[BY H. J. PHILLIPS.]
[Special Correspondence of The Advertiser.]

London, Eng., March 22.—Brussels is a city of spies, a city of whispers, a city of hatred, and armed camp of stern discipline for conquering army and conquered civilians alike.

I have spent several days in Holland but I have met numerous persons who have been in Brussels, relief workers and such. What follows I have learned from them.

The people of Brussels have spent six months under the rule of the Germans and so great is the rage of the native population that this term of attempted subjection has failed to subdue them in the slightest.

Unprejudiced observers tell me that whatever the feeling of Germany toward England, and vice versa, it is but a fraction of the intense hatred of Belgians for Germany. Riots are narrowly averted daily. Fresh troops from Germany have been accused of tearing flags from the coffins of Belgian soldiers and from women on the streets, althcugh I have not seen an actual instance.

Humorous Incidents.

However, the German civil and military authorities, all under the direction of Gen. Von Bissing, the governor-general of Belgium, have warned the troops against interference with the civilian population except under orders.

But amid all the pathos an occasional humorous incident inserts itself. A Belgian businessman received a call from a German officer a few days after the British naval victory off Heligoland. The latter noticed the clock over the desk was set at Belgian time, an hour later than German time.

"Your clock is wrong," said the officer. "It is nine, not eight."

"It is eight o'clock in Belgium," replied the Belgian.

"It is nine o'clock in Germany," the officer came back. "This is now Germany and you are a German."

"I am a German," repeated the businessman, "and you are a German? We are both Germans."

"Yes," said the officer.

BATTLE FLAGS FOR ITALIAN WARSHIPS

Significant Incidents May Show Imminence of Greater Fleet Activity.

HURRYING PREPARATIONS

Rome Believes Negotiations For Peace Are, However, Still Going On.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, April 5.—Via Paris, April 6.—Increased activity on the part of the Italian fleet may be presaged by incidents reported from various ports which, while of no great importance in themselves are regarded here as significant.

A battle flag blessed by the bishop of the diocese was presented to the Dreadnought Count Cavour by the Duke and Duchess of Genoa at Spezia. The presentation was made the occasion for a patriotic demonstration.

Other Signs.

The municipal authorities of Palermo presented to the new cruiser Marsala a battle flag blessed by the Bishop of Mazzara.

The Duke and Duchess of Aosta paid a visit to Leghorn to say farewell to their son, Prinz Aimone, who is a student at the naval academy there, and who expects soon to be ordered to sea.

PUSHING PREPARATIONS.

Rome, April 5.—Via Paris, April 6.—There has been no outward change in the situation regarding the maintenance of Italian neutrality, but military preparations are being pushed with ever increasing vigor. Information obtained from reliable sources, however, is to the effect that negotiations are being continued, and there yet is hope of reaching a satisfactory understanding so that war may be avoided.

SUNK OFF SPAIN.

Genoa, April 6.—Additional reports received here regarding the sinking by a German submarine of the Italian steamer Luigi Parodi indicate that she was torpedoed near the Spanish coast. If these advices are well founded they show that German underwater craft are able to operate at a great distance than had been supposed from their home base.

According to Londoners who have returned home from San Francisco within the past few days, the lucky winners of The Advertiser's trip contest have great pleasure in store for them this summer.

"The trip and the Panama-Pacific Exposition will be a magnificent treat for anyone who goes," is the verdict of Dr. F. P. Drake, who further believes special enjoyment will be derived by the Canadian girls from the richness and variety of the coloring of the Californian landscape, the luxuriance of the vegetation.

Dr. W. J. Stevenson, who returned at the same time, accompanied by his mother and sister, is equally enthusiastic. His tribute is this:

A Wonderful Spectacle.

"Easterners will revel in the marvelous riot of color, the beauty of the palms and flowers. The eyes are delighted and refreshed in whatever direction they turn. Even the fences are covered with green sward. 'Safety first' has been a prominent consideration, and there is no danger of accidents from shoddy construction. All approaches to railroad stations, piers and places where they may be crowding are in marble and other materials which guarantee strength and permanency.

"Visitors to both San Francisco and San Diego are obliged to take off their hats to the Japanese. The Japanese Government voted one million dollars to be used for exhibition purposes and the buildings, lovely in themselves, are filled with treasures of art, of jewels, of fabrics to rival the finest products of any other nation in the world. All the Japanese wares are for sale, and the bargains are irresistible.

Lighting Is Concealed.

"Perhaps the greatest novelty of the San Francisco Exposition is the illumination. Artificial illumination is brought into competition with daylight and moonlight. The direct source of all lights is concealed and fairyland effects in coloring have been achieved. Among the many effects and to us the most wonderful of all was the Aurora Borealis spreading mile upon mile and enveloping the exposition in clouds of glory. Huge steam engines send out curtains of vapor on which banked searchlights play in a great variety of coloring. You can perhaps imagine the weird and beautiful effect on the floating clouds. In these fireless fireworks are seen the Beam Dance, Spooks' Parade, the Sunburst, and too many others to name.

An Open-Air Organ.

"We heard some splendid music and enjoyed particularly the magnificent open-air organ in the grounds at San Diego. The finest organists in the world are being brought to the Pacific coast to give recitals throughout the exposi-

PROROGATION EASY BY END OF WEEK

Interest Is Almost Entirely Transferred To Work of Committees.

Ottawa, April 6.—There seems to be nothing to prevent prorogation being accomplished Friday or Saturday. The importance of proceedings in the House has practically disappeared. Interest has been almost entirely transferred to the committees and to the Senate. In the upper chamber there promises to be a greater rush for a finish than usual.

The boot committee is nearing the end of its long and toilsome journey. This morning there was a final cleanup of the evidence. The work of preparing the report will take some hours, and the length of the debate in the House will depend altogether upon the spirit in which the report is presented. There is bound to be some talk.

Public accounts is still looking for an honest man, with indifferent success. But altogether the show is closing. This morning the Commons discussed the proposal to giev appeals in election cases to the supreme court of Canada.

There was a discussion upon experimental farms.

CHAPLAIN'S BROTHER HERE. — Vernon Carlisle, brother of Rev. Arthur Carlisle, who is going to the front as chaplain of the 18th Battalion, has joined No. 3 Stationary Military Hospital here. He enlisted in a corps at Guelph, but secured his transfer to this city, and is now in training at the fair grounds.

CANADIAN REVIVAL OF TRADE COMING

A British Financial Editor Thinks Worst Times Are Now Over.

London, April 5.—"We referred recently to evidences of a Canadian revival," says the Observer's financial editor. "There seems no reason to doubt them. Railroad returns may not as yet be alluring, but there is reason to hope for better trade generally, as enhanced profits from agriculture must mean a great accession of wealth.

"We are not saying for a moment that things are satisfactory in the Dominion, but there does seem ground for saying the worst may have been seen, and a recovery is now setting in. It is evident that railroads are practicing severe economies, and the country is in a more cautious mood. We take it also that the bankers mean to see things kept on sound lines.

25 CLAIMS HEARD

Sitting of Ninth Division Court Held at Courthouse.

A sitting of the ninth division court, H. Frank Whetter, clerk, was held at the court house this morning before Judge Edward Elliott. About 25 claims were heard, the most important being J. Harris & Sons vs. P. E. Butler, of Lucan, Ont. Judgment for plaintiff for $48 and costs. E. Meredith for plaintiff, and J. B. McKillop for defendant.

H. H. Scott vs. A. Doyle. Judgment for plaintiff for $7 and costs.

ALLIES GAINING NEAR VAUQUOIS

Get Foothold in One of the Enemy's Works To Southwest.

GERMANS CLAIM REPULSE

Official Statement Says the French Were Later Driven Back.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, April 6, via London—2.50 p.m. —The statement from the war office this afternoon is as follows:

"Rain and mist continue over the whole front. To the southwest of Vauquois we gained a footing in one of the enemy's works. In the wood of Ailly, southeast of St. Mihiel, our gain of three successive lines of trenches, already announced, was marked also by the capture of prisoners, a machine gun and a bomb thrower.

"We made progress in the wood of Brule, eastward of the wood of Ailly. We have maintained our possession of the positions captured to the northeast of Regnieville, already announced."

GERMAN REPORT.

Berlin, April 6, via London—1:26 p.m. —The following report from the military headquarters was given out here today.

"Western theatre of war:

"Since yesterday the French have become particularly active between the Meuse and the Moselle employing strong forces and a large amount of artillery. They attacked northeast, east and southeast of Verdun, and also at Ailly, Apremont, Flirey and northwest of Pont-a-Mousson.

"Northeast and east of Verdun their attacks did not all develop, on account of our fire. Southeast of Verdun they were repulsed. On the eastern edge of the Meuse heights, the enemy succeeded in obtaining temporarily a foothold in a small part of our outer trenches, but was driven out again during the night.

"The battle in the neighborhood of Ailly and Apremont continued throughout the night without any success to our opponents.

Everywhere Repulses.

"In the neighborhood of Flirey, the fighting was very bitter. Several French attacks were repulsed there. West of the forest of Lepretre a strong French attack north of the high road between Flirey and Pont-a-Mousson broke down.

"Notwithstanding the very heavy losses which our opponents suffered during the engagement it must be assumed that in accordance with the recent dispositions of their forces they will continue their attacks in this district, the hopelessness of all their efforts in the Champagne having become clear.

"Eastern theatre of war:

"Russian attacks to the east and south of Kallarja and also to the east of Augustowo were unsuccessful. Otherwise the situation is generally unchanged."

L. AND P. S. RY. CASE UP TODAY

Will Ask Commission For an Order To Operate Over G. T. R. Tracks.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, April 6.—An unusually long list of cases was down for consideration of the railway commission today. The Imperial Oil Company, an offshoot of the Standard Oil Company, is asking for a reduction of the freight rates between Vancouver and Alberta points on the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern. Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary for Ontario, counsel for the company, appeared to urge the application.

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the hydro-electric and radial railway commission, is on hand to support the request for an order to grant the London and Port Stanley Railway Company the right to operate its electric cars over the Grand Trunk tracks at London. This case will not be reached till late this afternoon.

Employees' Complaints.

Quite a lengthy discussion took place over the complaint of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Locomotive Firemen, with respect to their complaints against the C. P. R., for a violation of the uniform flagging rules and for failure to equip locomotives with dump ash pans.

Calvin Lawrence, legislative representative for the engineers, and W. L. Best, who holds a similar position with the firemen, outlined the nature of their complaints. They said they had received hundreds of letters of complaint from members of the two organizations.

Assistant General Manager Alfred Price of the C. P. R. said no complaints had been made by the men to the company. The reason for this, both Messrs. Lawrence and Best explained, was because attention to the complaints is so often long delayed.

Will Have Conference.

It was finally arranged, on the suggestion of Chief Commissioner Drayton, that the representatives of the men and the company get together with a view of arriving at an agreement.

"The C. P. R. is one of the richest railways in North America, and a strong advocate of safety first, yet for a few paltry dollars refuses to adopt the dump ash pans," said Mr. Best.

Mr. Price assured the board that there would be no delay in equipping all engines with the modern ash pans.

AS IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN!

Advertiser Illustrations.

This cartoon from a recent issue of the New York World shows how the best section of the American press regards the action of the Kaiser in sending his ships against defenceless passenger ships. The strongest cartoons on the war have been in the American papers. Even the English papers have not shown such contempt as is expressed in the pictorial denunciations of Life, the World and the Herald. Recently Robert Miner had a cartoon showing a steamer with a number of women and children standing at the rail. A German submarine had just come to the surface, and the commander was crying, "The Enemy." A Detroit newspaper man in London last week said that 99 per cent of Detroit sentiment was with the British.

CASUALTIES AMONG BRITISH OFFICERS NOW TOTAL 5,877

During Past Fortnight 301 Were Killed and 468 Wounded.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Wednesday, March 24—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—An officers' casualty list for the fortnight ended yesterday shows that the British army, since the beginning of the war, has had 1,844 officers killed and 3,301 wounded, while 732 have been reported missing. This is a total of 5,877.

During the fortnight in question, 301 officers were killed and 468 were wounded, while 27 were reported missing.

In some organizations the casualties were particular heavy. For instance, the Cameron Highlanders had 16 officers killed and 17 wounded; the Gordon Highlanders had 9 officers killed and 23 wounded; the Northampton Regiment 11 killed and 10 wounded; the Rifle Brigade 10 killed and 14 wounded; the Royal Irish Rifles 9 killed and 11 wounded, and the Worcester Regiment 13 killed and 11 wounded.

BELGIAN WARRIOR BACK TO TORONTO

Prof. A. Ledoux Fought Six Months—Army in Fine Condition.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, April 6.—Professor A. Ledoux, the head of the department of mineralogy in the University of Toronto, who fought through six months of the European war as an officer in the Belgian army, has reached here en route for Toronto. The professor was honorably discharged from the army some weeks ago.

Although Belgium has been devastated, and the outlook is dark for the Belgian people, says Professor Ledoux, no one despairs, and they fully expect that although it may take some time yet, the Germans will be finally driven back into their own country and Belgium and France will be free from the invaders.

Although the Belgian army has been in the front of the fight, and the losses have been very severe, the King and his valiant officers have worked day and night during the winter months, with the result that today the force under his majesty is in a fine condition to open the spring camapign.

CITY SOUP KITCHEN FOR 18TH BATTALION

Controllers Buy One For Second Contingent Men at Meeting Today.

A portable soup kitchen for the men of the 18th Battalion was purchased by the board of control today at a cost of $1,300. Immediate delivery will be made, and the outfit will be presented to the second contingent battalion before it leaves the city.

The question of purchasing a soup kitchen was left to the controllers with power at the last meeting of the council. The city machine will be added to the ones purchased by the battalion with funds contributed from many outside towns and municipalities from which "boys" have enlisted in the ranks of the 18th.

ALL CITY WORK

Curbs, Gutters and Sidewalks To Be Laid Departmentally This Year.

All curbs, gutters and sidewalks that will be laid in London this year will be done by the city engineer's department. When tenders for this cement work were opened by the board of control today, it was found that the department bid was the only one received for curbs, while for sidewalks it was a quarter of a cent lower than the next tender.

The prevailing prices will be 11½ cents per square foot for sidewalks and 35 cents per lineal foot for curbs and gutters.

ADMIRAL DENIES GETTING SUPPLIES

British Warships Off American Coast Need No American Assistance.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 6—The British admiral commanding the fleet along the Atlantic coast has notified the British ambassador here, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, and he in turn today notified the State Department, that no supplies whatever have been taken to the ships from American ports.

The admiral reported that ample supplies were being obtained from Halifax and Bermuda, and that, moreover, the ships were frequently being relieved on their stations, and there was no need to send supplies out to them. Some time ago the ambassador announced that commanders had been instructed to take no supplies whatever from any neutral ports.

Canadian Honored By Belgian King

Capt. Howell, of Lancers, Given Order for Distinguished Service.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, April 6.—The Havre correspondent of the Telegraph says King Albert of Belgium, in recognition of his endurance and devotion during the fighting at Ypres and St. Pierre Capelle, has conferred the Order of Chevalier of the Crown upon Captain Howell, of a detachment of the 3rd Canadian Lancers.

GERMAN SUBMARINE CAUGHT IN A TRAP

French Report Says One Is Entangled In Net Set For That Purpose Off Port of Dover.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, April 6—5 a.m.—A German submarine has become securely entangled in a net specially designed for that purpose and placed off Dover, according to the Petit Journal's Dunkirk correspondent, who adds that the French naval authorities expect to capture the submarine when it comes to the surface.

King Albert's Heir Fighting In Ranks

[Canadian Press.]

Dunkirk, April 6.—The Duke of Brabant, eldest son of KingAlbert of Belgium, although only 14 years of age, has enlisted in the 12th Infantry. He was marching in the ranks with a rifle on his shoulder when the regiment was reviewed by his father and the Queen at Broqueville.

BRITISH SNIPERS SHOW SUPERIORITY

Their Work On Left Wing Has Proved of Great Value.

SEMI-WEEKLY STATEMENT

Weather Has Limited Activities On the Part of Aviators.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 6.—There was given out in London today a British semi-weekly report on the progress of hostilities under date of April 5. It reads as follows:

"The situation still remains quiet on our front. A change in the weather limited the possibilities of activity on the part of our airmen.

"Early in the morning of April 3 we successfully exploded a mine under the German trenches in the neighborhood of La Bassee. A length of 100 yards of trench and part of a brick-stack were destroyed, and as a result all German activity in the immediate neighborhood was terminated. The German artillery, however, has subjected our front in that quarter to a heavy bombardment.

"On our extreme left the local superiority obtained by our snipers has been remarkable by the comparative immunity with which the work on the front line of trenches has been carried out.

"In this connection it should be pointed out that although no reports have been sent since March 22, owing to the lack of any incidents worthy of special mention, yet individualy activities have been of daily and nightly occurrences along the entire front. The general effect of these activities, in which our troops continue to show marked superiority, as already recorded, is cumulative and of great military value."

SON OF LONDONER KILLED AT FRONT

George Reading Receives Word That His Boy Died in France.

Word has come to George Reading, caretaker at the armories, who lives at 570 Princess avenue, that his son, Corp. George Reading, of the 2nd Northamptons, had been killed in action on March 16. The last letter which his parents received from Corp. Reading was printed a month ago in The Advertiser. It told of the terrific fighting, and Corp. Reading was in the thick of it from the beginning of the war. The German trenches were only 50 yards from the British lines, Reading wrote.

The news of his son's death was received by Mr. Reading, when a letter which he wrote to his son was returned with the words written on the back, "Killed in action," and the official stamp of the war office. Corp. Reading has a wife in England. He had served twelve years in the British army, and was a clever musician, and at the end of his time, which would have been shortly after the declaration of war, had intended to come to Canada.

KEEP HEADS DOWN IS TRENCH ORDER

Canadian Tells What Happens When the Command Is Disregarded.

TIME IS PASSING QUIETLY

Sergeant Lindsay Has Good Dugout, With Great View.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, April 6.—That Canadians at the front just now are having a quiet time is shown by a letter received at this office today from Sergeant Hugh Lindsay, 1st Brigade. "A few sandbags, gleaming white wire entanglements and German trenches, that is all there is to see. Put your head up to take in a larger view and bang, whiz. 'Keep your bally head down,' sings out some Tommy to you, and you keep it down. Fritz, over the way, saw something looking remarkably British and pulled his trigger. Then you put your head down, and Fritz retires to his sausage.

"It's a great game, but you can only afford to lose once.

His Dugout.

"I have a dugout, an excellent one, as far as dugouts go. True it is that dignity is lost, the mode of entrance being on all fours and getting out is just a case of backing out, with an inward prayer that none of our comrades are strolling round, as they never look where they put their feet.

Alas! My Brewery.

"This dugout has a commanding appearance as a real estate agent would say. By poking out my head I see a lake, a lone tree, some grass and a brewery. Alas, my brewery, (I look upon it as my brewery, as my dugout commands a best view), now no longer bubbling and foaming for its king and country, but full of queer holes and cats."

"Bridge of Sighs."

"There is a little trestle bridge over the lake—I call it the 'Bridge of Sighs.' Many a good man has stood on this bridge and sighed at the brewery, so near and not working. Should you care to visit us, the countryside will be searched to give you a good feed. After passing the church that was a church, but is now just a steeple, take the second turning to the right. Don't take the first (which is Shrapnel Alley), walk stfaight on, but not too far, else you will walk into German trenches.

Become a Vegetable.

"If you get the searchlight turned on you, imagine yourself a turnip or something in the vegetable line, and lie still. Then resume when the searchlight has flitted away. When you fall over barbed wire you will know you have arrived at your destination."

Sergt. Harry Murton, of Toronto, writes: "We have no perspective of what is going on generally at all, but merely see a little section of the line where we happen to be. We are now resting for a week from the trenches, but expect to move shortly, when, doubtless, there will be more going on."

GERMAN SPIES USED CANADIANS' UNIFORMS

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, April 6.—How a German sniper enjoyed a brief immunity from death or capture by using a Maxim "silencer," and how the betrayal of his whereabouts in a little pit between the contending forces was eventually effected by his little dog, which had been in the habit of taking him food, is described in a letter by C. D. Whitby, of the Royal Montreal Regiment, at present somewhere in Flanders. Both sniper and dog were killed.

Private Whitby also reports that the Canadian division has, curiously enough, been utilized by the Germans for their own nefarious ends. Before the contingent had landed in France the Teutons were circulating through the British lines, wearing Canadian uniforms and posing as officers of the advance party. Several were captured and shot.

THE DIARY OF MARS

Today's dispatches report the sinking of two more vessels. The British steamer Northlands and the trawler Agatha were torpedoed near the English coast. The crews were rescued.

The torpedoeing of the Italian steamer Luigi Parodi, reported last night, is believed in Genoa to have occurred off the coast of Spain, indicating a considerable increased range of operations for the large submarines such as Germany is now using. Another Italian steamer, the Pina, is overdue at Cardiff by about a month, and it is feared she has been torpedoed.

It is reported unofficially from Dunkirk that a German submarine has been caught near Dover in nets such as have been placed at various points along the English coast to trap these boats.

Military preparations are being pushed in Italy with increasing vigor. A Rome dispatch says negotiations are being continued with Austria, and there is still hope of a settlement by diplomatic means.

Reports of a decisive Russian victory in the Carpathians are doubted in Berlin, where it is said that the result of the great mountain battle is still in doubt. A German correspondent at the front points out that Russian advances in consequence of local victories will make their offensive movements more difficult.

Further fighting has occurred between Belgian and German forces in Africa. An official report from the Belgian Congo says that an invading German force was defeated and pursued into German territory.

RUSSIA FORCES WAY INTO HUNGARY THROUGH TWO PASSES

Capture Important Station In the Mountains, Taking Huge Stock of War Munitions—Another Success Is Claimed In Bukowina.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, April 5.—10:50 p.m.—Public attention today is almost entirely directed toward the great struggle for the Carpathian passes, where the Russians apparently are making very steady progress despite the obstinate resistance offered by the Austrian and German troops. The Russians are on the Hungarian side of both the Dukla and Lupkow passes, and with the aid of continual reinforcements are gaining the heights which dominate Uzsok Pass. Even the Austrian official report admits that fighting is now taking place in the Laboreza Valley which is south of Lupkow Pass, while the Russians tonight announce the capture of Cisna, an important station on the high mountains between Lupkow and Uzsok passes, where they captured a great stock of war munitions and provisions.

The Russians also are advancing from Dukla Pass on Bartfeldt, which is at the head of the line of railway running south in Hungary, and fighting not far from Mezolaborcz, another important railroad head.

On Saturday and Sunday they captured in the Carpathians upward of three thousand prisoners. They also claim another success in Bukowina, and the capture of another thousand prisoners, while the Austrians also assert that they repulsed a Russian force which attempted to cross the Dniester River.

The Russians also are making progress in northern Poland, a German official report telling of the repulse of a Russian attack on Mariampol, which is considerably west of the region which a few days ago was in the possession of the Germans.

FIERCE FIGHTING WITH BAYONET AND ARTILLERY.

PETROGRAD (via London), April 5. —10 p.m.—The following official statement concerning the progress of the war was given out here tonight:

"Along the front west of the Niemen River yesterday our troops continued to make successful progress at certain points.

"In the Carpathians during the night of April 3-4, and during the whole of the following day in the region to the north of Bartfeldt, there was fierce fighting with artillery and the bayonet. We took twenty officers and more than twelve hundred soldiers prisoners and captured two machine guns. At the same time we continued to make progress on the front between Mezolaborcz and Uzsok. In the course of the day we captured about twenty-five officers and more than two thousand soldiers and took three guns.

"Having occupied the railway station at Cisna (in the Carpathians, on the Galician side, about fifteen miles east of Lupkow), we captured engines and coaches, as well as a great stock of ammunition and part of a provision train.

"There was desperate fighting Wednesday and Thursday near the village of Okna, to the north of Czernowitz (Bukowina), as a result of which we took more than a thousand prisoners whom the Austrians had left behind.

"On the other sectors of our front the general situation has undergone no material change."

Austrian Statement.

VIENNA, April 5.—(Via London, 7:55 p.m.)—The following official statement was given out today at the war office:

"Violent fighting continues in the Laborcza Valley and the neighboring region.

"On the other front severe artillery engagements have taken place, but generally it is calm.

"Near Dsejebusznie, east of Zaleszitrow, a strong hostile force which attempted to cross the Dniester River was repulsed after many hours of fighting. We captured 1,400 men."

GIFFORD PINCHOT DRIVEN AWAY BY THE GERMANS

Special Agent of the United States Not Permitted To Assist in Distributing Food To Destitute.

THE HAGUE, April 5, via London—8:50 p.m.—Gifford Pinchot, ex-chief forester of the United States, who, it is understood, has been acting as special agent for the State Department at Washington, in the European war zone, has been expelled from Belgium by the German authorities.

LONDON, April 5.—10:20 p.m.—It is understood here that Gifford Pinchot, who received an appointment to assist the American commission for relief in Belgium distribute food to destitute French people in the territory occupied by the Germans, was refused permission by the German authorities to enter Belgium.

ACTOR DIES SUDDENLY

Succeeded Man Who Fell Dead During Performance.

[Canadian Press.]

Elizabeth, N. J., April 6.—George C. Staley, an actor, who was playing a part in a road company here, died suddenly of heart disease in his dressing-room in a local theatre last night. He joined the company to take the part left vacant when John Fay Palmer, of Cleveland, fell dead during a performance at Trenton.

BIG LOSS OF HAY.

