The agreement of purchase for the clean-up of the franchises will probably be submitted to the city council about the end of next month. To make certain that it will provide for the clean-up of the franchises it has to be most carefully checked over and revised.

F. R. M.—Don't you think white tulle is a happy accompaniment to white satin? I should suggest cutting the decolletage "V" shape, and outlining it with soft folds of the tulle—letting them come from underneath, of course, like a chemisette. As for getting out that satin from the artificial flowers, success depends a good deal on the nature of the satin. Some of those soft wool-back weaves will wash as well almost as a pocket handkerchief. If yours is one of them, sook the stain in a little sait and water, and then wash it in castile soap. But it would be wise to experiment with a scrap of the satin before attacking the gown itself.

In this case it would be nice to have the woodwork painted white. If the windows face Enst or North, a golden brown, amber or warm buff color paper would be a wiser choice, though with any of these I should prefer that the woodwork were stained in fumed oak effect. In any of the shades mentioned, a plain oatmeal paper would be good. A splendid line is procurable at 20 cents a roll—30 inches wide.

Rev. Dr. Morton states that several Toronto Bible schools have agreed to raise about $3000 this year for the mission work among the Slavic immigrants and those who are expected in the spring.

Expect Big Inflow

C. J. Cameron a prominent worker in connection with the Toronto Baptist mission to the Macedonians, says: "This year we may expect to receive a large inflow of Macedonian immigrants. This is on account of the refusal of religious liberty by their new masters, who, in this form of oppression, have actually out-Turked the Turks.

"By the treaty which closed the late Balkan war, Macedonia was dismembered and the three sections were assigned to Bulgaria, Servia and Greece.

"Now no religious freedom is granted by Servia or Greece. All Protestant churches in Macedonia have been closed and Greek Catholic schools established in their place."

Buckwheat Cakes for Breakfast

HIS is the season of the year when mother used to start baking buckwheat cakes for breakfast, tho both father and mother called them wheat cakes." The bright yellow bowl was brought out each night and the batter stirred in it, with thoughtful care, and placed on the back the stove or before the big fireplace, to keep warm.

Of course it was a soap-stone griddle; to the readers of this paper. See the sound in other gives cakes so evenly baked and rightly browned. no other gives cakes so evenly baked and rightly browned. In the centre there was always one large cake for father; around it,

We still have buckwheat cakes-for they are, and always will be, the leader of the pancake cult—but we seldom have them in all their goodness, for only mother has the patience and the "know how" to set them the night before and bake them with untiring patience for a hungry family. To make the real thing you need a quart of buckwheat flour. Not the ready-to-use article, that comes in stingy packages, salted and sugared all ready to mix and bake, but the pure article. This buckwheat may be had in bulk from grocers who are not too progressive to carry it.

Put it in a deep crock or bowl with a half a cup of hop yeast or a half a cake of compressed yeast, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoons of New Orleans molasses and enough warm water to make a thin batter. A true batter is of consistence that will allow pouring; it must not break from the spcon, nor yet be as thin as mere liquid. Stir and beat smartly with a great spoon, until the mixture is smooth and velvety. Set to rise and in the morning mix in a teaspoon of soda dissolved in hot water. Take out a cupful or so of the batter to use as a starter the next morning, instead of using more yeast. In cold weather one mixing will last for a week or ten days without setting a new supply, by just adding a trifle more syrup, salt, buckwheat flour and water to the starter you have saved.

It is not necessary to grease a stone griddle; a bit of bacon, fastened securely to a fork and rubbed over the surface, gives the desired flavor to the cakes. I have never seen anyone use an iron griddle without oiling it generously with butter or sweet dripping.

Several soldiers, including Major H. M. Randolph, were assaulted, and not until the covernment. generously with butter or sweet dripping.

Drop the batter on the griddle in separate spoonfuls; if the heat is right the cakes will set immediately and rise in the middle, then swell evenly and bubble and round out with the lightness of the batter. The bubbles will finally break and the cake look as tho it was honeycombed. Now turn miners. quickly, before any sign of dryness appears, wait a moment and then slip the cakes on to a hot plate. Never turn a griddle cake twice.

