On Prayer and Prayer Books

We have not been surprised, writes Cardinal Wiseman in his essays on Various Subjects in his that, in later years, there should have prevailed a much greater use than formerly, of the missal as a prayer-book, and that even it should be found expedient to print, in other books of devotion, the ordinary of the Mass. This feeling, on the part of the faithful, shows the sense of the superiority of the Church prayers over any substitutes for them.

Nor in fact, can any human genius hope to attain their beauty and sublimity. In these two qualities, the Mass differs from all other offices in a remarkable manner. It has not merely flights of eloquence and poetry strikingly displayed in particular prayers, but it is sustained throughout in the higher sphere, to which its divine purpose naturally raises it.

If we examine each prayer separately, it is perfect; perfect in construction, perfect in thought, and perfect in expression. If we consider the manner in which they are brought together, we are struck with the brevity of each, with the sudden but beautiful transitions, and the almost stanza-like effect with which they succeed one another, forming a lyrical composition of surpassing beauty.

If we take the entire service, as a whole, it is constructed with the most admirable symmetry, proportioned in its parts with perfect judgment, and so exquisitely arranged, as to excite and preserve an unbroken interest in the sacred action.

No doubt, to give full force and value to this sacred rite, its entire solemnity is to be considered. The assistants, with their noble vestments, the chant, the incense, the more varied ceremonies which belong to a solemn Mass, are all calculated to increase veneration and admiration. But still the essential beauties remain, whether the holy rite be performed under the golden vault of St. Peter's, with all the pomp and circumstance befitting its celebration by the sovereign pontiff, or in a wretched wigwam, erected in haste by some poor savages for their missionary.

What can be more appropriate than the opening psalm and humble confession of sin by priest and people, the former yet standing at a distance from the altar, feeling himself unworthy to approach! Then comes the Introit, which seems intended to be the keynote to the whole service; which, being one in its essence, yet adapts itself to all our wants; whether of propitiation or of evils to be averted or blessings to be gained. Sometimes this introductory verse is loud and joyous—"Gaudemus omnes in Domino," (Let us all rejoice in the Lord); sometimes low and plaintive—"Miserere mihi, Domine quoniam tribulor," (Have mercy on me, O Lord, in my distress); in the Paschal solemnity, the Alleluia rings through it all, like a peal of cheerful bells; in Passion tide, even the "Gloria Patri" is silent, and it falls melancholy and dull; when a saint is commemorated, the nature of his virtues and his triumphs is at once proclaimed; if it be a festival of Our Lord, the mystery which it celebrates is solemnly announced.

The choral, thus struck at the opening of the service, returns at given intervals, as if to keep up the tone throughout. At the Gradual, the Offertory, and the Communion, the verses read are in perfect harmony with it; and having, moreover, a corresponding and even deeper echo in the Collects, Gospel and Preface, one feeling is preserved suited to the devotion which the liturgy, in its essence and main purposes invariably, is intended secondarily to excite.

The "Kyrie Eleison"—that cry for mercy, which is to be found in every liturgy of East and West—seems introduced as if to give grander effect to the outburst of joy and praise which succeeds it, in the "Gloria in excelsis," it is a deepening of our humiliation, that our triumph may be better felt. That hymn itself is full of beauties; the best demonstration of which is, that no composition ever lent itself more perfectly to the musician's skill; none ever afforded better play to the rich and rapid succession of every mode, gay and grave; none better supplied the slow and entreating cadence, or the full and powerful chorus. In the simple Gregorian chant, or in the pure religious harmonies of Palestrina, it is truly the "Hymn of Angels."

We should for ourselves wholly acquiesce in the task of pointing out the excellence of the prayers which occupy the essential portion of the liturgy, from the Offertory to the end. It has often struck us, that one single word could not be changed to advantage in any one of them; that there is more meaning compressed into a small space than in almost any other composition which we know; and that everything is said which could be required or desired.

All the prayers connected with the Offertory are remarkably short; but they are full of vigour and of feeling; there is in them a most heavenly and sublime simplicity, a mild and tender pathos. When the priest having completed his oblation, bows himself down upon the altar, and humbles himself in contrition of heart, as unworthy of his ministry, then with a noble confidence rises erect, lifts his hands and eyes to heaven, and solemnly invokes the God who dwells there saying: "Veni Sanctificator, omnipotens aeternus Deus," (Come, O Sanctifier, Almighty everlasting God and in His name blesses the sacred gift—there is an awful grandeur in the rite; an assurance of its efficacy in heaven as on earth. It seems as though the priest instantly retired, in order to make way for him whom he had so powerfully called down to bless his offering, and went to seek still greater purity of hands and heart, so to return to his ministrations more worthy to "hear the words of praise" which the church, in concert with holy angels, is about to sing in her hosannas. The preface are all perfect in substance and in form; there could not be a more splendid introduction, with the hymn which closes them, to the divine rite that follows.

