though he was opposed to the measure he would never agree to the extension of dominion jurisdiction in cases where provinces were well within their rights. Messrs. Haggart and Wallace followed. The latter argued that in the event of loss in operating the road Manitoba could come in and on the ground that the federal parliament endorsed the cheme claim remuneration from the dominion treasury.

Mr. Richardson asked at 11 o'clock to have the discussion go over, but neither Laurier nor Borden would agree to this. Already four days have been spent in trying to reach the final stage, and the premier intimated that the opponents to the measure had decided to talk it out, and stated that the house would continue to sit.

The whole time of the house tonight was devoted to a discussion of the Manitoba railways.

The bill was finally read a third time and passed.

part of harbors, rights along the latter waters being reserved to the dominion. In view of the far reaching effect of the passage of the bill such as that submitted by St. John, the delegates were asked to refrain from seeking a direct grant from the dominion. Under this condition the government will pass a bill and make a grant, subject to the concurrent legislation being enacted by provincial legislature. The reason for the arrangement is that the decision as to whether the foreshores formed a part of the main harbor could only be reached by taking the case into court.

HALIFAX FEELS BADLY

Secause the Duke of Cornwall and York
Will Land at Quebec.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 13.—Governor Jones received word today that the Duke of Cornwall and York would not make his first landing on the American continent at Halifax, but that he would land at Quebec instead on the date proposed for Halifax—Sept. 15th. The duke and his party will make Halifax their point of departure, either for New York or Europe, as may later be determined. The reason assigned for this change in the fitnerary is that the royal party think it better to get their western trip over before the weather becomes too dool. The chief reason, however, is that the departure from Quebec so late in the season would subject them to a voyage through the Gulf of St. Lawrence when navigation has become less plea-HALIFAX, N. This change is very disappointing to Halifax people, who were planning on having the Duke of Cornwall and York open his bill of fare in this city.

If the sale is not made it is likely amicable arrange-ments will be made that will allow Mr. Reid to continue the development.

The stage driver said the man who held the horses was an Indian, and he also believes he could recognize one of the others, of whom he thought there were four in all. The fact that Mr. Johnson, who encountered four men at Bunkerbrook today, described one of the men as an Indian, leads to the belief that they are the same quartette that took part in the hold up of the Williamantic stage. That the men were intoxicated strengthens the belief, as the stage robbers secured a considerable quantity of liquor in the express package.

The only connection between these four men and the Shirely tragedy, so far as now known, is that they were the only strangers known to be in this vicinity at the time of the crime, and in their intoxicated condition they might have indulged in excesses beyond men in their right senses.

Party Before Country is Mr. Mulock's Motto.

The Post Office a Cog in the Wheel of the Grit Political Machine-Mr. Monk and the Valleyfield Strike.

OTTAWA, May 7.-When Mr. Mulock first took over the manage of the post office department he pro mised to do many things which he has eft undene. He pictured to the country a day when the postal service would cost little or nothing in the way of taxation beyond the actual revenue derived from the conduct of the service itself. He was one of a num ber of gentlemen, in opposition pre vious to 1896, who delighted to tall But now that he is in office, he, like Sir Richard Cartwright, has forgotten his piedges for reform, and not only has he followed the footsteps of his predecessors, but he has endeavored to go one better. Like the high sounding promises of his colleagues, his were hollow mockery, and today there are many things about Mr. Mulock's management of the post offic department which are open to con-

Mr. Mulock, evidently dissatisfied with the license given him in regard to the renewal of contracts, proposed to take unto himself power to renew contracts for eight years instead o four years. The present law provide that "no contract shall be entered that "no contract shall be entered into for a longer term than four years, but the postmaster general may, in special cases, when, in his opinion, under an expiring contract, and on conditions advantageous to the public interest, renew the same with the same contractor for a further term not exceeding four years."

The bill introduced by Mr. Sutherland on behalf of Mr. Mulock, had it land, on behalf of Mr. Mulock, had i become law, would enable the pos office department to practically make a contract for mail services for six feen years. The wording of the was such that it was am ous and not only did it give the pos master general authority to renew contract for a period of eight year but the initiative term of contract wa also open to be interpreted as bein eight years. This was such a radic eparture from all previous opinion oppressed by the heads of the post of fice department that it was ng. It meant that the ma surprising. It meant that the man service already used for political pur-poses, would become a strong weapon in the hands of unscrupulous politi-cians. It meant that the party heelwho had worked in the interests of government could be rewarded for g periods and that much difficulty ers who had worked in the long periods and that much difficulty would be met with in case it was considered desirable to change a mail

A number of the opposition si on the question, and in all parts of the country it seems there is a tendency on the part of the governmen to make the post office a cog in the wheel of the grit political machine. Mr. Hackett, the member for West Prince, called attention to an experi ence that one of his constituents had in dealing with the post office department. The elector's name is Kehoe, and he happens to be a conservative. He had been performing the duties in connection with carrying the mails on one of the routes in West Prince. So satisfactory was his work that the post office department awarded him the contract for an additional four the contract for an additional four years, and he furnished the bonds, which were satisfactory, for the faithful discharge of his duties. A month later, however, it transpired that Mr. Kehoe was a conservative and he was promptly replaced by a liberal, who was given an increase of 40 per cent. in payment for the work. Mr. Kehoe had invested in wagons and other paraphernalia necessary to carother paraphernalia necessary to carry out his part of the contract, and ry out his part of the contract, and he was therefore considerably out of pocket by the change in front on the part of the post office department; while the country is the loser of the additional price paid Mr. Kehoe's successor. On principle, Mr. Hackett contends that this is not the proper way to transact business, and he maintains that to ruthlessly take away from a person, whose only fault is that he is a conservative, work acquired under contract, is not treating the people of Canada as they should quired under contract, is not treating the people of Camada as they should be treated. Without inviting public tenders and for the sake of helping party followers, the post office departmen is wasting thousands of dollars annually in keeping up the mail service in the different provinces.

disregard is shown for the principle that no contract should be let without tender. But it serves the political end and that end is to keep this govern-ment in power. That only policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers will be carried out to the bitter end out rewards there could be no grit heelers. Without heelers there would be no machine, and without the machine where would the power be?
The proposition submitted to the thouse by Mr. Sutherland simply gave the post office department greater the post office department greater scope along these lines. Instead of scope along these lines. Instead of preventing corruption in connection with this service, it would simply mean that it would be increased ten fold because there would be an incentive to apply for a contract which would have its life doubled. Accordingly the clause opposition insisted that the clause should be struck out and leaving the

In connection with the cancelling o contracts by the post office department there has arisen what R. L. Borden submits is a public scandal. For right have been filed with the post-master general asking permission on behalf of the petitioners for the issue the petitioner suffered argely by the abrogation of his contract without due warning and after he had invested a considerable sum of he had invested a considerable sum of money in preparing to carry out his part of the bargain. There is no doubt, that had these gentlemen been parties to private contracts, in some instances at least they could have recovered damages for breach of contract. But Mr. Mulock takes advantage of his position as minister of the crown and refuses to grant that justice which is the inherent right of every Ertish sub. refuses to grant that justice which is the inherent right of every British sub-ject. Although he has been frequently urged to announce his decision in these cases, Mr. Mulock hides behind his prerogative and snaps his fingers at those who have been made to suffer as a result of transactions into which they were innocently led. The leader of the opposition submits that these cases are proper cases for the ex-chequer court. "If the crown had no legal right to cancel these contracts, legal right to cancel these contracts and the postmaster general was wrong in doing so, then the crown should accept responsibility for that, these men should not be kept waiting without an answer. It is a matter which well deserves the attention of the acting postmaster general, and if the circumstances are as I believe them to be, there should be no furen a flat if they ask for it." That is the fair play, common sense view of the case held by Mr. Borden and it seems to be high time that the sup-posed framers of justice should be willing to abide by a decision of the courts which distribute it.

