs. W. Bailey and children returned from Whitbourne Saturday evening after spending a very pleasant time with friends.

Miss Hippisley, of Carbonar, is spending a few days here, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Munn.

Mr. Robert Lee met with a painful accident while working at Ridley Hall last week, cutting his hand so much that Dr. Strapp had to put several stitches in it.

Mr. Patrick Lahey and family leave by to-morrow's express for Boston, where they will reside in future.

Marine Notes.

The schr. E. S. Hocken arrived here last evening, 21 days from Fowey, in ballast to A. S. Rendell & Co. The vessel had variable but not extra stormy weather.

The barque Cordelia, Capt. Gale, reached this port yesterday forenoon from Glasgow, after a run of 22 days. The ship had fine weather the better part of the voyage. She has 800 tons of coal for Messrs. Bowring Bros. The new commander of the ship is 57 years old, and was in St. John's about 45 years ago.

Handicap Rifle Match.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 14.
The last schedule match for the season will be shot at the new range to-morrow, and promises to be a very interesting event, as a wind up to the season's programme. Shooting will be at the short ranges in the morning, and long ranges in the afternoon. The winning score will be the highest total for all ranges, including the handicaps which will not be opened until the match is finished. One sighting shot will be allowed at 200, 500 and 600 yards; two sights at 900 yards, and three at 1,000 yards.

Mr. A. K. Lumsden arrived here by the S. S. Durango on Sunday after a trip to the manufacturing centres of England and the Continent, purchasing goods for the firm of James Baird, Ltd. Mr. Lumsden is looking well and enjoyed the trip abroad.

A Democrat Elected Governor in Maine.

Special Evening Telegram.
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 12.
Col. Fred W. Plaisted of Augusta was elected the first Democratic Governor of Maine in the State election to-day by a plurality of 8,000,000 (7) eight thousand over Bert M. Fernald, of Poland, Republican candidate, who was serving a second term. The vote for Governor with 48 small districts missing was: Plaisted, seventy-two thousand seven hundred and eight; Fernald, sixty-three thousand seven hundred and fifteen. The wave also overwhelmed at least two and possibly four of the State Congressional delegates which has been Republican since the inception of the party. The flood spread through a majority of the counties and even extended to the Legislature, which next winter will choose a successor to U. S. Senator Eugene Hale. The Democrats were trying to think of a candidate to-night. The Republicans stood agast mounted steadily upward and reached that given Governor Fernald only two years ago. The party leaders were unable to accept the tremendous change in sentiment, but close political observers declared that insurrection before unsuspected had struck the State in its most violent form. The political page had to be turned back to 1880 for even a reversal of the Republican, and there it was found that Col. Plaisted's father was made Governor on a fusion ticket by a narrow margin of one hundred and sixty-nine votes. All the Maine Governors since 1855 have been Republican.

A Practical Demonstration.

Special Evening Telegram.
GRAND VILLIERS.
France, Sept. 12.
The French army with the new auxiliary of aviation added, began to-day a practical demonstration of what may be expected to happen if a hostile fleet landed on the southern coast of the British Channel. The scene of this year's manoeuvres is the plains of Picardy, the old province in the north of France, bordering on the north and northwest by the sleeve which separates the Republic from Great Britain. The 8,000 troops engaged are divided into opposing armies, one designated as the blue and representing an invading force, being under the command of General Picquet, former Minister of War, and the other the red, forming the army of defence, under command of General Mennier. General Michel has the supreme direction of the practice. The operations opened at daylight.

Meat Packers Indicted

Special to the Evening Telegram.
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.
The Federal Grand Jury, which has been investigating charges against Chicago packers, late to-day returned indictments against ten high officials of the Swift, Armour and Morris concerns. There are three indictments against them charging them with conspiracy. The first indictment in detail has charged all defendants with engaging in a combine in restraint of interstate trade in meat; the second charges conspiracy; the third charges the defendants with monopolizing the trade in fresh meats by unlawful means.

Piracy at Sea.

Special Evening Telegram.
HARBIN, Manchuria, Sept. 12.
A band of brigands disguised as passengers held up a Russian steamer 20 miles out of this port to-day and after a desperate fight overcame the crew and robbed the passengers. In attempting to defend their vessel, the owners, two Russians, were killed and many of the Chinese crew were wounded, as were such of the 30 Chinese passengers who offered resistance. When the pirates were in control of the situation they bound the passengers, the crew, a Russian sailor, and two Russian women, and took the valuables of their captives at their leisure. A boat load of hunters who happened to be in the vicinity gave the alarm and a Russian gunboat was sent in pursuit of the outlaws.

