WEEK'S REMAND FOR HATHWAY

British Coal Trade Doomed, Lord Burnham Declares

BANDIT IS NOT ASKED TO PLEAD

Prosecution and Defense Counsel Both Absent When Hathway Appears.

CASE ENLARGED

Prisoner Is Gay and Debonair, and Smiles At Court Officials.

Leslie C. Hathway, Thorndale bank bandit, presented a gay and debonair appearance on his second appearance in police court this morning. He was not asked to plead. His case took up but two minutes of the court's time, and concluded with another jail remand for a week.

In the absence of defence counsel, J. M. McEvoy, K.C., J. G. Gillanders appeared for the youthful bank robber, and informed Deputy Magistrate Gladman that he understood Mr. McEvoy had arranged with Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd for a further enlargement of the case. He asked that the prisoner be remanded to jail for another week, with the provision that he could be brought before the court again before the expiration of the seven days.

Remand Granted.

The magistrate, noted, made a notation in the big police court blotter, and remarked, "Remanded for another week."

Judging from his appearance Hathway seemingly enjoys the notoriety he is receiving as a result of his lone-handed holdup of the Bank of Montreal branch, Thorndale, on the afternoon of July 3. He smiled beamingly at everyone in the court room, even favoring Chief Robert Birrell with a sunny smile, and waved his hand at several friends as he was being led away to the cells.

Sitting at the lawyers' table with Mr. Gillanders was H. W. Reid of Peterboro. A friend of Hathway's, and also a lawyer by profession, Mr. Reid has done all in his power to smooth the road for the young bandit. He has held daily conferences with him and has also helped Mrs. Hathway in making arrangements for the sale of furniture at the Windsor avenue home this afternoon.

Jail Is Called Proper Place For Sleuths Who Break O. T. A.

Canadian Press Despatch. Windsor, July 28.—Jail terms for prohibition enforcement officers who break the dry laws they are supposed to enforce was advocated by Mayor Mitchell this morning, in commenting upon an order-in-council passed by the Ontario government, under which the city was compelled to remit fines totalling $110 imposed on special officers of the provincial license department.

The case arose last May when two "special agents" sent here to enforce the O. T. A. fell foul of the law themselves. One of them was fined $100 and served seven days in jail. The other was taxed $10 on a drunk charge. A remission of the fines is now ordered.

In a telephone conversation this morning, Hon. W. F. Nickle, attorney-general, pointed out that it was absurd for the province to fine itself.

"I think spotters who break the law should be sent to jail without option of a fine," declared Mayor Mitchell. "They are much worse than ordinary offenders."

KLAN THREATENS AUTOISTS WHO TRY TO PICK UP GIRLS

Toronto Knights of the British Empire Will Aid Police to Curb Practice.

GROWTH DEPLORED

Young Men of Foreign Nationality Are Worst Offenders, Members Declare.

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, July 28.—Deploping the growing practice of motorists drawing up to the curb to accost young girls and invite them to go riding with them, the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire have threatened to take action in an effort to prevent continuance of the practice.

At a recent meeting of the Klan a warning was issued to young men of foreign nationality who of late, they say, have been accosting the children of white parents, walking of an evening on the streets, inviting them to ride in their automobiles, and warning members of the Klan to condemn the practice, and pledge themselves to notify the authorities of such cases as they came to their notice. Action in this matter will be taken forthwith.

Dr. J. L. Hawkins, organizer of the Klan, announced that the original Monteth branch of the order had decided to join hands with the K. K. K. of the British Empire, and to augment the membership of the new order. For this purpose, the officers of the Monteth organization have resigned in a body pending reorganization.

Pending the amalgamation process now in progress in the Klan, a committee of five will be appointed to handle the affairs of the order. When the amalgamation is completed various officers will be elected.

A public meeting in downtown Toronto or hall will take place in the near future. At this meeting one member of the Klan will disclose his identity and address the audience. Some 500 members of the Klan will be in the body of the house.

The Klan decided to send an organizer shortly into Quebec province, where numerous Protestant citizens have expressed a desire to be enrolled.

GREECE FEARS AMBITIONS MAY BRING SLAVS POWER

Associated Press Despatch.

Rome, July 28.—Despatches from the Balkans report considerable tension between Jugoslavians and Greece. The latter is described as fearing Jugoslav attempts at expansion as being excited at the sending of a Serbian military mission to Turkey, and alarmed at the ordering by Serbia of army manoeuvres near the Greek frontier.

(Since the Greek revolution June 25 when former war minister Pangalos took charge of the Greek government, Balkan despatches have consistently reported a general nervousness regarding the possibility that coup reacting in the Balkans in a way to cause trouble.)

Board An Acre To the Good

Instead of 20.3 Acres For East London Collegiate, City Has Purchased 21.55 Acres.

An engineer's survey reveals the fact that in reality the London board of education secured 21.55 acres at the corner of Dundas street and Highbury avenue, instead of 20.3 acres, as it was thought at first, as the site for the new composite east collegiate and Pottersburg public school.

Since the price fixed for the property was set at $25,000 for the block, and not at so much per acre, the local board stands 1.25 acres to the good on the provincial government, the land having been purchased off the property of the Ontario hospital for the insane, the report made by F. W. Farcombe, M.E.I.C., as to the area and location of the property, was received by the board coincident with a communication from the department of education giving official sanction to the site, providing a plot at least three acres in extent be used for the collegiate on the southwestern corner of the property.

DIVES TO DEATH IN FURNACE

Unknown Man Meets Horrible End At Imperial Oil Plant in Sarnia.

ACT PREMEDITATED

Taken, Dying, From Roaring Fire Few Seconds After Plunge.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, July 28.—An unidentified man took his life at 10:45 this morning by plunging into a boiler furnace at the south yard of the Imperial Oil Company. Immersed in the roaring fire for a few seconds he was taken out by a fire hook, a most gruesome spectacle, to breathe his last a few seconds later.

The occurrence is one of the most horrible ever recorded here. David Fowle, fireman at the boiler house, which is adjacent to South Christina street, saw the man take a dive that for its accuracy and agility was extraordinary. Through an aperture 36x30 inches and three feet from the floor level Mr. Fowle saw the man disappear.

He went right into the furnace, and his body was seen until his feet were a foot inside the doors. When he was taken out a few seconds later only the feet of his socks and his boots remained of his clothing.

The man, who was about 25 and of good appearance, had been hanging about the boiler shop for a number of hours, and was questioned by the foreman. He would walk along the road, and then return to the shop. Once, when noticed near the furnace door, he was ordered away by Frank Nash, the foreman.

He waited until the foreman had gone outside and the backs of the firemen were turned, and then he opened the door and he took his frantic plunge into the red hot fire.

There is no clue to his identity. Several times when he was questioned, he has refused to give answer. He was wearing a pair of khaki pants, a black shirt and cap and was about 5 feet 6 inches in height, and of fair complexion. Those who saw him believe that he came from the American side.

They had suspected him unbalanced of mind as his fingers were constantly twisting and he would pick up handfuls of coal and eat them with his fingers, but such an act as he committed had not come within the bounds of imagination. The remains will be kept for a few days in the hope that some clue may be found to the man's identity.

REUNION HERE ON CIVIC HOLIDAY

Men of Canadian Light Horse Will Meet in London Monday.

Recalling the stirring war days when they formed a unit which maintained its identity throughout the struggle, the members of the Canadian Light Horse will gather for a reunion here on Monday, London's civic holiday.

It is expected that more than 100 soldiers from coast to coast will be present. The regiment, which was commanded by Col. Ibbotson Leonard, held the unique position of being the only cavalry unit attached to the Canadian corps during the war.

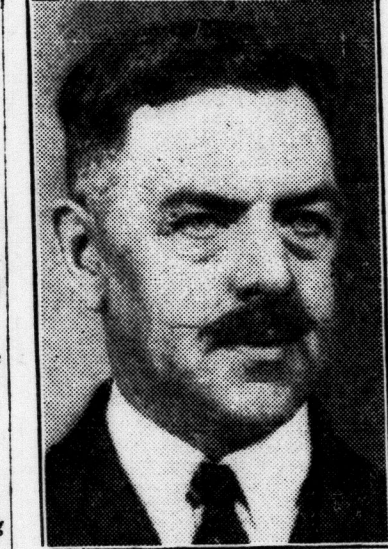

Col. Leonard will entertain the members who visit London. Col. Fred Taylor, who was an officer in the unit, said today that the invitation to attend the reunion is open to all former soldiers of the unit.

An extensive program has been arranged. A reception committee will be on duty in the rooms of the First Hussars at the armories from Friday night until Monday at 1:30 p.m. to welcome the soldiers.

In the afternoon the members will go to some spot in the country not yet decided upon, where they will have dinner. There will be a lengthy program of sports and baseball.

Col. Leonard will then entertain the members at dinner. In the evening a business and reorganization meeting will be held.

The following make up the committee in charge: Col. Leonard, Col. Taylor, Captain Milton Ashton, Alex. Johnston and Charles Sumner.

ATTENDANCE OFFICER. Thomas J. Holmes, 67 Maple Street, appointed to succeed Marcus M. Sims by the board of education Monday.

DOCTORS FIGHT FOR BOY'S LIFE

Anti-Tetanus Serum May Conquer Lockjaw From Which Dennis Barnes Is Suffering.

Anti-tetanus serum administered by Dr. F. L. Burdon to Dennis Barnes, 10 years old, 458 King street, under the direction of Drs. W. J. and H. A. Stevenson, has brought about slight improvement in the boy's condition, although he is still in a very serious condition in Victoria hospital.

Dennis had his knee badly cut in last Friday symptoms of lockjaw developed and the boy was taken to Victoria hospital on the order of Dr. Burdon.

Dr. Burdon called the Drs. Stevenson into consultation, who have been successful with many cases of lockjaw through their method of using the anti-tetanus serum.

Dr. Burdon stated this morning that the Barnes boy is in a critical condition, and although hope for his recovery is slim it is hoped that the serum will bring about the best results. The Drs. Stevenson have been working on this method of treatment since the outbreak of the war, and have made many cures with it, according to local medical men.

In the present case the results have been satisfactory and the same improvement each day shown by the boy since the serum was used will bring about a recovery.

BORER INCREASE IS 50 PER CENT

Middlesex Battling Corn Pest to Some Advantage This Year.

An increase of about 50 per cent infestation is expected in the corn borer areas of Middlesex this year, R. A. Finn, of the Middlesex branch of the department of agriculture, states.

"Last year the increase was about 30 per cent," said Mr. Finn, "but we do not expect anything like that this year. So far, we have noticed no corn borer damage this year, but we will know more about it two weeks hence."

"There has been plenty of moisture lately, and moisture means a larger percentage of hatching. Therefore the weather lately has been all in favor of the corn borer."

"In 1924 infestation amounted to about 20 per cent of the county, the greater areas being in South Middlesex."

"There has been better cultural care by many farmers as a result of the campaign we put on to eradicate the corn borer, but others have unfortunately paid no attention to the danger and their neighbors will have to suffer for their carelessness to some extent. The menace can be held in check only by combined efforts of the farmers in plowing and burning all corn refuse."

HEIRESS TO GOULD MILLIONS WEDS BRITISH WAR HERO

LIBERAL WIN SEEN IN WEST

Election Next Year Would See Blow to Progressives, Cabinet Is Told.

STILL IN SESSION

Tendency in Ontario and Quebec Is For Contest Before 1926.

By E. C. BUCHANAN, Special to The Advertiser by Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, July 28.—At the series of cabinet meetings which began yesterday, the government is discussing the question of calling an election this year. Not only were all the members of the cabinet summoned here for that purpose, but many members of the cabinet from all parts of the country were called to give advice.

Every member of the government, with the exception of Hon. H. B. McEwen, who is in the west, is here for these meetings. Leaders of the provincial groups were arriving yesterday and today.

It is well known that sentiment as to an election this year is divided, not only in the government, but in the ranks of its followers. Quebec and Ontario ministers and members favor an election this fall, but most of those from the west and from the maritimes believe it would be better to defer it until next year.

The westerners contend that the government is steadily gaining in the west and that by next year it would gain a large number of seats from the Progressives. The view taken by the Ontario and Quebec members is that the government came through the session successfully, that the opposition is weak, and that by the end of another session conditions might not be as favorable as they are now.

No immediate announcement is expected. The conferences between the prime minister and his advisers and followers will continue for a day or two.

The cabinet has a volume of business before it. The sitting today began at 10 o'clock.

SOUTH LIBRARY MUST CLOSE FOR AUGUST

Branch Has Outgrown Itself in Six Months, Says Librarian.

Large increases in the number of books circulating from the south branch of the public library have necessitated the closing of the Wortley road building during August so that alterations can be made.

Since the south branch was put in operation the first of the year, it has made greater strides in circulation than was at first anticipated. The result has been that it is with difficulty that the additional work is being handled in the present quarters.

"In 1924 infestation amounted to about 20 per cent of the county, the greater areas being in South Middlesex."

"There has been better cultural care by many farmers as a result of the campaign we put on to eradicate the corn borer, but others have unfortunately paid no attention to the danger and their neighbors will have to suffer for their carelessness to some extent. ART GALLERY FOR WESTERN

Nucleus of Collection For University Walls Has Been Donated.

Recognizing that aesthetic values in art are necessary to a college education, the University of Western Ontario is working toward an art gallery in the college of arts.

