

HON. J. D. HAZEN BACK FROM WESTERN TRIP

Minister of Marine and Fisheries Reached Ottawa Last Evening.

POLITICAL PROSPECTS BRIGHT IN THE WEST

Naval Policy is Popular and Government's General Western Programme Has Made It Very Solid—Evidences of Prosperity Everywhere.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, arrived in the capital tonight at eleven o'clock from the Pacific coast, where he had gone as the official representative of the Canadian government to welcome the battleship New Zealand. The Minister of Marine took the opportunity while there to visit the Yukon District as far north as Dawson City and inquire into the fisheries conditions of British Columbia and the prairie provinces. In his seven weeks journey Mr. Hazen covered 3,000 miles, almost rivaling the Minister of Militia, in the extent of territory covered on his recent inspection trip.

"I found," said Hon. Mr. Hazen, "very satisfactory conditions in the fisheries industry in British Columbia. The legislation concerning licenses enacted last year by the present government has had the effect of attracting a great number of white fishermen to the exclusion of the Japanese, and next year the number will still further be increased. The policy of the present government will be to maintain the policy of encouraging independent fishermen."

Mr. Hazen also found that the fisheries regulations in the prairie provinces were being better observed. Much depletion of stock in the past had occurred, but restocking would be carried on by the Marine and Fisheries Department to counteract the loss incurred by depletion.

While the Minister of Marine had expected to see much trade on the Great Lakes he was more than surprised to find an activity which he realized was being hurried down and the greatness of the Western harvest was everywhere evident. In every respect, stated Mr. Hazen, prosperity would be the lot of the western farmer this year.

Quoted as to the political situation in the West, Hon. Mr. Hazen said the prospects for the government were very bright. "If the opposition," said he, "could upon gaining in the West they will receive a shock."

"Our naval policy is very popular and our general western programme has made the government solid with the working element everywhere. There is a spirit of optimism prevalent among our friends, which is most encouraging."

The long and strenuous tour has in no sense wearied Mr. Hazen who looks well and has, in fact, grown stouter. He will take up his work again tomorrow morning in the department. Mrs. Hazen and family have gone to St. John.

CONNETTI IS FOUND GUILTY

Son of Commissioner General of United States Convicted of Violating Mann White Slave Act.

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—Farley Drew Connett, son of the commissioner general of immigration, was found guilty late today on one count of the indictment charging him with violation of the Mann White Slave Act. The jury was out three hours and took eight ballots. From the first vote stood ten to two for conviction, and finally the two recalcitrants agreed to compromise by finding a verdict of guilty on one of the four counts charged.

Had the sum of $10,000 been furnished by Frank Freeman, of Wilkes, California, and G. Bogdanov, of San Francisco, and was ready to be filed with the United States marshal when the verdict was announced.

Sentence will be pronounced on Wednesday, September 10, the day set for sentencing Maurice I. Dizeg, jointly indicted with Connett and convicted on four counts. Exceptions to the charge of Judge Van Fleet as a whole, and in part, were taken by counsel, and a petition for an appeal will be filed, as was announced in the case of Dizeg.

MOVING PICTURE FILM LOCATES MAN WANTED IN MASSACHUSETTS

Rev. John Ellis and Daughter Found in Tokio, Japan, by United States Consul at Yokohama.

Special to The Standard.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 5.—Moving picture films are believed to have led to the location in Tokio, Japan, of Rev. John Ellis, native of St. Stephen, N. B., who is wanted in this state for kidnapping his daughter, Natalie, aged 5, and for contempt of court. Mrs. Ellis, who is legally separated from her husband, received a cablegram today from Thomas Sammons, United States consul at Yokohama, informing her that Ellis and daughter had been located in Tokio, after flight across this country and Pacific Ocean.

In her search of three months, the distracted mother appealed to newspapers, police and moving picture managers. The latter made films of Ellis and his daughter. The pictures were produced throughout the United States and duplicates sent to Japan.

Mrs. Ellis has decided to appeal to Washington, but Massachusetts authorities fear it will be almost impossible to extradite him. Ellis was formerly pastor of a Unitarian church in Chocoma, Mass. He began life as a telegraph operator in St. Stephen and elsewhere.

YACHT RACE CALLED OFF, WIND TOO LIGHT.

Marble Head, Mass., Sept. 5.—The fourth in the series of international yachting races was called off shortly after 2.30 today because of lack of wind after the yachts had covered two-thirds of the course. It was difficult to tell which boat was ahead when the race was stopped.

RACING AUTO HITS FENCE, TWO KILLED

Little Girl and Driver Meet Death When Tire Burst.

THREE INJURED BY SKIDDING MACHINE

Brother of "Farmer Bill Endicott" a Noted Racer One of the Victims—Preparing for Contest.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 5.—Harry Endicott, of Anderson, Ind., brother of "Farmer Bill" Endicott, the noted automobile racer, and Mary Sarata, a ten-year-old spectator, were killed and three persons injured here late this afternoon when Endicott's automobile, hurtling around the track, crashed through a fence after one of the front tires blew up.

The injured are: George Benedict, of Los Angeles, who was acting as Endicott's mechanic; Mrs. Mabel Walters, and Francis Hall, 13 years old, both of Jackson. Benedict's condition is in doubt. Neither Mrs. Walters nor the Hall girl was seriously hurt.

Endicott was driving a 100-horse power Cadillac car, preparatory to an exhibition race against Benedict here tomorrow when the accident occurred. Benedict was at his side.

The machine turned a sharp curve as it swung onto the home stretch, and with a report like a pistol shot the tire burst. Before the crowd, which lined both sides of the track, could realize what had happened the machine skidded about twenty feet and plunged directly at a flimsy fence to the side of the course.

Endicott was crushed to death against an iron railing, which the wrecked car snapped as though it were a pipestem. Benedict was hurled from the car and one of the rear wheels passed over his body. He was taken to a local hospital and late tonight had only partly recovered consciousness. He is believed to be injured internally.

The Sarata girl was instantly killed, crushed her to death in a twinkling.

COTTON TAX SIGNAL FOR BIG SELLING

Scene Rarely Witnessed Since 'Sully Days'—Drove Prices Off Fully $2.00 Per Bale Follows Report.

New York, Sept. 5.—The announcement that the Senate caucus had agreed to tax cotton futures one-tenth of one cent per pound was the signal for an outbreak of selling orders in the cotton market this afternoon such as rarely has been witnessed since the 'Sully days.' It drove prices off fully $2 per bale, and completely demoralized the upward movement, which has been in progress for some time past because of the greatly reduced crop estimates by the government and others.

When the news reached outside points there was a fresh wave of selling orders, which came into the local market just at the close, when the most violent decline occurred. For ten minutes after the close the quotation clerks were busy putting up sales that had been made at or before three o'clock, and overlooked in the excitement.

It had been the expectation in local trade circles for some days that the Senate caucus would reduce the proposed tax rate, a fact which had contributed to the confidence of buyers on the recent advance of $1.50 per pound. Today's reports seemed to revive apprehensions that the bill might yet be passed in its original form. The trade has generally expressed a belief that if the Clarke Bill should become a law without considerable modification, it would practically eliminate futures trading on the cotton exchanges of this country.

DOMINION COAL CO. MAKES NEW RECORD

Mine Output for August Was More than 3,000 Tons in Excess of Best Previous Mark.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 5.—The output of the Dominion Coal Company for August amounted to 43,845 tons, as compared with 40,125 tons in the same period in 1912. The highest previous output was in October last, when 42,245 tons were mined.

The output for the seven months to date of 1913, is 279,765 tons, as compared with 252,823 tons last year, an increase of 26,942 tons.

TO ESTABLISH SERVICE THROUGH PANAMA CANAL

Bremen, Sept. 5.—At a meeting today of the heavy machinery line, the advisability of establishing a line of steamers from Bremen through the Panama canal under the name proposed to be used in discussion. The directors decided to build sister ships to the Columbia and Bavaria, and four 12,000-ton freight steamers, and also to remodel the Grosser Kurhurs into a special-express steamer.

THAW WINS SIGNAL VICTORY IN HIS FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

His Legal Forces Secure Double Writ of Habeas Corpus and Prohibition in Montreal Preventing Immediate Deportation to Vermont.

Immigration Board of Inquiry Had Ordered Him Escorted Across Line When Flying Special Train Brought Papers to Stay Proceedings—Crowds Cheer Thaw and Mack Jerome.

Coastbrook, Sept. 5.—Harry K. Thaw will be produced before the full King's bench, appeal side, at Montreal, on the morning of September 15. Meantime he may be detained here, or at Sherbrooke, or taken to Montreal on a moment's notice, at the discretion of the immigration authorities. Two of his counsel, J. M. Greenfields and N. K. Lafamme, obtained a double writ, habeas corpus and prohibition, at Montreal today, which is a special train pulled out for Montreal not long before the immigration authorities had ordered Thaw's deportation from the Dominion.

Counsel for Thaw, who had remained in Coastbrook, had announced that the writ was returnable forthwith, and a special train was made up to take the prisoner to Montreal tonight. A great crowd collected about the station where Thaw was spotted, and he was not until eight o'clock that it became known that he might remain here several days, because the writ is not returnable until September 15. There were cheers when the writ arrived, and more cheers whenever Thaw's face appeared at the window of the detention room. It was a special train pulled out for Montreal without Thaw aboard, there were cries of disappointment, then more cheering when the news got abroad that for Thaw the new move meant ten days delay.

Not only by the writ secured in Montreal, but by the action of his attorneys on appeal did Thaw today block his deportation.

In addition, he had the pleasurable knowledge that his old enemy, William Travers Jerome, had been arrested, charged with tampering.

Play's a Trump Card.

Montreal, Sept. 5.—With a hasty hearing before the local court of appeals, a mad race through the city streets in an attempt to avoid three special trains which were to bring him to the city.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE IS FORMED AT HARTLAND, ALL ENTHUSIASTIC

Addresses on Domestic Science—Large Number Present—Officers Elected for Year.

Hartland, N. B., Sept. 5.—In Burr's Hall this afternoon the women turned out in goodly numbers to the meeting called for the purpose of organizing a Women's Institute for this section. After the opening ceremonies Miss Powell, of Ontario, addressed the meeting on the work of the institute. Miss W. Winter, of Fredericton, also spoke on the same subject. Miss Enright, of Fredericton, gave an interesting address on Domestic Science. Mrs. W. Winter spoke on home nursing.

The work of organization was then taken up and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. F. W. Boyer; vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Adams; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Mont; honorary auditors, Mrs. C. E. Allen and Mrs. J. Murdoch; director, Mrs. John T. G. Carr.

It was decided to hold meetings on the third Tuesday in each month. During the winter months the meetings will be held at the homes of the members. The first meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. P. W. Boyer, on Tuesday, the 16th. Much interest was shown at the meeting and the prospects are for a flourishing institute.

THE "BANJO" BLAMED FOR DEATH TOLL

Antiquated Signal System Cause of New Haven Wreck.

ENGINEERS MADE PROTEST YEAR AGO

Shocking Conditions Existing on Railroad Shown by Sworn Testimony—Air Brakes Out of Commission.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 5.—The so-called "banjo" signal system installed on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad nearly twenty-five years ago and still in operation, was charged in sworn testimony today with the responsibility for the death of 21 persons in the wreck which occurred on that road last Tuesday morning. The testimony was given at the inquiry begun today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine the cause of the disaster.

Described by Interstate Commerce Commissioner McChord himself as "obsolete" and denounced by trainmen as the cause of the wreck, the "banjo" signal system was admitted by officers of the road to be inferior to the up-to-date system in use on other roads, lacking a "caution" signal as protection against a danger signal in the modern system, the "banjo" type, according to half a dozen trainmen who testified, caused engineers to "drift by" their signals in the belief that they were coming in the rear of a train to a stop.

Of 27 miles of the "banjo" type of signal now in use on all the railroads in the United States, 150 miles are in operation on the New York, New Haven and Hartford.

More than a year ago the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers protested against the system as not offering sufficient protection for the engineers, and asked that it be abolished. Correspondence to this effect was placed in evidence.

That an order to stop the White Mountain express at Wallingford was rescinded, was one of the startling features of the testimony.

John C. Kelly, train dispatcher, produced train sheets showing that the White Mountain brought up in the rear of a procession of six trains, the last of which was within a space of thirty-two minutes.

