'TWOULD BE MISTAKE TO BRING JAPANESE HERE

Former Resident of San Francisco Talks of the Japanese Problem.

Frank Stanton Tells How the "Little Brown Men" Have Supplanted White Labor in Many Lines of Industry on Pacific Coast.

The suggestion of Hon. James Barnes, the most recent acquisition to the provincial cabinet, that it would be a good thing for the government to buy the undermanned Minto coal mines to get together and arrange for the importation of Japanese laborers, does not appear to have been received with enthusiasm by the people of the province. One man, who realizes the significance of such a proposal, having spent some three years in California, where the Asiatic invasion is being viewed with alarm and a great deal of opposition by the working people, is Frank Stanton, proprietor of the "Cedar" moving picture show, of this city.

Mr. Stanton, in talking to a Times man this morning, said it would be a great mistake to ever allow the Japs to get a foothold in this province. If they were brought here to work in the mines it would be no time before they came to St. John and other places about the province, and would be engaging in all sorts of work. If they once started coming here, they would continue to pour in, speaking of the work with Japs in California, Mr. Stanton said that in San Francisco 90 per cent of the shoemakers were Japs. They had forced the white men out by working cheaper, and when once they were strong enough they raised the rates and kept the white men out.

It was the same in almost every line of business. The only associations that hold them in check are the building and typographical unions.

Referring to a case in which the builders grappled with the work of Japs, Mr. Stanton said a three-story building was to be erected and on tenders being opened it was found that a Jap had tendered at a lower cost than the work could be done for with union labor.

Another instance which Japs put the window cleaners out of business, Mr. Stanton said that he had seen a Jap window cleaner at $2.25 a day for his work while the Japs came in and did it for $1, thus forcing the white men out.

At the time of the surrender of Port Arthur, Mr. Stanton said that in River, side, Cal., which has only a population of over 3,000 to 5,000, there was a parade of over 6,000 Japs, who left their work in the surrounding ranches to celebrate the occasion.

It would be the greatest mistake possible Mr. Stanton thinks to bring the "little brown men" to this province.

While in San Francisco Mr. Stanton was a delegate from the International Union of Steam Engineers to the Anti-Japanese League.

ACTED AS HIS OWN COUNSEL

Frank H. Warner, of New York, Charged With Murder Pleads His Own Case in Court.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Frank H. Warner, formerly a prosperous hit dealer, insisted upon acting as his own lawyer when he was put on trial in the court of general sessions today, charged with two murders. Counsel had been assigned by the court to defend Warner, but the defendant brushed them aside.

Warner is charged with the murder of Esther C. Norling, cashier in a haberdashery store in East Forty Second street. He shot the girl down in the doorway of the store. After killing Miss Norling he escaped by a sensational chase through the crowded streets and went down town and killed Charles Wilson, a business acquaintance.

Warner was charged with the murder of a policeman who failed to capture Warner during the chase, after Miss Norling was shot, was publicly degraded and dismissed from the police department.

CAPTAINS OF FINANCE CONFIDENT IN BELIEF THAT CRISIS IS PAST

Situation in New York is Very Considerably Improved Today ---Opinion of Financial World Now is That Restoration of Public Confidence Will Soon Follow.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The captains of finance who with the secretary of the United States treasury have been battling night and day to preserve order in the banking world, held no conference last night but went to bed early, confident in the belief that a threatening situation had been successfully combated and that from now on the restoration of public confidence and tranquility would be speedily accomplished.

Members of the clearing house committee went into session at ten o'clock this morning. The sub-treasury reported $10,000,000 in small bills from Washington. The Trust Company of America opened its doors with a few distinguished exceptions, the more respectable classes do not participate in politics, which is now the career for "men of low character for the most part, many of whom have failed in their careers."

There were some small lines of depositors in front of the Trust Co. of America and the Lincoln Trust Co. but their number was not so great as at the same hour yesterday.

The direction which financial affairs will take has been the earnest discussion, and some difference of opinion, even among the most important bankers of the city. The difficulties are admittedly in large measure local. It is felt that the sudden lack of confidence is not widespread throughout the country.

MONICTON WILL PROTEST WHOLE MARATHON TEAM

This Action Will Be Taken Before This Afternoon's Football Game.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A despatch to the Herald from Troy, N. Y., says—"It can be asserted upon unquestionable authority that William J. Bryan's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination is now almost wholly contingent upon what President Roosevelt will do about the third term movement. If the president yields to the insistent demands to accept the Republican nomination for another term, Mr. Bryan will step aside and permit the leadership of his party to be placed in other hands than his. The situation has been sounding the Roosevelt sentiment as well as the Bryan sentiment in typical centres of New York State since last Monday. He will continue his peregrinations through the state until next Wednesday, when he will start for the west with his mind virtually made up as to what will be the most expedient thing to do with reference to his own candidacy."

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(Special)—As protection to the local players' amateur standing the whole Marathon football team is to be protested before this afternoon's football game between the M. A. St. John team and the St. John champions. The precaution is being taken largely because a number of members of the champion Victoria Hockey team.

HE HAS A GRIEVANCE

Arthur Love a Coachman Thinks I. C. R. Officer Smith is Unfair to Him.

Arthur Love, a coachman, thinks that I. C. R. Policeman Scott Smith has "a pick" on him, and did not hesitate to say so in court this morning, when a complaint before Judge Ritchie to answer a charge laid against him by Policeman Scott, for going beyond the place of the Union Depot set aside for cabmen to stand while soliciting passengers.

Love admitted that he had transgressed, but said that others had done so as well and had not been reported. He said also, as already stated, that Officer Smith had "a pick" on him, but Smith declared he refrained from reporting Love until he had warned him repeatedly.

Love's honor reminded the defendant that he had been in court on several previous occasions, when the same complaint had been lodged against him, and the fines had been allowed to stand. This time a fine of $2 was struck against Love, who said he thought his honor had better let it stand, as he had not the money with him, but Judge Ritchie referred him to Police Ick Henderson, who told Love that unless he came up with the money, he would call and pay his fine, but that failed to show up at the time appointed, and so he did not care to make any more arrangements of that kind. Love wanted to go out and earn the money, but this suggestion met with disfavor, and he was told to set down for the present.

Officer Smith declares he has no grudge against any coachman, but is simply doing his duty in enforcing regulations.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON ENGLISH ROAD

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Three persons were killed and a dozen others injured this morning in a rear collision at the west Hampstead station of the Metropolitan underground road. The rear train, it was reported, was struck by a train which was proceeding in the opposite direction.

The Metropolitan has had a remarkable record of immunity from fatalities. This is said to be the first accident resulting in the death of a passenger, although 399 billion persons have been carried since the opening of the road.

$20,000 FIRE IN PAINT SHOP

GARDNER, Mass., Oct. 25.—The paint shop of the L. B. Ramsdell Company's factory was damaged with its contents tonight to the extent of about $20,000 by a fire caused by a broken electric wire which formed a short-circuit. Sparks from the wire set fire to a tank of benzene and filled on the third floor of the factory and the flames communicated with a large number of doll carriages and children's chairs which were stored there for the Christmas trade. The damage was confined entirely to the upper floor and is covered by insurance.

WORK IS BEING RUSHED AHEAD

The street railway company had the usual number of men at work on Union street this morning, and the laying of the tracks and repairing the street was going ahead rapidly.

Last night the curved rails running from Union street around to Sydney street were put down and a temporary driveway, composed of sleepers and earth, was made so as to facilitate traffic.

There is still considerable talk about the double-tracking of the street and a great deal of interest is manifested in the prospect of an extension which is to be heard before Judge McLeod on Wednesday.

Dr. W. W. White, ex-mayor and Dr. G. A. B. Addy, returned home today after an extended trip to Europe. Both the "medics" have been taking special courses at Edinburgh, Scotland.

CAUSE DISASTER

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Spreading rails caused a Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train, going west from Ashland, Ky., to Lexington, to jump the rails at Klondike station, 30 miles east of here this morning. An express passenger was fatally hurt but many of the passengers were injured but none were seriously injured.

Gold From London

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Leading bankers declared today that conditions were such that they would probably be able to import gold from London on Monday to the extent of about $10,000,000. The banker's pool, which has been supporting stock exchange has been further assured by the fact that money would be provided for all calls when needed.

The Stock Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Early conditions in the stock market were quiet. Opening prices showed good advances over last night but were little activity. There was a sprinkling of losses and some reaction after the strong opening but the tone generally held steady in the secondary market.

Small Bank Suspends

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The Terminal Bank of Brooklyn, a small state institution with a capital of $100,000 and deposits of about $240,000, suspended payment today.

Call Money 50 Per Cent

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The clearing house committee adjourned after being in session today for half an hour. No decision was reached as to whether the clearing house certificates should be issued. It was understood, however, that an issue was opposed by some of the most influential bankers.

Pittsburg Stock Exchange

PITTSBURG, Oct. 26.—There will be no session of the Pittsburg Stock Exchange today. If the financial situation continues to improve, the exchange probably will reopen Monday next.

CHILDREN AND THE YORK LOAN COMPANY

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—(Special)—The question of juvenile shareholders came up before Referee Kapple in the York Loan hearing today. There are in all nearly 9,000 children who have entered claims. They are subdivided into three classes. The first consists of 210 children with claims of $1,650 whose day notice of demand for payment had expired prior to the winding up order. The second class consists of 1,172, whose day notice of demand for payment had not expired when the winding up order was made. The third class consists of 7,628 children, with claims aggregating $52,600, who had made no demand prior to the winding up order. The hearing of this class will be continued next week.

