Thrilling Scenes. BOERS BEATEN AGAIN.

White and French have carried the Boer position at Elandslaagte, which is between Ladysmith and Dundee.

Cape Town, Oct. 21-Midnight.-Gens.

on. Oct. 22.—At 2 o'clock this morning the war office posted this from Gen. Sir Archibald Hunter:

"Ladysmith, Oct. 21-8:45 p.m.-Gen. White rode toward Elandslaagte 2:30 p.m. The force under Gen. French left here at 4 a.m. by road and rail to Modder's Bridge. By 2 p.m. it had been gradually strengthened to the following total: Fifth Lancers, a squadron of the Fifth Dragcon Guards, two field batteries, the Natal Field Battery, the Devonshire Regiment, half the Manchester Regiment, half the Gordon Highlanders, the Imperial Light Horse and two squadrons of Natal volunteers. I remain here in defense of Ladysmith with the Gloucester Regiment, half the with the Gloucester Regiment, half the and a squadron of the Fifth Dragoon Manchester, half the Gordon Highland-Guards charged thrice through the reers, a mountain battery and 500 Natal volunteers. White's intention was to reopen the railway to Dundee and return here with his troops tonight. "At 7:45 p.m. a report was received by telephone saying we had carried the enemy's position, capturing their camp, equipment, horses and wagons. The cavalry are in pursuit. The operators on the instruments say we have some wounded, but no details yet. I expect Gen. White will be late, so I'M

"I was present in person from 3:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., but did not assume direction of the fight, which was left in the hands of Gen. French. Although desultory fighting took place early in the day, while reinforcements, sent out later on ascertaining the enemy's strength, were arriving from Ladysmith, the real action did not begin until 3:30 p.m. At that hour the Boers held a position of very exceptional strength, consisting of a rocky hill about a mile and a half southeast of Elandslaagte station.

A full list will go to you later. "Our wounded and those of the enemy are now arriving by trains. Besides Boers we have many Hollanders, Germans and other prisoners of mixed nationalities.

"The behavior of our troops and of the colonial forces was admirable." DETAILS OF THE BATTLE. Cape Town, Oct. 22.-The news of Gen. French's victory at Elandslaagte has just been published here. It caus-ed great enthusiasm, and the people left the churches in order to get de-tails of the fighting. Schiel, a former German officer, who was leading a section of the Boers in the engagement, was taken prsoner. The Boers, although driven from their guns, returned again and again, whenever opportunity occurred. The high ground near the left of the enemy's position was occupied at the com-mencement of the action, the British creeping along the crest, and making a wide circuit. The infantry attack was directed against the right of the enemy's position, the infantry coming quickly into contact with the Boers, who at that point occupied a strong footing, which they held resolutely, was made by our troops, who advanced with great dash, and, in spite of heavy losses, carried the main posi-tion with a rush just as the light was failing. The ground traversed by our troops was rough and stony, and the capture of the position was a fine feat of arms. The cavalry lapped well around and inflicted severe loss upon the enemy. It was highly important to strike a severe blow, as the Orange Free States are known to be concentrated northwest of Ladysmith in con-siderable strength. The flank attack was gallantly delivered by the Manohester Regiment.

The wounded are being attended to in the principal church at Ladysmith, which has been converted into a hos-

Dispatches received from the front regarding the capture of Elandslaagte show it to have been a brilliant feat of arms. The Boers were strongly entreanched, and fought with their wonted bravery. ANOTHER ACCOUNT. A Ladysmith dispatch says: At an early hour our forces moved out by road and rail. It was computed that there were 1,200 Boers, with Maxims, covering their front and occupying a well-chosen position at the base of a sugar-loaf shaped hill, some little distance south of Elandslaagte. On both flanks were strong commandos and three big guns strongly posted and commanding a wide sweep on all sides, leaving an opening for retreat. Thrice were the Boer batteries in this left and en-though the Boers fought with great pluck and determination, each time our guns moved, and raining shrapnel and Maxim bullets against our advance. At 4 o'clock a tremendous artillery duel was in progress. Two Boer guns, splendidly placed, were stubbornly fought for two hours and a quarter, while the Boers endeavored to come into contact with our men on the right and left. A SUPERB DASH. At 6:15 the Gordon Highlanders, half of the Manchester Regiment and the Imperial Light Horse Guards advanced and stormed the enemy's front. A bayonet charge was sounded, the rear artillery on both sides suddenly ceased, and our men, the Devonshires leading, made a superb dash against the Boers. Twice were they checked by the terrible fusillade. Once the advancing brigade quivered for a moment, but then, with a ringing, roaring cheer, the whole of our force hurled itself forth like an avalanche and swept over the kopjes, bayoneting the Boers. The Boers were OVERWHELMED AND ASTOUND-ED. They paused, then retreated, then raised the white flag and surrendered. Some broke and ran, pursued by the Fifth Lancasters, who charged through and through them. It was quite dark by this time, but the slaughter must have been great. The Gordon High-landers say that the storming of Dargai Ridge was mere child's play compared with this attack. The Boer loss must have been very heavy. BOER LOSS FOUR HUNDRED. The best estimates place it at certainly over 400 killed. The Devonshire Regiment captured three flags during the fight. It is reported that Piet Kruger, who was wounded and captured, had succumbed. A and captured, had succumbed. A bugler boy of the Lancers, only 13 years of age, shot six Boers with his revolver. On his return he was carried shoulder high around the camp. While the Gordon Highlanders were bringing in the wounded last night a sharp fire was opened on them by some Bers from hiding.

Everything tends to confirm the report that Col. Baden-Powell temporarily worsted the Boers at Mafeking. appears that upwards of 400 wounded Boers have arrived at Johan-mesburg. The Boers, however, apto have reoccupied the scene of the fighting, as an attempt to recover the bodies of the British failed, owing, it is alleged, to the Boers refusing to recognize the Red Cross fiag.

The Times says the moral effect must be infinitely greater than if the British had merely awaited their enemy's onslaught. FOR THE FRONT Farewell. GOOD-BYE TO THE GUARDS.

London, Oct. 23.—London gave the Guards a grand farewell yesterday on their departure for Southampton, where they embarked for the Cape. Three battalions, the First Scots, the Second Coldstreams and the Third Grenadiers, left. The Scots took train at Waterloo Station at 7 o'clock in the morning. The fact that the day was raw and foggy did not deter a large crowd from assembling at Chelsea barracks, at 6 o'clock; and, when the first detachment wheeled out of barracks gates, the people cheered till they were Along the whole route a lusty ovation awaited the troops, the spectators including the wives and sweet-hearts of the men. Before many yards were covered, ranks were broken and the women linked their arms with the soldiers, who were carried along in the surging, singing crowd to the station, where an immense concourse was awaiting them to give them a tremendous reception. "AULD LANG SYNE." Friends grasped the rifles and kits of the troops and insisted on carrying them. The men marched to the platform singing, while the band played Scotch airs, in which the crowd, that was not allowed to go upon the platform, joined, all uniting in "Auld Lang Syne" as the train steamed out of the station. The Second Coldstreams marched to Nine Elms station, amid similar en-thusiasm and many affecting scenes. The officers allowed the men to mix freely with the men on the line of march and before they entered the station The guards left in detachments, and the last of the Scots and the Coldstreams did not depart until some time past noon. Each successive contingent was cheered by the increasing spec-tators until serried ranks of people lined the route.