That Engineer Miller had been once suspended for passing a signal in his position; that the brakemen of the White Mountain were not alerted by the signal; that the brakemen of the White Mountain were not alerted by the signal; that the brakemen of the White Mountain were not alerted by the signal.

J. P. MORGAN BREAKS WITH NEW HAVEN RY.

Big Banking Firm Will End its Connection as Fiscal Agents.

ACTION A SURPRISE TO ROAD'S DIRECTORS

Executive of Directors Will Instal Latest Devices for Protection of Patrons—Found Lesson in Wreck.

New York, Sept. 5.—J. P. Morgan & Company have served notice on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company of their intention to end their connection as fiscal agents of the road. This notice was made public today by the New Haven's executive committee. The committee authorized the president to insist, without stint, safety appliances and signals to ensure the safety of passengers.

No reason was given by officials of the New Haven system for the withdrawal of J. P. Morgan & Company as fiscal agents of the road. The announcement of the withdrawal, was made by the executive committee at the conclusion of its meeting today, and some little time after J. P. Morgan & Company had left for his summer home. Other members of the Morgan firm also had left the city for the week end and only conjectures were offered as to the reasons for the action.

The letter notifying the committee of their intention to sever financial connection with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad was presented by Mr. Morgan personally, and was addressed to President Elliott. The letter follows:

"In the existing fiscal agency agreement between ourselves and your company, it is provided that the arrangement shall continue until the lapse of ninety days after either party shall have given notice to the other of a desire to terminate the same.

"We hereby notify you that it is our desire that the arrangements be terminated upon the lapse of ninety days from this date, or at such earlier date as shall be agreeable to you."

Action on the letter was deferred until the next meeting of the board of directors. Mr. Morgan told the executive committee that similar letters had been sent to the boards of directors of the Boston and Maine, and the Maine Central railroads, New Haven subsidiaries.

President Elliott, who today attended his first meeting of the executive committee of the New Haven system, declined to discuss the action of the Morgan firm, and referred all inquiries for information to Mr. Morgan.

For many years the Morgan firm has acted as the financial agent of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and within the past few months it had undertaken to underwrite the issuance of $7,000,000 six per cent debenture bonds, to be used principally for refunding purposes and a portion for betterments and improvement work.

FELIX DIAZ COMPLETES HIS ELECTION TICKET IN MEXICAN CAMPAIGN

He Will Run for Presidency With Senor Requena, Prominent Lawyer as Vice-President.

Mexico City, Sept. 5.—The presidential ticket of General Felix Diaz was completed today by the designation of Jose Luis Requena as candidate for vice-presidency at a meeting of the Felix Diaz party leaders. Senor Requena is a prominent lawyer, president of the Chamber of Mines of Mexico, and chairman of the Felix Diaz party organization. The followers of General Diaz expect the head of the ticket to return to Mexico by the end of the month.

WASHINGTON AWAITING ENVOY FROM MEXICO

No Developments Likely Until His Arrival at United States Capital—Position is Clear.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Developments in the Mexican situation are likely to await the arrival in Washington of Manuel De Zamacona, personal envoy of the Huerta government, to continue with the Washington administration the negotiations begun by John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico.

Administration officials had not decided tonight whether they will receive Senor De Zamacona unless he brought assurances of President Huerta's elimination from the situation in Mexico, and was ready to act on the other points of the American proposals for the establishment of peace.

Some of the Washington officials feel that the United States has made its position clear through the parleys conducted by Mr. Lind, and the address of President Wilson to Congress. Further negotiations on the same points they regard as useless and merely a process of delay. There is a disposition, however, to receive Senor De Zamacona in view of the courtesy shown Mr. Lind.

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSION.

Arrangements were completed yesterday between the city council and the street railway company for the construction of the line of railway from Cooper's Corner to the One Mile House, and across to Kane's Corner. The company will pay $1200 per year for the upkeep of the road and will use the "Trail." Work is to commence not later than Sept. 15, and to be completed within sixty days.

THIRTY BLOCKS ON EDGE OF BUSINESS DISTRICT SWEEP CLEAN.

FIRE ORIGINATED IN NEGRO'S HOUSE

Flames Spread Rapidly and Threatened to Wipe Whole City Out—Outside Firemen Rushed to Scene on Special Trains.

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 5.—More than thirty blocks on the eastern edge of the business district of Hot Springs had been swept clean tonight by a fire which at nine o'clock threatened to eat its way toward Central Avenue, the main business thoroughfare. A high wind was blowing, and the Hot Springs and Little Rock fire departments, the latter hurried to this city aboard special trains, had made but little headway in checking the flames. At 9 o'clock Sidney Dillon, commissioner of public utilities, estimated the loss would reach at least four million dollars.

The fire originated in a negro dwelling on Church street, near Malvern avenue, just east of the Army and Navy hospital, shortly after three o'clock this afternoon, and spread quickly to the south and east. A number of small dwellings, dry as tinder, as a result of an extended drought, were easy prey for the flames which, for a few minutes, were beyond control of the local fire department.

Fire Spread Rapidly.

From this region the fire spread to a manufacturing section, then to a pretentious residence and hotel and at 9 o'clock the shifting wind threatened to carry the flames to the main business section. A supreme effort was made to divert the fire toward the suburb of South Hot Springs, when it was apparent that efforts to control it would be unavailing. At nine o'clock this effort was meeting with some success.

Among the buildings destroyed were the city's Hot water and power plants, the county court house, the Park, Jefferson, Princess and Moody hotels, the City High School, Iron Mountain railroad station and shops, Ozark Sanitary Institution, People's laundry, Crystal theatre, and Biou rink, besides a hundred or more business buildings and many residences, including some of the best in the city.

No Fatalities.

No fatalities have been reported. Fifteen minutes after the fire started it was beyond control of the Hot Springs fire force and aid was asked of Little Rock. Special trains brought additional apparatus from that city, but water, dynamite and every available means of fighting fire had failed to check the flames six hours after the fire started. Firemen many times endeavored to destroy buildings yet untouched, but the flames swept over the partially wrecked buildings and broke out in new places.

At times early in the night the gale reached a velocity of forty miles an hour, and three times the force of the wind currents changed the course of the fire. Twice it was headed for the main business district, the last time shortly before midnight when it endeavored to divert the fire toward South Hot Springs.

FOUR MEN AND TWO GIRLS SEIZED IN BIG SCANDAL

Runaways from Tarrytown, New York, to Greenwich, Conn. Involve Prominent Men in White Slave Case.—Politics in Arrests are Factious Charges.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 4.—Four men and two girls have been arrested and five more warrants have been issued in a "white slave" scandal which has stirred the neighborhood of Fort Chester and Greenwich, and has already involved several prominent young men and political leaders of this town.

The two young women in the case, who were brought here from Tarrytown, N. Y., last week, are now being held by the police of Fort Chester, awaiting a hearing of the charges against several men, and while the case is out of the jurisdiction of this state, charges are being made here that the whole thing is a "job" arranged by one political faction to discredit its enemies.

The two young women, Miss Marjory Brown, eighteen years old, and Miss Agnes Leary, seventeen, were brought here in an automobile, and lodged in rooms over a lunch room opposite the New Haven station. Miss Leary's father, who is in the employ of Mrs. Helen Gould Shepard at Tarrytown, appeared here, and Police Chief Rich of the disappearance of the girls after a dance they were traced to the lunch room, which is managed by Matthew Smith, but there it was learned that the proprietor had discovered that the girls were being detained there, and ordered Smith to evict them. The girls then went to the Putnam Hotel, from which they were taken to the Park Hotel in Fort Chester.

Father Come Too Late. Mr. Leary, with Chief Rich, reached the Putnam Hotel just in time to hear from the proprietor that the girls had been taken to Fort Chester. Chief Rich telephoned to the Fort Chester police, and the girls were seized and placed under arrest. The chauffeur who called for them, Henry Christofferson, of Greenwich, was also held as a material witness.

Mrs. Edward O. Parker, probation officer, of Greenwich, went to Fort Chester, his afternoon, and to her the two girls told a story which caused her to issue warrants for the arrest of a dozen young men of this town. Those arrested so far are George E. Arent, lessee of the Park Hotel, Fort Chester; Andrew Fox, Smith Halligan, and Matthew Smith, of Greenwich, and Christofferson, who is detained as witness. The case against Arent will be called before Justice of the Peace Thomas F. J. Connelly, in Portchester, tomorrow. In the meantime Mr. Winslow, District Attorney of Westchester county, has taken charge, and several more arrests are expected before tomorrow night. The girls told Mrs. Parker that they

A FAVORABLE OUTLOOK.

From certain events and utterances during the week, it seems that the period of financial stringency which has affected the Dominion more or less during the past summer, is now drawing to a close. Hon. W. T. White, on his return from England, brought the good news that London investors are again looking toward Canada as a field for their capital. Sir William Mackenzie proves this view correct by the negotiation in England of a large loan for his railway enterprises in the West. The end of the trouble in the Balkan States is expected to ease the world's money markets, and the harvest of the Western grain crop will bring cash to Canadian interests. The Maritime Provinces, with their multiplicity of resources and activities, have not felt the money pinch as acutely as the larger provinces, but the return of normal good times for all Canada will be none the less welcome here.

In St. John there is report of an awakening of interest in real estate operations, and as money generally becomes easier, more will be available for local investments. The fishing season has been fairly profitable, and other lines of industry have not materially suffered. At present the strike in the local mills looms as a small cloud on an otherwise bright outlook, but it is hoped this will be speedily removed. The indications for winter port traffic point to a prosperous season, and consequently employment to a large number of men. In almost all lines the prospect for autumn and winter business is reported to be well up to the average and there is abundant evidence that before Thanksgiving Day the people of St. John, of New Brunswick, and of all Canada will have much cause for contentment and gratitude.

THE LIBERALS AND DEFENCE.

The hysterical Times spills the first commitment of Liberal ink in an effort to belittle the force of Lord Haldane's message to Canada, telling of Britain's need for Canadian assistance in imperial defence. The Times admits there is a burden on Britain that Canada should help to bear, but soothes its newly awakened conscience with the lullaby of delay.

No hurry, no emergency. To aid Britain by contribution would be to humiliate Canada. Let us build our own ships and use them in our own defence when we, ourselves, decide such defence is necessary. That is the donning of the inactive gospel of the Laurier-Pugsley aggregation which the Times dutifully preaches, but it is not the gospel from which patriotic Canadians will take their text.

Contrast the Laurier dogma with the needs of the case. Lord Shelburne, who speaks as one of the most successful First Lords of the Admiralty, issues a warning in the Empire Review. Dealing with naval affairs, he quotes official figures to show that England is even now short of a whole squadron of battleships in the Mediterranean. He says "the critical year will be 1915-1916."

Is Lord Shelburne a jingoist in his declaration that there is an emergency? We are more inclined to think that he is well advised in his statements and that his presentation of the case is much more likely to be correct than any evidence the Times or any other Laurier organ can produce. Let independent Canadians take such statements as that of Lord Shelburne, Lord Haldane, Mr. Winston Churchill and other British statesmen who have spoken on the necessity of immediate aid to the Empire and contrast them with the best defence the Laurierites can make and the answer will be plain. Britain needs Canadian assistance and needs it promptly. This aid has already been refused. Upon the Liberals must rest the responsibility.

LECTURES AND DIPLOMACY.

While the diplomats in the Washington government are keeping one eye on the activities of Huerta in Mexico, and the other on the Balkan and other crises, Mr. William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, and by right of rank the first Minister in the Wilson cabinet, is lecturing the Chautauque circuit on one-night stands. The New York Star of Thursday, in a despatch from Washington dated September 3rd, publishes Mr. Bryan's itinerary as follows:

"The daily lecture of Secretary Bryan was delivered at Boston, Md. tonight. The Secretary left for the Maryland town early in the afternoon, but hoped to be at his office again tomorrow morning. He is going tomorrow afternoon to Leesburg, Va., where he will speak from the judges stand at the London county fair.

"Future appearances of the Secretary of State on the Chautauque circuit for one-night stands from Washington are announced as follows: Woodbury, N. J., September 10; Charleston, W. Va., and Woodstock, Va., September 13; Staunton, Va., September 16; Charlottesville, Va., September 18; Culpeper, Va., September 19, and Warrenton, Va., September 20.

