STRENUOUS WORK SOON TELLS ON YOU

Business Men and Breadwinners the Victims of Nervous Exhaustion

When worry is added to overwork men soon become the victims of nervous exhaustion-neurasthenia - the doctor calls it. Some have no reserve strength in their systems to bear the strain; others overtax what strength they have. If you find that you are nervous and not you find that you are nervous and not sure of yourself, that you sleep badly, and wake up tired and aching, your nerves are out of order. Other signs are inability to take proper interest in your work; your appetite is fickle; your back feels weak, and you are greatly depressed in spirits. One or more of these signs means that you should take promits they means that you should take prompt steps to stop mischief by nourishing the nerves with the food they thrive on, namely the rich red blood made by Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These pills have cured thousands of cases of nervous disorders, including nervous prostration, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance and partial paralysis. Here is an example. Mr. P. H. Callan, a well known business man in Coleman E.L., says: "I owe my present health not life itself to Dr. Williams Pink Pills if not life itself to Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I have always been an active man, and when I begau to run down in health paid little attention to it as I thought it only a temporary weakness. As time passed, however, I found myself growing worse, and consulted a doctor, who said that I was not only badly run down, but that my nervous system was badly shattered. I lost flesh, my appetite was poor, I slept badly and notwithstanding the doctor's treatment grew so weak that I had to leave my business and was confined to the house. Time went on and I was steadily growing weaker, and my friends the house. Time went on and I was steadily growing weaker, and my friends were greatly alarmed for my condition. In this condition I was strongly recommended to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the doctor's medicine was not helping me I decided to do so. By the time I had used three boxes I could tell that they were helping me. When I had taken eight boxes of the pills I felt able to attend my business again, and the people were surprised to see me out. I continued the use of the pills until I had taken twelve boxes, by which time I was feeling as well as ever I did, and was being congratulated by all my friends on my full restoration to health. I feel now that if I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the outset I would not only have

Letter From Dr. T. B. R. Westgate

The following letter from Dr. Westgate is the first received by his family since he was a prisoner of war :-Daressalam, Feb. 14, 1917.

Is the first received by his family sincehe was a prisoner of war:—

Daressalam, Feb. 14, 1917.

I am leaving Daressalam to-morrow morning for Ugogo, not as a missionary altogether but as a Chaplain to the Wagogo and also as an inspector in connexion with the native labor. Many things decided me not to sail for home just now.

1. I have to stay here as a Crown witness;
in the court martial cases of our German; guards. The court martials are going on slowly and will take some time to finish, as witnesses have to come remote distances. 2. The others who went home in the Gaika had a very anxious and dangerous passage I have heard, and were landed in the north of Scotland.
3. The Kaiser has declared his intention of sinking all sorts of ships and would certainly sink the one I sail on if he knew my opinion of him. 3. The C M.S. have cabled out deprecating the sailing of any of their missionaries just now. 4.
The Government anxiously wish help in Ugogo just now, and that of a kind which it appears I am best fitted to render. So I am going to hold on here for a few months, not mauy I think. If I went home now we would have to crossto Canada just about the worst time of the year on the north Atlantic. If I get home say in May or June we will have thought the matter out well and trust you all may agree that I am acting wisely under the circumstances. After all the long separation I know how longingly you are awaiting my return, but you wilk see from what I have said that I am not delaying for trifling reasons. I am just as anxious to get home as you are to have me there but it does seem best for me not to risk the long sea voyage just at present. I was gazetted Captain in the chaplaincy unit on February the 7th.
Higher rank I could hardly expect as I am joining so late and there are better men than I, such as Canon Everett of Windsor (a minor canon) who hold only the same rank. My poor boy Dawndi is with me, but very ill, having had blackwater fever. He is so weak. But I must take him home to his wife and c take him home to his wife and children.

take him home to his wife and children. He is very anxious to start though scarcely well enough for the journey.

I am taking up some cloth for the Christians and their children as they were all so good to me when I reached Kongwa without a cent in my pocket. They brought me flour, fowl, eggs, milk, etc., etc. They were goodness itself etc., etc. etc., etc. They were goodness itself to me and it is but a small return that I am aking for their

Canon Rogers and the Rev. R. Banks have gone to Ugogo to look after the C. M.S. work. I will see very little of them. He should have the D.S.O.—not that he cares for it but as a matter of desert. Eddie and Kathleen are still in Mombasa, We may yet go home together. I should like this. We will try to arrange it thus. It thus.