Although little has been said concerning this phase of the growth of the university, efforts to bring a nucleus of collection to the college of arts have been made.

At Western today there are several valuable paintings which are in themselves a creditable collection. Quietly the business of gathering together some of the canvases of well-known artists has been going on.

Friends of the college have presented a number of fine paintings. In order that the students may come in contact with the work of nationally recognized artists, only pictures of proven merit will find a place on the walls.

CHIEF CHARGES MOTORISTS ARE NEGLECTING HEADLIGHTS

Only 25 Per Cent Have Had Glare Adjusted, Says Birrell.

COUNTY IS WORST

Motorists Drive With Dimmers in City and Heavy Lights Outside.

That 75 per cent of London motorists have not made any attempt to stop the glare from their headlights was the assertion of Chief of Police Birrell this morning.

The chief said that this number used dimmers when they were driving in the city, but when they drove on country roads they turned on their heavy lights and the glare from them was what the police are trying to combat.

Since the anti-glare headlight campaign was instituted by the local police about 25 per cent of the motorists have gone to the various stations and had the car headlights adjusted to stop the glare. Secretary Bernard of the Motor club has noted a falling off in these adjustments.

Many do not bother, as they know they can drive in the city with their dimmers and are in no danger of arrest. But when the campaign to stop glaring lights on cars was instituted it was with the purpose of stopping motorists using glaring lights both in and out of the city.

Ticket of $2 Brings $453

Canadian Press Despatch. Regina, Sask., July 28.—All records for long prices on Western Canada tracks were shattered in the third race of yesterday's inaugural program at the provincial exhibition here when Black Pat came home a winner and $453.80 for a $2 ticket. Two lucky speculators, each holding a $3 combination ticket, received $240.20 for their investment.

OIL SPEEDS DECLINE OF COAL

British Industry Will Never Recover, Lord Burnham Tells Canadians.

TOUCHES ON STRIKE

Chairman of Imperial Press Conference Visits Vancouver—Urges Action.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Vancouver, B. C., July 28.—"There is no use living in a fool's paradise; we've got to face the facts," said Lord Burnham, chairman of the imperial press conference, in the course of an interview here yesterday.

"After dinner speeches about the solidity of the empire are very interesting and delightful," he said, "but we've got to have something more than mutual eulogies. We've got to get down to business and practice a little now what we preach. There is no getting away from it, conditions in the old country are far from satisfactory."

Had To Draw In Capital.

"This year for the first time in the history of Britain, the country has had to draw on its capital. For many years, it is true, the balance of trade has been against us, but this adverse balance has been more than overcome by the income from private investments in the dominions and elsewhere abroad."

"This margin disappeared this year, and statistics tell us that for many years, it is true, the balance of trade has been against us, but this adverse balance has been more than overcome by the income from private investments in the dominions and elsewhere abroad."

"Britain has not the money to absorb and will not have until conditions improve," Lord Burnham said. "Australia has just floated a loan in the New York market for $75,000,000, and she has done so with the consent of the Bank of England. The reason for this needs no explanation."

Pre-War Immigration.

Lord Burnham doubted if Canada was doing all she could to bring old country settlers here. He was not sure that the policy of restricting the flow of immigration, which he emphasized would be effective, and expressed the feeling strongly that the pre-war plan was the better if the country was to be filled up.

From a trade standpoint, his lordship realized the effect of the geographical proximity of the United States to Canada, but he emphasized the need of drawing the empire together in more tangible bonds than words.

Perils of Bolshevism.

He spoke of the perils of bolshevism, which was bound to extend in some measure to each part of the empire in turn. From an imperialist standpoint, Lord Burnham was not as solid as it should be. Each part had its own problems.

Referring to the impending coal strike in the old country, Lord Burnham was doubtful if this strike would ever come back, owing to the serious inroads made by the use of oil and the development of electrical power. He said that the British empire had fields of trade to re-establish herself, he concluded.

N. S. PREMIER IS MUM ON STRIKE PARLEYS

Govt. Will Continue Consideration of Industrial Situation, Rhodes Says.

Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, N. S., July 28.—Premier Rhodes said last night that the government would continue its consideration of the Cape Breton industrial situation Tuesday. He had nothing to say about the parleys which were held yesterday.

The government's meetings followed conferences which were held last week between the premier and Col. Gordon S. Harrington, minister of mines. The British Empire Steel Corporation and the district board of miners of Nova Scotia were also represented at these meetings. After the conference, Premier Rhodes called a meeting of his government today to consider the matters involved.

BROTHERS DROWN WHEN CAR PLUNGES INTO DEEP GULLY

Canadian Press Despatch. Russell, July 28.—Robert and Wilbert Stearns, brothers, aged 15 and 23, respectively, of this town, were killed yesterday when the automobile in which they were driving plunged through a bridge railing near Winchester into three feet of water in a gully below. They were pinned under the car and drowned.

WOMAN SLAIN, BARN FIRED BRUTAL MURDERER SOUGHT

Mrs. Edward Dunseath, Dufferin County, Found Dead in Garden.

HOE HANDLE USED

Seek Missing Brother-in-Law—May Have Died in Flames.

Canadian Press Despatch. Creemore, July 27.—With her head battered in, Mrs. Edward Dunseath was found lying in her vegetable garden this evening by her father-in-law. Almost at the moment that her body was discovered the barn on the farm blazed, evidently set on fire by her murderer. Near Mrs. Dunseath was discovered a bloody hoe-handle that had evidently been used as the weapon.

The woman was breathing when found, but died a few minutes later without regaining consciousness. Nothing has yet been discovered in the nature of a clue, although the police on the case have definite suspicions.

The murdered woman was discovered by her aged father-in-law, who had been left at home with the children while she was out picking berries. The garden where the assault took place is 300 yards from the house, and no cries were heard. She was due home at 6 o'clock, and when she did not arrive the old gentleman went out to look for her. He found her almost immediately, and at the same time noticed that the barn was burning.

The Dunseath family consists of Mr. Dunseath, Sen.; Edward, husband of the murdered woman; Frank, a brother, and two children, a girl of 7 and a boy of 3.

An inquest was opened by Coroner White, of Orangeville, but adjourned immediately without taking evidence. Provincial Constable Dodson is in charge of the case.

Frank Dunseath, unmarried and brother-in-law of the dead woman, is missing and is being sought by the police. It is thought he might have perished in the burned barn.

Dunseath, Sen., says that just as he came upon the dying woman he saw smoke issuing from the barn, but gave all his attention to the victim. The smoke was also seen by Edward Dunseath, and other farm workers who rushed to the barn and tried to extinguish the flames but were unable to check them, and the fine big structure with all contents was destroyed. It was not until later that Edward Dunseath learned of the attack on his wife.

Petting Parties Again Under Fire

Police Warnings Follow Road-side Investigations.

Chatnam, July 27.—High Constable Peters today issued a warning that petting parties in automobiles parked on country roads must be stopped. Conducting an investigation Sunday night, county police observed many cars parked without lights, the occupants engaged in petting. The men were required to report at headquarters.

DURHAM IN LEAD OF SELF-DENIAL GIVING

Commandant Hurd Reports On Campaign in Western Ontario.

With more than $200 above what was collected for the Salvation Army last year, Durham stands out as the shining example for generosity in this division, according to a report issued today by Commandant H. A. Hurd, financial secretary here.

The officer stated that last year $85 was the total amount given by the citizens of that place. This year the self-denial effort brought $300.36, or over $215 more than last year.

Commandant Hurd lectured in Durham in organizing the campaign in that community. Following the meeting, William Laidlaw took over the work. Commandant Hurd and Col. McAmmond of headquarters staff say that it was chiefly due to Mr. Laidlaw's efficient work that the campaign was a great success.

HOUSE IS BURNED ON MUNROE FARM

Loss $6,500 in Blaze On the London-St. Thomas Highway.

The farm house of Andrew Munroe, situated on the London-St. Thomas highway, between Tempo and Scottsville, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday with a loss of about $6,500, partially covered by insurance.

The flames were first noticed in the attic a short time after a fire had been started in the range at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Munroe and her daughter were in another part of the house when they first smelled the smoke and telephoned the neighbors for help.

Finding it impossible to check the fire, the neighbors devoted their efforts to saving the furniture, and were successful in carrying two-thirds of the household goods to safety.

Mr. Munroe and his men were working over half a mile from the house and knew nothing of the blaze until they returned at noon for their meal.

Fire Chief Atken, London, was asked for help, but owing to the distance and the fact that a good supply of water was not handy, refused to make the trip.

NEW YORK GOOD CITY NOW, ENRIGHT SAYS IN HALIFAX

Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, N. S., July 28.—"Open selling of liquor in restaurants and hotels is a thing of the past," said Commissioner Richard Enright of the New York police department, speaking of enforcement of prohibition in that city in an interview here.

"There are fewer open violations of the Volstead act in New York than in other cities of the United States," he said, adding: "There are some saloons ostensibly selling near beer, but the attendants are doing a little bootlegging on the side."

AT THE THEATRES

LOEW'S THEATRE

The Prairie Wife.

Told with simplicity, feeling and a great deal of humor, the Prairie Wife, showing at Loew's for the first half of this week, is a picture that will appeal to Londoners, first because it depicts life on the prairies of the great Canadian west, and secondly because it is adapted from a story written by Arthur Stringer, a former Londoner.

The story is told in a series of interesting incidents rather than in a detailed plot and features Dorothy Devore, a winsome young miss with a feeling for drama as well as comedy. Herbert Rawlinson provides an excellent contrast to the delicate Miss Devore, while others in the supporting cast include Leslie Stuart, Frances Prim, Erich von Ritzau and others. The picture contains some exquisite photography by James Diamond.

Ben Turpin in The Marriage Circus provides the comedy picture, while Pathe news is as interesting as usual. The Three Nites put on just about the best opening vaudeville act seen at Loew's this year. They have an eccentric comedy acrobatic offering that drew storms of applause both yesterday afternoon and evening.

Ubert Carlton is back again with a new line of songs and stories. Ubert made his last year, but he was even more popular last night and was finally forced to make a little curtain speech.

Kendal, Byron and Slater put on an amusing sketch with a moving picture flavor with the Hollock studios as a background.

Capitol Theatre

Soul Fire.

Reminiscent of Frederick O'Brien's stories of the South Sea Islands is Soul Fire, a romantic travelogue, showing at the Capitol Theatre for the first three days of this week. Richard Barthelmess and Bessie Love prove unusually attractive with a tropical background of sea and palms.

The plot deals with the age-old clash between art and commercialism. A young musician is sent to Italy to make good as a composer. His father is a wealthy American. He is so filled with a desire for material things, that he wants his son to drop music after one year abroad.

During that period the boy has composed some jazz hits which, when he hears played, prove to him that he has the heart and soul to accomplish better things. For a time he lives in Paris. Then he begins a colorful life of vagabondage, traveling to Port Said and other Mediterranean settings.

In a brawl he nearly kills a sailor. He makes his escape, and soon finds himself on a desert island with a lovable young girl.

Wrapped up in the theme are vivid flights of fancy. The photography, which is tinted in spots, casts a glow of the exotic over the whole play. Added to that, the scenes have been well done. There are enough beautiful women wearing the latest Parisian gowns and sporting the latest continental haircuts to prove the recent release, something to charm and hold attention.

A Tin Can Alley comedy, with Sid Smith, and a Pathe News reel complete the program.

Farmers In Kent Praying For End of Borer Plague; Attend Special Services

Fear Utter Ruin of Corn Crop in Big Point Parish.

MEET MONDAY ALSO

On Sunday Prayer Services Held at Four Corners of Parish.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, July 27.—Farmers in the Roman Catholic parish of Big Point are praying for the extermination of the corn borer, the destructive grub which has multiplied to an alarming extent and which threatens to totally destroy the corn crop.

Sunday afternoon more than 400 people, the majority farmers and their sons, followed Rev. Father Joseph Emery around the parish. At the four corners of the parish the procession was halted while the priest offered prayers. They returned to the church, where a special service of prayer was held.

Basting his sermon on the text, "Ask and ye shall receive," Father Emery pointed out that the Scriptures show that the ancients appealed to God in their time of trouble.

If approached in the proper spirit the same God would hear the prayers of people today, he said.

Farmers left their harvest fields to attend another special service of prayer in the Big Point church today.

CHINESE CREW QUILTS EMPRESS OF CANADA

Canadian Liner Arrives From Yokohama With Mixed Gang.

Canadian Press Despatch. Victoria, B. C., July 27.—Though retarded by fog for a considerable part of her voyage, the liner Empress of Canada reached port this morning nine days and four hours out from Yokohama. The Canada's crew was made up of Russian stokers, Portuguese and Filipino mess boys and volunteer white help from Hong Kong, instead of the usual Chinese crew.

Canadian Press Despatch. Quebec, July 27.—Two outstanding miraculous cures are reported to have been effected at Ste. Anne De Beaupre during the celebration of the feast of Ste. Anne yesterday. Miss Alice Slatery, of New Haven, Conn., who for 18 months has been denied the use of her legs and arms because of paralysis is reported to have walked after attending the nine days' prayer that preceded yesterday's celebrations.

A Mrs. Graham, of Northampton, Mass., is said to have regained the sight of the right eye, which for a number of years had been blind.

THOMAS HOLMES APPOINTED SCHOOL ATTENDANCE OFFICER

Bank of Montreal Messenger
To Succeed Marcus M.
Sims.

TARTS IMMEDIATELY
2,000 in Repairs Will Be Put On Central Collegiate.