MURDERED HIM IN SELF DEFENCE

AGED WOMAN ON TRIAL FOR KILLING HER HUSBAND WITH A PITCH FORK.

MILFORD, Pa., Oct. 25.—Following immediately upon the trial and acquittal of Mrs. Mary Courtright, aged 72 years, on a charge of murdering Henry Cron, a neighbor, in Pike County, was today centered here on the trial of Mrs. John Neuman, aged 74 years, charged with the murder of her husband on August 5, with a pitchfork. The aged woman, who set up a plea of self-defence, testified that she and her husband, who was 75 years old, quarrelled frequently, and that on the day of his death he asked her to go into the fields on his farm to fetch a potato, and then she saw her husband with a pitchfork in his hand, and she picked up a pitchfork and held it in front of her as he ran towards her and one of the prongs of the fork penetrated his abdomen, causing a wound from which he died.

DEFOREST WIRELESS TO BE WOUND UP

(Montreal Star, Friday). An order was granted yesterday afternoon by Mr. Justice Davidson, for the winding up of the Dominion Deforest Wireless Telegraph Company, Limited, against whom a demand was made a few days ago by its former president, Mr. Edith Humphrey. His claim is $35,513.39, which represents the amount of a judgment rendered in his favor on the 8th of October last. In support of his demand for a winding-up order to place the firm in liquidation, Mr. Humphrey set forth that the company was insolvent, and has acknowledged its insolvency through its officers. The assets and liabilities have not yet been determined.

MONTREAL STOCKS

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—(Special)—The stock market was quiet today and in the majority of cases prices merely held to yesterday's gains. Nova Scotia Steel and Montreal Street Railway were exceptions. The former, which sold down to 45 yesterday, closed at 47 and had a further rally to 51, a net gain of eight points at 100, a net gain of four points yesterday and twelve from lowest of preceding days.

The balance of changes were not so striking. Toronto Railway gained one to 80, Montreal Power held its own at 85. Tens wire a fraction better at 78. Dominion Iron only gained a fraction, while bonds declined one to 66. The rest of the list was quiet.

THE BORDER CITY TIMES

News of the St. Croix Valley Gleaned by Times Correspondents.

Calais, October 26. The several Calais citizens who have reason to believe that a sojourn in Machias at the expense of their fellow-taxpayers is the only thing that will square the account of the late Washington county, have about made up their minds to surrender themselves to the proper authorities and accept the latter's hospitalities, feeling that there is nothing to be gained by further evasion or arrest, and that County Attorney C. B. Donworth is really determined that those found guilty of violating the liquor laws must serve the sentence imposed upon them by the court. The exiles feel that there is no hope of settling the actions brought against them by the county authorities, and they have reached the conclusion that they might as well start in now and take their medicine. The thought of passing the joyous Christmas season in the county by battle is not especially alluring, and they will doubtless arrange to begin their term as soon as they can.

Miss O'Halloran of St. Andrews is visiting her friend, Miss Nellie Short. Mrs. J. R. Chipman, arrived home today from a visit in Montreal. A boys' brigade was organized last evening in connection with the Presbyterian church. Dr. Laughlin of Milltown is in the present and all seemed to take an interest in the work. Miss Murphy of Eastport is visiting Miss Helen McPike. Miss Gladys Blair is spending a few days at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. I. Blair. The ladies of the Milltown Catholic congregation have completed arrangements for the opening of their fair next Tuesday, October 29th, in St. Patrick's hall. On Tuesday evening supper will be served at 6:30.

There are four splendid motion pictures for tonight, and scenes of Rockwood Park and St. John River, and with orchestral music, a good first-class show will be given. The pictures are clean and very steady and seats are conveniently arranged. Next week will be souvenir week and each person attending the afternoon performances will receive a present, there will also be a number of special features, also pictures of the Carlton Four-oor Crew taking a spin, and children at play on the city playgrounds and many other interesting views.

Noted Evangelist's Experience. Irene, Ill., Sept. 4.—"I always praise the bridge that carries me over safe" are the words of J. Dimick Taylor, the great American evangelist, whose home is in Irene. While in Nova Scotia last winter I needed medicine and used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They helped me wonderfully and I recommend them to others. I send this testimonial because your remedy will work directly on the kidneys, and cures the urinary disorder that often gives rise to the man and woman affected with kidney trouble. I have not found anything equal to Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills. I gave them to a man on Tan Cook Island that was suffering in the most horrible way and in a few hours he was relieved.

When a minister like Mr. Taylor comes forth in praise of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, it is evident their power is beyond the ordinary. For diseases of the kidneys, bladder, liver and stomach they have no equal. Easy to take, very mild, sure to cure, 25 cents per box at all dealers.

THE RECORDER'S OPINION

The recorder has submitted the amazing opinion that the board of works had authority to permit the double-tracking of Union street. If his view of the law is correct the law must be amended. It is an intolerable state of affairs that permits a measure involving so vitally the rights of citizens to be adopted at a poorly attended meeting of the board of works.

THE POST OFFICE

The gross revenue of the post office for the nine months ending March 31st, 1907 amounted to $6,535,083.18, and the expenditure, which includes that of the Yukon and Athin districts, amounted to $5,422,791.59. The surplus, therefore, for the nine months is $1,082,301.59.

POLITICAL HUMORISTS

There are evidently many gentlemen with a fine sense of humor among the Liberals of Ward Two, Toronto. That ward has a Conservative Association, which is soon to hold its annual election of officers. The Liberal humorists conceived the idea that the proceedings would be much more interesting if some Liberal votes were passed up to be counted. It is alleged that when Liberals in Ontario want votes to be counted they are exceptionally clever in devising means to accomplish their end, and the case in point would seem to bear out that view.

A TIME FOR KEEPING COOL

(N. Y. Journal of Commerce.) Whether the derangement started by disclosures affecting the Mercantile Bank and the Knickerbocker Trust Company is to spread into financial disaster depends much upon the temper of the public as well as the spirit of the financial community. It is a time for keeping as cool and calm as possible and acting with prudence. Most of our financial institutions are undoubtedly sound and safe and can do much to sustain the whole fabric of credit and carry it safely through if they are not harassed by importunate and unreasonable demands. Nothing is worse than precipitate "runs," for no bank can be instantly prepared for these.

THE OUTLOOK

In reasons for cheering up, the Toronto News gives the following, which ought to be passed along: "The present financial situation contains in itself the elements of its own cure. For months past banks and other leading institutions have been emphasizing in the ears of their patrons the scarcity of the cash and the absolute need of a (Regina M. Bloom, in The Spectator.) I am the Wind, I am the Wind, The great voice of the Lord, Then wherefore are ye deaf and blind, And list not what I tell you kind? Of the deeds my surging winds do mind, Of dreadful cases He designed To wreck again by sword!

I call of priests in Anathoth, Of Levi and of Sben, Or quickly whirling as a moth I singe your brows with sin and Goth, And shake like cones of Asherah, Or whirled in old Krishna's rout.

I chant of stars that fell to Naught, Of waves I bade subside, Of continents which lie un wrought, Of tropic seas where Saurians fought, Of hidden mines the Titans sought, Of Krishna and his bride.

I thunder of volcanic throes, Of storms in green sea-stills, Of wild bush-fires and prairie-glow, Of elfin-laughter on pale fies, Of hidden mines the Titans sought, And Himalayan hills.

I am the Blast, I am the Blast, I scourge the maddest of the food, The stellar silence flees aghast, I mould and break, and build and cast, I shake the world from Vast to Vast— The Trumpet-Voice of God.

SCIENTIFIC VALUE OF TEARS. Every thoughtful man nowadays is sincerely convinced that each function of man has been based on some practical and useful duty and even tears have been proved to possess some real value aside from their emotional work. Crying, says science nowadays, is a beneficial exercise for children, strengthening the lungs and the vocal cords. In older people it keeps the eyes moist and prevents too great mental strain.

"Savages are just as ready to weep as civilized people, but they lean toward tears when joy and sympathy are touched. They do not cry from pain because it does not appeal to them mentally as a subject for tears. The English and Scotch shed tears more than any other nation say the scientists. The Latins in races use tears more easily, but are less affected by strong emotions than the almost tearless Englishman and American. Negroes always weep when very angry and 'crying mad' with many people is the most dangerous sign of trouble possible.

DIDN'T COUNT. There lives on a Yorkshire moor in England an old lady who remembers Charlotte Bronte in youth. She was a servant in a family to which Charlotte was governess, she says. "But what was Miss Bronte like?" she was asked, "for she wrote some famous stories." "Oh," replies the old lady, "I never heard tell as she'd done out to make folk talk; she was nob but the governess."—London Express.

HUMAN EQUALITY. A New Yorker who does his bit of "globe trotting," tells of two odd entries that he saw in the visitors' book of a fashionable resort on the Rhine. A few years ago one of the Paris members of the Rothschild family had registered as follows: "R. de Paris." It so chanced that the next visitor to inscribe his name in the book was Baron Oppenheim, the banker of Cologne, and he wrote his name beneath Rothschild's in this wise: "O. de Cologne."—Lippincott.

RECORDER SAYS BOARD OF WORKS DID NOT GO TOO FAR

His Opinion is in Effect That Board Had Authority to Permit Double Tracting of Union Street by Street Railway Company.