When time presses and it is impossible to have buckwheat cakes, a really fine cake may be mixed in two minutes' time if you have buttermilk or sour milk at hand.

To each cup of milk add a teaspoon of soda, half a teaspoon of salt, a tablespoon of sugar, and enough water to make a thin batter; add nothing more. Bake suickly and serve with hot swrup.

in regulating the new baby's life is to

Everywhere today we hear the cry of system, and the more we learn to systematize our lives and work the better and happier we are. Haphazard work of any kind, whether in the business world or in the home, is sure to lead to failure and worry—and failure and worry where baby is concerned works terrible havoc. I have stated before that five children managed systematically make less worry than one child badly brought up on the hit and miss plan. Mark you, I said less worry, not less work, for mothers are bound to have plenty of work. to lead to failure and worry-and fail-worry. not less work, for mothers are bound to have plenty of work, but it isn't the work they mind, as a rule, it is nervous fretting and worry.

There is absolutely no reason why a baby should upset a household. Yet very, very often you will find young husbands complaining that "things aren't the same since the baby came," and young wives bitterly declaring they no longer have a good time.

There is no doubt at all that the arrival of the baby will make a change in the house; and if the little mother is going to be the kind of mother she must be to have the kind of baby she wants, she must sacrifice a great many of the good times she has been used to. On the other hand, if she takes care of her baby as she should, and care of her baby as she should, and takes care of herself as she should. she will discover good times at hor that she never dreamed of before.

Babies are purely creatures of habit. They expect exactly what mother and father teach them to expect. In a great many cases young parents teach baby bad habits thru their own nervousness. They are so afraid of that little mite, so afraid of hurting him, so afraid of not making him happy. If he cries they take him up and rock him or carry him around. Baby likes that; it is much more exciting than lying in bed and staring at the ceiling; so whenever he feels like a change he promptly cries, knowing that he will be taken up and played

It takes most parents a find out all there is to know about their children; it takes the average baby about a week to find out all he wants to know about his father and

The baby who lives according to his mother's carefully thought out plan is the baby who eats on time, sleeps on time, exercises on time and is happy and well all the time.

ANNIE LOUISE CARY

The indisputable queen of song in her day was Annie Louise Cary. She was one of the world's famous contraltos when she retired from the operatic stage at the very height of her career in opera. She was born in Wayne, Maine. She retained the sweet, wholesome characteristics of the American girl all during her musical triumphs. She made her debut in Copenhagen, altho she studied in Mian. ### Mix Play and Exercise To Cure Your "Nerves"

A discovery of the greatest importance has just been made independently, and at the same time by several scientists of this country and Europe, to the effect that the prostrating elements that gounder the names of weak nerves, neurasthenia, nervous collapse, nervous debility, nervous "indigestion," neuritis, inflamed nerves, melancholia and many other so-called troubles of the nerves, bres. doubful whether even nerves that are accidentally cut, or even destroyed, can cause any of the ailments that have been associated with the name "nervous." What really happens when a nerve shrivels up, or is otherwise hurt, is that the muscles nearby, or the muscles at the end of the motor nerves, become flabby or rigid, weak or fatty, over-stiff or beyond the control and guidance of your will.

Muscle maladies must be the names henceforth of all of these miscalled "nervous" inflammations, and with this discovery of the cause comes at once a simple way to bring about a cure. How can this be done? First of all by undergoing the same sort of rigorous training that a college athlete or even a prize-fighter submits to. Mere walking does not answer, because walking is an unconscious act that is strictly habit and the muscles concerned are so used to moving mechanically that there is "no fun in it."

Dr. Hirshberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. NE morning Mr. Spider was sitting in the middle of his web sunning himself when he saw Luther Locust coming down the road, and he heard him singing as loud as he could:

"Oh! fiddle-dee-dum, Oh! fiddle-dee-dee.

I can play the bass drum.

You ought to see me!"

"What kind of music do you call that?" asked Mr. Spider. "That is what you might call a bass drum solo," laughed Luther. Come down in your private elevator. I want to talk to you."

"I am very busy up here doing nothing, and I want to know what you are going to talk about before I come down. I do not want to hear about bass drum solos, for that is all nonsense." Luther Locust squinted up at Mr. Spider and said:

"What do you know about music? What do you know about a band? The bass drum is the loudest piece in the band; you hear it farther than any other music."