Thomas J. Holmes, 67 Maple street, aged 59 years, Bank of Montreal messenger, was appointed by the board of education yesterday afternoon as attendance officer in succession to Marcus M. Sims, who resigned several weeks ago. Mr. Holmes, who will assume his duties immediately, will receive a salary of $2,000 per annum and a car allowance, the amount of which is to be determined later.

The board remained deadlocked as between choosing Mr. Holmes or Edward G. Wood, 569 Ridout street, aged 33 years, clerk in the city engineer's office, at the end of 23 ballots, the last four of which resulted in five votes being cast for each of the two men. Trustees A. R. Calmer, vice-president of the board, then moved, seconded by Trustee N. F. Willmot, that Mr. Holmes be appointed, which motion was carried by a vote of 12 to 4, those supporting it, in addition to the mover and seconder, being Trustees F. H. Greenlee, W. G. Murray, B. N. Campbell and Mrs. John Rose.

Application will be made by the board to the department of education for its official permission to house the Pottersburg public school in the new east collegiate for an indefinite period of years, which permission must be forthcoming before the plans for the new collegiate are proceeded with on the basis at present being discussed.

To Repair Collegiate.

Considerable discussion as to external repairs to be made to the central collegiate institute resulted in the decision to have the work done, consisting of pointing of stone work and strengthening of the skylight, at a cost estimated at approximately $2,000, the job to be done instead of certain other interior repairs and improvements, for which provision had been made in the estimates for the year.

The problem which faces the board regarding the house on 11 Askin street, took up considerable time, after which it was decided to call for tenders for the removal of the house, the property on which it stands to be retained for playground purposes in connection with Victoria public school and the present south London collegiate institute.

Administration G. A. Wheable reported having received a communication from the department of education and Health, site for the east London collegiate, while L. E. Carrothers, superintendent of buildings and repairs, reported on sketches of the proposed building as suggested by Trustee Murray and himself were now in the hands of local contractors for their consideration and opinion as to comparative merits and costs of construction.

The Balloting.

On the first ballot cast for the post of attendance officer only four of the 28 applicants received one or more votes, as follows: Mr. Wood, 5; Mr. Holmes, 2; Miss Dallas F. Radcliffe, 2; James Benson, 1. The second ballot, which followed, was as follows: Mr. Wood, 4; Mr. Holmes, 4; Miss Radcliffe, 1; Mr. Benson, 1. The third ballot stood five each for Mr. Wood and Mr. Holmes, and drew in between times the succeeding three ballots showed no change in the vote at five each for the two men.

Mr. Greenlee suggested that the trustees draw lots to which trustees should not vote, so that an odd vote would result, but this was negated by the remark of one of the trustees "that we might as well draw lots as we might as well draw lots." Mr. Wood reported that he had not seen Mr. Wood, and supporters of Mr. Wood for the position suggested that Mr. Willmot should drop out of the voting. Mrs. Rose offered to withdraw her name, the other nine trustees settle the question.

Mr. Lawrence suggested putting the two names in a bag and drawing one out, but this was from Mr. Willmot, who said that this was not fair to the candidates. Mr. Carrothers then brought forward the plan in accordance with Administration G. A. Wheable's suggestion, to instruct a motion for one man and have a straight, open vote on that motion, the chairman refrain from voting. The result, which then gave Mr. Holmes six votes and Mr. Wood five, indicated that Mr. Lawrence had supported Mr. Wood for the post, and that one trustee, apparently Mrs. Rose, had switched her vote from Mr. Wood to Mr. Holmes, thereby making it six votes, instead of only five as on the previous ballots.

Others who applied for the position were: Robert Syme, T. A. Willis, A. L. Mantle, A. R. Patrick (Hamilton), W. H. Arnold, P. R. K. Potter, J. F. Fynde, G. C. Weir, A. Towle, A. L. Simmie, G. A. Hosie, R. Culbert, W. A. Roberts, H. R. Laird, Rev. C. Deacon, D. D. J. C. Fitzgerald, G. Hunt, P. Graham, J. C. Garfield, F. H. Stimpkins, N. B. Fitzgibbon, J. O. Richards, H. A. Secord, and J. Coups. Trustees G. F. Copeland and J. B. Wright were absentees from the meeting.

NEW OFFICIALS TO AID UNITED VETERAN MOVE

Provincial Chairmen To Be Appointed—Idea Approved by Wray.

Announcement that provincial chairmen are being appointed to promote the amalgamation of all veterans' organizations, was cordially endorsed by Harry Wray, president of the G. W. V. A., this morning as a step in the right direction.

"It shows," commented Mr. Wray, "that both Field Marshal Earl Haig and Gen. Sir Richard Turner, V.C., dominion G. W. V. A. president, mean business with regard to the principle of amalgamation, and that they are losing no time in getting to work on the practical steps to bring about unity of all veteran associations."

Lieut.-Col. J. L. Ralston, D.S.O., Halifax, has been asked to assume the chairmanship of the amalgamation committee for the maritime provinces, and Major General G. Eric McChug, C.M.G., D.S.O., Montreal, that for the province of Quebec. Major General J. P. Fotheringham, C.M.G., and Brig. Gen. John A. Gunn, C.M.G., D.S.O., both of Toronto, are consulting concerning the man to be selected as Ontario chairman.

JULY BUILDING VALUES PAS $300,000 MARK

Total So Far This Month Has Exceeded That of Last Year.

Construction values for the month of July have already reached $304,500, according to figures at the office of the city building inspector. This figure is a new mark for the month of July, as the heavier building boom comes usually during the spring months.

Several important structures of $50,000 value each have helped swell this month's total. The total for 1925, to date, is nearly equal to the same period of last year.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE ON SCHOOL ADDITION

Progress is being made with the eight-room addition to the London technical and commercial school on the east wing of the present building.

Work was begun on the foundation some time ago by John Hayman & Co., the firm successful in securing the contract for $55,000, but owing to some slight changes required in the plans by the department of education, the work was held up for a time. The board of education has received official approval of the plans during the past few days and hence construction work is proceeding apace. It is confidently expected that the new addition will be ready for occupancy for the re-opening of school in the fall.

COAL DEALER FINED.

A local coal dealer paid $10 and costs in police court this morning because his driver did not wait to receive a ticket from the clerk at the city weigh scales, giving the weight of the load on the wagon he was driving.

LONDON RECEIVES SOME ADVERTISING

Appreciation Extended For Contributions to Evanston
Sessions.

"London is receiving advantageous advertising and has been extended appreciation for contributions made to subjects included in the summer session now being conducted at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., western chamber of commerce, who is attending the school where over 3,500 students during the past year were trained in the school of commerce to increased usefulness of service."

"This great university of service," continues Mr. Wood, "carries on courses throughout the summer months in liberal arts, medicine, engineering, dentistry, music, theology and other subjects in addition to commerce."

"Announcement has just been made that Evanston will draw the attention of police officials as the probable location of an international school for police officials to be conducted in co-operation with Northwestern University."

The international convention of the association of chief constables will be held in Chicago next year, by which time it is expected that definite plans for the school may be underway. Serving on the school committee is Chief Constable C. H. Newton of Winnipeg. About the only group of public servants for whom professional training opportunities have been provided are the representatives in our legislatures. Citizens of countries have not generally realized that up to this time their representatives in their houses of parliament are amateurs of government.

"The art of building goodwill for their community is practiced very thoroughly by the citizens of Evanston," concludes Mr. Wood. "Since the chief constables attending the summer sessions, Courtesies extended in these and various other ways certainly count to the advantage of Evanston because all students from all parts of the continent carry messages of goodwill wherever they go concerning this university city."

Chief Constable C. H. Better Fire Protection Will Be Afforded by Latest Improvement.

In order to provide better fire protection for North London, a new 12-inch water main is being laid on Wellington street, between Piccadilly and Grovenor.

The general manager of the public utilities commission stated today that increased number of residential services and also demand for more fire protection is the cause for laying the new main, which will include several thousand feet of pipe.

OLD BOYS HEAR SERMON AT MISSOURI UNITED

Old boys and old girls crowded the Nissouri United Church of Canada, seventh line, to hear Rev. R. C. Copeland, B.A., secretary of the former London Methodist conference, last Sunday night. Mr. Copeland, who has just recently been placed in charge of the Nissouri congregation, preached an inspiring sermon from the text: "It was glad when they said unto me, Let us go on into the house of the Lord." The choir of the church, under Miss Meta Blight, organist, and Wm. Payne, choir leader, and assisted by Messrs. Macdonald, rendered two selections in splendid style. Nissouri church is planning a decoration day service on Sunday, Aug. 25, when the graves of the cemetery will be duly decorated. Mr. Copeland, who is a former London boy, is being cordially greeted in his new charge.

Buzz Saw Death
Foiled by Sister

Canadian Press Despatch.
Woodstock, Ont., July 28.—The prompt action of Marjorie Oliver, aged 12 years, saved the life of her 10-year-old sister, Florence, when the latter was caught in the machinery of a sawmill near here yesterday.

She was being slowly drawn into the saw when she was grabbed by her sister, who held on with all her might and called for help. Workmen who stopped the machinery had their hands badly torn and lacerated.

DECORATING AT Y.M.C.A. TO BE FINISHED BY FALL

When the fall program of the Y.M.C.A. opens early in September, the members will be greeted by a decorated gymnasium and artistic rooms.

For some weeks past George Day and his staff have been working on the decorations of the upper floors of the building. The offices and social rooms have been given several coats of paint. At present the small gymnasium is being repaired and will be ready for use by the fall.

Mr. Day said this morning that the work would be completed before the first of September.

Evolution Indicted Five Times By Bryan In Address He Was Prevented From Delivering

Widow of Commoner Gives
"The Tennessee Case" to the World.

DEFENDS CREATION
Science Is Not Conflict With Christ, He Quoted Darwin
As Writing.

Associated Press Despatch.
Dayton, Tenn., July 28.—"The Tennessee Case," an address prepared by William J. Bryan in defence of the Tennessee anti-evolution law, which the late commoner was prevented from delivering at the Dayton trial because of an early termination of the case, was made known to the world today by Mrs. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan declared in the address that the case was no longer local, but that it "has assumed the proportions of a battle royal between unbelief that attempted to speak through so-called science and the defenders of the Christian faith."

Assessing that "this law does not violate any rights guaranteed by our constitution to any individual" and "was no interference with freedom of conscience," Mr. Bryan declared that it was the duty of every citizen to defend the truth of the Bible account of man's creation and shakes faith in the Bible as the word of God.

"This indictment we prove by comparing the processes described as evolutionary with the text of Genesis," he said.

"Our second indictment," the address said, "is that the evolutionary hypothesis carried to its logical conclusion disputes every vital truth of the Bible."

Here Charles Darwin was referred to, to illustrate what was meant by the charge. "I did not in the least doubt the strict and literal truth of every word in the Bible," Darwin was quoted as saying of the period from 1828 to 1831. Then, said Mr. Bryan, "the change wrought in his (Darwin's) religious views will be found in a letter written to a German youth in 1879. An excerpt from this letter reads: 'Science has nothing to do with Christ, except in so far as the habit of scientific research makes a man cautious in admitting evidence. For myself, I do not believe that there ever has been any revelation. As to the future life every man must judge for himself between conflicting vague probabilities.'"

The third indictment against evolution was that "it diverts attention from pressing problems of great importance to trifling speculation."

"Our fourth indictment against the evolutionary hypothesis is that by paralyzing the hope of reform, it discourages those who labor for the improvement of man's condition," says Mr. Bryan.

"Every upward looking man or woman seeks to lift the level upon which mankind stands, and they trust that they will see beneficent changes during the brief span of their own lives," he held.

Aeons for Years.
"Evolution chills their enthusiasm by substituting aeons for years. It obscures all beginnings on the mist of endless ages. It is represented as a cold and heartless process beginning with time and ending with eternity and acting so slow that even the rocks cannot preserve a record of imaginary changes through which it is credited with having carried an original germ of life that appeared some time, from somewhere. Its only program for man is scientific breeding, a system under which a few supposedly super-intellects, self-appointed, would direct the mating and the movement of the mass of mankind—an impossible system."

"Evolution, disputing the miracle and ignoring the spiritual in life, has no place for regeneration of the individual. It recognizes no cry of repentance and scoffs at the doctrine that one can be born."

The fifth charge brought was that "it taken seriously and made the basis of a philosophy of life, evolution would eliminate love and carry man back to a struggle of tooth and claw."

Dawn Finds Them in Historical Charleston, South Carolina.

Men's Shops Not Only Places
Where Women Are Getting Marcelled.

GRADUATE BARBERS

Girls Have College Degrees,
But Found No Market
For Them.

While the men continue to marvel at the increasing number of women who call at their favorite barber shops for haircuts, these women are by no means representative of the thousands who devote some part of the day for a trim or a shingle. Barber shops and beauty parlors are not doing all the shearing. There are upwards of 40 private homes in the city where women are marcelled and otherwise beautified.

The business developed out of the ambitious college women's desire for a career. Many of those who are beauty specialists catering to the exclusive clientele in the privacy of their own homes are college graduates. They had studied languages, music and deportment. When they left the dear old alma mater they took with them a lot of knowledge that was not saleable.

They possessed that knowledge common to most women, a taste for the beautiful. They soon found a growing business in the popular modes of hair-dressing. They still play the piano to entertain their friends. They admit they have forgotten most of their Latin.

