FRIGHTFUL DEATH IN CHATHAM MILL

Henry Dumont, Met Instant
Death in The Miramichi
Rossing Mill.

WAS CAUGHT IN LARGE FLY WHEEL

Chatham, N. B., June 15—Henry Dumont, aged about 30, met a frightful death about 2.15 this afternoon, being hurled around in the fly wheel at the Miramichi Rossing mill, and having his brains dashed out. Dumont was in the employ of Wm. Groat, as a teamster, and had backed up his team to the door of the mill. As the tail board would not work properly he went back to fix it and in some manner fell into the machinery and was caught in the large fly wheel.

He was carried around at a terrific rate finally striking his head on the roof and dashing out his brains. He had been married only a short time.

Base Ball Player Shot By An Actor

Albany, N. Y. June 15—Arthur Brown of Wilkesbarre, Penn., first baseman of the Albany team of the Newark State League and formerly of the Montreal Eastern League team, was shot, and probably fatally wounded tonight by John McStee, of New Orleans, an actor.

MR. W. S. LOGGIE WAS NOMINATED

Our Popular Representative of Parliament is Again
the Choice.

MEETING WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

At the Convention of the Northumberland County Liberal Association held at Chatham Thursday afternoon. M. W. S. Loggie, M. P., was nominated to contest Northumberland in the Liberal interests at the next federal election. There was a large attendance of delegates. Hon. John Burchill, president was in the chair. There was no opposition to Mr. Loggie and consequently the motion was made unanimous. Forceful addresses were made.

Liberals Carry Nova Scotia Again

Complete returns of the provincial elections show that the Murray government is sustained with a majority of sixteen members in the new assembly. The parties now stand twenty-seven to eleven.

The opposition gained eight seats as there were only five Liberal Conservatives in the old House, but they lost two, giving them a net gain of six seats. Three other seats were won by the government with a very small majority.

Very Strange Sight.

A strange sight was seen following a recent storm on the New Brunswick coast, when thousands of lobsters of all sizes were washed ashore on the North Beach at Rexton. For a distance of several hundred yards a reef was formed on the shore of all sorts of fish, including an immense quantity of rock eels as well as lobsters, which the fishermen say are more than all the traps would secure in a season. Thousands of birds of the sea were on the shore devouring the soft parts of the lobsters and leaving only the claws, which are strewn about in all directions. No one can recall an event of this kind, and a great many visited the beach to watch the gulls and other birds ravenously enjoying the feast, spread for them.—Ex.

How a Heifer Raised Herself

Docite Daigle Lost a Heifer
And Frank Found a Cow.

Moncton Times.

Here is an agricultural story from St. Charles, Kent Co., which beats out fish stories, for it is both strange and true.

Docite Daigle of that place lost a heifer on November 15th of last fall. In some manner it dropped out of sight and in a few days was forgotten.

It also happened that Mr. Daigle's son, Frank, left his green cellar open all day on November 15th, and after dark that evening he nailed it up for the winter. Frank had lain away a bountiful supply of cabbages, turnips, beets, parsnips, potatoes and apples and as it happened his father's heifer was inside enjoying these delicacies when the cellar was closed up for the winter.

Mr. Daigle Jr. opened the green cellar shortly before Easter and greatly to his astonishment he found his vegetables much depleted; another glimpse he says showed him, Miss Heifer, now transformed into a cow, looking well and in calf also, giving twelve quarts of milk per day. Mr. Daigle says he is considering the question of always wintering his cows in the cellar, on the ground that it is the warmest and best place for them.

WHAT'S THE USE

I might go up and down the street and talk the hours away, while wiser people, whom I meet, improve the busy day I might on Vital Topics dwell, discuss them through my hat, and bore folks to a fare you well, but what's the use of that?

I might repeat the tales I hear, the gossip and the lies, and bring the sad and briny tear to some poor creature's eye. I might make fun of Jimpson's clothes, or Mrs. Quigway's hat, or ridicule old Wrigler's nose, but what's the use of that?

I might display my stock of guile, and prove that it is great and show that I am full of bile, of envy and of hate; I might produce my empty pouch and roast the plutocrat, and be a first-class all round grou-h, but what's the use of that.

I've noticed that the chap, who's fain to croak the same old song, which ends up with the sad refrain "whatever is wrong," has just about as many friends as some old Thomas cat whose chant at midnight's hour ascends—there is no use in that!

KEEP FISHIN'

Hi Somers was the drundest cuss

For ketchin' fish—he sure was great!

He never used to make no fuss

About the kind of pole or bait,

Er weather, neither; he's just say,

"I got to fetch a mess today,"

And towards the creek you'd see him slide,

A-whistling soft and walkin' wide.

I says one day to Hi, says I,

'How do you always ketch 'em Hi?'

He gave his bait another switch in,

An' chucklin' says: 'I jest keep fishin.'

Hi took to readin' law at night,

An' pretty soon, the first we knowed

He had a lawsuit, won his fight,

An' was a lawyer—I'll be blowed.

He knowed more law than Squire McKnab!

An' tho he he had no 'gift of gab,'

To brag about, somehow he made

A sober sort of talk that played

The mischief with the other side.

One day, when someone asked if Hi'd

Explain how he got in condishion,

He laughed an' said: 'I jest kept fishin.'

Well, Hi is Gov'ner Somers now;

A big man 'round the state, you bet

To me the same old Hi, somehow,

The same champeen fisher, yet.

It wasn't so much the bait or pole,

It wasn't so much the fishin' hole,

That won for Hi his big success;

'Twas jest his fishin' on I guess;

A cheerful, stiddy, hopeful kind

Of keepin' at it, don't you mind?

An' that is why I can't help wishin'

That more of us would jest keep fishin.'

Not So in New Brunswick.

Farmers on P. E. Island are beginning to complain of the prolonged dry spell and a shortage of the grass crop is reported. In some places the cut worm is getting in considerable work. Rain, blessed rain is much needed.

Excursion Coronation Day.

An excursion will be held by the steamer Dorothy N. on Coronation Day, Thursday, June 22nd. The boat will leave Redbank at 6.45 a. m., and Millerton at 9 a. m. This is a splendid time of year for holding an excursion. The last one, although very enjoyable, was a little too early in the season. The steamer will call at intermediate points and probably go down as far as Bay-du-Vin. Returning the boat will reach Millerton at 6 p.m. A pleasant time is in store for all those who take in the trip. Tickets 50 cents.

Returned Home Yesterday.

Rev. A. Rettie, the popular pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and bride arrived here yesterday from their honeymoon. They are receiving the hearty congratulations of their many friends.

Lobsters Not Plentiful.

The lobster fishermen for the past few days along the east and south shores of P. E. Island have only been a fair catch. On the north side it has been a little better but up to the present time the pack on the whole will not be equal to that taken at the same date last year.

Prohibition On P. E. I.

Prince Edward Island "the Tight little island," with its Prohibition law, has a little fire water on it yet. This is the way to get it:

"It is generally inadvisable to mix drinks, mix metaphors and mix doctor's certificates. The other day a school teacher sent to the Education Department a letter stating that it was found necessary to close the school owing to the prevalence of measles in the district. He enclosed what he thought to be a certificate giving the necessary authority to close the school. He got his certificates mixed however, and the one that reached the Educational Department read—This is to certify that I prescribe one bottle of whiskey for Mr. — for medicinal purposes."—Charlottetown Patriot.
