90,000 OR MORE BRAVED RAIN TO SEE THE EXHIBITION SIGHTS

Remarkable Scenes Attendant on the Labor Day Celebration—Financial Loss Severe.

MAYOR MAY PROCLAIM SATURDAY HALF HOLIDAY

For such a long succession of years has the Canadian National Exhibition been favored with weather either wholly favorable or at least moderately so on Labor Day, that the directors, Manager Orr and the general public have almost come to consider that, as with the manager, there is a little cherub that sits up aloft to prevent disaster on the crucial day of the fair.

After yesterday's dire happenings, however, no such happy complacency exists. It takes the labor of average a long time to work out in some cases, but the rule is inexorable, and bright expectations fell to the ground with great force. Somehow, that million mark attendance prophecy didn't look exactly like the fruit of inspiration last night. All honor to the people of Toronto, for they stood by the exhibition on the day at the fair specially set apart for them with a great and wonderful joy. The fact that the number of people who thronged the grounds dropped from 142,000 last year to probably 50,000 below that figure is far from the discredit. The marvelous number of people who thronged the grounds dropped from 142,000 last year to probably 50,000 below that figure is far from the discredit. PORTSIDE TRAIN SERVICE GETS GOOD START

C.P.R. Express to Montreal, Via West and North Toronto, Makes Its First Trip to the East With a Goodly Complement of Passengers, Including Some Notables.

The Canadian Pacific's aptown or north side service to Montreal was inaugurated last night. The train starts at West Toronto and then runs due east over the North Toronto (Yonge-street Station), and on to Leaside Junction.

The significance of the change to the traveler is best set out by the following mileage and elevation figures:

West Tor. Junct.	0	149
N. Tor. (Yonge-st.)	3.5	155
Leaside Junct.	5.8	184
Union Station	18.4	184
Leaside Junct.	5.3	184

In other words, a passenger who gets aboard a north side train at North Toronto (upper Yonge-street) has only to go 2.3 miles to get to Leaside, up an easy grade of 29 feet (less than one-eighth of one per cent.), doing the distance easily in four minutes. It will take him 20 minutes to go the 5.3 miles from Union Station to Leaside—he has to climb 17.4 feet, or at the grade is perfectly transmitted, and it is a half per cent. rise, one of the worst on the system, calling for an assisting engine and entailing at times in winter a stall-up.

There is therefore a saving of a clear fifteen minutes of train time by taking the north side line, and if the passenger is a north ender, of thirty minutes or more in getting to the train—forty-five minutes at least. Best of all, there is no lightning your way in and out of the Union Station, or the hassle there in the crowded lower town streets. And the same is arriving! That's something to a traveler.

The new train last night as it left North Toronto was made up of engine No. 1204 (Engineer Rutherford), one baggage car, one combination (smoker), one first-class coach and two sleepers for Montreal, and two sleepers for Ottawa. Conductor Sam Jackson was in charge.

There was a fair amount of passengers in all the cars, the sleepers having an especially full complement. No more changing.

The Montreal service has been a matter of fact, been run in two sections now for the past six weeks or more, two trains each way every night. Even the day trains for some days have been in two sections. Last night three trains were run, two from North Toronto and one from the north. The Ottawa cars from Union Station will be coupled up with the Ottawa cars on the North Toronto train at Smith's Falls. There will be no more changing cars for Ottawa by the Montreal sleeper. A. R. Creelman, K.C., chief counsel of the passenger, was also on the train. Passenger Yardmaster Van Dyke saw the train over to Yonge-street.

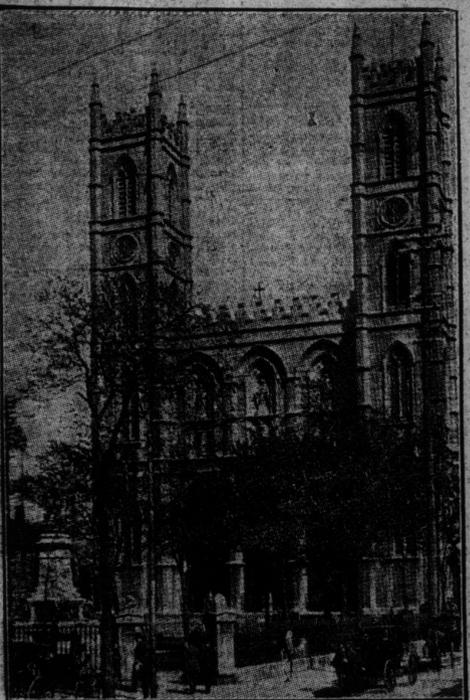

The officers in charge of the station at North Toronto are: R. H. Graham, agent; J. M. McCoy, day operator and ticket clerk; P. H. Leeming, night operator and ticket clerk; A. Bruce, baggage master. At West Toronto the officers are: J. S. H. agent; A. Smith, day operator; J. C. Fothergill, night operator; T. Bell, baggage master.

May Give Local Service. The inauguration of this train also restores a passenger service to the main line between Leaside and West Toronto, over five miles that has had no train service for years! This is contrary to law and the deeds of the right of way.

It is more than likely that another result will be that one of the night trains outward and one of the morning trains inward will do a local service between Myrtle and the city, a distance of thirty-five miles. For instance, people from Clarendon, Leaside, Hill, Agincourt and even Don Mills have not been able to get into town before noon during fair time, and have no train out after 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

It may also mean the early doubling of the line from Yonge-street to the east. The line is double-tracked from Yonge-street to the Junction in West Toronto.