"These dates may be added to or reduced according to circumstances. All appearances are to be in a big tent with a seating capacity of 1,500. Mr. Bryan is to receive $250 for each lecture and half of all the gate receipts above $500."

Mr. Bryan has pleaded inability to live on the salary paid to him by the people of the United States as an excuse for his platform activities. He that as it may, it hardly inspires respect or confidence in the United States government to have its first minister barnstorming around the country at so much per, and a percentage on the gate, more especially at a time when it would seem he should be at Washington attending to the duties of his office.

AN UNWELCOME VISITOR.

The Thaw lawyers have found an excuse for another attempt to prolong their client's stay on Canadian soil. Yesterday, on their application, two Montreal Judges of the Court of Appeals granted a double writ habeas corpus and prohibition as the result of which Thaw will be produced in Montreal on September 15th. By this means a respite of ten days was gained.

It is to be hoped that the public of Canada is not to be treated to a repetition of the peculiar judicial actions which marked the Gaynor-Green case. Canada does not want Harry K. Thaw, either as a resident or a visitor and the sooner there is a general realization of this fact, and he is sent back over the border, the better for all concerned.

Whether Thaw's confinement in Mattawan was just punishment for the crime he committed, or whether he is sane or insane, do not enter into the case as the better thinking citizens regard it. Canada has managed to get along without him in the past and there is no desire to acquire him now.

The parents of Reginald S. Newton, the Montreal infant who won first prize at the Toronto Baby Show, are probably the proudest couple in Canada at present. But wait until Reginald goes to school with that name and the additional title of Montreal's prettiest baby wished on him. That's when his less prepossessing charms will get square.

The Ottawa Journal features a news item dealing with a young clerk who died of heart failure on Connaught Park races. Nothing so wonderful about that. We know at least one other man who would probably succumb to heart failure if he ever saw that much money all at once. And he doesn't live in Ottawa either.

William Travers Jerome played a game of "penny ante" with newspaper men in "coal-ante" and was arrested in consequence. Now all that is necessary to fill his cup of misery is to learn that the reporters won his money.

CURRENT COMMENT

Journalistic Courtesy. (Vancouver Province.)
Girth is not always an evidence of journalistic ability. A rival sheet referred to the editor of the White Horse Star as "a starved-to-death printer from across the line." To which the editor of the pale equine luminary retorts: "We admit that it does not take a trunk strap to encircle us as is required by the editor of the Douglas News, but with us diagnosis is not difficult to determine whether a pain is caused from lumbago or cholera infansum. If the editor of the News would retain his seat on the water wagon as persistently as we do, he would look more like a man and less like a bungler."

An Unwelcome Visitor. (Hamilton Spectator.)
It is surprising and painful to find that Harry K. Thaw is being made a hero by the populace of Sherbrooke, who would be glad to see him released, and are sending him flowers and other evidences of personal regard. Among Canadians of greater intelligence and discretion, the general feeling concerning him, we think, must be that the sooner he is sent back to his own country the better. Canada does not want him. His long-drawn-out trial in New York was a scandal. We want nothing like it on Canadian soil.

Canada's Standing Reproach. (Brockville Times.)
Viscount Haldane's words expressive of the heavy naval burden now borne by Britain, and the gratitude with which the Motherland would welcome help from Canada, ought to thrill Canadians from Atlantic to Pacific with a determination to wipe away the reproach which now rests upon this broad and prosperous Dominion.

An Oriental Scandal. (Christion News and Courier.)
What a pass we have come to when a mere Chinaman like Sun Yat Sen can get more publicity than Theodor Himes!

DIARIES OF EVENTS

HISTORIC CANADA

TWO FAMOUS CANADIANS.

Today marks the anniversary of the birth of two distinguished Canadians, Sir George Etienne Cartier and Sir Alexander Tilloch Galt. The centenary of the French Galt, celebrated one year from will be that of Galt four years hence, and Sir Cartier's centenary is being celebrated in plans for property in the memory of the great "fading confederation," and doubtless, a fair tribute will be paid to Sir Alexander Galt.

The Dominion of Canada is a monument to Sir George Etienne Cartier, "his father," to quote the language of Sir John A. Macdonald. "Confederation could not have carried." And Sir Charles Tupper has admitted testimony: "Without Galt there could have been no Confederation, and therefore, Canada owes him a debt that can never be repaid." Cartier, father of a new Confederation of constitutions, lawyer and soldier, was born in St. Antoine, Quebec, Sept. 6, 1814, and the best part of his life was devoted to the service of his country. He died in 1873, worn out by his unremitting labors to bring about the era of Confederation.

Sir Alexander Tilloch Galt was born Sept. 6, 1817, in Chelsea, England. He came to Canada in his youth, entering the service of the British and American Land Company. From 1858 to 1862, and from 1864 to 1866, he was minister of finance. In the Confederation conference of 1864 the sturdy and independent statesman represented the Protestant interests of the Eastern Townships of Lower Canada. With Macdonald, Cartier and the other "fathers," he went to London to see the act through the British Parliament. Later he accompanied Dr. Tupper to London in 1874, when the Scotia question. He was high commissioner to Great Britain from 1880 to 1883, and held several other important posts, besides writing "Canada From 1849 to 1859," and other works.

FIRST THINGS

THE SHAKESPEARE FESTIVALS.

The first of the festivals in honor of Shakespeare at Stratford-on-Avon, commenced on this date in 1769 and continued three days, with feasts, processions, illuminations, fireworks and masquerades, as well as dramatic productions. This "great Shakespearean festival" was devised by David Garrick, the celebrated actor. The next important festival at the birthplace of the Bard of Avon was held in 1835. The movement for preserving the house in which Shakespeare was born had its beginning in 1847, when the house was sold at auction and was bought by the United Committee of London and Stratford for $15,000. In 1848, the "great Shakespearean festival" was started. In 1864 the terrace in front of the house was purchased and the occasion of another great festival at Stratford. The library was opened four years later, but was destroyed in 1875. The Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, which has been the scene of many recent festivals, was commenced in 1877, and the ground was laid out by Lord Leigh, and was opened in 1879.

THE PASSING DAY

BRAZIL'S INDEPENDENCE.

Brazilians will begin today the celebration of their independence day, and the festivities will continue through Sunday. The Brazilian branch of freedom, which dates from Sept. 1822, is peculiar to that country and includes a disregard for the laws of convention and Mollie Crandall would turn Astoria's Constable's hair white in an hour. To the average Brazilian—who is of mixed Portuguese, negro or Indian blood with the African predominance—liberty means license in moral matters. Paris is tickled in spots, but the City of Light at its worst would be considered tame by those accustomed to Rio de Janeiro.

The Estados Unidos de Brazil—the United States of Brazil—dates from 1889, but Brazil has been an independent country ever since 1822, when the late Emperor, Pedro I., overthrew and the nation was constituted an independent empire. Dom Pedro, who had been the Portuguese regent, was forced to abdicate after the bloodless revolution of 1889, which now supplies the world with coffee, has tremendous undeveloped resources, and seems destined in time to become one of the world's richest countries.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

A NOTED HUMANITARIAN.

Miss Jane Addams, one of the best known and most loved women in the United States, will celebrate her fifty-fifth birthday today. This friend of the friendless and her home for the homeless, Hull House in Chicago, are known and honored all over the civilized world. Like Thomas Paine, she can say, "The world is my country; do good my religion." Race or religion, color or creed, have never limited her benefactions. She belongs to "that great church which holds the world within its starlit aisles, that claims the great and good of every race and clime, that finds with joy the glint of gold in every creed, and seeks to develop the germ of good in every soul." A boundless love, directed by a brilliant intellect, has made Miss Jane Addams an ideal servant of humanity.

GIBRALTAR'S FORMER GOVERNOR

Lieut. General Sir Archibald Hunter, who recently vacated the governorship of Gibraltar, was born fifty-seven years ago today, and has a long and brilliant military career in Egypt, South Africa and India. Numerous scars and wounds, as well as many medals, testify to his gallantry. A taciturn speech, it was once alleged, caused his retirement as commander of "the Rock." Sir Hunter has been the lover of Gibraltar to "the Augean stables," issued orders restricting civilians, and assassinated a press correspondent.

OPHELIA'S SLATE

A Case of Lapsed Person.
"A friend of mine was in Canada with a fishing party," said Fred Wilson, "and one member of the party was imprudent enough to sample a whiskey that was called 'Sutcliffe's' because it made those who drank it inclined to climb a tree. The gentleman imbibed too much of this dangerous liquid, and the consequence was that when he went to the train to go with the rest of the company he took a train bound south instead of a train bound north. Wishing to recover him, his companions telegraphed the conductor of the southbound train: 'Send short man, named Johnson, back for the northbound train. He is intoxicated.' Presently they got a reply from the conductor: 'Further particulars needed. There are thirteen men on the train who don't know either their name or their destination.'"

The Best Quality at a Reasonable Price

Do You Read Much?
Frequently you hear men and women remark that they do not read very much because their eyes tire quickly. Perhaps you have a similar experience yourself. That's an acknowledgment of eye-strain, for if the eyes are in a normal condition you should be able to read for a long time without even thinking of your eyes. If you cannot do this you should have your eyes examined at once and know just what is the trouble. Come in early in your morning and have us make a thorough scientific examination of your eyes. We will tell you just what they need.

DRESSMAKERS FROD IN GUILTY OF SMUGGLING

United States Customs authorities Make Rich Ha from Party of Return Modistes—Heavy Fine

New York, Sept. 5.—An attempt to evade the United States customs authorities met with the usual result in the cases of four women appeared for the Customs Krouse yesterday afternoon to answer to the charge of "forgetting" to declare dress furs and jewelry that were brought from Europe by them.

One of the first cases to appear in hearing was that of Miss Ella H. Kins, of No. 8 South Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill., who is a partner of dressmaking firm of Lurkins & We Miss Lurkins arrived in New York aboard the Philadelphia, of the American line, last Saturday.

In her declaration she stated brought only one hat that was of value. Upon the examination of the baggage by Acting Deputy Collector Norwood several other garments, apparently foreign make, were covered and Norwood's suspicions were aroused. He questioned the woman and she said that two of the dresses had been bought abroad. Norwood noticed another woman had come down to the pier to meet Miss Lurkins. Over her arm she had a coat rather too heavy for May.

"Is that your coat?" Norwood asked her. She said that Miss Lurkins given it to her to hold. Norwood examined it and found that several pieces of expensive fur were on the outside, which was turned out. All of Miss Lurkins' baggage was seized, and at the end of the hearing yesterday the case was turned over to Assistant United States District Attorney Marshall.

Mr. Marshall received the case from Mrs. Ida A. Hunter, of No. 75 V. 11th street, who declared about $50 worth of dutiable goods, who was found to have had more than $100 worth when she arrived last week on board the Baltic, of White Star line.

Another dressmaker who got into trouble with the customs authorities was Mrs. Nina H. Artell, of No. 10 Capitol avenue, Omaha, Neb., who arrived in New York yesterday morning on board the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, of the North German Lloyd line. On her declaration Miss Artell said she had only a few articles to declare, but she forgot to tell that she preferred to have appraiser on the pier make an estimate on them. When the appraiser's articles to declare to tell about two hats, several shawls, some pieces of dress goods.

She also failed to mention a watch ring that was discovered appraised as being worth $117. The baggage was seized and sent to public stores, but the case was closed and will be held over for subsequent hearing.

Mrs. Ida H. Bartel, dressmaker St. Joseph, Mo., was on her way here on Saturday when she failed to declare Tartan material worth $1,000, was taken before Judge in the Federal District Court yesterday on a technical charge of smuggling. She was fined $200 bail. At the time of her arrest, Bertha win-Hill was sent to the Tombs yesterday and a half in addition to a large fine the justice of the States District Court made public announcement that all tourists dressmakers thereafter arraigned before them and found guilty of smuggling will be given a jail term.

As Seen by a Woman.

Sooner or later the man with a led head will get what's coming to him. Shortly after marriage the peep into the back of a bride's head develop into a thing resembling a door-knob. Another dressmaker who got into trouble with the customs authorities was Miss Nina M. Artell, of No. 1309 Capitol avenue, Omaha, Neb. She arrived in New York yesterday morning on board the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, of the North German Lloyd line. OPERA HOUSE, MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

A Delightful Blending of Mirth, Music and Pretty Girls.