[Canadian Press.]

Houston, Texas, April 6.—Two hundred thousand bales of hay awaiting shipment to European countries engaged in war were burned here last night, when fire destroyed the warehouses of W. L. Edmondson.

SWISS NEWSPAPERMAN EXPELLED FROM FRANCE

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, April 6.—The ministry of the interior, the Matin says, has issued a decree of expulsion against the Swiss newspaperman Edward Behrens, who is charged with taking advantage of his neutral nationality to act as Paris correspondent of the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger.

FORMER GOVERNOR DEAD.

[Canadian Press.]

Boston, April 6.—Curtis Gould, former governor of Massachusetts, and former ambassador to Russia, died early today. Death was due to pneumonia, resulting from a cold contracted on a trip to Salem last week.

Kidney Disease Cured Sworn Statement

Of Mr. Wesley Maxwell, Who Gratefully Gives All Credit to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is one thing to make big claims for a medicine and quite another thing to produce irrefutable evidence that it actually cures in serious cases.

We prefer to let the cured ones speak for themselves, and that is why you find in almost every newspaper the report of someone who has been cured by the use of Dr. Chase's medicines. Today we present the sworn statement of Mr. Wesley Maxwell. When a man goes to this trouble in expressing his gratitude there can be no question of the benefit he has received. Mr. Wesley Maxwell, Orangeville, Ont., writes: "I have been using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I must tell you that before I started using them I could only make water with the greatest difficulty, and had very severe pains in the back. I am completely cured now by the use of these pills. Before that I used a lot of doctors' medicine without any benefit that I could see. I am thankful for being cured, and can recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills very highly."

SWORN STATEMENT.

"This is to certify that I, Wesley Maxwell, of the Township of Caledon, was cured of kidney trouble by taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"Wesley Maxwell."

(Sworn before me as correct the 6th day of January, 1915.—Wm. Hawkins, Sen. Justice of the Peace.)

This statement is also indorsed by the Rev. Geo. W. Robinson, who is Mr. Maxwell's pastor.

This cure will interest a great many people who are suffering as Mr. Maxwell was with kidney and urinary troubles. It will only cost you a quarter to buy a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and put this medicine to the test. We are sure that you will be thankful to the writer for describing his cure to you. For sale at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

THREE MORE LIVES AND SHIPS LOST

Additional Disasters Due To Saturday's Storm In Atlantic.

[Canadian Press.]

Norfolk, Va., April 6.—Reports of the loss of three additional lives and the wrecking of three schooners in Saturday's storm were received here early this morning. The lost men were of the crew of the schooner Josephine, which pounded to pieces on the North Carolina coast. Captain Crealman is among the missing.

Kill Devil coastguards rescued four of the Josephine's crew of seven. The three missing men had lashed themselves to a mast which toppled over into the sea.

The four-masted schooner William Thomas Moore was wrecked 30 miles northeast of Cape Henry. Captain Jones and his crew were brought here last night by the British steamer Morazan.

The schooner Loring C. Ballard is a total wreck on the North Carolina coast near Gull Shoals. Her crew was rescued.

ITALIAN STEAMER SUNK BY GERMANS

Genoa Is Aroused By Submarine's Act, and Deep Resentment Shown.

[Canadian Press.]

GENOA, Italy, April 5, 1:15 p.m., via Paris, 9:15 p.m.—News was received here today that a German submarine had sunk the Italian steamer Luigi Parodi, which left Baltimore on January 22 with a cargo of coal for Genoa.

The report has caused a profound impression here, and there are many expressions of resentment.

Great excitement prevails and the authorities have taken strong measures to protect the German colony and German shops from the possible exaction of reprisals.

Nothing is known as to the fate of the crew of the Luigi Parodi, which was made up entirely of Genoese.

SUPPORTS HIS PLEA FOR DISARMAMENT

Itallan Senator Contends That It Is Necessary To Lasting Peace.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, April 6.—Senator Morandi, former tutor of King Victor Emmanuel, who presented in the Senate a resolution favoring disarmament, has written a long article supporting his views, which, he says, should be discussed more widely if Italy is likely to turn from neutrality to war, since a lasting peace would be impossible without a partial and simultaneous disarmament of the great nations. He contends that only those countries which intend to prepare for another war immediately after the close of the present conflict can disagree with this view.

Senator Morandi recalls that when the four powers allied against Napoleon considered the French emperor defeated, they agreed in London in June, 1814, to reduce their forces by half, but owing to Napoleon's return from Elba there was no real disarmament until after Waterloo. The conclusion reached by Senator Morandi is that without disarmament the world must expect "not revolution, but anarchy."

Aviator Pegoud Adds to Records

Drives Off Three Enemy Craft, Then Brings Another Down.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, April 6.—Another daring exploit has been added to the long list of those successfully carried out by Adolphe Pegoud, the famous French aviator, who is reported to have attacked and brought down a German taube near Saint Menehould, while he was alone on patrol duty April 2.

The report of the incident says that when Pegoud saw the German approaching he flew rapidly towards the hostile aircraft and sent it to earth with a few well-placed shots. Pegoud then landed beside the taube and took prisoner the German pilot and observer, neither of whom was injured.

Earlier in the same day, Pegoud is reported to have driven off three other German aeroplanes, one of which had dropped nine bombs on a railroad station.

Pegoud, who first gained fame in 1913 as the originator of the feat of flying upside down in an aeroplane, was awarded the French military medal early in March for services rendered the army during the war.

ENEMY REPULSED BY BELGIANS IN AFRICA

German Assaults on Congo Territory Fail—Attackers Being Pursued.

[Canadian Press.]

Havre, April 6.—Fresh attacks by German forces against the Belgian Congo have been repulsed, according to a report made by the deputy governor-general at Katanga to the Belgian minister for the colonies. An assault made on Mount Hebu, north of Lake Kivu, was driven back with heavy losses to the Germans, who were pursued into their own territory (German East Africa).

The railroad from Kalbo to Lake Tanganika was completed the middle of March. This line provides an additional element of defence, for it makes possible a trip from Stanley Falls to Tanganika in less than a week.

GERMANY SUSPENDS PARCEL POST SERVICE

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, via London, April 6.—The German postal officials have suspended until further notice parcel post service to Argentina, Colombia, Costa Rica, Greece, the Italian colonies, the Dutch West Indies, Panama, Portugal, Spain, Uruguay and Venezuela.

OWES HER LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Cured Both Stomach Trouble and Headaches.

PALMERSTON, Ont., June 20, 1913.—"I really believe that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives.' Ever since childhood, I have been under the care of physicians and have been paying doctor's bills. I was so sick and worn out that people on the street often asked me if I thought I could get along without help. The same old Stomach Trouble and distressing Headaches nearly drove me wild. Sometime ago, I got a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. My husband was delighted and advised a continuation of their use.

"Today I am feeling fine, and a physician meeting me on the street, noticed my improved appearance and asked the reason. I replied: 'I am taking Fruit-a-tives.' He said 'Well, if Fruit-a-tives are making you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can.'"

MRS. H. S. WILLIAMS."

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

DOUBTS AUSTRIA SEEKING PEACE

Italian Paper Says Germany Would Not Allow Separate Deal.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, April 6.—Any effort by Austria to conclude a separate peace is considered highly improbable by the Giornale d'Italia, which declares the military organization of the dual monarchy is in the hands of Germany, forming with her "only one body, if not one soul." The paper argues, therefore, that Germany might prevent even materially any effort of Austria to come to terms separately with the nations now arrayed against her.

Such a step would be also highly humiliating to Austria in her relations with Servia, the Giornale d'Italia says, as well as a confession that the central empires considered themselves beaten.

"Austria," the paper says, "represents merely a military embarrassment for Germany, but she represents also a large contingent of men and materials diverting the Russian avalanche from Germany. Germany might permit negotiations only if she desired them to be the first step toward a general peace."

WANTS ENERGETIC ATTACKS IN SERVIA

Reason For Von Der Goltz's Person al Visit To Kaiser Wilhelm.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, April 6.—The real purpose of the trip to Berlin made by Field Marshal Von Der Goltz, German military adviser to Turkey, telegraphs the Journal's Athens correspondent, was to convince Emperor William of the necessity for new and more energetic attacks against Servia under the command of the field marshal.

Such an attack, the Journal's correspondent says, is considered essential by German officers in Constantinople, in order to establish communications necessary to enable them to obtain supplies of ammunition, which are needed badly. Another purpose of such a move, according to the dispatch, would be the hope that it might turn the neutral Balkan nations against the Triple Entente, for it is believed in Constantinople that the delay in the Dardanelles operations has been a disappointment to partisans of the Allies.

WOMEN OF CHICAGO VOTING FOR OFFICIALS

Largest Vote Ever Cast Expected To Be Today's Result.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, April 6.—More than three-quarters of a million men and women were eligible to vote at today's election for mayor, city treasurer, city clerk, one judge of municipal court, and 38 aldermen.

A number of bond and annexation proposals were on the ballot. The total registration was 769,106, of whom 486,-815 were men and 282,291 were women.

The candidates for mayor are: William Hale Thompson (Republican), Robert M. Sweitzer (Democrat), Seymour Stedman (Socialist), John Hill (Progressive).

Both Democratic and Republican candidates claimed a majority of the woman vote, at the same time admitting that it was an uncertain quality.

The weather was clear and warm, and the largest vote ever cast in Chicago was predicted.

HE FELT LIKE A DIFFERENT MAN

That's Why N. D. Gillis Expresses His Thanks To Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He Was Sick All Over, But Found New Health When Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Kidneys.

Grand Mira South, Cape Breton, N. S., April 5.—(Special.)—Neil D. Gillis, well known and highly respected here, states that he wishes to express his thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. And he gives a reason.

"Last summer I took sick," Mr. Gillis states, "I began to lose strength and had palpitation of the heart, with shortness of breath, and after a couple of weeks my back began to pain me. It got so bad I could not rest, could hardly walk the floor.

"I was depressed and low spirited, and had pressure or sharp pain on the top of my head. I was in bad shape indeed when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, but I got quick relief. After using one box I felt a different man and after taking three boxes I had no more trouble. I can now do my day's work as well as ever."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys. Cured Kidneys mean that all impurities are strained out of the blood and new health all over the body. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills made Mr. Gillis feel like a different man.

Every Woman Will Wish To Be Here Tomorrow

Sale of Seconds In Fine Linen Tablecloths and Napkins

COMMENCES AT 8:30 A.M. TOMORROW.

It is unnecessary to go into lengthy description of these, as most customers are acquainted with the high grade linens imported by this store. This lot is from one of the manufacturers from whom we buy much linen and who, in turn, allows us a share of his seconds that accumulate. The imperfections in this shipment are so slight in most pieces as to be detected only by an expert, but sufficiently great in the estimation of the maker (enjoying a reputation for finest goods only) as to brand them "seconds."

Four months ago a lot from this same mill was sold out in one day, and tomorrow the many customers disappointed then will have the opportunity again of savings of 25 per cent for regular lines.

New Explosive Doubles Effect of French Shells

Mysterious Powder Put Into Use on Three-Inch Guns.

PARIS, April 5.—5:45 p.m.—The Army Bulletin today makes the first official reference to the new powder which has been talked about mysteriously for months.

The Bulletin says that, without entering into details, which cannot be divulged, it may be stated that the new explosive recently put into use doubles the explosive effect of the shells of three-inch guns.

TWO GERMAN OFFICERS ESCAPE WELSH CAMP

LONDON, April 5.—Two German officers escaped last night from the concentration camp for prisoners at Denbigh, Wales. They are Lieut. Von Sanders Labon and Lieut. Hambler. The latter is one of the aviators rescued from the North Sea.

The two men answered roll-call at 8 o'clock last night, but this morning they were found to be missing.

SPRING MEDICINE

Dood's Sarsaparilla, the Great Blood Purifier, Is the Best.

Spring sickness comes in some degree to every man, woman and child in our climate.

It is that run-down condition of the system that results from impure, impoverished, devitalized blood.

It is marked by loss of appetite and that tired feeling, and in many cases by some form of eruption.

The best way to treat spring sickness is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old reliable family medicine purifies, enriches and revitalizes the blood. It is an all-the-year-round alterative and tonic, and is absolutely the best spring medicine.

Get your blood in good condition at once—now. Delay may be dangerous. Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and insist on having it, for nothing else can take its place.

MOTHER! IT'S CRUEL TO FORCE OIL OR CALOMEL INTO A SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "physic" that mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing give "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow. It should be the first remedy given, as it always does good, never any harm.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

TWO MORE BRITISH VESSELS STRICKEN

Northlands and Agatha Latest Victims of German Submarine Attack.

FEARS FELT FOR THE PINA

Italian Vessel Long Overdue —Enemy Seizes Swedish Craft With Maize.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 6—11:21 a.m.—The British steamer Northlands, of 2,000 tons, with a cargo of iron ore, was sent to the bottom by a German submarine in the English Channel off Beachy Head on Monday morning.

The Northlands sank in ten minutes. Her crew of 24 men were picked up later by the Belgian steamer Topati.

The Northlands was built at West Hartlepool in 1900, and was owned by the Northlands S. S. (Ltd.), of Cardiff.

NOT THE LINER.

New York, April 6.—The British steamer Northlands, sunk by a submarine in the British Channel Monday morning, should not be confused with the White Star liner Northland, now in the Dominion service, according to the agents here. The Northland left Liverpool April 1 with 189 passengers for Halifax. This last named vessel is of 12.760 tons register, and until the outbreak of the war was the Red Star liner Zeeland, which sailed between New York and Liverpool.

TRAWLER ALSO SUNK.

[Canadian Press.]

Blyth, Eng., April 6—12:42 p.m.—The trawler Agantha was attacked by a German submarine yesterday off Longstone and sent to the bottom.

The crew of 13 men was rescued by the Swedish steamer Tord, and landed here today.

ITALIAN MAY BE LOST.

[Canadian Press.]

Naples, April 6.—Fears are felt in shipping circles here that the steamer Pina has been sunk by a German submarine. This vessel belonged to the firm which owned the Luigi Parodi, an Italian ship reported to have been torpedoed. The Pina left Naples late in February for Cardiff to take on a cargo of coal and nothing has been heard from her since then, although the voyage to Cardiff should have taken only about ten days.

Protest is Urged.

Reports that Italian steamers have been sunk by German submarines have caused intense excitement in this city. The press is urging the Government to protest and demand that neutral steamers be respected, meanwhile demanding reparation for the ships reported sunk.

According to information obtained here the crew of the Luigi Parodi numbered 29, and nothing has been learned as to their fate.

SWEDISH VESSEL SEIZED.

[Canadian Press.]

Copenhagen, April 6.—The Swedish steamer England, from Buenos Ayres for Gothenburg, has been seized by the Germans in the Baltic and taken into a German port, according to dispatches appearing in Stockholm newspapers.

The England was loaded with maize and bran. She had discharged part of her cargo at Gothenburg, and was proceeding to Stockholm when seized.

DOUBTS TORPEDOEING.

Paris, April 6.—The Matin this morning publishes a dispatch from its correspondent at Rome, who advances the idea that the Italian steamer Luigi Parodi, said to have been sunk by a German submarine, has been lost at sea. It is improbable, the correspondent says, that she has been the victim of a German sea raider, for the reason that these vessels are operating in a zone far removed from the course of the Italian boat.

CITY WILL CONTRIBUTE $10,000 FOR REBUILDING GRAND STAND

Control Board Recommends It —Money Is Urgently Needed.

Toward the reconstruction of the burned grandstand of the Western Fair the city will this year contribute $10,000 if the recommendation of the board of control, passed this afternoon, passes the council this evening.

Of this $10,000, some $2,500 will be in cash and will take the place of the annual grant, while the remaining $7,500 will be in five-year debentures, which will have to be authorized by the city of London bill of next year. No difficulty is anticipated in securing this required ratification.

Headed by Vice-President Col. W. M. Gartshore, the Western Fair delegation which appeared before the controllers presented their request for the $10,000 grant. Unless this were given, said the members of the deputation, there would be no fair this year.

Giving $15,000.

Lieut.-Col. Gartshore referred to the fact that the Government was giving some $15,000 toward the new steel stand, which would cost $30,000. The fair board was prepared to pay the difference if the city would contribute at least $10,000. The seating capacity of this new stand would be 5,000, and it would be so constructed that at any future time it would be possible to remove it to some other site at a very small amount of cost.

The vice-president further stated that the fair was prepared to waive the usual $2,500 grant if the city would contribute toward the cost of grandstand construction.

Necessity for immediate action, if the stand is to be in place in time for this year's exhibition, was urged by Secretary A. M. Hunt. A request was also made for the city engineer and city building inspector to supervise the plans and construction in order that it could be done as economically as possible. This request was acceded to.

Those in the deputation were Messrs. Gartshore, Hunt, T. H. Smallman, Jeffrey Hale, William McNeill and William Moore. All spoke briefly.

YOUTH DEAD OF WOUNDS BORN AND LIVED HERE

Erle Bain Resided in This City 18 Years—Family Well Known in London.

Earle Bain, whose name appears in today's casualty list as having died in a Rouen, France, hospital from wounds received in the fighting with the Germans, and whose home is given as Windsor, was born in London and lived here with his parents for some eighteen years.

His father, Erle Bain Sen., was for many years employed as a tinsmith by Wm. Stevely & Son. He came here from Woodstock shortly before the birth of the son now dead and lived first on Grosvenor street and later on Waterloo, near Victoria street.

Ten years ago he moved to Windsor with his family, but seven years later returned to London, and for one year again worked for Stevelys. He was not accompanied by his family, and two years ago rejoined them in Windsor, where Erle junior was employed by the firm of Cunnington & O'Brien as a tinsmith.

Besides his father and mother, Erle leaves two sisters and two brothers.

DAYLIGHT BILL MAY GO THROUGH

Mayor Stevenson Drafting Resolution for Presentation to Council.

While press of other business prevented its introduction at the board of control meeting today, the question of providing an extra hour of daylight for Londoners during the summer months will be brought to the attention of the council tonight. Mayor H. A. Stevenson is now working on the question, and according to a statement made to The Advertiser this afternoon hopes to have a bylaw prepared in time for the council meeting, that will secure this extra hour by calling on all manufacturers and businessmen to open and close their places of business one hour earlier during the next four months.

There is some question as to just what procedure will be necessary to secure this extra hour, and as as soon as this has been settled the proposition will come before the council in its complete form.

FINAL INSPECTION OF 18TH TOMORROW

Men Busy Getting Everything in Readiness for Event.

The men of the 18th Battalion are busy today getting everything in shape for their final inspection at Wolseley Barracks tomorrow by Lieut.-Col. Dennison, of Toronto. It is expected that Lieut.-Col. Dennison will arrive in the morning and that the inspection will occupy the rest of the day. The men's clothing, rifles and general equipment will be gone through thoroughly. New shoes have just been issued to all. Marching orders for the 18th are expected to arrive at any time. Lieut.-Col. Wigle is confident that no finer body of men than the 18th will go to Britain's aid, and the men, on their part, are certain that they have the best commander ever, and are willing to go anywhere and through anything with him.

WOULD GRADUATE SCALE

Controller White Believes in Efficiency Pay for Garbage Employees.

Controller Frank White believes in a graduated scale of pay for the employees of the city garbage department. Today when the recommendation of the fire, water and light committee was brought in to the control board that no action be taken on the superintendent's request for graduated pay, he introduced a motion to send it back to committee. His motion carried.

He declared himself as firmly in favor of anything that would tend to increase the efficiency of the department, but changed the superintendent's recommendation, which was for $1.75, $2 and $2.25 per day, to $1.90, $2 and $2.10.

REV. HUGH MACFARLANE ACCEPTS CALL TO BARRIE

Assistant Pastor of St. Andrew's Church Leaves First of Next Month.

Rev. Hugh MacFarlane, assistant pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, announced today that he had accepted a call from the Barrie Presbyterian Church, and that he would leave here for there to take up his duties the first of next month as assistant to Dr. McLeod, of the Barrie Presbyterian Church.

Mr. MacFarlane came to this city almost two years ago to act as assistant to the late Rev. Dr. James Ross, and since the latter's death has acted in a like capacity to Rev. D. C. MacGregor. Mr. MacFarlane is well liked by members of the congregation, many of whom expressed their deep regret at learning that he was about to leave the city.

COLORED GIRL OPERATED ON

Bullet Dead Husband Fired at Her Extracted.

Gertrude Corcoran, shot Saturday night by her husband, Levi Corcoran, who later blew out his brains, underwent an operation in Victoria Hospital today, during which the bullet was removed from the woman's right shoulder.

According to the hospital authorities, Mrs. Corcoran is rapidly recovering from her wound, and her condition today is reported as being exceedingly good.

The woman, in a statement, said she believed her husband went suddenly insane, and that the shooting was the result of this.

CITY HAS TO PAY

Quashing of License Reduction Bylaw Cost It $80.

On the advice of City Solicitor T. G. Meredith, the board of control today recommended the payment of $80 to Graydon & Graydon, solicitors for the liquor men who successfully fought against the license reduction bylaw. The money represents the costs awarded to the applicant in the motion to quash the bylaw.

LACK OF HARMONY

City Departments Do Not Work Together Is Charge of W. C. Dodd.

Lack of harmony in the civic departments was brought to the attention of the board of control today by W. C. Dodd, superintendent of the garbage department. The superintendent has reported on the necessity for additional lighting at the incinerator and the bids submitted by electrical contractors were considered excessive. It was suggested that the city wiring department supervise the work, and that it be done by the incinerator engineers.

"The wiring inspector refused to go down and give a price on it, and also refused to allow his assistant to go," reported Mr. Dodd. "This is just a sample of the lack of harmony in the departments."

Further reports will be secured in connection with this work.

MAY BE DISCHARGED

Two 18th Men Create Rumpus—Brought to Police Station.

Frank Stinson and Sydney McHugh, of B Company, 33rd Battalion, and W. G. Fitzpatrick, of the 18th Battalion, were hurriedly brought to the police station shortly after noon today as a result of a disturbance they created in the guardhouse at the fair grounds. McHugh, it was stated to The Advertiser, got through the King street window of the guardhouse, and was running away when seen by the sentry. The sentry at once called out the guard, and after a run of four blocks, the man was captured and brought back. Hundreds of people witnessed the chase down King street. The other two men, it is alleged, ripped up part of the flooring of the guardhouse and smashed the windows. It is said that they were put in "clink" for being drunk, and were amusing themselves in this way. They will appear before Magistrate Judd, and if found guilty will, officers state, be discharged from their regiments.

FOREIGNERS PREFERRED TO LONDON CITIZENS

So Man Charges in Letter Relevant To Work On Storm Sewers.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—I wish you could spare us a space in your paper. We are taxpayers of the city of London, and we are out of work, and we wish the city to look into the matter for us. We were out to the big storm sewer on Egerton street three weeks ago, and they promised us work there. They said it would be in a couple of days, and the days have passed into weeks, and when the foreman wanted a man he would walk right down the bunch of us Canadians and give a foreigner the job instead of us.

This morning we went to the sewer and they would not give us a job. Mr. Nickelson, the contractor, told us a few days ago that he was going to set up a new machine north of the tracks, and he would give us a job, and so when this morning came we were all there ready to go to work. But when the dago foreman came he gave his own countrymen the job. I think that our own men in the city are good enough to handle the work as well as dagoes. Some time ago a man asked Dago Joe for a job and he told him that he wanted Dagos, because they were his own countrymen, and when they did not give us a job this morning, we went and waited on Ald. Palmer, and he called up Mr. Nickleson and he said that he would not give white men a job in the bottom of the sewer, because he would not be held repsonsible for white men getting hurt, and if the city would be responsible he would give white men a job. What about the foreigners? I suppose if he kills them it will be all right. Sir, there are men among us who did not ask the city for help in the cold weather because we were waiting for the sewer to start, but instead of giving us a job they brought foreigners from Cleveland, Ohio, and they can get work. The taxpayers of the city of London cannot, but still we have got to pay for the sewer. Dear sir, we would like the people of the city of London to look into them atter for us. Yours truly. UNEMPLOYED.

HYDRO RESOLUTIONS

Council Will Memorialize Government for Radial Subsidy Tonight.

Resolutions memorializing the Ontario Government to pay a subsidy of $3.500 a mile for municipally-owned hydro-electric radials, will be submitted to the council tonight. The blank forms, sent out by the Ontario Hydro-Radial Association were submitted to the board of control at its meeting today and sent on to the council with the indorsation of that body.

WILL SAVE MONEY

Brick Cleaning Experiment Means Saving in City's Pocket This Year.

By cleaning the bricks on the Federal Square site, the cit yis going to save a nice little sum of money this year. It is paying $4 per thousand for the removal, cleaning and stacking of bricks. It is estimated that sufficient will be taken out to do all the brick manholes and sewer work this year, and the city will be in pocket the difference between the $4 it is paying and the $12 per thousand formerly paid for sewer brick.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Mrs. Martha Bartlett.

The death of Mrs. Martha Bartlett, of lot 19, Cook's Road, Caradoc, occurred on Monday at her home, where she had lived for 26 years. BRITISH WARSHIPS ACTIVE AT STRAITS

Bombard Forts On the Gulf of Smyrna—Hydroplanes Drop Bombs.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 6—5:32 p.m.—The Reuter Telegram Company has received from its correspondent at Athens saying that British warships again bombarded the forts at the entrance to the Gulf of Smyrna Monday, according to the report of the captain of the Greek steamer Arcadia.