It was quite a revival to see the old West Toronto and North Toronto Stations lit up again last night. Before the C. P. got its down-the-Don entrance all its trains went east by West Toronto and North Toronto. In those days these stations were crowded. Mr. Van Horne (now Sir William) was proud of these stations, and saw that excellent refreshment counters were maintained at both of them.

NOTRE DAME CHURCH, MONTREAL. Where the great gathering of the Eucharistic Congress will be held.

TIME FOR THE CHURCH TO GET THE CONFIDENCE OF THE WORKING CLASS

Tenor of Some Eloquent Addresses at Anglican Congress—Bishop Ingram Repeats His Plea of Canada—Social Problems Under Review.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Social problems occupied the Anglican Church Congress here to-day. Two sections sat in different buildings, one occupied with the more public aspect of the problems discussed, and the other considering them in special church and religious relations. The great meeting in the evening in St. Paul's Church was a magnificent climax to the day's deliberations, and the Bishop of London, Dr. Ingram, spoke with the power and sympathy of a master. Another meeting was held in St. George's Church, at which Sunday school problems were considered.

Dr. Ingram followed the Bishop of Niagara, Dr. Du Moulin, who was somewhat reactionary in his address, and the man from the slums spoke with a directness and outspokenness which was startling in comparison.

Various resolutions were adopted. "My brothers and sisters," he began. "I am sure we have all listened with the deepest interest while my dear old friend has told you of the touching efforts of a working class church to win the confidence of workmen. But the fact remains, in spite of all this, that we have somehow failed with the representatives they send up to the British Parliament, not one is a churchman. We have somehow failed to win their confidence and our conformist brethren have also failed, and have even less of their confidence. Lacks the inspiration.

"I want to face with you the question why they do not. We never yet as a church have caught the ideals that inspire them. We do not see the visions that draw them. We criticize them, but we do not understand them. We do not know what they are aiming at. I tried to describe something of their aims in my sermon on Sunday. Some one in the newspapers was pleased to call it socialism. If that is socialism, then I say, God bless socialism. Is it not the ideal of the New Testament?"

The workingman wanted equality of opportunity. This was very different from the stereotyped socialistic doctrine. When the workingman asked this he only asked something God wanted him to have. Every man should have a chance to live a human life; with time for his mind and soul as well as for his body. He asked pathetically also a chance for his children, a ladder of education, so that the poorest in the land might climb up and take his place with the highest. Nobody in the country, said the bishop, had had its highest offices filled so often from the poorest class, as the Church of England.

Not Meant to Be Slaves. "That dream that has been in you for years, that the church has got to sympathize with. God never meant to enslave slaves. I claim that dream should be realized, and it can be realized only in my time," declared the bishop with emphasis. "I have lived for nine years in the middle of the slums, with only his thirty colleagues from Oxford. What stirred his heart was the two million with no room to live, two or three families in one room, with grown boys and girls, father and mother, and perhaps a workman also, because there was no place else. Did they wonder if one blood boiled at the impossibility of

EUROPE TO SHARE CONGRESS WITH AMERICA

Hinted That Great Catholic Demonstration Will Alternate Hereafter Between Old World and New, in Recognition of Progress of Church on This Continent.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Everything is in a forward state of preparation for the opening of the twenty-first Eucharistic Congress, and the first of the kind ever held on Canadian or American soil, although it is said that the pontifical legate will hint in his opening speech to-morrow evening that these congresses may alternate in future between Europe and America.

It is said, in fact, that the authorities at Rome realize that, while the church is losing ground in the Latin countries of Europe, a more active being made both in the neighboring republic and the Dominion is sufficiently satisfactory to permit the pope's representative throwing out the hint in question.

The legate spent to-day at the different religious establishments and spoke to the workers at Notre Dame this afternoon.

The talk of the town this morning was Father Bernard Vaughan's sermon in St. Patrick's yesterday. The famous London priest having declared that Protestantism was a soulless religion and that half of the English Protestants were going to Rome, and the other half to unbeliever.

Visited the Editor. This afternoon, the reverend father stroled into the Gazette office and interviewed Editor Kidd, who is a strict Presbyterian; yet he told the father that he had no fault to find with his sermon, as good Protestant doctrine demanded the man should state in the pulpit what he thought was truth. At this reply, Father Vaughan smiled and retired.

The great opening to-morrow at the St. James Cathedral will be one of the events of the week, as the legate will deliver his address in French, and reading the Pope's letter to the people, after which Mr. Bruchesi will reply on behalf of the congress.

It appears to be pretty certain that a red hat will come to Montreal, Archbishop Bruchesi, but it is not at all probable that the event will take place for some months at least. On Thursday, the cardinal will arrive in Montreal, and address the people in their own tongue, while the Mgr. of Montreal also speaks Italian, will also speak in that language.

Mgr. Bruchesi traveled extensively, personally inviting the leading prelates of America to attend the congress, and in this he has been successful. Purpose of the Meeting. The chief purpose of the congress are the reading and discussion of papers in explanation of the central dogma of the Roman Catholic Church—the real presence in the holy eucharist—for the information of non-Catholics and as a means of promoting among Roman Catholics a more active devotion to the mass and to the blessed sacrament. The church takes this day in a great and public act of faith, of proclaiming aloud the central dogma of the Roman Catholic Church—the real presence in the holy eucharist—for the information of non-Catholics and as a means of promoting among Roman Catholics a more active devotion to the mass and to the blessed sacrament.

The solemn procession of the blessed sacrament on Sunday next will be the crowning event of the gathering, and it will surpass anything that has hitherto taken place along those lines. The Fete Dieu, or Corpus Christi, procession is an annual event in Montreal, but the demonstration at this congress will be on much more extensive lines. The great procession, which will include thousands of prelates and priests, not to mention hosts of laymen, representing all the various societies of the Roman Catholic Church, will start from the Champ de Mars and wind its way up to the foot of Mount Royal, where an altar will be erected in a picturesque situation. There, with the tree-clad mountain for a background, the high dignitaries of the church will unite in celebrating with all its solemnity and grandeur one of the most solemn of the church's services.