Plans for the journey of the body to Washington and interment in the Arlington cemetery had been taken over by William E. Thompson, youth secretary to the dead man. The body will leave for Washington tomorrow morning and arrive Thursday morning. After services Friday, burial will be in Arlington. President Coolidge has ordered that flags on government buildings in the capital be at half staff Friday.

WIRE FROM TAFT.
The following telegram was received by Mrs. William Jennings Bryan yesterday from William H. Taft, chief justice of the United States, who is staying at Murray Day, Que.

"Mrs. Taft and I extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in your great sorrow. Mr. Bryan and I were long on the issues of the day. His will be a most notable figure in our political history."

COOLIDGE FEELS LOSS.
Associated Press Despatch.
Swampscott, Mass., July 28.—President Coolidge late yesterday sent a letter of condolence to the widow of William Jennings Bryan. It read, in part:

"The sudden death of Mr. Bryan brought a sense of personal loss to only the other day that he had been our guest at the White House. We wish to extend to you and your family our most heartfelt sympathy."

Mr. Bryan has been a prominent figure in public affairs for a third of a century. He has been a leader in the advocacy of many moral reforms and was representative of the effort for purity in our political life. The sincerity of his motives was beyond dispute."

LAST FORMAL UTTERANCE.
Associated Press Despatch.
New York, July 28.—William Jennings Bryan's last formal utterance on evolution, entitled "The Bible Is Good Enough for Me," appears in the current issue of Collier's Weekly as an answer to claims for evolution made in the previous issue by Leonard Darwin, son of Charles Darwin.

"The theory of evolution," Mr. Bryan says, "is dangerous to society. When one considers man but a 'bundle of characteristics' inherited from brute beasts and man, evolutionists do it not only belies man, but it paralyzes all efforts at reform."

"Followers of Darwin have carried this doctrine so far as to declare that pity and sympathy, the greatest of the moral forces, are unmanly and interfere with the coming of their merciless 'superman.' Few people who profess to believe in evolution have ever read Darwin."

ALL FOLK HONOR DEAD COMMONER

Messages of Condolence Continue To Pour Into Dayton, Tennessee.

Associated Press Despatch.
Dayton, Tenn., July 28.—As the body of William Jennings Bryan lay in simple state at the home of a friend here today, simple people of the United States paid him sympathetic tribute.

While others from among their midst poured messages of condolence into the little white cottage which housed the body of the commoner, uncounted thousands whose causes he had championed mourned a leader, silently.

Of varying political views, he had found in them a common chord when he came forward as a defender of the inspired Bible and revealed religion.

Even as news came from Washington that arrangements had been made for burial of their leader among the nation's heroes, many were penning messages of sympathy to the commoner, and similarly the separate school authorities employed a representative to look after their interests in the matter.

Subsequent to Dr. Weir's resignation and the appointment of Marcus M. Sims as attendance officer, the latter was accustomed to do this work. The money he had been appointed to succeed Mr. Sims the time is ripe to introduce the most up-to-date and accurate method of the phase of the attendance department's work.

Of late years Rev. Father Brisson, successor to Dr. Weir as attendance officer, has been in the hands of the separate school authorities in surveying the assessment roll.

Special To The Advertiser.
Windsor, July 27.—The city council tonight gave the third reading to the bylaw calling for one-way traffic on Douglass avenue. It was passed unanimously. Another bylaw, making it compulsory for all autos carrying passengers to come to a full stop before crossing a railway track was also put through.

Mayor Mitchell did not favor the plan of the Essex utilities commission to submit the hospital bylaw to the people on Sept. 1. He preferred that the measure be voted on at the annual municipal elections. The suggestion, however, met with stiff opposition, and was finally rejected.

FUNERAL WAITS ARRIVAL OF TWO FROM CALIFORNIA

Awaiting the arrival of Marjorie and Allen Skinner from Los Angeles, Cal., the funeral of Mrs. Reta Skinner, wife of W. Skinner, assistant postmaster, will not be held until Friday afternoon. Mrs. Skinner died in Windsor early on Monday morning after a short illness.

With the best train connections from Los Angeles, Marjorie and Allen, however, met with stiff opposition, and was finally rejected.

Berry Reported

A raspberry measuring 2 1/2 inches in circumference was found by W. T. Greenslade on his farm on Longwoods road, two miles west of Delaware. The berry was of the Cuthbert variety.

Three weeks ago, while harvesting his strawberry crop, Mr. Greenslade picked a strawberry measuring 4 1/2 inches in circumference.

HOLMES TO STUDY TORONTO SYSTEM

New Attendance Officer Will Endeavor To Learn Best Methods.

Thomas J. Holmes, newly-appointed attendance officer, will be sent by the board of education to Toronto to study the system in vogue there for the surveying of the assessment roll to distinguish property as between public and separate school supporters.

Dr. George Weir, as trustee officer years ago, used to devote the summer months to checking up the local assessment roll with a view to seeing that the public schools secured all of the taxes that were rightfully due them, and similarly the separate school authorities employed a representative to look after their interests in the matter.

Subsequent to Dr. Weir's resignation and the appointment of Marcus M. Sims as attendance officer, the latter was accustomed to do this work. The money he had been appointed to succeed Mr. Sims the time is ripe to introduce the most up-to-date and accurate method of the phase of the attendance department's work.

No Railway Remedy in This.

Ottawa is filled with rumors of a new plan, to be sponsored by the government, which will remedy the railway problem. Despatches from The Advertiser's Ottawa correspondent, E. C. Buchanan, have indicated an expectation in political circles that such a plan is to be offered as an election issue for approval by the people of Canada.

For the success of the plan, if there be one, as well as for the safety of national interests, it is to be hoped that it is not based upon the railway proposals of the senate.

The senate committee would solve the railway problem by amalgamating the C. N. R. and the C. P. R. under a joint directorate of fifteen members, five to be chosen by the government, five by the C. P. R., and another five by these ten.

The selection of this directorate is risky enough, but the real nigger in the woodpile emerges in the permanent guarantee of a dividend to the C. P. R. equal to that which it now enjoys. After this was paid, the senate would give the C. N. R. a similar dividend if possible, and if there were then a surplus it would be divided between the two. In other words the C. P. R. would be better than a preferred stockholder, because it would hold a prior and guaranteed claim on the earnings of the partnership plus the common stockholder's chance of a split in the surplus.

The senate's plan is unsafe. In effect it would be worse than selling the C. N. R. outright to the C. P. R. Under any government, particularly under a Conservative government, it would be likely to mean C. P. R. domination of the joint board, an improper capitalization of the C. N. R. on which the public's dividend would be calculated, safety and an assured dividend for the C. P. R. with all the risks assumed by the government and thus by the taxpayer.

No such plan touches the fundamental cause of the railway problem. It lies neither in book-keeping, nor in financing, nor in systems of organization. It consists of the simple fact that Canada has a duplication and even a triplication of miles of railway for which no nation of Canada's population can supply sufficient business. These duplicated and triplicated miles of railway are taking money from Canadian pockets, be they C. P. R. tracks or C. N. R., and the remedy must deal with the elimination of the losing miles. The senate's plan merely divides the money in favor of the C. P. R.

Britain's Gold Standard.

In one sense the gold standard is no longer an open question for Britain. The gold standard has been restored, at heavy sacrifice, and nobody would dream of now abandoning it. Yet both economic students and practical businessmen are wondering whether the policy of restoration has been justified. Mr. Lloyd George is now attacking the government for going back to gold. This, of course, is mere politics, because Mr. Lloyd George's government was the one which initiated the policy of deliberate monetary deflation which had for its object, in Mr. Lloyd George's own phrase, "to enable the pound to look the dollar in the face."

The restoration of the gold standard has not been followed by any of the specific evils that might have been feared. The Bank of England has not put up its money rate and there has been no drain of gold. On the contrary, this country's stock of gold is increasing. The point that raises doubt, however, is that the authorities are keeping a pretty strict embargo on foreign loans and have been doing so all the year. Australia has been made to go to New York for accommodation. The suggestion is made by some opponents of the gold standard that this embargo is made in order to keep gold in England, and the consequence is that British export trade is deprived of the orders it would receive from overseas customers if they were allowed to borrow.

On the other hand, it is said by upholders of the official policy that the embargo on foreign loans does not prevent England from lending up to its true capacity, that is to say, so far as it has saved capital which is available for lending, as distinct from the mere manufacture of credit by the banks. In proof of this it is pointed out that overseas issues which have been permitted despite the embargo have not been subscribed by the public but have been left on the hands of the underwriters.

Slow Driving is Dangerous.

Excessive speed, careless driving, glaring headlights, and faulty brakes are all forms of public menace on the highway which deserve the attention they are receiving. There is, however, another danger almost equally bad. It is the practice of "idling" at low speed on main highways, and although the Highway Traffic Act provides means of correction it appears to be increasingly prevalent on Ontario roads.

The motorist who drives his car at twelve or fifteen miles an hour on a highway where the normal speed is from twenty-five to thirty is not a careful driver. He is not even a cautious driver. If caution be his motive, and perhaps sometimes it is, he is in error because his caution has reached an extreme degree where it becomes a risk both to himself and other drivers. The idling driver blocks traffic. He compels other cars to swing past him on the left hand side of the road in the face of approaching traffic, or else he creates a jam of cars behind him, all waiting an opportunity to pass. It is in the process of passing and in traffic congestion that the great majority of accidents occur.

The Advertiser does not wish to be construed as encouraging the criminal habit of excessive speed, but it believes that there are many instances where the driver at fifteen miles an hour constitutes a greater menace to public safety than the driver at thirty-five miles an hour. The safety of driving must be judged with regard to the circumstances, but its basis should be the necessity of keeping traffic moving steadily and with uniformity. The man who travels at fifty miles an hour and the man who blocks the road either by idling or by stopping his car on the roadway are equally guilty in their violation of this necessity.

The remedy appears to lie in more specific instruction to highway traffic officers to regulate traffic rather than merely suppress excessive speed.

The Highway Traffic Act already provides the legal means. In part, section 25 says: "Any person who drives a motor vehicle on a highway at a speed or in a manner dangerous to the public, having regard for all the circumstances, shall incur a penalty of not less than $10 and not more than $200, and shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 60 days."

That this section gives an officer discretionary powers where low speeds are concerned is obvious, and traffic officers should be instructed to use such powers in place of confining their energies to the pursuit of speeders.

American highway officials have perhaps had more experience than we have had in the regulation of traffic, and there are several main roadways in the United States on which a minimum as well as a maximum speed limit has been fixed by law. In Michigan, for example, engineers have advocated special through highways with a minimum speed limit of thirty-five miles an hour. This appears to be an extreme measure, but it serves to illustrate recognition of the fact that excessive low speed may be as dangerous as excessive high speed.

Another Private Interest Complains.

The latest attack upon Ontario's ownership of her hydro-electric system by American private interests comes in an address delivered by Arthur Williams, vice-president of the New York Edison Company, which supplies service to New York city. Mr. Williams has not merely delivered his address; he has had it published in pamphlet form for distribution by mail.

Mr. Williams begins his reference to the hydro-electric system of Ontario by soft flattery in which he says:

"As an example of public ownership, in magnitude, modern equipment, in the general, technical and executive ability of its management, abundant and constant steam flow, and lack of necessity for dam or artificial pressure, to say nothing of its financial resources, the Ontario hydro-electric system stands alone. All other similar undertakings are small in comparison, and, developed under the genius of Sir Adam Beck, it offers the most important example for measuring similar enterprises privately owned and managed."

This paragraph, however, is merely gentle introduction of an attack in which Mr. Williams says that all this and more has been given to the United States by private enterprises "without the aid or risk of public funds."

Mr. Williams proceeds to infer that hydro-electric statements in Ontario consist of suppressions of essential facts which amount to mis-statements, that the comparison of Toronto's rate of two cents a kilowatt hour with New York's rate of seven cents is false, and that Ontario has 33 municipalities which pay a higher household rate than New York and 140 municipalities with a higher commercial rate.

Mr. Williams concludes his discussion of rates with the paragraph:

"There seems to be almost unanimous agreement that Ontario's household rates are below the 'out of pocket' cost of the service, and are made for political reasons. Every household controls an average of one vote or more, which is apparently the reason for this discrimination. I do not attempt to criticize it, for it may have been found a necessary measure for retaining office, but certainly no good American could wish anything of the kind to become a part of the political or industrial life of this country."

Mr. Williams' address, like similar attacks delivered by American private capitalists, is a little too obvious in its motive to be effective in its result. It is not likely that Sir Adam Beck will consider it sufficiently important to require a reply. The best reply, perhaps, comes from the United States itself, in the announcement last Saturday that the Aluminum Company of America, with ramifications running into many millions of dollars, is planning to move its headquarters from the United States to Canada, and the explanation that a chief factor in such move is the abundant supply in Ontario and Quebec of cheap electrical power.

Note and Comment.

Now that the London Free Press has faked a discovery of old liquors on Main Station Island one may expect it to find Pat Norton at Beech Park.

The Manitoba Free Press says that an optimist is a person who thinks it is nice to have corns on the soles of his feet because nobody can tramp on them.

Mules are wanted for the little war between France and the Riff tribesmen, and they are selling for $150 as compared with $70 for a horse. Pretty soon it will be cheaper to use mules.

The United States is to have two monkey-trials. One has taken place in Dayton; the second will be in Chicago. "Prison-psychosis" is to be the subject of the debate, although the murder of a man is believed to be connected with the case.