Recorder Skinner, at a special meeting of the board of works last night formally gave his opinion that the board had authority to permit the double tracting of Union street by the St. John Railway Company, but the board also decided upon a resolution that no such permission be ever given to the street railway again without authority of the common council. In other words the board's position is that "The recorder is right in what we did but we will not do it again."

The recorder in reading his opinion referred to the various acts dealing with different street railway companies and stated that the board had control of the street. Ald. Baxter thought the limitations in the act give the board of works merely a regulating power and that it was not their permission to lay tracks on any street.

Ald. Spragg—"As a matter of fact the board of works is the common council." Ald. Baxter went on to say that the board must accept the opinion of the recorder as final and cannot be reviewed. He was satisfied that no member of the common council or board of works wished to have an snap verdict or to do anything that would injure any citizen.

The meeting of the board of works on July 12 was not as fully attended as all meetings are and the matter of the petition of the street railway was dealt with in a formal manner. If he personally was at the meeting, as he had no doubt he was, and did not pay sufficient attention to the matter he did not desire to escape his share of the responsibility. The records of the meeting did not show he had made any protest against granting the petition and if the matter was to come up again he was not sure whether he would vote for or against double tracting Union street.

In order to avoid any danger of such a misunderstanding in the future he moved that "In future no applications from the street railway or any other public service company for the use of streets be granted by the board of works till such application has been considered and recommended by the common council."

Ald. Baxter went on to say that it was only a matter of simple justice to the chairman to say that on no occasion had he ever tried to substitute his own opinion for the will of the board. No chairman of any committee had gone so far in consulting with the members of his board as Ald. McLeod.

Ald. Bullock, Pickett, Frink, Baskin, Willett and Sprout all spoke on the question. Ald. Frink submitted that in his opinion the motion was not altogether a wise one. The recorder had given his opinion that the board of works had acted legally and this motion was tantamount to an admission that the city has done wrong. The chairman here made a somewhat lengthy speech. He started out by saying that the recorder had been using him pretty roughly and throwing a great deal of blame on his shoulders. He assured them he was able to bear the blame, in reference to the statements made by the members that they were out of town on July 12 he protested that was not his fault. He had never been using the members of the board of works challenged before in such matters as the one under consideration.

The chairman proceeded to ask why, since the meeting of July 12 was not a sole and corner affair, the people who are so much opposed to double tracting Union street had said nothing. Why did they wait until the work was actually commenced? What was the situation? Street car accommodation was needed for 20,000 people and that could not be provided

Run-down!

How frequently we hear this expression! How completely we understand its meaning! It is that dull, weary, listless feeling which betokens indigestion and an over-taxed system. Your food is not yielding its nourishment properly because indigestion is at work. Instead it is loading your blood with impurities, and that is why you are run-down.

Mother Seigel's Syrup

"I felt dull and low-spirited; my tongue was coated and I had a nasty taste in my mouth; my appetite was poor, and dizziness and pains in my back made sleep impossible. My Mother Seigel's Syrup and Pills have made me ever so well."—From Mrs. McPherson, 189, Canaan St., Montreal, July 11, 1907.

The growth of the west was marvelous but the east was waking up. In Sussex itself a rapid growth had taken place in recent years. In St. John, where twenty years ago not a single ocean liner was leaving the harbor, there was now communication with Europe the year round and the city was marching forward to its great destiny of becoming the Liverpool of America.

Dr. Pugsley also touched upon the progress in other sections of the province and to the strides made in Quebec and Montreal.

"In the east," he continued, "we want more immigrants to work on the farms and in the mines and I am happy to say that I am authorized by the minister of the interior to say he will co-operate with the government of New Brunswick—and this is non-political, for all are interested in it—in an endeavor to secure the best class of immigrants for this province and to direct a portion of the tide of immigration now pouring westward."

In conclusion Dr. Pugsley referred to the question of transportation. The actual financial burden of the province, he said, was not identical upon this point. The former were interested in having their products transported to the markets of the old world as cheaply as possible. The people of the east, and more especially the maritime provinces, were interested in having their goods transported through Canadian channels and would never rest content until the exports and imports of Canada both in summer and winter, passed through Canadian sea ports.

That was the text from which he would preach and never tire of preaching while he remained in public life. Efforts were being made today to direct the trade to Montreal and Quebec in summer and to the ports of the maritime provinces in the winter. If the enormous traffic could be diverted, what a flood of commercial prosperity would pour over eastern Canada. With such a prospect should they have this traffic to be handled solely by the company-owned railways of the east? The C. P. R. be pushed on from Montreal through the heart of Ontario to the west, and ultimately to the west coast, it seemed to him, and he was not speaking for the government but as an individual, that it was a project which must soon engage serious attention.

In his closing remarks Dr. Pugsley again thanked those present for the evidence of their kind and goodwill towards him. There was much cheering when he resumed his seat. The toast of the legislative bodies was replied to by Senator Donville, Hon. James Barnes and Councilor Cochrane and Conley. G. G. Scoville, M. P. P., and Ora P. King, M. P. P., also spoke. Maj. G. W. Wetmore, the vice-chairman, proposed the toast of the clergy, to which Revs. Scovil Neales and Frank Baird replied.

The toast of the mercantile interests was replied to by S. H. White, George S. Cushing and Councilor Myles. The toast of the Press was responded to by J. D. McLean, M. P. P., and Major Anderson, E. S. Carter, A. P. Wetmore, Myles Jones, S. Wortman, Geo. W. Doherty, Geo. Coggon, A. D. Pugsley, Ira McLean, W. C. McPeters, Dr. W. H. White, John Haslam.

After the substantial repast was served in excellent style by Host Pugsley had done full justice to the chairman proposed the toast of The King, which was duly honored. The toasts of The Governor-General and Lieutenant-Governor followed, to which Premier Robinson replied referring, in the course of his remarks, to the eminent men of New Brunswick who had made a record in the dominion and paying a warm tribute to Dr. Pugsley and his ability.

The chairman then proposed the toast of the guest of the evening. Speaking of the desire of Dr. Pugsley that the banquet should be non-political he said that while this course had the disadvantage of somewhat hampering the field of addresses yet it enabled all his fellow-friends to do him honor.

Dr. Pugsley, on rising, was accorded a great ovation. After expressing his thanks for the demonstration of good will from his friends, irrespective of politics, he referred to his being born in Sussex and to his early school days, passing on to speak briefly of his career at the university.

Turning to the occasion of his recent appointment to the portfolio of public works he said he recognized the arduous character of his duties. The growth of that department in recent years has been an index of the growth of Canada. In the early years of confederation the staff of clerks numbered about seven or eight, with an annual expenditure of $500,000. At the present time there were about 200 persons employed in the department and the annual expenditure was in the vicinity of $12,000,000. The money was largely expended on public buildings, post offices, custom houses and armories and in building wharves and breakwaters and the dredging of harbors.

DR. PUGSLEY WARMLY GREETED BY HIS KING'S COUNTY FRIENDS

Banquet Given at Sussex in His Honor Was Attended by About Eighty of His Friends--He Makes an Important Announcement as to Immigration.

Sussex, N. B., Oct. 25--Friends of Hon. William Pugsley, minister of public works, gathered here this evening to do honor to him in his native town and to tender him a banquet and a warm welcome to his high position to which he has attained.

The Depot House was the scene of the festivities and upwards of eighty guests, the great majority of whom were Sussex men, attended the banquet.

In the course of his reply to the toast of his health, Dr. Pugsley, after referring to the progress of the dominion, spoke of the need of immigrants in the east and announced that he was authorized by the minister of the interior to say that he was prepared to co-operate with the government of New Brunswick in diverting a portion of the tide of immigration to this province.

A large bonfire was lighted outside the Depot House during the banquet and great enthusiasm prevailed.

Dinner was served shortly after 10 o'clock. Hon. A. S. White was in the chair, with Dr. Pugsley, the guest of the evening, on his right and the premier on his left.

The following is a list of those present: Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Hon. C. W. Robinson, Senator Donville, Rev. Scovil Neales, Rev. Frank Baird, Hon. A. S. White, Hon. James Barnes, Charles Stockton, S. H. Sinking Sensations in the Stomach.

Do They Affect You?

These unpleasant feelings of weakness and collapse indicate that the sympathetic nervous system is out of order. The cause is impairment of nerve tone, arising from failure of the stomach to perform its work.

Acute indigestion follows and the natural result is mental depression, and a feeling of collapse and extreme weakness.

The best, because the quickest and surest cure, is Ferrozene.

It acts at once upon the digestive and assimilative organs--it fortifies the stomach--makes the blood nourishing, gives it a rich, red color, the best evidence of health.

"For ten years I suffered acutely from stomach trouble," writes Mr. Maxwell Thomson, of Toledo, "I always had a headache and dull feeling after meals. My appetite was poor, and I did not relish food. It was all due to a weak, defective stomach. I read about Ferrozene and ordered six boxes from my druggist. It was no time at all before I felt much better, and when the Ferrozene was used I really took a new lease of life. I am stronger, brighter, and feel more like work than before trying Ferrozene. It is a splendid tonic, the best I ever used."

Ferrozene is unrivalled in curing stomach ailments, try it and be convinced. Sold by all druggists in 50c. boxes.
Montreal, Oct. 25--The big new dredge Beaugrenon, one of the largest hopper dredges in the world, will, in all probability, be sent to St. John for winter dredging work. F. W. Cowie, engineer of the ship channel, stated today that pressure was being brought to bear on the department to send the dredge to St. John.