Another practice of the post office department is to award a mail contract to the lowest tenderer and in case that gentleman is a conservative, to immediately call it in and make a As this has been done all over the country and higher prices are being paid in many sections of Can-ada, it is not to be wondered at that Mr. Mulock had to announce his big deficit of last year. Hon. Wm. Ross nember for Victoria, N. S., did not like to hear such matters discussed in parliament and he objected to a speech made by Mr. Hackett. The member for West Prince is one of the most faithful representatives of the people sitting in the house today. At the last election the manipulators of the grit machine stole a ballot box which showed a majority of 33 for Mr. Hackett. But despite that fact the would-be victim escaped and is in parliament today to expose the scandals which have arisen in his part of Canada. He has done this so effectually that Mr. Ross wants to put on the that Prince Edward Island has too many grievances and insists that the member for West Prince shall emulate the representative of Victoria, and vote blindly at the dictation of his leaders. Mr. Ross may have as good cause for complaint as Mr. Hack-ett, but he certainly must not blame the latter if he (Hackett) shows so much commendable conscientious zeal in discharging his parliamentary

OTTAWA, May 8 .- On April 3rd, Mr. Monk, the member for Jacques tive is admitted to membership. Mr. Cartier, made a complaint to the Loy, the liberal representative of the house on behalf of the people of Valharnois, that grave irregularities had existed in regard to the strike at that place last October, and that the trouble had been prompted for pol-itical purposes. Mr. Monk, who is one of the most highly respected members of the present house, gave parliament distinctly to understand that in setting forth such allegations as he had brought to their notice, he was making no direct charge but was bringing to the attention of parliament a matter which would well bear the light of investigation. On April 25th Mr. Loy, the member for Beau-harnois, again brought the question into the house and denounced Mr. Monk's charges as groundless and he demanded that an apology was due to those against whom they had been made. Mr. Loy produced certain af-fidavits to show that one Damase Tessier, a foreman in the Valleyfield Cotton Works, was responsible for the strike. Mr. Loy was followed by the prime minister, the acting minister of labor (Mr. Sutherland), and others on the government side, all of whom condmned Mr. Monk, for presuming to call public attention what he considered was a scandal. Mr. Monk promised, in reply, to produce evidence to substantiate his duce evidence to substantiate his charges, and yesterday he was as good as his word.

It will be remembered that when this question was last up for discussion, Mr. Monk asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier to appoint a commission to enquire into the facts of the case. Th eader of the government, however eclined to interfere, although Ma Monk's request was seconded by Mr Loy, one of Sir Wilfrid's own follow ers. Indeed, Sir Wilfrid on that oc casion was rather inclined to lecture Mr. Monk on his conduct. But the member for Jacques Cartier is not easily turned aside from his purpose so yesterday he first replied to Sir Wilfrid.

Mr. Monk claims that the premie Mr. Monk claims that the premier acted unwisely when he refused to appoint a judge to enquire into the history of the Valleyfield strike. The member for Jacques Cartier did not ask that the government should name a commission similar to those which have been wasting their time in different parts of Canada, but suggested ferent parts of Canada, but suggeste the name of Judge Belanger, a man who would have been perfectly competent to conduct the enquiry in a way that would ensure a fair hear-ing to both sides. But the government has no idea of allowing this case be exposed by a public enquiry, an so they have contented themselves by abusing Mr. Monk and asking for apologies, which they have no right to

When the matter was brought up by Mr. Loy, the government were guilty of another breach of parliamen tary etiquette. Mr. Monk, who is the party most interested in the discusthe issue intended action until he heard the may be member for Beauharnois criticising him in the house. Mr. Monk claims he did. To place the mildest interpre-that this was not British fair play, and even if Sir Wilfrid Laurier is British refer to it as a departure from the to the core, that on that occasion he forgot some of the traditions of the British race. Mr. Monk claimed that not only should a man be not abused for bringing such a matter to the attention of parliament, but he should be encouraged in discharging what he (Monk) believed to be the duty of every member of parliament. It is the bounden duty and the privilege of every member of the Canadian parliament to lay any matter before it, so long as the presentation is fit and proper language. Therefore he urged that in endeavoring to block such discussions the government were acting improperly.

Since coming into power in 1896, the Laurier government has dismissed scores of government employes for no other reason than that the disch nen were conservatives. Mr. Monk called attention to one case where a man who served 20 years in the employ of the government was dismi for no other reason than that his name was on the voters' list. Another ap pointe of the Mackenzie governme man suffering from an infirmity with a family of nine children dep ing upon him, was sent about his bust ness in order that a government freele might be rewarded with a situation But the government in such cases they have in this case, where Mr. King, the deputy minister of labor, and other government employes were used of active political partisanship Here is an instance where ministers of the crown, in the face of strong evidence, treated members who had simply done their duty in a most unfair manner. These same ministers in the case of some employe of th government whose standing in his de-partment might not be so high as that of Mr. King, are perfectly willing to in order that men might be dismissed and that the informers might secure the positions opened up. Yet when esponsible member of parliament, who is willing to give his name, gets up in his place in the house and makes fair and plain statement of fact, is roundly abused for his trouble. That is the principle under which the Laurier administration deal out fair play. An unknown heeler has apparently far greater weight than one of the representatives of the people.

Mr. Monk produced evidence, sworr to by reliable residents of Valleyfield to show that the strike among the mployes of the Dominion Cotton Co. was agitated and called into existence simply to bring to the support of the present representative for Beauharnois the workingmen employed in those mills. The trouble started among a lew laborers employed in the construc-tion of a foundation. Among the mil hands proper there was no grieval and there would have been no trou if the military had not been or to Valleyfield. Now the gentlemen responsible for sending the militia among the strikers are the officers of a society in Valleyfield, which has as its primary object the canvassing of votes for the liberal party. Under the rules of the association no conservative is admitted to membership. Mr. constituency, is an honorary member. employe of the government, who holds a positon on the Lachine canal. The president, vice-president and treasurer are also grits. In not one instance can it be said that the officers of the society are laboring men. They have nothing in common with the labor world and are active grit heelers. The affidavits of the working men of the Valleyfield mills show that Damase ressier, who was blamed by Mr. Loy for causing the trouble, did his best to preserve order, and had his counsel prevailed the trouble would have been

In Louis Bertrand, however, the people of Valleyfield found a fire-brand. That gentleman never rested until he had the militia sent to Valleyfield and had brought the soldiers and employes of the mills into violent col-lision. In the meantime Mr. Bertrand, ploye was corresponding with the de-partment of labor and carrying on ne-gotiations in which he had no other than a political interest. Mr. Bertrand induced Mr. King, the deputy minister of labor, to go to Valleyfield, but the latter did not arrive until all the trouble had been settled. While in Valleyfield, Mr. King, according to an affidavit produced by Mr. Monk, visited Mr. Loy, Mr. Bertrand and other with healess. We also want to the Cellgrit heelers. He also went to the central liberal committee rooms, and it was not until late in the evening that he met the employes, who were then at work in the mill, quite satisfied with the way their employers had acted.

Mr. King, although he may be a very promising young man, is certainly not a very modest one. On his return from Valleyfield, as editor of the Labor roubles of that place, in which he an-ounced that he had settled the diffinounced that he had settled the diffi-culty between the employers and em-ployes. Not one tota of credit was given by Mr. King to the militia, who did service at Valleyfield, but if the reports of the strikes filed with the minster of militia can be believed, then it was Colonels Roy, Ibbotson and Labelle who by their moderation and tact induced the men to return to work, and thus put an end to the trouble. The strikers objected to the presence of the militia in Valleyfield, and, appreciating the difficulty of arriving at a satisfactory conclusion while men were kept under arms, the commanding officers of the several quotas sent to Valleyfield, returned their men to Montreal as soon as pos-

As a matter of fact, the strike was settled on October 28th, while Mr. King did not reach Valleyfield until October 29th. The first thing he did on arriv-ing at the scene of disorder, in Mr. Monk's opinion, did not show that he had acted in a disinterested manner Instead of calling upon the politics orkers of the liberal party, Mr. Monk claims that Mr. King should have gone direct to the men or their employers As a person occupying a judicial posi judgment in adopting the course that refer to it as a departure from the prudence which an officer employed by the government should exercise while on a mission such as that which engaged the attention of Mr. King.

It may be a coincidence that the members of this Valleyfield labor or ganization are all grits, but in the face of evidence to show that no conservative can be admitted as a member the association, the coincidence story loses weight. There can be no doubt that this labor union was started by the leading liberals of Valleyfield, with a view of controlling the votes of the residents in that place. It matters not whether a candidate for membership be interested in labor or not, so long as he is a politician of the right stripe. If he is, the doors are thrown open to him without question.

