CHAPTER II.

"Go to my head keeper; tell him I sent you. If you know your work and possess a good character—Where do you come from? What is your name?"

"Australia. My name is Ralph Farrington," was the reply.

The earl's brows grew straight—Veronica had been straight all through the scene; the two looked singularly alike at that moment—and she scanned the sunburnt face with another flash of his black eyes.

"Go to the keeper," he said, and signed to Mathews to drive on.

The young man raised his hat. "Thank you, my lord," he said, gravely.

Then he looked up at Veronica with a swift and eloquent glance of gratitude; but Veronica, sitting bolt upright on her horse, gazed straight before her and made no acknowledgment; perhaps she thought that there had been quite enough fuss over the man, prompt and plucky though he had proved himself to be.

As she gathered up the reins she saw a spot of red on her left gauntlet. It was blood. For a moment she thought that, after all the puppy had been hurt; then the truth flashed upon her: she remembered that she had felt one of the mare's forefeet strike something as the young fellow had darted for the puppy. He had been hurt in body, perhaps badly, in his humane and successful attempt to save the dog, and had been hurt in spirit, still more badly, by the earl's offer of money.

She looked at the red spot and then at the tall, graceful figure striding across the moor with the puppy still in his arms and the dog barking in friendly, foolish fashion at his heels; the colour came and went in her face, and her under lips were caught by the white teeth, as if she longed to ride after him and make some amends. But pride held her back, and with a shrug of her shoulders she rode on.

How should she know that the shadow of her fate was riding behind her, that the curtain of her life's drama was up and the tragedy had begun?

CHAPTER III.

The young fellow who had given his name as Ralph Farrington strode to the cottage. The door was open, and he looked into the neat little sitting-room, in which a young girl was seated with her back to the window reading a novelette. She was a pretty girl with a mass of fair hair and soft, brown eyes, and a small mouth drooping at the corners; this droop and something about the chin, while charming in their way, hinted at weakness of character.

She started as she heard his footsteps, and slipping the novelette in her pocket, looked quickly into the kitchen beyond, where a woman was ironing. Then she rose and stood eyeing him with a faint blush.

"I beg your pardon," said Ralph. "I've brought your puppy; it is yours, isn't it?"

"Oh, yes; thank you!" she said.

"Chafed and Aching Feet"

How far can you walk without suffering in one way or another from discomfort to your feet?

Modern footwear is a prison house and the result is chafed, scalded, inflamed feet.

You can get a world of comfort by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment when your feet give you trouble. This treatment is so delightfully soothing and healing that it helps you as soon as applied.

Unlike insensate powders which clog the pores, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes the skin soft and smooth and prevents corns and bunions.

When the feet are chafed, scalded, itching and tired it takes out the stinging and burning and its benefits are both quick and lasting.

In scores of ways Dr. Chase's Ointment is of the greatest value in every home, as a means of relieving itching, healing the skin and curing all sorts of chafing and skin irritations and diseases. 60c. a box, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

coming forward to take it from him; then she shrank back.

"Oh, it is hurt—is bleeding!"

"No, no; it is all right," she assured her, with a smile. "It nearly got run over, but I managed to pick it up in time. In doing so the young lady's horse must have struck me. Oh, I'm not hurt!" he added, promptly, at her glance of alarm and pity; "not in the east; a mere scratch."

The woman in the kitchen, hearing voices, came forward with the iron in her hand.

"Mother, this gentleman has saved 'olly's puppy, and has got hurt," explained the girl.

"Dear, dear!" responded the mother. "Here, Fanny, take the iron and go on with those collars. I hope you're not much hurt, sir!" She added he "sir" after a doubtful glance at his clothes.

"Not at all," said Ralph. "I'll show you."

He drew back the sleeve of his coat and shirt and bared his muscular arm. There was a nasty gash just below the elbow, and it was still bleeding. The woman uttered a cry of distress and called out:

"Bring in a basin of warm water and a towel—quick, Fanny!"

"Pon my word, I'm very sorry to trouble you," Ralph said in his pleasant voice; "you'll find there's nothing the matter when it's washed, and he laughed as he held his arm over the basin."

"It's a nasty cut," she said, as she washed it. "A horse, you said; a young lady riding it?"

"It must be Miss Veronica," murmured the girl who stood by her eyes fixed on Ralph's face with an intent expression. "I saw her ride across the moor."

"I daresay," said Ralph. "A very beautiful girl with grey eyes and dark hair."

The woman nodded, but looked up at him with a little surprise. He looked like a working-man; but the working-man of the place did not speak of Miss Veronica as a "girl," but as a "young lady."

"That was her uncle with her, I suppose?" he said. "Lord—"

"Lord Lynborough; yes. You must be a stranger not to know his lordship."

"I am," he assented. "Just from Australia. I walked over from Halifax this morning."

"It's a long way. Perhaps you'd like something to eat and drink—you look a little pale," said the woman. "Fanny—"

The girl started as if she had been absorbed in her contemplation of the handsome young stranger, and going into the kitchen brought out some bread and cheese and a glass of milk.

"I'm very much obliged," said Ralph, accepting the hospitality without the least sign of embarrassment or shyness. "It was very nice, not to say kind of you, to guess that I was hungry, Mrs.—"

"Mason's our name," she said. "We do the laundry for the Court."

"I see," he said. "Well, I hope I shall be a fellow-labourer. I am going to apply for a berth as a game-keeper. His lordship sent me to the head keeper."

"Geoffrey Birchett," said Mrs. Mason, nodding. "Well—I hope you'll get it," she added, so doubtfully that Ralph looked up and smiled.

"That sounds as if you don't think I shall."

"She shook her head.

"Geoffrey Burchett," said Mrs. Mason, nodding. "Well—I hope you'll get it," she added, so doubtfully that Ralph looked up and smiled.

"That sounds as if you don't think I shall."

"She shook her head.

"Geoffrey Burchett," said Mrs. Mason, nodding. "Well—I hope you'll get it," she added, so doubtfully that Ralph looked up and smiled.

"That sounds as if you don't think I shall."

"She shook her head.

"Geoffrey Burchett," said Mrs. Mason, nodding. "Well—I hope you'll get it," she added, so doubtfully that Ralph looked up and smiled.

"That sounds as if you don't think I shall."

"So I observed," commented Ralph. "And his niece—what did you say her name was?"

"Miss Veronica Gresham."

"Evidently takes after him," Fanny nodded.

"Yes," she said, in her soft, hesitating voice. "She's as proud as Lucifer."

"But she's very kind," put in Mrs. Mason, simply, and with a reproving glance at her daughter. "There's no end to her kindness. The Court hasn't been the same since she came. She goes amongst the people and takes an interest in the estate, and—looks after things as they wasn't looked after, before she came."

"I see; a kind of Lady Beautiful," said Ralph; but neither mother nor daughter seemed to understand the allusion, and stared at him vacantly.

"And when he dies—I suppose even so great a man as his lordship must die some day, or do they live for ever—who succeeds him, who comes into his greatness?"

Helen Keller Spoke.

Cresson, Pa., July 18.—Miss Helen Keller, who after being deaf, dumb and blind since her birth, two weeks ago made a speech at Providence, R. I., has arrived here and will pass the summer with her teachers on the estate of Mrs. Mary Copely Thaw, mother of Harry K. Thaw. Miss Keller will complete her study of articulation and by fall is expected to be able to talk as clearly as any one.

Miss Keller's teachers are Mrs. John Macey, her lifelong companion, and Prof. and Mrs. John W. White of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

REMEDY FOR LOCKJAW.