I must stop and complete my packing for up-country. It is a very great job although I haven't such heaps of stuff to pack. I am now well fitted out with all sorts of uniforms, and you would hardly recognize me if you met me on the street at home. Physically I am pretty fit. Dear, dear love to you all.

According to a report from Ottawa the visible supply of wheat in Canada is 116,584,000 bushels. This means a supply of over four-teen and a half bushels for every man, woman and child in the Dominion, and the 1917 crop less than six months from the market. Yet in the face of this bountiful supply, the big milling interests have made the scracity of the supply an excuse for ad vancing the already abnormally high price of flour.

> If now looks as if the clover crop of Ontario will, this year, be a good average, or something better that that. The acreage is greater than it has been for some years, and the appearance on the whole gives promise of a fairly good yield per acre. wheat is much below the level of recent years in acreage, and the condition of the growing crop is rather uneven, but prospects are for about an average yield per acre. This is the substance of statements made by District Representives of the Depariment of Agriculture, who were in conference in Toronto lately, which is bourne out by reports of correspondents in various parts of the Province. Some two weeks ago the outlook was most discouraging. As the snow disappeared wheat and clover both presented a healthy appearance, but the hard frost and high winds of early April changes all that. Warmer weather and timely rains have, however, caused another change in the situation, one for the better, and farmers now generally appear to be quite encouraged by the outlook.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and been able to cure in all its stages, and this is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the desease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of test-imonials.

The Difference Between News and Advertising

News consists of reports of events that have taken place. Notices to take place, is advertising. There are some very estimable people who cannot understand why a newspaper should not give free space to every entertainment which is held for patriotic, benevolent or a religous purposes, and they are apt to think even if they do not always say very mean things when their requests have to be refused. This misconception is due to a very prevalent nothing, and to a failure to realize that advertising is almost the sole source of revenue of the publisher. There is no more reason why a publisher should give away his goods, even for a worthy cause, than a hardware merchant or a grocer. His space should be dealt with on a business basis, and he should be left free to make his contributions in the form which he prefers, and not have others make them for him.

The world's rarest plant is the silver-sword, a species of cactus, that grows only on the most inaccessible slopes of volcanoes in Hawaii.

Persistent Asthma.—A most distressing characteristic of this debiliating disease, is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wiser precaution can be taken than of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from tender air passage.

AN ANCIENT CLIFF CITY.

The Ruins of Its Primitive Dwellings In Walnut Canyon.

Walnut canyon, near Flagstaff, Ariz., contains some of the most inter-esting ruins on the continent. The canyon itself is remarkable, being a thousand feet deep, a quarter mile in width at the top and a few hundred feet at the bottom. The sides do not rise up in gentle slopes, but leap up-ward, tier upon tier, a giant limestone stairway. Here were conditions that appealed to primitive man. The smooth shelf or ledge formed a floor, the projecting rock a ceiling, the sloping strata rear walls. He had but to throw up front and side walls and a home was completed, with a floor that would never wear out and a roof that would never leak.

It is estimated that there are at least a thousand of these primitive dwellings in the Walnut canyon. There is but a single entrance to this cliff city. The trail leads over the face and down the sides of the cliff and on through the ruins of one of these houses. When the walls of this building were stand-ing it completely filled the width of the ledge. As no one could enter without passing through this house or gateway, one man, armed with a primitive stone ax, might well have stood off an army.

All articles of furniture have been carried away, but there are still traces of a fireplace, and the blackened ceiling tells of its long occupancy. In the ashes and litter have been found broken pieces of pottery-red, black and gray-decorated in colors and with patterns displaying their artistic tastes. In small pockets, dug out in the rear walls and carefully sealed up, are still occasionally found pieces of cloth of hemp and fiber of yucca, corncobs, squash shells, beans, etc.-Exchange.

REAL DOUGHNUTS.

The Genuine Old Time Cake Never Had a Hole In It. Why will some persons persist in speaking of the holes in doughnuts? The real, genuine article never had a hole, in it. My memory goes back to 1840 and earlier, and my boyhood experience extended over a good part of Fairfield, Litchfield and New Haven counties, Conn., and Westchester county, N. Y., up to 1850. Our mothers at that time are to be regarded as the best authority on old fashioned American cookery.