ROTHESAY

Rothsay, Sept. 4.—The committee in charge of Saturday's tennis tea were Mrs. Robert Thomson, Misses Fairweather, Mrs. J. W. Davidson and Mrs. Harold Ellis. Those who are to preside at the tea house this week are Mrs. and Miss Daniel, Mrs. G. H. Flood and Mrs. Hugh Mackay.

Mr. and Mrs. William Corfield and Miss Attenborough are returning to St. John about the first of next week. They have been at the Kennedy House for some weeks.

After a few days with friends at Westfield Miss Alice Fairweather has returned to Rothsay.

On Saturday afternoon a party of little girls were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Hibbard in honor of a birthday anniversary of her daughter, Miss Lily. The weather was unpleasant but the college gymnasium provided a splendid place for games, etc. The little folk enjoyed tea at Miss Lily's home where a birthday cake was a very important part of the fun. The guests were Misses Alice and Margaret Tilley, Ruth Robinson, Barbara Fairweather, Ruth Harrison, Betty Thomson, Kathleen Blanche, Frances and Elise Gilbert, Jean Banford, Sybil Frink, Florence Puddington, Elizabeth and Rachael Armstrong, Anne Donville.

Miss Cameron has ended her visit to her sister Mrs. Blair and left for her home on Tuesday.

Great interest was shown in the tennis matches between St. John and Rothsay played at the courts here on Labor Day. The weather was perfect and many interested friends were present to watch the games, most of which were won by the home players. A dance given at the boat clubhouse in the evening was most enjoyable.

Mr. Morton Harrison and a lady pianist provided splendid music, and during the evening refreshments were served. The lovely night by the river side added much to the attractiveness of the occasion. Some of the many present were Mr. and Mrs. John M. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Beverly Robinson, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fairweather, Mrs. Walter Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Payson, Mr. and Mrs. Cudlip, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Flood, Mr. and Mrs. Bell, Mrs. and Miss Brock, Miss Mary MacLaren, Miss Lillie Raymond, Miss Phyllis McBride, Miss Catherine McAvity, Mr. Wallace Alward, Miss Doris Saire, Miss Katherine Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gilbert, Miss Edith Cudlip, Mr. Carrol Cudlip, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilbert, Miss Betty Curry, Halifax; Mr. Jim Curry, Mr. Moffet Bell, Mr. Darrell Peters, Mr. Gordon Peters, Mr. Jim Peters, Mr. John Brock, Mrs. Daniel, Miss Daniel, Miss Purdy, Mr. Purdy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Corfield, Miss Edling, Mr. Hudson, Miss Puddington, Miss Dorothy McKean, Miss Anna McKean, Mr. Harley Monson, Miss Gilbert, Miss Gertrude Davidson, Miss Alice Davidson, Mr. Olliphant, Mr. Colin Mackay, Mr. Cain Mackay, Mr. Ray Mackay, Mr. Elmer Puddington, Mr. Tom Gilbert and Mr. Jim Gilbert.

Mrs. M. A. Curry and daughter, Miss Betty Curry, of Halifax, Mrs. H. A. Holmes and two children, of Lindsay, Ont., who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Robertson, have returned to their homes.

Miss Mary Coffey, who has spent several weeks with her cousin, Mrs. Giles, at Kingsclear, returned home on Friday.

A pleasant drive to Cady Lake, with lunch at the camp there, was enjoyed on Wednesday by a party of ladies, including Mrs. W. A. Harrison, Mrs. Horace Porter, Miss Jean Daniel, Miss Dorothy Purdy, Mrs. Walter Gilbert, Miss Kit Schofield, Miss deForest and Miss Alice Fairweather.

Mr. Morton Harrison and Mrs. Hibbard went to Hampton on Saturday, remaining over Sunday, guests of Mrs. and Miss Beard, Hampton Village. On Sunday Mr. Hibbard took the usual services for Mr. Crowfoot, who is away from home.

After three or four weeks visit to her brother at Woodstock, Mrs. Peter Chisholm returned home on Monday. Accompanying Mr. W. R. Turnbull on a trip up the St. John river in his yacht Kathleen, are Rev. W. R. Hibbard, Mr. John Davidson and Master David Turnbull.

Mrs. George McAvity gave a large auction bridge at "The Bungalow," when those present from Rothsay were Mrs. Frank Fairweather, Mrs. Leonard Tilley, Mrs. William Pugsley, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Malcolm Mackay, Mrs. G. H. Flood and Mrs. F. A. Peters. Having enjoyed a vacation at Hampton with her mother, Mrs. W. Baird, and her sister, Mrs. Rainnie, Miss Pauline Baird has returned to College Hill.

Rev. J. J. McCaskill, of St. Matthew's church, St. John, is expected to preach at the Presbyterian services here on Sunday evening.

A sale of useful and fancy articles, ice cream, candy, etc. is to take place on Saturday afternoon at the summer cottage of Mrs. George F. Matthews, for the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church, Conventia Point. Friends of Miss Gertrude Davidson are glad to welcome her back to Rothsay, on her annual vacation visit from Boston, to her mother, Mrs. William J. Davidson.

Mr. A. D. J. Shortt is here at the Kennedy House for a day or two on his return to Montreal from Halifax, where he visited his mother.

Mrs. Leonard Tilley went to Sackville on Saturday and is visiting Governor Wood and Mrs. Wood. At a delightful bridge given by Mrs. G. H. Flood, prizes were won by Mrs. Tilley and Mrs. Peters. Others present were Mrs. Percy Thomson, Mrs. George McAvity, Miss Weelock, Miss Stewart, Mrs. Green, Mrs. E. H. Flood, Mrs. McLellan, of St. John; Mrs. Harry Ruddington, Mrs. F. A. Peters, Mrs. W. R. Turnbull, Mrs. Thomas Bell, Mrs. Walter Gilbert, Mrs. Frank

WIFE BEATERS MUST FIGHT

Squad of Brawny Pittsburg Policemen are now Detailed to go One Round with each.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 5.—That they may have a taste of their own medicine wife beaters on the north side will in future be compelled to face the "wife beaters' squad," a sextet of brawny policemen selected by Captain Robert Gray this morning to attend to all cases of wife beating that come before the north side police.

Any man convicted of wife beating will have to "go one round" with each of the cops, otherwise he will be given the full limit of the law and imprisonment in each case.

Captain Gray said today that wife beating is on the increase and that some means of corporal punishment must be brought into use on offenders if the practice is to be stopped. The captain has been at his wife's end for a remedy, but he hit upon one today when Louis Pinkerton got thirty days in the workhouse for beating his wife. Captain Gray immediately organized a squad to care for brutal husbands. He declares the squad will be in the North Side Police Court each morning when a wife beater is up for a hearing, and he proposes to see that every prisoner convicted receives a beating he will not forget to the end of his days. Pinkerton, when told that the squad would deal with him tomorrow, collapsed.

Fairweather, Miss Gilbert, Miss Puddington, Miss Brock, Miss Domville, Mrs. Cudlip, Mrs. Daniel and Mrs. Bell presided at the tea table.

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Robinson, of Montreal, who have been guests here of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Robinson, have gone to St. John.

Among Friday's visitors to Rothsay were Mrs. Andrew G. Blair and Miss Thompson, of Ottawa, who spent the day with Mrs. Bell.

Mr. A. H. Hannington has returned home from England, having accompanied his daughter, Dr. Mabel Hannington, that far on her journey to China. Mrs. Daniel was hostess yesterday afternoon at a little sewing party for Mrs. Smith of Ontario, who is visiting her.

Rev. R. A. Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong, of St. John, spent part of Monday and Tuesday here, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Armstrong, in the Park.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL NEWS AND COMMENT

CLOSING STOCK LETTER FROM RANDOLPH

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.) New York, Sept. 5.—The market was fairly active and higher, the immediate influence being the official announcement by Kuhn Loeb and Co. that subscriptions had been received for over 50 p. c. of the Southern Pacific stock held in the Union Pacific treasury as against the belief yesterday only about 30 p. c. had been taken.

PRODUCE PRICES IN CANADIAN CENTRES

Montreal, Sept. 5.—CORN—American No 2 yellow, 85 and 86. OATS—Canadian Western No. 2, 40.2 and 41. Canadian Western No. 3, 39.24; extra No. 1 feed, 40 and 40.12.

FURTHER TROUBLE BREWING.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 5.—Matters have quieted down on Vancouver Island in the coal areas, but that there is more trouble brewing is the opinion of some of the labor leaders. The statement is made by one who has taken an active part in these affairs that within the next ninety days events may be looked for that may eclipse anything that has yet taken place.

ZIONIST CONGRESS DISORDERLY.

Vienna, Sept. 5.—The Zionist Congress broke up yesterday in disorder. The president, David Wolfsohn, was forced to suspend the sitting owing to the tumult which prevented the speakers from being heard.

A BALLAD TO A FRIEND.

Sore in need was I of a faithful friend, And it seemed to me that life Had come to its much desired end— Just then God gave me a wife.

I had seen the beauty of fairy things, And seen the women walk; I had heard the voice of the seven slims And all the wonderful talk.

Ah, the promising earth that seems so kind And the comrades with outstretched hand, But did you ever stand alone In a black, forsaken land? Then the wonderful things that God can do One comes to understand—

Now He turns the desert dust to a dream, And the lonely wind to a friend, And makes a bright beginning Of what had seemed the end; 'Twas in such an hour God placed in mine The moonbeams hand of a friend.

—Richard Le Gallienne, in Smart Set.

DROWNED IN WEST.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Sept. 5.—Mr. Thomas Waugh, North Bedouque, received word yesterday of the drowning at Athabasca Landing of his son, Samuel, aged 24.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER FROM JUDSON & CO.

(J. C. MACKINTOSH & CO.) New York, Sept. 5.—The market today was irregular for the greater part of the time reflecting on the one hand a good volume of realizing and on the other a substantial demand on reactions based upon the unfavorable weather and crop prospects. In the last hour, however, all ordinary influences were obscured by a Washington despatch stating that the Democratic caucus in the senate had agreed to a tax on cotton futures at the rate of one-tenth of a cent a pound, or approximately $50 per 100 bales and heavy and precipitate selling followed under which prices declined nearly $2 per bale.

NOON LETTER ON NEW YORK STOCKS

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.) New York, Sept. 5.—The opening was active and firm all the leading issues showing good-sized fractional gains over last night. The main influence was the statement made by Kuhn Loeb and Company that only about 8 p. c. of the syndicate allotment of Southern Pacific stock would be left for the syndicate. This, of course, was much better than expected yesterday. A further favorable influence was the decline in the commodities markets. Specialists worked on the bull side and shorts covered quite freely, causing further gains after the opening. In the second hour the market quieted down, but the gains were well maintained, and the market is now close to its highest, with gains running up to about a point in many of the leading issues.

STOCK NOTES OF NEW YORK MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.) New York, Sept. 5.—Amalgamated Copper is a favorite purchase in several of the best informed commission houses.

Private borrowing of Union Pacific Reading and Steel is said to be much larger than usual.

Floor traders are short of these stocks. The leading stocks are under an absolute control of largest interests in the street, says a well informed institution. It is advisable, according to them to purchase on reactions for turns.

There is census of opinion that U. S. Steel unfilled orders report will show a decrease of near 300,000 tons next week. Little or no word of tariff matters is heard in Pittsburgh.

Good buying of S. P., U. P. and St. Paul convertible bonds is reported.

GENERAL GAIN IN PRICES AFTER A STEADY DECLINE

New York, Sept. 5.—The tide turned in the stock market today and prices gained generally after a steady decline in the early days of the week. It required no great amount of buying to bring about the upturn. The readiness with which the list responded to moderate bidding indicated that the week's selling had been largely professional, and that it had expanded the short interest to a point which made it vulnerable. The chief demand for stocks came from the shorts, and despite the weakness of their position little effort was made to run up prices on them. The rise was regarded merely as a natural rebound from the previous decline, and there was no evidence of awakening interest on the long side of the market.

DOW JONES CO'S SUMMARY OF NEWS

(J. C. MACKINTOSH & CO.) New York, Sept. 5.—Currency bill favorably reported to House by vote of 11-66 7. General debate on bill begins Tuesday in House. Senate caucus may not dispose of bill before Nov. 1.