Hydroplanes of the Allies dropped a number of bombs, the captain declares, and the vali of Smyrna ordered Europeans to leave town.

HOW BELGIUM LIVES

"So," mused the Belgian. "Then that was a bad defeat WE had in the North Sea last week."

Get British Papers.

Brussels is not uninformed of the outside world. English newspapers are smuggled into the city in the most mysterious way, and try as they do the German authorities cannot discover how they reach the city. Sometimes a paper passes through a dozen hands before it reaches the person to whom it is intended. Even though two or three weeks old a London paper will bring a fancy price any time.

The German garrison is now composed of the men and boys unfitted for the arduous work at the front, one by age the other by youth. Returning persons say a battalion of boy scouts recently detrained from Germany and marched with defiant goose step toward headquarters. Also, they have seen elderly men, men not hard to picture as grandfathers but difficult to imagine as goose-stepping to martial music, patrolling the city streets. One of them a sergeant had long white whiskers.

Although the people of Brussels are silent, they are no more cowed than would be the people of Berlin under similar circumstances. In the "Apache" quarter no German sentry ever travels alone these nights. Too many of them disappeared in the most unaccountable way. Now the night patrols consist of three German soldiers and a Brussels gendarme.

Fooling Germans.

These Marolliens, as the peope of that neighborhood are called, delight in reversing the German official bulletins, so as to make it appear, for instance, that 4,000 Germans captured 200 British or French.

The little urchins of the locality are not less mischievous than their elders. They delight in giving military parades, with carrots stuck in their paper hats to represent helmets, and stovepipe lashed to little toy carts to represent the famous 42-centimeters.

But if these are designed to irritate the German officers they fail of their purpose. The officials approve of the demonstrations, and declare that it is awakening the proper military spirit in the boys.

The Germans continue their never-ending search for metals, of which there is a great shortage in the Fatherland. Roofs of public buildings have been stripped of the copper and zinc sheathing, and all transported to Germany. The massive gates of the Antwerp Central Railway station have gone the same way. Great reels of copper wire from telephone exchanges have been taken.

A heavy tax is imposed for the use of a telephone, and the eGrmans display startling energy in ferreting out the persons who have not paid.

German civil employees in Brussels are increasing in number daily. The postoffice is entirely manned by Germans, the Belgian employees having refused in a body to work under the conqueror.

Gave Wrong Answers.

When all subjects of foreign nations in Brussels were forced to register, several Englishwomen who, naturally, had nothing to fear, gave outrageously inaccurate answers to the officials.

One woman who, incidentally, was slender with brown hair and brown eyes appeared before the officer in charge of the work.

"What is the color of your eyes, madame?" was one of his questions, answers to which he was recording on a blank form.

"Heavenly blue," she replied.

"Blue eyes appear to be popular," said the officer sarcastically. "Every woman I have questioned gives the same answer. I did not know there were so many shades of blue eyes in England. How tall are you?"

"Six feet and a half," she declared immediately, although this was exaggeration by fully 12 inches.

However, these women paid for their polite flippancy. They were soon notified that their husbands were leaving shortly for Germany and told where the latter were being held, if they desired to speak a last short farewell.

Civil and military prisoners are being housed in the foreign office, and they have a pretty dull time of it, usually whiling away the hours reading documents that passed between diplomats decades ago.

They turn with childish relief to games of any kind. One man who was imprisoned in a room with two priests and an attorney tells that they spent their time with dominoes until some marbles were obtained. Then the priests tucked their cassocks in at the knees and joined with their companions in a spirited contest of marbles, much to the astonishment of the sentry.

SERVICE IRREGULAR

Service on the London Street Railway is irregular and not up to the schedules demanded by the city, according to the reports submitted to City Engineer H. A. Brazier by the corps of checkers he had at work.

The engineer reported that the number of cars was two short from that required by the city, but was not in accordance with the schedule submitted by the company. He also declared that the headway between individual cars was very irregular. This question will be brought up at the council tonight in company with a host of other street railway matters which include double tracking of Richmond street over the G. T. R. tracks.

GARAGE'S NEW MANAGER.—Mr. Ralph H. Turner, a former Londoner, has returned to the city and taken over the management of the Central Garage. Mr. Turner has been for thirteen years in Detroit, where he has had considerable experience with motor sales companies. He is enthusiastic about the improvements that have taken place in this city since he left, and states that with the better pavements London now has, motoring will undoubtedly become more popular. His ambition is to make the Central Garage one of the most popular garages in Western Ontario.

FLAX MEN ORGANIZE; G. H. CAMPBELL, PRES.

Canadian Flax Association Had Its Being in London Today.

The Canadian Flax Association came into being today at the Tecumseh House, where some twenty flax growers and manufacturers from various parts of Ontario met to discuss ways and means of improving conditions in the industry. The meeting was called on the suggestion of G. H. Campbell, president of the Canadian Flax Mills, with headquarters in Toronto, and he was elected president of the new organization unanimously. The other officers are: Secretary, A. L. McCready, president of the Ontario Flax Company and editor of the Canadian Countryman; vice-president, G. H. Fraleigh; executive, Wm. Forrester, of Mitchell; T. O. G. Gordon, secretary of the Sarnia Board of Trade and a flax grower in Alvinston; W. Tipling, of Wingham; A. M. Kerr, of Down, and H. Geiger, of Hensall.

When the meeting opened Mr. Campbell stated that it had been called for the purpose of exchanging views and to endeavor to bring the industry more to the notice of the Provincial Government, which apparently did not know that any flax was being grown in the province at all.

Government Will Aid.

Mr. Westervelt, of the provincial department of agriculture, was present, as he explained, to hear the opinions of the growers, and to learn, if possible, in what way the Government could give assistance, which he assured them it was anxious to do.

Mr. Geiger suggested that a bounty would help. He pointed out that the sugar beet growers had been assisted in this way, and went on to say that the flax crop was a very uncertain quantity. Last year was the best year for flax in twenty-five, and he expected this year also would be good, but in 1913 he had lost $4,000. A bounty, he thought, would encourage the growers.

The president was of the opinion that the industry could be made to pay without any bounty. He felt sure, he said, that by organizing into an association for mutual assistance flax growing could be made a successful industry.

Help by Education.

This was the opinion also of others of the members. Mr. Tipling expressed the view that the most effective help the Government could give would be in the nature of education along the best methods of cultivation, etc. For instance, he said, it was a common mistake to believe that flax was very hard on the soil. This was altogether wrong. Almost anything would grow after flax, and wheat, especially, did well on soil on which flax had been grown previously.

Flax Easy on Ground.

This was borne out by figures compiled by a well-known scientist in England and quoted by Mr. McCready, showing that flax took out of the ground less of the elements necessary for the production of grain than almost any other crop.

It was arranged that the executive should meet frequently, keeping the members and the Government in touch with the conditions of the flax industry, and Mr. Westervelt promised that any assistance the department could give in the way of advice would be forthcoming.

LUIGI PARODI NOT SUNK, SAYS OWNER

Expects Steamer to Arrive at Sarona, Italy, Shortly.

[Canadian Press.]

Genoa, April 6.—The owner of the Luigi Parodi denies that the vessel has been lost. He says that the steamship left Gibraltar on Saturday after being detained there 24 hours and that she is about to arrive at the Italian seaport of Savona, 24 miles southwest of Genoa.

No further news regarding the Luigi Parodi has been received, but the feeling is gaining ground here that she has not been sunkby the Germans as she was travelling outside the zone of the blockade.

UP TO HOSPITAL

Alterations at Incinerator To Be Paid for by Trust.

Recommended improvements at the incinerator plant totalling an estimated cost of some $500 and more were referred to the hospital trust by the board of control today. Of this amount some $312 is represented by a partition for the protection of the machinery installed in connection with the hospital heating apparatus, and $200 is for the construction of a concrete loading platform for storing coal used during the winted months for the operation of the hospital boilers worked in connection with the incinerator plant. Superintendent W. C. Dodd declared that the amount could not be charged against garbage collection, so the accounts were sent on to the trust.

LONDON, TUESDAY, APRIL 6.

THE PHONE SITUATION.

SOME years ago a new type of telephone transmitter was brought out by the Bell Company. Until that time the people of London had the old-style Blake transmitter. Evidently the company replaced the Blake instrument in order to perfect its service, and to bring about more economical management. But, on the strength of this "modern" improvement, for some years it has been collecting an extra annual sum of $5 from each subscriber for the new transmitter. If a subscriber cared to keep the old instrument he did not have to pay the extra charge, but if a new transmitter were placed in his home he paid the extra charge, and although the cost of the new equipment on good authority is said to be less than the annual charge, the subscriber is taxed with the extra $5 each year. In five years, for instance, the Bell Company would receive $25 from the subscriber, when it should not receive $5 (representing a fair interest on the equipment), and it is very doubtful if it should receive anything, for if any party to the bargain benefits by reason of the modern equipment it is the telephone company. If the transmitter is especially adapted for long distance conversation, it is a stimulant for business.

There are many other "extra" charges made by the company for extension phones and "buzzers," which are said to be excessive, and the whole phone situation will bear the closest examination before the agreement expiring on May 1 of this year is renewed. That the city should receive an adequate return for the exclusive franchise granted the company, and that every rate should be specified in the agreement, and no higher rates charged for modern equipment, is the consensus of opinion. The present city rulers have a chance to make a bargain which will be advantageous to citizens to a far greater extent than under present conditions. The controllers and council should secure all the evidence necessary and then proceed to make terms that will admit of no overcharging, or, for that matter, charging at all for necessary equipment. And citizens should be given an opportunity to tell of their experiences with the company's accounting department.

MIRTH MISPLACED.

DURING the closing hours of the debate on the license bill in the Provincial Assembly, the members of the Government and their supporters seemed to find some amusement, if the reports be correct, in the efforts of the Opposition to limit the sale of liquor. Amendments of various kinds were submitted in this direction, and as fast as one was voted down by the Conservatives, another was proposed. It seemed so funny to the majority that great laughter was evoked, and jeers were thrown across the House at those silly Liberals who actually persisted in their useless task.

Useless it doubtless was, with the Legislature as at present constituted. But to persist in attempting something useless is not necessarily funny. The people who persist may really be in earnest, and in no mood for jesting. It was perhaps useless for Belgium to stand up against a great nation like Germany, but there was nothing funny about it. It would have paid Belgium better, from one point of view, at least, if it had followed the example of Luxembourg, and allowed Germany a walkover. But nobody laughs at Belgium. All honor the brave little state.

And it may be equally useless for the friends of social reform in the Local Legislature to persist in moving amendments to a Government bill. They are sure to be voted down every time. It would be much easier, less contentious, in fact, if they would simply say, "We can do nothing; the foe is too strong; let us sit at our ease." But men who are in earnest do not excuse their inaction by their weakness. They may realize that the enemy is too strong just at the time, but they will keep up the fight, and hope for victory in the future.

And it might have been wiser tactics on the part of the Conservatives had they taken the struggle a little more seriously. There are not many supporters of Liberalism in the Legislature, but there are quite a few outside in the cities and towns, and rural districts of the province. There may not be many in the Assembly who want to abolish the bar, or even to lessen the hours of sale, but there are more outside. And those people do not care to be laughed at. They are in earnest. It is poor policy to sneer at them.

PIRATES AND PRISONERS.

IT IS worthy of note that in his reply to the German protest over the refusal of the British to give Von Tirpitz's murderers the same treatment accorded honorable prisoners of war, Sir Edward Grey has not stated what will be the ultimate fate of the criminals. Germany's hint at frightful reprisals evidently has not scared the British foreign secretary. And perhaps this will act as a curb on the other submarine commanders and crews. They know they are reasonably safe, so long as the war lasts, but the British courts have a long memory, and a habit of seeing things through to the bitter end. There is a very real chance that somebody yet may be properly punished for the brutal slaying of the Falaba's passengers. That may explain, to some extent, Sir Edward Grey's refusal to make any definite statement as to the final disposal of the German submarine crews. And Germany—if she is wise—will take the hint.

Grey's whole answer to the German request for information was simple, straightforward, as are all his communications. He scores a strong point when he says that Germany can illafford to complain of the treatment of prisoners. Sir Edward points out that since the war began the British have rescued over 1,000 German sailors, while the Germans have not rescued a single British sailor. More than once, notably at the last North Sea fight, the British took great chances in order to rescue the drowning Germans, but the Germans, perhaps humming their precious Hymn of Hate the while, have never attempted to save a single British Jackie.

And in the matter of treatment of prisoners generally Grey shows that German prisoners, by German official admission, are better treated than are the prisoners of the Allies in Germany.

The German contention that the crews of submarines are simply carrying out the orders of those higher up, is both a humiliating and a weak one. Because a man is hired to commit murder is no reason why he should escape the punishment of his crime if caught. Perhaps, however, the admission will determine the British Government to see to it that at the war's conclusion the "higher-ups" will also be punished—even up to the highest.

THE WHITE CHAMPION.

A BIG black man named Johnson held the heavyweight championship of the world for many years. He wrested it from a Canadian and then from the great bear, Jeffries. He has waxed fat on the gate receipts, and, while he wined and woman-ed, there have been scores of young men in training to wrest the belt from him. One of them has succeeded. Willard, the cowboy fighter, seems to have won a fair decision in a fight that had the appearance of being honest.

Probably British and Americans, French and even Germans cheered the news yesterday that the white race had won back to pugilistic supremacy. There is the white man's common pride in personal ascendancy, as understood in the manifestation of the "manly art of self defence." The colored race was no doubt downcast, but in reality it should have been glad. Johnson has not uplifted it. His has been a dishonored name since he won the title and he has brought disgrace rather than honor upon men of his blood. He may not have been "as black as he was painted" and he has never been given credit for any good characteristics by the white man. But his moral nature was of the lowest kind. Booker T. Washington is a better idol.

A few years ago a cartoonist drew a picture after the Jeffries fight. He showed Johnson stretched before a white man. The lines beneath the picture said: "Somewhere there is a white man who will make this picture a reality." Willard is the man. He stands today at the head of fistiana. Whether he is as clever a boxer or as fine a physical man as Johnson at his prime was remains to be seen. Yesterday Willard had an ally in the ring with him in the form of all Johnson's bad habits. He had best beware lest he embrace the same champion of the greatest of fighters.

The interest in the Johnson fight may be criticized, but it is only fair to say for those who are "fight fans" that the crowds at the bulletins would have been trebled had a fight by rounds in the North Sea been advertised in advance.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Jack Johnson has gone where all good prizefighters go.

Pretty soon now the swat of the swatter will be heard throughout the land.

Mr. Jack Johnson's downfall illustrates once more the fact that youth must be served.

The ability of the German Government to inflame the feelings of neutrals against Germany seems to be without limit.

Von Der Goltz took a personal message from the Sultan to the Kaiser. No doubt it was the recipe for some fresh deviltry.

A recent newspaper advertisement read as follows: "Watch out for John Barleycorn." Just now it seems as if it should have read, "John Barleycorn, watch out!"

The German chancellor says it's too soon for a peace discussion. But there isn't going to be any discussion. Rather it will be a case of dictation, on the part of the Allies.

The Bell Telephone Company has an absolute monopoly in London, and for years it has been acting after the manner of monopolies. It's about time for the company to "Ring off!" on certain high-charge practices.

The "Hymn of Hate" is to be taught in the public schools of Germany. That will make fine training for the young fellows who a few years hence will be trying to do business with John Bull the world over.

Sing Sing prison is about to teach its inmates bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting and all other essentials to business life. All any ambitious but poor young New Yorker need do to acquire an education is to kick in a plate glass window or two on Broadway.

OUR POETS OF WESTERN ONTARIO

Confidence and Praise.

II CHRONICLES, xx., 20-22.

Our Father, whose name all victorious
Is seen in the banners we raise,
To Thee in the midst of the conflict
We render the tribute of praise.

We trust not in armies and navies,
Though mighty on land and on sea;
We trust not in wealth and in numbers,
But only and always in Thee.

And Thou wilt destroy the destroyer,
And overthrow all that is wrong;
Thou art the defence of Thy people,
In Thee are Thy weak ones made strong.

Reverses and dangers which threaten
To come as an incoming tide
Are banished and turned into blessings
For those who have Thee as their guide.

Select and prepare for Thy service
The men who have wisdom and zeal,
And gird them with strength everlasting,
And in them Thy presence reveal.

We thank Thee for visions prophetic
Which gleam through the darkness and pain
Revealing the day that is coming
When righteousness always shall reign.

A BIT OF BLARNEY

By Freeman Putney, Jun.

"Don't laugh, Edward! 'The Old Homestead' is funny enough on the stage, but it's no joke in one's own house."

"You brought it upon yourself, Edna," protsted Mr. Sterling.

"I know I asked him. But 'Come and see us in New York' doesn't mean 'Come any old time, without warning.' An now he's here, we've got to treat him well."

"We have! If Captain Barney fancies we fail to show him proper attention, we may as well wipe Hardyport off our map next summer. No more fishing trips in this catboat! No more fandy mackerel!"

"But this night of all nights!" she wailed. "We're going to Patty Mudge's."

"Well, it isn't very far. The captain won't object to going along."

"Edward Sterling! Don't pretend you've forgotten! This is the evening Patty expects Conrona."

"Con—who? Oh, the woman singer from the Cosmopolitan?"

"Edward! Think how I've been looking forward to this evening! Patty's been bragging so much. And if I can only meet Conrona—you know she and your cousin studied together in Paris!"

"Deep schemer! What are you going to do—invite the prima donna here?"

"Exactly—for next Sunday. I've heard she thought a great deal of your cousin—"

"So you will use my cousin as a link to connect you with Conrona? Good! But can't I stay home and play checkers with Captain Barney?"

"Certainly not! It's your cousin, you know!"

"So I'm a link, too! Well, all we can do is to get the old man a ticket to a theatre. I'll try and make it up to him tomorrow."

Across the gleaming white and silver of the Sterlings' dinner table, Captain Barney listened to his host's explanation, but he declined the offered theatre ticket with a shake of his grey head.

"Sorry ye got a v'yage planned fur ter-night, Ed, but I cal'late I better not resk goin' out again till daylight. Them streets o' yourn air hard to navigate without a pilot. I got lost three times this afternoon, comin' up here from the Fall River boat."

"I'd risk you," Sterling laughed. "But do as you please. We're going early, aren't we, Edna?"

"Yes, Conrona keeps early hours. Patty emphasized that. We ought to be home before eleven."

The captain looked at her reproachfully.

"Oh, don't sit up for us, if you're sleepy," Sterling assured him. "Make yourself at home. Plenty of papers and books in the library. If you want anything to eat or drink, call the maid, or—there's the sideboard. Help yourself."

"Thankee. I cal'late I'll set a while in the front room. Air ye goin' fur?"

"Only near by. You've probably heard that we New Yorkers don't know our near neighbors, but this is one of the exceptions."

For half an hour after their departure the captain listlessly read the evening paper. Then, yawning, he passed to a study of the pictures on the walls, examined the bronzes at the foot of the stairs, remarked on the wood-carving in the hall, and finally opened the front door.

"Seems good," he remarked, "ter git a breath o' cool air, even if 't 'nt off the sea. Now, what in time! Ye don't s'pose them people air comin' here?"

An electric brougham had drawn up at the curb, as the old man looked, there alighted from it a richly garmented and furred lady and a large gentleman in a long, heavy coat. There was a word of direction, the chauffeur touched his cap, and, as the brougham swept silently away, the couple turned and made their way directly up the steps.

"Blessed if they ain't comin' here!" murmured the captain. He retreated hurriedly to the vestibule. "Blessed if I—p'raps I better shet the—"

He was too late. The lady hurried by him, and the gentleman followed closely. As Captain Barney did shut the door, the lady turned, a look of perplexity in her face, which he now saw for the first time under the light.

"Pollie Conroy!" he exclaimed.

"Why, Captain Barney! How in the world did you get here?"

"Jest got in from Hardyport! Now, don't this beat time?"

"It certainly does. Why, it's years since—"

"Nine years, last summer since ye wuz down ter see me. Ye don't show it, though. Jest you take off them things and come in the parlor! And—I ain't shook hands with your gentleman friend."

The big man advanced, smiling and puzzled, and Miss Conroy introduced them.

"He speaks very little English," she explained to the captain. "I'm afraid I shall have to do most of the talking. But tell me, what house am I in? Isn't this No. 207?"

"Your driver must have missed his reckning'. This is No. 211. Ed. Sterling and his wife live here, and I'm visitin' em. They went out, an' left me an' two hired gals down cellar ter keep house. I'd take it mighty kind if ye'd come in an' set a while."

"I will, if you'll tell me all about the Hardyport people."

"I'll do it! But ter pay me fur it, ye'll have ter sing me a song, same's ye used to!"

She shed her outer garments in a heap on the hall seat, and they sat and talked like two old gossips, while the big man nodded and smiled. Then, after the captain had declared he was "talked out," came his promised pay. Pollie Conroy sat at the piano and sang some of the old songs that Captain Barney called for. Then, when he gave her the choice of what she herself liked, she threw her head back and began something long and strange, which, although the words were in a foreign tongue, somehow crept into the captain's being and took him wandering far away through dim, green forests, such as he had dreamed of in his youth. And when the big man suddenly rose to his feet and joined in, the swelling flood of the music shrank the captain into the depths of his chair as his New England blood fought against the strange emotions that gripped his soul.

II.

It was after eleven when the Sterlings came home, to find Captain Barney still sitting up.

"Edna kind o' put out over suthin'?" he asked shrewdly, as the lady withdrew.

"Well, yes," admitted Edward. "She—I don't know whether you understand how important some things seem to women, captain—but she expected to make a lady's acquaintance tonight and didn't succeed. The lady was very late in arriving, and Edna barely had a chance to speak to her."

"Um! Wall, I hope Edna'll git over it. I got suthin' ter confess myself. I been havin' comp'ny while you wuz gone."

"Company?"

"Ayep! Pollie Conroy, a gal I used ter know in Hardyport, where she came summers. She an' her gentleman friend came ter the front door, lookin' fur the wrong house, and I made 'em come in an' set a while. We had a mighty good time talkin' about the old days down at Hardyport, an' then they both on 'em sang songs. Pollie, she sings in theatres now, I b'lieve. P'raps ye've heard of her?"

"I don't remember the name. Sounds like some chorus girl. Who was the man?"

"An Eyetalian. I don't recollect his name, but I take it he's in the same business. An' say, Ed, I remembered what you said about the sideboard, r'n' not knowin' jest the brands o' your goods, I told him ter take his ch'ice."

"And did he?"

"He picked out the queer-shaped bottle with the basket round it. I tasted the stuff myself."

"The Chianti?"

"I guess so. I ain't impolite enough ter run down a man's victuals in his own home, but if all liquor tasted ez bad ez that stuff does there wouldn't be no temperance question ter bother with. Anyhow, the feller he put away most o' the bottle. But I got more ter own up to."

"Tell it to Edna," laughed Sterling. "She's coming upstairs."

"Who on earth has been here, captain? The cook and Norah are all giggles and tears, and all I can get out of them is something about a lady and a big man singing a song. Norah says she saw his picture in the Sunday paper, and she's sure it was Harti."

"Sartin," agreed Captain Barney. "I remember the name now. You ought ter seen him drink that Ky—what d'ye call it? But, Edna, I got ter confess—"

"Harti! The great tenor! In my home! But Conrona told Patty he left her at the Mudges' door, because he needed rest."

"Maybe Conrona has been here, too," suggested Edward.

"Only Pollie Conroy. And, Edna, I want ter own up—"

"Why, Conrona is Mary Conroy in private life. You ought to know that, Edward! Oh, why wasn't I at home? How did she happen to stay, Captain Barney?"

"I taught her ter swim when she wuz a little gal, and her folks used ter come summers ter Hardyport. Old friends we are. She used to sing better'n she does now. That was before she went to Europe an' got them wiggles in her voice. And one otner thing Edna, I'll have ter own—"

"Conrona!" she murmured. "And Harti!"

"You're not impressed a bit, captain!" Sterling broke in. "Do you realize that you've had a private recital from a leading prima donna and one of the most famous men in the world? Why, that man Harti's voice is gold! He gets a thousand dollars just for singing a song into a phonograph."

Captain Barney's chair came down with a thump.

"Gosh!" he exclaimed. "It's worth it though, fur them that's got money. Why, there wuz once while he sang that I wanted ter crawl behind the planner an' cry. But, Edna, I done suthin' worse than have 'em here. It wuz kind o' cheeky o' me, without askin' you, and I hope it won't bother ye nor make the cook mad, but—I—I invited both on 'em ter come ter dinner here Sunday."

"You did!" Edna's eyes were round. "Yes'm; and that ain't the worst of it. They're both comin'!"

SAD CYNIC.

[Washington Star.]

"A man should never give up his ideals," said the genial adviser.

"What's an ideal?" inquired Mr. Growcher.

"Something to which he aspires."

"Not always. In some cases ideals are what people talk about in order to throw you off your guard while they are reaching for plain ordinary lucre."

Its the Example That Counts

[Detroit Free Press.]

The example set by King George and Lord Kitchener in declaring their determination to abstain from indulgence in liquors while the war lasts ought to do more toward solving the problem of national sobriety and industry now confronting the British war office than any legal enactment could bring about.

This action removes lingering suspicion that the movement begun by Lloyd-George is ordinary temperance propaganda, and puts it on a practical, businesslike basis. It is easy in high position to demand that the rank and file of humanity shall place on itself certain restrictions which overlords in their wisdom may think desirable, but which they do not bring home to themselves. It is different when persons in authority in time of war voluntarily submit themselves to the discipline they would measure out for others. Then one must be convinced that the emergency to be met is vital and real; that here is a matter of life and death.