The defence of Mr. King consisted of an affidavit signed by that young gentleman denying the allegations of Mr. fonk. The language was so strong that the speaker was unwilling to accept it as parliamentary. Mr. Tarte lso came to Mr. King's rescue, and iced Mr. Monk in the strongest inguage. He submitted that any genwho misstated a case in parliaent should at once apologize for his nduct. The minister of public works claims that under no circum-stances should a member of parlia-ment be excused from the responsibility of his remarks in the house. the leader of the opposition, called Mr. Tarte's attention to evidence given before the Drummond Railway committee on April 28th, 1898. On that day, Mr. Tarte, while on oath, stated that he had misinformed the house in regard to the purchase of his newsaper, La Patrie, but three years have elapsed since then, and still Mr. Tarte has failed to file his apology for prevarieating in the house. Mr. Monk, on the other hand, has proved every statement he made. The public will be the est judge as to the person from whom J. D. McKENNA.

G. Sydney Smith offered the following resolution, which was carried:

Resolved, That the society at this meeting convened for this purpose, desire to express however, inadequately, its deep regret at the loss which not only the bench and bar of the dominion, but the country generally has sustained in the death, at a comparatively early age of the Hon. George Edwin King, LL. D., D. C. L., one of the ablest and most highly respected judges of the supreme court of Canada. In addition to his being richly endowed by nature with a broad, fair and comprehensive mind, Judge King developed early in life qualities as a legislature of the province and at an unusually early age caused him to be selected to fill the high and important offices of attorney general and premier of New Brunswick, in which positions he initiated and carried to a successful issue legislation of great moment, the intensity of the discussion of which at the time, can now be scarcely realized, notably, among which was the bill providing for the system of free public non-sectarian schools which this province now enjoys.

Positive, determined, unyielding in his convictions, but withal affable and courteous in his demeanor, his efforts in the public interests were nearly all cases crowned with success. His talents and learning, for he was a learned and erudite lawyer, and aman of broad general scholarship, caused him to be called to a seat on the bench of this province at an early age, and his marked success in that position end great ability which he ever displayed in the discharge of his duties, led to his elevation to the more distinguished position of a judge of the highest appelate court in Canada, the responsible duties of which he performed with great satisfaction to the members of the bear of Canada and the public generally.

Judge King had moreover great literary and artistic taste, and was a lover of everything good in the realins of art and literature. Courteous in manner, and affable in demeanor in both public and private life, he made many ing resolution, which was carried:

It was decided to send a copy of the address to Mrs. King. G. S. Smith, A. H. Hanington, A. C. Fairweather, S. Alward, A. I, Trueman, E. T. C. Know-les, R. McLeod, T. P. Regan were ap-pointed to meet the body at the depot. It was also decided to attend the fun-

CAPTAIN SMITH DEAD.

The ell Known Marine Examiner Died

HALIFAX, N. S., May 10.—Captain W. H. Smith, R. N. R., wreck commissioner and examiner for masters and mates, is dead.

This morning he sat down to breakfast as usual. Mrs. Smith had been called away to answer a telephone call. When she returned she found her husband had fallen back in his chair, dead. After retiring from the royal navy, Capt. Smith for years was mas-ter of the Allan liner Parisian. His father fought under Nelson at Trafalgar.

Capt. Smith was the son of the late commander John S. Smith, R. N., one of Netson's officers at the bettle of Trafalgar. He was born at Prospect Ho., Broadstairs, Kent, Eng., in 1838, and educated at the Commercial college, Canterbury, and at the Royal Naval college, Greenwich, Eng. He entered the Allan steamship service during the progress of the civil war. He was present at some of the engagements between the Russians and the allied forces, and was with the fleet at the bombardment of Kin-Suhsequently he commanded the Allander and the Circasthe Russians and the allied forces, and was with the facet at the bombardment of kinburn. Subsequently he commanded the Allan steamers St. George, Hibernian, Circassian, Peruvian, Sardinian, and Parisian, and succeeded Capt. Wylie as commodore of the Allan fleet. He was appointed a lieutenant in the royal navy reserve Jan. 24, 1867, and on leaving the steamship service was appointed to his last office, chairman of the board of examiners of masters and mates, commissioner for enquiring into wrecks, and one of the nautical advisers to the government of Canada. Capt. Smith was a Fellow of the Royal Geological society, and an honorary member of the council of the Mercantile Marine Service association of Liverpool. He compiled a table of distances between ports in Europe and Canada and the United States, and has written on the subject of the fast Atlantic mail project. A member of, and a lay reader in, the Church of England, he married in 1874 Marion Becker, daughter of Rev. L. F. Thomas, B. A., formerly chaplain to the Earl of Galloway.

FISH DYNAMITERS.

Capt. Pratt Says No Dynamiting in Territorial Waters-A New Device for Catching Pollock.

(St. Andrews Beacon.) There have been so many complaints especting dynamite fishing around Frand Manan, lately, that the Beacon felt constrained to ask Capt. Pratt 10. an interview on the subject on wed-

The captain, who had just returned rom a trip to the island, stated that the stories respecting dynamite fishing within the three-mile limit off Grand Manan were untrue. Some fishing of this kind had been done outside territorial waters, where, of course, lock school close to shore, but at this season of the year the schools are farther away, hence the schools are farher away, hence the dynamiters can sue their avocation without hind-

Capt. Pratt says that the men are dynamiting are not villamous cut-throats, but intelligent, law-abiding citizens, who think that they have a right to resort to this method of catch-ing fish. Now that the Canadian government has declared the Old Proprie tor ledge a headland, the captain is of as the men who are engaged in it do Death of Dexter D. Brownell, I. C. R. Con not wish to lay themselves open to a charge of violating the law.

Capt. Pratt states that this season the pollock fishermen of White Head Island have adopted a new device for catching fish. It seems quite as successful in its results as dynamiting without any of the objections which arise from the explosions. William Morse was the first man to start the idea, but ".ewis Frandland has improved upon it and has applied for patent rights.

The new device is in the nature of a bagnet, with open mouth. From either side a wing projects. These wings are made fast to two boats, and the trap is either held in front of the school for the fish to swim into or it is dragged through the school. One drag resulted in the catching of 400 fish; another yielded 315. Much, of course, depends upon the capacity of the trap and the size of the school. Pollock are not a very intelligent fish, and will swim straight into a trap. It is not unlikely that this method of catching pollock will supersede the dynamite method, though there are many fishermen who declare that it is nothing more nor less than a purse seine, The new device is in the nature of a ing more nor less than a purse seine and, therefore, illegal in waters.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, May 10.—In the house of commons today John Dillon (nationalist) moved an adjournment in order to call attention to the seizure of The Irish People. Mr. Dillon complained that the action of the authorities was grossly illegal, and asked whether it was due to the attack on Mr. Wyndham, the chief secretary for Ireland, or the attack on the King. Mr. Wyndham replied that it was owing to the attack on the King. Continuing, Mr. Dillon said he was not concerned to defend the violence of the attack, but any seizure should have been done through the courts. Far more violent attacks on Queen Victoria had been made in the English papers without their being seized. The present action was a blow to the liberty of the press.

Wm. Redmond (nationalist) seconded the motion, characterizing the article complained of as a very proper and patriotic attack on the conduct of the chief secretary.

After John Redmond (nationalist) had commented on the policy of the government's action in seizing The Irish People, which would simply have the affect of fastening attention on the article of The Irish People, many copies of which were in the pockets of members then in the house and many of which had gone to America, Mr. Balfour, the government leader, denied that the government was attacking either the freedom of the press or legitimate Irish agitation. He asked: Was the publication of an obscene libel a necessary weapon for the nationalist? The epithets he could employ were too strong to describe this foul and poisonous article. No man in that house could expect any government to allow an act of such gross indecency to be committed with impunity.

John Burns (socialist) expressed the opin-gross indecency to be committed with impunity.

John Burns (socialist) expressed the opination that if the article had been submitted to the King he would have smiled and thrown it into the waste paper basket.

Mr. Wyndham in defending the seizure declined to "soil his lips with reading the attack on the King which constituted seditions libel, or to wound the feelings of millions by propagating the outrageous, gross and scurrilous lies of the article."

The motion for an adjournment was defeated by a vote of 252 to 64.