The host will be carried thru the streets by the cardinal legate from Rome, representing his holiness the Pope. He will be flanked by a semi-military escort and police, not that there is any danger of its being disturbed, but to give the impress that the sacredness of the holy institution is entitled to all manifestation of power and protection of a temporal character, as well as its counterpart in religious significance.

HOW LABOR DAY WAS OBSERVED

Various Canadian Cities Honored the Toilers' Holiday Yesterday.

QUEBEC, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—The dignity of labor was upheld here to-day under the most trying climatic condition. In spite of the heavy showers that fell throughout the day the local trades and labor unions succeeded in carrying out a very successful program of labor demonstrations.

In the morning there was a big parade, in which about four hundred men marched in attractive uniforms, and with pretty and interesting floats. The prize for the best union in the parade was carried by the local union of moulders, who were about 75 strong, while the printers carried off second money. The Guelph Musical Society and Galt Klitjes' bands took part in the parade and gave concerts afternoon and evening in the winter fair buildings, where the big program of athletic sports was carried out.

Heaviest Rainfall in Years. WINNIPEG, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Drenching rain all day effectively doused all Labor Day celebrations and sports. Rain started about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon and has continued steadily ever since, varied by occasional cloudburst. It will be measured by inches for the twenty-four hours, and it looks like continuing all night. Reports from Manitoba and many other western points indicate general heavy rainfall to-day, and harvesting operations will be severely checked. Local old-timers claim it is the heaviest continuous fall for several years.

The Day at Quebec. QUEBEC, Sept. 5.—Favored by ideal weather, the celebration of Labor Day by the various labor unions was magnificent. There was this morning a grand procession of all the national unions and this afternoon a grand picnic on the fair grounds.

Enlarged Trades Unionism. BERLIN, Sept. 5.—Rain interfered with the tenth annual Labor Day demonstration here to-day. The program was partly carried out between showers, but the crowds were small. In the morning the 29th Regiment Band rendered a program on the market square, and Rev. E. Gilray of Brantford delivered a Labor Day address, in which he eulogized the advance made by trades unionism in recent years. The 19-mile road race was won by Wood of Ayr, with Westport of Waterloo second.

At Victoria Park, in the afternoon, a program of races was pulled off before the heavy downpour drove the spectators to places of shelter. The baseball match between Waterloo and Guelph was called off, as was also the evening band concert.

Labor Day in Montreal. MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—Labor Day was strictly observed as a holiday. The main feature was the Labor Day parade, in which about 10,000 participated. The procession passed off most successfully, there being a large turnout of spectators.

At the Capital. OTTAWA, Sept. 5.—Labor Day was much of a failure in the capital to-day, because of the weather conditions. The parade was good, and some 4,000 union men participated in it despite the downpour. The rest of the local attractions were sports.

Power Line is Ready.

At the test yesterday of the Ontario hydro-electric power line connecting with Berlin, nearly 170,000 volts were perfectly transmitted, and it is expected that consumers there will be supplied within a fortnight.

Between 5 o'clock Saturday morning and 2 a.m. Sunday, over 1200 danger signs were attached along the transmission, over a distance of 115 miles, a record performance.

NO NEED TO SPEAK RACE SUICIDE TO CATHOLICS

Father Bernard Vaughan Says, However, That if He Were a Protestant He Would Work Against It.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Speaking at the Monument National to-night Father Bernard Vaughan of London, England, again lived up to his reputation as a vigorous lecturer. "Character" was his theme, and he declared there was "too much slim, sleek and slopp." "We want people to suffer because of their character," he said. "The first of these was love of riches. He would not advise anyone to earn money. Get all you can, but do with all the good you can," he advised.

The three chief engravers of character were heredity, environment, and education. The last was the chief weapon on the church. The three "R's" should be subordinated to three "C's": Catholic education, in a Catholic environment, from Catholic teachers. At the same time Father Vaughan took an optimistic view of the future of the faith. Catholic were increasing, other denominations decreasing. If he were a Protestant he would work for all the was worth against race suicide, lest Catholics should gain possession.

But it was needless to talk to a Catholic audience of race suicide. In the first place when he had visited in Montreal he was overjoyed when the hall porter proclaimed himself the father of 13 children. "My grandfather," cried Father Vaughan, "went one better. He had twenty."

MAY EXPORT SOME POWER

Surplus Current at Fort Frances May Go to Minnesota. FORT FRANCES, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—"In this matter it seems to me that the position taken by the government is the best of all. The Rainy River is an international stream, and hence the power developed should be reserved for this side and one-half should be reserved for the other side."

This spoke Sir Wilfrid Laurier in addressing several hundred persons here this afternoon on questions of export of power into Minnesota. The civic address outlined a vigorous protest against the renewal of the license to export power, which terminates March next, and he called attention to the fact that the company had not fulfilled certain conditions. Sir Wilfrid said he was always glad to encourage relations between the two countries. His remarks seemed to indicate that a portion of the power developed on the Canadian side might be exported unless there was use for it. The board of trade presented a petition for locks at the town and Long Sault Rapids.

