Advertiser Correspondence

Henry Van Dyke and Pastor Wagner. To the Editor of The Advertiser: I have been surprised at the furore created by the statement of Henry Van Dyke, that his "Other Wise Man" was the offspring of inspiration, as portrayed in a New York dispatch in The Advertiser of Thursday, Oct. 10. In a measure, nearly all great writers have claimed a similar source for their matter and much of their texts. Emmerson said that it looks as if all great books were written by one man, and in his "Over Soul," he puts forth the theory for the origin of what he calls the "Gods Among Man-

There will be no Liberal candidate for the House of Commons in the ensuing by-election, for reasons which were frankly and fully explained at the

In spite of this handicap, there was a strong sentiment at the convention in favor of placing him in nomination and making a fight. If non-Liberals imagine there has been a surrender they will realize their mistake before very long. Mr. Hyman, if his wonted vigor returns, will have the opportunity, now denied him, of facing his opponents and accusers. When he will find that the loyalty of the Liberals who have followed him through defeat and victory for twenty years, is undiminished.

The duty of Liberals, as impressed upon them last night, is to organize at once for the general election, which may be held next year. They have a capital asset in their commodious new headquarters. MANY CASES OF Valuable Prescription to Get Relief Which Anyone Can Prepare at Home.

Thousands of men and women who have felt the sting and torture of this dread disease, which is no respecter of age, persons, sex, color or rank, will be interested to know that while for many years rheumatism was considered an incurable disease, now it is one of the easiest afflictions of the human body to conquer. Medical science has proven it not a distinct disease in itself, but a symptom caused by inactive kidneys. Rheumatism is uric acid in the blood and other waste products of the system which should be filtered and strained out in the form of urine. The function of the kidneys is to sift these poisons and acids out and keep the blood clean and pure. The kidneys, however, are of sponge-like substance, the holes or pores of which will sometimes, either from overwork, cold or exposure become clogged and inactive, and failing in their function of eliminating these poisons from the blood, they remain in the veins, decompose and settling about the joints and muscles, cause the untold suffering and pain of rheumatism and backache, often producing complications of bladder and urinary disease, weakness, etc. The following simple prescription is said to relieve the worst cases of rheumatism because of its direct action upon the blood and kidneys, relieving, too, the most severe forms of bladder and urinary troubles: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be had from any good prescription pharmacy, and are absolutely

Mellor's time for the distance was one hour, 48 minutes and 43 seconds, but it looks as though it will be broken this year, as so many distance men have sprung into prominence. TREE PLANTING IN SCOTLAND. A state forest demonstration area is to be established in Scotland. The Governmen has purchased for this purpose the estate of Inverliever, in Argyllshire, owned by Col. Malcolm, of Portalloch, and it is understood that the price agree upon less than £30,000. Consisting of about 12,530 acres, the prop erty extends for nearly nine miles along the western side of Loch Awe-one of the most charming places in the Western Highlands, and a favorite resort of wealthy English tourists-and stretches across to Loch Avich. The land consists chiefly of hill pasture. At present there is practical ly no timber upon the estate, and a generation will elapse before there can be any crop worth marketing.

Parks Commissioner Pearce has sent the following communication to the citizens of London think some move should be made along that line, let them express themselves in some public manner, and the question will soon become a live one."

There are three types of playgrounds which should be kept in mind, so as not to confuse the question: 1.—One for small children, which done by the mob.

Stanfield's Underwear

A Talk by the Maker to the Wearer

(Chapter 2)

Shrinking The Wool In its natural state, wool consists of long, curly, silky fibres, dotted with tiny prongs or branches. These prongs, when wet, interlock with the long strands and pull together, to protect the sheep from rain and dampness.

When wool is woven, the same thing would happen, were it not for the Stanfield process, which makes the prongs on each strand of wool lie down until the knitting is finished.

Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear is made absolutely unshrinkable by this special process, invented and perfected by the Stanfields. It is the only method of treating wool, which renders it unshrinkable and uninjured.

One way of getting rid of the prongs, is to burn them off by plunging the wool into a tank containing lime. As the prongs are a part of the wool, naturally the lime will "eat" the wool as well as the prongs. This is why some imported, and some Canadian-made "Unshrinkable," Underwear won't wear. It has been treated with lime in the effort to make it unshrinkable.

The illustrations above, show wool under the microscope both before and after going through the Stanfield process. They show that all the prongs that make it shrink are made harmless, BEFORE the Underwear is woven. And as there is no "shrink" in the wool, there can be no "shrink" in the Underwear. Every garment, bearing the Stanfield label, is sold with our standard guarantee of "Money Back If It Shrinks." All sizes from 22 to 70 chest measure. The label tells the weight-RED label

It couldn't help being there, for "Young" clothes are the creation of seven of America's leading clothes makers, and show the result of the higher priced designs and tailoring talents' efforts. But there's something more than style in these garments, there's quality of fabrics and trimmings and good tailoring that makes the stlye last, that insures you good, honest service and that brings you back. Values keep company with styles in difference from what other stores offer, as these samples show.

OUEBEC CABINET CHANGES

C. P. Devlin Joins Gouin Ministry as Prevost's Successor.

Quebec, Oct. 17.-The expected reconstruction of the Provincial cabinet took place today, two new Provincial ministers being sworn in to replace Hon. Jean Prevost, resigned, and Hon. Jules Tessier, elevated to the bench. The announcement that Mr. C. R. Devlin, federal member for Nicolet, had been called to the cabinet as Mr. Prevost's successor in the department of colonization, mines and fisheries, came as a complete surprise, no mention of his name as a cabinet possibility having been made. Mr. L. A. Taschereau, who becomes minister of public works, in place of Mr. W. A. Weir, the latter taking the treasury portfolio, has, however, been looked upon for some time as a certainty. Mr. seat in Nicolet, the sitting member election there and in Montmorency will take place Nov. 4.
