

YANKS NEAR GERMAN BORDERS

Battle May Soon be Transferred to Enemy Territory Fresh Attack Made by the French This Morning

MORALE OF GERMANS IS SHATTERED

Disaffection and Indiscipline Growing at an Alarming Rate ENEMY DEMORALIZED Being Steadily Driven From Positions Along the Entire Front TROOPS DECIMATED

By Courier Leased Wire At British Army Headquarters, Sept. 14.—Evening—Reuter's correspondent cables: The Germans are being steadily driven from all ground where rearward might prolong resistance in our defensive works. The First Guards reserve division, much depleted, has been identified in the Meuse sector, and Austrian artillery has been in action astride the Harrincourt-Desquiers road.

Prisoners admit disaffection and indiscipline are growing at an alarming rate in the German army, and desertions are on the increase. A battalion of the 46th infantry regiment which had gained the name, "Lions of Cambrai," broke during our advance recently across Santorre and fled to Nesle, where they indulged in looting after which the remnant straggled away. A captured map first army front was being organized when Foch's stroke upset the enemy's scheme. It is dated the 10th of July.

On the Cambrai front we are maintaining all gains. Farther north we captured Poisse Eight, which figured in the early fighting around La Bassée. We are pushing through Aichey-en-Labasse near which we took the railway triangle three days ago.

Mopping Up Operations. With the British Army in France, Sept. 13.—By the Associated Press.—The fighting along the new British line in the Harrincourt-Gouzeaucourt sector to-day was confined mainly to mopping up operations which were being conducted at various points by the aggressors. Harrincourt village was being bombarded fiercely by the German artillery, however, that the enemy might make another thrust at any time in an attempt to regain positions about Harrincourt, which they had been ordered to hold at all costs.

More than 100 prisoners were captured yesterday and the German casualties were severe. The fighting yesterday was bitter, especially in its final stages as the British reached high ground.

Captured German officers stated that they had been ordered to fight to the last ditch and that they carried out their instructions to the letter at many points. Some officers taken yesterday appear to be very gloomy over the situation from their standpoint. They state that the German high command has staked everything on the battle of the Marne, which failed so completely.

WEATHER BULLETIN Toronto, Sept. 14.—The disturbance has moved eastward to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and rain has occurred in Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritime Provinces. The weather has turned much cooler in the West. Forecasts: Moderate winds, fine and a little warmer to-day. Sunday, becoming showery again.

RECRUIT U.S. GIRLS AS CLERKS

Chief of Female Labor Bureau Goes to America For This Purpose Paris, Sept. 14.—Miss Elsie Gunther, chief of the Female Labor Bureau of the American Expeditionary Force, has gone to the United States to recruit 5,000 American girl clerks to release men for military services. Miss Gunther will seek to enlist college girls.

FRESH ATTACK MADE BY FRENCH

Drive Launched at Dawn Between Aisne and Vesle Rivers

By Courier Leased Wire London, Sept. 14.—French troops began a new attack at dawn this morning on both sides of the Ailette River and between the River Aisne and the Vesle river. The attack of the French forces in the direction of the forest of Coucy at the southern end of the St. Gobain mountains was progressing satisfactorily.

South of the Ailette river the French captured Mont Desaignes and the villages of Allement and Sancy. The French also reached the edge of the town of Vailly, on the Esme. The French advanced for a distance of between one and two miles on an eleven mile front.

The attack was launched by the French at five o'clock this morning. One division at an early hour had taken 1,000 prisoners, making a total of 1,800 Germans captured on that front alone.

In addition to the 15,000 Germans captured by the Americans in the St. Mihiel salient more prisoners are coming. The inside of the pocket has not yet been cleared and it is expected to be cleared in a few days.

MORE GRAIN IS LOADED

Washington, Sept. 14.—Nearly fifty per cent. more grain has been loaded to far west coast than in the same period last year, a railroad administration report yesterday showed. Up to September 7th, 298,000 cars had been loaded as compared with 206,000 on that date a year ago. In the weeks ending August 24, August 31 and September 7, respectively, 33,138, 36,242 and 31,773 cars were loaded.

TOTAL OF PRISONERS NOW REACHES 15,000

By Courier Leased Wire. LONDON, Sept. 14.—By the Associated Press.—Bulletin.—General Pershing's troops in their operations in St. Mihiel sector, have increased the number of Germans captured to 15,000.

PROGRESSING STEADILY PARIS, Sept. 13.—Bulletin.—The Americans were progressing steadily throughout the afternoon in the St. Mihiel region.

FRENCH FRONT QUIET PARIS, Sept. 14.—Bulletin.—From the entire French front there is nothing to report, says today's War Office statement.

TELL THAT TO THE MARINES!