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS

DUNDAS MAN WINS THE HAMILTON ROAD RACE

The Weather Was Unfavorable the Labor Day Sports Were Pulled Off

HAMILTON, Sept. 5.—(Special).—Despite the heavy rain here to-day, the program of sports and other events drawn up by the Trades and Labor Council was pulled off almost entirely. Fourteen runners faced the pistol in the annual ten-mile road race in the morning. The winner turned up in Stephen Hindle of Dundas, an unknown. Eugene McCormick, I.C.A.C., was second, and Stuart Allen of St. Catharines, third. The winner's time was 37 min. 24 sec., which was considered good, as the track was very slow. Allen shot to the front at the start, and led to the Jockey Club. Hindle went ahead soon after the five-mile post was passed and he held it to the end. McCormick made a desperate attempt to catch the leader, but he had the race too well in hand.

The ten-mile bicycle race from Victoria Park to Aldershot and return, ten miles, was won by Norman Graham, D.B.C., Hamilton, five minutes start; W. Taamz, D.B.C., being second, and A. Albert Blake, D.B.C., third. The winner's time was 31 min (fifteen started).

The 100-yards race resulted as follows: Oberneser, A.M.C.; Humphrey, A.M.C.; Morgan, Time, 11 seconds. 400 yards race—W. Lee (attached), Morgan, Lowrie, I.H.A.C. Time 52 seconds.

The baseball game was won by the Emeralds, who played off with the Dominions. Score 10-4.

In the evening a concert was given in Association Hall, at which the prizes in the athletic games were presented.

During the day the Brotherhood of Painters held a convention, and marched to Victoria Park. Delegates from Niagara Falls and Lockport, N.Y., were present.

"Huckle", Braman, Hamilton's athletic policeman, has resigned from the force.

The Crown has decided not to hold an inquest into the death of Beatrice Stokes, who committed suicide on Saturday night.

COLLISION AT SEA.

Brazilian Steamer Run Down by Schooner, Which Disappeared.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—With her decks swept clear of lifeboats and rigging and her starboard rail and upperstructure raked fore and aft, the Brazilian steamer Tapajose to-day put into port bringing a tale of collision at sea and of the mysterious disappearance of the vessel causing it. The Tapajose left New York bound for various Brazilian ports—and when 35 miles southeast of Scotland Light suddenly came upon an unknown four-masted schooner bearing down upon her thru the fog. The schooner struck the steamer on the starboard bow, and her anchor fouled the Tapajose's fore rigging, which was torn away like so much paper. The supports of both upper and lower bridges were also swept away, together with the lifeboats and davits. The impact was such as to dent several of the steamer's plates.

The Premier's Home-Coming. OTTAWA, Sept. 5.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will arrive home on Wednesday afternoon, and there will be something of a home-coming offered him of a non-partial character.

AT THE THEATRES

At the Princess.

"Where the Trail Divides." In "Where the Trail Divides," which opened at the Princess Theatre yesterday, Robert Edeson has again essayed the difficult task of enlisting the sympathy of the audience for a half-breed American Indian, and it may safely be said that he has succeeded even better than in his former play of that type, "Strongheart."

The highest praise must be accorded Mr. Edeson for his splendid delineation of his part thruout the play. In appearance, speech and mannerisms he is perfect, while, in his capacity as author, he has been equally successful in the construction of a plausible story. His own lines, in the part of How Lander, the educated and civilized half-breed, could hardly be improved on.

To Eva Dennison, who plays the part of Bess, How's white wife, Mr. Edeson has given a very arduous task. It must be admitted that her lines in many places are decidedly prosy and unsuitable to the occasion, and all the more credit is therefore due her, in that she scores a decided triumph in the face of this difficulty. Never too demonstrative, she well succeeds in giving the necessary impression of intense feeling and unbridled vitality. Malcolm Duncan, as Craig, Bess's eastern lover and general reprobat, is also eminently satisfactory, especially in the last scene of all, where he appears as the polished and drunken villain, without verging in the least on the melodramatic.

The minor parts are quite satisfactorily filled, the Ship Camp, as the town marshal, achieves much greater prominence than is necessary for the plot. Charles Chappelle, as the adopted father of How and Bess, and Cordelia Macdonald, as the hotelkeeper, are both excellent, and Joseph Rawley, who "doubles" two highly diverse parts, makes a success in both. Geo. Barnum, as the storekeeper, is fair in his serio-comic efforts.

The crisis of the play occurs at the end of the second act, and Mr. Edeson has handled it magnificently. What might easily become cheap heroics he has made tense and thrilling, and so great is the effect of reality produced on the fall of the curtain gives one a distinct shock. It is evident that Mr. Edeson has devoted all his attention to the chief characters, as it is on their parts entirely that the success of the play must depend. Indeed, much irrelevant matter might well be excised, to give them more scope for their parts and to the chief plot. A minor plot running thru the piece only serves to distract, and is of little interest in itself. The ending of the amount being said and the rest left to the imagination. The setting and scenery are harmonious in every particular.

The piece received a wild ovation at its first performance yesterday afternoon, notwithstanding a delay of a full hour in starting, owing to a hitch in the arrival of the scenery. Mr. Edeson's curtain speech was neat and witty.

At the Royal Alexandra

"Carmen." The Bizet's ever fresh and tuneful opera has been heard in Toronto times almost without number. It is doubtful if "Carmen" has ever been heard here to better advantage from a traveling organization than in the rendering given it by the Aborn English Grand Opera Co., at the Royal Alexandra Theatre yesterday afternoon.