TRIUMPHAL MARCH. Crowds assembled also near the Wel-ed very workmanlike in their khaki helmets and red field tunics; and the nemets and red field tunios; and the march to Waterloo etation was a triumphial progress. Their own band preceded, playing popular and patrictic airs. The scenes in the streets were similar to those attending the departure of the Scots and Coldstreams, except that, if possible, the enthusiasm was more intense. Friends and relatives marched with them and and relatives marched with them, and and relatives marched with them, and soldiers and spectators joined in songs, which were drequently drowned by hurricanes of cheers as the troops pass-ed points where the crowds were mass-At times they had the utmost difficulty to get through, the people seeming to wish to carry thom to the station shoulder high. The Duke of Comnaught, accompanied by the duchess and his daughters, inspected the Scots Guards at Chelsea Barracks, after which he addressed the men on behalf of her majesty, congratulating them upon their splendid appearance and wishing them a short campaign and a safe return to England. Col. Arthur Paget replied, and collect for charm for her meiesty and called for cheers for her majesty and for the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. These were given with great gusto, the men elevating their hel-mets on the point of their bayonets. TWO MORE SHIPLOADS.

The British transports Pavonia and Malta sailed yesterday afternoon from Southampton with troops of Sir Redvers Buller's army corps. There was great enthusiasm manifested at the docks. Enormous crowds gathered at the quay to witness the embarkation. The transports that were due to sail from Woolwich and Tilbury were detained in consequence of the heavy fog that has enveloped the London district for 48 hours, seriously impeding the embarkation of troops. The departure of the last battalions of the Coldstream Guards from Waterloo station was attended by great crowds, although the fog was so dense that they could not be distinguished from the

An Enthusiastic Reception at Kincardine.

Crowds at Railway Stations Along the Way-Sir Wilfrid on Senate Reform.

Kincardine, Oct. 23.-Speaking at the Liberal demonstration here Saturday, Sir Wilfrid Laurier discussed two questions which were embodied in the platform of the Patron party at the time that organization was formed. One was the abolition of the Senate and the other was opposition to the granting of railway subsidies. In regard to the former, the premier placed himself squarely on record as against the abolition of the second chamber. The Senate must be reformed, said he, in effect, in order that it may not be in a position to again thwart the will of the people; but we must not lay violent hands upon that institution, created by the fathers of confederation and established as a guarantee to the minor provinces. With reference to railway subsidies, Sir Wilfrid declared himself against unnecessary expenditure for this pur-pose, but maintained that it was the duty of the government to aid the construction of railways in order to promote the settlement of the newer portons of Canada. The people of Ontario had benefited by the establishment in their midst of these means of communication, and was it right to refuse to their brethren in the western provinces the same advantages which they themselves enjoyed? The premier's remarks upon these questions elicited an enthusiastic response, which showed how thoroughly he was in harmony with public opinion.

A marked feature of Saturday's proreedings was the reception given to Hon. W. S. Fielding. Although suffer-ing from hoarseness, the minister of finance made a most skillful presentation of the government's fiscal policy and created an impression of the most flattering character. The welcome accorded to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleague at Kincardine was just as hearty and enthusiastic as at the other places already visited. In spite of the raw, chilly day, hundreds of farmers drove in from the surrounding country, and the incoming trains during the morning were filled with people. Mot-toes embodying the salient features of the government's policy over-hung the streets, and many flags displayed. When the premier and his colleagues arrived at 12:30 the station and its approaches were crowded with people, and much en-thusiasm was shown. As the two min-isters passed along the streets cheers were continuously raised and hats were thrown in the air. The town council (which is Conservative in sentiment) emulated the example of Paisley and Wingham and presented the premier with an address. One expression in the address elicited a response from the premier which gave all parties a favorable impression of his tact and good judgment. The building in which the meeting was held had capacity for 3,500 people, and was completely filled. On the way from Wingham to Kincardine, crowds gathered at intermediate stations to cheer the premier, and at Passley and Ripley Sir Wilfrid made short speeches from his train, which was boarded by large delegations bound for Kincardine.

KINCARDINE'S WARM WELCOME.

A TEST EXPERIMENT.

Pesuliar Power Possessd by a New Medicina.

Of new discoveries there is no end. but one of the most recent, most remarkable, and one which invaluable to thousands of people, is a discovery which it is believed will take the place of all other remedies for the cure of those common and ob-stinate diseases, dyspepsia and stomach troubles. This discovery is not a loudly advertised, secret patent medi-cine, but is a scientific combination of wholesome, perfectly harmless vegetable essences, fruit salts, pure pepsin and bismuth.

These remedies are combined in lozenge form, pleasant to take, and will preserve their good qualities indefinttely, whereas all liquid medicines rapidly lose whatever good qualities they have had as soon as uncorked and exposed to the air.

This preparation is called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet, and it is claimed that one of these Tablets or lozenges will digest from 300 to 3,000 times its own weight of meat, eggs and other wholesome food. And this claim has been proven by actual experiments in the following manner: A hard-boiled egg out into small pieces was placed in a bottle containing warm water heated to 98° (or blood heat), one of these Tablets was then praced in the bottle, and the proper temperature maintained for three hours and a half, at the end of which time the egg was as completely digested as it would have been in a healthy stomach. This experiment was undertaken to demonstrate that what it would do in the bottle it would also do in the stomach, hence its unquestionable value in the cure of dyspepsia and weak digestion. Very few people are free from some form of ingestion, but scarcely two will have the same symptoms. Some will suffer most from distress after eating, bloating from gas in the stomach and bow-els, others have acid dyspepsia or heart-burn, others palpitation or headaches, sleeplessness, pains in chest and under shoulder-blades, extreme nervousness as in nervous dyspepsia, but they all dued the flames. The loss is estimated at $1,500 to $2,000; partly covered by must have rest and assistance and the flames. art's Dyspepsia Tablets give it both, by digesting the food for it, and in a short time it is restored to its normal action and vigor. At same time the Tablets are so harmless that a child can take them with benefit. This new preparation has already made many astonishing cures, as, for instance, the following.

After using only one package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets I have re-ceived such great and unexpected benesit that I wish to express my sincere gratitude. In fact, it has been six months since I took the package, and I have not had one particle of distress or difficulty since. And all this in the face of the fact that the best doctors I consulted told me my case was Chronic Dyspepsia, and absolutely incurable, as I had suffered 25 years. I distributed half a dozen packages among my friends here who are very anxious to try this remedy.

Business at Winnipeg is more active. The movement in wholesale lines this morning shows a large increase over any previous year. The grain deliveries are larger, and more money is being circulated. There is still a great deal of building going forward, and efforts are being made to get buildings in course of erection so far forward that work on them may be continued through the coming winter, and the prospects are that mechanics will be well employed.

Reports of trade at London are satisfactory. The country trade are taking liberal amounts of goods, and jobbers continue to receive liberal-sized orders in various lines of staple goods. Values continue very firm, but the higher prices do not appear to have checked business at London, and payments are very satisfactory. Country remittances are more prompt than in Trade has been interrupted somewhat by the holiday in Toronto this week, but orders continue very satis-factory, calling for large parcels of goods for the sorting trade. The wholesale people are still pushing business for the fall. Business of all lines of staple goods is very firm. Country remittances are good. There is a good demand for funds for various business enterprises, and rates are firm.

RAILWAYS

In the United States-Little Extension in the Next Twenty-Five Years.

In 1830 there were 23 miles of railroad in this country. In 1899 the mileage is 15,000. In these seven decades railway building has gone on at the rate of 2,500 miles every year, or nearly ten miles for every working day. The total mileage of the United States is, roughly, one-half that of the whole world. There are not half a dozen other countries that have onetenth as snuch railway within their boundaries. The average capitalization of the different systems is $87,-000 per mile; the total is steadily approaching $20,000,000; it is equal to an investment of nearly $85,000 per day for the whole period. Even these figures do not tell the story in its full impressiveness. Down to 1850 the growth of railroads was slow. The next four decades marked the period of great expansion. Over 135,000 miles, considerably more than half of the total length of road in the country, was built during the 25 years from 1865 to 1890.