The doughnut of that period consisted of bread dough raised overnight, with hop meal cakes, or "emptins," sweetened with brown sugar, short-ened a little and fried to a rich brown in leaf lard and were somewhat larger than a goose egg and about the same shape. These were known among the old Dutch New Yorkers and are described in Barber's "History of New York," published about 1840.

"Wonder cakes" were similar, with a ttle more The dough was rolled about threequarters of an inch thick, cut into squares of three inches, with three slits, which were pressed apart into a fantastic shape, and were the idolized Sabbath day lunch, eaten under the maple tree or the horse shed between the morning and afternoon serv-

I first remember crullers twisted and with holes when I came to New York in 1854. The very name of doughnut is suggestive of a round or oval shaped article.—C. P. Benedict

Why Disease Is Caused by Fear. An eminent medical authority once made the statement that a great deal of contagion is due largely to nervous apprehension and fear. Terror causes radical changes in the secretions and nerve cells, and while the possibility is not the direct cause of disease it certainly is sufficient to put the person in the proper condition to be attacked by the prevailing malady.

It is a well understood fact that exessive anger infuses a toxic element into the secretions. Fear destroys the resistive capability and, as it were, lets down the drawbridge and makes way for the enemy.

Spanish Meat Balls.

Spanish meat balls are as palatable as they are rare and made thus: One tomatoes, one onion chopped fine, garlic or cayenne to taste. This forms the "Spanish." One and a half pounds of hamburg steak. Soak half a loaf of stale bread; drain off all water. Take one egg, pepper and salt to taste, mix together, roll into balls the size of an egg and cook in the "Spanish" three-quarters of an hour.

Correction

Together with several other county papers we copied last week from the London Advertiser the following item:—
"The nine-year-old son of R. J. Colter, Plympton townline, died Tuesday of last week from diphtheria. The child complained on Sunday of a sore throat and a doctor was called, who pronounced it tonsilitis. The little one gradually grew worse and died Tuesday at noon."

Dr. J. E. Kidd, of Wyoming, writes us that the case was not diagnosed as tonsilitis and wishes us to correct the statement in this issue, which we cheerfully do. He says in your paper), also I gave antitoxin on the same day. Also I took a swab from the boy's throat and sent it to London and I have the report saying it was dipheria. I gave the parerts a bad prognosis and all was done for the child that could be done by any person. The boy became ill on Friday, April 20th. I was called on the 22nd."

Kettle Point Oil Shale

Mr. J. E. Armstrong M. P., has received a report from Dr. Williams on the oil shales outcropping at Kettle Point, which shows that while the shales are very extensive, are of comparatively low grade. They cannot be used for fuel, and it is very doubtful if oil could be extracted from them profitably by any known process. The Minister of Mines writes Mr. Armstrong that the shales have a wide distribution and may be richer in other places. "Unfortunately," het says "they are buried practically everywhere by a covering of soil and drift, and further samples can probably only be obtained by boring. It is just possible that outcrops may occur in some of the deeper valleys, and Dr. Williams will be instructed to collect any information he can on this point during the coming summer."

The Strathroy horse show was not very largely attended.

World-Hunger Stares Us in the Face

David Lubin, representative of the United States to the International Institute of Agriculture-maintained by forty Governments reports officially to Washington that the food grains of the world on March 31st, 1917, showed a shortage of 150,000,000 bushels below the amount necessary to feed the world until August, 1917. He declares it is beyond question that unless a greater acreage is put to crop in 1917 there will be WORLD-HUNGER before the 1918 crop is harvested.

The failure of the grain crop in the Argentine Republic which is ordinarily a great grainexporting nation resulted in an embargo being placed, in March, 1917, upon the export of grains from that country to avert local famine.

The United States Department of Agriculture, in its official report, announces the condition of the fall wheat crop (which is twothirds of their total wheat crop) on April 1st, 1917 to be the poorest ever recorded and predicts a yield of 244,000,000 bushels below the crop of 1915. People are starving to-day in Belgium, in Serbia, in Poland, in Armenia, in many quarters of the globe.

Famine conditions are becoming more wide spread every day.

On these alarming food conditions becoming known, President Wilson immediately appointed a Food Comptroller for the United States. He selected Herbert C. Hoover, to whom the world is indebted as Chairman of the International Belgium Relief Commission, for his personal direction of the distribution of food among the starving Belgians.

Mr. Hoover is already urging sacrifice and food restrictions, for, as he states, "The war will probably last another year and we shall have all we can do to supply the necessary food to carry our Allies through with their full fighting stamina."