NEWS SUMMARY AFFECTING MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.) New York, Sept. 5.—General developments—General Felix in Berlin says his chances for election for the presidency of Mexico are good and that he would restore order. It is reported that Huerta is sending his representative to Washington to represent his case to Wilson. European nations protest against the reduction of duty on goods carried in American ships. New Haven stockholders will protest before the mass Public Service Commission against the high charges made in underwriting the new bond issue.

Tariff bill expected to reach vote in Senate Saturday. London market will be closed tomorrow. Gambia declares that Mexico is unyielding, denies report of promises to our embassy or new negotiations. Resolution introduced in House asking for investigation of alleged interstate Commerce Commission investigation of New Haven wreck starts today. Amalgamated Copper puts price up to 16 1/2 cents, advance of one-quarter cent a pound. Twelve industrials declined 0.03 per cent. Twenty active railroads declined 0.13 per cent. DOW JONES.

NEWSPAPERS ON STOCKS. (F. B. McCURDY & CO.) New York, Sept. 5.—Herald—The crop deterioration is important enough to indicate that it will have some far reaching results. World—The decline is due rather to an absence of public buying than to any pressure by the speculative interests. Sun—Trading is held in restraint by crop conditions and other certainties. American—With an unfavorable crop report out of the way Monday, a more hopeful sentiment is expected to prevail.

Investment News

St. John, Sept. 6th, 1913.

A Word of Welcome!

By train and steamer visitors are thronging to Halifax Nova Scotia's annual exhibition.

Among these sight-seers undoubtedly many who have dealt with this investment House at one time or another during the past forty years in which it has been faithfully serving the public.

May we ask these good friends of ours to consider ourselves heartily welcome to our Halifax offices in the second floor of our Exchange Building, at the corner of King and Prince Streets.

Every facility at our disposal will be made available for their convenience. If at the same time information in financial matters is desired we will be glad to be of service. But, of course, obligation is incurred—a hearty welcome.

THE WEATHER. Maritime—Light to moderate winds; fine, not much change in temperature. Toronto, Sept. 5—Light showers have occurred locally today in Alberta and Manitoba; elsewhere throughout Canada the weather has been very fine. It is decidedly warm in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and comparatively cool from the Great Lakes eastward and in Alberta.

AROUND THE CITY. Fell Over Wharf. On Thursday evening Annie Maher, who resides on Brunswick street, fell over the wharf at the foot of that street and was quite badly injured. She was removed in the ambulance to the hospital where she is now confined with her injuries.

A First Class Dredge. H. H. Donnelly, representing the Dominion government, as superintendent of dredges for the Maritime Provinces, yesterday afternoon (at Gregory's blocks) inspected the new 15-inch suction dredge which has just been completed by James Fleming. In the final tests Mr. Donnelly found everything in first class working order. He said that the boat was a credit in every detail to the local builders. This is the dredge which the government intend to use on the St. John river and it will probably be put to work at once on the Oromocto Shoals. Capt. Hanlon is in charge and Mr. Goodwin is chief operator.

Organizing Unions. L. Beaulain, Canadian organizer of the International Brotherhood of Machinists, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Beaulain has recently organized local unions of machinists at Glace Bay, New Glasgow, and Amherst, and is of the opinion that there will be a great deal of activity among union men in the Maritime Provinces in the near future. Speaking of the strike at the Pender plant which is still in progress, he said the union has no desire to settle it, as the proprietor was setting a pace which tended to oblige other employers to pay more wages than they would be inclined to do.

Lumber at Wharf. Yesterday Connelly and Charlson, the contractors for the new wharf on the West Side, began to get delivery of a consignment of a million feet of timber for which they have been waiting, and the work on the cribs will be rushed along as fast as possible hereafter. Good progress is being made with the concrete work, though the progress is not so apparent as it might be. This is due to the fact that layers of concrete blocks have to be placed on the cribs, and these are being moulded on scows. A large number of concrete blocks are now ready and will be shortly hoisted into their positions on the crib work.

Dredge Fielding Laid Up. Yesterday the dredge Fielding was laid up, having one of the buckets taken off the string, but it is expected she will be able to return to work today. The Fielding has been giving a good account of herself during the summer, and in the last four months has only lost three days. In the past nine weeks she has only lost one day. She has done better work this summer than at any time during her career, and Captain Lewis has every reason to congratulate himself on the showing she has made. She is still working in the channel, which is being dredged to a depth of 32 feet. She is able to dredge 5,000 yards of material on the kind of bottom at which she is now working, and can do much better when dredging on a softer bottom.

PERSONAL. Hon. John E. Wilson, accompanied by Miss Alice Wilson, left last night on the Calvin Austin for Hartford, Conn., to visit his daughter, Miss Clara Wilson, of the Hartford Hospital nursing staff. Miss Bessie Robinson, of Marysville, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. Joshua Cowan, Douglas avenue, has returned home. Mrs. Captain Duffy, who has been spending the summer at Summersville, N. S., came to the city yesterday and left last evening for her home, accompanied by Miss Pettigrew. Henry Holgate, consulting engineer of the Atlantic Sugar Refining Company, is in the city to inspect the work in progress at the Ballast wharf. M. Vallinot, inspecting engineer of the Public Works Department, arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. Vallinot is here on his monthly trip of inspection, and is at the Royal. Among the guests at the Royal is Samuel Adams, a native of the Miramichi, who is the proprietor of a big dry goods establishment in New York. Mr. Adams is a brother of the first surveyor-general of the province, and spends a portion of the summer in his native province, visiting his old home. He will remain some days in St. John. George D. Prescott, M. L. A. for Albert is at the Dufferin. To a reporter Mr. Prescott said business conditions in Albert were very good.

QUESTIONS OF DEATH OF ERNEST EARLE ADJUDICATED

Investigation Begun Before Coroner Roberts, in Temple Hall, Main Street, Last Evening—Witnesses Tell of Events Leading up to Drowning.

Before Coroner Roberts, in Temple Hall, last evening, inquiry was begun into the death of Ernest Earle, son of Robert J. Earle, of Murray street, who met his death in a motor boat collision on the river on the evening of Sunday, August 10th, when the Psyche ran into the tender of the Priscilla M., upsetting the small craft and tossing the Earle boy, with a young companion, into the water.

The following jurors were present at the hearing: William Rowan, foreman; Frederick Gallop, Herbert Craig, William Akerley, William F. Harrington, George Carvell, E. M. Sprague, Daniel J. Mullin, K. C. was present in the interest of the family of the deceased. For witnesses, Robert J. Earle, father of the drowned boy, and Charles Connell, who was steering the Priscilla M. on the evening in question, were examined, and after hearing their evidence the inquest was adjourned until Monday evening, September 22nd.

The first witness called was Robert John Earle, father of the deceased. He testified that he left his home on Murray street between 9 and 11 o'clock on the morning of Sunday, August 10th, to sail up river. Accompanying him on the boat, he said, were Charles Connell, Charles Connell, Jr., Emma Connell, Mary Connell, Harold Earle, Ernest Earle, Mrs. Earle, Queenie M. Earle, William Connell and James Connell.

Witness said: "The sail up to our summer home at Cedar Point takes about an hour from Indiantown. I have never before met with any mishap on the river. I have often sailed after dark." Questioned by the coroner as to what precaution was taken when sailing at night, witness said that he went by a red and green light. The red light, he said, is carried on the port, or right side, and the green light on the starboard, or left side. Witness said: "We left the camp between 8:30 and 9 o'clock on Sunday evening. Eleven women in the boat coming down. Thomas Connell and Arthur Walsh came down with us. We had a tender in tow. The tender is used to ashore in James Mealey and Ernest Earle were in the tender when we were coming down. Ernest was in the custom of going in the tender either when tied to the boat or near shore. He had travelled in it that way a half a dozen times this year.

"As far as I can see there is no danger in travelling in the tender. We carry no light on the tender. I have never seen a light carried on a tender. The accident happened when we were between 150 and 200 yards from the summer home at Cedar Point. We have to go on about 50 yards from Cedar Point before we can get safe water to come down river. After that we had a straight line down river to the buoy. I was sitting in the stern of our boat when I saw the other boat coming. The night was not extra dark. It was calm. We were about a hundred yards from home at Cedar Point when I saw the green light of the other boat. As far as I understand they should keep out towards their left. I wanted to see what way they would go.

The Accident. "When about two lengths apart the COURTENAY BAY WORKS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY. G. F. Palmer States Contract will be Finished well within Time—Big Dredges Coming.

"Halifax is a fine city," said G. F. Palmer of the Norton Gritting Company, who returned from a trip to the Nova Scotia capital yesterday. "It is a clean looking city, and has many well paved streets; better streets, I should say than Montreal." Speaking of the work at Courtenay Bay Mr. Palmer said that while some features of the undertaking were held up while they were removing the overburden, they were ahead of their programme, and that the present difficulties were overcome the work generally could be carried on more rapidly, and that they had no doubt that they would be able to complete the whole job well within the contract time.

STRIKE DECREASES THE BUSINESS MEN

North End Merchants state Lockout has Considerably Decreased Sales—All wish Settlement.

A reporter who has been following up the mill strike made it his particular business yesterday afternoon to inquire of the various merchants throughout the North End to what extent their business has this summer been affected, either directly or indirectly, through the closing of the saw mills, and from the information obtained the matter it was learned that as a whole the merchants in this section of the city have found the saw mill strike a great hindrance to business, and many consider themselves heavy losers simply through the disagreement between the millmen and the owners, which terminated in the ceasing of operations at the mills.

The argument advanced that practically all the mill workers are at present employed does not seem to be in evidence with the merchants, for they are complaining of the dull season, and looking for a settlement of the situation. The majority of the business men interviewed by The Standard reporter yesterday stated that the summer was going to be a very busy one. The outlook was rosy, and through the intervention of the mill strike, they claim a very noticeable setback in business has been caused.

When asked his position in the matter, a drug merchant of the North End said that he most certainly was affected by the strike and was very anxious to see some agreement reached before the arrival of winter. While no material decrease in the amount of business to any extent was noticed in his particular line, the money was not forthcoming, and that is the chief end. Accounts in his business were carried along and paid off in regular weekly or semi-weekly instalments. Since the closing of the mills no money has been received on these accounts, and the merchant considers that at least $250 a month which he would otherwise have received, has in this way been lost to him, at least until the strike is settled.

A shoe merchant, when asked to state was effect, if any, the mill strike had on his business, said that the situation was a very serious one. He stated that he had a heavy stock on hand, and business was most unusually quiet. When the question was directly put to him by the reporter as to whether he considered that his business had been cut one-quarter on account of the mill closing, he stated: "Not through the failure to pay up accounts, but through an actual decrease in the amount of purchases by the merchant say he had been affected."

A grocery man was questioned by a reporter and his position in the matter was something similar to the above mentioned men. He found that his business had been hampered by the closing of the mills, and he was not in a position to state to just what extent. The question was put pointedly to several of the merchants, and while some were not able to exactly estimate the loss resulting, all who were present stated that the strike had interfered with business.

VOL. V. NO. 139. TO DISCUSS FOR SAFE. International Conference will Deal Fully with Fine and Fisheries Board of Trade.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 5.—At the international conference to be held in London next November to inquire into measures for life-saving at sea, Canada will be represented. This conference, which will be the most important of its kind ever held will be the first discussion on the rules that have been drawn up by the British board of trade consequent upon the Titanic disaster. The Canadian government, acting through Department of Marine and Fisheries, is co-operating with the British board of trade in drawing up advanced regulations for the protection of travellers at sea. It is asked the Canadian passenger lines for provisions of opinion as to what other measures ought to be adopted to safeguard the lives of passengers. These views will be placed before the conference by the Department of Marine and Fisheries. Since the Titanic disaster the British board of trade has been considering means

S., Sept. 5.—Phoebe Johnstone, of Malcomb, a town in Little Southwest Miramichi, who was clothing accidentally caught fire from the stove yesterday morning and was burned off her before help came, died as a result of shock this morning. She had just lit the fire and was standing with her back to the stove when her clothing burst into flames. Her father was asleep. She called vainly for help and made the flames worse. Her body was terribly burned before her father awoke and extinguished the fire with water. The case was thirty-three, and leaves father and two brothers, Calvin and Elsie, both of Halifax. The funeral will be held tomorrow at Littleton.

