IN reading advertisements of Varnish Stain we notice one man claiming that his varnish stain has pigment in it. We should think that, if a varnish stain had pigment in it, it would be a paint, not a stain. The makers of Campbell's Varnish Stain come out square and guarantee that their stain does not contain any pigment, does not require any stirring up and will not obscure the grain of the wood over which it is applied. Guess we'll buy Campbell's. T. Jodds sets it.

It is also probable that the subject matter of the new text books will contain material dealing with the methods of combating the great white plague.

VICTORIA DAY passed off very quietly in town. A few flags fluttering in the breeze and a fusillade of fire crackers was the only local recognition of the day. 150 tickets were sold for Sarnia and 100

PADDY E. SOLD.

Mr. T. Roche, of the Roche House, has sold his well known pacing stallion, Paddy R., 2.16 1/4, to Dr. Park, of Toronto, and the horse was shipped to that city on Friday in charge of J. H. Shaw. Paddy R. was a familiar figure on the racing tracks of Western Ontario, where his speed and gameness won him many a hard fought race. The longer and harder the race the better it suited Paddy, and he was always in the running until the last heat was over. His new owner is to be congratulated on owning one of the speediest and most faithful race horses that ever wore harness. We understand that the Dr. will feature Paddy in the matinee races in Toronto and he certainly should make a good showing among the Queen City's fast steppers.

The consideration was private, but the figure was a good round sum.

WATFORD, MAY 31, 1907.

The Law and the Railways

The sentence of three years, imprisonment in the penitentiary, passed upon Conductor Joseph Thompson, of the G. T. R., for being responsible for an accident at Gornook, near Guelph, last September, by which three lives were lost, will be received, no doubt, with mingled feelings of approval and regret by the general public. Thompson, it appeared by the evidence, was asleep on his train, and through neglect of duty on his part, the accident resulted, and three human lives were sacrificed. It also appeared that he had been running extra whenever the opportunity presented itself, and so had been deprived of the amount of sleep necessary to permit of proper attention to his work. Judge Riddell, in passing sentence, referred to that feature of the case, and stated that he would instruct the crown of officers to prosecute whoever was responsible for permitting or requiring employees to remain on duty beyond a reasonable number of hours. The slaughter of people on Canadian railways during the past year, through preventable causes, was, he said, appalling. Those responsible for it should be punished, and painful though the duty was he felt bound to discharge it.

No Liment can Cure It.

That pain between the eyes isn't neuralgia. Many think so, but it is catarrh, plain ordinary catarrh that needs attention right now. Your proper lead is to use "Catarrhozine." Doctors recognize it as a cure that surpasses all others. Sure, because it does reach the trouble; safe, because no drugs to take, you breathe it's healing vapor direct to the course of the trouble, and cure is guaranteed. Two sizes, 25c and $1.00. Sold everywhere.

Be a Gentleman.

Not every boy can be a rich man or a great man, but every boy can be a gentleman. A boy with gentlemanly manners, who is trusted and does the best every day, will gain the attention and confidence of men, and will be given paying and responsible positions as soon as he is old enough to fill them. Boys like to have fun and a good time. It is right they should. They will never be boys but once, but to have fun is not altogether what they are made for. Boys are of value chiefly to make men, good for something in the world. Character, like a house, must have the right kind of a foundation. The foundation stones of a good character are reverence to God, respect and obedience to parents, deference for old people. —Peterboro Examiner.

Apple Eating.

Three thousand years ago the royal author of an incomparable love song wrote: "As the apple tree among the trees of the woods, so is my beloved among the sons. I sat down under his shadow with great delight and his fruit was sweet to my taste." And again: "Comfort me with apples," or, as the marginal reading has it, "straw" (old English for "strew") "me with apples." This same kindly bard was the first horticulturist of his age, knowing, as we read elsewhere, the name and properties of every growing thing "from the cedar of Lebanon to the hyssop upon the wall." The exalted rank he assigns to the apple tree is therefore worthy of respect and has been abundantly confirmed by latter-day pomologists and dietitians. An eminent English authority upon food values says: "Eat uncooked apples constantly, although of course, in moderation, and years will be added to your life, while the evidences of age will be long in coming."

After explaining that apples contain more phosphates in proportion to their weight than any other articles of food, fish not excepted, he adds: "Phosphoric acid contains the least amount of earth salts, and for that reason is probably the nearest approach to the elixir of life known to the scientific world. If you want to live long and to retain your youth at the same time, eat plenty of apples, drink only distilled water and eat as little bread as possible."—Chicago News.

Farming Today.

Wilmot Tell, of Hillside county, Michigan, argues that the chances of the farmer were better 60 years ago than they are today. He says in part:

"Both of my grandparents came from Pennsylvania; one bought something like 160 acres for, I think, $150 to $2 per acre; there was plenty of timber so my grandfather built a log house and barn. Today there is scarcely any timber, so a person has to have a pretty long pocket book to build an ordinary house. Then my grandfather sold some timber, ship timber being on the market then, and they made their own clothes, which were not so costly as a young man has to dress now to go to see his best girl.

"Game was plenty and a person didn't have to go hungry for meat then. My other grandfather bought 80 acres cheap, and he was a deer hunter; he sold as high as $72 worth in one week.

"True, they used oxen, but they had work most of the year timbering, splitting rails, etc. With a month's wages then a young man could buy seven or eight acres, and now it would take a young man over one year. They had to clear their land then, but it was new and rich. Now it is old and run down, and a person has to commence building the place up from the first. When they got their land cleared they could raise good crops for a number of years. They couldn't harvest so much in a day, so it took more help. It is true that the young men of those days had a great deal to overcome, but isn't the young man of today up against a hard battle before he gets a home? I have known several old men who have quite a scope of land, and it was all bought in the early days. Some kept their timber, which in later years was sold and brought them a nice little fortune.