In 1850 the railway lines of the country were confined to the North Atlantic States almost entirely, although there were a few short roads in other parts of the country. During the next ten years a number of lines were pushed west to the Mississippi. In the following decade the first transcontinental system was completed, joining the Pacific coast to the rest of the country. The railroads built in the west, when the engine was the first pioneer and armed guards were necessary to keep off hostile Indians, naturally were not as carefully and elaborately constructed as would be those of a more populous and older community. The one command issued to the constructors was: "Make it cheap." Consequently the surveyors ran straight lines so far as possible. It was not necessary to consider the claims of towns near the proposed line. towns followed the railroad. The contractors turned up the soil they found along the line for the roadbed. nearest and most convenient timber. whatever its kind, was utilized for ties and bridges. As the companies grow in wealth and the business increases, this process will continue apace. For a good many years the development of American railroads is likely to lie in the Emprovement of existing lines rather than in the con-struction of new ones. -Earl W. He was a boy old enough during the war, though, to know something of the struggle going on around him, for, speaking in public of Lincoln once, I heard him say: "My first acquaintance with our hero was this: Night after night, before the dawn of day, on an old slave plantation in Virginia, I recall the form of my sainted mother bending over the bundle of rags that enveloped my body, on a dirt floor, breathing a fervent prayer to Heaven that 'Massa Lincoln' might succeed, and that some day she and I might be free."
Another incident of those days I have

BASEBALL. VAN DERBECK'S DICKER WITH COLLINS.

Detroit Free Press: A written agree ment was given Manager Collins, of the Hamilton, Ont., club, certain amounts being payable for each player, with the proviso that they prove sat-isfactory. McCann and Schrall pleased Manager Stallhigs, but Van Derbeck, when the demand for a settlement came, tried to bluff Collins out of the players. Failing in this, he tried to settle for less than the agreed price, and when that was of no avail, instead paying Collins. who came to Detroit for the express purpose of get-ting a settlement. Van Derbeck said he would mail a check to President Young. Collins also refused this, and Van Derbeck seeing that he was about to lose the men as a result of his inclination to hang on to the coin of the realm, tendered a check payable to Col-lins. This was also refused by Collins, as the option on the players had expired, and he knew that a ready sale could be made, at better prices, to some other club. The Detroft club owner then approached another western league magnate, admitting that he could not do business with Collins and asking his associate to purchase the men, cetensibly for his own club, but in reality as an agent for Detroit. This was refused, two good men were lost, Thomas took advantage of the opportunity to go on strike, and the team, crippled and short-handed, finished out the season with but two pitchers.

Here is where the popularity of the magnate came in. Crowds of over 1.000 nearly attended every game, but when the newspapers announced the true condition of affairs regarding the loss of McCann and Schrad, the at-tendance dwindled down to about 890. Van Derbeck misrepresented the dispute with Collins to the newspaper men, but no effort was made by the Hamilton man to conceal the facts in the case and publication of the same led to the falling off in attendance and touched the magnate's heart, which can be done effectively through his pocketbook. The scribes who told why "stony giare," and not even an "icy mitt" was extended, The drop in gate receipts affected the visiting magnates as well as the local one, but they took-ed pleasant and continued to recognize old friends while the other interested party felt keenly the loss of some $100 per day, enough to pay for McCann and Schrail in two days' time, players who have doubtless been lost to the Detroit club, although Van Derbeck will make a fight for them before the

GRAPE CROP.

Dunkirk, N. Y.. Oct. 23 .- Over 1,400 cars of grapes have left the grape region in this vicinity so far, and about 1,000 more cars are to be harvested. With favorable weather and an ample supply of refrigerator cars, the crop should be harvested about Nov. 20. Grapes are bringing extremely good prices, and the best received in five years. Eastern markets pay eleven cents a basket wholesale. In bulk the fruit brings $21 a ton. FAITH HEALERS INDICTED.

La Porte, Ind., Oct. 23.—The grand jury of Porter county has returned in-dictments against Mrs. G. J. Smith, Mrs. M. L. Anderson and Mrs. Edward Smackles, converts of Dr. Dowie, the Chicago faith cure healer, charging them with being responsible for the death of the son of Henry Erne, who died without medical attendance, the means adopted for his relief being the reciting of prayers. The grand jury of Lake county also began an investigation today of two deaths attributed to criminal neglect by the practice of faith curing.

Civil and Mining Engineer, Surveyor and Draughtsman, Vernon, B.C. Vernon, B.C., Oct. 9, 1899.

Vernon, B.C., Oct. 9, 1899.

Dear Mr. Welch:—
Referring to yours of the 4th inst., regarding your properties, Rob Roy and Highland Chief, my candid opinion is that these claims are ALL RIGHT, and, on development, will fully meet your most sanguine expectations. Being located on the main ledge with good surface indications and out-oropings throughout the entire length of properties, there is every reason to believe that under proper development they will eventually become good paying properties. The Center Star (about 300 yards S. of highland Chief), has lately been bought up by some Wisconsin lawyers who intend doing a lot of work on it at once.

I am, sincerely yours,

London, Oct. 23 .- The stirring de- first-class protected cruiser Powerful, velopments of the week form a vivid | while on the way to the Cape. Calling contrast to that wearisome period of procrastination and suspense which preceded the outbreak of the war. The first battle worthy of the name has been fought and an army comps, England's greatest military effort in this century, is now on the way, bent upon administering an eternal quietus to South African unrest.

The thrilling scene in the House of at Mafeking, has caused a revival of Commons of a member of the cabi- the discussion regarding flying manet making an impassioned defense of chines by drawing attention to the imhis own honesty against the imputation portance of the one now being conof deliberately involving England in war; the far-reaching significance of the intimation by the cautious prime minister that England's rule throughout the whole of South Africa must be absolute, and many other striking points in an epoch-making week have been almost entirely obscured by the overwhelming interest of the sharp, meager bulletin, bearing date at Ladysmith, that tells of victory and of how many died to gain it. Historians may dismiss as insignificant the military operations which have so far marked the progress of the war, but for the people of England these and those of the immediate future have transcendental importance.

WHAT WILL WHITE DO NEXT? Glencoe and Ladysmith irresistibly rivet national attention, and when the average Britisher tires of lauding the pluck that won Friday's battle that hour is reached. Navigation, even a short distance from the earth and still keeps the flag flying over Mafeking he reverts to the universal query, "What will White do next?" Sir Redevers Buller, last week's ideal, has almost passed out of the popular mind, although that general, despite the fact that he is in midocean and unaware of what befell the Boers at Glencoe, appears to be the main factor in the situation. The Associated Press is reliably informed that his last act before leaving was to cable Sir George Stewart White forbidding any British advance pending the arrival of the army corps.

It is understood in army circles that throughout the United Kingdom. The Gen. White believed himself quite innovation was only accomplished after strong enough to advance through prognostication into the simple statement that upon the extent of Boer pagressiveness depends the number and nature of the engagements that are to mark the next month's fighting.

BOERS HARD TO SUBDUE. Probably the Boer movement will be curbed at Glencoe; but it seems reasonable to believe, judging from the determination and fanaticism of the Boer forces, that they will, sooner or later, anyway before Buller's corps takes the field, return to the fray with redoubled aggressiveness in a desper-ate attempt to break the backbone of Gen. White's force, having previously endeavored to weaken it by feint and flank movements. Such a supposition regarding the Boer plans is based upon the belief that Commandant-General Joubert's main objective is to break up or route Gen. White's command before the British reinforcements arrive. But it is possible the wily Boer general has carefully concealed strategy which he intends to carry out in an unexpected direction, and that the attack upon Gen. White on Friday was merely intended to de-ceive the British as to the main objective. Reliable news from the Boer side is so hard to secure in London that it is impossible to predict with any degree of certainty what the next weeks are likely to bring forth.