FAST GAMES LOOKED FOR. Considerable interest is being manifested in a double header to be played this afternoon on the East End baseball grounds, when the Glenwood of this city will cross bats with the Marysville ball players. The All Stars will also meet the Marysville team in two fast games, one to be played with her back to the stove when her clothing burst into flames. Her father was asleep. She called vainly for help and made the flames worse. Her body was terribly burned before her father awoke and extinguished the fire with water. The case was thirty-three, and leaves father and two brothers, Calvin and Elsie, both of Halifax. The funeral will be held tomorrow at Littleton.

TO DISCUSS MEASURES FOR SAFETY OF OCEAN

International Conference in London, Next November, Will Deal Fully with Matter—Department of Marine and Fisheries Co-operating with British Board of Trade.

PALACE OF PEACE AND THE MEN WHO ARE STRIVING AGAINST WAR

PEACE PALACE—THE HAGUE.

Gift of Andrew Carnegie for Permanent Court of Arbitration—Governments of All Nations have Contributed Magnificent Works of Art—But Four Men Honored by Busts.

The Hague, Sept. 5.—The Peace Palace, which was dedicated with impressive ceremonies, is the gift of Andrew Carnegie, who, in 1903, placed at the disposal of the Dutch Government the sum of $1,500,000 for the purpose, as expressed in his offer, "of erecting and maintaining at The Hague a court house and library for the Permanent Court of Arbitration established by the Treaty of the 29th of July, 1899."

To provide a site for this, the first structure ever erected for such a purpose, the Dutch Government appropriated $75,000. The site selected is in a section of wooded and hilly park stretching from The Hague to Scheveningen, and the cornerstone was laid July 30, 1907.

A world-wide competition for plans and designs for the Peace Palace was established and the first prize was awarded to M. Cordonnier, a Brussels architect. The building as completed, however, does not represent the original plan, the Carnegie Committee having reserved the right to modify all designs. With Mr. Cordonnier's plans for a foundation, Mr. Van de Steur was appointed to carry out the modified design and remained in direct control of the work until the completion of the building.

The Peace Palace as completed does not represent any precise style of architecture, but it is regarded by architects as one of the most impressive of modern buildings to be seen in Europe. Rectangular in shape, it forms roughly a square of 85 yards by 65 yards, and encloses a beautiful formal garden. On three sides the building constitutes the Court House, and on the fourth or west side are the quarters of the library. The facade of the second floor is adorned with statues, the figures representing Science, Agriculture, Art, Navigation, Commerce, Industry, Conscience, Eloquence, Will-Force Study, Authority, Humanity, Constancy and Wisdom. The main windows of the great court are guarded by statues of Justice and Law, and over the central gable above the main entrance stands a figure of peace, her hands resting on the hilt of a sheathed sword, around which are swathed scrolls. Just below, over the corridor, stand two lions.

The statuary, however, is not confined to the symbolic. Four men have been honored by busts. These are Hugo Grotius, who has been called the pioneer of international law, King Edward the Seventh, Sir Randall Cremer, and William F. Stead, the English writer and peace lover who perished in the "Titanic." The bust of Cremer was the gift of the International Arbitration League.

In addition to the great Hall of Justice and the Library are numerous apartments for the judges, hung with tapestries of the old Dutch style, rooms for counsel and many parlors. One of the most imposing of all the chambers is that assigned to the Administrative Council, which is composed of all the Foreign Ministers accredited to The Hague. This wonderful room is paneled with rosewood and satinwood and hung with Japanese cartoons and embroidered silks. There are the rooms also for the President of the Court, the Secretary-General and his assistant, and numerous hand-some reception rooms, all adorned with oil-paintings and ornamented with carvings in rare woods.

Apartments also have been set aside for the press, and a complete system of vaults and steel lockers for the preservation of the records of the important congresses which will be held in the Palace.

The Library, which occupies the two stories to the west of here, is a lecture room, a reading room, a lecture room and central office and many rooms for study, while upstairs are the book compartments in steel glass windows. To one side of it is a

THE CHINESE REBELLION NOW OVER

Northern Forces Sacks Nanking, Capturing Last Southern Stronghold.

LOOTERS ATTACK MISSION STATIONS.

Wife of American Vice-Consul Addresses Soldiers and Wins Safety for Herself and Home.

Peking, Sept. 5.—Despatches received here from Nanking report that the Northern forces completely sacked that city. The looting and other excesses lasted three days. The soldiers visited the American consulates and demanded money, but Mrs. Alvin W. Gilbert, wife of the vice-consul, during the absence of her husband, pluckily talked the men out of their designs, reminding them that the Americans were their friends. The soldiers then left the consulate.

Another party of soldiers attempted to enter the American Presbyterian mission. They threatened to shoot the Rev. Alfred B. Gray, the resident missionary, because he refused to open the gate to them. Looters also tried to force their way into the Rev. J. M. Gill's American Protestant Episcopal mission. They fired several shots, through the closed gates, and when it was finally opened, and the looters observed foreigners inside, they departed.

The fall of Nanking to the Northern forces marks the close of the rebellion, as all the provinces are now reported to be quiet. Proposals involving the election of a president of the republic before the drafting of the constitution have been completed and are now before parliament.

The Gazette today announces the resignation of the cabinet, and says the personnel of a new ministry will be submitted for the approval of parliament next week.

Dykeman-Cameron.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. M. F. McCutcheon, on Thursday evening when Viola Wallace, a daughter of William J. Cameron, of Centre Greenwich, Queens Co., was united in marriage to Rupert F. Dykeman, son of Gilbert F. Dykeman, of this city. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few immediate relatives and the contracting party, Mr. and Mrs. Dykeman will reside in the city.

GIRL BURNS TO DEATH

Phoebe Johnstone of Halcomb Dies as Result of Terrible Injuries—Clothing Caught Fire.

Special to The Standard. Newcastle, B. Sept. 5.—Phoebe Johnstone, of Malcomb, a town on Little Southwest Miramichi, whose clothing accidentally caught fire from the stove yesterday morning and was burned off her before help came, died as a result of shock this morning. She had just lit the fire and was standing with her back to the stove when her clothing burst into flames.

Her father was asleep. She called vainly for help, and then turned toward a spring which made the flames worse. Her body was terribly burned before her father awoke and extinguished the fire with water. The deceased was thirty-three, and leaves a father and two brothers, Calvin and Eliza, both of Halcomb. INTERVENTION IS ONLY WAY

Gerald H. Totten, of Mexico, Believes United States Will Have to Compel Peace.

That intervention on the part of the United States is about the only way of establishing permanent peace in Mexico is the opinion of Gerald Totten, who owns a large estate in Mexico, and who was at the Royal yesterday. Mr. Totten admitted that American intervention would probably cause the Mexican units and offer determined resistance, but thought that after a few pitched battles discord would break out again and Uncle Sam would have little further difficulty in establishing peace.

"There are a great many people in Mexico who are tired of the strife and would welcome peace at any price," he said. Mr. Totten was in Mexico during the Madro revolution and said that during the fracas it was impossible to carry on any work. Madro attained to power by promising reforms in the interests of the people, but he did not carry out his promises, and under his regime conditions in the country districts remained about the same as during the rule of Diaz.

Mr. Totten thought the peon question would solve itself if the peons were given personal liberty and an opportunity to improve their position. Under the system which has been in operation the peons could be imprisoned for debt, and the landlords used this power to compel the peons to work on their estates in a condition of semi-slavery. Once a peon got into debt he was seldom allowed to become a free man again.

FAST GAMES LOOKED FOR

Considerable interest is being manifested in a double header to be played this afternoon on the East End baseball grounds, when the Glenwoods of this city will cross bats with the Marysville ball players. The All Stars will also meet the Marysville team, and two fast games are looked for.

The Glenwoods met the York county team last Saturday on the latter's home grounds, and a fast game was played, resulting in a score of 3 to 2 in favor of the Marysville team. For six innings the teams battled in a scoreless contest, the allies coming in the last portion of the game so that the fans will no doubt see some real classy ball this afternoon.

For the Glenwoods the battery will be Lawlor and McNutt, while Boyce and Bird or Gale will be between the points for the visitors. The first game will be called at 3 o'clock. In the game between the All Stars and the Marysville team.

HAND EMBROIDERY WOMAN'S GREATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT.

Embroidery Don't's for the Beginner. Those who would embroider should have several corks of various sizes in their workbags; they are useful for many purposes.

A pretty idea is to crochet with silk over several corks, attach them to stick the hook, the scissors, the pincers and the needles in them.

Following are a few "Don't's" which would be fancy work in general may find helpful:

First—Don't forget to sit up straight; hold the work up; never bend down to it; and

Don't forget the necessity of a good light, which must fall over the left shoulder.

Don't allow light to shine in the eyes when sewing, reading or embroidering.

Don't work for hours at a time on fine embroidery; it is nerve-trying as well as nerve-trying.

Don't work roughly or try to hurry.

Don't be impatient over embroidery; it never pays; be like our faithful friend, the tourist—"Slow, but sure."

Don't use sewing needles for embroidery, but buy the proper kind, which comes in all sizes for the purpose.

Don't knot the cotton or silk; that causes lumps and makes poor, amateurish work; start and finish with a buttonhole stitch or two.

Don't work unless your hands are perfectly dry and clean; soiled work of any kind is an abomination, even if it will wash.

The beginner will find a storehouse of information contained in the lesson sheets given with the Imperial Embroidery Transfer Pattern Outfit, which is being advertised in these columns and distributed to our readers practically free.

Every one who does embroidery should avail themselves of this great offer.

YEAR'S FISH CATCH BIG

Fishermen of Canada Make Excellent Showing in Spite of Shortage in Other Countries.

The value of the fish caught in St. John county during the month of July was $30,221, according to the last bulletin issued by the Dominion Fisheries Department. The value of the fisheries of Charlotte county during the same period was $76,590. These valuations represent the prices received by the fishermen. The total value of the fish caught by New Brunswick fishermen during July was $319,825, which indicates an important industry.

Gloucester county's catch for the month was $86,629, the highest of any county in the province.

The value of the fish caught in Nova Scotia during July was $18,214. In Canada as a whole the fish catch for July was valued at $2,548,397, as compared with $2,532,094 for July last year.

Canadian fishermen generally have had a good season, and as in most other fishing countries the catch has not been up to the standard of previous years, the market conditions this winter should be satisfactory.

ASSAULT CASE UP IN POLICE COURT

Charles Morgan, Charged with Striking James Harley, Examined by Magistrate—Different Stories.

In the police court yesterday morning John Thompson and William Dunlavey, charged with drunkenness and indecent exposure, pleaded guilty to the first charge and not guilty to the second charge. They were each fined $8 or one month in jail on the first charge and remanded on the second. One other drunk pleaded guilty and was remanded.

In the case of Charles Morgan, charged with assaulting James Harley on Main street on Wednesday the plaintiff testified that Morgan struck him twice. The plaintiff further stated that he had had a little trouble with Morgan before. Harley, when questioned by E. S. Ritchie, who appeared for the accused, could remember nothing but that Morgan struck him. Officer Totten testified that he did not see Harley so much as raise his hand to defend himself. Morgan testified that he had had trouble with Harley before and that Harley had been warned by the policeman to keep away from his premises. Morgan further testified that Harley called him an obscene name and made a swing at him with his fist, then witness struck Harley only once. Walter Delaney testified and corroborated Morgan's testimony, all but the obscene language which he did not hear. Nathan A. Palmer was asked to be in court but did not come. A subpoena was issued for his appearance this morning at 10 o'clock.

SAD DROWNING AT GAGETOWN

Jeremiah Smith, Aged 70 Years, Missed, and Body Later Found in River—Daughter Here.

Jeremiah Smith, aged seventy years, met death yesterday by drowning at Gunter's Wharf, seven miles above Lower Gagetown. Whether he fell from the wharf or a scow while suffering from an attack of dizziness with which he has been afflicted of late, or whether the action was premeditated is unknown, as there were no witnesses to the deed. The latter theory prevails among the people in the neighborhood where the fatality occurred, as it has been noticed that the deceased had been acting strangely of late.