"Where is the opportunity for a young man to invest with as sure results as then? What advantages had the pioneer over the farmer of today? First, he didn't have to buy any costly machinery, no binder or mower, just simply a cradle and scythe; now you have to buy the machinery or lose time and money; so much of the crops wouldn't now pay for harvesting on account of the work of insects. Second they had plenty of wood or fuel; now we buy coal, and sometimes markets, though nearer, are overloaded. Third, a young man could then walk to see his best girl; now he has to have a horse and buggy or take a back seat. Fourth, there weren't many shows, operas and circuses for young people to go and spend their money. Fifth, I believe more could be done towards making a home on $12 per month then, than on $30 now.

HOW TO CLEANSE THE SYSTEM.—Parmaelee's Vegetable Pills are the result of the effects of extracts of certain roots and herbs upon the digestive organs. Their use has demonstrated in many instances that they regulate the action of the liver and the kidneys, purify the blood, and carry off all morbid accumulations from the system. They are easy to take and their action is mild and beneficial.

A large number of the boards of trustees in the country are installing libraries in their respective schools. The government this year makes a grant of not more than $5 to the board expending not less than $10 in books.

WHEN a stranger drops into town, jolly him. Tell him this is a great little town—and so it is. Don't discourage him by speaking ill of your neighbors. Lead him to believe he has at least struck a place good people live.

THE greatest oil well in the Tilbury field was shot yesterday on the Nelson farm, lot 12, con. 14, Tilbury East. It is flowing at the rate of five hundred barrels a day. The well is 1,499 feet deep and is the most southerly in the deep territory.

We agree with one of our exchanges when it says, "We want all the legitimate local news, and to learn all the good that can be said of your neighbor, but if you want to give him a 'rub' or 'foast,' please attach your name to the communication and—we will hand it to him."

INSTRUCTIONS to the inspectors for the distribution of the legislative and county school grants for 1907, have just been issued. This year the grants are not payable until the first week in August, owing to the time required for the collection of necessary information for the basis of distribution.

We often have people drop into the office with the request to give Mr. or Miss So and so a rub in the paper. We invariably reply "Yes, of course, but kindly let us have your name to publish at the end of the paragraph." That generally settles it. Funny how they want the editor to tatter their silly jokes.

On Saturday, May 18, the Middlesex County Board of Examiners which met in London, granted professional certificates to the following, who were not of age at the close of the last model term:—Louis L. Statham, of Stratroy; Mabel A. Brown, Metcalfe; Harold B. Sifton, Metcalfe, and R. Stableford, Watford.

THE fire-cracker season is on hand again and the small boy, as usual, considers it his duty to make a noise in the world. However, the main street is not a safe place for such amusement. Boys, take your fire-crackers to some vacant lot or to a less public place and there enjoy them to your heart's content. Surely there can be no fun in frightening horses and endangering human life.

FROM every view point the farming class of this country is in better shape now than at any period since Confederation. More people own their own homes and little farms; more are free from the yoke of bondage inflicted by burdensome debts; more are becoming independent each year by making a comfortable living for their families; more are waking up to the necessity of giving their children better educational advantages, and withal, prosperity and contentment seem to prevail throughout the country. Let progress still be our watchword.

She Wondered.

The hat was new,
A lovely blue.
To church she gaily went,
She seemed devout,
Without a doubt,
That was the maid's intent.
But this is what was in her mind,
"I wonder how it looks behind."

A World Weather Map.

The recent innovation by the Observatory of getting the two continental records is hoped to be preliminary to eventually having a world weather map similar to the one in Washington. Considering that Canada is preeminently an agricultural country, the procuring of accurate and world-wide reports has not so far received the attention from the Dominion Government which it is entitled to.

The Washington Observatory last year received a grant of no less than $1,450,000 for meteorological purposes alone, while in Canada the grant was only $100,000 for all purposes. Fortunately, however, there is complete reciprocity between the two countries in the matter, greatly to the advantage of Canada, which receives from Washington over 100 reports, for which it returns so. Were it not for this our weather forecasts would be by no means as accurate as they are.

What Blending means to You and to your Baking.

No one flour—milled of a single kind of wheat—will make perfect bread. Spring wheat is rich in gluten and other food properties. Winter wheat contains less nutriment—but makes perfect cake and pastry.

Beaver Flour

is TWO flours in one. We take Manitoba Spring Wheat—find out just what each one lacks—and SUPPLY IT THROUGH THE OTHER.

BEAVER FLOUR is not a mixture of flours—but a scientific blend of Canada's finest spring and winter wheat flours, in the exact proportions to give perfect results for all kinds of baking.

This means a lot to YOU. Using BEAVER FLOUR means that Bread and Biscuits will contain all the nutriment of the best wheat—and also that the flour that makes the best Bread will make the whitest, lightest Cake and Pastry.

See that your Grocer sends Beaver Flour.

Changed His Mind.
There is a story about a company promoter who advertised for an office boy. He received one hundred replies. Out of the hundred he selected ten, and with the writers of these ten replies he had a personal interview. His final choice fell on a bright youth to whom he said: "My boy, I like your appearance and your manner very much, I think you may do."

Do you bring a character?
"No, sir," said the boy, "I can go home and get it."
"Very well, come back to-morrow morning with it, and if it is satisfactory I dare say I shall engage you." Late that same afternoon the financier was surprised by the return of the candidate.
"Well," he said cheerily, "have you got your character?" "No," answered the boy, "but I've got yours—an' I ain't coming!"

Dark Brown Taste

Your Head Aches
Tongue is Coated
Mouth Tastes Bad
Stomach is Sick.

The Grastic Juices Are Not Doing
Their Duty and You're in the Grip of Nervous Dyspepsia.

A hot bitter fluid, and sour indigested food rise in your mouth.
Your vision is crossed with specks that float before the eyes.

Very shortly you'll have nausea, rank breath, and sleepless night.
What you need is Ferrozone.

It regulates the gastric juices, puts new life into the stomach, braces digestive powers, gives the aid that's so badly required.

Ferrozone is the best treatment because it goes to the root of the trouble, remedies the conditions that cause dyspepsia and thereby cures permanently.