BULLER'S PLANS. The Associated Press learns that the plans of Sir Redvers Buller, subject to finding on his arrival that the complexton of the campaign is not entirely changed, are to have four divisions. each a little army in itself, and each capable of meeting the full strength of the Boers. As his forces will exceed 80,000 men, this is regarded as feasible. With three armies he intends to invade the Transvaal from different points, personally leading the principal force through the Free State. sending the other to hold Natal.

Expert military opinion, as ascertained by the Associated Press, is inclined to favor a single line of operations, unless the invader has a tremendous preponderance of strength. Although few are willing to criticise Gen. Buller's admitted military genius without knowledge of the information upwhich he has based his estimates of the Boer forces, there is a growing feeling that the war will eventually resolve itself into a guerrilla campaign: and many references are made in this connection to the progress of the American forces in the Phippines. Several Englishmen, who have lived among the Boers, but are now in London, assert that the Boers will never stick to their artillery, and there is a unanimous feeling among those who know the Transvaal and its inhabitants that the Boer artillery will cut a small figure.

The explanation of this is twofold. In the first place most of the Boers are unaccustomed to fight according to the methods required in conjunction with heavy artillery, and secondly, most of them are armed with the fle only. Comparatively few of them have bayonts, revolvers or swords; and it is a military impossibility for men to stand up against a cavalry charge unless they possess some arm in ad-dition to rifles. Hence the only alternative when cold steel threatens, is to desert the guns. It is not believed the Boers will suffer so much by the loss of artillery as may at first be thought. Unincumbered by guns they regain that mobility which in the pre-vious war proved such a thorn in the side of our organized troops.

CO-OPERATION OF ARMY AND NAVY.

A splendid instance of the spontaneous co-operation of army and navy is given in the action of Capt. Lambton, commanding the British INTERESTED IN SAMOA.

The German public really has been more interested this week in Samoa in these small islands revives at the slightest bit of news of an insignificant change in the situation, and the papers have devoted a great amount of space to the subject. The entire German press is greatly excited at the mere mention of the possibility of German press is greatly excited at the mere mention of the possibility of Germany's retirement from Samos and a many's retirement from Samoa and a number of the influential papers are fairly in a rage, declaring it is a point of honor for Germany to hold her ground and not yield up her rights to everything before the United States. KAISER POPULAR AT HAMBURG

Emperor William's trip to Hamburg on Wednesday showed how popular he is there. During his drive in the evening through the illuminated streets he was enthusiastically greeted by enormous crowds of people. His speech at the dinner is regarded as being one of his finest and most powerful efforts. his finest and most powerful efforts. The full text of the speech shows it to have been more sensational than it seemed from the first report. His majesty dwelt repeatedly on the slow progress of the people in grasping important political truths. One of the sentences was: "The old, worldwide powers go under. New ones are coming up. Nations appear suddenly on the horizon, and the world must enter the horizon, and the world must enter into competition with them." This Baden-Powell, the British commander refers to Spain and the

He describes it as resemb-ling the stender skeleton of a huge battleship, made of aluminum, contry where, as Prince Bismarck said, everybody wants to be a political party by himself. The emperor made a pithy address to the crew and officers of the German warship Falke, recently in Samoan waters, in which he praised their devo-tion to duty, and added: "Let us hope the day may not be distant when Germany will have larger and more powerful ships, and more of them to send out on the far seas for the protection of her interests, and that all other nations will respect her just wishes and rights."

The Press Association announces, with an air of authority, that the government's plan is to terminate the war in the speedlest manner possible, after the forts at Pretoria and Johannesburg have been razed, and then to promulgate, by order of the Queen-incouncil a new constitution for a group of five federal states-Cape Colony, the Transvaal, Natal, the Orange River Free State and Rhodesia-under the title of the Dominion of South Africa, the crown to nominate a governor-general and the five states having power each to elect its own lieutenant-governors, to meet at Cape Town. some modifications the scheme is based upon lines similar to those of the Canadian Government.

BUSINESS OVER

The Trade Outlook in the United States-Decline in Wheat.

New York, Oct. 23.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of Saturday says: In most lines business continues to expand though in some there are signs that buying has been checked, either because prices have outrun the views of buyers of because recent purchases have been so heavy that nobody is left in need. The prices are still advancing in almost every line, supported by rising prices of materials, and works everywhere are still crowded to their untmost capacity. But the volume of business expressed in values rises much more than prices, showing a remarkable increase in quantities of goods exexchanged.

Wheat has declined 11/2c in price in spite of unfavorable crop reports, and western receipts do not keep up to the unprecedented amount of last year, having been but, 23,454,400 bushels, against 30,592,494 bushels during three weeks of October last year. But At-lantic exports, flour included, have been in three weeks of October 10,679,-216 bushels, as against 9,686,226 last year, and Pacific exports 1,539,188, against 2,298,312 last year. Corn exports add testimony as to foreign needs, having been in three weeks 16,-924,406 bushels, against 7,002,039 last

A recent decision in the court of queen's bench, in England, establishes the fact that a railway company cannot be compelled to carry a bicycle for nothing.

One Chicago road carries bicycles free, merely letting the passenger throw his wheel into the baggage car and leaving him to fish it out at his destination—if he can find it.

The traffic managers of the Central Freight Association have decided upon an advance of 20 cents per ton on iron, to go into effect Jan. 1. This is on the basis of $3 for billets and $2 75 for pig-iron between Pittsburg and Chicago.

John MacMillan, of the Michigan Central freight department, goes to Chicago, where he will work under Walter MacMillan, who was recently promoted from the Buffalo office. A. J. Giauque comes from Niagara Falls to take the place of Mr. MacMillan.

Today a wooden freight car of 80,000 pounds capacity costs about $1,100. Formerly the average cost of a car of this kind was $800 in round figures. Lumber used in car building has advanced from $5 to $10 per 1,000 feet; iron has advanced from $17 to $33 a ton, making the general increase about 30 per cent.

He was 80 years of age, and was fireman on the John Bull, the first locomotive operated in this country. in 1830, and had its first trial near Bordentown, Mr. Wood's native town. Mr. Wood was employed as an engine driver during the war, and was also engaged in the same capacity on several railroads in New Jersey. He was the inventor of Wood's improved frog, the steam whistle and other railroad appliances. He had been nearly 60 years in railroad work.

They quote no change in prices.

American Markets CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Wheat got below the 70c mark for December today, and being a new low record for the open liquidation induced by steadily increasing stocks, in connection with an apathetic public demand, caused the reduction in price. December closed with a loss of %c to %c, to 69%c. Corn and oats were relatively strong and closed a shade higher. Provisions closed a wrifte up all around. Chicago receipts were 134 cars, 4 of which graded contract. Minneapolis and Duluth got 715 cars, compared with 982 for the corresponding day a year ago. World's shipments to Europe during the week were estimated at 7,500,000 bushels, nearly a million pushels in excess of the weekly requirements. Indications from stocktaking centers were that the visible supply would increase 2,000,000 bushels during the week, while the amount in known passage showed an increase. Shippers spoke very discouragingly of the prospects for export business, claiming that foreign bids were farther from the market than ever today. New York reported but 20 boat loads sold for export. Atlan-the port clearances in wheat and flour equaled 410,000 bushels.