Cotton Crisis.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
MANCHESTER, Eng., Sept. 12.
The cotton mills operatives not having complied with the demands of their employers, arrangements are being made by the latter for a mass meeting next Monday, when a general lockout will be raised. The impression prevails, however, that the differences will be adjusted within the course of the present week.

The Pledge of Publicity.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Mullaly is deeply committed to the policy of publicity. During his canvass for the election his language was lurid with denunciation of the hole and corner methods of the late Council. Nothing could surpass the emphasis with which he promised, if he were returned, to secure greater publicity of all proceedings of the Council. He made this promise verbally to scores, and perhaps hundreds, of the voters whose support he solicited; he repeated it over his own signature and under his own portrait, painted with all the force of the natural colours and nailed to a telephone mast. It was indeed an excellent policy, and I now offer to Mr. Mullaly the opportunity to give it proper effect. The public stands sadly in need of official information concerning a matter of utmost importance to the town. It is a matter which has engaged the attention of a previous Council, and is still engaging that of the present Board. Its proper determination involves the expenditure, or saving, to the town of an immense sum of money, and the health and prosperity of our people must largely depend upon the final decision arrived at by the Council. A matter of policy is at issue, which cannot be decided by the present Councilors without a due consideration of the acts of their predecessors. Questions of great importance and complexity arise under it, and it will hardly be claimed that the consideration of the late Council Board was such as gave the public the advantage of the opinions of members specially qualified to decide them. Nor is the present Board much, if at all, superior to the late one in this respect. Not one of its members can justly pretend to have even a trifling acquaintance with the elementary principles of sanitary science. But there is amongst the citizens of St. John's a considerable number of men who are more than slightly versed in the general principles of this science, and it is in order that their knowledge and experience may be brought to the assistance of the "inspector" Board whose decision must bind the city that I now appeal to Mr. Mullaly to lay before the public the fullest information that he can collect concerning the past history, present position, and future prospects of the scheme for creating a reserve around Windsor Lake. In affording us the information I seek, Mr. Mullaly need not, I think, be at the trouble or annoyance of conducting a lengthy and acrimonious debate with his brethren of the Board. The greater portion of the facts I am asking for are of record, and Mr. Mullaly need do no more than make a polite request for their production to the polite Secretary of the Council, Mr. Slattery, and they will be in his hands in a twinkling. And when he gets possession of them, I have not the slightest doubt that he will be most happy to communicate them to a waiting town. I do not apprehend for a moment that the members of the Council will offer the least objection to the publication of these facts, for the matter is, I am convinced, still pending, and it is of such grave importance that no sensible man would object to sharing the responsibility for its proper decision with the whole body of persons whose interests are at stake. It is true that the Chronicle states that the matter is already settled and disposed of, but I am sure that your contemporary must be mistaken on that point. It certainly was not settled and disposed of by the late Council, and as no intimation of the present Board having dealt with it has become public, it stands to reason that nothing has been done since their accession to office. I am persuaded that Mr. Mullaly at least, remembering his pledge of publicity, would never be a party to a conspiracy of secrecy upon the most important matter which has engaged the attention of himself and his colleagues. I ask Mr. Mullaly, then, to enlighten us on the following particulars relating to the past history of this transaction, and give us a categorical answer to the following questions:—

1. Upon what evidence, if any, was it decided that the waters of Windsor Lake were contaminated? What was the nature of the contamination? Were the germs of any particular diseases discovered, and if so, what were they?
2. From what places in the Lake were the specimens of water submitted for examination? If from more than one place—and water should certainly have been procured from different places—was there any difference in the analysis of the various samples?
3. Was an examination of the shores of the Lake made at the time the specimens of water were procured by any official of the Council? Did they endeavour to trace the suspected pollution of the water to any source on the shore of the Lake? If so, did they trace it to any farmhouse? If they did, did they take any steps at the time to remove or modify the danger of such pollution?

4. Have any examinations been made at a later date by officials of the Council to determine the source of any suspected pollution? Has any pollution been since discovered? What is its nature? Does it involve any menace to the health of those who drink the water? If so, what particular disease germs have been discovered? Have any steps been taken to prevent or mitigate the evils of such pollution. By whom have they been made? What is their nature? When were they made?