Baltimore, Md., July 17.—The survival of Bernard Myerly, a nine-year-old boy, from lockjaw resulting from a stone bruise and other injuries to his foot has increased interest in the method of treatment which was used in this case by Dr. Pierce Kintzing.

This is the ninth of a series of lockjaw cases in which Dr. Kintzing and his assistants at the Franklin Square Hospital have used what is a new plan of treatment with success. The remedy is a solution of phenol of 10 per cent. strength, diluted to suit the cases and administered by hypodermic injection deep into the muscles.

"It's kind of him to leave some part of England to other people," she said, "especially seeing that it's so small."

"Mrs. Mason started at him.

"His lordship's a very strange man," she repeated, with the helplessness of her class when confronted by something original.

"Well, he doesn't look particularly happy," observed Ralph.

The boldness of the remark seemed to stagger Mrs. Mason; but, with the candour which was as characteristic as her dullness, she said:

"Well, now you mention it, he don't. No, his lordship isn't a happy man."

"Is he married?" asked Ralph, with just a trifle more than polite interest.

Mrs. Mason shook her head. "No, his lordship's never been married; and until Miss Veronica came he lived alone at the Court or one of his other places—"

"You people seem to have a liking for living alone," remarked Ralph.

"And he don't enjoy good health," went on Mrs. Mason, ignoring the remark. "He's very stern and proud—"

The Tale of Perfect Time in a Watch

From Mainspring to Hairspring, between them lies the secret. The Mainspring is the power which it transmits to the active parts of the watch. The Hairspring has the control and regulates the motion. The timing is most delicate. Imagine a 100th part of a hair. (Impossible to see!) Yet it is enough to interfere in its performance, so wonderful is the adjustment. The friction between the hairspring and the pallet fork, if it becomes too tight, will ruin the watch. Remember that business is the care of the watch, and our opinion costs nothing.

The Unreasonable Maid.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

A maid once went out from an employment bureau to a position, and on finding that the room in which she was expected to live was a wretched little hole, miserably furnished, with no wall paper on the wall, no arrangements for heating and one tiny window, told the lady of the house that she did not wish to stay, because she felt she could never make that room look homelike.

Whereupon she departed. And now the lady of the house goes about telling this experience as an illustration of how abominably presumptuous and uppish housework girls are becoming. And almost everywhere she tells it she receives sympathy. "The idea," exclaims her friends, "The idea. You simply cannot do anything with them nowadays, they are so independent. Wouldn't stay because she couldn't make the room look homelike. What do they expect—guest chambers?"

My friends, it seems to me that in that little incident is illustrated one of the chief causes of the maid problem. That a housework girl should want to have her room look homelike and should refuse to stay in a place where she couldn't make it so, seemed the acme of absurdity to these good women. They regarded it as unwarrantable independence on her part.

And yet a maid's bedroom means much more to her than her mistress's chamber does to the mistress, for the maid's bedroom must also be her living room.

If these women, who were most of them kind-hearted in other relations

NO ONE STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The celebrated Dr. Abernethy of London was firmly of the opinion that disorders of the stomach were the most prolific source of human ailments in general. A recent medical writer says: "Every feeling, emotion and affection reports to the stomach (through the system of nerves) and the stomach is affected accordingly. It is the vital center of the body." He continues, "so we may be said to live (through) the stomach." He goes on to show that the stomach is the vital center of the body. For weak stomach and the consequent indigestion or dyspepsia, and the multitude of various diseases which result therefrom, no medicine can be better suited as a curative agent than

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"Several months ago I suffered from a severe pain right under the breast-bone," writes Mrs. G. M. MURPHY, of Corona, Calif. "I had suffered from it, off and on, for several years. I also suffered from heart-burn, did not know what was the matter with me. I tried several medicines but they did me no good. Finally, I was told it was my liver. I did not dare to eat as it made me worse. Whenever I swallowed anything it seemed that I would faint—it hurt so. I grew very thin and weak from not eating. Was told to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took five bottles of it, and could feel myself getting better from the first dose. I could eat a little without pain and grew strong fast. To-day I am strong and well and can do a big day's work with ease. Can eat everything and have put on flesh wonderfully. I will say to all sufferers write to Dr. Pierce. He has my undying gratitude."

Mrs. G. M. Murphy.

Fads and Fashions.

Plain and broaded charmeuse are promised for early fall wraps. New costumes show box-pleated skirts with an apron-like overskirt. The silk petticoat should be soft silk—mossaline rather than taffeta. Silk stockings are getting so sheer as to be positively transparent. The newest coat sleeve is a raglan in front and one-piece in the back. Mohair is being much used for dust coats, especially the mistral variety. All lingerie is still very closely cut to maintain the straight figure lines. All-white for mourning is making its way, especially for young people. Chinese embroidery is used on the revers of some of the newest blouses. Many white and ecru net waists have Robespierre collars and Directoire cuffs. Advanced styles of tailored suits for autumn show long cutaway coats, braided-hood. The new long gown sleeves have frills around the wrist and nearly to the elbow. To be perfect, the white costume for daytime requires white shoes and white hosiery. New beltings are of heavy Ottoman weave, with simple designs, set at intervals. All the summer corded materials are favored for white wash skirts—plaques, reps and Bedford cords. Some of the new satin day gowns have the high girdele with straight hanging sash. It is thought that satin charmeuse will be the favorite among silks this autumn. Long navy or black coats of serge or whipcord are lined with foulard or striped taffeta.

Is Sickness a Habit?

With many sickness undoubtedly becomes to some extent a habit. They have "bilious spells," "sick headaches," "attacks of indigestion." Why not shake loose from these ailments and know once more the joys of good health? It takes a little will power. You may have to deny yourself some luxuries which do not agree with you, but it is worth while to be well and to prolong life. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will help you, because they act definitely and directly on the liver and thereby remove the cause of biliousness, headache and indigestion. Stir up the liver by taking one Kidney-Liver pill occasionally at bedtime and you will free yourself of many annoying ills, the temper will be less irritable and you will find more joy in living. Backache, Kidney Disease, Liver Complaint, Chronic Indigestion and Constipation are thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 35c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Docker's Child Dead From Starvation.

London, July 17.—A strike agitator was urging a crowd of dock strikers on Tower Hill to continue the strike of the Dockers' Union last week when a haggard woman bearing a starved baby in her arms forced her way to within a short distance of the speaker and cried out with a fierceness born of despair:

New FRUIT

70 baskets FRESH RIPE CHERRIES, only 25c. each.
Ripe Tasmanian APPLES 30c. dozen.

BANANAS.
Big Bananas, 35c. dozen.

New Vegetables.

New Beets, New Carrots, New Radish, New Turnips, New Turnip Tops, Nova Scotia Cabbage, P.E.I. Potatoes.

Soper & Moore

"I curse you in the name of the workers' wives, for it is you and your likes who have caused our ruin." As the child moaned pitifully in its mother's arms, being weak from starvation to cry aloud, the woman continued: "Yes, it is you and Tillet who are starving my child. Can't you see that it is starving?" "Who asked you to bring the dockers out? Who cares what becomes of us now that the strike has failed? Who will feed the children? May God curse you for your foul work!" The shrunken body of her child was crushed against her bosom—by the surging crowd, and step by step she was driven toward the outskirts of the meeting. There she sank to the ground, and when some passerby lifted her it was found that her child was dead.

Mother's Smile.