The recruiting office at Wolseley Barracks presented a busy scene today. Applicants for enlistment ar-Aved in batches at short intervals all morning, and Dr. Balfour had a steady job examining them. It was estimated at noon that there were 105 qualified volunteers around the barracks, and it seems quite probable that the company will be up to the required strength tonight. In that event, the men will get away tomorrow afternoon, after all. The rush of applicants this morning was a surprise, after the small numbers who arrived on previous days. The idea gained ground around the city this morning that the London contingent would not be full, and, perforce, London would stand in a poor position before the eyes of Canada. Nothing could be further from the facts. The manner in which the men came in this morning has made the recruiting officers jubliant, and they are more than pleased that they have thrown out every applicant who was not thoroughly qualified, because now the trouble will be in choosing men, not in getting them. The city will be proud of the men in this district. They are up to the standard in every respect. Doubters have surmised that the London company would have to be filled in with Toronto men. According to the appearance of the applicants around the office this morning, not only will the company be filled with men from London district, but they will be men without superiors in the Canadian contingent. They are being worked hard drilling, under competent instructors, and London can rest assured, that when Col. Otter makes his inspection before the troops leave for South Africa, no men will be in better shape, of better physique, or more worthy to carry her majesty's arms than the men of Company B.

In Major Stuart's office this morning the work of swearing in the men went on without pause. The volunteers were ushered in in lots of half a dozen each, and as quickly as one crowd went out another came in. One man applied who is a member of the British reserves, who have been called out. He had permission from the authorities in England to leave for Canada, and as he had seen the order for the reserves, he thought it his duty to report at the nearest military depot. Major Stuart was pleased to have him as a member of his company, but there is a likelihood that he will be taken into his own regiment upon arrival in Africa.

THE NON-COMS. OF B COMPANY. It is understood that Color-Sergeant George Sippi, Sergeant George Mac-beth, of the Seventh; Capt. Fred Gor-man, of Sarnia, and Sergeant Bowden will be made sergeants of B Company. There is much doubt as to when the London boys will leave. Col. Holmes, D. O. C., stated to The Advertiser at noon today that he did not think they would get away tomorrow. His orders were to have the contingent depart as soon as the required quota was obtained. Quite a number are still needed to bring the company to full strength.
Up to Saturday evening 65 recruits had been sworn into the London company of the South African contingent, and ten others had passed the medical examination, but deferred taking the oath until today, to avoid spending Sunday in barracks. Recruiting will be continued tomorrow. "Officers throughout No. 1 district are at liberty to send any good men they have be-yond their quota," Major Stuart said today. "There is room for more men." Each recruit should bring a cap, tunic or serge and trousers. The departure of the company will take place tomorrow at 2:10 p.m. It is understood tomorrow at 2:10 p.m. It is understood that in case the company is not full strength by Tuesday, it will be filled by men from Toronto. Many of the men sworn in are officers, and as a body the half-formed company presents a fine appearance. In the selection of the men the standard with regard to intellectual as well as physical qualifications ... Special Sale of ...

has been high. Twenty-five of the men are 22 years of age, and all but four are 30 or under. The men were disappointed yesterday morning when it was found necessary to call off the church parade. The day passed without event. Discussion of the latest news from South Africa was the principal manner in which the time was spent. Among the men are some who have been in South Africa, and they, of course, were lionized. During the afternoon and evening a number of passes were issued to those who had friends or relatives in the city. There were also a number of civilian visitors at the barracks during the day. "HOUSEWIFE" FOR LONDON

DISTRICT VOLUNTEERS. The ladies of the Maple Leaf League met Saturday afternoon to discuss in what manner the women might best assist or co-operate in providing comforts for the Canadian contingent to the Transvaal. The meeting was largely attended. Lieut.-Col. Holmes was present and addressed the meeting, and producing a "housewife," which consisted of a waterproof package containing thimble, scissors, needles, thread, buttons, darning wool and establish placetar suggested that and sticking plaster, suggested that the ladies have one made for each member of the London district contingent. The members of the league decided to meet again today, in accordance with the suggestion of the colonel. ARRANGEMENTS FOR DEPAR-TURE. According to instructions received at Supt. Jones' office. Toronto, from the head office of the G. T. R. in Montreal, a number of special cars will be sent up from Montreal to transport the troops from Toronto and London, and that the trains, with their soldier-passengers, were to return to Montreal as specials. The cars will be of the Pullman tourist style for the men, while the officers among the Boers the idea of calling in will have a first-class sleeper. One sleeper will be more than sufficient to However that may be, he applied peraccommodate all the officers. The Lon-don contingent will be embarked first ceived the suggestion but coldly. He and run in on a special section to Toronto in the early morning. Here the cars containing the local volunteers will be coupled on to it, and the run to Montreal made as fast as possible.

TROOPS DEPART WEDNESDAY. The troops will leave Toronto on pects to get the special train away about 4 o'clock. He has notified Mayor Shaw to this effect. The idea of giving a lunch to the troops will be abandoned as it does not be special train away about 4 o'clock. He has notified Mayor carried out effectively is probable. as it does not meet with the approval of Col. Otter. The latter, who speaks in high terms of the enthusiasm and kindness of the citizens, does not desire to interfere in any way with any arrangements they might desire to make to give the troops a hearty send-off, but it is understood that his present intention is to march the company from Stanley Barracks direct to the train, either by way of King or Queen streets. If the London contingent ar-rives on time it will be debarked from the cars and marched to the barracks, to go down again with the Toronto company. All the men and officers will be in uniform.

Col. Otter yesterday appointed another of the non-commissioned officers at the fort to one of the companies, Sergt. Young, drill sergeant of the Royal Can-adlan Regular Infantry, was appointed color-sergeant of the London company, and will report at London today. The list of the regulars who are to go with the continuent will also be made known

OVER THE PLAIN

How the Boers Were Driven From Glencoe Camp.

With a Loss of 300 Killed and Wounded.

The Invasion of Natal Has Been Re pelled-Britain's Wise Precaution -A Transvaal Moltke.

Glencoe Camp, Oct. 22 (delayed in transmission)-12:20 p.m.-The attack made by the Boer forces under Gen. Lucas Meyers on the British position on Saturday, enabled the British forces to score another signal success. The Boer column was driven pell-mell over the plains, losing over 300 killed and wounded. In addition, the British captured several hundred horses and made many prisoners, who are being well cared for. The Boer hospital has been taken under the wing of the British hospital corps, as the Boers had only a single doctor, with a primitive staff, who were quite unable to cope with the wounded.

As it has been raining all night long, and the weather is heavy and misty, it is hardly expected that the Boers will make another attack today.

NATAL INVASION REPELLED. The invasion of Natal has been already repelled, the London correspon-dent of the New York Tribune says, and the field force now in South Africa seems competent to bring the war to an end without waiting a month for the protracted voyage of the great army corps from England. Everybody is asking why this immense body of reinforcements is going out, when every bulletin of victory from Natal women and children proves that a more moderate force would suffice. That is a mystery as dense as London's black fog. There is A GLIMMER OF LIGHT FROM PARIS.

where it is rumored that the Russian troops will soon occupy Herat perma-nently with the ameer's consent. Wellinformed men were asserting last night that these vast preparations were not meant as a grand parade, but were a wise precaution, rendered necessary by the possibility that Russia would take another advance on Western Afghanistan, where full control could be se-cured over Persia. With a British army corps on the ground of South Africa, and in readiness for service in India or Afghanistan, these witnesses were ready to testify that Russia would not advance on Herat. The magnitude of the British armaments for a campaign again the burghers of the two petty republics is evidently creating in Europe what Carlyle described as an atmosphere electric with

A TRANSVAAL MOLTKE.