"A bass drum is not music, and it does not make music," answered Mr Spider. "I suppose when you flop your wings together you think you are making music, but it is all noise." "Music is nothing but nice noise," answered Luther Locust.

"It's all the way you look at it," answered Mr. Spider. "So you do not want to hear what I have to say?" asked Luther. "No, thank you," responded Mr. Spider. Luther acted as if he did not hear him, and said to one side: "How do you do, little Fly?" "Going down!" shouted Mr. Spider, and with that he spun a thread "Where is that Fly?" he asked.

"I was not talking to you," said Luther. "I just wanted to make you come down, and you should remember that it is always polite to speak when you are spoken to." With that he flew away.

An important announcement made b the president, E. W. Cox, was that all bonds and debentures will in future be valued on the amortization system. Market values, with their fluctuations will be disregarded, and the actual value of the security, on the assumption that it will be held till maturity, will in future be used by the Canada

Life in its accounts.

This step is in accordance with the strong recommendation of the Life Presidents' Association, and makes the company's statement a much more accurate presentation than would othervise be possible.

The Canada Life has always been fortunate in its official heads, and while the recent death of Senator Cox must be deplored by all connected with it, yet he has left behind him such an organization that the work of the company will undoubtedly go on to even greater successes than the company has yet known. E. W. Cox, the president, and his associates are devoted to the welfare of their company, and with them in charge the policyholders may rest assured that their interests will be conserved to the very best advantage.

Tonight's battle at the Arena will in all probability exceed last Saturday afternoon's struggle in speed and close checking, but after seeing the other game between St. Michaels and Varsity it is hard to believe that the college boys will be able to turn the tables on their rivals. #### SAINTS AND VARSITY AT ARENA TONIGHT

In the Single Rinks Another Great Battle Promised in Senior Fixture-

The blue and white are not the least bit discouraged, and are just hoping that the green shirts are just a little off form and then they believe that they can do the trick. If they can get McCamus and Rankin away from the nets they hope to keep the score down and the Varsity defence have been instructed to take special pains in preventing these speed artists from camping in the danger zone. It will be one grand game all the way, and it may be anybody's battle for the greater part of the night with the call going to St. Mikes on their experience and scoring ability. Still you can never tell.

In the afternoon St. Andrews and Typer Cared.

In the afternoon St. Andrews and Upper Canada will try conclusions at the Arena, and the Scotchmen expect to humble the erstwhile leaders. After their defeat by St. Mikes the other day they have been practicing faithfully, and they will go after the Avenue road boys from bell to bell. It should be a tidy little struggle.

BRUTAL EXHIBITION

Head and Their Legs Chopped From Under Them.

It is not often that Toronto hockey fans are given a dirty brand of hockey. Last night at the Arena Oshawa juniors staged a bout for the local lovers of the winter game, just to show them how putrid the game can be played. Three Parkdale players were hit over the head, shoulders and face in the first lifee minutes and it was absolutely the foulest work that has been pulled off in the big rink. Oshawa won by $t o 5, but it was only after they had laid practically the whole Parkdale team out. Parkdale opened with a rush and netted three tallies in short order, and then the Oshawa outfit lost their heads and cut the P.C.C. team into ribbons. Big Riorden, the Oshawa defence man, met every Parkdale man with a siash across the face and when he got them behind the goal hit them over the ankles until they dropped on the ice. It was a most brutal exhibition and disgusted the local fans. The most of his dirty work was done behind the referee's back. After drawing down a penalty for a victous slash Riorden carried his crazy tactics further by jumping into the tier of seats and starting a fight amongst the spectators. Weller was also imbided with some of Riorden's spirit and hit a Parkdale man a nasty smash over the back. The Parkdale team were killed dead with the rough work and Oshawa went out an dtallied six in a row before the half ended. Oshawa were given a talking to by the referee at half time and after the rest played good hockey and left the rough stuff in the dressing room, Parkdale, however, were still suffering from the stormy passage, but tallied as many as the visitors.