It is true, as some writer has wisely observed, that "it is mother's sunny smile that starts the day happily, or her frown that mars the day for members of her household. In order to command love and respect, mother must, first of all, have full control of her temper, must be able to appear happy under trying conditions, must have learned to govern herself, and have reason to respect herself, or she will fall where she would reign supreme."

Not any easy task—nay, a difficult one at times, and one requiring the divine patience that God gives to some wives and mothers. There is many a great moral victory back of the mother's smile, back of her self-control, back of the careful guard she puts upon her tongue. No mother ever reigns worthily in her own little home kingdom without achieving a great many moral victories and without winning the approving smile of God.

TONS OF FIREWORKS SET OFF BY CIGARETTE.

New York, July 4.—A lighted cigarette thrown into a moving van containing a ton of fireworks for the Fourth of July celebration of the 26th Assembly District at 6th avenue and 110th street to-night exploded the entire contents of the wagon and created a panic among 10,000 persons in the park circle.

In the stampede for places of safety luckily no one was injured. The horses attached to the van dashed out into the crowd and headed up 5th avenue with rockets and sparks flying in every direction. They were stopped, but not before the horses were severely burned and the wagon wrecked. Further celebration was abandoned.

A Daniel
Come to Judgment.

An attempt is being made by the mouthpiece and supporters of Sir Edward Morris to ease the failure of the Prime Minister to induce the investing public to take up his recent loan by disparaging the Herculean labours of Sir Robert Bond to rescue the Colony from imminent bankruptcy after the Crash of 1894. It will be remembered that a Tory administration was in charge of the Government and rather than face the financial situation, the Tory Government resigned. An attempt is being made to wink out of sight the financial gloom of those days when everything was in chaos, and to present them as if the days of 1895 were as good as those of the last decade.

How insincere are these efforts will be appreciated by a perusal of the recorded testimony of Sir Edward Morris himself.

It will be found he is a Daniel come to judgment in favour of Sir Robert Bond. Yea, a very Daniel.

What a roscate view he presents of the attractiveness of investing in Newfoundland securities at the present time will be gathered from a perusal of the letter which he sent on the 4th inst., to Messrs. Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co., the agents of the Colony for the Stock just issued. Here is a copy as it appended to the Prospectus.

Rosy Views.
London, 4th July, 1912.
Messrs. Glyn, Mills, Currie, and Co., 67 Lombard-street, E. C.

Gentlemen.—In connection with the proposed issue of £400,000 Government of Newfoundland 3½ per cent. Incribed Stock, for which you are authorised to receive subscriptions, I beg to state on behalf of the Government that:—

The average Annual Revenue for the ten years ended 30th June, 1911, was £2,777,277.
The average Annual Expenditure for the same period was 2,667,957.
The Total Surplus of Revenue over Expenditure for the same period was 1,099,290.
The average Annual Surplus of Revenue for the same period was 109,929.
The Revenue for the Fiscal Year ended 30th June, 1901, was 1,991,154.
The Revenue for the Fiscal Year ended 30th June, 1911, was 3,527,426.
The Revenue for the Current Fiscal Year is estimated to reach 3,700,000.
The Surplus for the Current Year is estimated at 174,000.
Out of the Surplus Revenue of £1,099,290 mentioned above, $500,000 has been set aside and is on deposit as a liquid reserve. The balance of the Surplus Revenue has been expended on public works.

The proceeds of the present Loan will be applied to the building of five Branch Lines of Railway, about 200 miles in length, to connect with the Main Trunk Line of Railway between St. John's and Port-aux-Basques; the building of such Branch Lines has been authorised by Parliament (10 Edward VII., Chap. 12).

The money provided by this issue is intended to complete the Branch Lines under construction, all of which will, it is expected, be open for operation by December 1st, 1914.

The financial position of the Colony is eminently satisfactory, and its material interests are steadily improving. Large investments of capital have recently been made in developing the Pulp and Paper industry, in connection with the extensive forest areas of Newfoundland. The Mineral and other resources of the Colony are also attracting considerable attention.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed)
EDWARD PATRICK MORRIS,
Prime Minister.

Schooner Lost

At Petty Harbor—Dashed on the Rocks — Capt. and Crew Barely Escaped.

The schr. Mayflower, of Witless Bay, a small vessel of about 22 tons and a coaster, Capt. James Rose, was dashed to pieces at Tinker's Point, Petty Hr., yesterday at 1.30. The captain and crew barely escaped with their lives and lost everything including their clothing; the captain losing considerable money in the wreck.

The vessel left Western Bay, on Monday, to take freight from here to Bay de Verde, and there being a light southerly wind that night she could not make this port. It was also dark and foggy and the wind then veering N. E. she drove south and into Petty Harbor Bay and anchored in amongst a number of traps with 2 anchors down. The men went ashore at Petty Harbor and telephoned for a tug and the John Green responded but could not get in near the vessel and stood by outside. The crew boarded her yesterday morning and after heaving up the anchor the chain of the other part of the vessel was swept ashore and lashed in pieces on the rocks. The men barely had time to jump in a boat and row to the John Green. They later landed at Petty Harbor when it became calm and were looked after by the people of the place. The men arrived here yesterday afternoon and were looked after by the members of the district. The vessel was owned partly by the captain and R. G. Rendell & Co., and was insured.

Railway Accident

At 7 p.m. yesterday a special freight train left here with freight for various places along the line and shortly after 8 o'clock met a serious accident near Woodstock, short distance east of Topsail. The train was running at the rate of about 12 miles an hour when the engine ran off the track and turned completely over bringing with it four of the freight cars which were down over the embankment and were pretty badly damaged. The engine however, did not receive much damage and the accident was not attended with loss of life or injury to any of the train hands. The engineer and fireman jumped clear when the engine went over and escaped unhurt. The track was damaged for a considerable distance and the local and excursion trains were delayed coming in here.

A train was despatched from the city at the point where the accident occurred and took the passengers along after they had left the cars which were bringing them in. A gang of men were despatched also with a wrecking train to get the damaged cars on the track and also to effect repairs to the road.

The idea, or Rat Corn, has been well taken up. Undoubtedly a rat poison which is a certain destroyer of the vermin, and which yet is non-poisonous to other animals or man, and one that will dry the rats up like leather, leaving no odor whatever if you or your neighbour's house should be a boon to a very great many. This is what Rat Corn is claimed to do, and we believe with good warrant. The testimonials we show seem to put the matter beyond question. You are quite safe in trying it at any rate. Put Into Torbay.

The auxiliary schr. Jewel from Bay Roberts bound for Labrador a vessel of 22 tons, got into Torbay Monday evening. Besides Mr. R. Dawe, her owner, there were on board Skipper Mercer and another man. It was very stormy and as the craft was in amongst the boats on the Collar, a phone message from Torbay brought the Ingraham to her assistance yesterday. She had one anchor out and when the tug took her in tow the stock of this was broken. The vessel goes down to Horse Hr., Labrador, and will fish with hand liners on the outer edges of the coast. If the venture is successful Mr. Dawe will fit out a fleet of auxiliary schooners next year for a similar venture. At intervals the men will also prospect for iron on the coast.

Wedding Bells.