If you want proof, read the experience of Mr. E. P. Davison, a well known resident of Portland, who writes: "Ferrozone is beyond doubt a most powerful cure for indigestion and weak stomach. Food so badly digested with me that I was almost afraid to eat. Pastry and starchy foods fermented, caused sour risings and gave me headaches, brown taste, offensive breath. I grew weak, my weight ran down fifteen pounds and my looks fully indicated all that was wrong. Ferrozone put me on my feet again.
It braced me up, renewed my digestion and made me a well man."

Doctor and patients alike speak of the merit of Ferrozone; it is different from other remedies, different because it cures so you stay cured. Try it; sold everywhere in 50c boxes.

TALLEST MAN IN THE WORLD.

Is a Goderich Boy Named H. B. Mac-Kenzie.

It was difficult for the photographer to get a picture of the whole of Maj. H. B.
Mackenzie, the second largest man in the world. The major stands seven feet two inches and weighs 324 pounds, so it was necessary to build a scaffold under the camera.

"I wouldn't change my size for all the money in the world," said the major.
"Sure, it causes me a little inconvenience occasionally. There are any little difficulties as sleeping on the floor in every little hotel I go to, and running the risk of being fired out every time I have eaten one meal.
But, really, I am a very mild eater. I could eat the hindquarters of an ox sometimes, but generally my appetite is light.
I eat a few plates of vegetables and a dozen eggs. My appetite is very light."

The major kept a sober countenance, but the interviewer felt a wan smile creeping over his features. "Would the major have a drink? But the rash thought was snuffed on the instant.

The major has a wife. "She is a little bit o' thing," said the major, in a Scottish accent; the major is Scotch you know.
"She accompanies me around on my trips, but doesn't play in the show."

The major has had the distinction of appearing before all the crowned heads of Europe, twice before King Edward, being presented by that king with a Highland dirk. He has also appeared before President Roosevelt upon the special request of the strenuous president, who admired his massive figure.

Mackenzie was born in Goderich, Ont., April 3, 1874. His mother was six feet one inch tall and his father was five feet eleven and one-half inches tall. Upon graduating from the Toronto high schools he became a drum major for the Canadian Highlanders.

Barny Gilmore wanted to back him with $10,000 for a match with Frank Gotch, but Gotch would not accept the challenge, it is said. Considering his size, Maj. Mackenzie is fully proportioned and has a pleasing personality.

Blood, Pure, Rich, Red.

Rosy glow in the face, sparkling eyes, vivacious spirits are all the outcome of good blood. No surer way exists of purifying and enriching the blood than to use Dr.
Hamilton's Pills. By their gentle action on the bowels, kidneys and liver they filter every impurity from the system, leaving it wholesome and able to do the work necessary for the maintenance of health.

To be well, look well, and feel away at your best, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, a truly wonderful medicine for young and old. Price 25c at gance and ingratitude.

Three things to wish for—health, friends and contentment.

Three things to admire—dignity, gracefulness and intellectual power.

Three things to give—alms to the needy, comfort to the sad, and appreciation to the worthy.

St. Thomas Times: That broken rail which caused the wreck near Guelph a few tlement of damage suits. Eight thousand ing rigid track inspection and probably prevent loss of life and injury to limb.

REQUESTS OF TRUSTEES.

Several Important Matters Brought to the Attention of Dr. Fyde.

The Trustees Department of the Ontario Educational Association was represented by a deputation which waited upon Hon.
Dr. Fyde, Minister of Education last week.

The deputation comprised Messrs L. K.
Merton, Oshawa; M. Parkinson, Toronto;
J. H. Loughton, Parkhill; T. D'Arcy Mc-Gee, Ottawa; J. G. Elliott, Kingston; J.
Dow, Whitby; and A. Werner, Elmira.

The deputation had several matters to place before the Minister. They urged an allowance to High Schools on account of capital expenditure as well as maintenance, as at present; they asked encouragement and assistance in the enterprise of starting a periodical to be known as The Trustee;

They suggested the publication of Mr. R. S.
Nevill's address on patriotic and imperial matters in pamphlet form, and asked for continuation classes. The Separate School Department are also desirous of having the election of their trustees take place at the same time and place as the same officials as the Public Schools and municipal elections.

Full consideration to all points was promised.

DESERTED HUSBANDS.

Three Sarnia Women Went to Port Huron to Reside.

The officers at Port Huron have had considerable trouble within the past few months with men deserting their families, but the care of the Sarnia authorities is in the opposite direction. During the past three days no less than three women have suddenly left their homes in that city coming to Port Huron. All were found by Chief of Police Marx after he had been notified by the Sarnia police, and were sent back to the Canadian city.

Dora Braham left four children between the ages of four and nine years to be watched over by her husband. Ruth Dennis left a husband and two small children, while Louise Huffman deserted only a husband.

When accosted by Chief Marx the women in each instance refused to return to their homes. When they found that it would be necessary to return to Sarnia they promised to do so, but stated that they would live with the other members of the family.—
Port Huron Times.

Why do you faint?

Sometimes from shock or fright, but usually because the system is weakened and depressed,—it lacks power to react from sudden strain. This condition demands rebuilding, demands nourishment, which is best supplied by Ferrozone. In every form of debility Ferrozone is a specific. It forti-fies the digestive and assimilative power of the body, promotes the elimination of waste materials, builds up tissue, gives energy and resistance. To have rich, red, blood, enduring nerves, a strong constitution of lasting health, use Ferrozone. Sold everywhere in 50c boxes or six for $2.50.

The Youngest Premier.

The Hon Richard McBride, Premier of British Columbia, is the youngest Prime Minister in the King's dominions. He is only thirty-six, and he achieved the Premiership four years ago, after having held subordinate office as Minister of Mines. He is a native of New Westminster, the original capital of British Columbia. Mr. Mc-Bride is a barrister, and made an unsuccessful bid for Parliamentary honors at twenty-five. At twenty-seven he tried again, and was favored by fortune.

When Your Back Hurts.

Of course it's hard to work. Stooping over hurts, lifting is tedious, and you wonder what to do. Ever try Nerviline?
Nothing like it for weak or lame back. It penetrates to the core of the pain, eases from the first application, brings cure that defies the relapse. No liniment is so clean, so soothing, so certain to kill muscular, rheumatic or sciatic pains. Your dealer sells Polson's Nerviline in large 25c bottles.
Why not try it?