Smuts and the Pact

The British point of view and the attitude of General Smuts regarding the security pact between Britain, France, Germany and Belgium is summarized in the following interesting article by Henry Somerville, The Advertiser's resident correspondent in London, England.

At one time General Smuts had the reputation of a superman among Liberals in England. He was credited with being the real author of the League of Nations and of the Irish settlement, and there were influential Liberal journalists who besought him to leave South Africa and become the leader of the Liberal party in England, where he would have a much wider sphere more appropriate to his extraordinary talents. His stock went rather low when he was beaten in his own country, but he evidently still thinks he can speak as an oracle, for he has sent a dramatic cablegram, apparently unsolicited, to a London newspaper, anathematizing the proposed security pact between Britain, France, Germany and Belgium. He has many solemn words, which may be boiled down to two arguments. The one is that the pact would stereotype the settlement of Europe under the peace treaties. The other is that some of the dominions are certain to stand aside from the pact and therefore that it will mean Britain taking a line of her own disassociated from the other states of the empire. General Smuts concludes:

"Why not imitate Canning? Why not go forward to the uncertain future hand in hand with the young nations of the empire rather than with the spectres of Europe? Not only as a citizen of the empire but as a good European I have a rooted distrust of the Holy Alliance."

The appeal to the memory of Canning has not impressed those who have made a special study of the policy of Canning towards the Holy Alliance. It is considered very strange that General Smuts, who is one of the men responsible for the peace settlement, should speak against it being "stereotyped." The question is asked whether he thinks that the settlement can be thrown into the melting-pot without a new war?

It is admittedly a grave matter that Britain should accept far-reaching European responsibilities independently of the dominions, but the truth seems to be that the dominions will not commit themselves to European responsibilities, while Britain cannot escape them.

The question of the pact is not to be prejudged. It may well prove impossible to devise a scheme mutually satisfactory to Britain, Germany and France. But it is felt that General Smuts' negotiations are altogether too far-reaching, for they would inhibit Britain from having any positive policy in regard to Europe. It is all very well to speak of the "spectres of Europe," but France, Germany and Russia, not to mention other great powers, cannot be erased from the map by dramatic phrases.

A Smile

By ANNE CAMPBELL.

It's funny what a smile will do.
A kindly, sympathetic smile.
It sorta puts the heart in you.
And suddenly your life's worth while.
It's funny how a smile will grip
And hold you in a kind of spell.
The clouds of care just dim and dip.
A smile will scatter them pell-mell.
It's funny how you go along,
Disheartened, weary and oppressed,
And suddenly your life's a song.
Somebody's smile has made you blest.
It's funny how a cheery grin
Can cover up an aching heart;
It keeps the world from peeping in
And tramping on your hurt and smart.
It's funny what a smile will do!
Just like a fresh and fragrant rain,
It makes life's desert sweet and new,
And kindles faith and hope again!

NOT PARTICULAR.

A prisoner was in the dock on a serious charge of stealing, and the case having been presented to the court by the prosecuting attorney, he was ordered to stand up.

"Have you a lawyer?" asked the court.

"No, sir."

"Are you able to employ one?"

"No, sir."

"Do you want a lawyer to defend the case?"

"Not particular, sir."

"Well, what do you propose to do about the case?"

"We'll—ll—" with a yawn, as if wearied of the thing, "I'm willin' to drop the case, far's I'm concerned."

MRS. HARRIS DIES AFTER AUTO CRASH

Shock Proves Fatal To London Woman, Aged 77.

Special to The Advertiser.
Sarnia, July 27.—Mrs. Helen Harris, of 488 Emery street, London, who was badly shaken up in an auto accident here on Sunday, died in the Sarnia General hospital this afternoon. According to Dr. C. O. Young, who attended the injured lady, it was the shock of the accident, combined with her age of 77 years, that caused death.

Mrs. Harris was driving with her son George to spend the day in Sarnia when the car was sideswiped by a milk truck driven by David Dunn of Mandamun, on the fourth line of Sarnia township. It went into the ditch, and though the occupants suffered no fractures, Mrs. Harris was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition.

The coroner stated this evening that an inquest will not necessarily be held.

The late Mrs. Harris lived in London for the past eight years, residing with her son, George, 488 Emery street. Previously, she had resided in Westminster township. For several years she had been a semi-invalid, confined to the house for most of that period. She was a member of the Methodist church.

At the time of the accident, she was on her way to visit her son in Detroit.

Survivors are five sons: Samuel, William and George, of London; James, of Detroit; and Charles, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; one daughter, Mrs. Harry Mann, of Lambeth, and one sister, Mrs. H. Jackson, of this city.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon from the residence of her son George, 488 Emery street.

WHY A FOOL A FELLOW IS TO LIVE IN THE CITY PAYING OUT HIS GOOD MONEY FOR FOOD, RENT AND CLOTHES - AFTER HE SPENDS A WEEK WORKING LIKE A HORSE ALL HE HAS LEFT OUT OF HIS PAN IS THE ENVELOPE IT CAME IN - NO MATTER HOW MUCH HE MAKES HE HAS TO SPEND IT ALL TO LIVE - ANY WHERE AS A SNAIL ON A TREAD-MILL -

OUT HERE A MAN CAN LIVE FOR EVER WITHOUT SPENDING A DIME - HIS CHICKENS ARE THERE TO SUPPLY FRESH EGGS AND CHICKEN DINNERS WHEN EVER HE WANTS ONE - IF HE UKES A FISH TO PICK UP A WORM TOSSES IT OUT IN THE LAKE AND PULLS IN A DINNER THAT WOULD COST FIVE BUCKS IN THE CITY - ALL THE VEGETABLES HE CAN EAT ARE PARKING IN HIS BACK YARD WAITING FOR TO BE INVITED INTO THE KITCHEN -

WHAT A CINCH - NO TELEPHONE, GAS OR ELECTRIC LIGHT BILLS - A PERFECT LAKE THAT CAN BE USED AS A COMBINATION BATH-TUB AND DRINKING FOUNTAIN - WHAT USE HAS OLD TIMER FOR MONEY - HE GROWS HIS OWN TOBACCO AND SMOKES IT IN A CORN COB PIPE THAT HE RAISED FROM A SEED - OUT HERE ALL A FELLOW HAS TO DO IS FIND A DOLLAR PUT IT IN THE BANK AND HE CAN LIVE ON THE INTEREST FOR THE REST OF HIS LIFE -

Little People of Smiling Pool! Sees Funniest Fishing Party Ever

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

It was a few days after Billy Mink had unsuccessfully tried to get a Kingfisher dinner that the Smiling Pool saw one of the funniest fishing parties it has seen for a long time. Peter Rabbit happened to be over there at the time. Peter was sitting on the opposite bank. On the big rock in the middle of the Smiling Pool sat Jerry Muskrat. Grandfather Frog was sitting on his favorite big screen lily-pod. Spotted the Turtle was sunning himself on the end of an old log in the water. Side by side in a row on a dead limb that hung out over the water sat six young Kingfishers. The feathers on the tops of their heads all stood up like the hair of a boy just getting up in the morning.

Rattles the Kingfisher and Mrs. Rattles were fussing about as only a couple of fond parents can. Suddenly Mrs. Rattles gave a sharp warning. "Look down there in the water!" she cried. "See those little fish!"

All the young Kingfishers bent their heads and looked down into the water. All of them saw the little fish. All of them suddenly became very hungry. But they didn't know what to do about it. It was the first time they had ever seen fish moving. They looked at the fish, and they looked at each other. Then they looked at their mother, Mrs. Rattles the Kingfisher.

At that very instant Mrs. Rattles suddenly closed her wings and shot straight down head first into the water with a little tinkling splash. "Oh!" cried the six little Kingfishers together.

And just as they cried "Oh!" up came Mrs. Rattles the Kingfisher, and in her bill was a little fish. "Oh!" cried the six little Kingfishers together again, and then all fixed their eager eyes on their mother and that little fish. Each hoped that that little fish was for him. You should have seen them all stretch their necks toward Mrs. Rattles as she flew over and alighted near them. But she didn't give them the fish. She dounded it on the branch at her feet for a moment, and then—well, what do you think she did? She swallowed that little fish herself. Yes, sir, she did so.

Such a look of disappointment as swept over the faces of those little Kingfishers! Even Peter Rabbit could see it from where he sat. He laughed right out. So did Jerry Muskrat. So did Grandfather Frog. So did Spotted the turtle. It really was funny. Just then up came Rattles the Kingfisher, and the same thing happened all over again, only this time it was Rattles who caught the fish and ate it.

Several times Rattles and Mrs. Kingfisher caught fish and ate them. Then the boldest and the smartest of the six little Kingfishers, or perhaps it was the hungriest one, saw a little fish swimming close to the surface just below him. In his hurry he seemed to actually tumble off that branch. Down he went, and he was so awkward about it that he made a great splash when he hit the water, and when he came up he had no fish. But if he had no fish, he had made his first plunge. Not two minutes later he had another chance, and this time he caught the little fish. Never was there a prouder young Kingfisher in all the Great World. He hammered it against the branch as he had seen his father and mother do, and then he turned it around and swallowed it head first. He paid no attention to his brothers and sisters, who were begging him to give it to them. "Catch your own fish," said he, and flew over to another tree, where he could be by himself with a better chance of catching fish.

How to make Delicious Raspberry Jam in 15 minutes New method that never fails

The day of hard work over a hot stove and the guess-work, with its worry—and often with its loss of sugar and fruit—in jam and jelly making, is past and gone. A nationally-known jelly maker has found the way to extract pectin—that substance in fruit which makes the "jelly" or set when boiled with sugar—and then to refine and concentrate it for housewives. So wonderful is this product called Certo (Surejell) that over three million women have adopted its use within three years. With it anybody who will follow a simple recipe can now make jam or jelly with any kind of fruit, without failure, in a few minutes.

The Certo method is as simple and accurate as two words make four. Certo you boil only one minute, not the indefinite period of the old method. This one minute's boiling saves your precious time, and it also saves the juice, the flavor and the color of the fruit, which was formerly boiled away. Extra sugar is required to transform this juice and flavor into jam and jelly, with the result that you get one-half more from the same amount of fruit at less cost per glass. Actually you have the same amount of sugar in a glass of jam or jelly, whether made with Certo or by the old, wasteful method, but with Certo 2 pounds of berries, you now make 5 pounds of jam, against only 3 pounds by the old method. This one-minute boiling also preserves the real color and flavor.

Try this Simple Recipe
Crush thoroughly about 2 quarts ripe berries. Measure 4 level cups crushed berries into a large kettle, add 6 level cups (2½ lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full, rolling boil and hard for 1 minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo. Skin and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Then pour quickly and seal hot.

The Certo Recipe Booklet with every bottle contains 73 recipes for making the most delicious jams and jellies. Douglas Packing Co., Ltd., Cobourg, Ont.

Cornelia, of the Toronto Telegram, compliments London on the hospitable way in which the city greeted Fred Marshall and Lady Haig upon their recent brief visit to the city. At the London station in the morning, we caught a glimpse of a picture of Lady Haig that will be a memory. London could have shown Toronto how to stage a welcome. These veterans and women who had served were quite drawn up in lines. I. O. E. chapters stood with their flags.

Mrs. J. W. Crawford of the parsonage, Wilton Grove, recently had an interesting visitor, Miss K. E. Chilcott of London, England, who has been teaching in Kitchener on the teachers' exchange plan. Miss Chilcott has left for New York City to visit friends and spend a week in the city before sailing for England. During the month since the closing of the school she has travelled through Ontario, visiting at Galt and Penetanguishene. She is very enthusiastic over what she has seen of the Dominion, and declares that the English teachers get the best of the bargain in the exchange made.

When You Go to Live With Your Married Daughter Don't Break Up the Peace of Her Home.

A woman said to me recently: "There was never a better nor a finer woman than my mother, but, unfortunately, she does not possess the gentle art of living in other people's homes."

As she spoke I glimpsed the tragedy that is so familiar to us that we lose sight of its heart-breaking pathos—that of the woman who is torn between her love and duty to her mother, and her love and duty to her husband, and who spends her life as a sort of buffer, standing between them, trying to shield each from the other and patiently taking herself the blows that they aim at each other.

Mother is old, and lonely, and homesick, and forlorn, and there is no one to take care of her except her daughter. But mother is arrogant, opinionated and dictatorial. The woman's husband naturally resents this. Mother-in-law gets upon his nerves. The whole peace and happiness of the household is destroyed, and the real victim of the situation is the poor woman who cannot turn her mother out, but who feels that she is doing a criminal thing in ruining her husband's home for him.

This is the real heart of the mother-in-law problem. Not many men or women are mean enough to begrudge their wives or their husbands' mothers food and shelter. It is because so few old women possess the gentle art of living in other people's homes that they end in such unwelcome inmates of their in-laws' houses.

Perhaps this is inevitable. Being at the head of her own house for thirty or forty years does not fit a woman to take a back seat in somebody else's house, especially when that house is her child's. For not one mother in 10,000 ever realizes that her child ever grows up and has a right to its individual life.

When her John and Mary are 60 years old they are still toddling infants in her eyes, incapable of taking care of themselves or deciding things for themselves. She still feels she has a right to direct their every move, that her judgment is sounder than theirs and it is her privilege to manage them and their homes, and wives, and children. Hence trouble ensues.