TAYLOR-STRONG.
A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday afternoon at St. Mary's Church, South Side, the contracting parties being Mr. George E. Taylor, of the Reid Newfoundland Co., and Miss Gertrude E. Strong, daughter of Capt. W. G. Strong, of the Steam Turb Co. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Uphill, during which a special address was delivered by him to the happy young couple. The bride who was given away by her father, was neatly gowned in cream diaphanous satin, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern. The bridesmaids—Miss Katie Taylor and Miss Elsie Cook—were attired in shell pink voile, with black pique hats and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations and asparagus fern, whilst the flower girls, Miss Phyllis Cousins and Miss Carmine Coaker, wearing white silk, acted as flower girls with baskets of pink and white sweet peas which were strewn before the bride as she walked down the aisle to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March ably executed by Organist G. B. Lloyd. The groom was assisted by Mr. Charles Strong, brother of the bride, and Mr. Bert Taylor, cousin of the groom, whilst little Roy Cousins acted as page, Messrs. H. Forsyth and W. Ebsary taking the responsibility of ushers. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque, to the bridesmaids gold locket and chains, and to the flower girls gold pendants, and the page a stick pin. After the ceremony the happy couple with guests to the number of eighty drove to Donovan's Hotel where a reception was held, and after the usual toasts and speeches were gone through, dancing and games were held until midnight. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor leave by Tuesday's express for North Sydney via Grand Falls to spend the honeymoon, taking with them the best wishes of their numerous friends for a very happy wedded life. The number of presents received show the popularity of both Mr. Taylor being for 12 or 13 years connected with the Dry Dock Department of the Reid Nfld. Co., and the bride being a very popular young lady as well. The Telegram joins in wishing the happy couple many years of wedded bliss.

Lost $20,000,-000 Will.
A sensation has been caused in North Wales by the operations of mysterious visitors to the ruins of Valle Crucis Abbey, Llangollen, who are supposed to be searching for the will of Anthony Pritchard, whose vast estate, valued at $20,000,000, went into chancery 100 years ago in the absence of a will or next-of-kin. The will was supposed to have been left in the custody of a caretaker named Jones, but after Pritchard's death it mysteriously disappeared, and claimants to the estates have been hunting for it ever since. Some years ago the grave of the caretaker Jones, who appears to have exercised a weird fascination over Pritchard during his life, was twice dug up at midnight, and the coffin was searched for the will, which, however, was not found. Excavations appear to have been made at the abbey during the absence of the guardians, but whether anything has been discovered it remains to be seen.

Dr. G. N. Murphy's Office will be closed from August 1st to August 25, July 20, 71.

Meerschmum is said to be becoming scarcer. It seems that the mines of Asia Minor are showing signs of impoverishment. Meerschmum is commonly supposed to be a product of the sea, but this is not correct. It can be found floating about the Black Sea, for its specific gravity is only 1.279 at the maximum; but scientists are generally agreed that what is found on the waters has been washed away from its matrix. Meerschmum is in reality a form of magnesium, and before it is made into pipes has to go through many processes, one being boiling.

Dr. G. N. Murphy's Office will be closed from August 1st to August 25, July 20, 71.

To-Day's News.

Special to Evening Telegram: LONDON, July 24. In discussing the present situation in the Liberal Party the Times says the question of the moment in political circles is whether Lloyd George will resign office to conduct a political campaign. It then goes on to say that Lloyd George has appointed a Committee on the land policy with the sanction of Asquith. The body of land reformers in the Liberal party have been running to an extreme land policy at the bye-elections in the country, with some success. Whether the country is or is not ripe for such a policy, the Liberal party as a whole is not ripe for it. If the electorate can be captured by a political land campaign there are many Liberals who believe they can win at the next general election, and Lloyd George is marked out as the protagonist. To conduct this campaign with freedom, Lloyd George would have to resign. The question in political circles is whether the Chancellor will take the plunge.

Special Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-day. In the debates on the Naval Estimates in the Commons, Churchill, replying to criticism that he had made inadequate provision to meet the menace he had described, said, we are spending more this year and we are going to spend more next year. We are raising the personnel of the navy to 141,150 by 1913 and 146,000 in 1914. In regard to construction Germany this year is laying down one extra battleship and two; this year Germany is laying down two small cruisers, we are laying down eight. There is no cause for panic or alarm.

Germany Seized Opportunity.

Special to Evening Telegram. BERLIN, To-Day. Such progress has been made in strengthening the German navy voted almost unanimously during this year's session in the Reichstag, that now it is officially announced that a new third squadron of battleships will be commissioned by a autumn 1914. This brings the active battle fleet up to twenty-five ships. The 6 reserve squadron, which according to same law are being kept in full readiness for sea at all times, will not be available probably for 2 or 3 years after that. So it is pointed out here that alarmists in British press and parliament are premature in assuming the presence at sea of 23 fully manned German battleships in the Autumn of 1913. This increase of German Fleet, according to the statement of responsible German diplomatic is solely due to provocative Mansion House speech of Lloyd George, delivered in the height of Morocco crisis in 1911. Commenting on the more conciliatory utterances of Lloyd George at Mansion House banquet this year and on Grey's reference to improvement of Anglo-German relation the official stated had it not been for Lloyd George's declaration, there would have been no new German navy bill this year.

Man and Horse in the Water. No small amount of excitement prevailed this forenoon on Bowling wharf when a horse, attached to a long cart, backed overboard. The owner, a truckman named Boyles, jumped after the horse to try and save it, but being unable to swim was nearly drowned. A rescue being effected after considerable difficulty by workmen who threw out a rope, which Boyles grasped. In the meantime the horse was extricated from the harness and swam to the pier safely, while the cart was lifted to the pier by the aid of a pile driver. Boyles was very much upset as a result of his experience but was satisfied he did not lose his bread winner. Gas is Coal With the Trouble Taken Out.

Gas is really nothing more than coal, only with gas you have the coal less the dirt, ashes and smoke. These have been taken out by the Gas Company. The weight, too, has been taken out, for when you use gas you don't have to carry it up from the cellar in buckets, straining your back in the attempt. All of the drudgery has been removed. The gas company has taken everything out of the coal but the heat—and that's the one thing you want. This they deliver to you right to the burner of your range. You only have to turn a tap and strike a match in order to have it. If your mind is half made up to buy a GAS RANGE, remove the remaining doubt by thinking of last summer and the many days when your kitchen was like a burning furnace. The gas ranges never overheat the kitchen.

Phone the gas company, or call at their showrooms and get full particulars.—June 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25.

THE VEEDIE'S GREAT SUCCESS.

Enthusiastic Audience Witness Marvellous Cures.

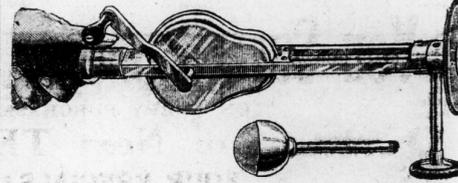

Demonstrators remain a few days longer at Mercantile Chambers, 193 Water Street, giving Free Consultations to Sufferers.

Long before eight o'clock last Monday there was not even standing room left in the Casino Theatre, and many who came late had to go away disappointed, as it was impossible to find more room. The occasion was the Free Demonstration given by the Veedee Demonstrators.

The Lecturer started the proceedings by a short address, explaining the Veedee and the marvellous effects of the little machine. In relieving, without drugs or electricity, the pain of poor tortured sufferers from Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout and Neuritis, and other painful complaints. He also said that a large number of cases of Stammering, St. Vitus Dance, Weak Eyes, Asthma, Bronchitis, etc., even in long standing chronic cases, can in many instances be either completely cured or greatly improved by the use of the "Veedee Blood Circulator," the curative value of which has been proved by tens of thousands of people, from Royalty downwards.