N. B., via Eastport, Lubec and Portland, was in collision six miles to the westward of Seguin Light, with a twomasted schooner early this morning. Immediately after the collision the schooner was lost sight of in the fog. The steamer was not badly damaged Captain Allan states that his vesse was proceeding at the rate of about 12 knots an hour when the lookout suddenly discerned a small two-master schooner off the starboard bow, heading in a southerly direction, and apparently trying to pass the steamer's ow. The engines were scopped, but he vessel was less than 100 feet away and a collision could not be averted. The schooner's jibboom first struck the starboard light of the steamer, but did not break the connections, although the framework was bent. She next struck the boat davit abaft the light, bending it, and the captain believe carrying away the schooner's jibboom The next place of contact was near the stern of the steamer, where the schoon-er's bowsprit punctured the woodwork in two places, carried away six wooder stanchions and a considerable portion of the rail, and damaging the hurricane PORTLAND, Me., May 10.-The three-masted schooner Paul Seavey, Captain Chase, New York to Hallowell with coal, was struck by the steamer Cumberland of the International line early this morning, and sustained considerable damage. The steamer was uninjured and continued on her way without stopping. The schooner later was picked up by the tug Demerest and towed to this port, where she will make repairs. Captain Chase said:

"It was very foggy when our look out saw the steamer rushing through the mist, headed so that she would strike us squarely amidships. We rang our fog bell and shouted, but the steamer was very close when those on board heard us, and put her wheel hard down. If it had been three or four seconds later they would have sunk us beyond a doubt. As it was, she sheered off and took us on the port bow, cutting away the jibboom ose to the vessel's hull.

"We lost two jibs and quite a lot of rigging. The tug came along just in time and towed us to port. We did not know the steamer, but I thought likely it might be the Cumberland, so I communicated with the International office here and found that she had reported The Seavey was making some water and it was decided that she will have to be towed to Hallowell unless re-pairs are made here.

W. C. Whittaker on Saturday even ing received a despatch saying Dr. Colter was very much improved and resting fairly easy. H. C. Tilley, who was at Petitcodiac, Saturday, informed the Sun that Dr. McDonald told him that Dr. Colter was out of danger. He had not received any internal injuries.

W. A. West, of Hopewell Hill, Al bert Co., who was one of the few passengers on the Eigin and Petitodiac train at the time of the accident arrived home on Friday, having pretty well recovered from his injuries. Mr. West informed the Sun's correspondent that the accident was probably due to the spreading of the rails from the weight of a heavily laden car, which left the track, dragging the baggage and passenger cars after it. He was standing in the aisle when the car went over the bridge and was thrown on his head, the impact stunning him for a time. When he recovered con usness, he hastened to the assistnce of Dr. Colter, who had alighte heavily across the fender of the stove, the doctor from the car. Both of Mr West's wrists were badly strained, but be considers himself fortunate in getting off without more serious injuries.

(Religious Intelligencer.) The rapidity with which people for get dates is illustrated by the follow-ing incident: An editor who was traveiling with several other gentlemel ventured to inquire of an acq if he could carry his mind so far back in English history as to remember the date of the death of her late Majesty Queen Victoria. Not only did the gen-tleman accosted fail to remember, but no one else in the carriage could give the month with any certainty. The editor, who was himself in search of the information, happened to mention editor, who was himself in search of the information, happened to mention this as a curious occurrence to four other literary men. BOSTON LETTER. (From Our Own Correspondent.) BOSTON, May 6.-The centre of attraction in American territory has been the excited and volatile stock market in Wall street, New York, where the public seem to have gone crasy over speculation. Millions of shares have changed hands daily and all records in the way of business transacted has been broken. Some tocks are now six times as high as market has long been top heavy, and it would seem that financiers were living in a fool's paradise, although future events will likely prove that it is the dear public who are riding for a fall. It is freely predicted that there a folding service cap for undress. will be a tremendous crash in Wall street some day in the not far distant future, and that there will be such a complete collapse of the ridiculously over-inflated paper values that the accommodating secretary of the treas-ury at Washington will be obliged to come to the rescue in order to protect his strong box from becoming involv-ed in the hurricane. Already the treasury officials have quietly warned some of the big Wall street houses, and the latter are trimming sail and disposing of their undesirable The big banks in all the large cities are also preparing for a pronounced drop in values. When the turn will come they cannot tell. It may come before the usual summer duliness sets in and it may be delayed until fall, but all are satisfied that violent reaction is inevitable. Back of the investment mania is the wholesale consolidation of railroads and other great speculative interests following the general amalgamation of industrial properties which has been going on or several years. Millions upon millions of dollars represented by capi-tal stock have no substantial equivalent in actual property, or, in other words, are on paper only, and the far-sighted financiers are fighting shy of a certain class of industrial stocks. There is no doubt but that the finan-clal situation will be an unusually in-teresting study during the months that are to come.

The numerous despatches from Mon-treal and Quebec, probably emanating from the Tarte organs, that an unusu-ally large number of French Cawa-dians are returning to Canada from the United States, are not borne out by leading French Canadians in Man-chester, Lowell and other centres. The Laurier government and the govern-ment of Quebec have been laboring for several years to have French-Canadians return and take up land in Quebec province, but it cannot be said truthfully that their success has been great. At this time of year, here are always families who return and take up farming for the summer months, re-crossing the border in the fall. At the present time, quite a few of the mills are shut down, and a certain proportion of the idie operatives ne to th visit. Undoubtedly some families have gone to stay, but leading French Can-adians here ridicule the claim that any great re-patriation movement is in progress. Many persons residing in New England will be counted in the Canadian census. Many also go home to vote, when an election is on, espe-cially when the success of a liberal is in doubt, but nevertheless the Canadian population on this side continues to increase not only in the natural the border.

The joint school committee of the towns of Brimfield and Monson, in the western part of this state, has elected James A. MacDougall, a native of Oxford, N. ### SUN PRINTING COMPANY.

ALFRED MARKHAM,

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN

ST. JOHN, N. B., MAY 15, 1901.

A CORRECTION.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Sun is a sore trouble to the valued and subsidized Telegraph. The following passage in one of the Ottawa letters is the occasion of some of our contemporary's most impressive lan-

Mr. Haggart stated that Mr. Pugsley of St. John was one of the parties interested, as solicitor or something else, in the $110,000 an Concerning this the Telegraph says As Mr. Haggart only referred to the Hon. Mr. Pugsley in connection with the site of the engine house at St. John, most persons would naturally assume that the extract had reference to the St. John property.

The Telegraph then states that Mr. Pugsley had no interest or connection with the St. John property in question. It proceeds to say that the price of the St. John property was only $20,000 for six acres and soes on to lecture this paper for publishing the "misleading and absurd effusions" of the Ottawa correspondent.

The Sun has received Hansard giving the official report of this discussion, and is glad to be in a position to meet the views of the Telegraph by publishing any necessary corrections. First as to the connection of Dr.

Pugsley with negotiations other than those for the St. John properties. On page 4884 of Hansard we find Mr. Haggart asking the minister whether Mr. Pugsley is acting for any of the owners of the property at Levis (opposite Quebec) in the sale to the gov-Coture property. He said: "Mr. "Pugsley, and some other legal gen-"tlemen have been communicating

Mr. Puggley of St. John is one of the par-ties interested, as solicitor or something else, with reference to this particular land. The probability is that it will never go to the exchequer court. However, if the hon-gentleman does refer the matter to the ex-chequer court, the judgment of that court will be fixed by the evidence produced on behalf of the government as to the value of the land, and it is often found a conven-ient way for a minister, who wants a justifi-cation of the amount he is paying, to let the case go to the exchequer court on an ex-parte stitement by the party offering the land to the government.

case go to the exchaquer court on the st parter statement by the party offering the land to the government.

Now askito the price, On Hansard (page 4280); Mr. Blair spoke of having paid for a certain Chapteau lot already purchased, $1.75 per foot, or $15.639 for the lot of 8,908 feet—about one-fifth of an acre. Then he said:

We have had a demand from Mr. Coture for $2.60 of foot, and he would not sell for a cent less. We have taken expropriation proceedings, it do not, want to make any statement here in a public way, but I am not sanguine that we can succeed before the courts in getting the land at any less price than that which this party demands.

It will be seen that Mr. Blair does not say anything to make the case hard for Dr. Pugsley or his clients, but rather leaves the impression that they will get their price. Mr. Monk then showed that the sum of $31,145.30 had already been paid to Edouard Coture for land, and Mr. Blair explained that this was for another lot. On page 4285, Mr. Blair is reported as saying that Mr. Pugsley's client is asking $2.10 per foot, but this may be a misprint, for again at page 4,291, Mr. Haggart says.