The Problem for Ontario

The land under cultivation in Ontario in 1916 was 365,000 acres less than in 1915. Consider how much LESS Ontario produced in 1916 than she raised in 1915:

		1016 T	ECREASE

Other crops show as critical decline

Reports from Ontario on the condition of fall wheat for 1917 are decidedly discouraging.

As there is an average of not more than one man on each hundred acres of farm land in Ontario, the prospects indicate even a still smaller acreage under cultivation in 1917 unless extra labor is supplied.

THE SECOND-LINE TRENCHES.

Food Production is the Greatest Problem the World Faces To-day

Owing to destruction by submarines, ocean ships are scarce.

It is much easier to protect shipping between Canada and England than on the longer voyages from India or Australia.

One vessel can make twice as many trips from Canada to Britain as from India, and four times as many as from Australia.

Therefore, every ton of food stuffs grown in Canada is worth to the Motherland two tons ly increased production we cannot expect grown in India or four tons grown in Aus-

Why the Call to Canada is so Urgent

If this country does not raise a big crop this year, not only will the people of Canada suffer but the Motherland and her Allies will suffer and their military power will be weakened if not paralyzed. Therefore, the right solution of the present war problem comes back to the farm, as to a foundation upon which our whole national and international structure must be erve, and that the soil on which crops are grown is the strategic ground on which wars are decided. To their care is entrusted the base of supplies.

To enable the farm to do the work two factors are essential. The first is Time. Whatever we are to do must be done at once. Nature waits for no man. The second is Labor. Many farmers cannot plant the acres they would because they cannot get the necessary help. Many are afraid to increase their acreage because they fear they would not be able to cultivate and harvest an unusual crop after they had raised it. If they are to do the work that is essential for them to do. the last man in each city, town and village must be mobilized at once.

Every man not on Active Service can help in every city, town and village are men who by their training on the farm, or by their resent occupation, can readily adapt themselves to farm work. These can render no greater service to the Empire at the present time than by answering the call of the farm. If peace should be declared within a year, the food conditions will be no better, for the accumulated hunger of the Central Empires must be met. This will absorb a large part of the world's supply.

We do not know when this war shall cease. It is endless-its lengthening out has paralyzed the thought and conception of all men who thought about it and its possible time of clusion. An American Born Woman of Conspicuous Achievement.

ATTENDS FRIEND AND FOE.

Daughter of Paran Stevens of Boston Married an English Nobleman and Founded a Hospital That Did Remarkable Service In Servia.

The Austro-Hungarian government has made public a high official tribute to the services rendered in Servia by Lady Paget and her hospital. It is one of the rare occasions in this great war in which one belligerent nation has said a kind word, even in the name of humanity, about the subject of an enemy nation.

Lady Paget's hospital work in Servia is well known to Americans, for she labored in direct co-operation with the American Red Cross. Says the report:
"Even under the Servian regime it was thanks to Lady Paget's mission among our prisoners that the epidemic of typhus did not have more victims. In her hospital she continually nursed 70 per cent of our soldiers. Those who recovered were well nourished and given clean linen and shoes before they were sent to the prison camp. The attendants in her hospital she recruited entirely out of our soldiers, who were well fed and housed. She always gave them clean linen, good clothes and good shoes. Lady Paget repeatedly visited our prison camp and did all she could to induce the Servians to be humane in their treatment of our people. The

"As a result of Lady Paget's friendly treatment of the Austro-Hungarian risoners she became the victim of sus picion in England and had to justify herself in a London meeting. There she declared—for we have read the speech which she made there—that she would continue her activity and if the standpoint that she took was not acceptable she would give up her post as the leader of this mission."

Lady Paget is American born, the daughter of Paran Stevens, at one time owner of the Tremont House in Boston. Her husband is General Sir Arthur H. Paget. Lady Paget's benefactions have been remarkable. Dur-ing the Boer war she equipped a hospital ship and called it the Maine. She made a great collection of furniture of the period of James I. for the James-town exposition. She has been ex-tremely popular in British society, par-ticularly in the reign of Edward VII.

FOR THE CHILDREN.

How to Make Raffia Dolls on Stormy Days.

If you have been making raffia baskets or picture frames save some of the leftover pieces of raffia for the children. They can make a whole family of dolls from them.