Here we must pause: because the subject becomes too sacred for our pen; the ground upon which we are about to tread is holy, and the shoes must be loosed from the feet of him who will venture upon it. To speak worthily on it, requires language and a mood far removed from the humble office which we are exercising. We stated at the outset, that we were not going to read a homily upon prayer, but only to act the ungrateful part of critics. We therefore content ourselves with saying, that those who wish to learn how prayers may or should be composed, should meditate long and deeply upon these apostolic prayers, which have nothing beyond them save God's inspired word.

Many Troubles Arise From Wrong Action Of The Liver.

Unless the liver is working properly you may look forward to a great many troubles arising such as biliousness, constipation, heartburn, the rising and souring of food which leaves a nasty taste in the mouth, sick headache, jaundice, etc.

Mr. Howard Newcomb, Pleasant Harbor, N.S., writes: "I have had sick headache, been bilious, and have had pains after eating and was also troubled with a bad taste in my mouth every morning. I used four vials of your Milburn's Liver Pills, and they cured me. The best medicine I ever used for my troubles."

The Eucharistic Propaganda Adoration

There is one surpassing good in our lives, and that is our Catholic Faith; from it all other good radiates; to it, as to its source, all else ascends. Yet are we ever, as we logically ought to be, consciously, wildly, almost uncontrollably glad of being Catholics? Does our Faith ever so grip us that our very being simply tingles with the vast joy of being in God's true Church, with a holy elation of humble superiority that we are of the true fold of the great "Chief Shepherd?"

Or does this stupendous grace allways and unvaryingly remain an unnoticed, matter-of-course fact of our all too ordinary lives? Of all else we are glad—of riches, of health, of loved ones; we are glad of life of life's passing, fading, shadowy realities. Are we ever madly happy in owning life's one reality? Is there ever a "Thank God" that rushes forth immensely from our inmost being that we know God the Father, and God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost, Three yet One, eternal, omniscient, omnipresent; that we have knelt beside the midnight crib and called an Infant of an hour's span our God, and stood beneath the midday darkened Cross, and adored the shattered Man of Sorrows, Mary, our Mother, we know, and all her gracious love these buried years, and are we glad, "real glad" of it, with the simple, untellable gladness of a child for Mother's presence? The saints of God are our victorious brethren, and the angels of God our sentinels, whose eyes never close in sleep, the Holy Scriptures are the thoughtful letters from our own God Father, letters as really and truly from Him as the thin missive sent us from those we love this side the grave.

And the great wide circle of the Church of God, girdling the world, unyielding as the everlasting hills, it is ours, its tapers and its myriad gusts of song and are we glad? Oh, yes, we trust we are at times so very grandly glad! But best of all, highest of all, as we kneel in silent adoration, before our Eucharistic God, Jesus Christ, our Eldest Brother, still resident on earth, does a strong, big wave of happiness flood each nook and cranny of our being, that to us, despite the black ungrateful past, to us despite the sins high-heaped of years, our God's veiled presence is unveiled, pierced through and through by Faith's unimpeded light. Does a fierce shudder ever run through us as we catch a glimpse of life's desert waste were we orphaned of His Sacred Presence? Think what a day that would be wherein we trod our way amid the crowded streets and hurried along the quiet lanes, and going into every Church gazed up to every sanctuary lamp and found them all in darkness; and looked into every tabernacle and saw them emptied of their Treasure. Life would be chilled in our veins, life would not be worth its constant fight. For Jesus would be gone. My God, the vastness of it all! Whence all this wonderful goodness to us, your faithless creatures, to me, faithless among the faithless? Oh the huge joy of it all—to be a Catholic! To be far withdrawn from the blind gropings of darkened infidelity and to

Bishop Racicot Dead

The Right Reverend Zotique Racicot, Titular Bishop of Poggia and Auxiliary to the Most Reverend Archbishop Bruchesi of Montreal died on September 14 after a long illness at the Hospice Drapau at St. Therese de Beauport, Quebec, Can., an institution in charge of the Sisters of Charity of Providence. Monsignor Racicot was born at Sault Au Recollet, Quebec, in 1845 and was ordained on November 6, 1870. He was consecrated Titular Bishop of Poggia on May 3, 1905, and five years later retired on account of ill health.