Mr. Coture is asking for a lot of property in the same neighborhood (as the Murphy-Chaplean property) $2.60 per foot, and he (Mr. Blair) thinks the amount is excessive and proposes to refer the matter to the ex-

The only corrections which need to made in the Sun's letter from Ottawa are two. First, that Mr. Blah, as well as Mr. Haggart, stated that Mr. Pugsley was connected with the Levis negotiations. Second, that the price mentioned in the Ottawa letter was $13,000 ar acre too low.

could not have agreed on a finding. The members might have agreed that Sir Richard Cartwight and his col-leagues were not proved guilty of the offer of a senatorship for sale, but they would perhaps have disagreed as to the extent of their guilty knowledge. We might have had an agreement that Mr. Cook was approached with the request for money as consideration for the appointment to the senate, and a disagreement as to the directness of the offer, and the authority of the persons who made it. A division of the committee on party lines, and a like division of the whole senate afterward, would not have added much to the sum of public information on the question. The purpose of the inquiry was accomplished in obtaining the evidence, and the public can reach a onclusion on the testimony as well without an opinion of the senators as ending in March appear to have been the main and supplementary estiwith it.

sible that something might be gained from a consideration of the points of greement. For instance, it would be worth while to know whether any considerable number of the Ontario liberal senators, who had been personal and political comrades of the late Lieutenant Governor Cameron, would have stamped him a blackmafter and a liar by expressing the opinion that he was after money for himself, and that he was inventing the statements from Sir Richard that he made to Cook. It would be interesting to know how many liberal senators share the views of the liberal Halifax Chronicle, which says squarely that "There is the best of ground for believing, and most people do believe, that the managers of the party 'machine' strove, by holding out hopes of interest and support to Cook in his candidacy for a senatorship, to secure from him a large contribution to the party campaign fund." If such senators as the ninister of justice and Mr. Cex she gree with the Chronicle that "the machine" was "trying to work Cook" for a campaign fund, and that the reations have been such as to disgust the independent public, the symptom would be hopeful. But after all the main thing is the evidence. The opinion which any senator may have formed is of some im portance, but in the end the publ would have to decide. This fact may not excuse the senators for a fallure to perform their duty. It would have been better for those who believed the case proved, or partly proved, to have Cook is a perjurer, or that Mr. Camage or decision on both sides, it reevidence which Mr. Cook produced in poport of his serious allegations, and

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The splendid and successful effort made yesterday by United States panic and restore confidence is a sign of the solidarity of the investing in st. Many of these capitalist uld have made millions by holding what they had and trading on the needs of others. Genuine patriotism is exhibited when men of this class stand up together to uphold the general credit, instead of entering the arena and fighting, each man for him self. Doubtless the inter-action versal panic might bring ultimate loss to many who would seem at firs coincides with a genuine, feeling of mpathy for the innecent trader and small investors who would have been ruined by thousands if the panic financiers have their interests and heir methods. They play their game But they are as good natured and well disposed toward their fellow bengs as the rest of us; and no doub of heart which prompted them to save the situation. It remains to be see whether they have done more than provide temporary relief.

An interesting statement is made Chicago paper concerning the stee bridges of the Burlington railway system. It is announced that these structures are all bought by the pound, and that the present price is three and one-fourth to three and three fourth cents per pound. Three years ago bridges were bought for less than two cents per pound, but the increased price of iron and steel has also affected the cost of bridges. It seems, however, that when Mr. Emmerson was buying bridges for $7 to $8 per 100 pounds the Burlington railway was buying them for $1.85. But the railway bought by tender.

What repearance of being George Allen. Other cards were found bearing the address of R. B. Schofield, 389 South Main street, Providence Bay, and of Dr Brown, 243 North Main street. A rason and a couple of pipes were also found

There was also found an open face silver watch of the New Haven Watch Co.'s make. The number on the works which are badly rusted, is 18,890. The minute hand of the watch was gone and the hour hand rested at the figure two. A gold watch chain was strung across the vest, through the middle button hole. On the small finger of the left hand there was a plain gold ring.

Enquiry by a Sun reporter discovered that there is no record of such a man in the shipping office. In the United States consul's office information was received showing that Geometrian had come to this port on the American three-masted schooner A. P. charge here on March 8 with the sun of $8.58. No notification of his having shipped on any vessel from this port since could be found.

The reporter then saw Capt, Stan-ley Maxwell of the A. P. Emerson,

He left his last ship on March the eighth with ast ship on March the eighth some money, and has not been hof since. He was a drinking man.

These facts taken together point to he extreme probability that the un-ortunate man after receiving his mon diversion and during his intoxication fell from one of the wharves to is watery death, since when his body been floating about or has ept under the surface by catching some projection. AUTHOR'S SECRET. Food that Brought Back Buoyant Health.

Newspaper writers have a time of it to get the right kind of food to nour-ish them. One of this profession who writes for a Boston paper says: "From the first Grape-Nuts Food worked like a charm. My stomach had been failing to degest ordinary food, and my nerves were completely unstrung. I was about to give up work while preparing a series of articles for the press, but by a stroke of good fortune they began to feed me on Grape-Nuts. My strength gradually returned, nerves became steadier day by day, and I soon found I could do more office work with greater ease than ever before. There came to me that feeling of with greater case than ever before. There came to me that feeling of buoyant health and satisfaction with my work and satisfaction with my work and satisfaction with my self. In short, I felt that life was worth living, and that I was 'girded up like a strong man for a race.'

'Is my opinion, Grape-Nuts is the one perfect article of food invaluable alike for those that are sick and those that are well." W. S. Gidley, Author of 'Mappy Go-Lucky Papers," "The Landlord's Story," etc.

It is a fact that Grape-Nuts Food does supply the brain and nerve centers with the elements necessary to rebuild, nourish and maintain. That brings health, strength, happiness and the feeling of buoyancy Mr. Gidley speaks of.

A large number of persons from different parts of the county visited Alma the past week to see the large whale recently captured there, and which is proving quite a source of revenue to the captors. The huge mammal, during his wanderings about the bay, had evidently not been over particular in regard to his diet, there being found in his capacious interior, so it is told, no less than sixteen pairs of rubber boots. It is reported that one of the sharks captured contained the PROVINCIAL NEWS to speak. Early in the session Chief of Police Harvey's notice of resignation as Scott Act inspector was read. He said he had handed it in on the advice of a majority of the board, who stated that he was not doing the work in a way to give satisfaction to the posters have taken place in Harvelock.

he best he could. Coun. Lindsay moved that Rev. Banfred Colpitts be inspector. He was the best man in sight, and was now the inspector for the county. Coun, Bal-main seconded the resolution. He had not favored Mr. Colpitts earlier in the year, but the town marshal had made a failure of the business and therefore he was in favor of Mr. Colpitts. The olution was supported by the ful board excepting Coun. Carr, who did not approve of Mr. Colpitts' methods. He claimed that he hired men to buy rum in order to make convictions, and yet he was a minisetr of the Gospel. Mr. Colpitts' salary was put at $200, and his engagement is for the balance

Much interest was taken in the pro ceedings of the county council, which met this morning. All members were present. The warden explained that the object was to decide on the erecthe object was to decide on the erec-tion of a new jail to take the place of that just burned. Coun. Cluff moved that whereas the municipality of Carle-ton has lost its jail at Upper Wood-stock by fire, and whereas in the in-terests of justice and good order we should have a suitable place to incarcerate prisoners at once, be it resolved that we proceed to build a suitable building on the lot owned by the counin the town of Woodstock, costing ..; and further resolved that the warden appoint a committee to look after the plans and specifications, and that authority be secured to issue debentures, so that the work may be begun with the least possible delay. Coun. Gillmour seconded the motion. Coun. Caldwell moved in amendment that the council erect a new jail on the site of the old one at Upper Woodstock. After a long debate the amend-ment was put and lost. The following voted yeas: Caldwell, Tracey, Atkinson, Shaw, Bell (Wakefield), Checey, Forrest, Kearney, Richardson, Phillips (Brighton), Phillips (Peel), Cronklips (Brighton), Phillips (Peel), Cronkhite. Nays: Carvell, Speerr, Foster,

FREDERICTON, May 10.—In spite of all the arrangements that had been made for the holding of en exhibition here this fall it now seems probable that the project may have to be abandoned for this year at least. The directors had been led by the county representatives to expect a grant of not less than $3,500, while the actual grant received from this source is only $2,500. Expectations were also held that as the city had received $4,000 in insurance upon the exhibition buildings destroyed by fire several years ago, the council this year would at least double their series also held that as the city had received $1,000 in insurance upon the exhibition buildings destroyed by fire several years ago, the council this year would at least double their usual grant of $1,500. But from the attitude of the council there is no hope that the sum will be larger than that eriginally named. This leaves the Exhibition Association with only $4,000 provided for, which is barely sufficient to erect the new exhibition building that will be required.