Oshawa are a nifty little outfit if they cut out the nasty stuff and will take a lot of beating. They showed in the second half that they have combination, ability to check back and a barrel of speed. Parkdale showed a fine sporting spirit by not turning and giving Oshawa a taste of their own medicine. The Paddlers stuck right to their knitting and would have at least made it close if their players had not been cut down.

Oshawa from the scor

The American Association, holding an annual meeting to select a schedule committee and take up other routine business, accomplished none of the things on its program, but devoted its brief formal meeting and a number of informal talks to consideration of radical methods to be used in the baseball war.

An attack of illness prevented Mike Cantillon, the Minneapolis representative, from attending the meeting, tho he was in Chicago. Cantillon's experience in discussion of schedules made him valuable at such meetings, it was said, hence the brevity of the session.

FRIDAY MORNING

Manchester Guardian Says Only Obligation Recognized is to Shareholders.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—(C. A. P.)—The Manchester Guardian concludes a generous eulogy of Strathcona with some criticism of the Canadian railway policy, which, says The Guardian, assumes that the the state has given assumes that the the state has a summer that and and money and either secural its loans or lent to it direct, the railway company's duty and only duty is to its shareholders.

But for Strathcona's first bargain, valuable land now owned by railway companies would be the property of the companies would be the property of the state, and the Canadian people, not the shareholders, would be reaping the benefit. There would be none of the complaints which have been made and are being made in Canada, that while the people, by their cash grants and icans, create railways, the profit, as well as honor, goes to "titled empiramental or millionaires."

Criticism in these terms has been explicit in Canada in the lifetime of the Borden government, says The Guardian, and must be heard of in the future, and the issue of it must determine the position of Strathcona in the estimation of his fellow-citizens of the Deminion. It cannot affect their admiration for his character, his canacity ration for his character, his capacity and his industry, but it may affect their judgment of his political saga-city and public spirit.

The total frontage amounts to approximately 1500 feet, and the price was in the neighborhood of $35 a foot, which is considered conservative for the section.

The city, it is understood, proposes to make Avenue road an 86-foot boule-vard, and the interests controlling the property to the east of Oriole road in-tend to make this a similar thorofare When these two schemes are carried out, this section should become very attractive. The property will likely be held intact for a year or two.

CANADA'S TOURIST ATTRAC-

MONTREAL, Jan. 20, 1914.—Before a large and enthusiastic audience in the club-room of the Montreal Publicity Association, Mr. W. T. Robson, the ex-advertising agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, urged that Canadia's wonderful attractions for the tourist be advertised abroad. Among the many interesting statements be the many interesting statements he made were these: "Every tourist is a valuable asset to the country he vists. Many important Canadian industries owo their existence to the tour-ist"; and among others he quoted Sir William Van Horne as his authority for stating that the enormous pulp and paper mills at Grand Mere exist-ed today because of a fishing trip. That millions of United States capital have been invested in Canada by men who came to this country on pleasure trips. That the average Canadian's interest in the tourist business was in proportion to his knowledge of his country's attractions. That Canada was the most beautiful country in the world and offered more to the summer visitor than any other land under the sun. There was no reason for our citizens to go to Maine when Nova Scotia, Cape Breton, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick offered su-

Our mountains were the finest in the world, and Switzerland capitalized their more limited at-tractions to the extent of $100,000,000 per year. Canada desired the farmer and the land seeker, but also wanted the world to know something of our wonderful scenery and sporting attrac tions in order to induce the wealthy residents of other lands to visit this country. He quoted a Boston paper as his authority for stating that what this country needed was an agency or burreau where authoritative information concerning the various attractions could be obtained independent of all affiliations, one which had no axes to grind and which will supply plain straightforward information, without color or projudice charged with the color or prejudice, charged with the special duty of looking after the common interests of Canada as a whole and not the individual hotel-keeper, nesort proprietor, town, city, district province or transportation company A permanent organization working to secure every possible advantage for Canada, in order that this country may attain that pre-eminence which mature was her right and to call into further action those important factors which are most essential to the complete success of the movement.

C. P. R. and Steel the Only Laggards on the Canadian Exchanges.

A second reduction in the Bank of England rate, making the minimum discount 4 per cent., should offer sufficient explanation of further buoyancy on all stock markets yesterday.