Such action emphasizes the necessity of the time in Britain as no mere speechmaking or lawmaking could emphasize it. There is small cause for wonder that results are already being seen, and that in Glasgow laborers are shunning the barrooms out of deference to the wishes and example of the King.

The Girl Guides of London.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

I must not forget to speak of the young women who have organized a sort of foil to the boy scouts. They describe themselves as the girl guides. Several hundred of these young women were out for parade on Sunday, headed by a band, and they made a very interesting picture. They were garbed in short skirts of blue worsted, trimmed with red braid; their stocking were of blue and upon their heads were dark, crushed hats of cowboy pattern. They swing along Oxford street toward Marble Arch with rhythmic step and heads high. Nearly all of them, I was assured, were employed during week days in shops or as stenographers in offices. They are not aping the militarism of the boy scouts, but are physically preparing themselves to take up more and more the burdens of men in the various walks of business. Many of them expect to secure training as nurses and to enter hospitals in England, preparatory to service on the continent, should the war be prolonged.

Right here I should say that not a prediction was made in my hearing of a speedy termination of the conflict. I sincerely believe that every man and woman in the United Kingdom expects a long bitter war. Anybody in London who would suggest peace on any terms short of Germany's complete withdrawal from Belgium would be promptly rebuked. The feeling throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland is quite similar to that which characterized the people of the Northern States in the darkest hours of the civil war. I was only a lad at that time, but my memory of those days is very vivid. The Britons have a task before them of most serious character, but one that cannot halt until the end, even if conscription has to be resorted to by Kitchener. We had drafts here in the North. But the British War Office has cleverly resorted to advertising to stimulate volunteering.

It is an actual fact that about 35,000 men join the colors every week, owing to the enthusiasm imparted by cleverly-written advertisements to be read in many journals. It is a new and splendid utilization of the publicity idea, first exploited in the United States!

ECONOMY.

[Exchange.] ... ...

The love song that I wrote to Phyllis
In which I rhymed her name with "lillies"
Is rather nice;
I mean to change that word to "posies"
That it may fitly rhyme with "Rosie's,"
And so serve twice.

My fancy was a mere delusion,
But I'll not waste the fond effusion;
I'll make it do,
'Tis wise to try economizing,
And not expend more poetizing
On No. 2.

Who knows? Perhaps another rapture
Will come to me and make a capture;
Upon my word,
This little song of deep emotion
May some day carry my devotion
To greet a third!

Then if my lot brings new begullings,
With tender words and tearful smilings,
I'm sure it's wise
To waste no time in composition,
But give each maid a new edition
O these same sighs.

Voice of the People

Billy Sunday's Sermon.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—I wonder how many of your sermon-tasters read Billy Sunday's Easter message which appeared in Saturday's Advertiser? Wonderful sermon! I hear some of your say. Well, yes, to me there were three wonderful things in the sermon. (1) The text: "His name shall be called wonderful" (Isaiah, ix., 19). (2) The egotistical references to Billy Sunday himself. (3) The disappointing incongruity of two or three of his sallies with the solemnity of the occasion.

Although the sermon appears under the caption: "A Sermon for Skeptics," yet it is painfully evident that such an effort would only provoke mirth in the average skeptic, or even put him to sleep. He innocently takes for granted claims and positions now quite abandoned by many eminent commentators within the Church; e.g., the Virgin birth and the raising of the saints from their graves at the Crucifixion as recorded by Matthew. Further, in seeking to elaborate the "wonderful" in the text, he is inconsistent with himself and false to his own method as, while he refers to the earthquakes and other commotions as attesting the wonderful in Christ's death, yet he asserts that the resurrection of Jesus was not according to human expectation or there would have been earthquakes and other disturbances recorded. He adds: "An angel rolled away the stone from the mouth of the sepulchre as quietly as the opening of the buds in May," etc. Well, if Mr. Billy Sunday insists on a mere popular and mechanical interpretation of Scripture and accepts the historicity of the birth stories as recorded by Matthew and Luke, then to ignore Matthew on the resurrection is not for him an honest handling of the Scripture. The latter evangelist says: "And behold there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled away the stone and sat upon it. His appearance was as lightning, and his raiment white as snow: and for fear of him the watchers did quake and became as dead men." (Matt. xxviii, 2-4 R.V.). This scripture at least does not bear out the Rev. Billy's simile when he compares the resurrection of Jesus with the "opening of the buds in May." He is quite willing to take Matthew for the darkness and commotions at the Crucifixion to suit the exigencies of his discourse, but when he wishes to conjure up a scene of heavenly serenity at the resurrection he quite conveniently forgets that Matthew records the above. This is what I call a captious handling of Scripture, and may not be unknown even in more pretentious discourses.

But we could easier overlook such a method than we could the intrusion of coarse and vulgar phrases on such an occasion and in the discussion of such a theme. Here are two or three phrases that disfigure an otherwise creditable Easter sermon just as a couple of dead carcases disfigures a beautiful landscape: "I never say 'disintegrated' but 'rotten,' you're not a 'prevaricator' but a 'liar'; 'I like to see a fellow preach so all can understand him, no matter if he is a skunk, a jackass, or what he is." Here is another gem, or rather carcase: "If I was running a glue factory in hell and the devil would bring your old carcase, I'd tell him I couldn't use you because I don't have deodorizer and disinfectant enough." How does such language from the Rev. Billy's so-called Easter sermon appeal to those local ministers and Christian workers who some time ago seemed enthusiastic in seeking to bring Sunday here to undertake a revival campaign? It only justifies The Advertiser's "safety first" method in trying him out at long range before risking the full "disintegration" of a more personal campaign.

OXO CUBES

IN 10c AND 25c. TINS

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the quickest and surest stomach relief.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headaches, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

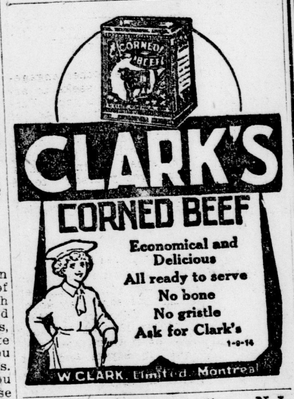

Get some now; this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

DAILY PAGE FOR ADVERTISER WOMAN READERS

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

Marriage or a Career?

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first visit to your mysterious abode, and I hope my letter will escape the W. P. B.

If A Wyoming Reader will send the S. S. papers to following address they will be used for a good cause: Mr. Peter Rutherford, care Parkdale Methodist Church, Dunn avenue, Toronto, Ont.

In making a stew of leftover meats, if you add one cup of tomatoes, either canned or fresh, the flavor will be greatly improved.

Another meat dish is: Take one and one-half pounds of round steak, cut up fine, put in deep dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and quite thick with flour, cover dish tight and bake in slow oven about two hours. This makes enough for four people.

I am now going to trouble you for advice. I am a girl who has worked hard since the age of sixteen. I have been to night school for two winters, and I am now going to enter a hospital to train for a nurse, when along comes a man who wants to marry me. Now, Miss Grey, I am willing to work hard for a profession, and while this man is a good, steady, industrious worker, he could not keep me as well as I can keep myself even now. Would you marry, or train for a nurse? I would like to climb a few steps further up the ladder. This is not a foolish whim. I have worked hard eight years to reach my goal. Please criticize my letter with regard to writing and grammar. Wishing you every good thing. Sincerely yours, TRIXIE.

Ans.—Thank you for the two hints, Trixie. In regard to your "big" question. I hesitate to give advice, as it is so very important. I think you are to be congratulated on the way you have progressed; your efforts should be an incentive and encouragement to other girl readers of our column. And now about getting married; if you are only eighteen (which I judge you are by your information), I think, personally, that you are too young to get married just yet. Could not your "man" be persuaded to wait, say five years (it seems a long time, I know), which would give you three years for training and two of practical experience. I may say, though, that while nursing is a noble profession, there is nothing which quite reaches that ideal—woman's life of wife and mother. All your efforts to lift yourself a bit higher need not, by any means, be lost in the capacity of home-maker. If my surmise about your age is wrong—if you are over 20, and if you love him, I do not know that you would be choosing the wise path in preferring a career to a home.

Would any of our readers who may have had this same experience to face like to discuss the "pros and cons" for Trixie's benefit?

Your entire letter is in very good form; I think if you wrote with a finer pen your writing would not be so heavy; as to spelling—please don't be offended—but look up the dictionary way of spelling "sincerely."

Gift From the Office.

Dear Miss Grey,—What would be a suitable gift to give to a young lady who is leaving an office to reside in the Old Country, also a simple address for the presentation. Thanking you in advance. Yours truly, C. O.

Ans.—For a united gift from the office staff, nothing could be better than a wrist watch; but if the traveller is already supplied with a timepiece, how would a travelling bag, nicely fitted with toilet accessories, answer? A good camera would be a delight to anyone going to new scenes; a folding writing table, good fountain pen, silver or gold mesh purse, travelling rug, pendant and chain, or bracelet, would all be nice remembrances.

2. Something along this line might do for the address: "We, your fellow-workers in the office, desire to express in a small measure, a little of our regret at your departure. During the months spent among us your bright presence and amiable disposition have won for you the friendship of all. Our best wishes go with you on your journey; though far away, we shall not forget you, and we trust that you will also remember us. As a little token of our appreciation and goodwill, and with all good wishes for your future prosperity and happiness, we present this watch to you, only asking that you accept the gift and will think of the givers in the months to come."

For One Discouraged.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am not a reader of your paper, but chanced to notice a letter on your page on Monday from "One Discouraged and Tired of Life," asking for information about a book, "From Poverty to Power." I should be glad to give her this copy, which perhaps you may be able to convey to her. No doubt she will send you her address and postage if you can reach her through your page. If you fail to send it to her you can perhaps pass it on to some one who needs it. It is certainly a help to any earnest soul. Yours sincerely,

A FRIEND OF ANY IN TROUBLE.

Ans.—This is indeed a very kind act on the part of this "friend," I am holding the copy of "From Poverty to Power" until I hear from "One Discouraged and Tired of Life." If she wishes me to mail it, and sends a few stamps for postage, I shall gladly forward it at once. Many thanks to you, "Friend."

To Make Egg-Nog.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. What day did July 23, 1891, come on, and March 20, 1893?

2. Give me a recipe for egg-nog.

3. Will runnning slippers and middy suits be worn this year?

4. What is a nice name for a club formed of a lot of girls?

5. Are separate coats going to be worn this spring?

6. A boy friend comes to see me quite often. I do not wish his company. What could I tell him, so as not to hurt his feelings?

7. What is good for cleaning teeth and making eyes bright, as mine are dull at times?

8. Would you have to be experienced to go on the stage?

SPRING CHICKEN.

Ans.—1. Thursday, Monday.

2. Beat the egg until very light; add half a cup of milk, beating it in well; then sugar to taste, and lastly a very little vanilla and a few gratings of nutmeg.

3. Yes, to some extent.

4. The choice of a name depends upon your aims, whether social, athletic, religious or educational. A group of girls I know call themselves "The Diamond Cluster," each being supposed to be as a precious gem, bright and pure. If you wish to bring in the patriotic idea, 'Maple Leaf Circle," "Canadian Girls' Club," and so on, would be appropriate titles. Other names are "Daisy Dozen," "Q. T.s" and "Tipperary Ten."

5. Yes.

6. Could you not have "other engagements" when he calls, or seeks to arrange for an evening with you. Perhaps after a few times, he would get discouraged and cease his attention.

7. Use any good dentifrice daily, when brushing the teeth; for your eyes, the dulness you speak of indicates a run-down system; get yourself "toned up" by a spring tonic, eat plain food, and be in the open air a few hours each day.

8. Yes.

Employment Bureaus.

Dear Miss Grey,—If it's not too much trouble I would like you to answer a few questions for me some day soon:

1. What days did February 5, 1893; June 3, 1894; October 19, 1895, fall on?

2. Can you tell me if there are "employment bureaus" in Sarnia and Port Huron? And if so if you have to pay to make application, and how much; also their address, if you know?

3. Would you please give me the addresses and names of some of the hotels and boarding houses in London?

Thanking you for your kindness and wishing you all that good, I will sign myself "FLUFFY RUFFLES."

Ans.—1. Friday; Saturday; Saturday.

2. Sorry, but I do not know. You might write to the daily papers in each place. Address Times-Herald, Port Huron, and Observer, Sarnia.

3. Cannot give these addresses in this column. If you wish to come to the city for a while, why not write the Y. W. C. A. secretary, Dundas street, asking her to recommend a boarding house.

Coo Nice At Times.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you please answer the following questions:

1. We have some doves, and do not know what kind they are. They are of a fawn color, lighter breast, reddish-colored feet and legs, a ring of black around the back of neck, a grey bill, and have not a very nice song, but sometimes they coo very nice.

2. I am 14 years of age, and am 5 feet 1¼ inches tall, and weigh about 97 pounds. Do you think me large or small for my age?

3. What would be nice for me, a summer dress worth about 50 or 75 cents per yard, for a good Sunday dress?

4. Which do you think is the best for a girl to take up, school work after she passes her entrance, or go up in music?

5. What date did the present war begin on?

6. What would be some subjects suitable for a debate between the Senior Fourth Class and Senior Third Class?

7. Would some of the members, or if you have it at hand, please publish the song entitled "Jim Blake"? I think that is the name of it.

8. What do you think of my writing? I lost my guide lines and had to write without them; also have a rather bad pen. MAY.

Ans.—1. I daresay that among the great number of our readers there will be someone who is familiar with doves, and can give the desired information.

2. Average, I should say, or perhaps smaller than the ordinary girl of your age.

3. Nothing is nicer for a girlish dress than dotted swiss, flowered voile or embroidery flouncing. All are popular fabrics for this summer's wear.

4. Would depend upon her talents; but I think it more advisable to continue at school for at least two years before devoting all your time to music.

5. On August 4, 1914, Great Britain declared war upon Germany.

6. "Resolved, that the telephone is of more benefit than the telegraph"; "Resolved, that iron, as a metal, is more useful than gold"; "Resolved, that more is learned by observation than by reading"; "Resolved, that liquor does more harm to the human race than warfare"; "resolved that the school curriculum contains too many subjects."

7. This has already been published. If any reader sends in a copy, I shall be glad to notify you in the Mail Box.

8. Considering all your handicaps, your writing is not so bad. Leave more space between your words.

Should She Speak?

Dear Madam,—Please answer the following questions as soon as possible, and oblige:

1. Do you think it proper to keep company with a young gentleman who is not quite so tall as yourself?

2. Is it proper to speak to a young gentleman on the street, he having waited on me in a store several times?

3. If you were engaged to a young gentleman, and he persisted in going with other girls, what would you advise?

4. Is is advisable for a young lady who has a large ankle to wear "pumps"?

5. If you are corresponding with a young gentleman out of town, how often is it proper to write to him?

6. If you were clerking in a store, and the proprietor's daughter interfered with your sales, what would you advise?

Hoping to see these answers in print, and thanking you in advance, I am,

CHERRY.

Ans.—1. Quite proper.

2. In a city it would not be "the thing" at all. Judging by the date line on your letter, you live in a small town, where it is quite customary to speak to men or women whom you meet in a business way, without having had a formal introduction.

3. Perhaps a retallation in kind might have some effect; quite likely he would not fancy your accepting attentions from other young men. Seems to me if he is so anxious for other girls' company, you had best let him go.

4. No.

5. Every two or three weeks, perhaps every week, according to how intimate you are.

6. Do not see that you can do much but "grin and bear it." It is not fair, of course, to you, but you could hardly complain to a man about his daughter. However, if it got very bad, perhaps this might be the wisest course.

VELVET AND CHIFFON.

Some of the new blouses are already abnormally high at the neck and long in the sleeves. Very important is the narrow band of fur at the neck to assist toward the long throat silhouette now in vogue. It is built on moyen-age lines, embroidered gold and white daisies giving it a distinctive touch. It is set over white chiffon.

Woman's Music Club.

The Woman's Music Club program for the regular fortnightly recital tomorrow is being arranged by Mrs. Dockstader. The club orchestra will make it initial bow at this recital, and it advent is awaited with interest. Miss Elsie Green, Harold Meek and Miss Nora Little are taking part on the program. A paper on musical topics is being prepared by Mrs. Charles Wheeler. The "Current Events" department is in charge of Mrs. C. B. Hunt.

ORANGE CAKE.

Cream 1 cup of butter with 2 cups of powdered sugar; beat in 1 at a time the yolks of 5 eggs; sift 2 cups flour with 2 teaspoons of baking powder; grate the rind of 1 orange, add it, and the juice to ½ cup of water, stir this into sugar and eggs; fold in the flour and baking powder and lastly add the whites of 3 eggs beaten to stiff froth.

Bake in 2 layers and when cold put together with orange cream between the layers.

Old Songs and Poems

EARL HALDAN'S DAUGHTER.

It was Earl Haldan's daughter,
She looked across the sea,
She looked across the water,
And long and loud laughed she.
"The locks of six princesses
Must be my marriage fee;
So hey, bonny boat, and ho, bonny boat!
Who comes a-wooing me?"

It was Earl Haldan's daughter,
She walked across the sand,
When she was aware of a knight so fair
Came sailing to the land.
His sails were all of velvet,
His mast of beaten gold,
And "Hey, bonny boat, and ho, bonny boat!
Who saileth here so bold?"

"The locks of five princesses
I won beyond the sea;
I clipt their golden tresses
To fringe a cloak for thee.
One handful yet is wanting,
But one of all the tale;
So hey, bonny boat, and ho, bonny boat!
Furl up thy velvet sail!"

He leapt into the water,
That rover young and bold;
He gript Earl Haldan's daughter,
He clipt her locks of gold;
"Go weep, go weep, proud maiden,
The tale is full today.
Now hey, bonney boat, and ho, bonny boat!
Sail Westward Ho, away!"

—Charles Kingsley.

Remember always that if a dealer offers you a substitute for "SALADA," he has only one object in view, and that is greater profit. If you have ever used "SALADA" it is natural that you should always want it. Don't accept any substitute.

WITH THE I. O. D. E.

Mrs. A. A. Campbell, retiring regent of the 7th Regiment Chapter, who collected the larger portion of the mittens donated to the men of the 18th Battalion and at whose suggestion the work was undertaken, received the following letter from Lieut.-Col. Wigle, thanking the order for the generous gift. This letter of thanks was not published heretofore, owing to Mrs. Campbell's absence in the South. A list of Mrs. Campbell's collections appeared in Saturday's issue of The Advertiser:

"Mrs. A. A. Campbell,
Avalon,
London, Ont.

"My Dear Mrs. Campbell:

Your generous donation of one pair mittens to each man of the 18th Battalion is another act showing the great sympathy the loyal Daughters of the Empire have for the men who have volunteered their services to maintain the supremacy of our beloved Empire.

"The men are loud in their praises for the Daughters of the Empire, and I wish to convey to you, personally, and to all the members of the order my thanks for this gift. They are so much needed by the men during the cold weather, as the mittens are so soft the men can handle the rifles much better than with the Government issue.

"His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught on his official visit here expressed his appreciation of the good work you are doing, when I called his attention to the mittens.

"When we have left our native land to join our comrades in the great struggle to maintain the flag which has given equal rights to all and stands for integrity and respect for her treaties, we will still think of the great sympathy and kindness that has been shown by the members of your loyal order in and around London. When we leave it will be with mixed feelings of regret and pleasure; regret to think of leaving loyal friends in Canada, a pleasure to know we will have an opportunity of showing to the world the loyalty of the Canadian people to the British Empire.

Yours sincerely,
E. S. WIGLE,
Lieut.-Col., O. C. 18th Battalion C. E. F.

Mrs. W. E. Hodgins, regent of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., is leaving for Ottawa on Monday next. The regular monthly meeting will be held in Cronyn Hall at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, instead of on the usual day. A large attendance is expected, as Mrs. Hodgins will not be able to be present again for some time.

Members of the Lord Roberts Chapter, I. O. D. E., are working enthusiastically for the piano recital to be given next Monday evening, April 12, in Masonic Hall, by Thomas Martin, pianist, and James Alderson, tenor, the proceeds from which are for the soldiers' comfort fund. A feature of the program will be a group of Chopin numbers, including Nocturne, in C sharp minor, and Grani polonaise, in A flat major, two selections given by request. Mr. Martin will also give a miscellaneous group containing selections by Liszt, Grieg and Cyril Scott. Mr. Alderson will sing Liza Lehmann's "Ah! Moon of My Delight" and a group of miscellaneous songs.

Famous Irishwoman Urges Women to Live Simple Life

Katharine Tynan Advocates More Baking and Brewing in the Home.

Katherine Tynan, the well-known Irish writer, contributes some significant thoughts on "The Simple Life—Shall We Return to It?" in a recent copy of "Slainte," which is the journal of the Women's National Health Association of Ireland, a monthly publication edited by the Marchioness of Aberdeen. After dealing with the various eccentric ideas entertained by some who would follow the "simple life," Miss Tynan says: "To a great many women the simple life needs no arduous and painful acceptance at all. Indeed if a hard and cruel penance were to be imposed, it need take no worse shape for the wise woman than to walk abroad in the hideous and grotesque garments which are and have been the fashion. When I have seen my sister-woman mortifying me, if not herself, by the folly of her attire, I have asked myself, "Have women advanced at all, or have they retrograded? And can these things cover a responsible human being, much less a soul born with wings?"

Man-Planned Styles.

"The women's dress and the women's papers of today and yesterday are indeed profoundly depressing. It might be some comfort to reflect that the fashions are planned by men, and the women's papers edited by men, as though they were for odalisques instead of white women, only that there remains the fact that women have flocked to wear the man-inspired foolish fashions, as they have flocked to read the foolish papers. Will the war make an end to this folly?

Miss Tynan describes life in a family of Irish farmers of the prosperous type in the middle seventies, and continues: "Somewhere between that and the last quarter of the nineteenth century, the brave, simple, beautiful life was lost, and the girls came to be reared up in idleness who would have been carding their own wool in the great days. It was ordained for the girls—I think I can say as one who endured those longeurs—the dullness of doing nothing—that they were not consulted. For the brave feeding of old, they fell back on tea and white bread, being too anaemic to care for stronger food. What curious tenderness and carefulness had come upon the parents, making it a law that the daughters must be provided for and kept in a sheltered idleness at home? The new departure, whatever produced it, was a cruel kindness to the girls who grew up to idleness, and where they did not impose it on another family, found themselves some day with useless hands and faculties in a world which had no pity for their helplessness. If we could have been brought up in the brave old way, how much better we would have been prepared for the emergency of today?

That life was too dull to last, and while some women took to the strenuous life, others broke out in golfing, racing, card-playing and incessant pursuit of amusement, which is apt to become a very hard thing to run down if one must pursue it."

THE SIMPLE LIFE.

. . . . And now, when the women are taking a strenuous part in the world's work and clamoring for more, when they will not be satisfied to be as they were when the war is over, would it not be well that the woman of ordinary capacities and gifts should expend them on her own household? Why not return to the simple life which was possible in the Ireland of a hundred years ago as in ancient Greece and Judea (the valiant woman was a typical simple lifer), and in many countries in our own day? We need not oppress our children, as some of us do today, with education which is not education, as we did yesterday with accomplishments which were not accomplishments, with fetters for their young bodies and cramping influences for their young souls.

When all the plagues flew out of Pandora's box, the gift left behind was not hope, but work—not drudgery, but honest and beautiful work. How much dignity, how much beauty, would be restored to life, how free we would be if our daughters and ourselves baked and brewed and spun and sewed as in the brave days of old? One of the fruits of the war will be, perhaps, that the women who have known splendid and terrible realities will not consent to return to the fussy and the foolish things which filled up so much of their lives of old.

Y.W.C.A. ACKNOWLEDGES MONEY DONATIONS

The board of directors of the Young Women's Christian Association gratefully acknowledges the receipt of the following donations for the special $1,000 which they desire to raise. Besides the names appearing, a number of additional gifts have been promised. Any further donations would be gladly welcomed.

Important Change In Business

In all lines of business, methods are changing, and modern efficiency is showing better ways of marketing goods.

Most everybody is familiar with the famous Nyal's Family Remedies and Toilet Requisites, and has been accustomed to seeing them in every drug store you go into. Almost every home has its little assortment of Nyal's in the cupboard.

The Company have made a far-reaching change in their plan of doing business, and in future the goods will be marketed only through selected drug store agents who are also shareholders in the Company.

This is in accord with the best business thought of the day—that with selected agents more intimately associated with the manufacturing company, better business practice will result and business be conducted more economically by eliminating as far as possible the expensive friction of ordinary business methods.

The Nyal Agency Drug Stores in London hereafter will be as follows. No Drug Stores other than Nyal Agents will be allowed to handle Nyal goods.

JESS WILLARD WINS HEAVYWEIGHT CROWN BY KNOCKING JOHNSON OUT IN 26TH ROUND

Big Kansas Cowboy Stood Heavy Punishment in the Early Rounds, But Gradually Wore Negro Champion Down Until Right Swing to Jaw Settled Him.

TREMENDOUS VITALITY AND YOUTH OF WILLARD OFFSET THE SKILL AND EXPERIENCE OF JOHNSON

After the Twentieth Round Willard Set a Pace That Johnson Could Not Withstand and Negro Was Almost Helpless in Last Two or Three Rounds.