Mr. Smith and his wife have for the past seven or eight months made their home with a daughter, Mrs. Frederick Gaudin, at Lower Gagetown. Recently he went to visit relatives at Upper Gagetown and it was while visiting there that he met his death. Residents in the vicinity were not aware of the drowning until quite late in the day, when Mr. Smith was missed. A search was made and the body was found near the shore by a nephew, Grant Smith.

About a year ago he lived in St. John and was employed here, but during the winter he removed to Lower Gagetown, where he has since resided.

One daughter, Miss Edna Smith, resides at St. James street in this city, and will leave this morning to attend the funeral. To The Standard John, who lives at Marysville. The funeral will be held at Gagetown, Coronor John Hoben, of Gagetown, will hold an inquest into the drowning.

FRONT PAGE FOR ST. JOHN

Board of Trade will Advertise this City in Special Number of Canadian Manufacturer.

The city authorities have decided to advertise St. John on the front page of the special number of the Canadian Manufacturer, containing a report of the proceedings of the manufacturers' convention to be held at Halifax, As St. John is the front door of Canada, it was considered appropriate to occupy the front cover, leaving to Halifax a chance to get in somewhere else. The Board of Trade will also have a half page advertisement in the special number, setting forth the advantages of the city as a site for industries. J. C. Armer, manager of the Canadian Manufacturer, will spend the next two weeks in the Maritime Provinces writing up articles on the industrial possibilities which will be printed in the special number.

There are about thirty manufacturers in St. John who are members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and under the lead of S. E. Elkin, vice-president of the association for New Brunswick, they are making arrangements for the entertainment of the manufacturers during their short visit to St. John on their way from the convention.

The deceased was born at Gary, Ontario. For a number of years he resided at Ormococt, later coming to this city. Besides his widow and two daughters he is survived by a brother, John, who lives at Marysville. The funeral will be held at Gagetown, Coronor John Hoben, of Gagetown, will hold an inquest into the drowning.

ADVISES NOT TO MARRY A NOBLEMAN

Advice to American girls about to marry foreign noblemen was delivered in plain terms by the Marchesa San Germano. The Marchesa was married seven years ago and has lived most of that time in Naples. Before her marriage she was Miss Virginia Hoga, of Louisville, Ky.

"I will say, however," she continued, "that the average American girl who marries into a noble European family, makes a very grievous mistake. In my own case I am utterly disillusioned, Foreign men look upon their wives as personal chattels, and at the same time, while exhibiting inordinate jealousy, consider themselves free to engage in any more irregular love affair as they please."

THE BATTLE OF THE FLAG

Continued From Page Twelve... In the misty heavens, and while the French, with much confusion and tumult, were pouring across their nineteen bridges, Ferdinand's troops, in perfect silence and order, marching on converging lines, had filled up the apparent gap, and stood in order of battle ready for the fight.

Day broke, grey and uncertain, with fog, and the French moved stumblingly, and with many halts, across the heath, rough with undergrowth, in front of Minden. Brigade, with the bulk of the Weser to guide him, reached Wassenheim's flank. About eight o'clock Contades, riding in front of his slowly advancing battalions, mounted the low empty ridge which marked the apparent gap in Ferdinand's position, and from which he expected Wassenheim's undivided flank, lying open to his stroke. The grey mist slowly lifting and blown in eddies by a faint wind, still stretched over the plain, but through it there broke on Contades' astonished vision the outlines of a great army in steadfast battle array—far-reaching lines of solid infantry, punctuated with batteries, and edged with ordered squadrons of horse. The "gap" had vanished. Ferdinand's army had advanced and left wing on the Weser was knitted by a chain of marshalled battalions to his centre. This was formed of three far-extended lines, the foremost a long ribbon of steel and scarlet, while yet farther to the right, ranked in menacing squadrons, was the British and Hanoverian cavalry. With a stroke Prince Ferdinand had cancelled all the advantages of position on the part of the French, and drew them out to meet him in the open.

Contades could not retreat: to cross those nineteen bridges with Ferdinand thundering on his rear would have been ruinous. He had, after all, great superiority in numbers, and, as quickly as might be, he made his disposition for battle. Contades adopted a very ominous precedent—the formation of cavalry—a magnificent force of 10,000 horsemen—in his centre, covered the front by the fire of his powerful artillery, and formed his infantry on either wing. A small wood screened the British and Hanoverian cavalry, of Ferdinand's right; the ground served to protect the Hanoverian and Prussian battalions that formed his left. But the right was the crowning squadrons of French horsemen and the steadfast lines of British infantry gazed at each other with a mixture of amazement and awe. The glitter of 10,000 grand-shouldered squadrons of French cavalry might ride in one mad, breathless, overwhelming charge, which would break through the triple lines of exposed British battalions, and sweep on through a screen of brushwood. In the opportunity for a sublime and apparently riskless cavalry charge, Contades exceeded it; with this further advantage that the French horsemen had to hurl themselves, not against the British line squares, with their double lines of steadfast bayonets, and flame of musketry fire from four faces. This had before them the front of the front of infantry in line. For now came the amazing "blunder" which makes the wonder of the battle. This amazing blunder was advancing, with flags unceasing, and loud roll of drums, and steady tread of disciplined feet to attack the cavalry.

The six Minden regiments are the 13th (or East Suffolk), the 23rd (or Royal Welch Fusiliers), the 57th, the 20th (or East Devonshire), the 25th, and the 51st. Of these, three Poles formed the first line; the last three under General Kingley, and Waldegrave, formed the second line; they were supported by the Hanoverian and Prussian battalions. According to the "Historical Records of the 12th Foot," at a later stage in the fight the second line of British battalions formed on the right of the first line, and the Hanoverian brigade on its left, thus making one far-reaching and slender infantry line. But this movement is not reported in other accounts of the fight, and must be considered very doubtful. It is always difficult to translate into plain terms the tumult and confusion, the charges and retreats of a great fight; but a hundred years ago the great details are concealed by the mists of time. On the whole, it must be accepted that Ferdinand's centre, where the dishevelled struggle took place, consisted of three leading divisions of which the first and second were British, and the third Hanoverian.

unembarrassed countenance, the looks of revenge, contempt, and of superiority. Nobody entertains that theory now; but in the quality of suspicious and malignant temper, in the faculty for secreting gall, and then discharging it on everybody about him, Lord George Sackville might well have lived with "Junius." He had the gall of that bitter antagonist on the morning of Minden, Lord George Sackville was in a ferment of sulky British jealousy of being made an enemy of by a foreigner like Prince Ferdinand; and he allowed the gall in his blood to so disorder his reason, that he forgot both his duty as a soldier and his honor as a gentleman.

How to Absorb an Unlucky Complexion (Phyllis Moore in Talk.) The face which is admired for its beauty must have a satin-smooth skin, pink and white and youthful looking. The only thing I know of that can give a complexion of this kind is a good, faded, or discolored one—I mean a natural, not a painted, complexion—is ordinary mercurial wax. This remarkable substance literally absorbs the unsightly cuticle, a little each day, the clear, healthy, girlish skin beneath gradually peeping out until within a week or so it is wholly in evidence. Of course such blemishes as freckles, moles, patches, liver spots, blotches and pimples are not removed by this skin. If you will procure an ounce of mercurial wax at the drug store, use it each morning, you'll find it a veritable wonder-worker.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Right Flowers In Right Vase

ONE day last September I paid two calls in a little suburban town, writes Ruby Rose Goodnow in the Delineator. My first hostess ushered me into a very conventional living room. Everything placed just so. There was a tall, cut glass vase of pink carnations on the big table, and my hostess apologized for their faded edges—she hadn't been to the city recently, she said.

My second hostess welcomed me in a living room that was as good as woods and gardens, so full was it of outdoors. On her reading table there was a blue ginger jar filled and spilling over with roses—roses, you know the little dark red balls on their twisty red-brown stems?—roses, berries, I like to call them.

There was a big brown earthenware jar full of red and yellow-leaves in the fireplace, and a brown basket filled with pine twigs, with the needles and cones twisted about them on the occasional day out of town to get flowers, prefer the lasting things; the leaves and twigs that bring the idea of outdoors into the house.

Now, one of these women had missed the greatest joy the country has to offer; she hadn't opened her eyes to the beauty of the things about her. Flowers, to her, meant hothouse flowers, and expense, and display, but they didn't mean beauty and sweetness.

She thought of flowers as she did of an expensive dessert for dinner—something apart from the routine; something of momentary importance.

The other woman found flowers and leaves and branches of lasting importance. She managed to have them all the time, and she never bought them. She refused to admit useless vases into her rooms, and selected jars and bowls and jugs of quiet tones, to give the flowers a chance. She used all the lowly garden flowers as they came, and when they came no longer she went to the woods for leaves and branches. Certainly her blue bowl of rose berries made ordinary carnations in their cut glass vase seem pretentious and artificial.

I like carnations, but I love their country sisters, clove pinks, better, live a little longer, and are more dependent on the florist's shop.

If you live in the country you have all outdoors to draw on for flowers and leaves, trailing vines and berries. You can make your vases and jars interesting all the year round. We in the city, who depend on the florist's occasional day out of town to get flowers, prefer the lasting things; the leaves and twigs that bring the idea of outdoors into the house.

The old-fashioned garden flowers come into the city—the lilacs and daisies and jonquils and stocks—we empty our true and dried leaves and twigs in these sweet smelling, honey flowers.

You can buy better vases and jars at an ordinary crockery shop than you can in the bric-a-brac places. A brown earthenware jar, intended for a bean pot, is a very imposing thing when it is filled with flowers.

There are many little vases with slender necks that are just right for single roses, or two or three jonquils. But usually the squat jars and vases with openings big enough to admit many flowers are nicer than these slender ones. Like many lowly garden flowers, a vase of jonquils, a green loving cup, about six inches in diameter, to hold the sprays of plum and cherry blossoms and the indescribably lovely apple blossoms that spring from them. These vases should be straight up and down, with no curves or decorations. In green, gray, or brown earthenware they are perfect for the garden flowers from the fruit trees. Later they will be just as nice for irises and gladioli, and still later for autumn leaves.

How To Have Pretty Arms

THERE is nothing more attractive than a beautiful, rounded arm, dimpled at elbow, and softly curved at the wrist; so begin at once to make yours what it should be.

A beautiful arm must be a white arm, and the girl who has allowed herself during the summer months, to be blackened by sunburn, should set to work at once to repair the damage old Sol has wrought. A dainty bleach, which will not only whiten and soften the skin but heal small abrasions and pimples, can be made as follows:

Beat the yolk of one egg until fluffy, then add a teaspoonful of olive oil, half a teaspoonful of glycerine, and half an ounce of rose-water. Mix with enough flour to make a firm paste, and coat the arms thickly with it at night, winding about them long strips of cheesecloth, the ends of which are fastened securely with safety-pins. Let these bandages remain on until morning, and repeat this treatment nightly until you have arms which can defy criticism. This is one of the methods by which the professional stage beauty secures her perpetually snowy arms.

Constant dipping of the arms in water is ruinous to the texture of the skin, and if you household tasks force you to wet your arms frequently, you should first protect them with a coating of nutron-tallow or olive oil. So sensitive indeed is the skin about the use of ordinary soap leaves them red and blotchy. If your skin comes under this classification, make up some little bran bags and use them instead of soap when bathing your arms. Also, rub the arms twice a day with orange-flower lotion.

Orange-Flower Lotion for Red Arms
Orange-flower water . . . 12 ounces
Pure glycerine 34 ounces
Pulverized borax 6 drams
The very first requisite for a perfect arm is exercise, for there must be a shaping foundation of muscle if the arm is to present the much-admired curve of beauty. So do you do tomorrow morning and purchase a pair of light Indian clubs. Then begin, without delay, to take the following exercises daily. Be sure not to get heavy clubs, for they will make your muscles thick and knobby like a man's and no girl wants that.

Exercise for Beautiful Arms.

Stand erect with arms outstretched before you and clubs pointing down. Describe horizontal circles, counting ten, then describe vertical circles, in like manner. All the motion should come from the wrists, and forearm, the shoulder muscles being perfectly still. This will build up the forearm in a very little while, banishing any flabby folds of fat and replacing them with firm and shapely tissue.

For the shoulders and upper arm, the following exercise is excellent: Stand erect, with arms raised to full height, above the head and clubs pointing upward. Swing the arms down in two circles, letting them cross in lower center front, and return to original position.