It is no disparagement to the singing or acting of the other members of the company, which is an exceptionally well balanced one, to say that Miss Louise Le Baron, in the title role, dominated the performance. In one of the most exacting roles in the repertoire of grand opera, a role demanding an unusual combination of dramatic ability and vocal execution, she has longed comparison with the great names associated with the part, playing it with a verve and abandon that was perfectly infectious. Paul Eysden, as Don Jose, showed himself possessed of a tenor voice of good quality and sang with true dramatic fervor. The climax in the last act between himself and Miss Le Baron, in which Carmen declares her love for Escamillo, the toreador, and is slain by Don Jose, she attempts to rush into the arena, was gripping in the dramatic tenseness and soul-satisfying in its glorious music, in which the nerve-thrilling melodies assigned to the protagonists of the tragedy stand out against the volume of the chorus from the bull-ring, acclaiming Escamillo victor, as letters of gold woven into the tissue of a tapestry of love and revenge.

It would be unfair to Miss Le Baron to omit mention of her singing of the haunting, "Thou Lovest Me Not," in the first act, and the castanet dance in act two, which she surely enough to ensure the heart of any man to forget home, duty and aught else, even if he were not Don Jose and the country not Spain. The appeal was irresistible.

As Escamillo, Harry Luckstone sang the toreador song in a smooth and finished manner, which evidently pleased the audience, as they insisted on a recall. It was a treat to watch the intensity of expression with which Miss Le Baron, as Carmen, followed every intonation of the singer's story.

Edith Helens displayed a fine soprano voice of bell-like quality and considerable flexibility in the rather short role of Micaela, the peasant sweet-heart of Don Jose.

The chorus did some good work, especially in the last act, and in the clearest smoking song for sopranos and altos, in act one. The music-scene was satisfactory, and the costumes very good indeed.

One thing, however, which one would like to enquire, is why is it that grand opera soldiers cannot, apparently, be taught to drill and march like the real article? The dragoons in "Carmen" would, in this respect, send cold shivers down the spine of a drill sergeant.

It was good to hear the opera sung in English, though it does bring rather more into relief the absurdities of the Italian school than if the original French had been used. Carmen, however, has far less of this than other operas, though it does make one rather want to laugh, to hear a corps of Italian soldiers march in a grandiose manner, and to see the captain of a certain local regiment, now across the scene, enquire recitative in a robust bass voice: "Is this building the factory where girls are employed in cigarette making?"

To-night's Program. To-night the Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Royal Alexandra will present Gaetano Donizetti's plaintively beautiful "Lucia di Lammermoor" with its richly melodious score, famous sextet, scintillating mad scene of Lucia and familiar tomb song of Edgar, and its dramatic libretto founded upon Sir Walter Scott's great novel, "The Bride of Lammermoor."

With Helens, who is announced for the title role, is heralded by the management as one of the most remarkable coloratura singers this continent has produced, and critics in other cities have styled her "the American Terzani." Other members of the cast for to-night are Domenico Russo, tenor, as Edgar; Harry Luckstone, bass, as Sir Henry; Geo. Shields, bass, as Elde-the-Bent; Hattie Belle Ladd, contralto, as Alice, and others, with Carlo Nicocia as conductor. Tomorrow afternoon "The Bohemian Girl" will be given, and to-morrow night "Il Trovatore."

At the Grand.

"The Man Between." "The Man Between," which Vaughan

Glaser and his famous company presented at the Grand last night, might be called a problem play were it not for the wholesome romance in it. Capital and labor in the old struggle; contrasting effects in the life of the rich and the poor; snobbishness as it only can appear on the stage, and a villain who is a villain in a mode in romances of presumably high life—all these are in the play, but dominating all are the love and the life of the hero, John Stoddard, civil engineer, consequently bridge builder, an ardent nature without a taint. Vaughan Glaser emerged as a star in that part last night, and as a story may be full of human interest, so made he the part.

With its romance as a golden thread thru the harrowing story of the human fight for dominance "The Man Between" won the deepest interest of a large audience. The story is thru the night and as a story may be full of human interest, so made he the part.

The second act, for which the audience had to wait 20 minutes, was a masterly bit of realism. The massiveness of the bridge was strikingly brought out, and the din of construction was so fortuitously, not long drawn out enough to deafen.

John Stoddard, the civil engineer, is building a bridge for a company of which himself, Van Nest, capitalist, of ancient family, is the dominant member. He has a daughter, Janet, Miss Fay Courteney's part, with whom Stoddard is in love, and it is thru this love that Stoddard finally wins arbitration for the bridge workmen, who had struck for higher wages, driven strike-breakers away and had brought down the troops upon them as the determining argument in the scale against them. Mr. Glaser was consistently powerful as the masterful man among the men, among whom he worked and for whom he worked. Miss Courteney was always graceful, and at times forceful.

The support given to the star and Miss Courteney was more than usually uniform. There was just enough humor, furnished to a large extent by Charles Carver, as Gerald Fitzgerald, one of the smart set, to lighten the play.

The plot of the play has been cleverly worked out, and the interest of the audience was held to the drop of the last curtain. Altho the performance was long, it moved along smoothly, and the denouement was kept well in hand.

"The Man Between" should prove a strong attraction for the Grand, judging by the audience which was present in which the audience received the play. Mr. Glaser being compelled to make a speech after the second act. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

At Shea's. La Pia in Magic Dances. La Pia, in a series of marvelously staged and exquisitely graceful dances, is the feature of an excellent bill at Shea's this week. The house was taxed to capacity at two performances yesterday.

La Pia's dances are like to those of the Fuller sisters, but have their own well defined individuality. She opens with "A Dance of Japan," and her entrance in this is something entirely new. Into a set of tinsel scenery and a wealth of bloom, the dainty little blonde is introduced in a great tinsel lantern. From this she emerges clad in a gossamer robe and gyrates gracefully thru the aisles and avenues of the very heart of a flower kingdom, followed by a myriad of varied lights. The action of this dance is rapid and sprightly and breathes the very essence of summertime.