MONTREAL CLERGYMAN DEALS WITH REVELATIONS OF BIBLE IN WELL PREPARED DISCOURSE

Rev. Mr. Barclay of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Makes an Interesting Contribution to the Discussions on Biblical Matters--The Bible's Errors Are of Human Origin But Its Truths Are Divine

The Montreal Star publishes the following account of an interesting sermon preached on Sunday last by Rev. Dr. Barclay in St. Paul's church, Montreal. "I wish to say a few words this morning," said Dr. Barclay, "on the progressive nature of the revelation contained in the Bible, for a true grasp of this conception will remove many of the stumbling blocks which have beset the readers of the Bible. As long as the Bible is infallibly inspired and inerrant in every utterance, that every statement in it was the dictate of the Holy Spirit, that all its statements were equally inspired and equally perfect revelations, it was impossible to read the Bible with an open and honest mind. Few pages of the Scripture could be read without the theory utterly breaking down. To hold this theory was to give a easy handle to every enemy of the faith and to drive the believer either to dishonesty or perplexity and unbelief. Nothing can be more detrimental to the Bible or more dangerous to the faith than to ascribe equal importance and equal value to all the books and all the utterances of the Bible, or to read and interpret them without any reference to the age and the conditions of thought and life in which they originated.

EVER-GROWING REVELATION. "It is not a fixed and final but an ever-growing revelation which the Bible books record, a revelation vouchsafed daily and gradually, at sundry times and in divers manners, in varying degrees of clearness. At the earlier stages we expect to find the revelation imperfect and incomplete and we are not surprised to find in some of the books a spiritual insight that is limited and a standard of morality that is imperfect, and that not because the Divine utterances were imperfect, but because the human apprehension was as yet unprepared. It should need no student to tell you, if you read your Bible with any interest or care at all, you must know that there are passages in the Old Testament that indicate a morality far below the pure and elevated standard of the New Testament, and from how many a groundless attack would the Bible have been saved and from how many a groundless perplexity and fear would believers have been relieved if only this had been recognized. Why, did not Christ himself implicitly declare the imperfection of many of the moral conceptions of the Old Testament?"

"The Bible itself has made it clear that the conceptions of the Old Testament stand on a lower level both of morality and religion than those of the New. What we find is that human and limited apprehensions, sometimes amounting to misconceptions of the Divine will, were represented as the very utterances of the divine spirit, but surely we can accept nothing as the message of God which does not emanate itself to our reason and conscience, and above all to the teachings of Christ. What is the use of trying to hide from ourselves or from others that there are statements, precepts, in the Old Testament which are imperfect in their morality and spirituality and below the standard to which we have reached through the later teachings of the prophets and apostles, and above all the teachings of Jesus Christ.

NO FEAR FROM TRUTH. "We have nothing to fear from truth, but its danger and disaster in the dishonest and cowardly handling of truth,--let us honestly see and say what the Bible is and not what it was erroneously said to be. Nearly all the difficulties have arisen not from what the Bible is, but from what it is said to be--and the claim, that under temporary exigencies, was fortunately made for it, when confronted with modern thought, only invited the too ready attacks of atheists, and involved believers in bewildering perplexities. When once we recognize that besides the Divine there is a human element in the Scriptures we must admit the possibility of human limitations and infirmities, and it needs but little study to show that that possibility is actually. Passage after passage we find we cannot take as the immediate utterance of God, but as coming to us through imperfect human apprehension; passage after passage can only be rightly read historically and in the light of the thought and literary expression of the age of their origin. Every here and there we find utterances which we cannot ascribe as the direct dictation of God without destroying His majesty and His holiness.

VERBAL DICTATION. "It is not too much to say, as one of our prominent Bible scholars has said, that the theory of verbal dictation is not holy, but irreverent, it does not tend to devotion, but to idolatry--so far from exalting the Bible it degrades it into a hollow Memnon's head for the passage of a voice, and robs it of the most precious elements both human and Divine. The Bible is a Divine-human book, and to ascertain what is Divine and what is human in the different writings is a great task, and that task has been taken up more ardently and more reverently in our day than in any previous period of the church history, with the welcome result of removing great and grievous difficulties from the minds of believers and of establishing the eternal truths of our religion on a firmer foundation. Great anxiety has been caused to our faith and great injury has been done to the Bible by associating religion with the views which the advance of knowledge, which is itself part of the revelation of God, has rendered no longer tenable.

William and John Streets, New York.

INDIVIDUALITY OF WRITERS.

"In all the different Scriptures we find traces of the individuality of the writers, traces of the weaknesses and the limitations of that individuality, and we must beware of attributing those to the spirit of God. The truths of the Bible have not a fixed form, but grow from more to more, and that because they are not so much revelations from God, as revelations of God, and have come to us in a gradually unfolding process, a manifestation of God through the order of the world and of the spirit, and in this thought we have the key to the right reading of the history of the Old Testament. The Book of Genesis reveals the Creator, the story of Abraham and the patriarchs manifest Providence. Through Moses the Holy Spirit teaches duty, morality, obedience. The Psalms and the Prophets lift us on the sublime wing of faith and make us commune with God. Through years of hope and fear, struggle and separation, the Spirit has been through the human heart and human life increasingly revealing God. Reading our Bible thus we are no longer bewildered by apparent antagonisms between science and religion, we are no longer perplexed by trying to reconcile imperfect moral conceptions with the eternal right and wrong of error, no longer harassed by the seemingly impossible task of showing that the Jehovah declared in many passages of the Old Testament is the same as the "Father" revealed in the New. It is a great gain and great joy to be able to read our Bible in this light, it has at once removed a burden from the intellect and from the conscience--we feel no longer constrained to attempt to defend what is intellectually indefensible and to try to justify what conscience and Christian light imperfect.

"We can see the dawn and the gradual rise of the sun of revelation, we can see God's children walking in what light they had, and following after God, if haply they might find Him--in their hopes, their feelings, their fears, reaching out and up after the Divine. We can see God's light increasing, shining into the minds and hearts of men so far as these hearts and minds were capable of receiving it, till we come to the consummate revelation, in Jesus Christ, which absorbs and eclipses all others. The Bible is the story of the Divine life communicating Divine truth to the souls of men, as we read it we see everything living and moving at the touch of God, or shrinking away abashed in the very act of disobedience. "God has not only declared truth, but He has shown His truth and Himself among the sons of men. We see the Divine coming down and dwelling with and lifting up the human, as early as the second century of the Christian church complaint was made that the teaching of the Old Testament was imperfect, imperfect in its morality that earnest men claimed that it was a different God from the Christian God that was represented in its pages, and this complaint was due to their not having grasped the fact that the deviation in the Old Testament was gradual and progressive, accommodated to the age and the conditions of those to whom it was vouchsafed.

THE OLD TESTAMENT. "The Old Testament is the story of a people being gradually trained to know God and to love righteousness. Step by step we can trace the Divine education--men moved by God, drawn into communion with Him, and far as yet from having a perfect knowledge, and the Bible itself most faithfully records the imperfections and limitations. As a recent writer has clearly put it, "To look upon the Old Testament as depicting a final stage in knowledge and righteousness and not as a preparation, is a fatal error." To look upon each part of God's revelation by itself and judge it in separation from that which goes before and after is fatal error. If we would have clear views either of revelation or of the Old Testament, we must above all bear in mind that revelation was a growing light from dawn to perfect day, and that though some in the gray dawn trusted God, drawn into communion with Him, and far as yet from having a perfect knowledge, and the Bible itself most faithfully records the imperfections and limitations. As a recent writer has clearly put it, "To look upon the Old Testament as depicting a final stage in knowledge and righteousness and not as a preparation, is a fatal error." To look upon each part of God's revelation by itself and judge it in separation from that which goes before and after is fatal error.

THE INSPIRED WRITERS.

"We do not speak today only of the inspired books, we speak of the inspired men who wrote it,--their relation to their age, the clearness of their vision, the purpose, remembering that though they were inspired by the Spirit, they were still influenced by their age and race and conditions of thought and life. The Revelation has come through human lives and human hearts and though it may have taken color and form on the way it is no less Divine and trustworthy revelation. We are reading the Bible with clearer insight and with fuller faith than before, bringing to bear upon it additional light from nature and history and experience, and in this light the Bible is becoming more and more its own evidence, furnishing new light and fresh inspiration to mankind. The Bible is less and less in conflict and more and more in harmony with other realms of thought and knowledge.

"In the light of progressive revelation the Bible has the key of its own interpretation, it is this that explains and justifies the charges of growing light, it is this that explains its history, it is this that separates the temporary from the abiding, the accidental from the essential, the human from the Divine. From its ages of training, its periods of progress, its continuous and growing revelation of the spirit is flashing upon the consciousness of men today, I hope to continue that subject. Meanwhile let me say the Bible reveals as no other books reveal, the will and way of God, amid much here and there which itself teaches us to regard as transitory, and imperfect, it embodies the message of God, its teaching has been an instinctive blessing to generation after generation, and freed from unfortunate misinterpretations and misadventures it will continue to be the Book of Life to men; it is associated with all that is grandest and noblest in every department of human life; it has had and will increasingly continue to have a unique place and influence all the stronger, because we have been able to sift out the gold from the contributions of successive stages of revelation. "One thing the Bible can undoubtedly claim, it contains the most complete religious biography in the world,--it traces from the very earliest form of religious life, the origin, the growth, the mistakes, the failures, the triumphs of a great religion, the marvelous though slow and gradual unfolding of Divine revelation. Still more highly do we estimate its worth because it stands as no other book stands, in close and intimate relation with the career of Him in whom the self-revelation of God has reached its central point. The Bible may be left to hold its own place, the righteousness, the reverence, the loyalty, the aspiration of man will not only remain, but will go on and grow and broaden, till they become not only parts, but the very heart and soul of all that is noble in human civilization. It has ever sadly aided the footsteps of travelers seeking truth, it has brought generation after generation out of darkness into light, it points out on either side the paths which would lead to death, it is full of the spirit of God, which is the spirit of truth, and its power is not dependent on theories or dogmas which every church or sect has its own, but on the immortal life, its sublime elevation, its power of bringing the soul to God and to peace.