HAVANA, April 5.—Jack Johnson, exile from his own country, today lost his claim to fistic fame as the heavyweight champion of the world, the title being wrested from him by Jess Willard, the Kansas cowboy, the biggest man who ever entered the prize ring, and a "white hope" who at last has made good.

The day after tomorrow Johnson, his wife and a little group of friends will sail for Martinique, there to await passage back to France, where Johnson proposes to settle down and lead the life of a farmer, raising pigs and chickens. There is no doubt that he is through with the ring.

Willard, who is being acclaimed tonight as the new champion, is going back to the United States to win the fortune which was denied him today, when Johnson got $30,000 before the fight started, Willard taking only a small share of the net receipts. Just what his share was is not known.

A FIGHT WITHOUT PARALLEL.

Today's fight probably has no parallel in the history of ring battles. For twenty rounds Johnson punched Willard at will, but his blows grew perceptibly less powerful as the fight progressed, until at last he seemed unable or unwilling to go on.

Johnson stopped leading and for three or four rounds the battle between the two big men was little more than a series of plastic poses of white and black gladiators. So it was until the 25th round, when Willard got one of his wildly swinging windmill right hand smashes to Johnson's heart. This was the beginning of the end.

When the round closed, Johnson sent word to his wife that he was all in, and told her to start for home. She was on the way out and was passing the ring in the 26th round when a stinging left to the body and a cyclonic right to the jaw caused Johnson to crumple on the floor of the ring, where he lay partly outside the ropes until the referee counted ten and held up Willard's hand in token of his newly won laurels.

It was some time before Willard or his seconds realized that Johnson was through, and only needed a blow or two to send him to pugilistic oblivion.

Johnson Starts Confident.

During the early part of the fighting Johnson carried all his old time confidence and self-assertiveness. He was constantly bandying words with the spectators about the ring, and talked steadily to Willard, who heeded the negro's chatter about as little as he did his blows.

Willard's seconds were after Johnson all the time, warning him to keep away from Willard's terrific right. It was in the sixteenth round that one of Willard's seconds shouted: "Jack, you run into Jess' right; we will pick you up right over here."

"Be sure you take good care of me," replied Johnson.

It so happened that when Johnson went down for the count it was in Willard's corner.

When a spectator called out: "Johnson, you will get yours today," Johnson replied: "Well, there is good money in it, isn't there?"

Willard Was Afraid.

Willard will probably take his own time in accepting any challenge. He already has announced that if he won he would not fight another negro. There is no doubt that today's fight will do the new champion a world of good. Today he was palpably nervous, and at first was afraid to go to Johnson. He constantly jabbed or lunged, and then backed away, instead of following up an advantage when it came to him.

It can hardly be said at present that Willard is a great fighter, but he is a wonderful specimen of physical manhood, and is likely to develop an aggressiveness and skill that may make him invincible for years to come.

Willard looked very clumsey against Johnson today. A more skilful man might have knocked Johnson out after the twelfth round, for after that the negro was going on speed and nerve and skill.

Throughout the fight the Cubans kept shouting words of encouragement to Willard, such as: "Kill the black bear," and "Knock him out," and "Let us go home."

When one spectator shouted at Johnson that he was an old man, the negro replied: "You just watch the old man," and with that he chased Willard twice across the ring, knocking his head first to the right and then to the left with a series of cross blows.

Negro Weak at End.

Through the 21st, 22nd, 23rd and 24th rounds Johnson hardly struck a blow. He kept feinting at Willard, who was ever ready to break ground. When Johnson finally went down in the 26th round, he rolled over on his back. The sun was beating down with torrid intensity, and his arms drew up as though to shield his eyes from the glare, while the referee counted him out.

There was virtually no big betting down here on the fight. The odds for small wagers today varied from 8 to 5, to 6 to 5, on the negro.

The crowd which paid to see the fight would be difficult to estimate, but it looked to number close to 20,000. In addition, fully 5,000 persons viewed the fight from the distant slopes and hills. Many women, both Cuban and American, were present, as well as all the notables in the island. Havana itself was deserted during the battle, a holiday having been declared informally. Tonight, however, the streets are ablaze with lights, and Cubans are celebrating Willard's victory.

Champion Little Damaged.

Willard said that none of Johnson's blows hurt more an momentarily, except a slashing blow over the heart about the 20th round, which made him gasp for breath during the remainder of the round. He declared he was not sore from the blows, but his left foot was slightly sprained and swollen from a twist. Johnson must have known this, for he kept extending his left foot until he could just touch Willard's sprained foot, and pressing down on it as much as possible.

The new champion said tonight: "I have no plans for fights in the immediate future. I am obligated to the syndicate which promoted the fight. I would like to rest at home after an exhibition tour, which I understand is projected."

Speaking of the final round that won him the victory, Willard said:

"The blow that brought the fight to a quick conclusion was a swinging right-hand smash to Johnson's body early in the last round. I felt Johnson grow limp in the next clinch, and knew I had the championship within reach. A left to the body and a right smash to the jaw put Johnson down for the count."

Was Johnson Knocked Out?

There is much discussion tonight, and probably will be for all time, among the followers of the fighting game, as to whether Johnson was really knocked out. In the sense of being smashed into unconsciousness, he certainly was not put out. The consensus of opinion is that Johnson expected and knew that there was no possibility of his winning; so when knocked down, he chose to take the count rather than rise and stand further punishment.

Johnson has often stated that fighting is a business, and he would not foolishly submit to repeated knockdowns when he found he had met his master. A second or two after Jack Welsh, the referee had counted ten Johnson quickly got up. It was well that he did so, for a moment later a rush of spectators to the fighting platform all but smothered the pugilists.

Spectators Threaten Trouble.

For an instant it seemed as if the trouble was threatened, and some fifty or more of the several hundred soldiers stationed about the fight arena jumped into the ring, and formed circles around the vanquished and victor.

Under escort of the soldiers Willard

WILLARD'S BABY HEARS ITS DADDY IS WORLD BEATER

LOS ANGELES, April 5.—"I knew all along that Jess would win," said Mrs. Willard, when told of the outcome of the fight at Havana. She appeared pleased, but not at all surprised. Her only other comment was made to Jess Willard Jun., sixteen months old.

"Your daddy is champion of the world," she said to him, and kissed him.

Johnson's Mother Could Not Believe Her Son Had Lost

Had Member of Her Household Send Cable To Jack To Confirm News.

Chicago, Ill., April 6.—When newspaper reporters telephoned Jack Johnson's mother here yesterday afternoon, giving the result of the heavyweight championship fight in Havana, Mrs. Tiny Johnson, the former champion's aged mother, refused to believe the news.

"It can't be true," she kept repeating. "My son licked, knocked out? No, siree."

So to confirm the reports, she had a member of her household cable her son as follows:

"What about the fight? Was it a knockout? Who won? Send news at once."

Before a reply was received someone evidently desiring to play a joke on the family telephoned the news of a Johnson victory, which was met with cheers.

Thousands of Extras Sold by Advertiser on the Big Battle

Eight Columns of Report, Supplied by Two Services Given in Special Edition.

The Advertiser gave those interested in the big fight a good extra last night, and thousands of copies were sold. There were two reports from the ringside used, one from the Canadian Press, the regular ringside report, and a special service from the United Press correspondent at the ringside. Inside the office there was some interest in the race between the reports. They ran "neck and neck" for the most part, however, and the "flashes." "Willard wins by knockout in the 26th round," came almost simultaneously. The United Press correspondent, however, showed his preference for Willard from the start, and gave him eleven rounds before the decisive round was reached. The Canadian Press in the first of the fight believed it was going all Johnson's way, but later came to see that Willard was a new star in the firmament, and away above the average of white hopes.

There was not much betting on the fight locally, but a great many cigar store and barber shop pools were made.

The interest in the fight was shown by the fact that The Advertiser found it necessary to start its press late last night and run off more papers. The people who read the reports had advertised them, and all were anxious to read the stories of the big fight.

Eight columns of report on the fight were published in the extra edition.

Shaughnessy May Land Geo. Dunlap, Ex-London Player

Former Shortstop of Local Team Is Free Agent and Wants Berth With Senators.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

Shag has a pretty good nucleus for his 1915 squad right now. He requires one good outfielder and a shortstop, and his team will be complete. George Dunlop, the crack London shortstop of 1913, who was sold to Cleveland, is free for some unknown reason, and was anxious to join the Senators. Just what chance Ottawa has of getting Frankie Fuller, the Detroit recruit, will be better known in a week's time when the Tigers come north. Fuller has been alternating at short with Ownie Bush in the spring training games down on the Gulf coast and has been shaping up pretty good. He might be another Mitchell.

Shag says he isn't bothering any about London, and while he is sure Reisling will have a good club, he contends he lost his best player last year in Looey Bierbauer.

Willard's Friends in Oklahoma City Still Celebrating

He Started His Career in an Athletic Club There in 1910.

Kansas City, April 6.—Friends of Jesse Willard, now champion, continued to celebrate today in Emmett, Kas., his birthplace, and in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where he started his pugilistic career.

In December, 1910, Willard entered an athletic club in Oklahoma City and announced that he wanted to learn to fight, so that he could whip Jack Johnson.

His declaration was taken as something of a joke, but impressed by his enormous stature, the manager of the club signed a contract with him. Willard fought and won a number of fights in Oklahoma.

AL. McCOY WILL MEET GEORGE CHIP TONIGHT

New York, April 6.—Al. McCoy, claimant to the middleweight championship, and George Chip, of Newcastle, Pa., will fight a ten-round bout here tonight. A year ago McCoy knocked Chip out in one round. Prior to that Chip had claimed the middleweight championship because of the fact that he had knocked out Frank Klaus, who was recognized by the French federation of boxing as world's middleweight champion.

DEATH CLAIMS DOVER LADY.

CHATHAM, April 5. — The death occurred early this morning of Mrs. Clemence Sterling, aged 77 years, relict of the late Francis Sterling, River road, Dover Township. The deceased was ill for only a week. She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. G. Garron, Detroit; Mrs. Robert Johnson, Dover; Mrs. John Crow, Raleigh; Mrs. V. Crow, residing at the homestead; Mrs. Fred Antaya, of Dover; one son, Lewis, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Anthony Oulette, of this city; Mrs. Martin Button, of Oklahoma; and two brothers, Henry Drago, of eRgina, and George Drago, of Bay City. The funeral will be held on Wednesday, April 7, to St Peters Church, in Dover.

Receipts of Fight Will Total $125,000

Barrels of Silver Coins of Every Denomination and Piles of Dirty, Tattered Bills—The Promoters Were All Night Counting It.

[Canadian Press.]

Havana, April 6.—The city of Havana was today fast resuming its customary aspect after the intrusion yesterday upon its normal life of the excitement and enthusiasm incidental to the passing of the world's heavyweight championship from Jack Johnson to Jess Willard.

Tonight the citizens of Havana are planning to give the new champion a public reception and present him with a gold watch. Spectators, tourists and fight promoters are leaving the city as fast as facilities offer; the principals also are impatiently waiting to be off, and the great fight is rapidly becoming past history to the city where it was held.

Counting the Coin.

The men most interested in the famous battle took little part in the general celebration of it last night. Willard spent the early part of the evening sightseeing with friends from Kansas, after which he had dinner and went early to bed. The promoters were at the race track until long after midnight counting the gate receipts. The official total is not yet known. The silver coins of all denominations taken in at the race track are piled up in barrels and alongside of them are stacks of bills, many of them old and dirty and almost falling apart.

Johnson Was There.

The mystery of Johnson's disappearance is now explained. He went to the race track to see the gate money counted, although he had no financial interest in the receipts, and at the same time keep away from visitors. There is reason to believe that the gate exceeded $125,000. The absence of the negro from his house led to wild rumors last night that he was seriously hurt in a hospital, and that he had gone into hiding to avoid United States detectives, who were said to be after him for infraction of federal statutes.

Everyone Leaving.

The plans for departure of both Willard and Johnson became known today. Willard and his promoters and supporters will leave here Wednesday for Key West on their way north; Johnson, accompanied by his wife and some friends expects to leave Havana the latter part of the week for the French island of Martinique, in the West Indies.

More than 1,000 persons, tourists, fight spectators, and others now in Havana expect to make their way to Key West during the next two days. Boats and trains will be taxed to capacity. In fact, all travel records have been broken in the past five days by the incoming and outgoing crowds.

A record in the amount of news and private cables moved out of Havana in one day also has been established. Sixty thousand words were cleared on the cable lines during the past 24 hours.

Jim Coffey May Be Willard's Next Opponent in the Ring

Dublin Giant Who Meets Carl Morris Tomorrow Night Has Guaranteed New Champion $15,000 For Bout.

New York, April 6.—The question which of the various contenders for the heavyweight championship would be the first to persuade Jess Willard to accept a challenge to fight for the title, was the chief subject discussed in New York sporting circles today. That there will be no lack of effort to induce Willard to fight in New York was indicated by the fact that a guarantee of $15,000 was offered by Billy Gibson, manager of Jim Coffey, for a ten-round bout with Willard in Madison Square Garden some time in May. Coffey, the Dublin giant, will fight Carl Morris in a ten-round bout here tomorrow night.

Bob Fitzsimmons, formerly heavyweight champion, was among those who expressed pleasure at Willard's victory. "I am as glad as I can be that the title has come back to the white race," he said. "I am really surprised, because I didn't think Jess could do it. I didn't think he had a chance in the world. Johnson must have gone back very much during the past few years. If he was half the man he was when he met Jeffries he would have pushed Willard's face all over Cuba. Willard will hold the title for a long time. He is the best of the whole flock of 'white hopes,' and there is none in sight who can beat him."

AMATEUR BOXING TITLES BEING DECIDED IN BOSTON

Boston, April 6.—Interest of boxing enthusiasts, focused yesterday on the world's championship contest at Havana, turned today to this city, where nearly 150 boxers from many parts of the United States and Canada gathered to decide the national amateur boxing championships in eight classes. Cleveland, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, New Orleans, Chicago, Toronto and New York sent their best representatives to contend with those of this section. There were ten entrants in the heavyweight class.

Preliminary bouts will be held tonight and the semi-finals and finals tomorrow night. The winners, besides securing the usual titles and prizes, will be entered as representatives of the United States in the international title tournament to be held in San Francisco.

CANADIAN BOWLERS LEADING AT NEW YORK

New York, April 6.—Three Canadian teams were in the lead when the second day's session of the tournament of the National Bowling Association opened today. As a result of the first day's bowling which ended long after midnight, they occupied first, second and third places in the list of six five-men teams.

Of the three teams, the Canadians took first with the score of 2,805; the Nationals of Montreal second with 2,752, and the Strachans third with a total of 2,653.

The Rockaways, of New York scored 2,613, the Vogels of Newark 2,560, and the Mohawks of New York 2,488. More than 700 bowlers are on the entry list.

WILLARD'S VICTORY PLEASED NEW YORK

Negro's Defeat Being Discussed All Over City.

WILL STIMULATE BOXING

Gunboat Smith, Jim Coffey and Al Reich All Issue Challenges.

NEW YORK, April 5. — Willard's victory over Johnson, and the fact that the world's heavyweight title has passed into the custody of a white pugilist, was welcome news to those identified with pugilism and to other sport followers in Greater New York. Tonight virtually nothing but the big fight was talked about in the hotels and cafes, where sporting men gathered. Everywhere the prevailing impression was that Johnson's defeat by the big Kansan would give a stimulus to boxing, and make the sport more popular all over the United States.

Gunboat Smith, Jim Coffey, and Al Reich, all of whom have their homes in this city, have issued challenges to the cowboy champion. In all probability, this trio, as well as many others in the heavyweight division, will have to wait some time before Willard will consent to a match for the title. His managers and backers have mapped out an itinerary of exhibitions and theatrical engagements for Willard, in preference to having him defend his title.

Very little betting was indulged in here, the odds ranging from 2 to 1 against Willard for small bets, to 6 to 5 for larger amounts.

Nervous Prostration and Heart Troubles

Nervous Prostration, or Neurasthenia, is one of the worst forms of nerve trouble and brings about a general weakness of the whole nervous system.

The symptoms presenting themselves are headache, a feeling of depression, disturbed and restless, unfreshing sleep, often troubled with dreams, fright when in crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, fright at travelling, muscular weakness, sense of fatigue upon effort, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected, too.

All are curable if taken in time.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just what you require at this time. They strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system.

Mrs. John Hewson, Caledonia, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know the great benefit your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. I uffered for four years with heart trouble and nervous prostration. I was so bad I could not go upstairs without sitting down at the top before I could go to my room. I could not sleep nor could I lie on my left side, for it would seem as if my heart would stop. I thought my time had come. I was doctoring with the doctor, but didn't get any benefit. I took eight boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and am enjoying good health."

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

JESS WILLARD WINS HEAVYWEIGHT CROWN

and Johnson left the ring, and went to their dressing-rooms, while the crowd cheered and broke into wild discussion. Willard was out of his dressing-room in a few moments, and in an automobile on his way back to Havana. He was escorted half way to the city from the Mariano race track, where the fight was held, by a troop of Cuban cavalry.

Victory Was Popular.

Crowds lined the streets, and narrow roadways, and the new white champion was loudly cheered. He was decidedly the favorite of the crowd all through the fight, and tonight is the hero of the Island. His victory was very popular.

Automobiles returning to the city from the fight flew white flags, and thus the news spread far and wide that the white challenger had beaten the negro champion. As Willard came along, the crowds in the streets waved flags and linen handkerchiefs tied to sticks. At one point, a group of negro children, who had evidently heard that Johnson was the victor, waved black flags at the white champion, who was much amused.

A Modest Champion.

Willard is probably the most modest champion who ever stepped out of a prize ring, taking his victory as philosophically as he had looked forward to the fight. Neither he nor Johnson showed much evidence of having been engaged in a heavyweight championship battle. The new champion's lip, right ear, and left cheek showed slight cuts, but at no time was there more than a drop or two of blood in evidence

In this respect the fight was in direct contrast to the Johnson-Jeffries fight at Reno five years ago, when Jeffries was cut to pieces and blood splashed over the spectators at the ring side. Evidently thinking that this condition might prevail again, Johnson objected to the presence of a white woman in the newspaper seats just outside the ropes, and she was relegated to a place out of possible range.

A Clean Battle.

On the contrary no fight between heavyweights that has gone to a finish was cleaner or less brutal. Johnson's left eye was partly closed in the early rounds, but not sufficiently to interfere with his fighting. His lip also was cut inside, and his famous golden smile flashed from a very red setting.

The end of the fight came with a suddenness that dazed the spectators. It followed two or three rounds of almost complete idleness on the part of the contestants, and the crowd settled down to a long drawn out struggle, believing that it would go the full limit of the 45 rounds without either being able to register a knock-out.

Johnson Starts With Speed.

The early rounds were filled with flashes of Johnson's former wonderful speed, when he would rain rights and lefts to Willard's body and face, delivering terrific blows to one from the big white challenger. Through all this time Willard was strictly on the defensive, and on occasion Johnson played with him, once standing with guard down and letting Willard swing at him only to dodge and laugh at the awkwardness of his opponent.

In many respects the fight resulted just as many predicted. Willard and his friends particularly prophesying that if the battle lasted twenty rounds, Johnson could not win. This was based partly on the belief that Willard could stand all the punishment Johnson could inflict, and partly on the doubt as to Johnson's condition, and his ability at his age to fight a long battle against the odds of superior height, weight, reach and years.

Ready For Punishment.

Willard said before entering the ring that he expected to take a beating for ten or fifteen rounds at the hands of his faster and more skilled opponent, and had trained to withstand it. As a matter of fact he took twenty rounds of severe punishment, but laughed the blows aside and kept standing up against the rushes of the negro, who several times in each of the earlier rounds swept Willard before him to the ropes. Willard's back showed numerous welts raised by the ropes as he fell into them.

In the rushes Johnson would attack Willard in the body and when the latter's hands and arms came down to guard that part of his anatomy, Johnson would swing rights and lefts to the unprotected face and jaw. After each of these Willard kept coming cheerfully back for more. Johnson's perpetual grin through the early rounds began to change to a look of wonderment as the battle turned into the twenties, and it was evident the negro had come to the conclusion that it was useless for him to try to knock out the young western giant. Johnson seemed also to know that he was in no condition to fight forty-five rounds. His blows lacked the force, which sent Jeffries toppling from the topmost rung of the pugilistic ladder at Reno. Time had done its work.

It had been the opinion of Johnson and many of his friends that he did not have to be in the best condition to whip Willard under-rating the latter's splendid condition and youthful stamina.

Fight Johnson's at First.

The fight was all Johnson's during the first twenty rounds. Willard only once or twice taking the aggressive and then swinging clumsily and wildly. Meanwhile his body was growing pink under the blows that flashed from Johnson.

In these rounds Willard took a beating which would have put an ordinary fighter down and out. The crowd got used to seeing him throw off these slashing blows and expected to see Johnson do the same thing when Willard swung his right to the negro's chin in the fatal twenty-sixth round. They expected to see Johnson jump up and continue fighting just as Willard had come back, but the old champion knew that he had fought his last championship fight.

In the twentieth round to the final, the fight looked slow and the crowd began to hoot and ask that somebody do something. There was a single cry of "fake," but it was not taken up by the other spectators. The reason it looked slow was because Johnson, who had been doing all the fighting, suddenly stopped and began sparring for time.

Johnson Disappears.

Johnson returned to his rooms almost immediately after the fight. Aside from a cut lip he was almost unmarked. He denied himself to all interviewers, and about 7 o'clock this evening left hurriedly in an automobile. Up to a late hour the searchers were unable to locate the former champion. It was reported that he had gone to the country until tomorrow.

Johnson's household presented a gloomy appearance. His wife said she did not know what his future plans were, or where he had gone.

"Kid" Williams Nearly Took Count In Philadelphia

Joe Lavigne Knocked Him Down for Count of 7 and 9 in 6-Round Bout.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 5.—"Kid" Williams, the bantamweight champion, was knocked down twice and took the count for seven and nine in the second round of a six-round bout with Joe Lavigne, better known as "Louisiana," of this city, here tonight. The local man appeared over-anxious and missed both attempts to land finishing blows. "Louisiana" made the better showing in all but the first round. The champion appeared groggy at the close.

This was the fourth contest between the two fighters, who weighed 118 pounds. Popular decision had given each a victory, and one contest a draw as the results of the three previous meetings.

MANY RACE RIOTS OCCUR IN CHICAGO RESULT OF BOUT

Jack Johnson's Sister Says It Was a "Fake Fight."

[Canadian Press.]

CHICAGO, April 5.—Several white men in that part of Chicago known as "The Black Belt," which was the home of Jack Johnson before he became a fugitive from justice, taunted a crowd of negroes tonight by cheering Willard. A general fight ensued and riot calls brought police from three stations. Several arrests were made. No one was injured seriously. The police stopped several other fights between whites and blacks.

At the home of Johnson's mother, Mrs. Tiny Johnson, the former champion's sister met all inquiries with the statement: "It was a fake fight and everyone knows it. Jack would never have lost unless he wanted to."

The negroes throughout the district, which is one of the largest negro communities in the country, were decidedly downcast.

WINDSOR BALLPLAYER APPENDICITIS VICTIM

"Red" Seton Had Expected to Make Canadian League.

WINDSOR, April 5.—After a three days' illness, Leo R. Sexton, aged 21, well known in this city, died Saturday afternoon of appendicitis at the home of his parents, 84 Parent avenue.

Last year he was shortstop on the Independent Ball Club, and it is said he expected to make Canadian League this year. He had been training, and it is thought the strain might have been the cause of the sudden attack.

Only one year ago, he married Alma Bessette. Besides his wife and parents, he is survived by a brother, Albert, and Miss Mabel Sexton, a sister.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at the Immaculate Conception Church.

ST. THOMAS CLUB SIGNS A SOUTHPAW PITCHER

ST. THOMAS, April 5. — Manager Stewart, of the Saints, today received the signed contract of a left-hand pitcher named Douglass.

The new portsider is a student at the Northwestern College, Chicago. He will report on June 2, when the college season is finished.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW OPENS BOWLING TOURNAMENT

NEW YORK, April 5.—The ninth annual tournament of the National Bowling Association began tonight in the Grand Central Palace with ceremonies at which Chauncey M. Depew, former United States senator from New York, was the principal speaker. He did not roll the first ball down the alleys, as was expected, for he explained that he had reached the age of 81, and that the bowling spheres were heavier these days than when he was an adept at the game some 65 years ago.

Six teams took the alleys tonight, the National A. A., Canadians and Strachans, of Montreal; the Vogts, of Newark, N.J.; the Rockaways, of Rockaway Beach, L.I.; and the Mohawks, of New York. The start was so late that it was long after midnight before they finished.

CHAMPION RUNNER DIES.

ST. CATHARINES, April 5.—Ben Whitham, aged 72 years, died last night after a short illness. Half a century ago he was one of the best known 100-yard dash men in Great Britain.

BAVARIAN REGIMENT SHOT TO PIECES BY FRENCH GUNNERS

Brilliant Success Scored in Meuse Department—Two Thousand Killed.

PARIS, April 5. — 11:20 p.m. — Combats at the Eparges in the Department of the Meuse on March 18, 19 and 20, were no less brilliant and successful than the preceding engagements, according to the French official "eye-witness," in a report giving further details of the battles on this part of the front.

"The most recent success," says the report, "was due to the intense artillery preparation, the very prompt assault and violent hand-to-hand fighting. In the trenches captured from the enemy, in which our heavy artillery fire caused great excavations, we found bodies cut up and half-buried in the earth.