The second number is an Oriental dance and is given in the same tinsel set, but the floor light is used and the action is languorous and seductive. In this La Pia wears a heavier garment and the lights are of heavier hues. She finishes with a graceful wing movement over the floor of light.

The fire dance is wonderful. Opening with a hovering splash of light toward which La Pia, in moth-like garb, is drawn, she turns to hover over the more brilliant floor-light. This she leaves and approaches again until her shimmering robe is touched by the fire. Then follows the struggle with the Good pianos that are regarded as first-class and to-day are as fine as they ever were, are not only out-classed but appear at a disadvantage when compared with the Courlay Piano, because of its greater achievements in construction and ton-quality.

See the Great New Feature in Sewing Machines at the "EATON" Exhibit in the Process Building

An entirely new idea in sewing machine construction is being shown at the "Standard" demonstration, and the first thought that strikes one—as in every other case of a simple, wonderful invention—is why didn't someone think of it before? It's called the "Central Needle Machine," and is shown on the "Standard" machine; the needle, instead of being away off to one side, which causes leaning and twisting, is directly in the centre. It's claimed that now a woman may sit upright, in a comfortable, easy position. The "Standard" Central Needle, as well as the "Standard," is the highest grade of machine shown to-day—We control its sale in Toronto and will be pleased to give further information regarding its many good points. See the demonstration of the "Standard" in the Process Building, and when in the store visit the Sewing Machine Section, 4th Floor, Centre.

See Eatonia Footwear Being Made at the Exhibition

One of the most interesting sights of the Exhibition, to many, is the manufacture of Eatonia Footwear in the Process Building, for here one may watch the evolution of the famous Eatonia from the cutting of the leather to the finished boot.

Each year in the manufacture of Eatonia has seen some important improvement in them; important changes have taken place in the making of footwear—even the machines of the famous Good-year welt system have been constantly improved and the Eatonia boots have been first to show these improvement changes, and in this exhibit there's a world of interest and information for every man, woman and child, for the machines installed and the methods employed represent the very latest and best thought of the shoe-making world. The Goodyear welt system makes the inside of the sole perfectly smooth and comfortable. The new Fall Eatonia are ready, and in the splendid display from which you may choose there's a selection that offers almost any style you could wish for, from the neat, very dressy boot or shoe for evening or party wear to the sturdy, comfortable, stylish footwear for street wear. Eatonia are made for men and women, all sizes, all at one price, per pair $3.00

The Art of Brass Piercing

Included in our extensive variety are lamp shades, candlestick holders, fern dishes, jardiniere, post-card racks, shaving pads, waste baskets, glove boxes, pipe racks, paper racks, blotter covers, whisk holders, jardiniere stands, umbrella stands, sewing trays, and dozens of other useful articles too numerous to mention here.

JACK JOHNSON AT THE STAR SAYS JEFFRIES WAS GAME

Nothing But White Man's Luck Kept Him in the Ring After the Punishment in Second Round.

Somebody threw a lemon at Jack Johnson, while the champion pugilist of the world was demonstrating his art on one of his sides at the Star Theatre, yesterday afternoon. When that part of his performance was over and Jack, at the bidding of a whirlwind of whistling and applause, stepped before the curtain, he showed himself almost as adept at verbal castigation as with his fists.

"I can't see beyond the footlights, and I don't know when it came from," said the champion, "but it's very easy for one man among hundreds to do it, when he wouldn't meet me face to face. I've always been very well treated in Canada by the well-educated and the fair-minded public, and I hold a warm spot in my heart for Canada, but a hum will be done in Canada, by whom he happens to be. But let that man, if he can, remember his home training, and try and do justice to it."

The champion spoke very little of that recent affair with Reno. What references he made to his late antagonist were couched in the most respectful and apparently sincere terms. He always spoke of "Mr. James J. Jeffries" as a fair fighter and a good boxer. There was no trace of bumptiousness whatever. He reminded the audience that he had to do more than any other pugilist to win his way to the front. When he fought "Mr. Burns," in Australia, and won, he had only gotten $5000 of the purse and the defeated man $30,000. Then he had fought the greatest middleweight, Ketchell, and after him Kaufman, and a host of lesser lights, until he became entitled to a bid for the highest honors in the sport—a fair fight and a good one.

Then the champion announced that he was going to fight his next antagonist against all comers and laughingly said he barred no one for creed or color.

"Nobody wants a phoney champion, and when a man is played out, he should step to one side and let the next best man to the front. And when the next battle takes place, may it be fought on its merits and not on the basis of a racial prejudice. I am including myself, would have stayed in the ring after the punishment he took in the second round, yet for 13 months he has been fighting me. Nothing but his courage and gameness kept him in his fight."

Then the champion announced that he was going to fight his next antagonist against all comers and laughingly said he barred no one for creed or color.

Johnson is the added attraction with the Rollitons' burlesque company, which is well-staged, nicely costumed burlesques, along the usual lines, but better adorned than the ordinary company, with pretty and charming comedians, singers and fun-making comedians.

Yesterday, afternoon and night, every seat in the big theatre was taken and prospects are for the same attendance for the rest of the week.

BIG PARADE IN LONDON. LONDON, Sept. 5.—Labor Day was celebrated in London by a parade of the labor men of London to Queen's Park, when a program of races and sports were carried out. Nearly 2000 men were in line, and the demonstration was by long odds the best ever held in London.

SHOT A YOUNG WOMAN. MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—A shooting affray took place in the east end of the city to-night, when a Pole, named August Jury, shot a young Polish woman named Schewan, with whom he was enamored, causing her death. The man then shot himself, and is now at the hospital in a critical condition. Jealousy was the cause of the shooting.