The claims for the curative powers of the Veedee are so wonderful that intelligent people naturally ask for proof. That was the reason for their giving these free public demonstrations in order that sufferers may have a full opportunity to test on the platform, absolutely free of charge to themselves, the wonderful curative power of the invention. The demonstrations were then started, and the platform soon crowded with sufferers anxious to obtain relief. Sufferers from chronic long-standing cases of rheumatism, of sciatica, and lumbago, of neuralgia, paralysis, deafness, etc.—perfect strangers to the audience, were taken and treated; and results that looked miraculous to the audience were won. It is not necessary to describe here in detail the many cases there fully given with names and addresses, during the proceedings. Enough to say that, as each case was taken where pain was present that pain instantly vanished at the touch of the marvellous Veedee. Sufferers from long-standing rheumatism who had to be helped or lifted on the platform, or who before treatment could only crawl or hobble by the aid of sticks or crutches—each step an agony—found after one treatment with the Veedee, their poor joints loose again, their twisted, pain-racked muscles and limbs softened and eased, and to their unbounded joy and astonishment, able to briskly walk from one end of the platform to the other entirely without pain, and without the aid of crutches or sticks.

SHOULD CONTINUE THE TREATMENT. The Lecturer repeatedly impressed the sufferers that in order to make the results obtained permanent, they should obtain a "Veedee," and continue the treatment at home for some time.

This is the Genuine VEEDIE, the marvellous little machine that cures without medicine (and often where medicine has failed) many obstinate cases that have defied all other treatments, and have been turned away from the Hospitals as incurable.

ST. JOHN'S PRESS REPORTS.

"At the Casino Theatre last night, in the presence of an audience which completely filled the auditorium, the Veedee Health Treatment was demonstrated with entire success."—Evening Chronicle.

"The Casino Theatre was packed with people last night, who went to see a demonstration of the Veedee Health Treatment. There were hundreds of people who were unable to gain admission."—Evening Herald.

"A couple of remarkable instances occurred last night, one man deaf for four years being almost completely cured, and another suffering from paralysis for five years had the use of his arm restored."—Daily News.

"Last night the Casino Theatre, T. A. Hall, was packed to the doors with an audience deeply interested in the demonstration of the Veedee Health Treatment. An able lecture on the efficiency of the treatment was given and quite a number who suffered from various bodily ills and nervous and other diseases were treated."—Evening Telegram.

REMAINING IN ST. JOHN'S A FEW DAYS LONGER. At the conclusion of the Lectures the Demonstrator stated that for the benefit of sufferers wishing to consult them or to procure a Veedee Instrument they would remain in St. John's a few days longer and that Free Consultations would be given every week day from 11 to 12.30 and from 3 to 5 p.m., also on Wednesday and Friday evenings, at 7.30 p.m., at their Offices, Mercantile Chambers, 193 Water St., two doors West from the City Club.

THE VEEDIE'S CHEAPNESS. Many people are greatly astonished that an invention possessing such unique and superlative curative powers as the Veedee should be sold at so low a price as Ten Dollars as it lasts for many years without requiring any attention and is always handy at home to go on giving relief and help to all and every member of the family, from the baby to the grandparents.

WORTH TEN TIMES ITS COST. Doubtless very large numbers of Veedees would have been sold even at the price that was originally fixed for 16 vis., $25. Indeed many Veedee owners

A Friendly Hint to the Tourist.

BY A. S. H.

"You must come home with me and be my guest. You will give joy to me, and I will do all that is in my power to honour you."
—Shelley (Hymn to Mercury.)

It has often occurred to me to ask how many of our tourists have ever read these lines—the lines of a victim of one of the saddest tragedies that this world of ours can produce—Shelley. Of those who have read them how many has ever thought of or even looked for a feasible example to justify the thoughts contained therein? None I suppose. How then is it possible to show these strangers that Shelley's sentiments of welcome, exist to-day as they did in the eighteenth century? Simply by informing them that here in this dear little Island Home where the rugged hills rear their naked foreheads in delicious rhythm, that here amid all our wild grandeur of beauty, this sentiment exists, and does perhaps in a greater quantity than Shelley dared speak of. The hospitality of our race is unquestionable. This is no idle boast, but just the simple truth. We welcome all visitors and (to express it as I should do myself) love to see them enjoy themselves to the full.

The tourist will have to remember though, that although, we may glance at him (or she) as he walks Water Street, we do it only in a casual way which speaks more of a little curiosity than of wonder and amazement not unmixed with worship "which he often calculates" we do. He is just an ordinary man, and the other man who passes him on Water Street, though he may be a Newfoundlander, is always as good and clever a man in the sight of God and humanity as he is. Therefore the tourist will remember he is just a man. This is good advice and as the Rev. Dr. Robertson would say, "I speak as unto wise men, judge me what I say." I believe that every right thinking tourist will agree with me in this.

Of course by this time you are familiar with our two great sentinels guarding the "Narrows," through which the "Stephano" entered. Did those tremendous cliffs, from five to six hundred feet high, awe you as you crept slowly under, a little insect beside such magnitude? Are they not lovely—and have you climbed their heights yet? You want to do so as soon as possible, the panorama of the city is perfect from their dear old bald spots. Do you know, battles were fought on those very hills—long before you were born—and the ruined "batteries" are still to be seen. Space does not permit of any further discourse on these hills. See them for yourself. So now we come to the city hills, upon which you gazed so horror stricken. Well, what if hills are a wee bit "breath using," they can change as they not? and you, who have come from flat New York or level Chicago, have come for a change, have you not? Well, then: why this eternal cry "Oh, your awful hills, your streets," (well, "streets," brings me to a full stop. For I myself have complained of our streets; but am satisfied that in the near future our streets will favourably compare with any of yours of your home town.)

As regards buildings we have some really fine ones. The Church of England Cathedral stands firmly and proudly as one of the finest examples of Gothic architecture on this side of the Atlantic. The Roman Catholic Cathedral is a splendid example of the Latin Cross order, and occupies a prominent situation over looking the city. The Court House, of Newfoundland granite, the Post Office, and the Bank of Montreal are striking buildings; and the Newfoundland Clothing Factory, Board of Trade, Seamen's Home (splendidly furnished inside), Reid Station, with Gower Street, Presbyterian, St. Patrick's, and Congregational churches are all worth, together with numerous others, more than the passing glance. The Colonial Building, our parliament house, is almost a miniature of the frontage of the famous British Museum. Its foundation stone, was, I think, laid in 1847 by Sir Gaspard LeMerchant, then Governor. It is of the Ionic style and has six massive pillars each about thirty feet high, supporting a stone portico. Its erection cost $100,000. It is worth a visit. The museum, I must admit, presents a rather gloomy appearance, but is well worth a visit. It has often surprised me to find so few tourists visit this place of interest. The explanation I think, rests entirely upon the belief of its non existence. It is filled with curios of all kinds which need only the visit of the tourist to be appreciated.

As for scenery and pleasure drives, they are in abundance. A drive around our pretty Quidi Vidi Lake will only cost a modest sum, while the pleasure you will derive from it will be large. There you will see the quaint little village, the one you have read of so often, but have never seen, nestling prettily at the foot of the White Hills, which form a stern yet picturesque setting to the lake. The villagers are willing to answer any questions and do so often, but here again let me remind you to be careful and not to spoil their graciousness by poking fun at their simple ways. They will think a great deal more of you if you appear modest and thank them kindly for their help, than if you smirked and giggled at them, and tried to appear funny, mind you some of the villagers are far more bright than you would think, and can give you back as good as they receive.