For a good sized father or mother doll the strips should be about four-teen inches long and plain colored. Just in the center tie them with a colored bit of raffia. The number of the strips you use will depend upon how fat you want your doll. Next double the raffla over exactly in two and tie again about an inch from the top. Now you have the doll's head. Tie again at the waist and cut the skirt off evenly at the bottom if it is to be a lady doll. If it is a man separate the raffia at the waist and tie his trousers at the bottoms.

For arms put a few strands of raf-fia through the body and tie at the wrist and shoulder. Your raffia must be long enough for both arms.

Silver Lace and Pale Blue Silk Silver lace and pale blue silk is an effective combination for the debutante. and it is carried out in one model in flounces of silver lace over a skirt of faint blue soiree silk, and underneath is a second skirt of silver cloth. The blue soiree silk bodice is trimmed with bands of silver ribbon and flesh pink tulle in a single airy layer, giving the debutante touch at the shoulder, for the young girl does not wear an entirely sleeveless bodice. Pale pink roses shading to orchid tone are caught against girdle and skirt hem.

RANK OF MARSHAL

A Military Honor Instituted by a King of France.

THE TITLE AN ANCIENT ONE.

It Was First Conferred by Philip Augustus In 1191, at the Time of the Third Crusade-The Baton Is Its Distinctive Badge of Office.

It is only in France that the military dignity of marshal is a very ancient one. It was King Philip Augustus who first instituted it as a military office in 1191, at the time of the third crusade. St. Louis invested two of his commanders with the rank on the eve of his ill fated expedition to northern Africa. Francis I. created three, and by the time that Louis XIV. had completed his long reign there were no less than twenty of them.

The office was abolished by the first republic, but restored by Napoleon I. when he proclaimed himself em-peror. He limited the number to six-They were known as marshals of the empire. The Bourbon monarchy on its restoration in 1815 maintained them in office, but changed their title back to that of marshals of France. By the law of 1839, bearing the sign manual of King Louis Philippe, their number was limited to six in time of peace and twelve in time of war.

The baton, as provided for by existing military regulations in France, consists of a staff about two feet long, an inch and a half in diameter, cover ed with dark blue velvet, flecked with gold stars and tipped at either end with silver gilt, on the borders of which are engraved the Latin words, "Terror belli, decus pacis." It is carried in the right hand at all great military or state functions and is used in lieu of the saber for saluting. baton of the field marshal of Great Britain is tipped at either end with crowns and lions; those of Germany, Austria and Russia with single headed or double headed eagles.

In England the dignity of field marshal was unknown until the reign of George II., who in 1735 bestowed it upon the second Duke of Argyll, one of the greatest commanders and statesmen of his day and of whom Pope

There are no field marshals at present in Russia. The last two commanders to hold that rank were the late Field Marshal Gourko, governor general of Poland, and the late Grand Duke Michael Nicholaivitch, who when he died was the patriarch of the imperial house of Romanoff.

In Austria-Hungary there is but one field marshal-namely, Archduke Frederick. He is a brother of the queen mother of Spain and heir to all the colossal fortune of his uncle, the late Archduke Albert, who had won his marshal's baton on the battlefield of

In Italy, Scandinavia, Belgium and Holland and in the armies of the Balkan states the rank of field marshal is unknown, although the late King Charles of Roumania had received batons from Czar Nicholas II. and from the kaiser. Portugal, too, has dispensed with field marshals.

It is in Germany, however, that field marshals flourish, but only since the present kaiser has been on the throne. Just prior to the death of old Emperor William in 1888 there were but two field marshals in the entire German army-namely, the then Crown Prince (afterward Frederick III.) and Count Moltke, both of whom had received their batons at the close of the Franco-German war of 1870. As soon as the present emperor came to the throne he began to confer the dignity with such liberality that there are now fully a score of them, including Duke Bernhard of Saxe-Meiningen, the Grand Duke of Baden, Prince Henry of Prussia and Baron von Plessen. Besides these there are about a dozen more with the rank of "general oberst," or colonel general, whose rank is assimilated to that of field marshal and who are above the full general .- F. WHY not give your lad the same training?

When I was a growing lad, and came when I was growing in an exame upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, in-stead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things es the meaning of the individual word in question -among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great e and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary.

NOW ABOUT POTATOES

Grow Some and Keep Down the High Prices.

TOMATOES ALSO A GOOD LINE

But All Danger of Frosts Should Be Passed Before Tender Crops Are Put in the Ground.