5. Was any attempt ever made, and what, to determine whether the degeneracy of the water at the time of the drought was attributable (a) to pollution from farms and farms houses, (b) to traffic along the margin of the Lake, and (c) to causes solely arising from the drought and common to nearly every lake in the country within the area affected by the drought? If so, to which of these causes was the state of the water attributed? Was it so attributed by persons who had means of acquiring knowledge of the conditions on the spot, or by persons who could form a judgment simply from analysis of the water and report as to the conditions?

6. Was it made plain that no other means of preserving the purity of the water could be devised than by creating this reserve? Was it made plain that the creation of the reserve would effect the object aimed at? Was the possibility of the pollution—to call it so—being caused by the decay of vegetable growth on the margin of the Lake itself, caused by the low water and drought, and unconnected with any farming operations, considered as being available in order that the expediency of this expensive undertaking can be judged by those who have to pay for it.

7. Was the establishment or expediency of the establishment of a septic tank considered?

8. Was any scheme for preventing the evil consequences of a drought by reducing the waste of water considered?

9. Was any alternative to the reserve scheme considered?

These questions, hurriedly compiled as they are, may serve to indicate the nature of the information which should be available in order that the expediency of this expensive undertaking can be judged by those who have to pay for it.

Before I close this letter I think that candour compels me to make an observation upon a matter which has been pressed upon my attention. Several persons who are at one with me in opposing the creation of this reserve until better reasons in favour of it are advanced, reproach me with making too much of the possibility of the waters of Windsor Lake becoming polluted. They tell me that so efficient a system of filtration of the water is established at the intake that the water must necessarily be purified of all disease germs before it ever commences its journey to the town. I think my friends are mistaken in this view. Filtration will clarify the water, and to some extent purify it, but I do not think that any system of filtration pure and simple can sterilize many disease germs present in it. Filtration may of course assist in mitigating the evils of disease-polluted water by destroying or removing the food on which the germs feed, but of itself it does not, I think, destroy them. To do this a sterilizing plant of some sort is necessary, and I am not aware that any such plant is in existence at Windsor Lake. If it were, I am quite persuaded that not the remotest danger of any putrid disease being bred in the waters of the Lake could ever arise. The experience of some of the cities bordering the stagnant rivers of the Southern United States proves this, I think. I am sorry that I have not at hand the interesting reports which I have seen published on this subject. But this notion that mere filtration necessarily purifies water of all contamination seems to me to be a very common and a very dangerous one, and I therefore take this opportunity of condemning it. It is notorious that the filters in railway trains are nearly everywhere a source of great danger to the travelling public, owing chiefly to the prevalence of the idea that when once the water passes through the charcoal bed "it must become pure." Impressed with this idea the officials in charge of these filters never think of cleaning them, and the charcoal bed, instead of being a purifier, is often a propagator of loathsome disease. If there is a thing in the world which should be kept scrupulously clean, it is a filter.

Yours truly,
REFORM.

Demented and Arrested

Shortly before 3 o'clock this morning while Sgt. Noseworthy was passing up New Gower Street he met a young man, a resident of the West End, who was acting in a very eccentric manner, and seeing that he was mentally afflicted, brought him to the police station. He has been of unsound mind for some time past, and should have been locked after long ago.

CONGO NEVER-LEAK ROOFING

CONGO ROOFING is made for all weathers. An unusually severe storm won't hurt it. An extraordinary hot spell won't hurt it. An extra long cold snap won't hurt it. It will stand any kind of exposure. The weather finds no way in which to attack Congo Roofing.

RAIN can't damage it because there is nothing in it that is affected by water in any way. If Congo Roofing were put at the bottom of a pond, the water would never disintegrate it.

AIR can't damage it because there is nothing in it that is volatile—nothing that will evaporate. If Congo Roofing were hung out like a flag for years, so that air could get at both sides of it, it would stay just as pliable and elastic as when new.

CLIMATE can't change it because there is nothing in it that is affected by either heat or cold. The heat on roofs is often terrific, and in cold weather the snow thaws and freezes there for weeks, but Congo has never shown any effects of such exposure.

IT can't rot because there is nothing in it that can decompose. It is because we know the nature of the materials we use that we venture to say that Congo Roofing is practically indestructible.

PEOPLE who buy Congo Roofing for a building once, don't buy any more in after years—for that building—because it is there to stay, although the roof costs but little. They do buy more for their other roofs. Everyone who tries Congo is soon a convert, and he becomes more enthusiastic the longer he waits for the roof to wear out.