Then, another serious difficulty has arisen. The grounds held by the association for exhibition purposes are held under lease from the Odell estate, which lease will expire in 1910, and the lease contains no renewal clause. Representations on this subject have been made to those who manage the Odell estate and application has been made to insert a renewal clause in the lease, or to give the Exhibition Association the assurance that the lease will be renewed it so desired at its expiration, but this the estate decilines to do. This being $0, some influential members of the Exhibition Association very strongly object to putting up another expensive building on the premises when the association has a lease of them for only ten years longer, even if all the money desired for an exhibition was forthcoming.

Another meeting of the directors is to be held next Monday, when the difficulties will be thoroughly canvassed.

MONCTON, May 10.—A shocking fatality occurred on Mountain road, about two miles from Moncton, vesterday afternoon, the victim being the three-year-old child of Smith Brown, ir. It appears that the mother left her home during the afternoon to go to the residence of her father-in-law to get a pail of water. She procured the water and had left the house to return when she was horrified to see her child in a mass of fiames running towards her. The terror stricken mother clasped the little one in her arms and after a desperate effort extinguished the fiames, not, however, before the child was fatally burned, and after three hours of awful agony passed away. It is understood that after the mother left the house the child got hold of matches and set fire to its clothes.

Census Enumerator Pride of Gladstone filed the last return with Commissioner Newton Burpee on Tuesday, who has an office at Patrick McClobakey's. Mr. Burpee has been realding in York county for a number of years. The road through the central and lower part of the parish has at last been swamped out in the most primitive way, while valuable road machines are rusting and rotting in a field not far away. Evidently the Julius Caesar methods of making code are still in vogue. Instead of completing the work now, when most wasted, another rally will be given in does days, when the last state will be worse than the first.

ANDOVER, N. B., May 9.—The ordination of Rev. James W. Campbell took place on Wednesday evening in St. James' Presbyterian church. At 7 o'clock the Presbyterian church. At 7 o'clock the Presbytery met, and the usual order of business under such circumstances was gone through with. By 7.30 a large congregation had assembled. Rev. Dr. Morison, moderator of the Presbytery, conducted the services. He was assisted by Rev. A. Archibald of Richmond, Carleton Co., and Rev. Mr. Wilson, Congregational minister of Fort Fairfield, Me. Rev. Mr. Pringle of Kintore gave the ordination sermon, speaking from Col. 1, 16. His discourse was practical and earnest. Mr. Campbell was then inducted into the ministy by the laying on of the hands of the ministers present. The moderator offered prayer and eloquently and ably addressed their new brother. Rev. James Burgess of St. John West briefly addressed the congregation, and was followed by his honor Judge Stevens. The service was brought to a close by singing and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Campbell. The choir furnished excellent music. In the anthem Hark, Hark, My Soul, Mrs. S. P. Waite and Mrs. Bertha Waite sang the duet. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. Rev. Mr. McLeod of Florenceville and Elders Jack and Willet of St. David's church, St. John, were also present. Rev. J. W. Campbell is a graduate of the Montreal Presbyterian College.

HOLE IN THE LUNGS

There are thousands of men and women, as well as ever, with holes in their lungs: consumption stopped.

What did it? Some change in way of life and Scott's emulsion of codliver oil.

A hole in the lungs, once healed, is no worse than a tootight waist or waistcoat. Take the emulsion and give it a chance to heal the wound. We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

THE P. E. I. MURDERER.

(Wednesday's Guardian.) remains of Archibald McLeod were conveyed to Springton yesterday afternoon by the undertaker, and at three o'clock, in the presence of a few relatives and friends, were silently committed to the tomb. The grief stricken wife arrived at the grave shortly afterwards, and when it was ed to her that it was imposble to see the remains, she gave evidence of being overwhelmed with grief. There were no religious ser-

A correspondent of the Guardian vrites: "The Patriot on Monday evening, referring to Archibald McLeod's life, made some remarks which were unkind and uncalled for. In giving a eport of this kind they should stick facts and not to rumors. They say some strange rumors are afloat regarding his life in Colorado. This has been contradicted by Angus Mc-Kenzie of this city, who worked with him while there, and testifies to his ightness and honesty. In the second place, the Pairiot states rumor has it that some years ago he slept with a man by the name of Gillis in that locality and that he (Gillis) was found dead in bed. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CENTURY FUND.

The executive of the century fund com-nistee met in Toronto on Friday last and carefully went over the reports received from number of congregations in the Northwest. There is thus lacking $75,000 of the $600,000 asked for.

The time fixed for the completion of the effort, according to the action of the General Assembly, was May 1st. The committee prolonged the date to May 28th, and resolved to make an earnest appeal to every congregation and mission station in the church for a special, additional contribution on Sabbath, 19th May, or, where this is not convenient, on Sabbath, 28th May. Envelopes have been prepared, containing a brief appeal, with blanks for the name of the contributor and the amount of the offering. These have been sent out in parcels to every minister, and it is poped that, without a single exception, the people in every congregation—members and adherents—will have the envelopes distributed among them, and the opportunity given to contribute on one or other of the Sabbaths named. The committee are most auxious that the effort should prove an entire success, as they are confident it will if the people in every congregation have the opportunity given them to subscribe. During the past year nearly $100,000 was got from the church upon behalf of the India famine fund, without much effort, and, considering the prosperous condition of the country and the great benefit to be derived to the church in all its departments by the century fund scheme, the fullest confidence is entertained regarding the result. Attention is called to the following points:

1. That the envelopes be immediately dis-

loving points:

1. That the envelopes be immediately distributed, so that every member and adherent in each congregation may receive one.

2. That if, from any cause, envelopes have not reached the minister or missionary in any district, application be made immediately for them to Rev. Dr. Warden, Toronto.

That ministers bring the matter from pulpit before their congregations on the shath preceding the return of the en-and edditional to any contribution previously made.

6. That if, from any cause, any one desiring to respond to this appeal may not receive an envelope, their contribution may be sent direct, before May 26th, to either of the treasurers of the fund—Rev. E. A. McCurdy, Halifax (for the maritime provinces), or Rev. Dr. Warden, Toronto (for Quebec, Ontario and the Northwest).

Of the amount subscribed for the common fund $265,000 have already been received by the treasurers. Nearly $800,000 have, in connection with the century fund movement, been raised for church debts over and above the amount subscribed for the common fund.

Yours faithfully,

ROBT, H. WARDEN,

Convener of Committee on Century Fund.

Gossiping Neighbors

People will talk, and when neighbors get together there is very likely to be something said about Dr. Chase's Oint-ment, and the surprising cures it is effecting among sufferers with piles and itching skin diseases. It is by word of mouth, from friend to friend, that the fame of this great Ointment has girded the globe. It stands today as the only actual and guaranteed cure for every form of itching, bleed-ing and protruding piles.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT MEETING.

The members of the local govern-ent visited the Lunafic Asylum and ment visited the Lunatic Asylum and the annex buildings on Friday morning. Last night they had a long meeting, when D. J. McLaughlin, R. B. Emerson, A. Macaulay and J. H. McAvity, representing the Exhibition Association, were heard. These gentlemen proposed that the government and the city of St. John should jointly assume their liabilities, which aggregate $3,200, and take over the buildings. It was suggested that some members of the association preferred that the property should remain in the association. After the delegation retired the government discussed the association. After the delegation retired the government discussed the matter very fully, and Hon. Messrs. Farnis, Hill and McKeown were appointed to confer with the association and the Common Council with regard to the question.

It was decided by the government to increase the staff of nurses in connection with the Lunatic Asylum from nection with the Lunatic Asylum from 10 to 12, giving two for each ward and a night nurse as well. A lot of rou-tine business was transacted.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

A Three Ton Boiler Wrecks the Hammond River Bridge at Smithtown.