Mother becomes the storm center in the house in which she is billeted, and, according to statistics, is the cause of more divorces than all the seven deadly sins.

Now, the gentle art of living in other people's houses is not an easy one to acquire. It requires a profound study, a heroic determination, and almost superhuman sacrifice of one's inclination. Still, it can be done, and I earnestly urge the study of this accomplishment to all mothers who see looming before them the prospect of spending their latter days in their children's houses.

The first thing to learn in acquiring the gentle art of living in other people's homes is to bear continually in mind that you are a guest. Particularly that you are the guest in your son's or daughter's house. You are not paying for your board and keep. It is being given to you, and the least return you can make for it is to be pleasant and agreeable.

So, like a well-bred guest, fall in with the arrangements of the home in which you are visiting. Do not try to alter them. Permit the man and woman who pay for the upkeep of the establishment to run it as they please. Do not criticize the food, nor tell her how much better you prepare every dish that is set before you.

Next learn not to interfere. Don't go snooping around in the ice box, nor peering into the garbage can. You may think it is sacrilege, but your daughter-in-law is sure to have her best china every day and apprehend that she is sending your son to the poor house by the thickness of her potato peelings, but that is her business and his business not yours.

If old women would cultivate the gentle art of living in other people's houses; if they would keep their fingers out of other people's pies; if they wouldn't try to boss everything; if they wouldn't make perfunctory suggestions about everything; if they wouldn't ask questions would automatically settle itself.

For the pity of it is that there are so many good women who are bad to live with.

WEDDINGS

GRAHAM—DURAND.

A charming wedding of today was that of Miss Dorothy Deane Durand, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Durand, and Dr. Angus Sifton Graham, Jun., son of Dr. Angus Graham, Sen., taking place this afternoon at St. James' Anglican church, South London. Rev. Mr. Wallace of St. James' church officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George Durand, was winsomely groomed in a French frock fashioned of pink crepe and embroidered in white. She wore an ivory-colored mohair hat trimmed with pink French flowers, a bouquet of roses and lily of the valley. There were no attendants.

Following the ceremony the immediate relatives of the bride and groom returned to the home of the bride's mother on Ridout street, where a dainty buffet supper was served. The rooms were gay with summer flowers, and roses and sweet peas formed the table decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. Graham are leaving early this evening by train for Detroit and Kentucky.

The bride is donning a smart tailored gown of clay rose cache for travelling, with hat and shoes to match. Upon their return they will reside in the city.

EMPRESS AVENUE LEAGUE.

A meeting of the young people's league of the Empress Avenue United church was held last night, with Miss Rena Wade presiding. Miss Viola Mirechiread read an interesting paper, and this was followed by a reading taken from Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, by Miss Theida Guymer.

Arrangements were discussed for a garden party to be held some time in August. The Bible lesson was read responsively.

BARNUM'S GULLY TO BE GUIDE CAMP

St. Thomas Will Supply Leaders—Many London Girls To Attend.

Girl Guides of St. Thomas and London are leaving this week to enjoy a camp session at the Girl Guide Camp, which opens tomorrow at Barnum's Gully, near St. Thomas. The camp site is in a picturesque location, and already many have registered, that they may assist in making the camp a success.

ASK THIS HALIFAX NURSE

She Is Willing to Answer Letters From Women Asking About Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Halifax, Nova Scotia.—"I am a maternity nurse and have recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to many women who were childless, also to women who need a good tonic. I am English and my husband is American, and he told me of Lydia E. Pinkham while in England. I would appreciate a copy or two of your little books on women's ailments. I have one which I keep to lend. I will willingly answer letters from any woman asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. S. M. COLEMAN, 24 Uniacke Street, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Could Not Sleep Nights

Dublin, Ont.—"I was weak and irregular, with pains and headaches, and could not sleep nights. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by reading the letters in the newspapers and tried it because I wanted to get better. I have got good results from it and I feel a lot stronger and am not troubled with such bad headaches as I used to be and am more regular. I am gaining in weight all the time and I tell my friends what kind of medicine I am taking. You may use my letter as a help to others."—Mrs. JAMES RACHO, Box 12, Dublin, Ontario.

How Much of Godhood

How much of Godhood did it take, What purging epochs had to pass, Ere I was fit for leaf and lake, And worthy of the patient grass.

What mighty travails must have been, What ages must have molded me, Ere I was raised and made akin To dawn, the daisy and the sea.

In what great struggles was I felled, In what old lives I labored long, Ere I was given a world that held A meadow, butterflies and song. But oh, what cleansings and what tears, What countless rainings from the dead, Ere I could see her, touched with bliss, Follow the little weary head.

—Louis Untermeyer.

handicraft is being arranged for the guides. Swimming will also feature the camp program, as the site is also very near the lake.

Mrs. W. T. Little, captain of St. Luke's Girl Guides, St. Thomas, will be commandants of the camp, while other members of the staff will be Mrs. W. C. Gage, camp cook; a nurse from the Memorial Hospital; Miss Florence Sloggett, sports; and Miss Carolyn Curtis, handicraft. All the leaders are from St. Thomas.

It is expected that Miss Isabel James, camp supervisor for Ontario, will be a visitor during the two weeks. Miss James is now in attendance at a large American girl scout camp at Batavia, N. Y. Altogether there will be about 25 under canvas. Among the London campers are the Misses Pauline Faust, Anne Morlan, of St. Peter's cathedral; Misses Lenore Gilmore and Norman Newman, of St. George's church; Misses Muriel Baker and Phyllis Davenport, St. John's church; The St. Thomas Guides; Misses Alice Summer and Olive Lang, St. Luke's church.

TINY FEET NEED ASSISTANCE TO REACH WELFARE CLINICS

Little feet find it a long tramp to the child welfare clinic in the hot summer weather. An appeal is being made by the nursing staff for a baby carriage to help one of the clinic mothers who finds difficulties in taking her young flock to the clinics. A second-hand pram would meet the need, and members of the staff feel sure that the good citizen has one of these stowed carefully away in the attic for just such an occasion. A call to 43161, the child welfare office, will be welcomed if the information is that a baby buggy may be sent.

QUARTER MILLION IN RUM IS THROWN INTO THE SEA

Associated Press Despatch. New York, July 28.—The 2,000-ton steamship Augusta was captured by Dutchman street yesterday after the ship had run the gauntlet of the rum blockade and her crew had unloaded and disposed of a cargo of liquor worth $250,000 at bootleg prices, leaving only fifteen bottles aboard. The crew of 24 men was arrested and the captain admitted having turned the liquor cargo over to retailers for distribution.

STARVED HEARTS

By MILDRED BARBOUR.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND THE CHARACTERS.

STEPHEN LANE, wealthy, middle-aged, despotic, rules with a tyrant hand his young wife, BARBARA, who sold herself into a loveless marriage, and MADELON, his beautiful orphaned niece, whose father's marriage he had opposed some twenty years before and whose guardianship now devolves upon him. He broke up her boy-and-girl affair with DIANE FARLEY. Farley turned for sympathy to Barbara, who, unknown to Farley, fell in love with him. Lane, sent abroad, with business and professional ruin as the only alternative.

JULIAN BARTON, Madelon's real love, whose suit was sponsored by ANN ORDWAY, lifelong family friend, who loved Lane deeply, despised his faults, but her love for him, Lane sends Barbara and Madelon to California, where the latter meets

HOWARD CHANDLER, fascinating drifter, and marries him to escape Lane's tyranny.

CHAPTER XXVI. The Lion Roars.

In view of Stephen Lane's imminent arrival, Madelon and Chandler decided not to go away. They would make a postponed honeymoon trip of their subsequent journey to Hawaii. Lane arrived unheralded, as was his custom, and in advance of when he was expected, two days following. It was his habit to come and go unexpectedly, and Barbara believed that he always hoped by such action to find her doing something of which he disapproved.

She was dressed for dinner when he arrived and was waiting for a phone message from Madelon. She was to dine with him and Chandler. Without so much as a knock at the door, Lane walked in upon her. She sprang up with a little cry of surprise and went to him. He placed cold lips against her forehead, turned to direct a bellboy, staggering with his rage, and demanded peremptorily: "Where is Madelon?"

Barbara caught her breath. She had been unprepared for this. It meant that she should have married the news of Madelon's marriage. She summoned all her courage, while he showed his impatience. "What?" she stammered. "I am to meet her there shortly for dinner."

Lane frowned. "What is she doing downstairs?" You should be with her. She is too young to be around hotel lobbies alone.

Barbara caught her breath and took the plunge. "She is with—her husband."

His exclamation was incredulous. "What are you talking about?" Don't stand there like a fool, Barbara.

"Madelon was married two days ago in Los Angeles," Barbara answered steadily.

He advanced a step threateningly. "You're talking nonsense," he said sharply. "I sent Barton abroad."

"It isn't Mr. Barton. She married Howard Chandler."

An oath slipped from Lane. He caught Barbara by both shoulders in a grip that made her wince and thrust his face, contorted with fury, close to hers.

"Are you living to me?" "No, no," she whined in his grip. "It is the truth. I swear it. I was present at the ceremony," she added bravely.

He flung her away from him with a force that sent her reeling. "You traitor!" he ground out. "I sent you here to look after her and you double cross me like this. Who is this hound, Chandler?"

Barbara watched him with a fascinated fear. She held one hand pressed to her fluttering heart. "He is very charming and cultured, a gentleman. And he seems devoted to Madelon."

He made a gesture of fury. "Where does he come from? What does he do for a living? Who are his antecedents?" he snapped angrily.

UNION OF ALL CHURCHES IS SEEN BY N. Y. BISHOP

Will Be Result of Better Understanding, Declares Rt. Rev. Manning.

Montreal, July 27.—"Church union of all the churches, even including the Church of Rome, will come in time, not as the result of a sacrifice of the essentials, but following a better understanding on the part of all churches as to the things that are really essential. In that union the Church of England will not be destroyed, but will continue strong and greater than ever. I approve the movement in England at the present time."

These are the views expressed today toward inter-denominational church union by Rt. Rev. Bishop Manning of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, who was in Montreal over the week-end. He left today for Quebec on a vacation.

Black Bear Leaves His Haunts In Wilds For Civilized Center

Special to The Advertiser. Stratford, July 27.—With the reappearance of deer and the increase in other wild life in the county, the times seem to be swinging backward. Now to add to the illusion of pioneer times comes the word from North Easthope that a big black bear has apparently taken up residence somewhere in that vicinity. Frank Sloan and his son, both well-known residents of the township, on several occasions last week sighted the big fellow along the 12th concession. He apparently is living in that neighborhood, but thus far has been a peaceful neighbor. It is not many years since black bears were not uncommon through that part of the country, but it is a number of years since one has been reported there.

Barbara answered with stiff lips. "I don't know."

"Ah-h!" It was like the snarl of a beast. He flung away into the next room, banging the door behind him. Next moment he opened it again. "Go and get her! Bring her here at once! And bring her alone!"

The door shut sharply again. Barbara went to the phone and gave the number of the suite which Chandler had retained for his bride. Madelon's voice answered immediately.

"Your uncle has arrived, Madelon." Barbara kept her voice calm. "I have told him about your marriage. He wants to see you. And," she hesitated, "I don't believe I'd bring Mr. Chandler over just yet."

"Is he very terrible?" asked Madelon. There was no fear in her voice, however. It sounded as though she were amused.

"Well," Barbara hesitated, with a swift backward glance to assure herself that the bedroom door was still closed, "he doesn't seem at all displeased. I think I'd come alone, if I were you."

"I'd have to anyway," Madelon announced cheerfully. "Howard's down at the garage doing something to the car. I'll be over in five minutes."

She was as good as her word. Barbara opened the door at her light rap. She had never seen Madelon so lovely. She was radiant in a filmy dinner frock and there were orchids at her breast. Her violet eyes were laughing and the color came and went deliciously in her cheeks.

"Bring on the lion," she whispered mischievously. "The Christian slave is here."

HAIG SURE WORK IN CANADA DONE

Field-Marshal Outlines Objectives Before Canadian Club at Ottawa.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, July 27.—That the mission which he set out to accomplish in Canada has been fulfilled, or was in progress of fulfillment, was the confident hope of Field-Marshal Earl Haig of the British Empire Service League at Ottawa.

He expressed this afternoon to the Canadian club here. The field-marshal outlined the objects of his visit here as follows:

1.—To preside at the conference of the British Empire Service League at Ottawa.

2.—To help bring unity to the ranks of the ex-service men's organizations in this country.

The one outstanding subject of discussion was that of migration within the empire, declared Earl Haig. The conference had attached so much importance to the matter that they set up a permanent committee which will investigate all schemes of migration, especially those that deal with ex-service men. It was felt, he said, that the men who gave up all to go to save the empire were the fittest to fill the vast spaces that were yet to be won.

"The second object has caused me to make a pilgrimage from the Atlantic to the Pacific and back again, visiting little prairie towns and large cities en route," he continued, and the conclusion at which he had arrived was that he had every reason to believe the task he had set out to perform had been accomplished.

MEMORIAL TO "NANCY" IS FAVORED BY PRICE

Province May Erect Monument To Boat Now in Nottawasaga River.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, July 27.—With a monument erected by the dominion government to be unveiled next month, about a mile from the present location of the "Nancy," to commemorate the defence of Fort Nottawasaga, it is possible that the province may erect some sort of a memorial to the "Nancy," Hon. W. H. Price, provincial treasurer, intimated today.