EVERY foot of Congo Roofing is carefully inspected as it comes off the machine. No imperfect rolls are allowed to leave the factory. Every pound of the material that enters into the composition is carefully tested before being used, and strictly held to standard. Should it fail in the slightest way, it is immediately discarded. Congo Roofing is handsome in appearance, being of a uniform slate-gray color.

CONGO ROOFING is put up in rolls 36 inches wide. Each roll contains 216 square feet, sufficient to cover 200 square feet and allow for a two inch lap. The rolls are finished with an attractive wrapper and label, and are capped with a special metal cap to protect the end of the roofing. A steel rod runs through the center to hold the caps and cement securely in place.

SUFFICIENT Congo cement, nails and tin caps for applying are neatly packed in the center of each roll, so that you pay nothing for extras.

CONGO ROOFING is easy to apply. Skilled labor is not necessary. You don't have to hire an expert to help. If you can drive a nail you can do all the work that is necessary.

"Progress" and Mr. Herbert Booth.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir,—In Wednesday's issue of the Telegram appeared an account of an interview had with Mr. Booth, in which among other things reference is made to the social questions confronting the world to-day. Mr. Booth says: "His long experience and knowledge of the social question has led him to the conclusion that the only practical solution of the problems is the application of Christ's gospel." It would be interesting to know how the application is to be made. Is it along the lines suggested by such Christians as Keir Hardie, the Rev. Canon Scott Holland, Victor Grayson, Father Aderley and others, who, after years of long experience working among the masses of Britain, say the only solution lies in Socialism, which they claim is the application of the Sermon on the Mount to the whole complex organization of the state? or is it by appeals to individuals to save their souls leaving the state, business and industry to take care of themselves? Mr. Booth says that material systems alone will never redeem mankind, and refers to Australia as being a place where there exists everything that the workmen regard as a panacea, and yet squalor, crime and wretchedness are to be found. Sir,

It was only a little while ago that I read in the daily dispatches of the victory of the Labor Party in the Federal Elections in Australia. This is the first time that the Labor Party got a working majority in both branches of Parliament. It is plain then that if a majority of the citizens of Australia found it necessary to place that party in power there could not have existed everything that they regarded as a panacea. On the other hand it also shows that what social

Kidney Suffering

Backaches and tired feelings tell of weak kidney action—Prompt relief by using DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS

There is no treatment for kidney disease which will afford you relief so quickly as Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, and none which will so certainly cure the most complicated forms of this disease.

There is a reason for this. Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills awaken the action of the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys and thereby effect a thorough cleansing and regulating of the excretory system.

Mr. S. J. Argue, Kears, Carleton, Co. Ont., writes:—"I have suffered a great deal with kidney troubles and pains in the small of the back and have tried a good many remedies without obtaining very much benefit. I wish to say, however, that I can heartily recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a splendid medicine as they have proven of very great value to me."

Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all druggists, or Edman's, Bates & Co., Toronto. Refuse substitutes.

Terrible Accident.

Thomas Penny Killed on Queen's Street.

A very sad and fatal accident occurred to-day on Queen's Street about 1.45 p.m., the victim being Thos. Penny, aged 16 years, of Convent Square, Riverhead. The lad in one of Mr. C. Lester's box carts took portable bellows weighing about 200 pounds up to his place from the excavation for the new colliery factory near the Telegram Office, and on the way he drove the team across George Street and through the narrow lane which divides Mr. Frank Macnamara's big store from Trelogan's saloon. When the cart was driven in over the curb stone to Queen's Street, the wheels jolted over the edge of the sidewalk and, tipping, threw the lad Penny out in the drain. The heavy bellows also fell out and striking the poor lad, a part of it penetrated his brain on the left side of the head. Citizens and police hastened to his aid and he was conveyed into Trelogan's saloon, but lived only about three minutes. Dr. Rendell was summoned by 'phone and was quickly on the scene, but when he arrived the poor chap had breathed his last. The deceased is a brother of Mr. E. Penny of the Herald reporter staff, and his mother, father and brother are distracted as the result of his tragic death. The parents and friends will have the sympathy of the whole community, in which the Telegram joins. The body was removed home in the ambulance.

Sad Death of Rev. Fr. Battcock.