If you enjoy suburban driving or walking take a run into the Waterford Valley, around the Asylum and down the Southside. The Valley is really a charming scene. Fields of sweet hay, oats, vegetables, etc., and the softest scent of wild flowers together with the quiet rattle of the busy little Waterford river as it runs its winding course through the sweet scented valley, all tend to convey to the weary traveller a sense of quiet and of delightful restfulness. About 6 o'clock just as the sun is glinting softly through the trees on its downward course, you would enjoy a quiet cup of tea, boiled by your own party, and seated on a shady bank by the river. Here you could enjoy your pipe, read your book or flick a rod for a passing trout—far away from the maddening crowd.

If you intend crossing country for salmon fishing or any kind of fishing, trains cross daily, the scenery is glorious and the trout and salmon await in thousands for your coming. For really grand scenery Newfoundland cannot be beaten. Those who have visited Norway will tell you Norway beats everything, but those who have visited both Norway and Newfoundland, tell you Newfoundland carries everything before it when it comes to that which is dearest to the heart of all humanity, grandeur of scenery and freshness of air. The Humbert river at sunset is considered one of the finest sights imaginable. As for that leave town about 4 o'clock of a sunny afternoon and drive to Topsail (12 miles) so as to arrive there about sunset—and I venture to say that those of you who possess such a passion as of love of nature, will scarcely control yourselves.

The sky Purpled and paled with dreamy mist Shaken from breezy wafts that lie Calmed in their isles of amethyst.

If you are a pedestrian do not confine your pedestrianism to Water Street alone, like a great many do, it does not contain everything St. John's can show. Take a walk along Duckworth Street to King's Bridge Road, cut across the Mall into Military Rd. and see the Colonial Building of which I spoke, then walk Circular Rd. from end to end and turn up Ronnie's Mill Road and along Queen's Road.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

TRY THE SUNLIGHT WAY.

You can do all this easily within an hour and a half and in doing so gather a fair idea of some of our best residential houses.

Now a word as to our weather. We have to have a few foggy, wet days—countries do—so if by chance a few damp days set in during your short stay, why, its unfortunate of course, but do not believe, or make your friends believe, that our summer weather is always damp and nasty. It is not so. Our summer weather is beautiful. Besides, St. John's is not the only place in the Island. Here you do not roast alive, neither do you freeze to death; you are just nice and comfortable. If you were in New York you would be really warm, in its widest sense. Would you not? Of course you would. But now you feel rested and cool. Of course, if you will persist in roasting take a trip inland—say Quarry—and sizzle away to your heart's content to the accompaniment of a chorus from "The Mosquitoes."

I write this with the hope that the hints contained herewith may be of some use to you, expressed as they are in so mean a way, but prompted and thought out in all sincerity. I, as a native, wish you all the pleasures (and there are many) that you can obtain in this much abused country, and would remind you in part of these words of Alcott's:—

"Travelling is no fool's errand to him who carries his eyes and itinerary along with him."

And so now
"Farewell, monsieur traveller. Look you lisp and wear strange suits; desirable all the benefits of your own country."
(As you like it, Act IV.)

Notes From Bay de Verde.
The decision of the Governor in the Morrison affair has astounded the public who were under the impression that a verdict of ignorance of the law would be no plea to exonerate Morrison. Nevertheless we have to submit for a time to the gubernatorial decision, inconsistent though it is when His Excellency assures us that Mr. Morrison was ignorant of the law, and that he has much pleasure in holding on to him as one of his honourable advisers.

We were always under the impression that Morrison was some of our cleverest lawyers, and except for a lapse of memory on certain matters connected with timber limits there's very little about law that he doesn't know. Unless we are mistaken the people do not believe that ignorance of law will justify him by and by in acting as he did before the tribunal of public opinion. That will speak most emphatically against the Morris-Morrison combine at the first opportunity.

The fishery to date is far behind that of last year.

Previous to last week very little had been done with traps or trawls, since then, however, there has been a decided improvement and although fish cannot be considered plentiful, fair catches are being procured.

There are about 80 traps used in the prosecution of the fishery here and the average catch to date is about 50 quintals.

The hook and line and trawl fishery to date is poor and very little has been done.

There is yet ample time to secure remunerative catches, and we trust that the anticipations of our hardy toilers of the deep will be realized.

The failure of the caplin to come to land to spawn is attributable to the scarcity of whales, and no doubt is the cause of the scarcity of fish. Old fishermen who can speak from a lifetime experience are of this opinion and their theory is that the scarcity of whales is the principal cause of the caplin remaining out in the deep water to spawn.

It is significant that since the killing of whales has been prohibited in Norway there have been good fisheries.

It is a rare occurrence to see a whale now, and it is a fact that caplin and codfish invariably remain out in the deep water when there are no whales to drive them to land.

Collision on the Lake.

FATALITY AVERTED.
Two race boats were in collision on Quidi Vidi Lake last evening and a serious accident, resulting in probable loss of life, was barely averted.

It appears that the Togo, containing a crew from Reids', coxed by Mr. J. Day, was going in one direction and the new boat Shamrock, which was steered by James Moore, was going in the opposite direction. The Togo was going at full speed when she crashed into her opponent which was shapling her own course and in her own water. It was foggy at the time although it is thought it was through lack of foresight and bad judgment on the part of the Togo's coxswain that the mishap occurred. It was due to the promptness of Moore who kept the rudder "hard a port" that a fatality was prevented. If the boats had turned over it is doubtful if one man would survive as it was in the middle of the pond the affair happened. Last year the Regatta Committee emphasized the necessity of having thoroughly competent and experienced coxswains and this season should see that this is strictly adhered to.

"I do not believe we should give free tolls through the Panama Canal to our shipping either coastwise or international," said Senator Percy of Mississippi, yesterday in the Senate. He added that he did not believe the Hay-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain permitted the United States to discriminate against foreign shipping in the interests of American commerce. "The neutrality of the canal," he claimed, "had been guaranteed by the United States in return for Great Britain's surrender of her protest rights against its fortification." He declared that the United States could not claim under the British treaty the right to give favors to its own ships. If such provision had been made a part of the treaty, it would have been instantly rejected by Great Britain. It has been said we cannot get a fair trial at the Hague Court, but if we were to present to any court our claim that we were entitled to these privileges under the treaty, we could not escape the charge on the part of all nations that we were making a disreputable attempt to evade our just obligation." Senator Cummins asked Percy if he thought the United States should give free tolls to all nations and should pay the expenses of operating the canal. "I'm in favor of tolls," replied Senator Percy, "but I can't see much merit in our giving the canal as an offering to the world, reaping our benefits in commerce and lower freight rates."

"The German menace now occupying so much attention is only a myth. Belief in its existence has been encouraged by French Chauvinists or ultratriotists, with the idea of embroiling Britain and Germany. I think a war between the two countries inconceivable. It is unfortunate that there is an element among the people who misunderstand the aims and aspirations of my countrymen." So spoke Dr. Herman Paasche, Vice-President of the German Canadian Press Association. The distinguished visitor will sail for the Orient to-morrow.
"We want to live in peace with Britain and the rest of the world. Our policy is defence not defiance. It is unfortunate that the policy of the German nation is misunderstood. I feel certain the great majority of the people of the German Empire desire peace, not war. Germany will never be the aggressor. Of course the misunderstanding, so far as Britain is concerned, is due to the increase of the German navy during recent years, but the growth of our navy is simply a national evolution, in harmony with the expansion and development of the German Empire and the strong position our nation occupies as a military people. We feel justified in protecting our seaports, lines of communication with our seaborne commerce, for it must be remembered that we have colonies in many parts of the world. War sometimes comes unheralded, and like other nations we believe in being prepared for invasion. The danger lies with France who is not well disposed toward us and sees a possible advantage in arraying Britain against us. Our main aim is to find markets for our industries, as we need our people at home. This is German expansion, and is not of the character attributed to us."