The bulk of the "Nancy" is lying in the Nottawasaga river now. "I think we might send some of the trophies to Toronto and put them in a museum," Mr. Price said. The official report on the "Nancy" by Col. Alexander Fraser, architect, has yet to be made.

QUEBEC TO RECEIVE OLD ROYAL ESCUTCHEON

Trophy Was Presented To Hastings by Victorious General.

Special to The Advertiser. London, July 27.—The city of Quebec is at last to receive back the escutcheon of the kings of France which adorned one of its gates during the French regime, which was taken down when the city was captured by the English, and was then presented to the town of Hastings, England, by General Murray, the first British governor of Canada.

Quebec city made application to the English town for the return of the trophy, but it was refused. The town councillors of Hastings were willing enough to oblige Quebec, asking whether a facsimile of the escutcheon would be acceptable if the original copied. Quebec expressed its satisfaction with this suggestion, and Mr. Larkin thereupon asked the mayor of Hastings for permission to copy the relic.

The reply of Hastings was more generous than anticipated. The town council of Hastings reconsidered the whole question and came to the conclusion that they would consent to give the original to the city of Quebec, which evidently valued it so highly. Mr. Larkin then asked if Hastings would accept a replica made at his expense, to which the town council gladly agreed.

ADHESIVES USED TO HOLD UP FACE

Woman Perseveres in Frantic Effort to Appear Youthful.

By AILEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, July 13.—Nothing looks better or is cooler in the hot days of July than linen and nothing is more attractive than the stenciled linen frocks now coming into favor. The stenciling is usually confined to a panel, but on some models the whole material is decorated in pastel shades on white. A fine white organdy collar frequently completes the frock. English women are buying silk stockings, not by the half dozen, but by the gross, at present in anticipation of a rise in price when the tariff on hosiery takes full effect. The majority buy white because the white hose can readily be dyed any desired color later. Other shades freshly chosen are coral, argent, sunburn, peche, aurore, sultane, mauresque and venus.

Perhaps the recent polar explorations may have gone to the heads of the milliners. At least, northern furs have gone to their hats. One of the latest summer creations is a broad hat of white manila weave decorated with a bow of pure white ermine with the claws and tail falling over the brim.

A woman cannot sue her husband for non-support of her facial muscles, but she now supplies herself the support which will wipe out wrinkles and sagging muscles. The support consists of two tiny adhesive pads completely hidden by the hair when adjusted. These lift the muscles and keep the skin perfectly smooth.

PASSENGERS INJURED AS TRAIN IS DERAILED. Dozen Injured in Atlantic City Hospitals—None Seriously.

Canadian Press Despatch. New York, July 27.—A number of passengers were injured when a Pennsylvania train was derailed at Absecon, N.J., this afternoon according to a report to the railway headquarters here. A dozen injured have been sent to the Atlantic City hospitals. None is believed to have been seriously hurt.

BARON BYNG PUSHING WAY INTO FAR NORTH. Inspects Barracks, Hospital and Radio at Fort Simpson.

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, July 27.—Baron Byng of Vimy, governor-general of Canada, and his party of tourists reached Fort Simpson in the Northwest Territories on the S. S. Distributor today, a wireless message to this effect having been received by the Canadian Press via Edmonton.

Accompanied by Rev. J. Clark, of the Anglican mission here, his excellency inspected the Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks, hospital and wireless station.

Yesterday, the party visited Fort Providence, where the governor-general paid a brief visit to the Indian Mission school. The children sang songs and read an address of welcome.

The party proceeded on its northward journey late this afternoon, sailing for Wrigley, a small outpost.

C. G. CALLIN IS ELECTED HEAD OF B. C. FOOTBALL

Canadian Press Despatch. Vancouver, B. C., July 27.—Two senior football organizations will operate in Vancouver next season, it was determined at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Football Association Saturday night, when the newly-formed coast league, comprising ten cities and two Vancouver island clubs, was given recognition by the association. The other organization is the Lower Mainland association, which has been functioning for some years. C. G. Callin, of Lady-smith, was elected president of the British Columbia association.

Ralph Pequegnat Signs off Sport

Special to The Advertiser. Guelph, July 27.—Ralph Pequegnat, for the last seven years with the Guelph Maple Leafs as first string receiver, and for several years a member of the Varsity rugby team, has announced that this will be his last season in Guelph. "Peggy's" decision to quit sport was made following his acceptance of an important position with the Stephens-Hepner Brush Company at Port Huron, Mich. He will leave his complete withdrawal from rugby, baseball and basketball, the three games in which he has made a great name for himself.

In view of the fact that the Leafs are still in the running for county honors, the popular young athlete has promised to turn out with the team for the remaining games, but as he has already taken his new duties at Port Huron he will have to travel from the northern town twice a week until the schedule is concluded.

The loss of Pequegnat will not only be a heavy blow to the Leafs but his decision will also be learned with regret by the management of the Toronto Argonauts, as they had figured he would be available for the senior gridiron squad this fall.

WRIGHT IS ELIMINATED BY CALIFORNIA STAR

All Favorites in Seabright Title Play Come Through Matches Safely.

Associated Press Despatch. Seabright, N. J., July 27.—An upset featured the Seabright tennis tournament at the Seabright lawn tennis club today. Wright, who was the favorite, was defeated by a California youngster, who ranked fourth on the California list. Holman is little known in the east, but the decisive victory was the Canadian Davis cup star and holder of the title of the world's number one player. Major All Stars and Ohio Outfit Meet August 3

Cleveland Clothcraft Girls To Play Locals For International Honors.

Cleveland Clothcraft girls' team of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the fastest in the world, will play the Erie team to come to Port Stanley on Civic Holiday, Aug. 3, to meet the London team, who are the holders of the London major, in the home of the international honors to this city.

The Cleveland Clothcraft girls are the best of the Erie team, and their coming marks the first of a series of matches to be arranged in Port Stanley between the Erie and Western Ontario squads and the girls of the Ohio team.

The favorite girls are very anxious for another match in Port Stanley this season and it is probable that they will be brought over within the next couple of weeks.

Orient Kids Beat Lucan Junes 10-9

McKenzie Gets Four Safe Hits in Five Trips.

Special to The Advertiser. Lucan, July 27.—The Lucan Junes finished out their group schedule here tonight by defeating the Orient kids by a 10-9 score in a close game that was marked mainly by a flurry of extra base hits. To less than a dozen doubles were rapped out by the two teams. McKenzie, White, Jenkins, DeCoursey and Shipley made them. McKenzie was the batting star with four hits and three runs. Hermitage Nine Defeats Alerts 4-3

The fastest football tilt of the season was the last night on the Hermitage club turned back the fast Alerts nine by a score of 4 to 3. The game was a pitchers' battle between Way for Alerts and Goodman for the Hermites. Way had his upshoot working to perfection and had the Hermites at his mercy until the last inning, when the Alerts scored two runs on a home run by a player who had error put the game on ice. Not a hit was scored off Goodman until a last inning home run by a player who had error put the game on ice. Not a hit was scored off Goodman until a last inning home run by a player who had error put the game on ice.

HUGE ENTRY MADE FOR GOLF TOURNAMENT

New Record Set Up by Entrants For Canadian Open Championship.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, July 27.—When entries closed for the eighteenth Canadian open golf championship, which will be held at the Lambeau club on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, at noon today the number received, 145, established a new record for the event, exceeding the previous high-water mark set at Lakeview, Toronto, in 1923 by four, and as Secretary B. L. Anderson of the Royal Canadian Golf Association has been advised that a number of others are in the mail, it is expected that practically 150 will take part on Thursday.

In addition to the record in regard to quantity, the field at Lakeview was the largest in the history of the Canadian open. Eleven of the previous champions have again entered, the former title-holders who are absent being J. H. Keegan, winner in the first year of the event, 1907, J. H. Keegan, 1910, G. Sargent, 1922, the late J. Douglas, who won in 1919 and 1920, and Clarence Hackney, 1924.

Of the 115 entries, 32 are amateurs, including three from the United States, and 41 are American professionals, the majority of which have high rank across the line. Tommy Armour, who as an amateur tied with Ed. Kirkwood, Walter Hagen, John Farrel, Willie MacFarlane, the United States open champion, and many others of their class.

Practically every one of the pros in the two provinces has entered, while the prominent amateurs include the three Thompson brothers, Ross, Somerville, and George, and E. H. Gray and Jack Firstbrook.

The draw included J. P. Croal, Kitchener, paired with C. R. Murray; Royal Montreal, James Johnston, Galt; Ross, Somerville, London, paired with Jack Elphick; Hawthorn, Detroit; Ken Marsh, London, paired with William Trovillion, Saginaw; Mich. Alfred Sims, Chedoke, Hamilton, paired with J. H. Keegan, 1907, J. H. Keegan, 1910, G. Sargent, 1922, the late J. Douglas, who won in 1919 and 1920, and Clarence Hackney, 1924.

St. Thomas Seniors Take Easy Victory From Bards

Classic City Team Turns in Eight Errors and Loses 9-2.

MONK EFFECTIVE

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 27.—The Bards ran true to form here this evening, when they did everything wrong, from the standpoint of the home-town fans, and lost to St. Thomas by a score of 9 to 2. For two innings the game was all that could be desired, which took the crowd by surprise. In the third inning the Bards commenced to show their true form, however, and the parade commenced. From then until the end of the game the St. Thomas fans resented what Shakespeare meant when he wrote "The Comedy of Errors." While the local players were doing all that lay within their power to lose the game away, the St. Thomas fans were breathing along in major league fashion, never being seriously threatened. He fanned during the twilight burlesque. Apart from the hitting of Monk, there was little to enthrall or excite, but the St. Thomas fans present, the representative of the St. Thomas city newspaper.

YOUTH IS SILENT AS BROTHER DIES

As Brother Dies

Special to The Advertiser.

Carson City, Mich., July 27.—Because he feared a whipping for disregarding parental admonitions not to venture out in the mill pond here in a boat, George Cmelo, 12, did not reveal until almost 24 hours afterward that his brother, Charles, 11, had drowned. The boy said his brother leaped too far from the boat and fell into the water. Returning home at night, George told his parents he had left his brother in the village. The body has been recovered.

NEIGHBORHOOD MARKS CONTINUE AT N. Y.

Profit-Taking in Motors Fails To Halt General Upward Trend.

New York, July 28.—Heavy profit taking in the motor and a few tobacco shares by traders, prevented the general upward trend of prices during the morning. Trading showed a marked expansion in volume, sales in the first hour running well over one-half a million shares.

New 1925 high records followed each other in quick succession, additions to the industrial list including Remington typewriter, International Harvester, Ward, General Motors, Case Threshing Machine, American Ice, Hayes Wheel and Chrysler.

Rails also were in brisk demand, new peak prices in that group being established by Union Pacific, preferred, Atlantic coast line and Seaboard air line common stock.

A demonstration of group strength, Western Motors, Sears Roebuck and Commercial solvents 'A' fell back 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 points. A cent money opened unchanged at four per cent.

TORONTO MARKET CONFIRMED

Smelters Still Dominates Trading—F. N. Burt's Rise a Feature.

Toronto, July 28.—Though some natural recessions from the advances scored yesterday were in evidence, the market on the Toronto stock exchange was generally firm this morning.

Smelters continued the dominating stock, with the Toronto stock exchange, F. N. Burt, Burt's rise to 5 1/2 was a feature, though it receded to 5 1/4 at noon, unchanged from yesterday.

Smelters still topped up in the peak at 11, then followed a receding, closing at noon two points lower than yesterday at 112 British Columbia.

Point at 5 1/2, Atlantic coast strengthened at 3 1/2, and Winnipeg falls at 1 1/2. City, Burt and Burt's common both closed off a full point. McIntyre featured the mines with a 2 1/2 gain.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, July 28.—Crude rubber prices, which recently rose to unprecedented heights, weakened rapidly today under the pressure of speculative sales, dropping three and one-half pence for quotations. Today's decline brought the price down to three shillings, ten pence per pound.

The fall in prices was even more pronounced, all months showing an approximate break of four and half pence over yesterday's closing.

MILKMEN MOVING TO BOOST PRICE

Producers and Distributors Will Seek Co-operation From Independents.

London's independent producers and retailers of milk are given credit for the fact that at present milk prices are the lowest in the province. This claim was made at a meeting of producers and distributors in the county buildings last night, which was marked by the absence of the independents.

About fifty producers were present to meet with the local firms who distribute milk. It was agreed by both parties that in view of present conditions the price which is paid by the producer is much too low. They are receiving $1.75 a hundred pound, or about 4c a quart for milk which retails for 8c. Other cities of the province are paying from 10c to 12c, the latter figure in the great majority of cases. London is the only city receiving milk for less than 10c.

The farmers claim that the recent drought has greatly lessened the amount of milk which they receive from their herds. Other factors, too, have helped to make the cost of production higher, yet there has been no corresponding increase in the amount they receive. They claim that at the present time anything less than $2.20 for milk is an unprofitable figure.

After a great deal of discussion, during which all present agreed as to the truth of the producers' contention, it was decided to appoint a committee to see if the independents could not be brought into an agreement to raise the price. Till such can be accomplished the other firms refuse to pay more for milk, fearing the effect of the independents' competition.

A. Beatty, W. Ward, G. Piper, W. Grieve, W. Ellis and F. Wilkin were named to the committee, along with representatives from Silverwood's, London Pure Milk, Hickory Grove Dairy, City Creamery and Mark Ayres.