ALIX, Alta., Sept. 5.—(Special).—The inquest to inquire into the death of Hector Murray, contractor, who was apparently killed by Clarke Woods, a laborer, here on Wednesday last, brought in a verdict this morning charging Woods with the crime. TIME FOR THE CHURCH TO GET THE CONFIDENCE having decency? And yet girls, pure as a lily, and boys such as they could hardly believe about, came out of such places thru a mother's care.

"We have no right to give them such places to live in, only fit for dogs," he flamed. Picture after picture he drew of the horrors he knew. Perhaps there were bitter socialists, but none should forget the sights that stung them into bitterness, he remarked.

Canada, Land of Promise. Then he turned to Canada, almost a land of promise, with wages half as much more, with room for a hundred times as many people, and the same thing from those feld dens, he found room here to breathe and live.

He looked at the bonny children in Toronto and Halifax, and thought of the poor little dwindled children left behind in London. The paradise was not so complete, however. He would like to see large industries in places like Halifax and would tempt them to return of the opportunities. Why should there be six or seven hundred unemployed here? Why were labor exiles not better organized to move, labor to where it was needed? He would like more methodical immigration system.

"We must have Canada a great English-speaking race," he declared. He was certain that England could send as good men as could be desired, but something must be done in Canada. A little more care about finding meals for third-class passengers than in railway restaurants at exorbitant rates. A modification of the 28c rule concerning working men came out, he suggested. And he promised to use his influence to send only those to Canada who could work, and so make immigration a strength and not a weakness to the country.

The Workingman Himself. But there was a problem beyond all these things, the workingman himself. A great deal of cant was talked, as if workmen were different from others. He had lived with them in the past, and he would not be deceived. A little more care about finding meals for third-class passengers than in railway restaurants at exorbitant rates. A modification of the 28c rule concerning working men came out, he suggested. And he promised to use his influence to send only those to Canada who could work, and so make immigration a strength and not a weakness to the country.

The Social Evil. The social evil was discussed with frank and earnest words at the morning session of section A. Bishop Ingram said that at a church congress every question ought to be a burning question and they should be able to discuss them without burning one another. The Archbishop of York and he for five years had dealt with the question in London and received a right response from the men. They would not need all the rescue work if they got the men on their side.

Archdeacon Madden, Liverpool, denounced the devil's own lie that rescue work was condonance and fornication a necessity. If the laws against immorality were enforced they would be sufficient. In Liverpool they had proceeded against the landlords and 443 houses in one district were closed, and area being preserved for profligate men and all, they came from God and would go to God, and were here but for a few years. Man was a praying animal. The instinct for God demanded God as the fish water or the bird flight.

He dwelt on the special appeal of the church to its old members and to the young. He said that the child in Canada, where the schools gave no religious teaching, and the father should teach his son to pray. What a problem if the children were taken down under temptation because they had no spiritual strength to hold them up!

1200 CANINES ON SHOW

Fine Array of Dogs at the Exhibition Display.

In marked contrast to the quiet and dignified atmosphere when the aristocratic felines were on exhibit was the opening of the dog show yesterday. There were 1246 canines displayed, but from the volume of noise they made there appeared to be several times that number. A year ago there were about 1300 of them, but with the regulations preventing dogs from outside the muzzle area of Western Ontario from competing, the wonder was that the falling off was not more marked.

Classes judged yesterday were the Alredales, cooker spaniels, Boston terriers, Newfoundland and bloodhounds, and the three first-named were especially heavy in entries.

To other than the dog fancier, the array of dogs in their seemingly endless varieties was a revelation. Lean Russian wolfhounds, mild greyhounds, truculent looking bulldogs, black and white Dalmatians, woolly old English sheep dogs, sedate pointers, fluffy poodles; these were only a few of the impressive array and their plaintive howlings and yelpings voiced a real protest against the weather, man's anger and the whole scheme of the universe.

The show suffered in common with the whole fair in respect of attendance, but all afternoon there was a steady stream of visitors.

Death of Adam McMahon. LONDON, Sept. 5.—(Special).—The death occurred to-night of Adam McMahon, of McMahon, Grainger & Co., wholesale dry goods, aged 61. AT THE EXHIBITION BELL PIANO EXHIBIT Manufacturers' Building (Adjoining South Entrance)

Toronto Warerooms (Where duplicates of all Exhibition Samples may be seen) 146 YONGE ST.

It was a very wet day. Rain fell nearly inch and a half. Theatres Benefited.

Out-of-door pleasures were at a severe discount yesterday. Indeed, it hardly looked like a holiday at all until the rain ceased finally early in the evening. Traffic on the lake steamers was not much greater than the normal of exhibition time, the water being rough. The outside amusement resorts had a bad day.

The theatres, however, reaped a golden harvest at both performance. Every one of Toronto's six big playhouses had a large matinee audience, while standing room for the evening performances was called off long before 8 o'clock. It was at about that hour that Yonge-street became a sight to see. For half-a-dozen blocks from King-street north, there was hardly room for a newshy on either side-walk, and vehicular traffic had its trouble to keep moving on the road.

At least a hundred persons patiently waited outside each of the numerous nickel and dime moving picture shows in the Yonge-street region, while Shea's "Pop" vaudeville house had a crowd of over two hundred, biding their time until the lucky ones within should have their fill and emerge.

As for the merry parties who promanaded the street during the greater part of the evening, they were having a great time. Almost invariably the personal of each of these parties consisted of one man and one girl, and the general spirit was "Love them, and the World was Thiers."

The rain yesterday was general in Ontario along the lake and to the north. In the western part of the province, it was fair. The downpour in Toronto totalled nearly 1 1/2 inches of water. The street car track on Queen-street, east of the Woodbine became undermined, and the service was tied up during the afternoon.