Priest Contracts Leprosy

The Mindanao Herald, Mindanao, Philippine Islands, of July 10, 1915, has the following item:—In our last number we stated that telegraphic information had been received that Father Tarrago, chaplain of the leper colony, Island of Cullion, Philippine Islands, had contracted that dreadful maldy, leprosy. In the Manila newspapers received today, we find further mention of this matter. The publication refers to Rev. Jose Tarrago, a member of the Society of Jesus, who is a native of the city of Tarragona, Spain, who for the last five years has served as chaplain of the leper colony. The disease had just begun to manifest itself and the director of public health has ordered that he be isolated and subjected to the treatment formulated by Dr. Morosco, and that every effort be made to isolate him.

Could Not Read Down On Account of Backache.

Mr. J. A. Lubnicki, Dunsmuir, Man., writes: "It is my pleasure to write you in regard to Doan's Kidney Pills which I have been using for some time for kidney trouble, which used to affect my back so that at times I could not bend down, nor could I walk straight. I headed about your pills from your Almanac, and I mean the biggest hour I thought of buying this medicine. One time a druggist persuaded me to buy Doan's Kidney Pills, saying they were just as good, in fact he said they were better. I yielded to his advice, and what was the result? I had walking down stairs to my back for two days, so I took the balance of the pills unused to the druggist, and told him to give me Doan's Kidney Pills as they would stop the pain in 15 hours at the outside. He told me he was sorry I did not use more of the pills, and lengthen the time to wait results. I told him there is no need of waiting with Doan's Pills, they go right to the spot. No substitute for me."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50¢ a box, 2 boxes for $1.25. All dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

Provincial Exhibition.

The Provincial Exhibition for 1915, to which brief allusion was made in our last issue, came to a close, so far as visitors were concerned, on Thursday evening last. Friday was devoted to the removal of such exhibits as had not already been taken away. The weather on Tuesday and Wednesday was very unfavorable and the attendance was not very large, especially on Tuesday. On Wednesday there was a fair attendance, but there were many vacant seats on the Grand Stand. Thursday, although somewhat cold in the forenoon, was a fine bright day and the attendance in the afternoon was very large, probably between eight and nine thousand. This day saved the situation, and it is probable that the Exhibition on the whole was a financial success.

This was the twenty-third annual Provincial Exhibition held under the auspices of the Exhibition Association in the twenty-five years of its existence. There were two years of the twenty-five when no exhibition was held. Although this was called a Provincial Exhibition it was open to exhibitors from all Provinces of the Dominion. This was in consequence of a grant of $2,500 given to the Association by the Dominion Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture. This grant of $2,500 was added to the prizes. Referring to this grant from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, President Hertz in his address at the opening of the Exhibition emphatically stated that the credit for securing it belonged to Premier Matheson alone. He said our Exhibitions were shut out from participating with the other Provinces in the distribution of this grant, until Premier Matheson went to Ottawa and secured our rights. President Hertz further stated that if the present Local Administration continue to treat the Association as they have done for the last three or four years there was a bright prospect for future exhibitions.

The different departments of the Exhibition within and without the building were well filled. An exception must be made with regard to fruit, so far as our Province is concerned, as this is an off year with us in that product. The fruit exhibit in the building was from the Annapolis Valley. Our merchants and business men generally had very fine and many interesting displays of their goods and wares.

The side shows were fewer by far than on some previous years, and the acrobatic performances and other attractions in front of the grand stand, while less elaborate perhaps than on former years, were very good.

An interesting feature of all our Provincial Exhibitions, and one which attracts the crowd is the horse racing. The trotting this year was the best yet, and every one of the races was interesting and exciting. On Tuesday there were two races, the 2.40 trot and the 2.22 pace. In the 2.19 both were first, Princess Etta second and Miss Alcyone third. The best time was 2.18 1/2. Arkola was first in the 2.40, Brenton H. second, and Captain Creswell third. The best time was 2.22 1/2.

There were three races on Wednesday: 2.22 trot and pace, 2.40 and free-for-all. In the order named the winners were: Bob Mac first, Dr. Sharper second, and Queensborough third. Best time 2.18 1/2. 2.40 pace, Helen R. first, Dixie Girl second and Queen Catherine third. Best time 2.22 1/2. Free-for-all: Vesta Boy first, Princess Etta second and Hilda S. third. Best time 2.20 1/2.