(By S. C. JOHNSTON, Vegetable Specialist, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Some of our vegetables are very tender and should not be planted until after all danger of frost is over. It must be remembered that because the soil is ready to receive the plants it is not absolutely necessary that the grower should set the plants out. Potatoes planted out between 24th May and even the first of June will give excellent results. Tomatos may be set out after the 6th of June and good returns expected, as some seasons a severe frost destroys many tomato plants as lete as June 6th. tomato plants as late as June 6th. POTATOES. Potatoes are one crop which may be planted on land which is considered to be in a very rough condition. Possibly there is no better crop to be planted on land which has been in sod for a number of years. Medium-sized tubers of good quality should be secured and they should be cut so that there are at least two eyes in each piece or set. It is a good plan in a small garden at least two eyes in each piece or set. It is a good plan in a small garden to have the soil prepared fairly well, then cut the seed and commence planting. It will be necessary to cultivate the soil between the rows so as to keep It will be necessary to cultivate the soil between the rows so as to keep down weeds, and at the same time soil should be gradually drawn up to the tops in sufficient quantities so that the growing roots will not be exposed to the sunlight, which will cause them to turn green and be of inferior quality. If an early variety has been planted and a vigorous growth has resulted it is possible that some may be fit to dig in August. By removing some of the soil from around a hill with the hand one can tell whether they are fit to dig. If around a hill with the hand one can tell whether they are fit to dig. If the potatoes are grown for winter use they do not need to be dug until quite late in the fall. The tops will die down at the first frost, but it is not absolutely necessary that they be dug immediately. They should, how-ever, be dug before there is any sewere frost

TOMATOES. The tomato is one of the most popular vegetables either fresh or in a preserved condition. It may be grown quite easily in the backyard. The better practice with tomatoes is to purchase the plants ready for transplanting rather than attempting to grow these plants if one has not had experience in handling a hot-bed. Plants having a large root system are best, and the stock in any case should at least be the size of a lead pencil. The soil should be thoroughly prepared before planting time, possibly a crop of lettuce or radish may be taken from the same, but it is always advisable to have plenty of manure incorporated in the soil. A shallow hole may be made with the common hoe to inbe made with the common noe to insert the roots of the tomato plant. If the season is dry and hot, water may be poured around the plant in order to facilitate growth. These plants may be set two feet apart if they are to be trained on stakes and kept from covering a large space in the garden. Original Potato King. John Pounds, an English cobbler. was the original potato king. He cobbled shoes for sailors in Portsmouth and was grieved by the sight of the ragged boys who ran about the quays. He set himself the task of rescuing them. A hot potato was a wonderful delicacy for these youngsters. John Pounds set his bait. He offered hot potatoes to boys who would come to him and be taught to read and write. Often he was seen pursuing a boy along the wharves holding out a potato like a farmer trying to catch a colt with a feeding of oats. Usually John Pounds and the hot potatoes won. He crowded his narrow workroom with his charges. When he died it was reported of him that he had saved 500 children to useful citizenship.

Famine and World Hunger

Famine and World Hunger

An appeal is made by the Organizer of Resources Committee of the Ontario Government, with full inside knowledge of the fact that upon the extent of the food supply at the disposal of the British government this year depends the success of the allied armies and the bringing within sight the victorious peace which we all desire and hope for.

To residence of Canada and especially to the people of Ontario, the idea of famine never enters their minds. It seems too improbable to be worthy of a second thought. How could it come to a people in a land of plenty? We overlook the fact that the whole continent of Europe, as a result of the war has been practically deprived of the crop upon which they had formerly depended for food. This continent must supply the deficiency to the people of Great Britain and to her European allies. To do this the products of the soil must be speeded up by bringing larger areas under cultivation and adopting more intense methods of culture. Ontario is therefore urged to do its full share to assist in providing against the threatened world famine. But every farmer, every gardener, every tiller of the land feels handicapped by the lack of help. Men or boys willing to work with plough or spade, hoe or rake are not to be had. Vast spaces in cities and towns to say nothing of the vacant lands and the country at large, await cultivation, but the labor to cultivate it is not to be had. There is work for the Organization of Resources Committee to organize the land labor resources of the province and so distribute them that the maximum of land possible under mittee to organize the land labor resources of the province and so distribute them that the maximum of land possible under present circumstances may be brought under cultivation. Everybody must realize the importance, the vital necessity that exists of utilizing every foot of land and putting to work every available person in order to meet the food crisis that will reach its most critical stage during the present year.