The striking illustration above is a poster designed by the noted illustrator, James Montgomery Flagg, and bears an appeal to each and every Canadian. There may be few who can respond to the clarion call of the poem by enlisting in the navy, but there is none too poor to give something to the fund which protects the wives and dependents of British seamen.

The Appeal of a Poster By N. A. JENNINGS (New York Herald.) "Huns Kill Women and Children!" It was staring him in the face, Telling the tale in headlines: Of the deeds of a hellborn race; Telling of dastards' doings, Black murder hurled down from the skies: On nursing babes and mothers— Such a slaughter, as Germans prize. "Huns Kill Women and Children!" And the words seared into his soul; His heart grew sick with horror At thought of the pitiful toll. Then rage filled all his being And he took an oath then and there, "Those black fiends must be punished, And, by God! I will do my share!" "Huns Kill Women and Children!" With each moment his anger grew; Grim, determined, jaw hard set, He was fighting mad through and through: Gentle with child, or woman, Full of courage and fire and clean, Showing in all his make-up, True type of the fighting Marine! "Huns Kill Women and Children!" They are doing it now, today!— Murdering Red Cross nurses, Dropping bombs on children at play: Get in the fight to stop them; To brave men are showing you how: For the Mother, Go to it NOW! And the time to enlist is NOW!

Next week is Sailors' Week in Brantford, and tangible expression of Canada's appreciation of the services of the silent watchmen of the seas should be made. Let every one give something.

FOUR BRANTFORD MEN ARE REPORTED KILLED TODAY

Capt. Ben Tassic, Corp. Herbert Noble, Gunner Cecil Shaver and Pte. Arthur Rising Make Supreme Sacrifice—Major P. E. James, Pte. Harold Eastman, Wounded.

KILLED IN ACTION. Capt. Ben Tassic, Lance-Corp. Herbert Noble, Pte. A. J. Rising. DIED OF WOUNDS. Gunner Cecil Shaver. WOUNDED. Major P. E. James, Pte. Harold Eastman. 125th Battalion men continue to figure heavily in the casualty lists from day to day. Two members of that unit are listed to-day among those who have given their lives for the cause, while two more are among the wounded.

Lieut. Ben Tassic. Word was received in the city this morning of the death in action of Lieut. Ben Tassic of Toronto, a former Brantford man, employed in the Bank of Montreal here. Lieut. Tassic married Miss May Terryberry, a former employee of The Courier office, and joined a Kent county regiment in the British army early in the war. He held the rank of captain, but reverted to a Lieutenancy in order to reach the front.

Pte. Arthur John Rising was killed in action on September 4th, according to word received to-day by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Rising. Pte. Rising went overseas with the 125th Battalion. Pte. Rising, whose home was at 260 Darling street, had been twelve years in Brantford, and was for nine years employed at Verity's. In addition to his wife he leaves four sons.

LANCE CORPORAL NOBLE. Official word has been received that Lance Corporal Herbert Noble has been killed in action. He was a well known insurance agent when he joined the 125th, and had been at the front for some time. The dead hero was an active member of St. Jude's Church and a Churchwarden of the congregation. He was a very fine type of man in the highest sense of that term, and enjoyed the deepest respect of all with whom he came in contact. A sorrowing wife and four children are left to mourn his irreparable loss. They reside at 18 Northumberland Street, GUNNER C. H. SHAVER. Mrs. Henry Shaver, 147 Northumberland street, received yesterday the sad news that her son, Gunner Cecil Shaver died of gunshot wounds in the face and legs, at the 42nd casualty clearing station. Gunner Shaver, who is a son of the late Henry Shaver of Gainsville, commenced his military training with the B. C. I. cadets, and was later a member of the Dufferin Rifles for several years. He joined the 5th battery in March 1916, and went

HONOR FOR GENERAL DE BENEY

French Army Commander Made Grand Officer of Legion of Honor Paris, Sept. 14.—General De Beney has been raised to the dignity of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor. The citation was made in recognition of brilliant service in stopping the German drive towards Amiens last March and recapture of Montdidier, with 12,000 prisoners in August.

COAL DEALERS TO HELP CITY

Agree to Co-operate With Authorities in Supplying Fuel

A meeting of the city coal dealers and of the city treasurer and the city solicitor was held at the council chambers on Friday afternoon, at which the coal situation was discussed, and arrangements completed which it is hoped will take care of the fuel situation to the best possible advantage. All coupons which were filed at the city hall by citizens were allotted to dealers who will make deliveries of same as fast as possible, having regard to their receipts of coal and to any special emergency. All citizens who have filed coupons will facilitate matters by calling upon or telephoning their dealers and arrange for delivery. The dealers have agreed to use their best judgment and deliver supplies of coal as received to the best advantage, and will make a return at the middle and end of each month of the tonnage delivered. In addition to this, the city has made arrangements with the Standard Coal Company for the supply as rapidly as possible, up to one thousand tons, of the requirements of soldiers' wives and families. This distribution will be handled by the Standard Coal Company in conjunction with the Brant Patriotic Association. Solicitor Henderson explained to the meeting that he had not accepted the position of Fuel Controller, as indicated in the press, but that Mr. Bunnell and he would do all in their power to take care of the coal situation, and would expect all dealers to assist them, which all there pledged themselves to do.