"Survivors who were captured declare that the French artillery fire was horrible. Others say that the 8th Bavarian Regiment was decimated, having lost 2,000 men and 16 officers during February. One battalion was reduced to 87 men. Despite this one of the German prisoners asserts he heard a German general say: 'We are ready to sacrifice a division, even an entire army corps of 100,000, but we must not give in.'

"An official note relates feats performed by several officers and soldiers, among them Pte. Rooquet, who, during a counter-attack by the Germans, jumped on a parapet and killed seven of the enemy."

RUSSIANS PUT TURKISH CRUISERS TO FLIGHT

PETROGRAD (via London), April 5. —"On the 3rd of April on the Black Sea near the Crimean coast our fleet exchanged shots at long range with the cruisers Goeben nad Breslau (former German cruisers now under the Turkish flag, having been renamed the Sultan Selim and Midirli, respectively), and pursued them until dusk. During the night our torpedo boats encountering the cruisers one hundred miles from the Bosphorus, the enemy opened a vigorous fire and avoided an engagement."

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

LONDON, April 5.—The following British casualties were announced tonight:

Killed—Halswelle, captain, Highland Light.

Wounded—Evans, major Engineers; Forster, lieutenant, East Lancashires; Jung, lieutenant, Northumberland Fusiliers; Smith, lieutenant, Medicals.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE TRICK SUCCEEDED IN WINNING THIS GIRL

"I Will Marry You, Bert," She Cries as Lover Is Rescued.

Toronto, April 6.—From 8 o'clock until noon a young couple sat on the breakwater at the foot of Beach avenue, near Scarboro Beach. It was a nice day and dozens of people passed close by, but this fact did not discourage the young lovers, who apparently saw nobody but each other. For two hours the young man, whose name the police were unable to ascertain, pled with the girl, but the interested spectators saw her repeatedly shake her head as a refusal. At length, about 12 o'clock, they arose and walked over to the foot of Victoria avenue, where the unknown pled for some minutes. Upon repeated refusals the pedestrians noticed he assumed a threatening attitude, but still there was a refusal.

Scream Was Heard.

Suddenly the girl screamed and the lake gazers turned around and saw the young man running at full speed for the lake. Everybody looked, but no person thought it worth while to say or do anything until the young fellow waded out into the water up to his waist. Then there was confusion. The lover turned down was about to commit suicide in accordance with his threat to his young lady.

Stopped and Looked.

When the water reached his waist the young man looked around at his sweetheart screaming at the top of her voice on the beach. A moment's hesitation and further in he went until the cold water touched his chin. There he stopped, however, until a wave swept him off his feet. When he emerged again he was struggling to reach the shore, but could not seem to get within his depth again. It apparently was going to be a tragedy until Patrick Winsdale, of Beach avenue, launched a rowboat and pulled the young man out.

"I Will Marry You."

On the beach there was a wild scene of rejoicing between the reunited couple. For three minutes the girl clasped her dripping lover to the bosom of her new Easter frock. "Oh, I will marry you, Bert, I will, I will," she sobbed. "Come home quick, now, and get dry." And away they went, he clasping her tightly about the waist.

ELEVEN HUNDRED DEAD IN A MEXICAN FIGHT

LAREDO, Texas, April 5. — Advices reaching Carranza adherents here tonight are that in a three days' fight near Los Ebanos, 30 miles south of Tampico, Mexico, Villa forces have lost 1,100 killed and about 1,000 in prisoners.

According to the report Villa's troops attacked Carranza's forces at Los Ebanos Friday. Following a fierce battle the Villa army was compelled to retreat, leaving 600 dead on the field. The Villa forces returned Saturday, according to the report, and after a fight lasting through Sunday the Villa general ordered a retreat, leaving 1500 dead on the field; the Carranza army taking 1,000 prisoners.

MEETS A BURGLAR FACE TO FACE AND IS NOT "GUN SHY"

St. Thomas Man Backs Armed Intruder From His House.

ST. THOMAS, April 5.—A. D. Hendershott, 17 Inkerman street, was aroused early this morning by the sound of somebody trying to force an entrance into the house. Mr. Hendershott immediately confronted the stranger, who put his hand around towards his hip-pocket and threatened to draw a gun, but made off. The police were notified and when searching the vicinity met a man coming out of an alley on Manitoba street, who was later identified by Hendershott. The stranger was placed under arrest and gave his name as Patsy Martin, but it is believed he is an Italian.

When searched, a loaded revolver was found in his possession. He was remanded till Wednesday to give the officers to look up his record.

More Comforts For Soldiers.

The second consignment of comforts for the soldiers in the trenches is being received by the C. W. C. A., the presidents of the Young Women's Christian Association, Overseas Club, and the military chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, at the 25th Regt. clubrooms on Talbot street this week. Many parcels have already been received from towns and villages in the outlying districts. The packages are being sorted, and the ladies expect to forward them to the headquarters at London before Saturday.

FRUIT INSPECTOR EXPIRES.

ST. CATHARINES, April 5.—Jas. E. Parnell, the chief Dominion fruit inspector for Canada West, is dead at his home here after a nillness of one year. He had been stationed at Winnipeg, but was transferred here several months ago.

WHAT GOVERNMENT REFUSED TO HAVE

Liberal Amendments To the Liquor Bill Quashed by Conservative Members.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 6.—Following is a summary of amendments to the liquor license act proposed by the Liberals on the third reading and rejected by the Conservatives:

(1) Close all bars and clubs at 7 o'clock in the evening during the war. (Shops already closed at 7 o'clock under the new Government bill.)

(2) Close all bars and clubs at 8 o'clock in the evening.

(3) Close all bars and clubs at 9 o'clock in the evening.

(4) Close all bars and clubs at 10 o'clock in the evening.

(5) Close all bars, clubs and shops on Saturday at 1 o'clock.

(6) Add New Year's to the list of prohibited days.

(7) Make local option county-wide.

(8) Substitute majority vote for three-fifths clause in local option contests.

(9) Strike out clause making it necessary for municipalities in which a vote for license reduction has been defeated to wait three years before the submission of a similar vote again.

(10) To add shops and clubs to the bars in the clause authorizing the board to prohibit the sale of liquor to any particular class of persons.

(11) Giving the board power to appoint its own inspectors and officers, instead of their being appointed by the Government, as under the Government bill.

WYOMING SOLDIER ILL AT WINNIPEG

Pte. Leonard Taylor Attacked by Scarlet Fever.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WYOMING, April 4.—Friends here of Pte. Leonard Taylor, son of the late Mrs. Eliza Taylor, this town, who has been in training with the second contingent at Winnipeg, received word of the recent severe attack of scarlet fever from which he is slowly recovering in that city. Although discharged from hospital, he is still unfit for drilling duties, but hopes for a speedy return to health.

Stewart Anderson, who has charge of a school at Belgrave, Huron County, is spending holidays at his home, second line. He reports last fall's snow still piled high in fence corners and an occasional cutter or sleigh still seen on the roads of that northern district.

LAMBTON VOLUNTEERS RENEW ACQUAINTANCES

Several Popular Boys Take Advantage of Chance to Get Home.

WYOMING, April 5.—John, Joseph and Clarence Chivers, three brothers from here, who are in training with the third contingent at Guelph, spent Easter at their home.

John Fisher, second line, was also home over Easter.

Houghton brothers, Thomas and William, sixth line, in training at Guelph, spent the holidays with relatives in Plympton Township. The rumor that William had contracted spinal meningitis was without foundation.

J. B. Ireland, Bank of Toronto Chambers, London, spent Easter in town renewing acquaintances.

A. F. MacMath, Toronto, has been a Wyoming visitor over Easter.

Messrs. Stillson and families who came here from Sarnia last week, are domiciled in their respective new homes.

Mr. Babcock, of Sarnia, has engaged with C. R. McKinley, second line, and has moved into the house recently repaired on the farm, where he brought his family.

FOSTER—MILLSON.

WHITE OAK, April 5.—A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Millson, on March 24, at 3 o'clock, when their eldest daughter Della Jane, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick W. Foster, by Rev. R. L. Wilson, of Lambeth. The bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, to the accompaniment of the "Bridal Chorus," rendered by Miss Aggie Foster, sister of the groom. The couple were attended by Miss Gladys Millson, sister of the bride, and Charles Foster, brother of the groom. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue serge with hat to match. The bride and groom left on the evening train to Detroit and other points. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Foster will reside at Brick street, first concession Westminster.

ILLINOIS VOTES TODAY

On Ballots Cast Depends Fate of Nearly Four Hundred Saloons.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, April 6.—The principal issue in the township elections in 45 Illinois townships today is the wet or dry question. Nearly 400 saloons, it is estimated, will be closed should the anti-saloon forces win. In addition to the saloons many beer peddlers' licenses in villages may be affected by the vote.

For weeks a strenuous campaign has been conducted in the several townships. The anti-saloon forces are pinning their hopes on the woman's vote, while in many localities the businessmen are being rallied to the license ticket on the argument that to force out the saloons would drive valuable trade to other places.

[Canadian Press.]

Harrisburg, Pa., April 6.—This was local option day at the state capital, thousands of persons coming to Harrisburg from different parts of the state to make a demonstration in favor of the passage through the Legislature of a law which would permit the electors of any county to vote on the question of prohibiting the sale of liquor. A bill, backed by Governor Brumbaugh, was introduced in the Lower House of the General Assembly two months ago, and held in committee at the request of the governor, who has been the leader in the campaign for its passage. The bill, if it becomes a law, would permit the electors in counties to vote on the liquor question every three years, providing 30 per cent of the persons eligible to vote sign a petition calling for such an election.

It was commonly reported that the majority of the members in each House of the Legislature were opposed to the bill and the governor became very active in advocating its passage. The governor in his campaign for office personally pledged himself in favor of a local option law.

DRYS WON 13 COUNTIES.

[Canadian Press.]

Detroit, Mich., April 6.—With the returns practically complete in every precinct from two counties, where the result was doubtful, it was conceded today at noon that the "drys" had won in thirteen of the sixteen Michigan counties voting on local option yesterday, thereby adding nine counties to Michigan's "dry" area and giving the state at least 43 counties without saloons. The vote was so close in Chippewa and Alger counties that both sides were claiming victory today noon.

Among important counties which swung over into the "dry" column yesterday were Kalamazoo, Calhoun, Mason, Lapeer, Tuscola and Oakland. The vote forced at least 327 saloons out of business and added 336,736 to the population of the state already in "dry" territory.

Late returns increase the large majority won by the Republican state ticket.

RAIN AND WARMTH ARE BADLY NEEDED TO SAVE CLOVER CROP

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WYOMING, April 5.—The dry, cold winds of March have been detrimental to the progress of the clover crop here about. Those fields seeded last year are suffering most, having been heaved with the frost, while the roots are being dried by winds. Warmer weather and occasional showers would, however, speedily remedy matters.

Members of Wyoming Fruit Growers' Association have ordered and received their supplies of spray material during the past few days. Lime sulphur, home-boiled, is used almost exclusively by the association, while, though troublesome to mix, better results, it is claimed, are derived.

SUFFERED 20 YEARS; RELIEVED BY DEATH

ST. MARYS, April 5.—After an illness of upwards of 20 years, Miss Emily M. Callister passed away on Sunday at her late residence, Elgin street west. Two brothers, Fletcher, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Herbert, at home, survive.

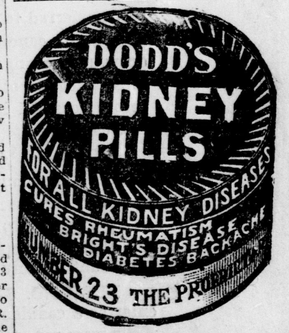

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p.m., to St. Marys Cemetery.

FUNERAL OF HARWICH LADY.

CHATHAM, April 5.—Mrs. Margaret Walker Neilson, aged 30 years, wife of William Neilson, of the 12th concession Harwich Township, and daughter of Archibald McCormick, of the 5th concession, was buried this morning in Maple Leaf Cemetery. Rev. Mr. McLean conducted the obsequies.

SCHOONER IS LOST.

HALIFAX N. S., April 5.—The Annapolis schooner, Georgina Roop, before reported as being some 200 miles off the south coast of Nova Scotia, with her sails gone, has gone ashore near Barrington, N. S., according to a message received this morning at Halifax, by C. H. Harvey, of the Marine and Fisheries Department. The crew is safe but the vessel will be a total loss.

Enter Now as a Candidate In The London Advertiser Panama-Pacific Contest

Thirty (30) days of unending pleasure and joyous surprise amid luxurious surroundings of the most complete equipment of modern times. Over the scenic route of Canada and North America. Enterprising cities of the great Canadian West, monuments to the enterprise and the ability of Canada's nation builders. The vast fertile stretches of the "Granary of the Empire," the awe-inspiring scenery of the Canadian Rockies, the sunlit planes of British Columbia, the wonderful Pacific Ocean trip, California with its climate of unending sunshine, the great attractions of the Panama-Pacific Expositions at San Francisco and San Diego. Mexico with its ancient scenes and customs, and other places and points of interest too numerous to mention.

All will be only part of the treat enjoyed by four fortunate ladies of London, who by their enterprise will go as guests of The London Advertiser in June.

The Advertiser is proud of its record made six years ago, when it acted as the host for a score of young ladies who took trips at The Advertiser's expense, and means to maintain its reputation for doing things right. The Advertiser could have saved hundreds of dollars and still made the trip very attractive, but believes that the fair representatives of THE FASTEST GROWING PAPER IN THE BEST DISTRICT OF CANADA are entitled to the best that money could buy and made all arrangements accordingly. As a result of this policy the four ladies will be given the trip of a lifetime and we believe that they will never have occasion to regret a few weeks of pleasant effort necessary to win this grand trip.

The Trip of a Lifetime for Four London Ladies.

IT'S EASY TO WIN A TRIP. Send in your nomination blank, telephone or call at the Circulation Department and every detail will be explained and then—GO IN AND WIN A TRIP.

The Plan

The city of London has been divided into four districts. The selection of the party is put squarely up to the readers of The Advertiser and their votes will decide the winners. The candidate in each district or division securing the greatest number of votes will be entitled to this splendid 30-day trip throughout the most picturesque parts of Canada and the western part of this continent, including a visit to the San Francisco and San Diego Panama-Pacific Expositions. Every cent of expense from the time the winners leave London until their return will be paid by The London Advertiser. First-class travel by special train, first-class hotel accommodation, automobiles, porters' fees, tips, amusements, etc., all paid. Chaperons and competent tour conductor will accompany the party, which will be an exclusive one, and no trouble or expense will be spared to add to the comfort or pleasure of our fair guests while en route.

Will Travel in Special Train

Another feature of the offer that has attracted the most favorable comment is the special train and the exclusiveness that will be thrown around the entire trip. The London Advertiser offer means real travel de luxe, not a mere tourist trip dignified with a high sounding name. The party will be a selected one. Girls that are most acceptable as candidates in such a contest are girls of ability, splendid records and of attractive personality. Therefore any girl can be assured that she will have very congenial companions.

In addition the party will be carefully chaperoned, travel in a special train, and have everything of the best. There will be no danger that the members of The London Advertiser party will have to take their chances with a mixed crowd or travel as tourists on the ordinary train. There will be no unpleasant features, but, on the contrary, everything will be of the most inviting nature.

Nominations are coming in very rapidly and many score more will be received during the next ten days. The more candidates the more the total vote will be split up, and hence the greater possibilities of winning.

Nomination Form Will Be Found On Page Eleven

RULE NO. 1—Any woman, either married or single, over 15 years of age, may become a candidate. It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The London Advertiser in order to enter the contest.

RULE NO. 2—The voting will be by means of ballots clipped from The London Advertiser and by special subscription coupons, issued on all new subscriptions, renewals and paid in advance.

RULE NO. 3—Votes once credited to any candidate cannot be transferred to any other candidate in the race, with the exception, that a candidate who enters and for any reason has to withdraw, may change her votes to a suitable substitute, but said substitute cannot be any candidate whose nomination had been before accepted in the race. The substitute must be an entirely new candidate.

RULE NO. 4—Votes cannot be bought under any circumstances. They must either be clipped in the form of the daily ballot or issued on subscription payments.

RULE NO. 5—The first nomination received will count for five thousand votes for any candidate, but only one nomination can count for any one candidate.

RULE NO. 6—No employee of The London Advertiser can enter as a candidate.

RULE NO. 7—The final count at the close of the contest will be made by a competent board of judges.

RULE NO. 8—The London Advertiser reserves the right to accept or reject any nomination without giving an explanation other than that the nomination is not acceptable.

RULE NO. 9—The London Advertiser reserves the right to make any and all rulings which may be necessary for the best interests of the candidates.

RULE NO. 10—The London Advertiser will decide all questions which may arise in the course of the campaign, and the candidates on entering agree to abide by such decisions, which shall be final.

RULE NO. 11—The contest will close on Tuesday, May 25, at 4 p.m., and the candidate in each district having the highest number of votes will be declared the winner. All subscriptions must be in by this hour and date.

RULE NO. 12—There will be four districts, as follows:

District No. 1—All that territory inside the city limits, north of, and including both sides of Dundas street, and west of, and including both sides of Wellington street.

District No. 2—All that territory inside the city limits, east of, but not including, Wellington street, and north of, and including both sides of Dundas street.

District No. 3—All that territory inside the city limits, south of, but not including, Dundas street, and east of, but not including, Wellington street.

District No. 4—All that territory inside the city limits, west of, and including both sides of Wellington street, and south of, but not including Dundas street.

Candidates will not compete against each other, except that candidates have the right to secure votes or subscriptions anywhere they please, and the votes will count in accordance with the vote value of that district.

RULE NO. 13—A daily ballot will be published, good for ten votes each, from the first day that a ballot appears until seven days before the close of the contest, when no more daily ballots will be published. Each daily ballot will have upon it a ten-day expiry limit, and these ballots must be in the office of The London Advertiser before said expiry date in order to be counted for any candidate.

RULE NO. 14—Nominations of candidates may be made by anyone at any time without cost. Any candidate wishing to have her name withdrawn from the list must write to The London Advertiser, or call personally at the office.

RULE NO. 15—No statement or promise made by any person whatever varying from the above rules will be recognized by The London Advertiser.

RULE NO. 16—The contest will officially start on Saturday, March 27, 1915, and end Tuesday, May 25, 1915, at 4 p.m.

Value of Subscription Ballots

$10.00 paid on single subscription, 2 years	30,000 votes
$ 7.50 paid on single subscription, 1½ years	18,000 votes

TELLS CLERGYMEN TO FORGET PEACE

Former Diplomat Holds That War Is Not Horrible Or Indefensible.

"MOST RATIONAL THING"

Philip Marshall Brown Thinks Pulpit Has Not Right To Interfere.

[Canadian Press.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—War was defended and the clergy were criticized for their world peace propaganda, by Philip Marshall Brown, professor of international law at Princeton University and former minister to Honduras, before the annual meeting here today of the Alumni Association of Auburn Theological Seminary, at Auburn, N.Y. The speaker held that war was not horrible and indefensible, but "the most rational thing that can happen at times."

Professor Brown declared that by denouncing the war the clergymen are in danger of being "thrown off the track." Continuing, he said:

"War is not brought on by the evil in men's hearts. Will Italy go into this war, if she does go into it, from evil passions? Certainly not. She will go into it after careful consideration and to accomplish certain definite ends. It is not from malice that men in war fire at one another, but for a national idea. It is a sin to call war a horror. Men go into war actuated by a wonderful spirit of self-sacrifice."

Mistake of Clergy.

The speaker declared that the clergy had made a mistake in dwelling too much on the propaganda of world peace and that affairs of state should be left in the hands of statesmen.

"Any sentimental ideal propaganda for peace results in a derision that hurts the whole movement of Christianity," he continued. "Christianity is in the hearts of individual men, and you should not try to run the universe when immediate cases are crying for solution. We have had labor warfare at home in West Virginia and Colorado. What have you done to keep peace here? What are you doing to keep peace in New York? Would we intrust that task to preachers?

"This problem is a hard one to meet, but it must be met in a practical and not an ideal way. You should preach Christ and leave aside problems of labor and world conflicts. God will work out His plans, and we have no right to protest against the great features of His plan."

U. S. CLAIMS $228,000 FOR LOSS OF FRYE

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The American note to Germany on the sinking of the American sailing ship William P. Frye, by the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, was made public here today. It is very brief. It is confined principally to a recital of the legal aspects of the sinking of the Frye, and in polite and diplomatic language suggests that Germany make "reparation."

The claim is for $228,059.54, with interest from January 28, 1915, itemized as follows:

Value of ship, equipment and outfit, $150,000.

Actual freight as per freight list 5034, 1,000—2,240 tons at 32-6-8180-19-6 at $4.86, $39,759.54.

Traveling and other expenses of Kiehne and Arthur Sewall & Co., agents of ship, in connection with making affidavits, preparing and filing claim, $500.

Personal effects of Capt. H. H. Kiehne, $300.

Damages covering loss due to deprivation of use of ship $37,500.

KING'S HOUSES WILL BE "DRY" AFTER TODAY

LONDON, April 5.—9 p.m.—Teetotalism will be inforced in all the King's households beginning Wednesday. An official announcement just issued, dated April 6, says:

"By the King's command no wines or spirits will be consumed in any of his majesty's houses after today."

AUSTRIANS LOST 15,000 ON SUNDAY

Desperate Battle With the Russian Forces In the Carpathian Mountains.

GENEVA, April 5, via Paris, April 6.—12:15 a.m.—Dispatches received here tonight from Budapest state that a serious battle started in the Carpathians on Saturday evening, extending from Dukla to Eperies, Saros County, Hungary.

The dispatches state that the fighting was the severest around Saros, and that the Austrian and German armies were repulsed.

The new young Bavarian troops suffered heavily, it is said, and the Austrian losses on Sunday alone were over 15,000. The battle continues, and reinforcements are being hurried up to assist the Austro-German forces.

GET LAST OF EIGHT IN C. P. R. FRAUD CASES

B. F. Aiken, Former Passenger Agent at Roger's Pass, Is Taken.

VANCOUVER, April 5.—With the arrest of B. F. Aiken, former Canadian Pacific Railway passenger and telegraph agent at Roger's Pass, the last of eight men wanted since Novemoer, 1913, on a charge of conspiring to defraud the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been rounded up. They are alleged to have embezzled $11,000 from the Canadian Pacific Railway by a system of padding payrolls under Aiken's charge.

GERMAN FLEET IS CUT OFF BY ITS OWN MINES

Forced To Seek Refuge Behind Some Islands While Returning From Russia.

LONDON, April 6. — 3:58 a.m. — The German Baltic fleet has been cut off from its base by its own mine field, which broke adrift in a storm, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Mail. A large number of mines have floated into neutral waters.

The German fleet, returning from a Russian expedition, found the mines dangerously thick and decided to retire between the islands of Gothland and Oeland until the sweepers can clear a passage.

Russians Lay Mines.

STOCKHOLM, April 5. — (Via London, April 6.) — 2::29 a.m. — The Dagblad states that it learns from the Swedish naval authorities that Russian ships have laid a large number of mines along the Baltic coast of Germany from Ruegen Island to Bornholm Island. It is said that the Swedish naval officials have stationed torpedo boats in the Baltic to warn shipping of the mines.

Ferry traffic between Trelleborg and Sassnitz has been discontinued on account of floating mines, which have destroyed five German vessels in the last ten days.

ONLY FAVORITES ASKED TO TENDER

Names Supplied by Militia Department, Says Director of Contracts.

HOW SLATER GOT JOB

Pocketed Over $15,000 Acting as Middleman in Shoe Contract.

[Canadian Press.]

OTTAWA, April 5. — There was some further light today upon the operations of middlemen in the army boot business. Another chapter was added to the story of how Charles E. Slater sold the Government 8,000 pairs of boots made by Gauthier and pocketed a profit of $15,225.

The secretary-treasurer of the Gauthier Company, Charles Long, was on the stand.

Mr. E. M. MacDonald asked why the company had not sold the Government direct and not through a middleman. Mr. Long replied that the company had made a contract in 1913 with Mr. Slater to supply him goods for the Government.

"Why didn't you ask the Government for the business direct?"

"We couldn't do it."

"Do you intend to pay Slater for future contracts?"

"No, I have the power now and will fight for the contracts."

Offer Came Just In Time.

Director of Contracts Brown was put on the stand, and it was discovered by examining him that Charles E. Slater had put in his offer to supply the Gauthier boots just half an hour before the time for the closing of the tenders, and had nosed out other manufacturers by offering the boots at 2½ cents a pair lower than had anyone else.

From the evidence of Mr. Long it would appear that Slater for some time had been reasonably sure that he would get the order for he had advised the Gauthier Company to get the leather for the army boots before the department had even invited tenders.

"How did Slater get his premonition?" Hon. Mr. Murphy asked Director of Contracts Brown.

As Mr. Brown hesitated Mr. E. M. MacDonald asked him: "Did you have a patronage list?"

List From Minister's Office.

"The list was supplied from the minister's office."

"You had a list for boots and for all other military supplies?"

"Yes, we had a list from the minister's office."

"You could not add to it nor take away from it?"

"Only at my own risk."

"The patronage list included the name of Charles E. Slater, who was not a manufacturer?"

"Yes."

"You have a patronage list in your department?" said Mr. MacDonald.

"Yes."

"It was revised by the present minister?"

"Yes."

Name Had To Be on List.

"Unless a man's name was on the list you did not ask him to tender?"

"No."