Traffic at the Union Station was heavy.

Without a doubt the most forcible argument that could be offered to demonstrate the superiority of one canoe over all others is its adoption as the official canoe of all the great canoe clubs. The Sunnyside Cruiser, besides other 'Dean' makes, has a reputation that is envied by all other makers.

Machine That Makes Chocolate. Making chocolate candies may not possess quite the same charms as eating it, yet the process should not be without interest. A feature of the Huyler stand in the manufacturers' hall is the model of the plant used in the factory.

'Gay Paree' on Midway. The 'Gay Paree' show on the Midway is the most pretentious presentation of Paris in the city ever attempted. W. H. Smith, the proprietor, has gathered together a bunch of dancers and models who have a striking display of the very best and never fail to bring a laugh. Don't fail to visit this stupendous production.

Modern Genus. It would be hard, if not impossible, to conceive a more marvelous scale of power and substance in the light of electric weighing machines that you should not fail to see. The moment you place even the smallest fraction on the scales they light up so that you may clearly see the proper weight and value.

Nero Never Disappoints. You have probably several educated horses, but until you have witnessed the performance of Nero, the cleverest of the exhibition, you will not know what you are missing. Automobile News. Neither rain, mud or wind seems to have any effect on the attendance at the automobile show at the exhibition. A remarkable coincidence is that a large contingent of automobile experts from the States, the writer discovered several well-known automobile manufacturers and manufacturers of accessories among the throngs who were in attendance yesterday.

These celebrated motor cars make a fine appearance. The Dominion exhibit is a photograph of the magnificent cars, and the consolation of the exhibitors is that they will appear in the Sunday World.

Notwithstanding the rain, the E. M. F. exhibit continued to be the centre of attraction, and the usual large crowds were seen. The exhibitors are a large number of local automobile men, a number of prominent out of town dealers were in attendance.

The Dominion Automobile Co. of Toronto, under Manager Thompson's direction, have remodeled their exhibit to show the magnificent Peerless Limousine car of splendid advantage, and the new motor truck made by the Ardmore, Pa., firm.

Notes. A number of distinguished automobile men were in attendance at the exhibition yesterday. Mr. F. E. Fisher, assistant general manager of the E. M. F. Motor Car, Detroit, arrived in Toronto yesterday morning on a tour of inspection.

BABIES PUZZLE DOCTORS TO PICK OUT WINNERS

Too Many Real Good Ones Were Shown, But Seven Medics Managed to Make Awards

Cry babies, shy babies, babies with close-cropped heads, and babies with hair curled most enticingly and adorned with cute ribbons, babies of bewitching plumpness and babies of willowy architecture, in fact, it was a bewildering array of all sorts of babies, over 300 of them, at the baby show in the women's rest building at the exhibition yesterday afternoon.

As market reports say, not only were receipts heavy, but the quality was good. The building was so crowded with good that the seven well-known local medical men declared with one accord that an attempt to give perfectly just awards would require the waiting resources of Solomon or Machiavelli.

'Never before have I seen such a collection of fine babies,' declared one of the seven, 'but the quality was good. The building was so crowded with good that the seven well-known local medical men declared with one accord that an attempt to give perfectly just awards would require the waiting resources of Solomon or Machiavelli.'

The show wasn't carried on under the most advantageous conditions. Luckless that the rain had been so heavy, the show was rich in mud and not desirable as a standing place. The judging was done in the building, and many had flushed and anxious mothers with their offspring, officials, nurses and reporters were permitted to enter. The show was a success, and the prize winners were awarded.

It wasn't necessarily the prettiest babies that were picked out as winners. It was their features, countenance, but there were other considerations than comeliness and apparel. They were weight, physical development, condition of teeth, hair, and the probability of being healthy adults.

Naturally, there were some fond mamas who just couldn't see why Clifford or Gladys, or any of the other babies, were superior in physical and mental endowments to all the other entries in the class, and they said so, or words to that effect. Many a building agent, Aprodito had to give place to a chubby infant, whose tape measurements impressed the medics—both the owners of the defeated candidates and the medics themselves—knowing that baby show judges never do make the right selections anyway.

Then there's the Simpson's are up-to-date. They have no old goods to palm off on you. Everything fresh and new, the latest patterns and weaves direct from the looms of the world. In the store, whether it's the care of your parcels, the satisfying of your appetite, or the assistance of your choice of goods, is cheerful and painstaking. While You're in the City, Don't Forget the Home and What it Needs

On our Fourth Floor you will find the best appointed Drapery Department in Canada. The stock speaks for itself; a big new shipment of French Upholstery Fabrics from the world's foremost manufacturer of these goods, has just been opened up, and includes some remarkable reproductions of antique Tapestries.

Colonial Drapery Fabrics are so superior to any other line of Silkaline, Cretonne, Taffeta, Denim, Sateens, etc., that a comparison is difficult. The prices are astonishingly small when the art value of the goods are considered; indeed they are not more than you pay elsewhere for ordinary printed drapery fabrics. The sale of colonial drapery fabrics is exclusively ours for Toronto.

The SIMPSON Company Limited

Our Carpet Department is also on the fourth floor. Here you'll find an assortment of Wilton and Axminster Rugs so closely resembling genuine Persians, that they are often mistaken for such. These you will not find in any other store in Canada. If you are interested in real Oriental Carpets you will know how scarce Bokharas are. Our stock of fine large pieces is by far the largest and best in Canada. They are displayed in a specially arranged section of the Carpet Department, which is full of carefully selected Eastern floor coverings, very reasonably priced. It's worth your while to spend an hour on the fourth floor, even if you do not wish to buy.