LONDON, July 24.
Volleys of stones were exchanged and many men hurt today in a fight between striking dock workers and strikers at the Clyde Shipbuilding Co's dock in Wapping district, London. The strikers, who were parading the streets to the number of thousands, broke ranks as they passed the Clyde docks, and rushing the gates tried to break them down or scale the walls. The police coming to the rescue of the defenders, clubbed the strikers off.

Fifty thousand strikers paraded the streets this afternoon. At a meeting held at Tower Hill, a dramatic incident occurred. Tiltett, the strike leader, after an address denouncing Lord Davenport, the Chairman of the Port of London Authority and a leader among the employers, asked the men to join him in prayer. Tiltett and the immense concourse with bared heads, prayed "Oh, God, strike Lord Davenport dead." In some quarters it is reported that a general strike of transport workers will be declared at an early date.

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, July 24.
Churchill's speech on the supplementary naval appropriations has provoked widespread discussion both at home and abroad, and is held in some places to presage the institution of a naval law on similar lines to the German measure, to provide for systematic growth of the navy over a series of years. It was so interpreted by Lord Selbourne in debate in the Lords last evening. He declared Churchill's words should be written in letters of gold in both Houses of Parliament.

In the same debate, Haldane, Lord High Chancellor, who recently visited Berlin to discuss Anglo-German relations, made a statement to the effect that Germany had been told in the friendliest manner that whatever naval effort she might make, Britain would still make greater. We have said Haldane, added that we would do this with no intention of aggression, but because sea power is our life, and in sea power we intend to remain superior.

Special to Evening Telegram.
OTTAWA, July 24.

Richard Gregg, Commissioner of Commerce, has gone to Newfoundland on behalf of the Department of Trade and Commerce to pay an official visit to the Canadian Trade Agency at St. John's. While in Newfoundland he will look into the commercial conditions, there, taking note of the opportunity, if any, for improved trade between Newfoundland and Canadian ports. This visit follows upon the recent visit to Canada of Sir Ralph Williams, the Governor of the Colony. Both visits may be regarded as marking a revival of interest in each other on the part of Canada and the neighboring Colony.

Commissioner Gregg will confer with Mr. Nicholson, the Canadian trade agent at St. John's, as well as the leading importers and exporters. It does not appear that there is any further significance to be attached to those visits, or that they indicate an effort to realize the old project of closer political relationship. Newfoundland figures in the proposed trade agreement between Canada and British West Indies, concessions granted in Canadian and West Indian markets being extended to Newfoundland for a period of three years without any reciprocal advantages being obtained in the Newfoundland market. The Commissioner of Commerce will doubtless obtain some information during his visit as to the disposition of Newfoundland to become a contributing partner to the proposed scheme of reciprocity within the Empire.

Wedding Bells.

DUFFY—FLINN.

At St. Andrew's Altar in the R. C. Cathedral yesterday afternoon a pretty wedding took place when Mr. Andrew Duffy, brother of Mr. M. Duffy, grocer of Cabot Street, was united in Hymen's Bonds to Miss Jennie Flynn, late of Philadelphia, but formerly of Avondale. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Sheehan before a large number of friends of the happy pair. The bride wore a pretty costume of white satin with crystal trimming and white picture hat trimmed with ostrich feathers. The bride was given away by Councillor J. J. Mullaly and was assisted by Miss Thompson who wore a pretty costume of white silk. Mr. John Fitzgerald, of Channing's pharmacy, cousin of the groom, assisted that happy personage. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, 23 Goodview Street when the health of the happy couple was honoured. Speeches being made by the best man and Councillor Mullaly who wished them all success and happiness. Afterwards the bride and groom left by the 6 p.m. train for Holyrood where the honeymoon will be spent. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome gold watch and to the bridesmaid a pearl brooch. Both received many presents including a cheque from Councillor Mullaly, silver and cut glassware, tea sets and $5 valuable carving set from Mr. and Mrs. Halley, of Pittsburg, Pa., U. S. A. The Telegram extends its congratulations.

GARLAND—THOMPSON.
The marriage of Miss Maud Thompson to Mr. Hedley W. Garland took place Tuesday evening, the Rev. J. S. Sutherland officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Maggie Thompson, whilst the groom was supported by Mr. W. Garland. Following the ceremony a reception was held at Smithville when the health of the bride and groom was duly honoured. A short musicale was also held there, the entertainers being Miss M. Seymour and Messrs. Hatcher and H. Cowan. The presents received were numerous and costly testifying to the popularity and esteem in which the newly wedded parties are held. Congratulations.

Bruce Passengers.
The S. S. Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques at 6.30 a.m. yesterday. Her passengers were—Y. B. and Mrs. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morley, Mrs. H. Kennedy, A. Dawe, F. Dawe, E. B. Tracey, R. E. Thurgate, J. H. Seymour, J. T. Syme, C. Rogers, H. S. Manuel, A. Champion, Miss B. Dean, Mrs. T. Obbs, Mrs. H. Butler, H. T. Hips, W. Hopkins, A. Dean, Dr. E. J. Thompson, W. W. Shortly, Mrs. O. Ernest, Mrs. W. Barkhouse, Miss N. Barkhouse.

Regatta Notes.
Despite the unsuitable weather conditions over thirty crews had practice on the Lake yesterday afternoon and last night.
The Shamrock was taken in last night to be painted and varnished for Regatta Day. The boat is slightly injured as a result of the collision.
The Advocate's press crew had another spin on the Lake last evening and are improving wonderfully.
It is the general opinion that the time on Regatta Day will be far below the records.

Whom It Did Concern.
The Very Rev. Dean of York, who recently completed his sixtieth year in the Church of England, was at one time chaplain to Bishop Walford, and he gives in his reminiscences one very good instance of the bishop's visit.
When Darwin's "Origin of Species" was first published, a friend was discussing it with the bishop.
"I don't really care whether my grandfather was an ape or not," the friend observed, somewhat heatedly.
"It doesn't matter to me."
"No," replied Dr. Wilberforce, "I don't suppose it does; but it made a lot of difference to your grandmother."

The Laying of the Corner Stone

Of the New High School, Placentia.

At 3 o'clock on Sunday, July 21st, the procession was organized as in the morning for the Confirmation. The procession was headed by the two bands of the "Star of the Sea" Society. The members turning out in full numbers in their scarves and regalia.

The ground selected for the New School in the vicinity of the Hall, was gaily decorated in bunting. His Grace the Archbishop in full pontifical robes bearing the Crozier and Mitre accompanied by the clergy. Rt. Rev. Mgr. Reardon, Very Rev. Frs. St. John, Doughty, Ashley and Fyde, performed the impressive ceremony of laying the stone, using for the purpose a silver trowel suitably engraved. In the cavity of the stone was placed a gilded casket, hermetically sealed, in which were placed some coins of the realm, some local and foreign newspapers, engravings of the Church of Placentia and photographs of the Rt. Rev. Pastor and of His Grace the Archbishop. In the casket was placed also the following Latin inscription, written for the purpose by the Archbishop:—
A. M. - D. G.
Die XXI. JVLII
Martyrum Gorcomiensium Sacro Anno Salutis MDCCCXII.
Hic Primarius Lapis Scholae, ephelis instruentis Apud Placentiam erigendae
Ab Ilmo. ac Revmo. Domino D. Michaeli Francisco Howley Archiepiscopo Secti. Joannis

Provinciae Terranovaensis Metropolitani Decentibus Ritibus et Coram frequenti populo benedictus ac postus fuit.