The greatest and most exciting races were on Thursday. They were 2.24 trot, 2.30 pace and 2.19 trot. Happy George won the heat in 2.20 1/2, Arkola second and Brazilian third. Helen R. won the 2.30 in 2.17 1/2 with Dixie Girl second and Queen Catherine third. The 2.19 was won by Mayor Todd, Dr. Sharper second and Devilish Dorothy third. The best time was 2.16 1/2. This was a grand race, and the performance of Mayor Todd lowering the track record to 2.16 1/2 was loudly applauded. This was the second lowering of the track record on Thursday; first by Helen R. from 2.18 1/2 to 2.17 1/2, and now by Mayor Todd to 2.16 1/2.

Judge A. L. Fraser.

Mr. A. L. Fraser, ex-M. P., Souris, has been appointed Judge of the County Court for King's County, in succession to the late Judge Blanchard. His standing as a citizen, his legal attainments and his political career eminently qualify Mr. Fraser for the judiciary, and we extend to the new County Court Judge for King's County our heartiest congratulations on his appointment to this high and honorable office.

Canada and the Navy.

The feeling of disappointment among Canadians that there are no Canadian war vessels in the splendid British fleet in the North Sea, receives fresh impetus whenever thought is directed to the marvellous work being accomplished by the British navy. "Thank God for the navy," is the manner in which Major Percy Guthrie, himself wounded in the Empire cause, referred last night to this phase of England's participation in the world war. And the statement might be amplified many times before reaching the limit of truth.

The British navy has kept Britain and the Overseas Dominions safe from the enemy. Had the squadrons at the disposal of Admiral Jellicoe been less powerful the German High Canal fleet would have emerged from its hiding place long ago and ravaged British coasts and British shipping. As it is the navy of Germany, a navy built and equipped for the sole purpose of attacking the mastery of the seas and bringing about the wreck of Britain's power, has not dared to join battle with the ships under the command of the brave Jellicoe.

Canada has bravely borne her part in the land operations in which the Empire's troops have been engaged, but it is a matter for sincere regret that there are no Canadian Dreadnaughts in the Empire's armada. Australia and New Zealand have not only won their laurels in the land fighting but were also ready with the ships when the call came. Canada alone was remiss in her duty. Why?

Was it because the Canadian people were one whit behind their brothers in Australia and New Zealand in the quality of their loyalty? Not for one minute. Canada is not represented in the British battle fleets because Laurier barred the way. Because after exerting in the House of Commons all his power to defeat Sir Robert Borden's proposal for naval aid, he passed the word to his parasites in the Senate and they strangled the bill which would have brought to this country an added glory and a very comforting sense of having assisted the Empire when assistance was required. But the Canadian people have not forgotten. Given the opportunity they will, with certain voices, pronounce their verdict upon the men through whose agency they were so humiliated. Until then they must bear the shame that will come with the realization that when the cry is raised "Thank God for the navy," Canada can not pride herself on having contributed to the splendid achievements that call for that expression of thankfulness.—St. John Standard.

The militia department is now so well equipped with clothing and supplies for the men at the front that two pairs of boots for each of the 50,000 soldiers in France and the 30,000 at Shorncliffe have been sent forward. Last winter at Salisbury Plain there was a good deal of inconvenience, and even suffering, because the troops had been supplied with only one pair of boots. Heavy rains prevailed and there was no opportunity for the men to dry their boots. The new boots are regarded as a vast improvement. They are watertight and with two pairs there will be much more comfort this winter for the men in the trenches. Besides boots a great quantity of warm winter clothing has been forwarded for the use of Canada's soldiers.

It was stated by Sir Henry Pellatt after the meeting of directors of the Dominion Steel Corporation held in Montreal on the 23rd, that the $1,500,000 notes due November 1, would be paid. Sir Henry stated that the corporation's bank loan had been reduced to about $1,800,000, that the business being effected was in every way satisfactory, and that the earnings by Nov. 1 would justify the redemption of short term notes. By the end of the fiscal year, Sir Henry continued, the company would be in a position to consider the resumption of preferred dividends. Present earnings of the corporation justified the payment of these, but the directors were desirous of improving the financial position of the company further before taking up that question. The directors passed a resolution of condolence to be forwarded to the family of the late William Van Horne. The vacancy caused by the former vice-president was not filled. Mr. William McMaster acted as chairman of the meeting.

Progress of the War.