"We can still point men with confidence to the sublimity of the opening chapters of our Bible, but if we ask men to accept them as a scientific account of creation, we will only close the minds of educated men who know the truths of science, against its acceptance. There is beautiful and helpful teaching in the Book of Job, but if we insist that every statement in the story shall be taken as literal fact, the modern mind will at once turn away from the book and its message. The Bible is its own best interpreter, but it is not the Bible, but theories about the Bible that have been the great hindrance to its educating, saving work. For relief from these hindrances I am profoundly grateful and my desire is that you should share in that relief. Our faith is not in a book, but in Christ. Read intelligently, the Bible is the strongest, clearest witness to Christ from opening chapter to closing verse, but the witness will be confused and its testimony impaired if we insist on making all the stories and statements, all the opinions and beliefs that are recorded in its pages of equal importance and investing them with equal authority. I cannot do better than end with the confession of Coleridge: "In the Bible there is more that finds me than I have experienced in all other books put together. The words of the Bible find me at greater depths of my being, and whatever finds me brings with it an irresistible force of its having proceeded from the Holy Spirit."

MR. AYLESWORTH TO TAKE LONG REST. Ottawa, Oct. 25--Hon. A. B. Aylesworth left for New York this afternoon, where he will consult an eye specialist. He expects to return to Ottawa in a week and whether or not he will then leave for a month extended holiday and rest in order to have medical treatment in order to effect a permanent cure will depend on the advice of the New York specialist.

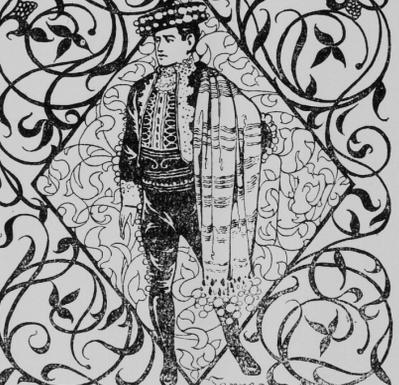

Madrid, Oct. 25--The alarming reports circulated earlier in the month regarding the health of King Alfonso appear to be confirmed. It is understood that his majesty, who will travel under the strictest incognito as the Duke of Toledo during his coming visit to London, will submit to the examination of a specialist in tuberculosis from which disease his father died. The King's open air life has thus far kept the hereditary disposition in abeyance and an operation was performed on him recently in the hope of checking the growing symptoms of consumption.

Trade Talks.

The Musician.

Music is either a trade or an art, but it is from the trade standpoint that the young man, who has musical ability, must look upon his future in this field and toward the livelihood it promises for him.

"What future does it hold for the young man?" was put to one of the highest officials of the American Federation of Musicians. He is not a cynic, rather a whole-souled exemplar of a God-given art, yet a discerning man, he answered:

"Unless the young man is a prodigy, either as a composer or instrumentalist, (and mark you, admiring friends label as a genius every graduate of a conservatory), unless he has social connections ready made or has the faculty to make them profitably, music must necessarily remain to him a trade, and taking the country as an average—it will not rank with that of the ordinary artisan as a means of making a living."

This opinion, which is founded on economic facts, does not presume to touch upon the realm of art. The same indictment—made from the monetary standpoint—might be made against painting, yet the devotees, who are actuated by the divine effluvia, do not give such sordid things a thought. This deals with music as a means of livelihood.

Wages for musicians as existing today, with exceedingly few exceptions, are exactly as they were twenty-two years ago, though every other trade has progressed financially. Outside of the large centres, such as New York, there is a minimum scale of $5 a performance is obtained by the average musician, the wage runs to half that sum and even less.

Of theatre, the vaudeville playhouses pay the best wages, inasmuch as the men are constantly in action to play accompaniments, etc. Theatre devoted to dramatic entertainment, pay the worst—$18.00 weekly for a season of 40 weeks being a fair average for the country, this including rehearsals. Musicians whether violinist or base drummer are paid the same except by private arrangement with the manager based on the "personal equation."

The concert bands and symphony orchestras pay for men on the "first stand" or row from $60.00 a week down, "second stand" $40.00 down, and the outer rim of musicians much less. This, however, is a matter of individual contract, based on reputation and art.

The number of hotels and restaurants that aim at a fair grade of music is increasing—and they are naturally opening a field for more musicians. Receptions and balls, on the contrary, are not so numerous. The appreciation of real music is growing—the bright horizon of the musician who pursues this calling as a trade.

Investing Your Savings.

The "Guarantee" In Stocks.

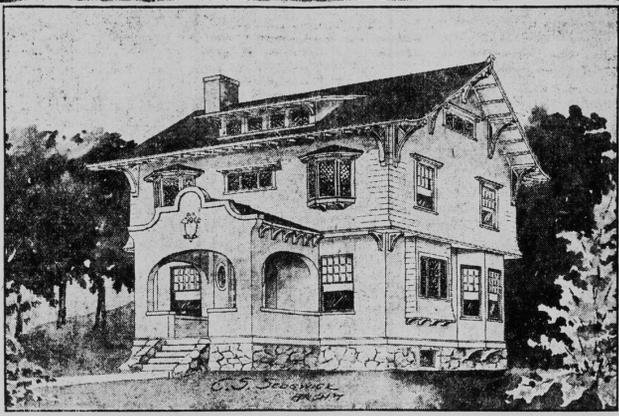

In preceding articles the fact was reiterated that the bond should form the bulk of all conservative investment, second to it, the real estate mortgage, properly secured. In all justice it must be explained that these two forms of investment do not entirely cover the field of ultra-conservatism. The third classification is stock—guaranteed stock, despite the fact that stock is closely associated in the public mind with gambling, which is the honest word for speculation. As usual the right is in this respect—some learn through the costly tuition of the school of experience—but it is a mistake to believe that all stocks are in the realm of gambling; many are in the splendid realm of investment. All, in fact, should be.

When you buy a share of stock out of a company, the guaranteed kind is on a par with the bond, for it fluctuates much less than ordinary stock, sells at a high premium and its income is sacrificed for the sake of its security. These attributes are as much hated by the speculator as they are admired by the cautious investor.

A guaranteed stock may be either common or preferred—the only requisite being that the dividend is guaranteed by something tangible. Usually this guarantee is made by a great railroad system or corporation for the stock of some concern that it has made subsidiary to it. In many states this sort of stock is exempt from taxes.

Guaranteed stock is generally the issue of some company—usually a small railroad—which has become a necessary and essential part of a great system. These small roads often hold the key to great industrial sections to which the great system desires entrance and can gain it only through them. Usually whether they carry dividends or not, the parent company guarantees the holders of their stock a proper dividend. Most guaranteed stock pays a high rate of dividend, sometimes as high as ten and fifteen per cent. In parenthesis, it should be noted, however, that there is usually so high a premium on the sale of such stocks, that the yield is reduced to proper proportions.

Frequently the stock is for railroads that bear the names of the towns which they tap, such as (stating a fictitious example) the Oshkosh, Kalamazoo and Painted Post Road, though the fact of nomenclature should not bind one to an investigation of their guaranteed status with the great system which has a "protective" over them. Not only in railroads, but in "parent" and "holding" companies is this alluring condition sometimes to be found.

You Are a Lawbreaker.

Muckrakers said, there is a very small portion of the people who are crooks—yet perhaps every one is a lawbreaker! Don't get indignant, but peruse the front and back pages of the law, though he returns full value received.

In nearly all the large cities it is a punishable offence to set flower pots on a window sill, without fastening them securely; to leave snow or ice on the sidewalk longer than overnight; to spit on the sidewalk; to participate in games of chance (though it may be a game of bridge in a private house for a cent a point).

Are you a lawbreaker? After one goes deep enough into old laws, one can say without fear of contradiction that every adult has at some time or other flagrantly broken the statutes.

one-dollar bill from a friend for safe-keeping and later instead of giving this man that identical dollar bill, he may give him another one-dollar bill. He is liable under the law, though he returns full value received.

Two thousand nine hundred silk worms are required to produce one pound of silk. It takes twenty-seven thousand spiders to produce one pound of web in the course of a female housefly produces in one season, according to estimate, twenty million eighty thousand three hundred and twenty descendants.

A queen bee will lay two thousand eggs every day for a period of fifty days, and the eggs are hatched in three days.

Oh, the old ordinances! Yet most of them are in full effect as when the city was a struggling frontier post. Very often a law-abiding and dignified citizen as he stands on the corner waiting for a car, lights his cigar. Where does he strike the match? On a match box. If so, he is committing a very punishable offence in defacing government property. Glance at a mail box and you'll see the match strokes of a hundred citizens who have never paid the penalty.