The capture of Col. Schiel at the initial stage of the Transvaal war places in the hands of the British one who has for several years inspired the military preparations of the South African Republic. Col. Schiel is a German, who as a young man was engaged in commercial pursuits in South Africa. Settling at Pretoria when the Boers, after the defeat of the British in 1881, began to pay special attention to mili-tary organization, he offered his services and the knowledge of the German system acquired in the course of his compulsory service in the fatherland. He enlisted other Germans, served in the levies against native chiefs, and by his usefulness won the confidence of Gen. Joubert, the commander-in-chief. It is said that he was mainly responsible for inculcating studied artillery practice in Germany, and on returning to the Transvaal was intrusted with the task of planning and constructing the forts of Pretoria. After the Jameson raid he carried out the erection of the forts which domi-nate Johannesburg, and persuaded the Transvaal government to arm then heavily. He was made practically chief Moltke.

THANKS FROM WAR OFFICE

For the Offer of the National Council of Women to Provide Comforts for Soldiers-Officers Elected.

Hamilton, Oct. 23.-When the Nationa al Council of Women resumed its sessions in the city council chamber Saturday morning, Lady Aberdeen read a telegram from Hon. Mr. Borden, minister of militia, conveying to the National Council of Women the hearty thanks of the government for kind offers of co-operation in arranging for the comof the Canadian volunteers for South Africa.

Mrs. McDougall, of Montreal, nounced that the Dominion Y. W. C. A., of which she is president, would soon affiliate with the National Council. Lady Aberdeen stated that she had succeeded in raising nearly all the $1,000 guarantee fund required for the maintenance of the permanent secretary's office this year.
The elections were all by acclamation, and were as follows: Advisory president, Lady Aberdeen; president, Lady Taylor; vice-presidents, Lady Laurier and Lady Thompson; provincial vice-presidents — Ontario, Mrs. Boomer, London; Quebec, Madame Thibeaudeau; Nova Scotia, Mrs. R. W. Borden; New Brunswick, Lady Tit-ley; Manitoba, Mrs. McEwen; Prince Edward Island, Lady Davies; Alberta, Mrs. Lougheed; Assinabola, Mrs. N F. Davin; treasurer, Mrs. Hoodless; recording secretary, Mrs. Willoughby, Cummings; corresponding secretary, Miss Teresa Wilson.

Mrs. Dignam, of Toronto, gave a clever talk on art and handicrafts, with especial reference to the training of children. Miss McLeod reported for Dominion

Order of Nurses, stating that the work had progressed with gratifying success during the year. Toronto and Montreal are now the only training centers of the order, the headquarters at Ottawa and Halifax having been discontinued. The report on pernicious literature was read by Mrs. George Ross, of Toronto, in the absence of Miss Carty. and was an exhaustive review of the work done in all parts of the Dominion to check the circulation of impure literature. In this connection Lady.
Aberdeen stated that the National Council should support an effort to have the government amend the criminal code, so as to provide for the pro-secution of people who sell these publications privately, as well as publicly.
Mrs. McDowal, of Kingston, brought up the question of cigarette packages containing lewd pictures, and said most of them came from the United States. Mrs. Gaffney, of New York, promised to use the best of her endeavors to have the exportation of such goods stopped. Mrs. Ballard, of this city, was appointed to succeed Lady Tilley as con-

NOON LETTER.

[Private Wire, Roath Bros. & Co.] Chicago, Oct. 23.-With cables unchanged our curb this morning opened at 70% for December wheat, sold off fractionally, and the regular opening was 69%c to 70c. There was good buying immediately after the opening by Charlie McDonald and Milmine, Redman & Co., and the shorts who had overworked themselves on Saturday came into the pit and bid prices up on themselves in a jiffy to 701/2c. We still think there is a much bigger line of shorts outstanding than people think, and any encouragement from the other side will certainly causes these bears to throw up their hands, and it is very liable to come at any time, too. There is a lot of news here today from Kansas, and the winter wheat belt, predicting immense damage from the continued drought there. Not a drop of rain in over five weeks, and everything drying up. If winter sets in without sufficient moisture to give wheat a good start there will be a lot of damage done. The crowd looks for a large increase in the visible supply today, and this may have a little dampening effect for the moment, but wheat is a buy now on all dips.

Corn has been benefited by the dry weather talk, and every commission house in the street has buying orders. Pringle is about the only seller of any importance so far. Liverpool closes % higher than Saturday on corn. Oats also very firm, but dull. There

HERBERT WILSON

Charged With Complicity in the Robbing of Shoebottom's Store, with London.

Herbert H. Wilson, of 332 Simco street, was arrested by Detectives Nickle and Rider this morning, charged with having taken part in the robbery of Shoebottom's store, South London, several weeks ago. A hat was found near the scene of the robbery with Wilson's name in it. The police looked for Wilson the day after, but he had left town, and only returned some days ago. He will be brought up before the magistrate tomorrow morning. Two youths are now serving sentences for their part in the robbery.

RETURNS TO THE CHARGE

Mr. Bartram Heartened by a Recent Decision in His Favor.

Mr. W. H. Bartram appeared at the police court this morning and renewed his application to be allowed to swear to certain informations, in view of a recent decision given in his favor by Mr. Justice Robertson, stating that the magistrate should allow Mr. Bartram to be sworn, and summonses issued.

The first application was to swear to an information charging City Solicitor T. G. Meredith with subornation of perjury. This was a renewal of an application made on Feb. 24 last, when the magistrate refused to receive it. He also asked to be allowed to swear to an information against Water Com-missioners John W. Little, W. Jones and Mayor Wilson, charging them with conspiracy to commit a common nuisance, by the erection of the waterworks dam at Springbank.

The applications will be considered by the magistrate in a few days. Three drunks were allowed to go.

RECRUITING ELSEWHERE

Going on Rather Slowly-Toronto Men to Get a Good Send-Off.

Recruiting is going rather slowly at Ottawa, Quebec and Halifax because of the very high standard required. There was no doubt about getting the men needed, however.

At Kingston, recruiting of men for the South African campaign resulted Saturday in the selection of 16 men.
They are fine specimens. It is expected that about 90 will be enlisted there.
The Toronto board of control has decided to make a grant on behalf of that city of $750 to Col. Otter, $125 to each of the Toronto efficiency and $25 to each of the Toronto officers, and $25 to each of the Toronto men of the Transafter a prolonged tilness. Deceased was unmarried. Valor of Vanquished Boers Fully Recognized.

el l Victims to Their Own Plans for Wiping Out the British.

London, Oct. 23. - The British victories in Natal, following each other in quick success, though accompanied by heavy losses on the side of the victors, bears striking testimony to the valor of the vanquished Boers. They appear to have fallen victims to the very plan by which they purposed to drive the British into the sea. They have been beaten in detail by counterstrokes carefully considered, and most brilliantly carried out in the face of courageous opposition, which has done much to increase British respect for the burghers, whose splendid valor and determination it is universally admitted reached the highest level.

Fuller accounts of Saturday's bat-tle at Etandslaagte emphasize the splendid gallantry exhibited on both sides, and the superiority of the British in a pitched battle, although the Boers fought with the greatest tenacity to the last, only yielding when further fighting was hopeless.