Interest in war matters, during the past week, centered largely in the Balkans. The attitude assumed by Bulgaria and the other Balkan States engrossed much attention. London advised of the 22nd had this among other things to say: A war move that may solve the riddle of the Balkans—Bulgaria's mobilization—has struck London with dramatic suddenness. The afternoon newspapers, however, refrained from editorial comment, and neutral readers of these publications, except for drawing their own conclusions from large type heads and such captions as "Balkan Sensation," would be none the wiser as to whether England regarded the developments as a preliminary victory for the Central Powers, or merely another overnight turn of the Greco-Bulgarian negotiations. The consensus of opinion was that although the Bulgarian army is now on the move, Bulgaria is not yet east her lot with one side or the other, but is, as her minister here expressed it, still neutral, still waiting, but armed. The first bulletin announcing Bulgaria's mobilization reached London by way of New York. It was quickly followed by a stream of telegrams from the European capitals to the effect that mobilization, partial or general, had been ordered at Sofia, that Bulgarian cavalry had taken the field, and the Bulgarians fighting were hurrying home. Subsequently came the news of excitement at Athens and of the conference of the King with the political leaders. But from Sofia itself the British press received no details. There is general activity of the Austro-German forces along the Serbian frontier. A semi-official despatch from Nish repudiates reports that Serbia has been asked, in effect, to remain quiescent while the Austro-Germans continued their campaign southwards. The developments in Bulgaria threw into comparative obscurity the continued Russian retreat from Vilna, but, with the exception of the northern tip of the Polish front, where the Russians are on the offensive near Friedriehstadt, the German claim progress throughout mid-Poland as far south as Ostrow, which they have captured. The greatest number of prisoners taken at any point, however did not exceed 2,000, which would seem to indicate that the attempt to complete the coils around the retreating Russians has proved unsuccessful.

Progress of the War.

London, Sept. 23.

The riddle of the Balkans, as the London press terms the latest developments in the near eastern peninsula arising out of Bulgaria's order for mobilization, remains unchanged. The greatest uncertainty still exists, even in official quarters in London, as to the intentions of King Ferdinand and his advisers. In fact it is not yet certain that the mobilization has begun, or that the date has been set for it. One report from Athens says that the mobilization has been postponed.

The Russians are doing better on the northern end of their line, and thus far have prevented Field Marshal Von Hindenburg from reaching the Dvina river, west of Lennenwaden, where, for the second time, battle has been joined, and are putting up a stubborn fight further down the river, west of Dvinsk, where the Germans claim to have penetrated their positions.

Petrograd, Sept. 23.

The Russian military authorities regard the withdrawal from the very difficult position near Vilna, which for a time seriously menaced a large army, as virtually completed. They assert the Germans have lost 250,000 men in their recent operations in this region.

London, Sept. 24.

As "a measure of elementary prudence" Greece has ordered the mobilization of her naval and military forces. Thus the action of Bulgaria, in making military preparations, has brought the last remaining Balkan State under arms, for Roumania, while not fully mobilized, for some time has had her troops ready for an emergency. What plans Bulgaria really has in mind, and what Greece and Roumania will do when these plans mature, are still matters for speculation. One thing seems clear, however, Bulgaria and Turkey, for so many years sworn enemies, have composed their differences. The successes which the Russian General Ivanoff has been having in Galicia and Volhynia, it is considered in military quarters here, may still have an influence in more than one way in the Balkans. Gen Ivanoff has been so successful that the German Field Marshal Von Mackensen, who is fighting north of the Pripiet marshes, eastward of Brest-Litovsk, has according to the German official report, been compelled to withdraw his line somewhat, as it was in danger of being encircled, while the Austrians have been driven back across the Styra, and, according to one account, have evacuated the fortress of Lutsk, in the Volhynian triangle of Fortresses which they captured during the great drive.

Easy to use, requires no tools and mends quickly. Every housewife knows what it is to discover a hole in a pan, kettle or boiler just when she wants to use that article. VOL-PEEK is more provoking and causes more inconvenience, a little leak in a much wanted pot or pan will often spoil a whole morning's work.

The housewife has, for many years been wanting something with which she could herself, in her own home, mend such leaks quickly, easily and permanently, and she has never found it.

What has been needed is a mender like "VOL-PEEK," that will repair the article neatly and quickly and at the same time be always at hand, easily applied and inexpensive.

A package of "VOL-PEEK" will mend from 30 to 50 air filled holes.