Mr. Brown stated that Charles E. Slater had been identified with the Slater Shoe Company at one time and that the department had obtained its boots from that company for seven years.

"He seems to have a grip somewhere," commented Chairman Middleboro.

"I don't think he had undue influence; he kept after the business," said Mr. Brown.

"But he got the 1913 contract half an hour before the time for receiving tenders closed," said Mr. Middleboro.

Long Experience.

"We have been up against that kind of thing for several years," replied Mr. Brown.

"What about Gauthier buying the leather before tenders were invited?"

"That was news to me," was the reply.

"Buth there is no doubt about the requisition for leather for the eight thousand pairs was made even before the tenders were asked by the department."

"I can swear most positively," said Mr. Brown, "that neither from any official, nor from myself did the company or Mr. Slater get advance information."

On List a Short Time.

To Mr. McCurdy the contract director stated that Slater's name had been put upon the patronage list only a short time before the 1913 contract was called for.

"We had better find out why his name was put on the list. Who gave you the list of middlemen through whom boots were purchased?" asked Mr. MacDonald.

"I had no list; I had nothing to do with the business; I only learned of it later."

"Then the western boots were not purchased through you as director of contracts?"

"No sir; they were not."

Appointed Chief Adviser.

Mr. S. R. Wickett, of Toronto, gave evidence. He was appointed on January 13, by General Hughes, chief adviser of the department on boots. He said that he was about completing specifications for Canadian army boots. He proposed heavy cowhide filled leather, with screw-secured soles for winter work, and a lighter pattern for summer. The heels would be shod with steel, and the cost from $4 to $4.10 a pair.

"How did you come to be appointed by General Hughes to prepare a design of boots when a committee of boot manufacturers had been appointed for the same purpose by Acting Minister of Militia Hazen when General Hughes was in the hospital?" asked Mr. Murphy.

"I understand those gentlemen came here and rather imposed themselves on the Government; they were not asked to come," replied Mr. Wickett. He added: "I think that in one way or another they did not give the Government the best advice."

PASTOR BACKS DOWN AFTER ACCEPTING CALL

Rev. Arch. McDonald Will Not Fill Ingersoll Pulpit.

INGERSOLL, April 5. — That circumstances had compelled him to change his decision, was the substance of a lettergram received by the congregation of the Baptist Church from Rev. Archibald McDonald, of Edmonton, who recently accepted a call to come to Ingersoll.

Mr. McDonald's coming was anticipated keenly, and the announcement that he had altered his decision was a matter of bitter disappointment.

The message did not give details. These, it was stated, would be embodied in a letter that would be forwarded immediately.

ONTARIO WILL SEND FRUIT TO WOUNDED

TORONTO, April 5. — Fresh fruit from Ontario is to be supplied to the wounded of the Canadian contingents at the base hospitals in England. By an arrangement made with the war office the department of agriculture, through Agent Reid, in London, shipments of fruit will be made from time to time to supply those in the base hospital. The first shipment will consist of 100 boxes of the choicest Northern Spy apples that the orchards of Ontario produced last year. Careful selection is being made by the officials of the department, and the apples will go forward in cold storage right to their destination.

"This is only the beginning of this service," said Mr. W. Bert Roadhouse, deputy minister of agriculture, tonight. "As the occasion demands, the shipments will be supplemented with the best that the farms of Ontario can grow."

BRITISH CRUISERS GETTING SUPPLIES

New York Collector Charges They Have Been Violating Neutrality.

[Canadian Press.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port, charged tonight that British cruisers patrolling the waters along the coast of the United States had been violating the neutrality law by coaling and taking on supplies from vessels putting out from the port of New York. Mr. Malone had an extended conference today with United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall regarding the state of affairs he claims to have discovered, and tonight declared he expected to bring the subject to the attention of the federal authorities.

Collector Malone said that for some weeks he had been making an investigation of information that had come to him from various sources to the effect that the British cruisers lying off the entrance to New York harbor had been receiving food and coal from passing vessels from this port.

On board the U. S. torpedo boat destroyer, Parker, the collector has been making trips about the harbor and outside Sandy Hook on many nights during several weeks past. The collector intimated that the trips had resulted in important disclosures, although he would not say just what these had been.

Base In New York Hotels.

The collector admitted, however, that he had evidence to show that there was a regular supply base for the cruisers in a downtown hotel in this city, from which the foodstuffs are taken to various piers, then loaded on lighters and sent to sea where they meet British cruisers outside the three-mile limit.

Besides Mr. Malone's individual work, George F. Lamb, head of the neutrality squad here, and several secret service operators have been investigating for the customs authorities, it was stated, and have obtained much information of value to the authorities. One method of the search for evidence was to place a secret service man at the Atlantic Highlands Light, near the entrance to the outer harbor, from which point he scanned the horizon to see what tugs or larger vessels might bring supplies to the British warships. Much evidence, it was said, was obtained in this way.

While these observatioss have been in progress attention has been paid to the loading of ships that might take food to the belligerent cruisers hovering about the coastline.

ELEVEN LIVES GO OUT IS MINE EXPLOSION

Body of Man Whose Lamp Is Blamed, Only One Not Recovered.

[Canadian Press.]

GREENVILLE, Ill., April 5. — Eleven men lost their lives as the result of an explosion of black damp in the Shoal Creek coal mine near here this morning. Approximately four hundred others who had just entered the mines escaped uninjured. Ten bodies of the dead had been recovered tonight.

Only the body of Theodore H. Burns, who was among the first to enter the mine, and whose lamp is believed to have caused the explosion, could not be found. An hour before the explosion the mine inspector, after the customary daily examination, had pronounced the mine safe.

In 1910 six men were killed in a similar explosion at this mine. In 1911 two men were killed in a black damp explosion there.

STAGGERING BLOW TO LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Vote In Michigan Means the Closing of At Least 265 Saloons.

[Canadian Press.]

DETROIT, April 5.—Returns received up to midnight indicated sweeping victories for the "drys" in the local option contests, which featured the Michigan state ticket.

All of the four "dry" counties — Eaton, Lenawee, Genesee and Sanilac—which voted on the saloon question, remained in the "dry" column with comfortable majorities. At least eight of the "wet" counties where local option was at stake, apparently went over to the "dry's."

They were: Berrien, Calhoon, Emmett, Kalamazoo, Lapeer, Mason, Oakland and Tuscola.

Grand Traverse remained "wet" and Chippewa is thought to have retained its saloons. However, the race was so close the result will not be known until the last vote has been counted. Alger county had not been heard from up to midnight.

The apparent victory of the "dry's" means the closing of at least 265 saloons throughout the state.

Returns late tonight indicated Iron county, which was expected to retain its saloons, had gone "dry" by more than 300 majority

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS THRONG STRATFORD

Guelph, Berlin and Stratford Bodies Participate—Bishop Fallon Attends.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, April 5.—Stratford was the Mecca for hundreds of members of the Knights of Columbus from Western Ontario today, Berlin and Stratford councils. In the morning the delegates attended solemn high mass in a body and heard an able sermon by Rev. Father Powell, of the Basilian Order. Rev. Father Hussey, of Kinkora, was the celebrant, with Rev. Father Egan, of Stratford, and Rev. Father Blair, of Wingham, assisting.

Upwards of 75 candidates received the degrees during the day. In the evening a monster banquet was held, at which Rt. Rev. M. F. Fallon, Bishop of London, was the principal speaker, pointing out the ideals of knighthood and the personal responsibility of every member.

Hanna Disappoints.

Speaking in the Trinity Methodist Church on Sunday evening on the temperance question, Rev. W. E. Millson took occasion to refer to Hon. W. J. Hanna's recently introduced amendments to the liquor act.

"I think a great deal of Mr. Hanna," said Mr. Millson. "He is a personal friend, but the recent amendments have been very disappointing to the temperance people and the general public. While these amendments are satisfactory to the liquor interests, they cannot be satisfactory to the general public."

REJECTS PROPOSAL TO ELIMINATE CORRUPTION

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, April 5.—The Government has a bill, the declared purpose of which is to eliminate electoral corruption. It is elaborate, but its effectiveness has been questioned. A proposal which would make corruption a thing of the past was suggested by Hon. William Pugsley, and so far has not been accepted by the Government.

Dr. Pugsley offered an amendment which provides that where a candidate has been convicted of corrupt practice not only should he be unseated, as at present, but the man who ran against him should be declared elected, provided it could be shown he had run a clean election.

Sir Robert Borden thought this provision might lead to bribes being given in the interest of one candidate by the agents of the other candidate.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier favored the amendment as drastic, but workable.

It was declared lost, and the estimates for public works were dealt with.

URGE THAT COTTON BE MADE CONTRABAND

LONDON, April 6.—3:34 a.m.—A number of influential scientists and engineers, headed by Lord Ramsay, have been for some time urging the Government to place cotton on the contraband list, on the ground that it is used for explosives. The correspondence between these parties and the Government has been published, showing that they have brought the strongest arguments before the Government that unless drastic measures are taken to exclude cotton from Germany, Great Britain is virtually supplying the Germans with ammunition.

The Government, however, so far has declined to move, and has referred the petitioners to the recent order-in-council.

DON'T ACT LIKE GERMANY IS DOING

Tenor of the American Note Delivered To Britain On Blockade.

RETALIATION UNJUSTIFIED

Asks That She Be Prepared To Make Full Reparation for Every Act.

[Canadian Press.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The United States Government today made public its note to Great Britain announcing that it "could not admit" either the right of the Allies or their claims for justification in placing an embargo on all commercial intercourse between Germany and neutral countries.

"To admit it," says the communication, "would be to assume the attitude of unneutrality toward the present enemies of Great Britain which would be obviously inconsistent with the solemn obligations of this Government in the present circumstances and for Great Britain to make such a claim would be for her to abandon and set at naught the principles for which she has consistently and earnestly contended in other times and circumstances."

The note reviews at length the legal phases of a blockade of belligerent territory and virtual blockade of neutral coasts. In conclusion, the United States states its expectation that Great Britain after having considered "the possibilities of serious interruption of American trade" under the order-in-council, "will take the steps necessary to avoid them, and in the event that they should unhappily occur, will be prepared to make full reparation for every act, which under the rules of international law constitutes a violation of neutral rights."

Not An Excuse.

The American communication interprets the circumstances under which Great Britain claims to be justified in adopting retaliatory measures toward her enemies as "merely a reason for certain extraordinary activities" by her naval forces "and not an excuse for or a prelude to any unlawful action."

"If the course of the present enemies of Great Britain," the note adds, "should prove to be in fact tainted by illegality and disregard of the principles of war sanctioned by enlightened nations, it cannot be supposed, and this Government does not for a moment suppose, that His Majesty's Government would wish the same taint to attach to their own actions."

Ambassador Sharp, at Paris, was instructed to present a copy of the American note to Great Britain to the French Foreign Office, with the statement that although the French admiralty decree had not been officially received in Washington, it was understood here to be identical with the British order-in-council and the American Government therefore made similar reply.

LONDON PAPERS PLEASED.

LONDON, April 6.—1:30 a.m.—The American note is discussed editorially in detail by the London morning papers. Its friendly tone is frankly admitted, and Ambassador Page's letter, dealing with the amicable relations between the two Governments, affords special gratification.

The note is regarded by the press as going near to recognition of the right to search neutral vessels. In general, the arguments used are repetitions of those previously employed in the discussions, and are briefly that Great Britain is in an exceptional position in which she is entitled to ask at the hands of the United States a certain amount of give and take.

For instance, regarding the claim that the "blockade" is not effective so far as the Baltic ports are concerned, it is retorted that the American blockade of the southern ports was not effective for months after it was declared; yet Great Britain raised no controversy with the United States upon that score.

Question Is Vital.

The Times in an editorial says: "We think that a good general answer to the apprehensions disclosed in the note has been given by an anticipation in the British note. The object we have in view is as vital to us as the destruction of commerce with the Confederate States was to the United States in the civil war. We did not then stand upon technicalities with them, and we feel that we may fairly ask them not to show great jealousy in their extreme legal rights now that we are fighting for our existence, than we displayed then.

"Happily, the American note, whatever theories it may safeguard, and whatever reserves it may make in theory, does not appear to support in practice any position incompatible with the broad principles we have laid down, or with the specific action of our Government. We do not pretend to agree with it in all respects, but we are reasonably confident that it cannot in any way affect the cordial relations between the two Governments."

Reasonable and Just.

The Daily Mail says:

"The American people are naturally reasonable and just, and the distinguishing feature of the note is its friendliness and general fairness."

The Mail reminds Americans that the British Government has carefully avoided the use of the word "blockade," admits that the demands for the expeditious settlement of prize court cases is a perfectly fair demand, and concludes:

"When all is said, England has reason to be profoundly grateful to America."

BERLIN STARTS REPORT OF JAP-CHINESE WAR

THE HAGUE (via London), April 5. —9:45 p.m.—A report was circulated in Berlin today that war had been declared between China and Japan. Both the Chinese and the Japanese ministers at The Hague deny that there is any truth in the report.

DUTCH PROHIBIT USE OF FLAG BY NEUTRALS

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Netherlands Government has notified the United States that any foreign ship misusing the Dutch flag or using other means to make a pretense of possessing Dutch nationality, will not be allowed to depart from or pass through waters under the jurisdiction of the Netherlands.

That Racking Persistent Cough

Can Be Quickly Cured By

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

All obstinate coughs and colds yield quickly to the general action of "Dr. Wood's"—for the simple reason that this valuable preparation combines all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, with which is combined, Wild Cherry Bark, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks. This makes it, without any chance of denial, the best cough medicine on the market today.

When you ask for "Dr. Wood's" see that it is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark, and that the name, The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont., appears on the wrapper. Price, 25c and 50c.

Mrs. H. C. Kingston, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "I wish to recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup as being the best cough medicine on the market. A few months ago I took a severe cold which left me with a racking cough. After trying several cough remedies, with no result, I decided to get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking the first two doses it began to effect a cure, and after continuing its use for a short time, I was entirely cured. I cannot say too much in its praise."

NOSE COLDS RUN INTO CATARRH, 10 MINUTE CURE IS "CATARRHOZONE"

Doesn't Matter Where the Cold is Catarrhozone Will Cure It.

Don't sniffle and sneeze with a nasty cold—you can kill it in a jiffy by breathing in the healing vapor of Catarrhozone. It's the quickest, surest thing for colds ever known—simply knocks them right out. No medicine to take when you use Catarrhozone—you just inhale the richest of healing piney essences through a specially-devised inhaler—this medicated vapor is death to the germs of cold or catarrh. It heals and soothes the inflamed air passages, clears out phlegm, stops discharge, enables you to breathe freely.

Catarrhozone braces up the throat, gives it strength—stops the hacking cough, gives the lungs a chance. In ten minutes you have wonderful relief.

In an hour you feel like a new being. Colds or coughs simply can't exist if Catarrhozone is used.

No treatment so direct—Catarrhozone goes right to the spot—acts quickly, and thoroughly cures coughs and colds, bronchitis, catarrh and irritable throat. No failure, success every time. Complete outfit $1; medium size 50c; small (trial size only) 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Is Tea or Coffee After Your Job?

The average cup of tea or coffee contains from 1½ to 3 grains of caffeine, a poisonous drug that handicaps the efficiency and chances for promotion of many bright men and women.

Read This Letter

"Down at the Junction," writes a railroad man, "where I am employed as Telegraph Operator and Towerman for a busy railroad, where every second counts and where I hold the lives of the entire train crew and passengers in my hand, I found coffee was making me dull and exceedingly nervous.

"My wife told me about Postum. I tried it and liked it. I never drink anything else now I have a tin of Instant Postum in my pail. I feel fine, my brain is quick and active, and there's no delay at the Junction while I'm on duty. I really think coffee would have put me out of a job if I hadn't quit it for Postum."

If tea or coffee is crimping your prospects, try a change to

POSTUM

Made only of selected wheat and a small per cent of wholesome molasses, Postum contains nothing harmful or injurious, but is, on the contrary, healthful and invigorating.

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled, 15c and 25c packages; Instant Postum—the soluble form—made instantly in the cup with hot water, 30c and 50c tins. Both kinds are equally delicious, and cost per cup about the same.

SUBMARINE CHASED WOUNDED CANUCKS

Hospital Ship Navassa, However, Outran Pursuing German Raider.

REMARKABLE INJURIES

One Man Gets Bullet Through Liver, But Is Recovering.

C. Beresford Topp sends the following cable to the Mail and Empire:

London, April 5.—While crossing the Channel on Saturday the British hospital ship Navassa, with several hundred wounded soldiers, including some 30 Canadians aboard, was chased by a German submarine for 45 minutes. When the pirate was sighted the Navassa fled, developing a speed of 20 knots, and thus escaping. Wounded men tell the story, which is vouched for by officers who talked with the crew.

Remarkable Wounds.

Several remarkable cases are among the latest batch of wounded. Private J. Gilk, of Hamilton, 4th Battalion, was shot through the body while bringing up rations. The bullet pierced his liver, but his life was saved and he now is rapidly recovering.

Sergeant Aldridge, of the Princess Pats, a former Northwest Mounted Policeman, has nearly fifty wounds between his ankles and thighs. A shell burst right at his feet. He also is wounded in both hands. Others nearby were unhurt.

The case of Private George Bye, of Woodstock, 1st Battalion, is in sharp contrast. A shell dropped in a trench and exploded a yard from him, but the only effect was to blind him temporarily. Three other men were killed and five wounded.

Dragoons Doing Well.

The Alberta Dragoons, the only cavalry with the Canadian division, are doing all the work, which is chiefly dispatch riding. They formed part of a big cavalry force in reserve at Neuve Chapelle.

Wounded men say the Canadians have located many snipers. One was found concealed under the roof of a house with food enough for three months. Another was caught in the clock tower of a town behind the line.

Fearing that pictures might reach the enemy the authorities have deprived all Canadian officers and men of cameras. A stricter censorship is being imposed on letters.

The boys are urgently asking for cigarettes, and want their people at home to send them.

Word reached here late tonight that at least one brigade of the Canadian division is again in the trenches.

LABORITES OBJECT TO MEMBERS RECRUITING

Condemn Those Who Aid In Work and Support Government.

[Canadian Press.]

Norwich, Eng., April 6—2:34 p.m.—The Independent Labor party today by a vote of 234 to 9, adopted a resolution strongly condemning the action of certain members of the party who have been working to assist recruiting, and at the same time speaking in public in justification of the war and of the foreign policy of the Liberal Government which led to it. The Independent Labor party is now holding its annual meeting in Norwich.

ALLEGED THIEF CAUGHT.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, April 6.—Valere Girard, wanted in Quebec to answer to a charge of stealing $1,500 from a grocer named Martel, by whom he was employed, was arrested here last night by Detectives Le Page and Gorman. When searched at police headquarters, Girard had $676 in his possession.

HUMANE SOCIETY GETS SLIGHT SUPPORT FROM OFFICIAL CITY SOURCES

Grant of $100 Will Not Keep Competent Inspector Permanently Employed.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

If the city council and the citizens of London would support the Humane Society it would be possible to give the citizens a more efficient service. The society is at present doing more work than in the past, but the city has not increased its grant. Last year the city was asked for $200, but all the society received was $100. The running expenses, under existing conditions, are in the neighborhood of $600, which has to be made up with membership fees, donations, etc. Such a grant as is given by the city is a disgrace to a city of nearly 60,000 people. Instead of having an inspector for the entire day the society is only able to procure one from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m., at a salary of $25 a month. The present inspector is a man of wide experience, and thoroughly versed in the work of the society. In regard to the dog which was injured on Saturday the Humane Society's inspector was released from his duties at the Majestic Theatre and allowed to go to the case. When the inspector is unable to attend to a case, the police department invariably do so, and there has been no complaint until the case in question. For weeks past the Humane Society have been trying to get the city to install a dog pound and a lethal chamber, but so far no action has been taken. The stray dogs have been a source of annoyance all winter to many citizens, but except in extreme cases the inspector cannot destroy them, therefore they are allowed to run wild. If there was a dog pound all this would stop. The sooner the citizens of London wake up to the fact that they are a city and not a village, the better. Until they do they must be content to allow the Humane Society to do the best it can with the funds available.

OFFICER, London Humane Society, London, Ont., April 6, 1915.

25 MEN NEEDED TO GO TO QUEBEC

Capt. Arthur Keene Receives Word to Recruit This Number.

Captain Arthur Keene, C.A.S.C., No. 16, London, received instructions this afternoon from headquarters to at once recruit twenty-five men for service in the remount station at Quebec. The men have to leave London on Friday, and Captain Keene will be at the Armories every evening at 8 o'clock to receive applications.

CAPT. BISHOP HURT

7th C. M. R. Officer's Horse Fell on Him This Afternoon.

Captain Bishop, of the 7th C. M. R., was seriously injured and had a close call for being killed at Queen's Park this afternoon when a horse he was riding suddenly reared and, losing its balance, fell backwards with him. He was attended immediately by Captain George Wilson, the regimental doctor, and it is believed that he has one rib broken and is very severely crushed and shaken up. The horse escaped serious injury.

LIEUT. NIVEN BETTER

Wound Heals Rapidly—To Rejoin Regiment at Once.

Relatives of Lieut. Hugh Niven, who was recently wounded in action while serving with his regiment, the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, have received word from him to the effect that he expected to be fit for service again today. His wound has healed rapidly, and he will probably return at once to his regiment.

MANY CASES POSTPONED

Horse Deal Dispute Settled Out of Court.

Many cases to come before Judge Talbot Macbeth were postponed at the first sitting of the court today until later in the week. The case of Parker & Sands, Strathroy merchants, against G. McDade, a dispute over the purchase of a horse from the merchants, was settled out of court by the lawyers acting for the persons in the action.

Judge Macbeth gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Flood vs. Beecroft. The defendant put in no defence, and the sum of $71.58 was awarded the plaintiff.

Court was resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

GERMANY RUSHING HER TROOPS INTO AUSTRIA

Railroads Kept Busy. Thus Delaying Traffic With Switzerland.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, April 6.—A dispatch from a Geneva news agency says that Swiss traffic with Germany has been delayed considerably since Friday on account of the fact that the German railroads are being occupied fully in the transportation of troops from Flanders to Austria by way of Munich. These troops probably will be employed to reinforce the Carpathian front.

It is also said that large bodies of Austrian troops have been withdrawn from the Tyrol, near the Italian frontier.

MARRIED IN ENGLAND.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, April 6.—The marriage took place at Southport yesterday of Rev. Frank Vipond, rector of Islington, Toronto, to Jessie, youngest daughter of James French, of Bolton.

AMERICAN NOTE IS WIDELY DISCUSSED

British Press Is Pleased With Tone, But Differs On the Possible Results.

PART URGES BLOCKADE

Seeing Loophole For Full Action On the Part of Britain.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 6.—What has been called the Easter lull in the fighting is marked these days along both battle lines, except in the Carpathians, where the struggle for access to the Hungarian plains is still going on.

This relative quiet has given ample opportunity for the discussion by the British press of the American note in reply to the British order-in-council.

The comment on the communication has been widespread. Most of it expresses gratification with the tone of the note, but there is great difference of opinion as to the possible results.

Various Views.

Newspapers which from the first have advocated formal blockade of Germany, see a loophole in the note for acton on the part of the British Government leading to this end, while others express the feeling that a fuller understanding by the United States of the British position will lead to acquiescence to the present order-in-council.

Unofficial Austrian news reaching London by way of Paris declares that the Austro-German forces in the vicinity of the Lupkow Pass are in full retreat, but all other reports from this section of the eastern line indicate that the opposing armies are still locked in a daidly grapple.

Conflicting Reports.

Russia reports fighting within the boundaries of Hungary north of Czernowitz. The Austrians are described as retreating after a stubborn fight, while on the other hand the Austrians claim to have prevented the Russians from crossing the River Dniester, and to have taken 1,400 prisoners.

In the diplomatic field there is little of interest except the report that Bulgaria and Servia have reached a friendly settlement of the trouble arising from the invasion of Servian territory by Bulgarian irregulars.

UNDERSTANDING SHOWN.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 6.—The Westminster Gazette, which is in very close touch with the Government, draws particular attention today to that passage of the American note in reply to the British order-in-council which reads as follows:

"The United States takes it for granted that the approach of American merchantmen to neutral ports situated upon the long line of coast affected by the order-in-council will not be interfered with when it is known that they do not carry goods which are contraband of war or goods destined to or proceeding from ports within the belligerent territory affected."

Exactly So.

Commenting upon this statement the Gazette says:

"It is this passage which seems to contain the substance of the American communication, and which interprets exactly the intentions of the British and the allied government."

Continuing, the newspaper rebukes those Britishers who think the American Government should "testify to the world against the violation of Belgium, infractions of The Hague conventions and other exhibitions of German frightfulness," and brings its article to an end with these words:

Allies Owe Debt.

"The allied cause in Europe owes an immense debt to the moral and intellectual support it has had from vast numbers of the American people who see distinctly what is at stake in the conflict. In no neutral country has the allied cause been more warmly espoused or more forcibly presented by men of light and learning. Let us always be grateful for that, and refrain from criticising a Government which has almanner of difficulties that cannot be rightly appreciated in this country."

TERRE HAUTE MEN ALL FOUND GUILTY

Mayor, Judge and Many Officials To Be Sentenced On Monday.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 6.—All of the 27 defendants, including Mayor Donn M. Roberts, in the Terre Haute election fraud case, were found guilty by a jury today. The case has been on trial in the federal court here since March 8.

Sentence on Monday.