An armored train, with the men of the Manchester Regiment, appeared on the left, at Ladysmith, at daybreak, Saturday, in support of the Johanneslaagte. The artillery took up a posttion above the town, and shelled the railway station, from which the Boers ran out, and the British mounted in-fantry entering the place, RELEASED THE ENGLISH PRIS-

The Boers, numbering some 1,600 men, with three guns, occupied a commanding position. the ridge on the right. A large force of mixed cavalry in the meanwhile, sweet over the plain and up the hill on the right. The Lancers were met with a heavy fusillade, while on the left a British battery opened fire with good effect. The British infantry, who had detrained in the interim, advanced steadily over the plain and up the rocky ridge previously cleared by the cavalry. The Boer artillery dropped shrapnel into the advancing columns, but the British finally scaled the hill, whence they overlooked the broad valley to three rocky hills forming the Boers' position, their camp being in the center. On the left the Boers had a battery of three large guns. The smaller hills were also strongly held. On the Boer right was the station in a valley on the British left. The latter's cavalry was on both flanks, and a battery on the right was throwing shrapnel at the Boers' batteries. The British infantry FORMED FOR THE ATTACK extended order, behind the brow a hill, the Devonshires on the left, with four companies of the Manchesters and of the Gordons on the right. At about 5 p.m. the infantry advanced through the valley

AS STEADILY AS ON A FIELD DAY Half-way down the slope they met a terrific infantry and artillery fire, and men fell rapidly, and the wounded were carried to the rear. But in spite of the steady work of the Boer guns and the sharpshooters concealed be-hing the rocks, the increasing fire of the advancing British infantry gradually gained the upper hand, and the Manchesters and the Gordons, edging toward the right, gained the top of the ridge, thus outflanking the enemy's

THE CHARGE. At 6 the bugle sounded the "charge," and the British swept ahead. The Boers fought to the last, only at-tempting to escape when further fight-ing was hopeless. In the meantime, Devonshires, pressing steadily up the left were strongly opposed at the Boer camp and from the flanking hills. But, they carried both at the charge, with wild cheers and bugle blasts. By 7 o'clock the British had gained the position and "cease fire" was sounded. Three 12-pounder Nordenfelts were captured, with quantities of munitions. The Boer dead and wounded among the rocks were numerous. The wounded were attended to.

LORD ABERDEEN

Says the Liberals Are Standing to a Man to Carry the War to a Glorious Issue.

Edinburgh, Oct. 23 .- The Earl of Aberdeen, addressing the students of Ed-inburgh University, in connection with the candidature of former Home Secretary Asquith for the rectorship of the university against the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava. referred to the position of the Liberals regarding the Transvaul war. He said the Liberals reserved their opinion on what preceded the outbreak of hostilities; but, as the war had unhappily broken out, they were as one man in supporting the government of the country in carrying to a glorious issue the struggle. A resolution in support of the candidature of Mr. Asquith was carried by a small majority.

STRATHROY.

Advertiser Agent, J. D. Meekison. Strathroy, Oct. 23.—Mr. W. G. Meek-ison spent Thanksgiving Day in Chatham, the guest of his sister, Mrs. G. D. Sullivan, Stanley avenue. At a recent meeting of the Collegiate Institute board a few features in connection with the work of the school was discussed and approved. A winter course has been established for those pupils who can attend the collegiate only during the winter months, November to March inclusive, at a fee of 55 for the five months. Special arrangements will be made for such pupils, and they will be allowed to select from the list of studies those subjects which suit their special needs. Those who wish to enter winter classes will begin work on Monday, Nov. 6. Mr. L. N. Dampier will read a paper on the banking system of Canada at the St. John Young People's meeting tomorrow evening, Oct. 24. The musical programme is in the hands of Miss Hoare.

unselfishness was not as much appre-clated as it deserved. Topping, indeed, looked baffled and irresolute for one moment, but a low murmur of dis-gust arose from the bystanders, and even Jolland declared that it was "too beastly mean.'

As for Dulcie, she had been looking on incredulously at her champion's unaccountable tardiness in coming to the point. But this public repudiation was too much for her. She we a little low cry as she heard the shameless words of recantation, and then, without a word, jumped lightly down from her bench and ran away to hide herself somewhere and cry.

Even Paul, though he knew that he had done nothing but what was strictly right, and had acted purely in self protection, felt unaccountably ashamed of himself as he sav this effect of bis speech. But it was too late now.

CHAPTER X.

Mr. Bultitude had meant to achieve a double stroke of diplomacy-to undeceive Dulcie and conciliate the love-sick Tipping. But, whatever his suc-cess may have been in the former respect, the latter object failed con-

'You shan't get off by a shabby trick like that," said Tipping, exasperated by the sight of Dulcie's emotion; "you've made her cry now, and you shall smart for it. So, now, are you going to stand up to me like a man, or will you take a kicking?"

"I'm not going to help you to commi a breach of the peace," said Paul, with great dignity. "Go away, you quarrelsome young ruffian! Get one of your schoolfellows to fight you, if you must fight. I don't want to be mixed up with you in any way."

But at this Tipping, whose blood was evidently at boiling-point, came prancing down on him in a Zulu-like fashion swinging his long arms like a windmill, and, finding that his enemy made no attempt at receiving him, but only moved away apprehensively, he seized seen, was opposed to fighting as a system, he could not submit to this sort of thing without at least some attempt to defend himself; and, judging it of the highest importance to disable his adversary in the most effectual manner before the latter had time to carry out his offensive designs, he turned sharp-ly round and hit him a very severe blow in the lower part of his waistcoat. The result fulfilled his highest expectations. Tipping collapsed like a pocket rule and staggered away speechless and purple with pain, while Paul stood calm and triumphant. He had shown these fellows that he wasn't going to stand any nonsense. They would leave him alone after this, perhaps.

But once more there were cries and murmurs of "Shame!" "No hitting be-low the belt!" "Cad—coward!" It appeared that, somehow, he had managed to offend their prejudices even in this. "It's very odd," he thought; "when I didn't fight they called me a coward, and now, when I do, I don't seem to have pleased them much I don't care, though. I've settled him."

But, after a season of protracted writhing by the parallel bars, Tipping came out, still gasping and deadiy pale, leaning on Biddlecomb's shoulder, and was met with universal sympathy and

"Thanks!" he said, with considerable effort. "Of course—I'm not going—to fight him after a low trick like that; but perhaps you fellows will see that he doesn't escape quite as easily as he There was a general shout. "No: he shall pay for it! We'll teach him to fight fair. We'll see if he tries that on Paul heard it with much uneasiness.

What new deviltry were they about to practice upon him? He was not left long in doubt.
"I vote," suggested Biddlecomb, as

With a stern magisterial formality worthy of a Vehm-Gericht, they formed in two long lines down the center of the playground; and, while Paul was still staring in wonder at what this strange maneuver might mean, somebody pounced upon him and carried him up to one end of the ranks, where Tipping had, by this time, sufficiently recovered to be able to "set him going," as he chose to call it, with a fairly effective kick.

After that he had a confused sense preserves its fragrance and of flying madiy along the double line of avengers under a hail of blows which caught him on every part of his head, shoulders and back, till he reached the end, where he was dexterously turned and sent spinning up to Tipping again, who, in his turn, headed him back on his arrival, and forced him to brave the terrible lane once more. Never before had Mr. Bultitude felt so sore and insulted. But they kept it up long after the thing had lost its first freshness—until at last exhaustion made them lean to mercy, and they cuffed him ignominiously into a corner, He was just looking around with a self-satisfied and relieved air, when he began to be aware that his act of frank

"I shall be killed soon if I stay here," he moaned, "I know I shall. These young brigands would murder me cheerfully if they were not afraid of being caned for it. I'm a miserable old man, and I wish I was dead!"

Although that afternoon, being Saturday, was a half-holiday, Mr. Bultitude was spared the ordeal of another game of football; for a smart storm of rain and sleet, coming on about three o'clock, kept the school—not altogether unwilling prisoners-within doors for the day.