POISON GAS WAR URGED ON RIFTS

Far Less Cruel, More Effective Than Artillery Attacks Claims Frenchman.

Special To The Advertiser.

Paris, July 27.—Warfare by poison gas against the Rif, a move from which the French have refrained, was urged today by Professor Jean Feure of the French Medical academy in an article in Figaro.

"Warfare by gas is infinitely less cruel and more effective than ordinary artillery attacks," he said. "Therefore let us bomb the Rif with poison gas. They will suffer less and our desired results will be achieved more quickly."

Burial Arranged To Take Place Friday at Arlington Cemetery.

BODY LIES IN STATE

Followers of Commoner Look For Last Time On Champion's Face.

Associated Press Despatch.

Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—Watched by his Dayton friends, the body of William Jennings Bryan, who died as he slept yesterday, lay in the front room of a simple southern home to-night. Meanwhile, the invalid widow worked out plans for bearing the body of the commoner to Washington for ultimate burial in the place of the nation's military heroes, Arlington cemetery.

Humble followers of Mr. Bryan came today to gaze for the last time into the face of their champion of Christian faith and to pay the last tribute of honor and high esteem.

Tomorrow afternoon, on the lawn of the Richard Rogers residence, where the former Democratic chief-tain spent his last days, a more formal ceremony will take place. The public then will view the remains of the dead leader as he lies in state in a bronze casket.

Simple Details.

All details of the last rites for Mr. Bryan will be simple and without display, in accordance with the expressed wishes of Mrs. Bryan. She has borne her sorrow with unflinching courage and has directed the arrangements for the care and burial of her husband's remains.

The schedule of the funeral party, as tentatively outlined by the widow and her advisers, calls for the departure of the body from Dayton on a special railroad car, Wednesday morning, Knoxville, Bristol, Roanoke and Lynchburg are scheduled stops en route to Washington.

In Washington, it is planned to have the body lie in state for another period while thousands of friends and admirers march by.

On Friday, at an hour to be determined, the body of Mr. Bryan will be laid to rest. These plans are scheduled to revision.

From far western states, two daughters and W. J. Bryan, Jun., hastened tonight to join their mother in Dayton or in Washington. From Los Angeles, the younger Bryan and his sister, Mrs. Richard Hargreaves, were on their way to Washington.

WAS GREAT EMOTIONALIST.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 27.—Aside from his eloquence, the London editorial writers do not attribute any degree of greatness to William Jennings Bryan, in whom they see emotionalism as the outstanding characteristic, but admit his sincerity and personal magnetism.

The Morning Post says his life story illustrates at once the power and weakness of mere eloquence.

"Bryan's silver speech," it adds, "could not match the golden silence of such a man as Colclough. It is characteristic of American psychology that sensibility to the charm of Bryan's oratory was combined with criticism and dissatisfaction."

Fine Sincerity.

The Daily Telegraph says: "He never was a thinker; he was an emotionalist. Sentimentality was the explanation of such success as he achieved as a politician and sentimentality is also a sufficient explanation of why he never reached the supreme goal of his long endeavors, for there is a great saving reserve of common sense in America."

The Westminster Gazette sees in Mr. Bryan "a rather incredible figure, but with fine fervor and sincerity that compel respect." It adds: "He must be reckoned among those who taught America to consider her duties in relation to the rest of the world. He was a preacher rather than a practical politician."

SIKI ESCAPES HOSPITAL, WEARS PYJAMAS HOME

Sengalese Boxer Not Badly Hurt—Refuses To Stay in Bed.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, N.Y., July 27.—Battling Siki, Sengalese boxer, and former light heavyweight champion, clad in pyjamas, today hurriedly left the hospital in which he was placed yesterday, after being stabbed in the neck when he intervened in a street fight in the "Hell's Kitchen" district.

Enraged by the refusal of his wife, who visited him at the hospital, to bring him clothing so he could leave, Siki, dragging a newspaper reporter by the arm, lurched into the street, and hailed a taxicab, ordering the driver to take him home.

Siki's injuries were thought at first to be serious, and he was carried to the hospital unconscious from loss of blood. Today he was found to be not critically hurt, but his wife thought he should remain longer in the hospital. He replied to her protests by his dash to the street.

PORT STANLEY

THE IDEAL SUMMER RESORT A GOOD PLACE TO HOLIDAY

PORT STANLEY

Take the whole family and improve your chances to win tomorrow's big prize in the series of Wednesday and Saturday Special Rain Contests.

IF IT RAINS TOMORROW, IT RAINS Dozens of Smoked Hams

From Andersons, the Big Store in The Market House. Rich, nutty, appetizing hams. Every person going to Port Stanley via L. & P. S. receives a lucky number.

ABSOLUTELY FREE!

If it rains a tenth of an inch—the least measurable amount—between 2:30 and 5:30 p.m., drawing will be held, and prizes awarded.

Fast Trains Each Hour, Each Way, Every Day. Round Trip Fares at Lowest Excursion Rates in the world. From London, Adults 50c., Children, 25c. From St. Thomas, Adults, 30c., Children 15c.

The London & Port Stanley Railway

HAMS WILL RAIN IF STORM COMES

Patrons of Port Should Be Cheered by Prospects of Showers.

The weatherman's forecast of clouds over Port Stanley, Wednesday contains, according to the management of the London & Port Stanley Railway, a subtle warning to London and St. Thomas pleasure seekers that if it rains, it's going to rain hams.

Not little, stinky, picnic hams. But real hams. Nutty, flavorful, appetizing hams. Hams that talk of tasty dinners and picnic lunches, that set the kids all giggling. And the best of all is that the hams will come without price tickets or butchers' bills.

The London & Port Stanley Railway has arranged this unique prize for tomorrow in the regular Wednesday and Saturday "Rain or Shine" contests. If it rains a tenth of an inch, the rain even will be right on the heels of the weatherman. Every passenger going to the lakeside on the electric line will receive a lucky number free. If the rain falls between 2:30 and 5:30 p.m., a drawing will be held in the beach movies air-drome at 9 p.m., and the hams will be distributed to all the holders of the lucky numbers. That they are the real thing in well-cured meats is attested by the fact that they are to be supplied by Anderson's Big Store in the Market House.

There are other big prizes on the way, each of such value that the series is certain to be a success. The greater interest in the attractiveness of Port Stanley, the Coney Island of Western Ontario.

Tonight, the management revives the Beach Movies Airdrome, under the leadership of George O. Miner, a tenor of attractive personality, whose unusual capabilities brought him an offer a year ago of a principal role in the New York production of the Music Box Revue. Mr. Miner will appear each evening with the Angelo Russo orchestra at the L. & P. S. cafeteria, and again in the evening at the Beach Movies Airdrome. There he will sing the old favorites, and introduce the latest numbers red-hot from the biggest publishers in America. The series, in new and old, will be thrown on the screen, and under Mr. Miner's leadership, the sing-songs that created such tremendous interest a year ago, will be revived.

Arrangements are also being made for Mr. Miner to appear at the Sunday afternoon concerts played by the Symphony orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Angelo Russo, on Inverleith Heights. Last Sunday's concert has been wholeheartedly commended by music lovers as the finest ever produced at the lakeside. Such outstanding merit will doubtless bring an increased attendance. Today when a similar treat will be provided. Last Sunday's program is to be repeated on Friday afternoon for the enjoyment of the patients at Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, this concert being donated through the kindness of the conductor, Mr. Russo, and his musicians.

The Railway has broadcast an invitation to the amateur entertainers of Western Ontario to enter the contests held each Saturday evening at the Beach Movies Airdrome. Last Saturday's winners were Mr. George Faulkner, of Toronto, a sumo-brought his saxophone to while away his hours; Miss Hazel Partridge in a very clever character skit, "Aunt Jemima," and Little Jean Soden, of Iona Station, who tickled the audience with "Has Anybody Seen Our Cat?" There are cash prizes of $2, $5, $10, and in addition, prizes of substantial value for every contestant.

A complete change of diet in holiday entertainment, including a Philadelpha Treasure Hunt, another big prize, and an international girls' 100 per cent of the oil bill.

Overalls Saves Lives of 6 Men

Chicago, July 27.—Half a dozen of Chicago's wealthiest sportsmen probably owe their lives to their presence of mind in stuffing a pair of overalls into a sack an inch wide and three feet long that appeared in their yacht, Polaris II, outdaring favorite to win the $31-mile Chicago-Mackinac Island race. The craft, once owned by J. Pierpont Morgan, leading the race, returned to port after ten hours of perilous adventure fighting a gale on Lake Michigan.

WASSON MOTOR CHECK SHOWS ILLS OF CAR

Car Owners Find Out What Is Real Trouble.

London car owners have had the ills of their cars diagnosed through the medium of the Wasson Motor Check since it has been in operation at Lumsden Oil Company, Dundas and Waterloo streets, for several days past.

J. B. Maus, manager of Havoline Oil Interests in Canada, says the Wasson Motor Check is a remarkable invention in view of the fact that it actually measures the horsepower delivered at the rear axle for the first time in the history of the industry. Mr. Maus regards the Wasson Motor Check to some extent as a public benefactor, because of the fact that in the United States alone last year there was an expenditure of over $500,000,000 for worn out parts and bearings that should never have been spent if the proper lubrication had been applied to the automobiles in operation. The first cost of an automobile is not the cause of grief in the industry, but the tremendous wastage of money in upkeep and maintenance is the great drain upon the pocketbook.

The Wasson Motor Check has been brought to London for the purpose of proving to the motorists the very great importance of proper lubrication and the use of good oil. The machine in itself is unique in its simplicity and in its ability to collectively read the following: Checking up wheel alignment, wobbling wheels, the discovery of shifted rear axles or broken springs, actual horsepower delivered at the rear axle from fourteen miles per hour to as fast as the car will go, discovering the flex or balance point of the motor, showing very easily at what speed the car will deliver its maximum power, checking up the condition of the piston rings, the timing, correct speedometer reading, brake band adjustment, and clutch slippage. All of these salient points are disclosed in about fifteen minutes to the motorist before his own eyes, without the application of a wrench. Aside from this it is very often discovered that oil is wasted instead of used, that power is lost through lack of proper ignition, various annoying noises are located, because of the physical operation or performance of the machine itself on a commonly called block test with dynamometer.

In discussing the matter of lubrication with Mr. Maus, he claims that the mere suggestion of changing oil is a given number of miles being applicable to all cars is erroneous, because the physical condition of no two motors is alike, and to prescribe a given number of miles would necessarily be correct for the other, but the Wasson Motor Check diagnosis defines the physical condition of each motor upon which the test is made and upon the second test, which is really the important one, the true oil prescription is given. It tells you whether or not you should change oil more often or less often. If this machine can correctly advise to change oil only every thousand miles instead of every 500, which perhaps has been done, there is only one conclusion, that is, it is saving 100 per cent of the oil bill.

Too Nervous To Go To Prison

Drunk Appeals For Leniency

Special To The Advertiser.

Windsor, July 27.—Lawrence Kelly, 32 years old, of Toronto, asked Magistrate W. E. Gundy for leniency in the police court at Windsor today, because he was "too nervous to go to jail."

Kelly faced three charges. The first was having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling; the second, being drunk in a public place; and the third, creating a disturbance.

"Sweet cats," Kelly declared as the last charge was read. "The best thing you can do is send me out of town right away. I'm too nervous to go to jail anyway. I'd never stand to be in jail."

"You will have to be tried tomorrow, and stay in jail in the meantime," Mr. Gundy told him.

"I'll never live through it," Kelly and the third, creating a disturbance.

TWO ARE INJURED IN MOTOR MISHAP

Mrs. James B. Brooks of St. Thomas Suffers From Severe Cuts and Bruises.

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, July 27.—Mrs. James B. Brooks, of this city, received severe cuts about the face, when the car in which she was riding collided with that of W. D. Higgins, of Indiana, about three miles south of Blenheim, Sunday. The driver of the other car had one rib broken, and other occupants received a severe shaking up. The accident happened at the intersection of the Erieau road and the southern highway, where a number of accidents have occurred this summer.

Mrs. F. Henderson Dies.
After an illness of seven months, Mrs. Beatrice May Henderson, wife of Fred Henderson, died Monday morning at the residence, 77 Cravel road. Mrs. Henderson came to the city nine months ago from Ottaville. Besides her husband, she leaves one daughter, Florence Marie, and one son, Frederick James, both at home. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the South Park cemetery, and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Martin, of the First United church.

Prof. Freeman Speaks.
Substitution of goodwill for any spirit of animosity in Canada's attitude toward the East, was recommended by Prof. E. Freeman, M.A., of Oxford University, in his address at the Kiwanis' luncheon yesterday. The jealousies of Europe did not pass unobserved in China and other Oriental countries, he said. He advised that white solidarity be the aim of western nations.

Fire Committee Meets.
That a master hand in the council was preventing consideration of the Bickell 300-gallon fire truck was the charge made by Ald. Webster at a meeting of the fire committee Monday evening. The committee is desirous of purchasing a 1,000-gallon truck, and it was decided that the committee should travel to Brantford on Thursday, when trucks of this type will be demonstrated. The La France truck costs $15,750 and the Seagraves machine $17,650. The committee consists of Aldermen Brinkman, Handford, Webster, the city engineer and the fire chief.

Ten new fire hydrants will be installed at a cost of $60 per year. Fifty new hydrants are needed, it is understood, but the expense prevents installation of the full number.