It can be stated that there is no man who even owned an automobile has not broken the speed limit at some time or other. Perhaps he is not the persistent lawbreaker that the law is after; he may even be the unknowing knave, for many states have speed laws regulating traffic past street corners, over bridges, in front of school houses and churches, with which not only the autoist but the policeman are unfamiliar.

Put all your eggs in one basket and watch that basket.

Remember that no one can cheat you out of success but yourself.

SAYS SIR ANDREW CARNEGIE.

Here is the prime condition of success, the great secret:

Concentrate your energy, thought and capital exclusively upon the business in which you are engaged.

Having begun in one line, resolve to fight it out on that line—to lead in it; adopt every improvement, have the best machinery and know the most about it.

Put all your eggs in one basket and watch that basket.

Remember that no one can cheat you out of success but yourself.

Nature's "Open Shop."

After you have "put in" your eight or ten hour day, you rest with the virtuous knowledge that you have worked to the limit, but how would you like to work for such a taskmaster as nature. The following examples show how Dame Nature keeps her servants working overtime, but without any sense of fatigue.

Two thousand nine hundred silk worms are required to produce one pound of silk. It takes twenty-seven thousand spiders to produce one pound of web in the course of a female housefly produces in one season, according to estimate, twenty million eighty thousand three hundred and twenty descendants.

MEN'S FASHIONS.

In custom shirts there is a growing favor for white attached cuffs to fancy garments.

The pleated shirt for informal day usage—instead of the negligee and stiff front garment—is popular, despite its tendency to wrinkle. The soft shirt is steadily invading the winter months, fully 90 per cent of expensive shirts being pleated.

Brown derbies and soft pearl hats are popular.

MOSTLY HUSTLE.

Here is a recipe for success:

40 per cent. persistence.

10 per cent. common sense.

A SWISS TYPE.

Designed by Chas. S. Sedgwick, Architect, Minneapolis.

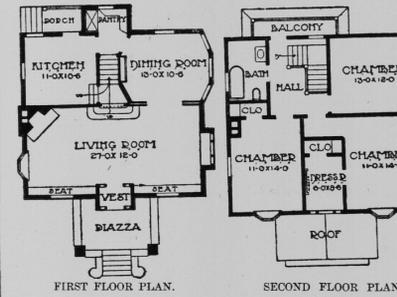

Among the many varied designs of cottages that are being built all over our country, many different types or styles can be found in wonderful mixture. To the ordinary beholder they are pretty to be seen, by the architectural connoisseur they are sharply criticized. The studies that stick closely to classic lines in the treatment of detail, cornices, windows, etc., are not without criticism, they are frequently awkward and clumsy and not always comely to look at. Most of the designs that prevail are combined thoughts and ideas of the Architectural student and if the combination is in harmony and the effect pretty, the house will please a great majority of people and often times much better than those that adhere strictly to the old classic forms.

The design illustrated in this issue has the feeling of a Swiss cottage with its wide projected bracketed gables and cornices. The first story is finished in cement and the entrance porch is somewhat on the Spanish Mission order. The exterior walls above the first story are either shingled or covered with wide dropping. The small lighted oval windows in the front of the second story and the low raked dormer lighting the third story all add to the general effect.

This cottage is not large being 28 by 26 feet and can be built for $3,200 exclusive of heating and plumbing. The foundation should be laid with boulder stone in order to carry out the desired effect. This stone can be pointed in white mortar, the first story walls left gray in color and the second story painted with a nice silver gray to correspond with the first story and all the trimmings, cornices, etc., painted white and the roof dark green.

The interior arrangement with the large sitting room across the front is one that is much sought after at the present time with a central vestibule, projecting windows at each end of the room and a fireplace at one corner, the stairway leading up opposite the entrance. The Dining room is on the right hand side opening into the Living room with sliding doors and the Kitchen connects with the Dining room through the pantry underneath the platform of the main stairs.

The second story has three good Chambers with ample closets and large Bath room. The first story is finished in Washington fir stained moss green in the Living room and the Dining room in Flemish oak. The woodwork in the second story enameled white with the doors stained red Mahogany, the floors of hard wood and polished to correspond. There is a good basement under the entire house.

Peter Pry's Philosophy.

Chop the frills.

Study the science of sense.

Men, like nails, lose their value when they bend at every blow.

As a salesman, talk from the heart of you, not from the head.

Self confidence is the reward of learning how to do things just by doing them.

Life—especially business life—is an aggregation of "little things." To grasp a general principle is of little value without a knowledge of detail.

Do not bank too much on that cold, cynical air that is mis-called "business-like." A soft heart does not imply a soft head.

Suggestions for Bridesmaids' Costumes.

BY DOROTHY DALE.

Fall and Spring each year brings its quota of weddings, and as November is a favorite month for nuptial events, discussions of tulle-trimmed frocks, bridesmaids' costumes are in order. Usually the bride has the responsibility of selecting the material and designs for the frocks of her bridesmaids and her maid of honor, and it is often rather a difficult problem to select a color and design that will be becoming to each of the attendant maids. Often a style of costume, which is really very smart and effective, will not be becoming to the maids individually, and thus in selecting the costumes, the general style, coloring and the individual figure of each bridesmaid should be carefully considered. For instance, take the fashionable Empire frock—even though the new models show only the slightest suggestion of the high waisted Empire line in the centre of the back, it takes a tall, slender figure to wear one with good effect, and unless a really clever dressmaker is selected for the making of such gowns, the effect is apt to be rather that of a negligee than of a graceful Empire. An excellent model for a semi-Empire gown is shown in one of the accompanying cuts. This model was in very pale pink chiffon cloth, the long trained skirt laid in flat stitched folds about the hips, and having a deep set on hem of pink velvet of a slightly deeper shade at the bottom. The back of the gown was given extremely becoming lines by the use of a pink chiffon scarf, delicately inset with cream colored Chantilly lace along each edge and at the rounded ends. This scarf was arranged quite wide over the shoulders and drawn down to the top of the high girde of folded velvet, the long ends of the scarf then falling in the back almost to the bottom of the skirt in sash effect. The girde was

The Fashionable Nnw Jewelry.

There are always mothers who, like love, can "find the way" to do what ought to be done. And this is a way that another found to furnish a nursery prettily and without a large outlay, but with not a yard of stuff in it that could not go to the laundry as often as necessary.

The first attention was given to the door, it was imagined that when picture papers were produced, the question of nursery walls was answered. But the door was not the answer, it was in vain on account of the large quantity of arsenic used in the color, and that the paper poisoned the air of the nursery. So the wall-paper was entirely done away with, and the unbleached muslin hung in its place.

This muslin makes perhaps the cheapest covering of any, but there are a great number of washable cotton stuffs that make excellent wall coverings, all to be had for a few cents a yard. If colored wall is desired, a soft pink, or buff, or canva is good; awning canvas and ticking are also good, but they are not too pronounced a stripe or too brilliant colors. A damask in an unbleached linen shade, with a twill and a satin stripe alternating makes the prettiest kind of a wall hanging.

In hanging the cloth it is not advisable to sew the stripes together. It is extremely difficult to hang the cloth smoothly if it is in a very large piece. Better hang it one yard at a time, tacking it rather closely with brass-headed tacks. Another way is to bring the two edges together and tack them with occasional small tacks to fasten them in place, then run a strip along the seam to conceal the selvage.

A better effect, though it may prove somewhat more expensive, is gained by covering the stripe with a half-inch wooden molding, which may be purchased at any wall-paper shop, at about four cents a foot, and painted to match the coloring of the cloth.

The decoration of the wall covering is a fascinating task. If you can draw the designs yourself, you can save the small cost of one, and moreover have something individual. If you cannot, have a design made for a strip of cloth about eighteen inches deep by three feet wide. Or if you prefer, take one of the paper panels now so much used for children's rooms, and trace off the design on thin paper. The stiff outline is all you need. Then retrace from this on a heavy paper and with a manicure scissors or a sharp knife cut it out for a stencil. Be careful not to make the opening more than a scant eighth of an inch, so that no more than the outline of the figures is transferred.

No matter what material was used for the main part of the wall, the unbleached muslin is the best for the border. Lay the stencil in the strip, pinning it to keep in place while you work, and trace with black paint the outline cut in the stencil. Common house paint, thinned to the proper consistency with turpentine, is the best to fill in the outlines, using a small artists' brush. This paint costs about fifteen cents a can, and when thinned properly is tumbled in quantity. An even more artistic effect can be produced with a wax crayon. Many of these are warranted to wash, though it is better to make sure by washing a small sample first.

Once the black outlines are on, the rest is child's work. Just fill in all the spaces with flat color, now pink or blue for a child's frock, brown or black for a boy's trousers. It is advisable to leave quite a little of the white ground untouched, as for stockings, an occasional dress, sun-bonnet, sailor collars, etc.

Soft, dull green is the best for the background, washed in with long, sideways strokes of the brush. The duller greens,

One really must see the new jewelry to understand how beautiful and artistic are the designs and colorings. Oddity, originality and beauty of workmanship, rather than intrinsic value are the things sought for in the so-called "art nouveau" jewelry, and although it is necessary to say, in passing, that in selecting the majority of the articles to be had in the finer shops and jewelry stores is really exquisite. Not every woman can afford a buckle, a pendant or a chain wrought by Salique, or even by one of the lesser masters of the art, but one can find for a comparatively small sum jewelry that is artistically lovely.