On Saturday morning last Thomas Bell removed his portable mill from the Robinson stream at Salt Springs, Kings Co, where he had been cutting kings Co, where he had been cutting lumber all winter for the G. & G. Flewelling Co. of Hampton, with the intention of fitting up on his own place on the south side of Hammond River, opposite Smithtown. The heavy boiler, mounted on a sloven, was drawn by two spans of horses, and was in charge of Mr. Beil himself. About eleven of clock they received About eleven o'clock they reache self. About eleven o'clock they reached the Smithtown bridge, and knowing the structure was old and that it had been put to a great strain by the heavy traffic during the past winter and spring, he detached the horses and took them across the bridge to the southern approach. A stout rope was then attached to the pole of the sloven and the other and led across the bridge and the other end led across the bridge to the horses. When the loaded sloven had gone about thirty or thirty-five ogether and the boiler struck on its and without receiving any considerable damage. The sloven escaped ith one broken wheel.

The bridge, however, is a wreck, and ntil repaired or rebuilt, all communication between the two sides of the liver must be by fording the stream. With the help of neighbors, the belle was righted out on another conboller was righted, put on another conveyance and hauled across the river and up to Mr. Bell's place.

The bridge, which is a single span, cord and truss, about 100 feet long, was built in the year 1882, and was rewas built in the year 1882, and was re-paired about two years ago. The pre-sent disaster will call for a thorough inspection of the portion remaining in-atot, for it is presumable that the wear and strain of over eighteen years have not alone affected the portion which not alone affected the portion which has now given way.

The load which was being hauled across was only about three tons, and had it gone down when farther on its way, the whole structure would probably have been wrecked, and the boiler would have been sunk in the river channel. The road at either end of the bridge has been barricaded to prevent further accidents.

William Purdy, J. P., of Hampto Knocked Down and His Face Badly Cut.

About half-past nine o'clock Saturday night, a murderous assault was made upon William Purdy by a young kept a store here during last year, but who has been doing nothing for some months past. Mr. Purdy's son, Theodore, had a bill against Baizeley for hauling ice the winter before last, which he says he had been unable to collect. A day or two ago he gave a man named Knox an order on Baizeley for the amount, which so angered him that he threatened to shoot Theodore on hight. Saturday evening Mr. Purdy and his son Theodore were at Hampton station, and put their horse in the shed of the Methodist church, while they attended to business in the while they attended to business in the stores. Baizeley, supposing, it is believed, that Theodore would go for the horse, went across from his place to the side of the church, near the shed, and secreted himself. The night was very dark and when Mr. Purdy, sr., went to get his team, Baizeley sprang out upon him saying, "Now do you want to fight?" and struck the old centleman in the face with sufficient force to knock him down. Hearing the noise and the fall, Dr. Wetmore, who was passing, called out, "What's this?" and at once discovered Mr. Purdy, who, though somewhat dazed, was able to go to Watson Fenwick's restaurant, where he was attended by the doctor, who found a severe cut on the cheek, and the face terribly bruised. After receiving attention and conisderable bathing of the bruised face, Mr. Purdy went to his home below Lakeside, accompanied by his son.

Balzeley was ist seen running up tient force to knock him down.

Baizeley was lst seen running the hill on the Smithtown road.

MAJOR JOSEPH HOWE.

Major Joseph Howe of the Northwest Mounted Police, a former St. John man, who served with distinction in the Riel rebellion, and recently in the Transvaal war, was in the city over Sunday with Mrs. Howe. He left re-cently for Halifax on military busi-ness, but expects to get a furlough of two weeks, and if successful will re-hess, but expects to get a furlough of two weeks, and if successful will return to St. John at once.

Major Howe, who looks the picture of health, has seen a lot of service in South Africa. He went out with the Canadian Mounted Rifles from Halifax in January, 1900, and only returned recently, remaining on the field of war by request of the commander-in-chief in charge of a squadron of mounted infantry, to do service in the Orange Free State, where DeWet, the wily Boer leader, was giving the British forces no little trouble and anxiety. The Canadian government, at the request of the imperial war office, granted Major Howe six months' leave of absence after the second contingent had been sent home, and he was placed in command of a troop of six hundred mounted soldiers, irregulars from Africa, Australia, New Zealand and some Canadians who elected to remain. They had several stiff engagements with DeWet's commando, and were often in hot pursuit of the crafty was an accident pure and simple, and such a one that is not likely to happen again for years. Mr. George was first up, having risen at 7 o'clock to build the fire. Shortly after wards his wife arose and proceeded to get breakfast. The husband was around the house doing odd jobs until about 8 o'clock, when he got a small Flobert rifle with the intention of practising shooting. He placed the target on the wall in the kitchen and went into the dining room to smoot.

Before going into the dining room he ascertained that no persons were around. His wife having gone down athirs and there being no one alse up, he got ready, and in order that he might be able to hit the target more accurately, he rested the rifle against the side of the door between the dining room and the pasior, the dining room, parlor and kitchen being in a direct line. Seentime his wife had come back into the kitchen, and, being in her stocking feet, Mr. George did not hear her.

Instead of coming into his range of vision, she stopped at the kitchen stowe to look after something she was cooking, but just as her husband pulled the trigger she stepped from the stove immediately in range of the shot. The ball struck her in the left side of the floor, and before aid could reach her has a process of the shot. circumstances, and the Australian and New Zealand troops were splendid fel-lows, good shots, daring riders and full of irrepressible spirits and courage.

The major had not much of an opinion of the Boer—the real genuine Boer, who scorns towns and villages and tenant governor of the province and for many years a member of the provincial parliament and the senate of Canada, cited last night at Hotel Davies, where he and Mrs. Howlan have made their home for some time.

Mr. Howlan had been in poor health for upwards of a year. The deceased will not associate with their inhabitants. Many of them have splendid farms, but are too lazy to cultivate them, preferring to let the Kaffirs do all the tilling of the soil. He said the morality of the Boers was low, and so far as their religious knowledge went it seemed as if them. morality of the Boers was low, and so far as their religious knowledge went it seemed as if they used religion as a cloak, for they could always con jure up a Biblical quotation in support of the most unreasonable arguments It will take about a year, he thinks to stamp out all resistance to Britisi rule. Then, he says, the country will come back to prosperity and blossom like a rose. "It is a beautiful com-try," Major Howe declares, "and young men have splendid chances to build up fortunes there."

Laondon, May 11.—The ladies of the fate Queen Victoria's court, after anxious waiting, have learned that they are to receive pensions, although minute ones. Many of these former members of the royal household, though of high lineage, have meagre fortunes, and the maids of honor and others found their posts richer in honor than in profit. The excuse for the meagreness of the pensions is the inadequacy of the provisions of the royal expenses. During the last few years Queen Victoria was unable to make the civil list meet the official expenditure, and was obliged to draw on her private fortune. King Edward now has to keep up Balmoral Castle and Osborne House, costing 231,000 annually, though he dislikes both places. LONDON, May 11 .- The ladies of the fat pain here," placing his hand on his hollow stomach. There was no food in the house (if a hovel could be called such) to satisfy the piercing cry. The careworn, emaolated mother thought of the happy home of twenty-five years ago in Fredericton, which she willingly exchanged for a cosy cottage on Charlotte street, in St. John, and of the happy hours spent with the husband of her choice, and the bright happy children who all the bright happy children who, all but little Willie, had come to years and, like the over-grown birds, had sown from their nests to shift for themselves. It was long ere the patient wife and loving mother realized that a dark cloud was hovering over the home, at first not bigger than a man's hand, but it was destined to burst in all its fury on their household.

A DOG STORY OF ST. JOHN, 1847. Yes, my dear child, this is Christ-

ing and danger was at hand. The curse of Christian lands had stealthily crept into the once happy home; first a mortgage, and later what part of the home this did not swallow up was soon squandered by the now reckless, dissipated husband; thus was the cosy cottage exchanged for the where we found the sad mother hungry child.

All the household effects which could be converted into drink were sold or bartered, and at last the family ten dollar Bible went on its mission and may have done some good.

The poor drunken sot had lost a good situation, some time before the date of our story.

Said the almost frantic mother to Willie, "Come, my child, let us take a walk and see the Christmas decorations," (with a view to begging food for dear Willie.) Oh, thought she, is It possible, have I come to this, beggar in the street with a drunk husband, made such by the city laws which permits for "blood money" a demon man to sell that which brings such misery to mortals. How long, oh Lord, how long shall this "death work" continue, and under the sanction of laws.