Special to Evening Telegram.
HOLYROOD, To-Day.
The Rev. Father Battcock—the dearly beloved parish priest of Holyrood—died suddenly at 8.30 p.m. yesterday. Father Battcock was in the best of health yesterday forenoon and said his morning Mass as usual, and went for a drive with some visiting friends to the South Side in the afternoon. During the drive he was seized with a severe pain in the heart, and returned home in less than an hour. While resting on the couch he had some severe attacks; but afterwards sufficiently rallied to take some tea and chat pleasantly with his guests. He even accompanied his visitors halfway to join the train, walking and talking pleasantly. Returning home the pain again became severe and he went to bed. Not long afterwards he fell into the sleep of death. The Rev. Father Sheehan and Dr. Jones were called, but death had claimed its victim. The suddenness of the death of the dearly beloved Priest has stricken the community with deep sorrow, and everyone mourns the loss of one of the best and kindest of Priests and a generous and noble-hearted gentleman. The Rev. Fr. Battcock has laboured acceptably and successfully in the missions of King's Cove, Bay-de-Verde, Holyrood, St. Brendan's, Gumbo, and Holyrood the second time, in all of which places he was the Sogarth Aroon. But he has gone to receive the reward of the faithful steward. His relatives and people have our warmest sympathy.

A Nocturnal Disturber.

About 2 o'clock this morning the people of Cabot Street were aroused from their slumbers by hearing shouts and execrations coming from a man, evidently a foreigner, who had imbibed too freely. The night watch on the rounds of the city heard him and arrested him, but the man resisted fiercely and the bracelets had to be placed on him to get him to the station.

Here is a Real Dyspepsia Cure.

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Headache five minutes later.
The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.
If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.
People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and, besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia, are generally relieved in five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.
Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clear and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel life is worth living.

Clergyman's Sudden Death.

Rev. Father Battcock, P. P., of Holyrood, Passed Away Last Night.
Word was received by telegram last night from Holyrood that Rev. Father Battcock, the respected Parish Priest of that town, had passed away, his death being very sudden. As far as can be gleaned his demise occurred at 8.30 last evening. Early in the evening he was enjoying a drive towards the South Side with a party of friends when he was suddenly seized with a pain in the region of the heart, and had to return home, but recovered after a while and partook of tea as usual. Then he left his home to go to the railway station, but again becoming ill returned after going a short distance, and became so seriously ill that after a short while he lost consciousness and soon after passed over to the Great Beyond with many loving friends attending at his bedside. The suddenness with which the rev. gentleman was stricken has plunged all Holyrood and the District of Harbor Main in mourning, as Rev. Father Battcock was very popular with the people. Father Battcock was a native of Ferryland District, and was Parish Priest of Gumbo and St. Brendan's for several years, and had only been at Holyrood for a comparatively short season. He was a man of splendid scholastic attainments, of a kindly and affable disposition, and all who knew him liked and respected him. His death removes an exemplary priest from an important Catholic centre, and his relatives and parishioners have the sympathy of the whole populace in which the Telegram joins.

An Eloquent Preacher.

Rev. Father O'Brien who studied at All Hallows College, Ireland, and was recently ordained to the Priesthood, preached his first sermon at St. Patrick's Church, Carbonear, at Vespers, Sunday evening. His theme was: "Mary the Mother of God," and he agreeably surprised his hearers in handling this sublime subject. His style is at once eloquent and graceful, and many who heard him were reminded of the late lamented Rev. Dean Ryan, whose sermons on the same subject were masterpieces of oratory and touched the hearts of all.

Sidewalk Collapsed.

In digging out the foundation for the new Grenfell building on Water Street, the sidewalk was undermined and supported for months past by props. It has been in an unsafe condition for some time past, and 25 feet in length of it fell in yesterday morning early. To protect citizens from injury the Council should look after this place.

Police Are Wise.

The police "are wise" to the fact that a party who attempted to steal a load of flour from a premises about 10 months ago, and escaped capture by quitting the country, is again in the city. Last night he was thrown out of a saloon for creating a disturbance, by an officer who knows him well. He should be careful of his conduct now if he wants to keep out of the toils.

A Scamp's Exploit.

A half drunken scamp last night about 9.30 crossed into Adelaide St. from George Street and followed a woman who was going to a store near, compelling the woman to run back home. A few moments after he gave chase to a young woman who ran up New Gower Street to escape him. She informed Officer Walsh who came quickly to Adelaide Street. Mr. Poole, who keeps a restaurant, saw the conduct of the blackguard, and leaving his house went in chase of him, but he was too good a sprinter and got away. Before he was noticed he stole an article from Mr. Bellows house near. The police have a good description of him and may soon capture him.

The regular at 6 p.m. yesterday took out about 30 passengers.