Green Cheese.

The prevalent high price is probably responsible for the mischievous practice of selling "green" cheese for export. The article thus prematurely marketed is sure to create dissatisfaction and to lower the reputation of Canadian cheese generally. It is much to be regretted that a few selfish dealers should have it in their power to cause a loss of many thousands of dollars to one of our greatest industries.

Pay More and Get the Best.

A cheap flesh burning corn remedy is never satisfactory. The best is Putnam's Painless corn Extractor, costs but a quarter, and is guaranteed to cure thoroughly. Use only Putnam's.

Well, Well?

"Mildred had hard luck with her beaux.
She was shaken four times before Bob married her." "Ah, I see. Well shaken before taken, eh?"

Entirely Legitimate.

"Is that man's business really as paying as he says?"
"It is all hot air."
"I thought so."
"Yet, he deals in furnaces."

Paid Large Duties.

The succession duties department of the Ontario administration has received $12,300 from the estate of the late Harrison Corey, a large oil producer of Petrolea, who died about 15 months ago. The estate of the deceased consists chiefly of oil fields in the vicinity of Petrolea, but in addition to these there is real estate in Michigan valued at $51,000, and some valuable oil lands in Indiana. The entire estate is valued at about $300,000. It will be divided among the children of the deceased.

He was brought before the Judge on Tuesday morning and elected speedy trial. Trial fixed for same day as the other charge. A. S. Burnham, for defence, J. D. Bucke, for Crown.

Sarah Laforge was brought before the Judge on Monday charged with having converted to her own use a binder, the property of Wm. McSherry. Strathroy Man Nearly Electrocuted Strathroy, May 28.—James W. Payne, an employe at Wright's hardware, met with a peculiar accident the other evening and one which might have cost him his life.

Mr. Payne had occasion to go into the warehouse at the rear of the store for something and attempted to turn on the electric light in the dark. The floor was wet where he stood and his feet were none too dry and as he reached for the bulb which hung from the ceiling his hand came in contact with the brass fitting of the bulb and he was immediately rendered unconscious and fell to the floor. In falling his body became entangled in the electric wires which broke the circuit, otherwise he might have met an instant death. He was soon revived, however, and beyond a severe shock not much the worse for his experience.

WARWICK.

Mrs. J. B. Thompson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ormrod, of Sarnia.

W. J. Shaw and son Will, Sarnia, spent Sunday with A. Menercy, Warwick Village.

Douglas McNaughton, 4th line, lost a valuable horse this week with inflammation of the bowels.

Mr. George Fenner left for Detroit Wednesday to attend the commencement exercises of the Detroit College of Medicine where his son, W. A. Fenner, graduated as an M. D.

Mr. J. D. Fraser of the lake front, Leamington, is making more than ever a specialty of growing early vegetables. He has several immense green-houses and an order for several thousand plants is quite a common occurrence. He is growing tomato plants for the canning company, and is filling outside orders at the same time. His latest orders from outside parties was for 400,000 plants. Mr. Fraser deserves success, and by his energy and perseverance he will command it. He is a good neighbor, and is ever ready to lend assistance to any good work.—Leamington Post.

Mr. Orville Bachelor, one of Warwick's former young men, now of Los Angeles, Cal., intends spending a short time about July with his brother Mason and sister May of Calgary, and also expects to meet his mother and sister Gertie of London. The meeting will be looked forward with great interest, as the family have not met for about six years. Orville left for Calgary about six years ago and has never returned. He has been nearly all over the Western provinces and is now in the gold mines near Los Angeles.

A sad event occurred on the fourth line east, S. E. R., on Wednesday afternoon, when Laura May, beloved wife of George Westgate, Jr., passed away in her twenty-second year after an illness of a few days, following confinement. Mrs. Westgate was the eldest daughter of Mr. James Edgar, of Metcalfe, and had only been married about two years. The news of her early death has caused deep sorrow among a large circle of relatives and friends, among whom she was loved and respected for her amiability and kindness. The deepest sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved in their great sorrow. The funeral takes place Friday at 1.30, interment in the Watford cemetery.

This medicine can therefore be used with absolute safety, and it always cures such troubles as indigestion, sour stomach, constipation, diarrhoea and colic. The Tablets cure simple fevers, break up colds, destroy worms and make teething easy. Mrs. W. H. Young, Roslin, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets as needed for more than a year and would not be without them in the house. A Record in Immigration.

Montreal, May 25.—The flow of immigration to America since January 1st has been at such a rate that it promises to eclipse all previous high marks. Recent advices from New York show that as many as 15,000 emigrants have passed through Ellis Island in one day, while a complication of travel business shows that as many as 50,000 emigrants have landed in one day in United States and Canada. Steamship companies are now booked to the end of June, and could carry no more passengers.

Furnaces are running the same as in October.

DEATH OF WARWICK'S OLDEST SETTLER.

Mr. Henry Rivers Suddenly Passes Away on Friday.

One of the oldest and best known of the pioneer settlers of this section passed away on Friday last in the person of Mr. Henry G. R. Rivers.

The subject of this sketch was born May 9th, 1826, in London, England, being aged 81 years at the time of his death. He was the only son of a family of six. His father was a British army officer who had seen active service in different parts of the Empire, having served as Colonel Rivers under Sir John Moore at Corunna in 1808, where he received a rifle wound in the knee from which he never fully recovered. Retiring from the army he became paymaster for the City of London till 1832, when he with his wife, son and five daughters, came out to Canada, settling in St. Thomas where, after a few years, the aged officer died from the effects of the wound he had received. The family then came west to the township of Warwick, settling on a land grant received from the Crown. Here the late Mr. Rivers resided continuously till some three or four years ago, retiring from the activities of a strenuous life, he moved into this village. In 1855 he was married in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, to Marie Westgate, who survives him. He was the earliest settler in this district, having seen the whole surroundings a vast forest, London and Sarnia, which were then mere villages, being the nearest markets, Watford being unheard of for years after his arrival. A more interesting narrator of incidents relating to the early days would be difficult to find. Mr. Rivers was a Conservative in politics, a member of the Anglican Church, a man of splendid worth and sterling qualities, possessed of wonderful vitality and vigor, being always smart and active till the day of his death. He leaves a widow, three sons and three daughters to mourn his loss, one daughter having pre-deceased him some four years ago. The immediate cause of death was heart failure which came as a great shock to his friends and relatives on May 24th. His end was peace.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Prof. Howard and largely attended amid a continuous downpour of rain. The remains were interred in the family burial plot in the Watford cemetery, Henry Hume, A. Dunlop, Jas. Morgan, Jos. S. Williams, Thos. Mains and Robert Fleming acting as pall-bearers.