The boys sat in their places in their schoolroom, amusing themselves after their several fashions—some reading, some making libelous copies of drawings that took their fancy in the Illustrated papers, some playing games; others, teo listless to play and too dull to find pleasure in the simplest books, filled up the time as well as they could by quarreling and getting into various depths of hot water. Paul sat in a corner pretending to read a story relating the experiences of certain infants of phenomenal courage and coolness in the Arctic regions. They killed bears and tamed walruses all through the book; but for the first time, perhaps, since their appearance in print, their exploits feil flat. Not, however, that this reflected any discredit upon the author's powers, which are justly admired by all healthy-minded boys; but it was beyond the power of literature just then to charnr Mr. Bultitude's thoughts from the recollection of his misfortunes.

As he took in all the details of his surroundings—the warm, close room; the raw-toned desks and tables, at which a rabble of unsympathetic boys were noisily whispering and chattering, with occasional glances in his direction, from which, taught by experience, he augured no good; the high, uncurtained windows, blurred with little stars of half-frozen rain, and the bare, bleak branches of the trees outside tossing drearily against a low, leaden sky—he tried in vain to cheat him by the collar as a prelude to dealing him a series of kicks behind.

Although Mr. Bultitude, as we have seen, was opposed to fighting as a sys

Then he observed that, according to their custom of a Saturday afternoon, the hour before tea-time should be devoted to "writing home." the books, chess-boards and dominoes were all put away, and a new steel pen and a sheet of notepaper, neatly embossed with the heading "Crichton House School," in old English letters, having been served out to every one, each boy prepared himself to write down such things as filial affection, strict truthfulness and the de-sire of imparting information might inspire between them. [To be Continued.]

BITTEN BY HIS MAD SON.

New York, Oct. 23 .- John Young, of No. 184 Beacon avenue, Jersey City, the father of Charles Young, the seven-year-old boy who died a week ago of hydrophobia, is greatly worried through fear that he may be attacked by the disease. When the boy was in his last agony he bit his father in the wrist and there is some danger that he may have been inoculated. Dr. P. E. Hommell has cauterized the wound several times. He says the wound is slight and he does not apprehend any serious result, but he will not be able to determine positively until five more weeks have elapsed.

Sir William Symons Fatally Wounded at Glencoe.

Sketch of His Busy and Promising Career.

A Striking Personality-His Untiring Energy-A First-Class Sportsman.

The following is a recently-published character sketch of Gen. Symons, who was fatally wounded while leading the British troops to victory, at Glencoe, Natal, Friday:

"Symons has great natural aptitude for the command of men; yet he never obtrudes his authority, he does not perpetually worry his horses, his pow-erful influence over subordinates is exercised quietly, unostentatiously; he leads rather than drives, and although his hand is firm, he is very patient and forbearing, even considerate to all shortcomings, full always of kindly encouragement to renewed endeavor.

"Sir William Symons well illustrates the old saying that everything comes to him who waits. His promotion was very tardy; he had only lately pulled up the long leeway that left him so far behind in the waiting race. At the commencement of the Zulu war of 1878-79 he had just become a captain, and was still at the bottom of the list when a single day, the dread day of the massacre of Isandiwhana, pushed him almost to the top. It was his good fortune to be on duty elsewhere when his comrades fell in heaps under the Zulu assegais. So, after spending twelve years as a subaltern, three carried him from captain to major, and in six more he was a brevet-colonel. Yet he had no great opportunity vouchsafed him in this arduous Zulu cam-paign; at its end he was still a regimental officer, and was awarded no special honors or distinctions.

"His merits had, however, become known to his superiors, and comrades predicted great things for him if he got an opening. It came when he passed under the personal observation of Lord Roberts. That fine judge of a man's character and quality was commanding the Madras army when the South Wales Border Regiment, in which Symons was a major, formed part of it. It would be a mistake to call such a good 'all-round' officer as Symons a specialist in any one thing, but he was and is especially strong on the rifle, and how it should be wielded. Musketry instruction and the desire to bring, his men to a high standard in marksmanship was his pet holbby, and he was cordially encouraged in it by Lord Roberts, who held exactly the same views.

"It is right to emphasize the fact that the undoubted improvement in army shooting, which may be expected ere long to put our troops on an equality with, if not above, their Boer opponents, began with Lord Roberts in Madras, and Symons was his prin-cipal agent. As assistant adjutantgeneral for musketry, Symons carried out the excellent system now introduced in the Presidency, and initiated may reforms which, beginning in the east, have since been adopted throughout the British service.

"Lord Roberts after this never lost sight of Symons, and henceforth his professional advancement was secure. When the last Burmese war was afoot in 1885, Symons went with the expedition, first as a staff officer, then as commandant of the mounted infantry, Another of his 'specialties' was a deep interest in this hybrid arm. He had been associated with it in South Africa. and had recognized its peculiar usefulness under peculiar conditions, and the body he raised in Burma did ad-mirable and most effective work.

"Symons' war service was continued in Burma and beyond. He was a brigadier-general with the China field commanded the column from Burma in the Chin Lushal expedition; he was in the Waziristan expedition, and quite recently he was actively engaged in the last hard-fought, tedious campaign on the northwest frontier of India, at first with a brigade in the Tochi field force and then with a division in the Tirah expedition. He has been fighting almost continuously for the last fifteen years.

'Symons' personality is of a very striking kind. He is no longer in his first youth; adverse chances long retarded his advancement, and he has only attained his present grade at the late age of 57. Yet, to look at him, he might be no more than 40. He exhibits none of the characteristics of the veteran nearing the finish of his career. It has been a varied and eventful career, moreover; his life has been spent amid stirring scenes in all climates all over the world. Yet this trying service has left little outward upon the man. Symons might have the gift of perennial youth.

"He still possesses all its physical attributes; a trim, light, well-built, active figure, about the middle height; a face bright but hard-bitten; keen and piercing; dark hair and mustache still untouched with gray.

"Symons is before everything a firstclass sportsman. He can hunt a pack of hounds as well as he can of hounds as well as he can com-mand troops. When serving in Mad-ras he was the master of the Cota-

CALL FOR MORE MEN. Toronto, Oct. 23.-Col. Otter on Saturday night called for 100 more volunteers from the Toronto military dis-trict. As 105 of the 110 volunteers originally required from the district had already been chosen and had passed the medical examination, it is apparent that the district is being called upon to supplement insufficient recruit ing elsewhere. Col. Otter admits that things are a little slow up in London, and it is probable that the recruiting to be done here today is intended to bring the London contingent up to strength.

His cheery, mustcal 'Halloal' and the meny merry gallops he gave the field will long be remembered by comrades of both services, civil and military.

"No trained huntsman could be on better terms with the hounds, no master more indefatigable, less discouraged by difficulties in the field. He is a fine horseman, ever in the first fighth across a country, and not less capable of holding his own between the flags. He loves a good horse, and is an excellent judge of one, seeming to know at once, as if by instinct, the best qualities of every horse he sees. This is no mere figure of speech, but will bear the commercial test of purchase and sale.

"During the Zuhu war he was employed in the South Afrean remount deviamment, and it fell to his lot to buy a batch of 100 horses just on the eve of peace. The cessation of hostified a purchase price. THE LAND OF BIG GAME.

The Intercolonial Railway is the direct route to the great game regions of Eastern Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. In this area are the finest hunting grounds for moose, deer, caribou and other big game, as well as unlimited opportunities for shooting wild geese, duck, brant and other fowl common to this part of the continent. For information as to game in New Brunswick, send for a copy of "Rod and Gun."