After the laying of the stone His Grace addressed the people at some length and in fervent tones. He congratulated them on the inception of this new work which showed their interest in the advance of Education. He said this new building would be not only an ornament to the Old Capital of Placentia, but would be a centre of culture and enlightenment to the whole Bay. He hoped that everyone throughout the length and breadth of the Bay would take a personal interest in the New Building, and give all the help in their power toward its completion. He had already given something from the Education fund to the good Pastor and promised something more next year. But it depended principally on the people themselves, and he hoped they would come forward generously to help the work. His Grace then spoke in general terms on the matter of Education throughout Newfoundland. He said this is almost the Only Country in the World now where the system of Denominational Education is established by law, and the results are most favourable as appears from the statistics published by our Inspector of Catholic Schools. "Efforts are being made," continued His Grace, "in some parts of the Island to override the law of the land and to force upon the people a system of undenominational education or common schools. I speak particularly of Grand Falls.

I have recently received letters from that place in which I am informed that Managers of the Company have determined to inflict a tax on their employees, stopping from their wages ten cents weekly or monthly, which is to be devoted to the erection of schools of the non-religious character. Such an imposition is both unjust and illegal. Besides being contrary to the Law of the land it is also a violation of the express words of their contract by which they are bound to give to their employees every educational facility that the people may demand and require. It is my intention to make in union with the other Catholic Bishops a determined protest and resistance against this unjust and impolite aggression. I can not believe that this action is being taken with the knowledge or consent of Lord Northcliffe, and the Managers of the Institution must be brought to understand as soon as possible that we are not going to allow this invasion of our rights and that any attempt to interfere with, or override the system of Denominational Education established by law in this country will not be permitted and is doomed to certain failure."—Com.

Shooting Match.

At the Rifle Range yesterday the Club competed for the R. G. Rendell Challenge Medal and the J. C. Parsons handicap prize. Mr. N. Rice won the former with a score of 85 points, and the latter by Mr. L. C. Mews with 83 points. Messrs. W. H. Rennie and C. S. Strong were close on the winners. Fog prevented good scoring. Wednesday next the J. W. Morris prize will be competed for. This prize will be the means of creating a keen contest. The competitors fire seven shots from the different ranges in a time limit of 50 seconds, different style targets, which should mean good practice for the Toronto squad.

N.S.S. Co. the Winners

In Football Match at Bell Island Yesterday—N. S. Co. Defeat D. I. S. Co. by 4 Goals to 2.
Tuesday evening before an assemblage of fully 2000 people the N. S. Co. footballers and those of the D. I. S. Co. met in the game of the season at Bell Island. Excitement was so intense that the plaudits of the assemblage was heard fully 1 1/2 miles away. The game was very keenly contested and after a hard struggle the N. S. S. Coy. won out by 4 goals to 2. The Nova Scotians have thus won the cup which the champions, the D. I. S. Co. have held the past two years. After the game the N. S. team and a large number of their friends were banquetted at the mine house and a jolly time was spent. Mr. W. J. Higgins refereed the game.

Wrecked Steamer Refloated.

The S. S. Wilhelmina, which lost her way in the fog near Peter's River on the evening of July 1st, and was beached, has been refloated. All the cargo had been saved from the ship and she had been given up as a total wreck, being high and dry on the beach when the captain and chief officer, who are now in the city, left her. A few days ago a heavy gale raged from the direction of the south east, there was a heavy sea running and very soon the big steamer floated off into deep water. The occurrence was witnessed by several of the residents of Peter's River and immediately four men boarded the ship and let her anchors after she had drifted some. The Wilhelmina is at present at an anchor at Gull Island Point. The prize no doubt for the possession of the vessel will be brought to you, as soon as moderate weather prevails it is expected that the ship will be brought on here and the Baleine, which is now at Sydney, will take her in tow coming to St. John's. It is believed that the damages caused the Wilhelmina are slight else she would be leaking some. She is a steel screw steamer of 2,671 tons gross, was built in 1876 and cost over a hundred thousand dollars.

The 1913 Models.

BY H. L. RANN.

We are informed by the arbiters of fashion, who do most of their arbiting in some foreign land, where they cannot be reached by the ultimate consumer, that the 1913 models in hobbie skirts will make the 1912 style look like a wire-hooped Mother Hubbard of the vintage of 1852.

At present, 2 1/2 yards of sheeting are required to erect a tube skirt which a woman has to drop into from the top of a step-ladder. This voluminous and loose-flowing garment is now to be discarded in favor of one which consumes only 1 1/4 yards and requires the wearer to get along without any hips or waist.

The obtrusive hip will not be in anybody's repertoire next year who does not wish to take other people's dust. The receding instep of the 20-inch waist will also become a plaintive memory.

It is proposed to start the waist immediately below the chin and allow it to taper gently to the ankles in a neat peg-top effect. This will be a great boon to stout society leaders who have always had more waist than they knew what to do with. The general effect of this reform will be to give woman the chaste, severe lines of a hoe handle, without preventing her in the slightest degree from tripping on the top step and falling down two flights of stairs in a vivacious parabola.

After a woman has been poured into one of these skirts in a breathless condition, she will not be able to do much of anything except pant in a hurried and unostentatious manner. But she will be in style from all points of the compass.

Some of these 1913 skirt models come in sections, like prepared roofing, and can be put on by anybody who has a plumber's license, with the aid of a bottle of liquid glue. The most expensive kinds are guaranteed to fit like an alpaca coat in a stiff breeze.

Women who expect to get in on the 1913 models should fast three times a day, between meals, run around a half-mile track before breakfast and abstain from starchy foods.

The Electric Fan.

I fear we don't appreciate the divers blessings, as they come, contented that they help us some, and heedless go our way. When I was young the summer heat would lift a man clean off his feet and fry him to a crisp; there was no antidote in sight, and he would lie awake all night and maledictions slip. When Bryant wrote his deathless verse I'll bet he used to freely curse the red-hot summer days; for when the heat wave drives you blind it's mighty hard to sit and grind a gist of "helpful" lays. Longfellow, Emerson and Poe, and all the bards of long ago, just sizzled in the heat; they wrote their verse, inspired or wise, and mopped their brows and damned the flies and longed for winter's sleet. And I, who live in better times, am sitting here producing rhymes in comfort and in peace, while greater poets tore their fur and cursed the blamed thermometer from Griqualand to Greece. The sun is at the same old game, but he may strain and bust a hame, he can't disturb my ease; I pull a string or press a knob and then pursue my jingling job fanned by machine-made breeze. I wish I knew who was the man who gave us the electric fan, that makes the summer cool, that brings right to the poor man's door the woods, the mountains and the shore, and eke the swimming pool.

"The feelings of woman are far deeper and finer than those of man," cried the lady orator in a fiery tone. "We are told by those who style themselves the stronger sex that we are much inferior. Is that so?" A loud chorus of "No!" from the ladies greeted this question, and the orator went on: "I say that woman feels where man thinks—"

"Is that the reason your husband is bald?" inquired one of the few male members of the audience.

It was lucky for him that he got two seconds start in the race for the door.