WYOMING.

The butcher shop and residence formerly owned by Mr. D. Moore, was sold last week to Mr. P. Caxton.

Mr. C. McIntyre, who conducted a butcher shop here last summer has again secured the shop, recently fitted up by Mr. W. H. Hawn, and will open up for business this week.

Half a mile of cement sidewalks will be laid this summer on the different streets, work beginning at once. The council proposes to secure the services of a road foreman and put the walks down themselves.

Telephones have been installed in the following places—Dr. Chappelle's, A. E. Westland's (Sovereign Bank), L. Guy's Livery Stable and the Central Hotel. The company could not secure any person to act as their agent here for a public phone, and as a consequence the public is experiencing a deaf and dumb service. No one will take charge of the phones for so small a salary as the company offers.

Our Own Solomon Housecleaning.

My son, consider now the woman that cleareth house.

She ariseth in the morning and her husband vieweth her with alarm for she girdeth her hair in a knot like unto a doughnut.

And she attireth herself in a skirt that hath neither front nor back, but looketh like unto a piano cover.

And she putteth on a waist which she hath cherished even from the days when they were big sleeves,

And she putteth upon her feet shoes like unto them that are worn by the minstrels.

And she sayeth unto her husband: "Verily this house is a fright, and I am going to put things down the paper, for the murder news cannot thrill him, neither doth he care for presidential booms."

For he knoweth that nothing can happen out in the big world like unto what will happen unto his house this day.

And he goeth away unto his business and cometh not home until it is evening; yea, until it is dark.

And he findeth a colored man even then beating rugs in the side yard with his golf sticks, the which have been broken one by one.

And his cigar box hath been emptied of cigars and made to hold tacks.

And they have taken his sweater to wash windows with.

And there is nothing in the house to eat.

Save what was left from yesterday, and it is hidden beneath fourteen flatirons and half a box of laundry soap in the pantry.

And the wife of his bosom hath soot on her nose and fire in her eyes, and she looketh like unto the breaking up of a hard winter.

And she bursteth into tears because he doth not kiss her and call her an angel for carrying things into the house.

So that he spraineth his back lifting the piano and smaseth his thumb between the wall and a bookshelf, and falleth over against the staircase when he taketh an armful of chairs up stairs, and spraineth his wrist.

And she sayeth that if he talks to her that way again she will go home to her mother.

Is it not so, even as we have whacked it from the typewriter with the sway-backed space bar?—Chicago Post.

It was computed that as much as $1,200,000 was lodged with them, and they stowed the money away in petroleum tins, soap boxes and flower pots, and diminished it by the interest, which was met for some time. The swindle was never thoroughly cleared up.

Chance for Bachelors.
Montreal, May 20.—Among the first and second class passengers landed this week at Montreal were quite a number of young ladies, who, in groups, were bound for the North West. It may be remembered that some years ago Miss Flora Shaw, the special correspondent of The London Times, who was commissioned to write a series of articles descriptive of the life of Great Britain's colonies, recommended, with respect to our North-West, that the chief need was the refining influence of educated women.

"We have an over abundance of women in the old country," Miss Shaw remarked, and especially have we an excess of single women of education and refinement, and these are the sort of women who should go to the North-West to keep house, and in the first instance, for her brother, and in the second to become the wife of some man who is living alone and who needs, as the whole North-West needs, the delicate touch of a woman, especially a gentwoman."

The hint has been taken, and numbers of such women have come out. The party which went forward this week numbered twenty. They were nominally in charge of a middle-aged lady who acted as a chaperon although they appeared quite self contained and seemed to need very little protection.

DELIBERATE CASE OF GRAVE-ROBBING

Remarkable Experience of Well-known Forest Citizen Vouched for by Baptist Minister and Local Druggist.

(From Forest Free Press.)

Forest, May 2nd, 1907.—The following facts, vouched by the Rev. C. E. Burrell, Baptist minister, and Ralph E. Scott, the well-known local druggist, is incontrovertible evidence that even when physicians have abandoned hope, there is still a way whereby the grave may be cheated of its prey.

John A. Galbraith is a well-to-do farmer, living in Plympton Township, about five miles from Forest. He is 5 feet 6 inches in height, and about 45 years of age. He enjoyed good health until early in 1906, when he had a severe attack of pleuro-pneumonia, which apparently broke up his whole system. In speaking of the case to the Forest Free Press, he said:—

"I did not seem able to gain any strength after the attack of pneumonia. One doctor said that tuberculosis had developed, that I could not recover, and advised me to settle all affairs as quickly as possible. This was the condition I was in when my pastor, Rev. C. E. Burrell, of the Baptist Church, advised me to try Psychine, and procured for me a trial bottle. This was in May, 1906, and at that time I was reduced in weight to 120 pounds. The Psychine seemed to do good from the start, and I continued until I had used about $15 worth from Scott's Drug Store, Forest. I gained in weight until I went to 150 pounds, steadily regaining my strength and feeling better. I actually had to have my clothes enlarged, not through any complacency, but owing to a putting on of good solid flesh all over. I have resumed my work and have gone through this severe and sickly winter with nothing worse than an attack of grip, which my system was able to throw off without any serious results.

"I give this statement for the purpose of showing how Psychine has probably saved my life, and in the hope that others may be likewise benefited by its use.

"J. A. GALBRAITH."

