It must be patent to the House that the hon. gentleman has simply read the Budget Speeches of the finance Minister, with, perhaps, a few extracts thrown in from speeches by the hon. member for Lincoln. In the hon. gentleman's opening remarks he alon, gentleman's opening remarks he alsenting, than has the National Policy; he might have stated, in all fairness, that luded to our prosperity existing at the present time in the different Provinces tleman were now in his place, I would due to the obligations imposed upon his which go to make up this Dominion. challenge him to show that any more Government by the Government which which go to make up this Dominion. But there was one thing which I remarked particularly, that while' the hon. gentleman thought it worth while to mame Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, British Columbia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island, he omitted to name the Province of which he is a representative in this shoe factory, which was then, I think, in a flourishing condition. Sir. I am sorry to the introduction of the National Policy in the town of Sussex, which is the principal town in his county, they had a shoe factory, which was then, I think, in a flourishing condition. Sir. I am sorry to the introduction of the National Policy in the town of Sussex, which is the principal town in his county, they had a shoe factory, which was then, I think, in a flourishing condition. Sir. I am sorry to the Government by the Government which preceded them. I was much amused with another idea of the hon. gentleman, and that was, that an increase of the Kings County, P. E. I. case was further to bring that point home to him in a homely way, but in a way which, if he could not understand, many of his constituents the committee considered on Mr. McCarthy's motion declaring that Mr. MacDonald, the could have been returned. Mr. Davies addressed not understand, many of his constituents

The hon gentleman's county ten the hon gentleman's county ten the hon gentleman's county ten was applied to Prince Edward Island, and with the National Policy and Tariff which bear, perhaps, more heavily upon that before the introduction of the National about 25,000 inhabitants, and I think I Province than upon any other Province Policy. I have not yet come to what I am safe is stating that it has not increased 1872 and extended it to Prince Edward Province than upon any other Province in the Dominion, and it is to those features which, I think, bear especially heavily upon our Province that I propose to call attention. The hon, member for Kings has said something with respect to the National Policy. He has gone so far as to endorse what has been said in its favor by hon, gentlemen opposite. I am favor by hon gentlemen opposite. I am not to-night prepared—notwithstanding that the hon gentleman ha not alluded the money expended in his county local laws of the Province, and not those the money expended in his county local laws of the Province, and not those for carrying the mails is a fair charge of the Dominion, should govern elections. not to-night prepared—notwithstanding that the hon, gentleman ha not alluded to it—to deny that New Brunswick is in a somewhat more prosperous condition than it was some what more prosperous condition than it was some three or four years ago, but I deny that the increased prosperity in that Province is in a large measure due to the National Policy. I should nave liked the hon, gentleman, while admitted that any portion of $150,000. Nor do I think he will claim that any portion of $150,000 well claim that any portion of $ much, which is not much larger than it was heretofore; but taking the article of what was imposed before. It is true that there is a difference in counties along the coast which have been provided with lights and harbors, but in the inland counties the return is far less information asked for in this resolution. Of balance in favor of the Province, on this the inland counties the return is far less information asked for in this resolution. Of article alone, of nearly $1,500,000 in round for the money expended than it was of a private or rather in prospec ive.