The Celtic Jewelry, so called because the originators resorted to carvings upon the roadside crosses and monuments found wherever the Celts had passed—is charming in form and coloring early days, also have furnished designs for these ornaments, and the semi-precious stones have been united with the various shades in metals into beautiful color schemes.

The flattened and twisted dull silver and gold bands of the settings hold cabochon stones, dull pink or green tourmalines, turquoise matrix, Mexican fire opals or opal matrix, beryl, amethyst, chryso-prase, jade, malachite, Hatpins, necklaces, pendants, brooches, buckles, etc., are made in these Celtic designs, and outside of the clasps are hundreds of odd and beautiful designs, carried out in the same fine metal work and semi-precious stones. Some of these ornaments are shown in the illustration.

Some very odd and attractive rings are also to be had in this jewelry, and if one desires, unset stones can be bought and set to order for finger rings. One very stunning little finger ring made in this way was a carved malachite scarab beetle, set in a heavy snake setting, from which the centre had to be cut to accommodate the stone. Another very beautiful ring was one with a very large oblong square stone in turquoise matrix, set in gold, the design being a carved lion on either side, the head and claws of the animal holding the stone and the body and tail forming the ring.

BEATRICE CAREY.

A Pretty and Attractive Nursery.

with a bit of brown or yellowish green relief, are better than the natural grass green, which is too glaring here. A little streak of white here and there will give the effect of high light.

The floor is of next importance after the walls. Carpets soil so readily with children playing on them, so do away entirely with them. Have a rug instead, one that can go in the tub as often as need be, and be none the worse for it. Have it of khaki-colored canvas, denim or bur-lap; any of these makes a good floor covering. Sew the stripes together to form a square of the desired size for a large rug. Stencil a border and leave the centre plain. Paint is better than crayon for these heavy materials. One rug border showed a line of geese and goslings, following along back to tail-feathers, a proud and handsome gander waiting for them in each corner. Orange is used for the beaks and legs, the geese being outlined in black. The lower half of the background was done in rich green, the upper half being left plain.

Any upholstered furniture should be covered at once with some washable material. If the nursery is a bedroom as well, there are the bedroom things to think of. The window curtains should be kept as simple as possible. Scrim and batiste are the most practical, considering expense and wearing qualities; lawn or batiste will make very good covers for bureau, bed and chiffonier.

A toy chest is a very pretty and convenient piece of nursery furniture. It is simply a long box with a flat lid, covered with light canvas or unbleached muslin. Contrary Mary makes a good motif for the design, with a row of maids with their backs all turned—for backs are easier to draw than faces—and trim little gardens with stiff tulips and disproportionately large rose bushes.

Popular Way of Serving Tomatoes

One of the most popular ways to serve tomatoes is to form them into cups and fill these with some appetizing combination. To make the cups, select small round tomatoes peel them and cut a slice from the stem end of each and scoop out the centres, leaving a thin wall. Salt them, and set them aside for ten minutes, then drain them and set them on ice.

The cups may be served alone, with piquant sauce for filling. This sauce is made of a tablespoonful of lemon juice, half as much olive oil, a sliced olive, a few tarragon leaves, and if desired, a bit of fine-chopped chives. Orsters or shrimps can also be served in these cups. Put six cups in each cup and pour over them a tablespoonful of the following sauce: Two tablespoonfuls each of mushroom catsup sauce, a pinch of salt, and two tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup. Cook shell and ice shrimps and put two tablespoonfuls in each cup, with sauce in proportion. For effect, wreath each cup with a garland of parsley.

PHILADELPHIA TOMMY RYAN

Will Leave for Iowa Monday After a Six Weeks Visit Here—May Open Physical Training School in St. John.

Philadelphia Tommy Ryan

"Philadelphia Tommy Ryan," who has been visiting at his old home here for the past six weeks will leave on Monday via the Eastern S. S. Co's steamer for Boston en route to Des Moines, Iowa, where he will resume his duties as athletic instructor at the Iowa State College. He will be accompanied as far as Philadelphia by his mother who will spend the winter here with her daughter.

FOOTBALLISTS BACK OUT

The two intermediate games between St. John football teams and outside aggregations, it seems, have fallen through, as the Moncton Intermediates and Sussex team have notified the Victorias and Currie's respectively that they will not be able to play. There will be a game, however, on the Shamrock grounds, where the Monctons will meet the Le Tour. This morning two senior teams will go to Moncton and Fredericton respectively, and the result of the games will be watched with interest. The line-up at Fredericton will probably be:

- U. N. B. Fullback Algonquins
- McKnight.....Gibson
- Halves
- Baird.....Howe
- Babbitt.....Merritt
- Kingham.....Merritt
- Delan.....Ring
- Quarters
- Rutledge.....Pike
- MacNaughton.....Thorne
- Forwards
- Deedes.....Finlay
- Gilchrist.....MacKinnon
- Pierre.....MacIntyre
- Colter.....Smith
- McNair.....Clark
- Spicer.....MacMichael
- Wetmore.....Seely
- Duke.....March

For the benefit of "U. N. B." it might be stated that Thorne, the Indian's quarterback, is not "Sandy" Thorne, a former U. N. B. captain. There are other Thorne besides "Sandy," who is at present playing in Moncton.

BASE BALL

According to advices from Rochester, there is little doubt that the Boston American league baseball club will become interested in the franchise in that city in the Eastern league at an early date. Boston has consented to equip a pennant winning minor league club. Fred Lake is booked to handle the Rochester club if the deal goes through.

Bob England thinks that he is entitled to his figure. He said before leaving town that if he were given his release by the Boston Americans he could get more money than what Boston desires to give him.

WRESTLING

BARNES' BOUT ON FOUL. SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 25—The wrestling match between Jim Barnes of this city and Leo Caprini, the Italian heavy-weight, was awarded to Barnes on a foul tonight after Caprini had resorted to slugging. Although Caprini outweighed Barnes by at least 40 pounds, the latter kept him on the go every moment, and the referee had to warn the Italian several times against his rough tactics. Barnes won the first fall in 21 minutes and 20 seconds. Then Caprini resorted to slugging and finally became so rough that the referee stopped the match.

DONAHUE PASSES IT UP. Tom McCarty, the Los Angeles fight promoter, yesterday wired an offer to Young Donahue to meet George Mensie and Sam Langford to meet Young Peter Jackson. The Jackson and Langford bout is billed for Nov. 12 and Donahue's bout is wanted for Nov. 20. Donahue will not go to Los Angeles, as he figures he would not get a square deal with McCarty, the owner of the club and manager of Mensie. Donahue left last night for New York and from there will go with his

When wool reaches the Stanfield mills from farmers, who have sent us their best wool for years, it is thoroughly washed. Then it is rendered absolutely unshrinkable.

Then it is COMBED. This process consists in passing the wool through a machine that combs out all the short lengths, weak threads and snarled strands of wool—something like one combs the hair.

After the wool has been combed, all the fibres are the same length and strength. The Stanfield Combing Machines are mighty particular, too. They comb only WOOL—and they comb out everything but the longest, strongest strands.

Most Underwear is made of CARDED wool. Now, carding consists in tearing the fibres into short lengths. Mills, using carding machines, put the whole wool through—short wool, weak fibres, even cotton and shoddy—the carding machines make no distinction.

The "cream" of the best wool—rendered absolutely unshrinkable by the Stanfield process instead of being "eaten" with lime—combed instead of carded—knitted with a lock stitch that prevents raveling—is it any wonder that Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear wears so well, and is so thoroughly satisfactory?

All sizes from 22 to 70 inch chest measure. 3 weights—RED label for light weight—BLUE label for medium—BLACK label for heavy weight.

KILLED BY A RUNAWAY TEAM

Alexander Lemoine of North Sydney Knocked Down and Run Over by Heavy Coal Team.

North Sydney, N. S., Oct. 25—An accident occurred at North Sydney this afternoon which resulted in a half hour later in the death of Alexander Lemoine, senior member of the firm of Lemoine Bros, and a nephew of Rev. N. Lemoine, of Halifax. Mr. Lemoine had just gone from his store to his parents' home on King street for dinner when he noticed a horse attached to a cart with a load of coal running down the street with a small boy driving. Rushing out on the muddy street Mr. Lemoine endeavored to stop the runaway, when the shaft point of the cart struck and knocked him down, the wheel of the heavy vehicle passing over his chest.

SEAGER GETS THE FIGHT.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 15—Before 2,000 people at the Monumental Theatre tonight, Kid Seager of Baltimore beat Battling Kelly of Philadelphia. The fight was said to be for the feather-weight championship of the south. In the second round Kelly sent Seager down for the count of eight. In the fourth round Seager beat Kelly badly, but the latter resigned. In the sixth round Kelly was all in and Referee Sweigert gave Seager the decision.

TEMPERANCE DAY

Temperance day was celebrated in Dublin by a great procession through the streets and a public meeting. At the public meeting addresses were delivered by a number of prominent temperance workers, clergymen and laymen, including the Very Rev. Father Aloysius, Wm. Redmond, M. P., and T. W. Russell, M. P.

LATE LOCALS

William Ferguson was today arrested by Patrolman Perry on a charge of drunkenness.

The quarterly meeting of the King's Daughters will be held at the Guild rooms on Monday at 8 p. m.

Vegetables and farm produce continue to arrive in large quantities by the river boats at Indiantown, but up to the present there is no change in prices.