"Mr. J. A. Galbraith is a prominent member of my church, trusted by his neighbors and very highly respected throughout the entire community. His case has attracted very considerable attention. He was a pitiable case, indeed, in the prime of life and with the brightest prospects to be suddenly stricken down in the midst of it all. Visiting him after his physicians had pronounced his case hopeless (and, indeed, set the date at about twenty-five years pastorate of the church), and observing pretty closely his condition, it occurred to me that Psychine, which I had used in my own family with wonderful results, might benefit him. I strongly recommended it to him, and he began its use. The result was truly wonderful. Almost immediately he began to improve and soon was able to be out again. He apparently regained his old health and was able to take up once again his old duties on his large farm and to perform them with comparative ease and comfort. The improvement was permanent, and he is today apparently just as well as ever. He gives all the credit for his recovery, under God, to Psychine.

"C. E. BURRELL,
"Baptist Pastor."

"I have read the statements made by Mr. J. A. Galbraith and Rev. C. E. Burrell regarding the results of the use of Psychine. I know both gentlemen personally and can heartily endorse all that they have said. Mr. Galbraith obtained his supply of Psychine at my drug store, saying from time to time that it had done him good. I took an interest in his case, and noted a steady improvement. Altogether I sold him about $15.00 worth. Psychine is having a big run here, and so far as I know is always used with beneficial results.

Her Brilliant Failure

By Katherine Lewis

Copyright, 1906, by M. M. Cunningham

With chin uplifted and lips firmly compressed, Margaret advanced to meet fate.

Fate in this particular instance was represented by Margaret's father, a self-opinionated, self-made man with a grievance. Margaret realized fully that she was a factor in the grievance. Her three sisters constituted the remaining factors.

John Leckie felt that he had been played a scurvy trick when, having proved that he could surmount obstacles before which the average man fell back dismayed and could rise from nameless, penniless obscurity to a position of power if not popularity among men and affairs, nature had sent him daughters instead of sons. His wife had died of very shame for having failed so signally to fulfill her duty in this respect.

The eldest daughter had tried to expiate her mother's offenses by entering her father's office as bookkeeper. Today she ranked as his right hand man. She wore mannish clothes, too, and talked shop with her father from soup to coffee and was tremendously bored when her sisters proposed entertaining a few friends at dinner.

The second daughter had chosen art and had opened a small studio in a western city. Anything, in her estimation, was preferable to being told whenever she met her father that if she had been a man she might have built iron bridges instead of air castles in art.

One thing John Leckie had done—he had given them the best educational advantages money could buy, and then he had said, "Now go out and do things."

Margaret, fresh from the trip abroad which Leckie considered the essential finishing touch of a girl's education, knew that she would be expected to "do things." Her father had given her time to unpack her trunks, to call on her few relatives and the intimate family friends and to recover her equilibrium, so to speak. Now, when he sent for her to join him in the library, she knew what his question would be. Nor was her surmise incorrect.

John Leckie leaned back in his upholstered leather chair and stared frankly at the tall, slender girl, who from some unknown and far distant ancestor had inherited a grace almost patrician.

"Sit down, Margaret. I've spent a good many thousand dollars on your education. What do you expect to do with it?"

"I think I shall take charge of the house," she said, calm, without quaking within.

"Take charge of the house?" echoed her father harshly. "I pay Mrs. Jenkins to do that."

"And the whole house looks as if it were handled by a hireling," replied Margaret, meeting his angry gaze without flinching. "Bought! Hired! The words are stamped all over the place. We have no home life, no home atmosphere, and I want to make things more pleasant, more like some of the homes in which I have visited. I think that is my forte."

A deep purple flush mounted to Leckie's forehead, and his fist came down on the table with a ringing thump.

"So, after all the money I've spent on you, after all the plans I've made for my girls to take a place in the world as good as their father made for himself, you have no bigger ambition than to mend socks and bake pies. That will add to the luster of our family name, won't it?" Margaret bit her lip. Leckie had spoken as if the name had been handed down through ten generations instead of one.

"Now, see here! That gag doesn't go. You're going to do something! Think of your sister Harriet!"

Margaret did think, and then she almost shuddered. She remembered Harriet's untidy room, some cigarette stubs she had seen lying on the unpolished brass tray. Harriet had said that after the long day in the office she simply had to smoke to quiet her nerves.

"Harriet is a credit to her father. Men down street call her a wonder. And you want to mend socks! Good heavens! Say, do you think you could sell goods? I'll start you in a millinery shop—a lot of society women are going in for that sort of thing—or a tea room, if you like. But you've got to do something."

Margaret rose and half timidly laid her arm around her father's thick neck.

"Father, dear, I'd so much rather just make tea for you and your few friends. Perhaps we might have more friends!"

He flung aside the encircling arm.

"Now, see here, you're not going to sit back on your haunches and do nothing just because I have money. You've got to make a name for yourself at something." He was brutal now in his disappointment. "If you can't do anything else, you can teach. I know a man; helped him out of a tight place about three months ago; name is Graydon. He lives somewhere out in Westchester county and is on the school board. He has pulled enough to get you a job at teaching out there, and you can try your hand at that. If you can't earn five hundred a year giving out some of the education that I paid about five thousand a year for, you're a disgrace to the family. I'll see Graydon in the morning. School must open out there in a week or so."

He bent over his desk as if the subject were closed. Margaret paused in the doorway. Her face was very white. Her eyes burned like red stars in the gloom of the curtained doorway.

"I'll do what you say, of course, father, but I warn you in advance that I will be a failure. I was not meant for that sort of thing."

Her father flung back his big head and stared at her.

"Perhaps you think you were born to play a lady, but I will fool you. You don't come from that sort of stock."

And so it happened that Margaret Leckie was placed in charge of district school No. 16. The one redeeming feature of her new position was the long walk to and from the depot, for she commuted daily rather than take board in the small village around which homes of millionaires were clustered. These long walks steadied her nerves for the labor of teaching the unkempt and insolent children of gardeners, coachmen and truck raisers who fell to the lot of school No. 16. She had spoken the truth when she said that she would fail. The power to organize and discipline children in numbers is not given to all, not even to the woman who by the magic talisman of maternal love may develop into a model mother in her own household. To the problems of undisciplined youth and unclean persons and untutored minds she gave the best energies at her command, but she worked with the sense of failure forever dogging her footsteps.