Judge Anderson announced that sentence would be passed on the 27 who were found guilty and the 29 who have pleaded guilty next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

In the meantime, he permitted all the defendants, with the exception of Alexander Aczel, alias Steel, to remain at liberty under their previous bonds. Steel has been in jail for some time, unable to give bond of $5,000 for alleged attempt to influence Government witnesses.

All of the defendants, many of whom were accompanied by relatives, took the verdict calmly, and there was no demonstration of any sort.

The Guilty Ones.

Among those found guilty are:

Donn M. Roberts, mayor of Terre Haute, and candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Eli H. Redman, declared elected Vigo circuit judge by ten votes.

Elmer E. Talbott, controller, of Terre Haute, until his resignation because of the trial here.

Dennis Shea, sheriff of Vigo County.

Maurice Walsh, county sealer of weights and measures and treasurer of campaign funds.

Harry S. Montgomery, president of the board of public works.

John M. Masselink, city inspector of weights and measures and a member of the State Legislature in 1911.

GERMANY ATTEMPTED TO INFLUENCE CHINA

Japanese Premier Says This Made Negotiations Difficult at First.

[Canadian Press.]

Tokio, Japan, April 6.—The Asahi has published a news dispatch saying that Count Okuma, the Japanese Premier, while addressing a group of Government officials at Kozu, said the negotiations of Japan with China had been complicated by the attempt of Germany to make China believe that Japan was designing to annex China as she had done Korea. This Chinese illusion was being dispelled, the Premier declared. The negotiations will not be so difficult as has been rumored, he said, and he expected to see their conclusion some time during the month of April.

THREE YOUNG MEN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Auto Plunged Through Open Drawbridge Near Newark, N. J.

[Canadian Press.]

Newark, N. J., April 6.—Three young men, members of the Montclair Academy Alumni Association, were drowned early today, when an automobile in which they were riding with four others plunged through an open drawbridge into the Passaic River.

The dead are: Gordon Knapp, of East Orange; Clarence Stanton and Eugene Stephens, both of Newark.

The men were returning home from a dinner in New York, and were given a ride in the automobile by William J. Bittles Jun., who was saved with three others. A gateman at the drawbridge was knocked into the water and was rescued, but suffered severe injuries.

GERMAN DOUBTFUL OVER CARPATHIANS

Berlin Correspondent Says Result In Carpathians Cannot Be Foreseen.

CONSOLATION IS OFFERED

Tells People To Look To the Other Points of Great Struggle.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, via London, April 6—10:45 a.m. —The outcome of the great battle in the Carpathians, which has lasted so many weeks, cannot yet be foreseen, according to the special correspondent at the front for the Tageblatt. He argues that the party taking the offensive against a party equipped with strong positions to which it can retire when necessary always is the greater loser, and the farther it goes forward the greater are its losses. The correspondent says:

"There is, therefore, always the well-based hope that if the Russians advance by virtue of the masses of troops thrown into the Carpathians by them, they will have to pay dearly and too dearly. Although the conflict in the Carpathians at present is attracting more interest than any other happening in the war, one must not forget that the war theatre includes regions other than the Carpathians and these can have an influence on the Carpathian situation.

"The gaining of ground in the Carpathians by no means indicates victory, for victory is not won until the opponent is exhausted. Even if the Russians succeed in gaining ground at points in the Carpathians, our offensive will grow more effective."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

Very little business was done Tuesday on the market. Farmers and shoppers were scarce, and as a result prices remain mostly as they were on Saturday and Monday.

Hay was particularly scarce, and is one of the few lines to show any noticeable change in price. Hay advanced to $16 50 per ton, with the average price about $15. Straw is unchanged.

Hides took a drop recently in price. Quantities of wool have been on sale recently by stock raisers, who are clipping early. Unwashed wool sells at 23c to 25c per lb.

Poultry is scarce on the market. Chickens sell at 17c to 19c retail per lb, dressed, and live chickens bring 15c per lb.

Dressed hogs are selling at the recent advance, $12 per cwt; live hogs for $8 50 and $8 55 per cwt.

Other butchers' meats remain practically at unchanged prices. Beef brings $9 to $11 per cwt; veal, 13c per lb; spring lambs, $8 each, and yearling lambs, 15c to 16c per lb.

Butter has been more in evidence on the market recently, although there has been no change in the retail price. Dealer look for a gradual decline shortly.

Eggs sell at 21c a dozen retail.

Winnipeg, April 5. — Wheat futures opened ½c to ⅝c higher; oats ⅜c higher, and flax ½c to 1¼c higher. Following the opening further advances occurred in wheat, while oats and flax were fairly steady. Before noon wheat had sold at $1.53⅞ for May, $1.52 for July, and $1.17¼ for October. The volume of trading in futures was light.

The strength was attributed to reports of dry weather in certain portions of the winter wheat states; war news and heavy world's shipments were offset by the dry weather talk.

The demand for Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 northern wheat was good, but only a few cars were placed on the market. Oats of all grades were in fair demand, but only light offerings were on the market. While no new business on export sales was reported, exporting houses were buying futures freely.

Wheat futures closed ⅝c to ½c up; cash wheat 1¼c to 1½c higher; oats ¼c to ½c higher, and flax ½c to ⅝c higher.

Total inspections on Saturday were 550 cars, as against 284 cars last year, and in sight today were 775 cars.

Cash Grain: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.52¼; No. 2 northern, $1.51⅝; No. 3 northern, $1.48¾; No. 4, $1.43¾; No. 5, $1.39⅜; No. 6, $1.35⅜.

Oats—No. 2 Canadian western, 62½c; No. 3 Canadian western, 60c; extra No. 1 feed, 59¾c; No. 1 feed, 59c; No. 2 feed, 58c.

Flax—No. 1 N. W. C., $1.76; No. 2 Canadian western, $1.73.

MONEY MARKET.

New York, April 6.—Bar silver, 50¼c per ounce.

WALL STREET.

New York, April 6—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Prices were again pushed upward at the outset of today's market operations, all the leaders, as well as numerous specialties, participating in greater or less measure. Bethlehem Steel repeated its familiar daily performance of a new high record, opening with a block of 1,200 shares at 93 to 94, and then rising to 94½, an overnight gain of 2 points. Union Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Atchison were up a point or more, in most instances attaining their best prices this year. Some heaviness was evinced by Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Smelting. Selling for profits soon caused recessions from the top.

Noon.—Recurrent heavy selling met the initial advance, with the result that most gains were soon lost. Commission houses reported a preponderance of selling orders, particularly in specialties. Dealings in the first hour again exceeded 20,000 shares, with some moderation later. Bethlehem Steel lost most of its further rise, traders preferring to await the outcome of the annual meeting to be held later in the day. United States Steel was under pressure, and Union Pacific showed the effects of realizing. Towards midday Reading and Amalgamated Copper became features of strength, with irregularity elsewhere. Bonds were steady.

1:30 p.m.—Prices again reacted in the early afternoon, in sympathy with the abrupt decline in Bethlehem Steel on publication of the proceedings at the shareholders' meeting. Later the stock made substantial recovery, with increased strength elsewhere.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY HAS NEED OF $20,000

Must Have This Sum If Recognition From Government To Be Received.

Western University's requirements need a $20,0000 civic grant this year, according to estimates presented to the board of control today and signed by President E. E. Braithwaite and Chairman C. R. Somerville, of the board of governors. Action on this request was deferred until consideration has been given to the estimates.

The "U." according to President Braithwaite, needs this $20,000 if it is to secure proper qualification from the Government. In his letter, Dr. Braithwaite referred to the fact that a commission is to be appointed this year to inquire into the standing of universities in the province, and that if Western is to be given proper qualification it must be thoroughly equipped.

Investment Not Gift.

The doctor further referred to the fact that disorganization caused by the war would affect many universities, with the result that more students would undoubtedly be attracted to the one in this city. With this end in view, he characterized the city offering as an investment rather than a gift. The municipal grant of last year was $10,000.

Following is the additional money required for the various departments:

Physics	$ 3,000
Biology	3,000
Geology	1,500
Athletics	2,500
History	2,500
Philosophy	2,500
Total	$15,000

The Ontario Government has agreed to give $5,000 to the university, which would leave the city's share for additional equipment, etc., at $10,000, with another $10,000, the usual annual grant, for maintenance, etc.

STRATHROY BANKER TAKES WINNIPEG BRIDE

Normaan H. Hodgson Weds Donna E. Lawson.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINNIPEG, April 5.—A. Bright wedding was celebrated Saturday, in Augustine Church, Rev. Dr. Wilson officiating, when Donna Eulalie, youngest daughter of Frederick T. Lawson, of Armstrong, B. C., became the bride of Norman Hindle Hodgson, of the Bank of Commerce, Strathroy, Ont.

The ceremony was witnessed only by immediate friends. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Stewart Hannah. The couple left immediately for the East. They will reside in Strathroy.

Real Estate Along River Front Selling Rapidly—Board of Trade Meets.

PORT LAMBTON, April 5.—The board of trade held its regular meeting Saturday evening. Several new members were enrolled and the arrival of spring weather will find much enthusiasm towards improving and preparing the village for the summer visitors. Several owners of cottages have arrived for the purpose of setting their cottages and grounds in order.

In spite of the war, there have been several good offers for some of the desirable locations on the river front made by parties wishing to locate at this desirable point. There is a good reason for this, with the prospect of a radial line inside of two years, and to facilities already established in connection with the fleet of the Star Line boats.

TEMPERANCE VICTORY PROVES TIME'S TREND FAVORS BAR OUSTED

Local Temperance Workers Say Ontario Should Do More For Temperance.

That the sweeping victory won by the temperance forces in the local option campaign in Michigan yesterday is merely an indication of the trend of the times was the opinion expressed today by local temperance workers.

"The result of the Michigan election," said Rev. J. H. Boyd, "should fill every temperance worker with encouragement. It is an indication that the time is near when liquor will have to go. The example of King George in forbidding liquor in the royal household and what is going on in the States, ought to be sufficient to spur every worker in Ontario to renewed efforts to banish liquor from the province, and I think it will. It is bound to stir people into action."

Rev. T. H. Mitchell expressed a similar opinion. He said: "The victory of the 'drys' in Michigan just indicates the drift of the country. The United States is going ahead very fast, and I am convinced that her lead will be followed by Canada very soon. The temperance sentiment, as shown by every indication, is growing by leaps and bounds. I can see the doom of the whole filthy traffic in liquor."

Professor J. H. Bowman declared his opinion that a similar result to that obtained on the other side might and would have been achieved before this in Ontario if the people had the same chance of protecting themselves by an even vote instead of having to secure a three-fifths majority.

"The fact is," he said, "that our Government leaders have failed to get the spirit of the times, which is a spirit demanding the total suppression of the liquor traffic."

TEN THOUSAND FROM CITY FOR NEW GRAND STAND

Directors of Western Fair Will Ask City for That Amount—Extensive Plans for Construction.

The directors of the Western Fair, at a meeting last evening, decided to ask the city for $10,000, an equal amount to that provided by the Dominion Government towards the erection of a grandstand at the fair grounds. A deputation from the fair board will await on the board of control today for the purpose of making their request.

The directors discussed the question at some length, and reached the conclusion that the new stand should be worthy of the city, and that, to effect this, at least $10,000 would be needed as the city's share of its cost.

IN PECK OF TROUBLE

Arrested, Gets 15 Days, and Faces Another Charge.

Thomas Blackwell, arrested by the police last night while intoxicated, was today sentenced by Police Magistrate J. C. Judd to serve fifteen days in the county jail, after his worship had been shown an obscene drawing found in the prisoner's possession.

Blackwell stated that he is a structural iron worker, and that he was given the drawing some time ago, but had meant to destroy it, only he got drunk and was arrested before he was able to do so.

Following the police court proceedings, a warrant was issued against Blackwell, charging him with holding up a Russian and relieving the latter of $5. Blackwell will be tried on this charge some day this week.

COSIDERATION PROMISED ON TEMPERANCE REQUEST

Government Replies to "Dry's" Request That Six Licenses Be Cut Off In City.

The action of all the local hotelmen in making application for the renewal of their licenses is not at all unexpected by the temperance workers of the city. They have, however, made a formal protest to the Government, and yesterday received a reply stating that their request that six licenses be cut off was being considered. Until further word is heard regarding the outcome of the matter, the temperance forces will make no move. They expect, however, that the question will be gone into thoroughly before the next meeting of the commissioners, and whatever action they take will be determined upon when the results of the Government's consideration of the question is known. All those seen by The Advertiser emphatically stated that nothing short of the cutting off of six licenses as carried by the people would be satisfactory.

"Surely the voice of the people, and not 'Whiskey Row' should rule," said Prof. J. H. Bowman. "I do not see how the commissioners can possibly renew all the licenses after what the people said they wanted by their vote in January. They should pay some respect to the vote of the citizens."

"We will await the action of the Government before making any move in the license matter," said Rev. Thomas Mitchell. "One thing is certain; we don't intend to give up the fight. We can, however, do nothing until we know what the Government proposes to do. The question of reduction is being considered now, and we should know something regarding what it is proposed to do soon."

TWO HUNDRED MEN OF 7TH REGIMENT AGAIN ON PARADE

Despite Many Members at Front Unit Makes Fine Showing.

With an attendance of about 200 men and officers, the 7th Regiment resumed drill at the armories last night, when sectional drill and musketry practice were used to put the men on their mettle again after several months' rest.

A large number of recruits were on hand at the first turn-out of the regiment, D Company leading in the number of men. The entire regiment made an excellent showing, according to the officers, who are confident that the regiment will soon be up to its old standard in appearance at least, although many recruits are needed to fill up the gaps caused by the large number of the old members having enlisted for active service since the outbreak of the war.

Officers of the regiment, after drill, ment in the mess-rooms, and mapped out to some extent the course of activities for the regiment until midsummer. A school of instruction for non-commissioned officers will commence next Friday night, and will be held two or three times weekly for about eight weeks. Platoon drill, the new formation introduced into the army since the outbreak of the war, will be taught hereafter, beginning next Friday night.

The list of provisional officers who have applied to be attached to the 7th will be passed upon by the officers of the regiment at their next meeting on Monday night.

GUEST OF HONOR

Major Dr. Guest Presented With Binoculars by Friends.

Major Dr. Guest, of St. Thomas, now attached to No. 3 Stationary Hospital for overseas duty, was guest of honor at a dinner party at the Tecumseh House Monday. The dinner was arranged by J. A. McFadden, of Toronto, who is chairman of the committee of benevolence of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario, of which committee Dr. Guest has been a valued member for some years. This committee is composed of eleven members representing all Masonic districts in Ontario and every member was present in person or sent a letter of regret at his inability to attend, thus showing the esteem in which Dr. Guest is held. U. A. Buchner, D. D. G. M. of London District No. 3, was also present as representative of London Masons, Dr. Guest being a past district deputy master in this district. On behalf of those present, Mr. McFadden made a presentation to the guest of honor of binoculars and extending to him good wishes for a safe return. Dr. Guest replied feelingly, and thanked all for their kindness.

MUSICAL TREAT TONIGHT

London Symphony Orchestra in St. Andrew's Hall This Evening.

The final rehearsal for the concert to be given by the London Symphony Orchestra in St. Andrew's Hall this evening, was held last night, the success of which augurs well for an exceptional musical treat. The orchestra is in splendid form, and all music lovers should show their appreciation of Mr. Pococke's untiring efforts to give London a permanent organization, which will be capable of rendering the great works of the best composers.

PARDEE WILL ADDRESS E. MIDDLESEX LIBERALS

Word to This Effect Received From Ottawa.

F. F. Pardee, M.P., will speak at the East Middlesex Liberal convention at Hyman Hall on Saturday afternoon next. This was definitely announced last night by the secretary of the East Middlesex Reform Association, word to that effect having been received from Ottawa.

There is perhaps no abler debater in the House of Commons than Mr. Pardee, who, as Liberal whip for Ontario, has developed into one of the foremost of Canada's parliamentarians. He is eloquent in address, and the announcement that he will be here will be received with a great deal of interest throughout the riding.

Delegates to the nomination are urged to be on hand sharp at 1:30 o'clock on Saturday, as there may be such a large attendance that the

DRIVES RIG INTO RIG AND HOLDS UP THIEF

North Oxford Farmer Recovers Property Stolen During Church Service.

INGERSOLL, April 5.—To the charge of stealing a whip from a buggy that was in the shed at St. James' Church, Sunday evening, a North Oxford young man, 20 years of age, pleaded guilty in police court today. The whip was the property of H. J. Wickens, of the same township.

The culprit drove into the shed, he told the magistrate, and after remaining a few minutes, left with Wickens' whip. When Mr. Wickens went to the shed for his horse and buggy after the service, he noted the whip had disappeared. On driving down the street, he saw the whip in the young man's buggy and he stopped him by locking wheels. The accused handed over the whip and in the rumpus that ensued the police stepped in and he was taken to the police station.

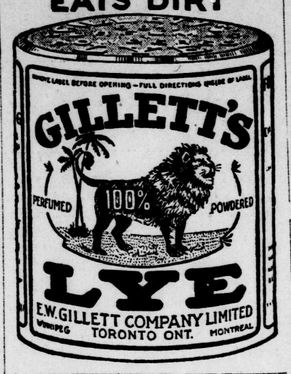

Today he was penitent, and on testimony being given as to his previous good character, the magistrate disposed of the case by imposing a fine of $1 and costs.

WILL NOT INTERN CANADIAN SOLDIERS

DETROIT, April 5.—"The appearance on the streets of Detroit of uniformed Canadian soldiers making temporary visits to this city, involves no question of international law. It is purely a local question, and uniformed soldiers from the Dominion who may violate the state laws will be dealt with by the county prosecutor and the Detroit police in the same manner that they would deal with any other offender."

This statement by J. Edward Bland, assistant United States district attorney, following the receipt by Clyde I. Webster, district attorney, of a ruling from the attorney-general's office at Washington, blasts the hopes of those patriotic Detroiters who insist that the appearance of uniformed Canadian soldiers in Detroit is a breach of neutrality and demand that they either be summarily expelled or interned.

"I see no reason why they should be barred from coming here in uniform, so long as they do not come in a body and make no demonstrations," said Mr. Webster.

VESTRY MEETINGS IN ANGLICAN CHURCHES

St. John the Evangelist.

Lay delegates to the synod were elected at the Church of St. John the Evangelist last night. They are: Col. C. E. E. Fisher and Stephen Grant. Alternate delegates are C. B. Edwards and B. S. Murray. W. G. R. Bartram and Alf. Burwell were re-elected wardens. The auditors named were: H. B. Archer and C. H. Beard; vestry clerk, Claude Brown; select vestry—elected by the rector—C. H. Beard, Clair Jarvis, C. B. Edwards, Arthur Robinson, J. C. Butler, H. E. Gates; elected by the people—Charles Mitchelltree, William Green, Judge Elliott, Ray Lawson, T. F. Kingsmill and George Davis. Sidesmen were named as follows: George Wright, John Robinson, Robert Liddell, Thomas Dance, E. W. Eardley, S. Loughrey, Col. Fisher, W. J. Smith, Dr. A. E. Wood, James E. Wilson, W. Hungerford, Arthur Connor, Charles Mitchelltree, Joseph McDougall, William Harding, William Boug and Clair Jarvis. Reports from the various church departments showed gratifying progress for the year.

Cronyn Memorial.

At Bishop Cronyn Memorial Church, the annual vestry meeting was held last evening with the rector, Rev. R. W. Norwood in the chair. His report was gratifying to the congregation, showing the work of the parish to be in a progressive state. The wardens' report presented by the people's warden, Robert T. Orr, showed the church to be in a very sound state financially, and following the usual custom the vestry instructed the wardens to transfer the surplus for the present year to the building and surplus account. Upon the question of church wardens for the ensuing year being brought before the meeting, it was felt that the recommendation of the select vestry should be adopted and that the present warden who had filled the position in such an able manner be requested to continue in office, according to the request of the select vestry, the rector re-appointed as his warden, Wm. Kingstone, and upon the request of the congregation, Robert T. Orr accepted his re-election to the office of people's warden. Wm. J. Smith was re-elected vestry clerk, a position which he has filled for a number of years past.

The rector appointed as his representatives on the select vestry, V. Cronyn, K.C., H. J. Childs, E. A. Gibson, Dr. Homer Black, L. W. Hambly, W. J. Stewart. The people electing F. G. Jewell, Dr. Seaborn, George T. Brown, Thos. Treleaven, F. E. Leonard, Harry Bell as their representatives. Messrs. A. Treleaven and A. J. Smith were re-elected auditors. The following were elected as sidesmen: Chas. Clark, P. Dale, Thos. Cliff, H. Bell, R. Parsons, Leonard Fraser, F. Ward, E. Anstie, C. Lawrence, George Morren, H. Meek, P. A. Sents, James B. Orr, L. W. Hambly, A. M. Smith, D. Whitton, A. Treleaven, A. C. Wistow, H. Burch, C. R. Swazie, James Elgie, C. Clegg, G. Pettit, E. McKone. Votes of thanks were tendered the rector, wardens, organist, choir, auditors and the various societies who have contributed so largely to the success of the work. At a subsequent meeting of the congregation, Messrs. F. P. Betts, K.C., F. G. Jewell and H. M. Graydon were erected lay-delegates to the synod with George T. Brown, F. E. Leonard and Ed. Hayman as alternatives.

St. Matthew's Church.

An attendance of 35 representatives marked the vestry meeting in St. Matthew's Church last night. Lay delegates to the synod were chosen as follows: J. Hitchins and Harry Carson. The former wardens were re-elected, namely, F. W. Nicholas and Thomas Fox. Select vestry—J. R. Isaac, A. Edwards, C. Dyson, J. Henderson, M. Francis, Leo Ley, Charles Thurling, W. Carpenter, John Hitchins, Thomas Beer, Mr. Watkins and Mr. Taylor. Mission board—John Thorpe, J. Styles, F. Butler, E. Olbey. Sidesmen—Messrs. Ley, Ward, Shopland, Thurling, Payman and Watkinson. Auditors—Messrs. Hitchins and Carson. A small increase was voted to the organist and the janitor. The financial statement shows a balance of $70 on hand after all obligations had been met. The rectory fund shows a balance of $80.

All Saints' Church.

At the annual vestry meeting of All Saints' Church last night reports from the various departments showed substantial balances, as follows: Church fund $179.11, Sunday school $76.62, Chancel Guild $8.25, Women's Auxiliary $9.60, A. Y. P. A. $51.05, Ladies' Guild $14.56. The following officers were elected: Rector's warden, Eugene Risler; people's warden, Frank Newton; rector's clerk, P. Chadwick; lay delegates to synod, Joseph Gwalchmai and G. B. Drake; substitutes, R. H. Westby and George Burrows; select vestry (rector's), H. B. Stein, W. A. Langford, G. B. Templar, Wm. Fox, F. L. Ross, C. H. Parsons, (people's) A. C. Thompson, George Burrows, Joseph Gwalchmai, C. B. Drake, J. Barned, George Hewitt; ushers, A. C. Thompson, L. Skeggs, W. Parsons, H. Hill, W. Southcott and A. Knight; auditors, W. Slade, E. Doughty, E. B. Drake. Votes of thanks were passed to the rector, the wardens, vestry clerk and all organization heads. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem and the benediction.

St. Paul's Cathedral.

The annual vestry meeting of St. Paul's Cathedral was held last night, with Rev. Precentor Tucker in the chair. The report of the churchwardens, W. H. Moorhouse and J. Harley Brown, showed the finances of the church to be in good condition, a total of $28,061.14 having been raised during the year. During the coming year it will be necessary to put a new roof on the cathedral. The reports of the various church societies and the Sunday school showed all in flourishing condition. The total membership of the Sunday school is now 441. A fine new organ has been installed during the year at a cost of $8,005.39. The choir, under the leadership of F. G. Killmaster, has increased in numbers and is doing most satisfactory work. Dr. W. H. Moorhouse, C. B. Hunt and R. A. Bayly were elected delegates to the synod, and T. G. Meredith, John Labatt and Ed. Weld substitutes. Dr. W. H. Moorhouse and J. Harley Brown were reappointed rector's and people's wardens, respectively. R.

St. George's.

St. George's Church, West London, had a successful year. The spiritual condition of the parish was very satisfactory. The membership had increased and the various activities had been pronouncedly favorable. Rev. Dr. G. B. Sage presided. At the congregational meeting Messrs. J. K. H. Pope and T. F. Dexter were elected as delegates to the synod, with Messrs. H. A. Howard and F. A. Andrewes as alternates. The vestry met immediately after, and elected the following officers: Vestry clerk, W. P. Pope; rector's warden, R. A. Stinchcombe; people's warden, F. G. Turville; sidesmen (south side), Messrs. J. Murray, M. Wilson, A. Bending, T. F. Dexter, T. R. Howard, A. H. Jeffries, F. A. WINGHAM FAMILY MAN FIGHTING IN TRENCHES

A simple appeal on behalf of the wife of a Wingham soldier now in France, comes to The Advertiser from a Wingham reader, in the following letter:

"Pte. G. E. Roberson is believed to be the only married man from Wingham and the first in the trenches.

"Keen interest is felt for his wife, who resides here with three small children. Besides her husband, Mrs. Roberson has two brothers already at the front, and her husband has many close relatives serving the flag.

"True patriotism rest with the family of Mr. Roberson and his wife."

DEATH OF MRS. HUGH WARREN.

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), its cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

TO END CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES
Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has brought complete relief after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home, and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼-pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly 90 per cent of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better. Apl. 6, 20.