Steamer Springfield arrived at Indian town this morning bringing with her five or six head of cattle that the Aberdeen was obliged to leave behind last night.

West India steamer Dahome arrived off Partridge Island this morning with the royal mails, passengers and general cargo, direct from Bermuda and Demerara. Captain Cook is in command.

The records of Registrar J. B. Jones for the past week would indicate that race suicide has no place in St. John. Forty-one births were recorded, twenty-two female and nineteen males. There were thirty marriages in the same period.

Fourteen deaths have been reported to the Board of Health during the past week, two resulting from bronchitis and one each from pneumonia, manitonia, phthisis, paralysis, apoplexy, convulsions, myocarditis, cardiac disease, pleuro-pneumonia, rheumatoid aneuritis, congestion of the lungs and endocarditis.

Steamer Loreta, which carries supplies from the city to Partridge Island, met with a mishap this morning but no serious damage resulted. Something went wrong which caused a break in a steam pipe, but repairs were made in an hour and a half and the steamer resumed her duties.

Another moving picture show will be opened in west end, early next week under the management of Harold Williams. It will be located in the 'Bellows' hall, Market Square. It is understood that R. J. Armstrong will also open a moving picture show in the hall over the Victoria Park. This will make a round dozen of such enterprises in St. John.

WILL ADVANCE PRICE OF MILK

Milk will cost eight cents a quart after November 1st.

This was decided at a meeting of the Dairymen's Association, held yesterday in Bowman's Hall, Indiantown, when, after the matter of advancing the price was discussed at some length, a standing vote was called for, all present jumped to their feet.

The reason given for moving the price another notch upward is the increased cost of feed, midlings now being quoted at $30 a ton, which is several dollars higher than for many years.

THE CHURCHES

The Rev. James W. Graham, B.A., of Toronto, who is to speak in Centenary church tomorrow evening is one of the most prominent of the younger leaders of the Methodist church. He has been associated with Dr. Potts in the work of the Methodist Educational Society for the past year, and the recent death of Dr. Potts, succeeded to his office. Mr. Graham is best known for his great work in raising $400,000.00 while pastor of St. John's Hall, Indiantown, and his splendid edifice of its burden of debt. Mr. Graham is a remarkably magnetic speaker.

Rev. D. Hutchinson, of Lallow street Baptist church, west end, who has been ill for two weeks, will preach at both services in his church tomorrow. At the evening service Madame Yulisse Harrison will sing several selections.

Brussels street Baptist church, Rev. A. B. Coloe, pastor, will preach at both services tomorrow, at 11 and 7 p. m.

Main Street Baptist Church—Services 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. conducted by the pastor Rev. D. Hutchinson. Morning subject: 'Marching Orders.' Evening sermon to young men, subject: 'Sowing and Reaping.' Madame Yulisse Harrison will sing a solo at the morning service. A welcome to all.

SPECIAL MEETINGS

On Sunday special evangelistic meetings will begin in the Coburn street Baptist church, to be continued every night, indefinitely. The preaching and other features of the services will be made interesting and profitable, and all the people are cordially invited to attend and take part. The Sunday meetings will begin at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. and all the week night services at 8 o'clock.

WILL SING AT MAIN STREET

Madame Yulisse Harrison will assist the choir and sing a solo at tomorrow morning's service in the Main street Baptist church.

THE A. O. H. CADETS

At a meeting held last evening, in their rooms, St. Malachi's Hall, the A. O. H. Cadets formed a small dramatic club, for the purpose of preparing a concert to be held some time in November. There were about twenty-five members present and the following were elected officers:

President—Lieut. J. Dever. Vice-president—Lieut. L. Conlon. Manager—Corp. E. Hennesberry. Sec. Treas.—Sergt. T. Cronin. Librarian—Pvt. J. Flaherty.

The coming concert will consist of vocal and instrumental selections and a couple of short comedy sketches. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the cadets.

PERSONALS

Mrs. John F. Tilton was a passenger on the incoming Boston train. Hon. John Costigan was at the Dufferin yesterday. Senator Cosgrave of Metepedia was a guest at the Dufferin yesterday. P. W. Gordon passed through the city today on his way from British Columbia to P. E. Island. George C. Cooke of the Dunlap, Cooke Co., came in from Boston today. W. Malcolm MacKay came in on the Boston train. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Magee returned home today in the Montreal train. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bell returned to stay on the Boston train.

MONEY STOLEN FROM HIS SAFE

The office of D. R. Kennedy, Maritime Province inspector of the Canadian Order of Foresters, in the Palmer building, was broken into on Thursday night and $33 in cash stolen from the safe.

The money consisted of four ten dollar notes, two two dollar notes, one one dollar note and the balance in silver and a postal note for a small sum from Nelson Hicks, secretary of Tidal Wave Court, C. O. E. Moncton; a number of postage stamps were also taken.

Detective Killen is at work on the case, but no arrests have yet been made.

Evidence was effected through the window, which leads into the office from Canterbury street, as it was found open when Miss Fullerton, the stenographer, arrived at the office yesterday morning. The key of the safe had been taken from one of the drawers and the cash box smashed and a screw driver, which had been used to pry it open, was left behind. The floor was littered with burned matches and papers.

Mr. Kennedy thinks the robbery was committed by some person or persons familiar with the building and who knew their business.

A TRUANCY CASE

In the police court this morning, George Johnston, aged 15, who resides in Forest street, was before Judge Ritchie on a charge of truancy.

The lad admitted having been absent from school, and his mother who was also in court, declared that her son had been ill having taken cold, and when he returned to school, his teacher, Miss Shanklin, was his mother's friend and sent him to Mr. McLean, the principal.

She did not seem to think that her boy was justly treated by his teacher and his honor reminded her that it was not nice to talk that way about Miss Shanklin, who had come through normal school and so qualified for her position. It was true, he added, that some teachers got on with children better than others.

His honor told young Johnston that he must attend school regularly or stay at home with his parents or that he could take charge of him for four years.

His honor added that one could always tell the boys who were going to make bad men—those who on Sunday mornings stood idly by the street corners instead of going to church, their faces and hands dirty as though there was not sufficient water in the locality—and he knew that there was a good force of water in the locality in which young Johnston lives—so much in fact that the pipes were bursting in the street, however, that Johnston was unclean and had him promise he would attend school and bring him a certificate from the teacher.

THE EVERY DAY CLUB

There will be a good programme in the Every Day Club hall this evening, beginning about 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be a temperance address by E. T. C. Knowles, also instrumental and vocal music.

Tomorrow evening the Tabernacle church choir will give a programme of music; W. J. Patterson will give a brief talk and Miss M. Florence Rogers, whose readings at the Madame Harrison concert in the Opera House, delighted the audience on Thursday evening, will read a selection.

On Thanksgiving night the club will give a benefit concert in aid of a family in need of temporary assistance.

The club proposes to engage a singing master for an hour on two evenings in the week, this matter, to encourage the young men to learn to sing together.

MASS MEETING

There was a large attendance at a mass meeting of Sunday school workers in Brussels street Baptist church last evening, when a very interesting and instructive address was delivered by Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner on the various phases of Sunday school work. Other speakers were Rev. M. Currie, R. T. Hayes, Andrew Malcolm and Robt. Reid, delegates to the recent convention at Fredericton, and also Rev. Wellington Camp, M. A., pastor of Lennox street Baptist church, and Rev. J. B. Ganong, field secretary of the New Brunswick Sunday School Association.

A. H. Chipman, the new president of the association, presided and Rev. A. B. Coloe and Rev. H. D. Marr assisted in the service. The ladies' quartette of the church sang a selection.

THE DONALDSON LINE

The Orithia will finish loading deals and sail on Monday for West Coast England. The Orithia will be due here on Tuesday next and will also load a full cargo of deals.

The regular weekly winter service will be commenced by the Tritonia, leaving Glasgow on November 9th, and St. John November 30th.

MR. ROBERTSON'S CLAIM

In reference to the suit of George Robertson against the Cushing Sulphite Fibre Co., the suit is for two and one-half per cent on $200,000, which was the amount of the claims that were sold in England. The sum stated yesterday in the Times was $24,000, but Mr. Robertson says that he has the new statement of the value of $200,000 and claims commission on that amount.

FUNERALS

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, widow of the late W. M. Jordan, was held at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon from her late residence, 278 Princess street. Rev. Dr. Spurgeon officiated and interment was made in Fernhill.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Duncan, widow of the late John Duncan, took place this afternoon at three o'clock from St. Andrew's church. Rev. David Lang and Rev. Gordon Dickie conducted the services. Interment was made in Fernhill.

SALVATION ARMY

Tomorrow's services at the new Salvation Army citadel, Charlotte street, will be of a particularly interesting character.

Brigadier and Mrs. Turner, provincial officers for the maritime provinces will conduct special meetings all day, beginning at 7 and 11 o'clock a. m. and 3 and 7 p. m. The brigadier will be assisted by a number of officers, and a hearty invitation is extended to all comers. These will be Brigadier Turner's first meetings in the new citadel.

Gustaf Hjalmar Hellberg, Oscar William Nordin, Frederick M. Bohring, Hedley Oqvist and Joseph Ander apply for incorporation as the Swedish-Canadian Lumber Co. Ltd. to take over the business of the Rosebank Lumber Co. and the Swedish Planting Co. of Nordin, on the Miramichi. The capital of the new company is $750,000.

The winning number at the Cedar last night was 49,429. The number was not produced, new drawings will be made to night.