After these exercises to make the arms shapely, a few should be practiced to give grace and flexibility to the arm, for the prettiest arm is unattractive if stiffly handed, and it is this matter of moving the arms pliantly that the French woman has so excellently mastered. A famous New York ballet-master in New York employs this movement to train the arms of his pupils into harmonious action:

Stand with arms hanging loosely in front, the fingers just touching, so that a long oval is formed. There should be no break at wrist or elbow. Now, swing the arms apart and upward, until they have the same oval at shoulder height. Swing the arms apart again and form the oval above the head. Now return to the original position, and repeat the oval. This should not be done in three jerky movements, but as one continuous movement; in ballet training, it is always done to music, so that makes the gesture more rhythmic. Practice this before a mirror, so that no ungraceful gestures can escape your eye; if there is an angle in the oval at wrist or elbow, you have proof positive that your arms need treatment.

The woman with large, fat arms should wear a long-sleeved sweater while exercising, and the girls with thin arms should add massage to her daily treatment. Let her begin with a beauty bath to soften and whiten the skin, and make it receptive of the massage. To a basinful of very warm water add two cupfuls of oatmeal and few drops of benzoin. Immerse your arms in this, making sure that the elbows are well under water, and soak for several minutes; then, with a coarse washcloth, scrub them briskly, until they are a glowing pink. Dry thoroughly, and rub with a piece of lemon, letting the lemon-juice dry on. If your elbows are discolored and rough, rub them very gently with a bit of toilet pumice, and you are ready for the massage proper.

Coat the arms with a flesh-building cold cream, and rub thoroughly into the pores. The wrists should be massaged with a circular movement, paying especial attention to the small joint, which protrudes like an unsightly knob if milady has neglected her arms. For the elbows, rest the offending "funny-bones" in your palm, and anoint it until it feels like satin.

Of course, all this takes a great deal of cream, so I would not advise you to use your expensive face-cream for this purpose. A simple hand-cream will prove equally effective. A certain amount of hair on the arms is natural, and rarely noticed save by the owner, but the girl who has an excessive growth of hair on her arms, should use the French method of bleaching and killing the roots. Cutting the hairs makes them coarser and, hence, more noticeable.

Some September Canning

THE cheap season for apples, plums and grapes, which is now at its height, makes the following recipes timely. Use sterilized glasses into which to pour hot liquids, clean, washed apples into quarters, without peeling; and half as much water, and cook till the apples are soft. Strain the juice through cheesecloth, as long as it will drip, then strain it again through a flannel bag. To every quart of juice add a quart of granulated sugar. Stir over the fire until the sugar is dissolved. Bring to the boiling point, skim; boil again, skim; and repeat a third time.

They may then be pitted, or used whole. Add quart for quart of sugar. Put them in layers in the preserving kettle, sprinkling each layer of plums with sugar till all is used. Heat very slowly to boiling point. Stir carefully. Boil ten minutes from the time the fruit begins to bubble.

Plum Conserves—The ingredients are: a pound of pitted plums, three pounds of sugar, one pound of raisins, one pound of walnut meat, three oranges in small pieces, and one-half pound of currants. Cook all until thick—about one and one-half hours—and fill into sterilized glasses. Cover with paraffin when cold.

Boil for about half an hour. Drain the juice through cheesecloth or a jelly-bag measure, and add a cupful of sugar for every two quart of juice. Care must be taken not to squeeze the draining-bag or the jelly will be clouded. After putting the juice and sugar back on the fire, boil up and skim three times.

Grape Butter—Save the skimmings when making grape jelly and pour them into a granite pan. Add half a cupful of water and a cupful of sugar. Cook until thick, stirring often.

Mrs Marshall's Fine Muffins

housewives, she early learned to make. Look first prize at the Pike county fair when she showed it, and here is the recipe. Mrs. Clark calls it Cassian bread:

Take half a pint of new milk; bring it to near boiling and then add a couple of tablespoonsful of cold water; add enough cornmeal to make mush, a little butter, then set it in a flour pan where, in the morning, there will be a yeast to start with. Put in some hot but not scalding water; then stir in some fresh flour, with half a pint of water, enough to make butter. Then put it by the stove and it will rise in an hour. Roll it out in leaves, grease your pans with lard. Scald the leaves on top so they won't burn. Bake with a slow fire.

Another southern cook who has contributed to the new book is Mrs. O. H. James, wife of Representative James. One recipe she gives is for spoon bread, which she learned to make from the old black mammy in her Kentucky home kitchen:

Scald one pint of white cornmeal. Melt one half cup of butter and lard, and pour in the meal while it is hot. Immediately mix in milk to make it very soft. Beat the yolks of three eggs well and put them in the mixture. Add two spoonfuls of baking powder, and a lastly, the well beaten whites of three eggs. Cook in a slow oven for 35 minutes. Serve very hot. It is so soft that it has to be served with a spoon.

Worth Knowing

To renew the luster of morocco, or any other leather, apply the white of an egg with a sponge.

Use a clothespin to screw a small hook into hard wood. It will make it much easier than if the fingers are used.

Window blinds which have become dull and dusty with age may be considerably freshened by means of a coating of linseed oil. An old brush may be used with which to apply it, the blind being first secured with sassafras and then dried before the oil is laid on.

AGRICULTURE
Seed Grain vs Commercial Grain

From the numerous complaints and inquiries made every year to Seed Inspectors by farmers and seed merchants of Canada, regarding the grading and the trade of seed and commercial grain, it can be inferred that many of them are ignorant of the qualifications and the different laws which regulate the inspection and the trade of these two classes of grain.

Farmers, especially secretaries of Agricultural Societies and Farmers' Clubs, and small merchants often buy grain, supposedly for seed purposes, which reaches them with official certificates accompanying the cars, showing the grain to be Extra No. 1, No. 1, or No. 2, etc.

These certificates are valid, but they refer to the commercial inspection only and they have no value whatever in regard to the qualification of the grain for Seed purposes.

Very often the buyers do not know that the two classes of grain are inspected, and their trade regulated, under two different laws: "The Canada Grain Act 1911" under the Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce applying to the commercial grain, and "The Seed Control Act 1911" under the Dominion Department of Agriculture, applying to the seed grain.

It is most important that all interested people should know the official standards of quality fixed by the two laws.

Official Standards of Quality for Commercial Grain.

The short space reserved for this article will not allow discussion of the grades of all kinds of grain, therefore Oats alone will be taken into consideration.

Extra No. 1 Canada Western—shall be white, sound, clean and free from other grain, and shall contain 95 p. c. of white oats and shall weigh not less than 42 pounds to the bushel.

No. 1 Canada Western—shall be white, sound, clean and free from other grain, shall contain 95 p. c. of white oats and shall weigh not less than 38 pounds to the bushel.

No. 2 Canada Western—shall be sound, reasonably clean and reasonably free from other grain, shall contain 90 p. c. of white oats and shall weigh not less than 34 pounds to the bushel.

No. 3 Canada Western—shall be sound but not clean enough or sufficiently free from other grain to be graded as No. 2, and shall weigh not less than 34 pounds to the bushel.

No. 1 Black or Mixed—shall be sound, clean free from other grain, and weigh not less than 36 pounds to the bushel.

No. 2 Black or Mixed—shall be sound, reasonably clean, and weigh not less than 34 pounds to the bushel.

Extra No. 1 Feed—shall be sound except as to frost, shall contain not more than 2 p. c. of wheat nor more than 2 p. c. of other grain, shall be reasonably clean, and shall weigh not less than 38 pounds to the bushel.

No. 1 Feed—shall be oats excluded from the preceding grades on account of damage other than heating, shall contain not more than 5 p. c. of wheat, nor more than 3 p. c. of other grains, shall be reasonably clean and shall weigh not less than 34 pounds to the bushel.

No. 1 Feed—shall include oats weighing less than 34 pounds to the bushel or otherwise unfit for No. 1 feed.

The lower grades are: No Grade—Condemned—Rejected.

It is evident that these grades mean absolutely nothing as far as Seed grain is concerned. Even Extra No. 1 oats can be infested with noxious weeds and be graded as such, while it should be disqualified as Seed oats. The terms "clean," "sound," etc., as applied to commercial grading are too broad to be accepted for grading grain for seed purposes.

It should be noticed also that the germination and especially the purity of the variety are not taken into consideration in the commercial grading, while they are of the utmost importance for the seed grain. A lot of Extra No. 1, commercial oats may contain a large number of different varieties, as all grain of a certain grade is put together in the same bins of the commercial elevators without regard to the variety. Of course, certain lots bought directly from farmers can be forwarded eastward without passing through the elevators, but freight on these lots is very expensive and great precautions have to be taken to secure them in this way.

Qualification of the Seed Grain According to the Seed Control Act 1911.

The purpose of this Act is not, as most farmers think, to prevent direct selling of poor lots of grain for seed purposes, but only to provide them with a good means of self-protection. This purpose is attained by compelling the seed merchants to label the bags of grain offered as seed grain

Utility Poultry

In order for utility poultry to be profitable as well as any other the man must give them reasonable good care and attention, and watch even the closest details in feeding, housing, weeding and breeding. Before proceeding with the hen it might not be amiss to review the requirements of utility breeds.

Requirements of Utility Birds.

Comb—Low, wide stout.
Head—Short, with short stout beak, a full face and clear bright eyes.
Neck—Short.
Back—Short, wide and neatly turned.
Body—Deep and wide.
Breast—Wide and full.
Breast Bone—Fair length; straight and well covered with meat.
Thigh—Short, strong and well muscled.
Shanks—Smooth, soft and close fitting scales.
Toes—Smooth and straight.
Utility Type—A small head with a broad skull, short, broad back, low set, deep and wide body.
Condition—Fine smooth head, soft feathers, fine, strong bones in legs and feet, fine smooth scales fitting closely on the legs.

As I stated before it depends on the hen. A hen may measure up to all of the former requirements and yet fail to be profitable. What then is the poultry? Is it the hen that has the largest number of ribbons credited to her? Is it the Madison Square winner that sells for $1000 or more? Is it the hen that lays two-hundred and sixty eggs or more in three hundred and sixty days? It may be some of these. It is the hen that converts the food she consumes into eggs and meat. It is the hen that will mature early and lay six months of eggs, have good robust constitution, and will lay when eggs are seventy-five cents a dozen as well as when they are twenty-five cents a dozen. She is more. The utility hen may lay two hundred eggs or more and still not be a utility bird in the sense of the word. Before this can be ascertained there are certain factors which have to be determined. 1st. Will she lay eggs? 2nd. Will her eggs be fertile? 3rd. Will they hatch? 4th. Will the chicks live? 5th. Will the chick be strong enough to grow to maturity? and 6th. Will the bird be any good when mature?

In the first place there are hens from utility flocks as well as from others that seldom or never lay an egg, or at least comparatively few. Again, there are those that may stand first in an egg-laying contest and when the eggs are incubated they prove infertile, while others perhaps have all their eggs prove fertile but the germ is too weak to hatch, and if they do hatch are too weak to survive in the struggle for existence. It is true that feeding, housing, etc., may enter in here, none of which I can discuss now, yet it is undeniable fact that often our heaviest producers are our poorest assets as far as advancement of the race is concerned.

What then is a utility bird? In my humble opinion it is the bird that is mature and commences to lay at six months of age; lays a reasonable sized number of eggs of good average size with good smooth strong shells at all seasons of the year—the eggs proving fertile and running fairly high in hatching power, and giving rise to good strong robust vigorous stock.

In short it is the hen or bird that is a good average layer, with good sized rooster, and has the power to transmit to her offspring the same good qualities that she herself pos-

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World — Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

Fox Creek, N. B.—"I have always had pains in the abdomen and a weakness there and often after meals a soreness in my stomach. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better and I can work with ambition. I have regained my health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations."

It is important for the farmer to know that the Government does not "guarantee" the seed grain, as they very often think, but only gives them the means to secure from the merchant an efficient guaranty.

If the bags of seed grain are labelled, the buyer knows if there are noxious weeds in the grain, and he is at liberty to take it or not.

Very often it happens that the merchant offers his grain to the farmers "to do with it whatever he likes, to sow it or to feed it." This position is generally taken by merchants who are not able to guarantee the grain to be clean enough for seed purposes, and in such cases the farmer who is anxious to get a clean and good crop does well to buy his seed grain from a more responsible merchant.

G. MICHAUD,
Quebec.