She was not surprised, therefore, when one particularly dull and lowering afternoon Mr. Graydon's motor car drew up at the schoolhouse. It was to be an investigation by a committee of one. She had felt it coming—ever since Billy Dobson had put red pepper on the stove and school had been dismissed for the afternoon. She rose, very straight and girlish and big eyed, as Homer Graydon entered the door. It was his first visit to the school, and she was surprised to find a clean cut, youngish looking man instead of the side whiskered, portly personage she had somehow pictured this arbiter of her money earning fate to be.

Quite some time passed before he referred to the Billy Dobson incident, and Homer Graydon had taken measure of the woman before the matter came up for discussion. By this time Margaret was herself once more, and she did not strive to dodge the issue.

"There is no use talking about the matter, Mr. Graydon. I was not cut out for a schoolteacher. I know my limitations, but my father refuses to recognize them. There is only one thing I want to do, and he will not permit that."

She never knew how it happened, but before Homer Graydon left that schoolroom he knew what her simple ambitions encompassed, and he knew just how she would attain them.

The lowering clouds had lifted suddenly, the autumnal colorings on the trees shone in the sunlight, and his own heart sang in measure to the onward puling of his car. He was taking the unsuccessful schoolteacher to the depot in the village, and it was all he could do to refrain from telling her, then and there what she had brought into his money grabbing life.

The world says that love at first sight lives only in novels and magazines. Homer Graydon says he knows better. John Leckie first said it was sheer laziness on Margaret's part, but sometimes when he goes to the cozy Graydon home and looks from the contented face of its mistress to the proud face of its master he wonders if it pays only "to do" things—when you're a woman.

THREE FACTS For Sick Women To Consider.

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, inflammation of the female organs, weakness and displacements, regulating the periods perfectly and overcoming their pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.—Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

She was surprised to find a clean cut, youngish looking man instead of the side whiskered, portly personage she had somehow pictured this arbiter of her money earning fate to be.

Quite some time passed before he referred to the Billy Dobson incident, and Homer Graydon had taken measure of the woman before the matter came up for discussion. By this time Margaret was herself once more, and she did not strive to dodge the issue.

"There is no use talking about the matter, Mr. Graydon. I was not cut out for a schoolteacher. I know my limitations, but my father refuses to recognize them. There is only one thing I want to do, and he will not permit that."

Death Through a Tarantula.—One of the quickest and most complete and justifiable killings that ever I saw came about through tarantula. It was at a mine camp, and the camp bully had a tarantula impaled on a stick. A man newly arrived from the east stood gazing, fascinated with horror, at the squirming reptile, working its black fangs in the effort to reach something that it could fasten them into. Suddenly, without warning, the bully thrust the tarantula straight into the tenderfoot's face. His whiskers saved him from the fangs, but he let out a yell as if he had actually been bitten and jumped back, I fully believe, ten feet. Then, as the fellow came poking the tarantula toward him again, the tenderfoot drew his revolver and turned loose on his tormentor. His first shot would have been enough, as it went straight through the fellow's body, but the tenderfoot had his excitement to work off, and he never stopped shooting until his revolver had been emptied and the man with the tarantula was a sieve. "Served him right," was the verdict of the coroner's jury, and the case never went to court for trial.—San Francisco Examiner.

In London Clubland.

In some of the ultra exclusive clubs, says the London Chronicle, it is a serious breach of etiquette for one member to speak to another without obtaining a ceremonious introduction beforehand. A painful case has just occurred in a certain old established and extremely respectable Pall Mall caravanserie. It appears that a newly joined member in callous defiance of custom ventured the other afternoon to make a remark about the weather to a gentleman with whom he was not personally acquainted. The recipient of this outrage glared stonily at its perpetrator.

"Did you presume to address me, sir?" he demanded, with an awful frown.

"Yes, I did," was the defiant reply. "I said it was a fine day." The other digested the observation thoughtfully.

Then, after an impressive pause, he turned to its bold exponent. "Well, pray don't let it occur again," he remarked as he buried himself once more in his paper.

ADVERTISING AN ART.

But It Should Be Made an Art That Calls Beauty to Its Service.

Advertising has indeed become an art. It remains for it to become, if not a fine art, at least an art that calls beauty to its service. When it does, much of the energy that is now misdirected, much of the money that is now prodigally wasted in destroying the world's beauty, will be saved.

The right procedure is indicated by the most conspicuous medium for public advertising. The press, in its daily, weekly or monthly forms, offers altogether the best means for calling public attention to all sorts of things. The best of public journals—those which are recognized as the most desirable mediums for advertising and which consequently obtain the highest prices for their services—make it a rule to classify and restrict in a judicious manner the advertisements that they print. They confine them to certain parts of the publication, they restrict their display to certain decorous styles of type, recognizing that to admit a helter skelter distribution through all columns or to display them in incoherent fashion according to the whims of the advertisers would largely destroy the very objects held in view. The readers of these journals would resent the intrusion of advertising matter into the space set apart for news, editorials, etc., and the influence that gives the advertising its value would decline.

In the same way the forms of advertising that now give exceeding offense to the community ought to be restricted and kept within proper limits. If this were effected the practice would change from the public nuisance that it now is to a function that, in a considerable degree, might couple genuine service to the public with a presentation of its material in an interesting and even esthetically attractive fashion.—Sylvester Baxter in Century.

An Impression.

"Now I have an impression in my head," said the teacher. "Can any of you tell me what an impression is?"

"Yes'm, I can," replied a little fellow at the foot of the class. "An impression is a dent in a soft spot."

Badly Put.

Fisherman (beginner)—Don't you think, Peter, I've improved a good deal since I began? Peter (anxious to pay a compliment)—You have. sorr. But, sure, it was aisy for you to improve, sorr!—Punch.

Brag.