Calling at the door of a re looking house she said in substance: "Oh, pity the sorrows of a poor old woman, whose starving child has brought her to thy door, or, give me food and God will bless you ever for your Christmas gift and add much to

she heard the cutting words: work as we do for your food." Germain street, kept by two fine old men, who owned a large black Newserving their customers, and scarce noticed the shivering form of the starving woman and child. The faithful old curly Carlo kept gazing wistfully at the buyers as they took their turn at the counter. The lad Willie, patted him on the head. Finally Jimmie, a lad of nine, stepped up to make his Christmas purchases, (he lived at the head of "Cooper's alley" in a brick house,) and as he had often done before, gave "Carlo" a penny to buy a with. The dog, as was his habit, put his fore paws upon the counter, with one he rapped, whilst between his teeth he held the coin. He would drop the coin, cover it with one paw till the cake was within reach, then raise his paw and push the penny to the store-keeper. Carlo came over to the hun-gry lad who had petted him and drop-ped the cake into his hand.

"Oh, mama, see what the dearle dog has given me." Then in a ravenous manner the famishing child began to eat, offering his dear mama a part.

Jimmie, who took in the situation, shipped his two and sixpence, "Christmas money," into the woman's hands.

"May the dear Lord bless you, my sweet how for your kindness to the sweet boy, for your kindness to the poor."

The good bakers, after the rush was over, made up a parcel of Christmas goodies. The mother and child then wended their lonely way to their empty rooms in "Cooper's alley."

The mother hid the balance of food for future use. Had this woman lived later when, "Beautiful Joe" was written and read the passage. "I don't for future use. Had this woman lived later when, "Beautiful Joe" was written, and read fibe passage, "I don't know whether there are any dogs in heaven, but I do think beaven would be happier if I knew my beautiful Joe was to be there," would have said:
"No, there are no dogs in heaven, because the spirit of the beast goes downward, but the spirit of man goes upward, yet I do think Carlo would have a better chance to secure an entrance to the abodes of the blessed than would the cruel woman—perhaps a professed Christian—who drove a starving mother and child from her door on that dark and cold night."

As Carlo and Jimmie and the kind bakers so kindly and silently deposited their Christian gifts in the hands of the needy, she thought of the loving Father feeding Elijah through the ravens, and her thanks went upward to the source of all good.

After midnight a loud knocking was heard. With trembling hand she opened to admit her drunken husband, brought there by his less drunken companions. After sleeping off his drunken stupor, he as usual commenced his tiffade of abuse. The much abused wife made her brutal husband as comfortable as she could for Christmas in such a hovel.

This was in A. D. 1847. During the previous summer, the reformer I is and the said as efferred to is but one of thousands, who are suffering more fortable as she could for Christmas in such a hovel.

This was in A. D. 1847. During the previous summer, the reformer J B Gough had visited St. John through the "Y. M. Total Abstinence Society," and assisted by such men as Pitts, Keans, Leonard Tilley, Kittey Smiler and others, with a host of Christian women, had done a noble work among the drunkards of the city, he also formed his famed "Gough's Cold Water"

Come to the rescue and be no longer abettors in this death work?

The sad case referred to is but one of thousands, who are suffering more than tongue can tell or pen describe, and yet a Christian 'government permits this liquor curse to continue, and even protects the wicked business under the black cloak of law. Shame! shame! ye voting men of fair Canada.

TROLLY CAR RAN AWAY

NEW YORK, May 12.—An open trolley car, on which were packed about 115 persons, got way from the motorman today near Fort Lee, N. J., and dashed down Leonia Hill. Every person on the car was bruised, but to the wonderment of all only three were seriously hurt, and only one of them is likely to die. Frank Sunstruck, the conductor, it is feared, may lose his life on account of possible internal injuries, and J. E. Robinson and his wife of this city are the two others who were seriously hurt. The heavily londed car had started down an incline a quarter of a mile in length when the motorman lost control. It went so fast no one dared jump off. The road is a winding one. At the foot of the hill it curves sharply. When the from trucks hit the curve they started around it and made it. The rear ones followed part of the way. The wrench upon the car, however, as it swung round, was so great that the body was lifted and torn from the trucks and rolled over and hit the ground. The motorman stuck to the car, apart took place, he shot into the air and landed in the soft earth near a fence at the corner.

The passengers were caught in and under

COLLIDED WITH A TROLLEY CAR.

Remembers with thankfulness, to the Giver of all mercies, the dog of "long ago."

The old folks have "laid their armor by," as have most of the Christian temperance workers of those days, days, Gough lived to bless the homes of thousands, and reaps his rich reward in the Eden land.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Of twenty-six young people who started from College Point, L. I., last night on what is locally known as a "starlight" rich, two were carried home this morning dead, five are in the Jamaica hoptal, four were allowed to leave the hospital are having their wounds dressed, and every one of the remainder was more or less bruised. A cellision with a trolley car caused the accident.

LIMA, Peru, May 12.—The comet which was first seen from South America about a fortnight ago, and which has been invisible from here for the last three nights, reappeared last night. It apparently has two tails, one of which is now longer than when it was first seen.

A tremendous crowd had gathered at the undertaker's to see what was going on when the coffin was brought out to the hearse, both sides of the street, for half a block, were lined

A slight fire occurred in W. H. Schwartz & Sons' coffee and spice mill, Water street, on Saturday night, but fortunately little if any damage was done. It was caused by hot ashes left in a barrel. Brickwork prevented the spread of the fire.

The steamer Beta arrived from Bermuda. She was delayed owing to a break in her machinery. Among the passengers was Archbishop O'Brien.

MILLTOWN, May 10.—Rev. Dr. Barker returned from Sheffield on Wednesday and reports his sister's health still in a precarious condition. He left on Thursday for his new field of labor in Mattawamkeag, Maine.

The cotton mill is shut down this week. Only about twenty-five hands are employed in the sample and designing rooms. The mill will resume work on Monday and continue in operation for two weeks and then close down again for a week.

Rev. Mr. McLean leaves here on Monday for Ludlow, Mass.

SMALLPOX IN FRENCH SETTLEMENT

DOROHESTER, N. B., May 13.— A aport from Predenhaut, a French settlement on the Petitrodiac river, about 16 miles from here, states that five new cases of smallpox have broken out there. They are all in one house, the home of Fidele Leblanc.

Predenhaut was under quarantine until last Saturday, when under the belief that the disease had completely died out, it was raised. It is probable, in view of the fresh outbreak, the place will again be quarantined.

The Rome correspondent of the Daliy Chronicle, who is a recognized arise ority on news from the vatican, tyles graphs to that paper today an explanation of the reasons for the coming transfer of Monsignor Falconio from Ottawa to Washington. Some complaint had reached Rome from Canada that the Catholics of the Cambida that the Catholics of the Cambida laint had reached Rome from Canada hat the Catholics of the dominion ere dissatisfied at being deprived of special representative by the papal hiegate, and the correspondent states his reported opposition of Canadan atholics to the suppression of the ipal delegate there has surprised the tican. The sole reason of the change as purely to effect economy, owing the fact that the state of the pondent budget at the present time not eat budget at the present time ne-sitates a reduction of expenditure. that Canadian Catholics are more justified in their disapproval as they have recently acquired a special palace at Ottawa for the delegate's residence. It seems the vatican acted without having first obtained sufficient information, but as Cardinal Martinelli will not leave Washington for a year of so, it is felt the matter may yet be drranged to the satisfaction of the Canadian Catholics.

THE CUP CHALLENGER. Selen Monday by Shamrock 1, by Five Minutes in a Twenty Mile Race.

LONDON, May 13.-The Shamrock I. beat the Shamrock II. by five minutes over a twenty mile course.

WEYMOUTH, May 13.-Amateurs on board the challengers were inclined to be despondent over the results of gainst this feeling, however, argues hat the conditions of the race were uch that Shamrock I, did nothing surprising in winning. "As is proved in he case of the Valkyrie III." he said, them in any press of wind or sea. One day on the Clyde, in conditions very similar, the Britannia beat the Val-kyrie III., aithough the latter after-ward made the closest fight ever made for the cup.

"The alterations made in the Sham-rock I. since her return are just such offhand to take the new boat back to Southampton and to have her docked in order to ascertain whether any of the plates were displaced by the grounding on Dean Bank last week.

Opportunity will be taken to have her new gaff and mainsail fitted. The work will proceed night and day until it is finished, and the trials will then be resumed at Weymouth.

LONDON, May 14—The defeat of the Shamrock II, causes much disappointment. The Daily Chronicle says:

"Unless Sir Thomas Lipton is purposely hiding her real form, there appears to be no chance of winning the cup. If yesterday's form was genuine, we presume the Shamrock I, will be chosen to cross the Atlantic, and, as the races have been fixed for a date earlier in the year than last time, she may stand a better chance in the stronger winds."