"VOL-PEEK" is in the form of a stiff putty, simply cut off a small piece enough to fill the hole, then burn the mender over the flame of a lamp, candle or open fire for two minutes, then the article will be ready for use.

Paris, Sept. 27.—The important of the victories achieved by the British and French forces in the first day of battle in a long and eagerly awaited aggressive campaign may be summarized thus: By the French armies—German trench lines field fortifications in the Champagne captured and the Kaiser troops routed along a front more than fifteen miles wide. German battle line cut through completely at various points the Champagne a district for miles of two-thirds of a mile two miles and a half. More than 21,000 German soldiers taken prisoners. Senator Sir Lyman Melvin Jones of Toronto, has made the Militia Department the offer of a convalescent home in England from 50 to 100 patients.

On the 23rd French aviators dropped about a hundred shells on the Royal Palace at Stuttgart, capital of the Kingdom of Wurttemberg.

The war news of the last few days is most cheering. The Allies seem to be pounding the German both east and west. We sincerely trust the good work will continue.

An armoured biplane to cost $18,000 has been offered to the Militia Department by Mr. W. J. Gage, of Toronto, the well known publisher and philanthropist. It is for service at the front.

A body that came ashore at Clonakilly on the south coast of Ireland has been identified as that of Mrs. Josephine Bruguiere, New York, one of the victims of the Arabic disaster.

A few days ago a brakeman on the I. C. R. fell from his train, a short distance north of Moncton and struck his head against a rail on a parallel track and was instantly killed. He belonged to Moncton.

Fire, which broke out in the top floor of the Ottawa Collegiate institute last Thursday night, did damage to the extent of $15,000. The Collegiate is situated next to the militia stores, and soldiers from Rockcliffe Camp assisted in protecting the militia buildings.

Of the result of one of the Zeppelin raids in London an American who was there says: "London went to bed that night with hot wrath, but not in fear. The next day, at recruiting stations which had been empty the day before there were long lines of men waiting, eager to join the army."

At Hamilton Beach, on the British fire started in a box of rubbish, destroyed more than 75 buildings and caused a loss estimated at $200,000 in the most crowded part of the summer resort before the flames were checked by dynamite. Five hotels, two theatres, business blocks and scores of cottages were levelled.

Four children, ranging in age from two to six were trapped by flames which enveloped their home at Large, Pa., on the 23rd, and burned to death. The mother was calling on a neighbor at the time. When she returned entrance to the dwelling was cut off by the fire and she was seriously injured while trying to force her way through a window.

In a fierce conflagration that raged at Bathurst, N. B., on the 22nd, about fifteen million feet of lumber were burned, and at least a quarter of a million dollars worth of property went up in smoke. The fire started in the afternoon and burned all night. Fire apparatus came to the assistance of the local brigade from Newcastle, Campbellton and other neighboring towns.

Toronto Bulgarians have declared that they will not go back to Bulgaria to fight for that country if they declare war on Serbia. They take the stand that Great Britain and Russia are responsible for the liberty they now enjoy and they will not go against the allies. "They liberated us and we will not fight against them. If Bulgaria fights our enemy, then we will go back and fight," they declare.

The British horse ship, Angler Columbian, was torpedoed and sunk on the 24th off Fastnet after being chased 78 miles by a submarine, according to a message to Montreal from Consul Frost at Queenstown. The message said warning was given and time allowed for the crew, six of whom were Americans, to take to the boats. There were no casualties. The ship was bound from Montreal to Liverpool. The Anglo-Columbian sailed from Montreal for the other side with over 900 horses on September 11th. She is well known in Montreal.

In consequence of the storm on Monday, the steamer Empress did not cross between Summerside and Point du Chene.

The terrific storm of Monday brought with it an extraordinarily high tide. Some say it was highest ever seen at Charlottetown. The rise is estimated at about 16 feet. Around the waterfront considerable damage was done. It overflowed lower water street and came into the dwelling houses there. The wooden sidewalk along there was floating round like a raft. The railway wharf was under water and various offices and warehouses were flooded. Lumber piled on wharves were carried away; boats in the docks were knocked about. The outer end of Pownal wharf was actually four or five feet under water. A shipment of 500 cedar posts belonging to Mr. Paoli, recently discharged on this wharf, was carried away by the heavy sea and drifted right across the harbor. They will probably be recovered. Reports of damages come from different parts of the Province. Bridges have been damaged, trees uprooted and other destruction. Later reports will probably bring more definite information. It certainly was a fierce storm of wind, rain and tide.