When we are children we brag about our parents. When we get to be young men and young women we brag about ourselves. When we become older we brag about our children.

Adam Knew the Flood Was Coming.

An apocryphal book called the "Lesser Genesis" and well known to the early Christian fathers tells a wonderful incident in the life of Seth, the third son of Adam and Eve. When the goodly Seth was about forty years of age, he was "rapt" up into heaven by a trio of angels and there told and shown what was in store for mankind. Among other things, the coming of the great deluge was made known to him, as was also the coming of the Saviour. When he returned to earth, Seth told his parents what had happened and of what he had seen and heard concerning the future of the human race. "And Adam was much grieved when it was made known to him that the world would be destroyed by water on account of the wickedness of his own children, but a great peace and calmness came over him when Seth told how the face of the earth would again be re-peopled. * * * His joy was exceedingly great when Seth related what was in store in the coming ages, and he was particularly glad to know that redemption should finally come through Jesus the Christ."

Ontario Does Not Raise Enough Sheep and Wool is Too Low.

According to The Breeders' Gazette, a Chicago man, who spent last week in Ontario picking up 500 rams to send to Idaho, said: "Canada's lamb crop will be light, winter having hung on persistently over there. The result of this will be little Canadian mutton on the Buffalo market next fall. Canada is not participating in the sheep development on this side of the line, and in Toronto not enough live mutton is available to supply local demand. I was given an order for a load of sheep by a Toronto butcher, and I believe it is the first instance of mutton being bought in Chicago for shipment to a Canadian point. Ontario is an ideal sheep country, but they are not getting our prices for wool. 16 cents being bid for the kind that sells in Michigan at 25 to 30 cents. I cannot account for it, except that buyers are stealing it. If Ontario had access to our market it could get rich growing wool and mutton."

PALE AS A CORPSE.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Back the Euddy Glow of Health.

Thousands of young growing girls have pale, pasty complexions; distressing headaches, backaches and siccitudes. Sometimes they are unable to sleep; their nerves are unstrung; they are languid; breathless and the heart palpitates violently at the least exertion—that's the anemia—and it may develop into consumption unless promptly attended to. Anemia means bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make pure, red blood—that's the secret of their success. Miss Winnie Allen, Montreal, Que., says:—"I was so weak and run down that my friends thought I was going into consumption. I was as pale as a corpse, had no appetite and did not sleep well. The least exertion tired me out and if I walked a few blocks I was almost breathless. My sister advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using them for a few weeks I am again enjoying good health and have a good color. I think every weak, sickly girl should take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood and in this way strike right at the root of such troubles as anemia, indigestion, rheumatism, St. Vitus dance, the secret ills of girlhood and womanhood and a host of other every day troubles and cure them. But you must get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box—imitations never cured anyone and sometimes they do much harm. If your dealer does not keep the genuine Pills they will be sent at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DOUBLE SUICIDE NEAR WOOD- STOCK.

Mother and Son Take Chloroform.

Woodstock, May 27.—The little village of Woodstock, 15 miles from here, was swept the district of which the village of Nixon is centre and did an immense amount of damage. Several exceedingly narrow escapes are reported. No lives were lost as far as known. Buildings were blown down, trees and fences uprooted, and the Washburn railroad tracks blocked by the collapse of a huge coal chute in Nixon. Two houses and a grocery store demolished in the village, and an old lady named Croft had a very narrow escape. Roofs were blown off the most substantial houses, and several groves of trees suffered severely.

A CHARITABLE WOMAN.

The dead woman was 71 years of age, and her son 49. She was highly respected in the village, and noted for her charitable work. Her son was formerly a school teacher at Bright, but lately had been the proprietor of a drug store at Kalamazoo, Michigan. He arrived home only Friday night.

NO MOTIVE KNOWN.

The mother and son were apparently devoted to one another, and while he was away he wrote to her each week. No motive of the tragedy is known, but it is suggested that it is the result of financial entanglements out of which McKie saw no hope of emerging. No message was left explaining the affair.

An envelope containing $20 in cash was found. A note said that $15 was what Miss McKie had borrowed from Arthur Duncan, a neighbor, and $5 was for Miss Belle McKie, of Brantford. No inquest will be held.

Miss McKie, the deceased woman, has always gone by her maiden name.

Dairymen's Associations May Appoint a Special Officers.

It is probable that the Dairymen's Associations, with the sanction of the Government, will appoint an official whose duty it will be to test the milk brought to the various cheese factories and to institute prosecutions where, as the result of the tests, such are warranted. At present, although the regular inspectors make the tests, the responsibility of entering prosecutions rests with the factory men. A deputation representing the Western Dairymen's Association waited upon Hon. Mr. Monteith yesterday afternoon with the request that the testing of milk and the prosecutions both be conducted by the inspectors solely. After some discussion the view was reached that the method outlined in the foregoing would be the best from the point of view of the factory owners and all concerned.

Printer's Convention.

London, May 24.—The master printers' of Ontario convention opened in the board of trade rooms this morning. Mayor Judd welcomed them on behalf of the city. The first address on the subject "Apprentices in a Printing Office" was delivered by John Dixon of The Ottawa Free Press, which was followed by an open discussion.

At the afternoon session J. C. Oswald of The American Printer, spoke on "The History of Printing," illustrated with some 60 lantern slides. This was followed by an address "On Growing a System" by J. A. Griffin of Hamilton. In the evening a banquet was given to the members. Addresses were delivered by Hon. G. P. Graham, Senator Coffey, F. E. Dobbin of The Peterboro Review, and Frank Lawson and others.

TORONTO.

Toronto, May 28.—Receipts at the city cattle market to-day amounted to 51 cars, containing 800 head of cattle, 262 sheep and lambs, 700 hogs and 391 calves. The market was decidedly firmer than either of last week's and many buyers refused to pay the prices asked. The quality was somewhat better than usual, and this fact, together with the smallness of the run, accounted for the sharp trading early in the morning. All cattle are about 10c higher, while sheep and lambs are off a shade. Hogs have advanced 20c to $7.10 for selects and $6.85 for lights and fats.