AUTO HIT BY TRAIN

By Courier Leased Wire. Woodstock, Ont., Sept. 13.—John P. Crowther, of Wheatley, Ontario, was instantly killed and his wife severely injured in an automobile accident here this evening. They had started for home when their car was smashed into by a passenger train on the St. Thomas branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mrs. Crowther may recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowther spent Wednesday and Thursday of this week in Brantford, concluding a business transaction with Stedman Bros. Ltd.

YANKS ARE AT EDGE OF ENEMY SOIL

Command Positions Favorable for a Direct Invasion of Metz Within Range METZ WITHIN RANGE Americans Continue Progress After Eliminating Mihiel Salient 13,000 HUNS TAKEN

By Courier Leased Wire New York, Sept. 14.—The Associated Press to-day issues the following: The Americans are continuing their advance after eliminating the St. Mihiel salient. From Pagny across the Moselle River from German territory the new front extends in almost a straight line to the vicinity of Hattonville, where it advances slightly toward the northwest to Fresnes. This reduction of the front line from some forty to twenty miles places at the disposal of the Allied commanders an enormous force of men for future operations in this sector, or on other fronts. Having accomplished the task of wiping out the salient, the offensive movement continues to push forward and the further straightening of the line is probable. The Americans at this stage of the drive command positions favorable for a direct invasion of German territory. If such a course should be decided upon, although the important German fortress of Metz is in no immediate danger, its outlying fortifications are within range of American heavy guns at Pagny. Metz itself furnishes an excellent target for Allied airmen, who already have taken advantage of the opportunity and dropped many bombs on railway stations and military stores in the city and vicinity. The strong outer protection of fortifications a frontal attack on Metz could hardly be expected, but an outflanking movement by the Americans on the west or by the French and Americans from the south would force to evacuate both the fortress and the territory surrounding it. In their haste to get out of the salient with as little loss of men and military supplies as possible the Germans left the railroad from Verdun to Commercy, Toul and Nancy virtually intact. The capture of this line of railway adds greatly to the facility of troop movements towards Verdun, which has been a great handicap to the Allies in the past. In the first few hours of their operations as a distinct unit, the Americans have driven the French, West of St. Quentin French troops have occupied the village of Savy and northwest of the town the British have gained ground after local fighting with the enemy in which prisoners were taken. The British also have made progress southwest of Labasse and are pressing forward on Auchy-les-Labasse. Farther north German attacks on new British positions at Harrincourt were repulsed with heavy losses. On other fronts the Allies continue their pressure against the German lines. Cambrai and St. Quentin are in danger of being outflanked by the British and French. West of St. Quentin French troops have occupied the village of Savy and northwest of the town the British have gained ground after local fighting with the enemy in which prisoners were taken. The British also have made progress southwest of Labasse and are pressing forward on Auchy-les-Labasse. Farther north German attacks on new British positions at Harrincourt were repulsed with heavy losses.

What Society is doing

THAT SMILE.
My father smiled this morning when he came downstairs, you see. At mother, and when she smiled, then she turned and smiled at me; and when she smiled at me I went and smiled at Mary Ann. Dot in the kitchen; and she lent it to the baker's man.

So then he smiled at someone whom he saw when going by. Who also smiled, and, ere he knew, had twinkles in his eye; and he went to his office then, and smiled right at his clerk, who put some more ink on his pen, and smiled back from his work.

And when this clerk went home he smiled. Right at his wife; and she smiled over at this little child. As happy as could be; and then the little girl took the smile to school; and when she smiled at teacher from her book, teacher smiled back again.

And then the teacher passed on one to little Jim McBride, who couldn't get his lessons done. No matter how he tried; and Jimmy took it home, and told how teacher smiled at him. When he was tired, and didn't scold. But said, "Don't worry, Jim."

Lieut. Keith Lennox was a week-end visitor in the city from Niagara.

The "Hunger Stone," lying in the River Elbe, near Tetschen which, according to popular belief in Germany, predicts a famine when seen, is now visible for the first time since the beginning of the war. The stone lies in the bed of the river, and has never been visible save at exceptional low tide. On the stone is chiseled in old German, "When ye see me ye will weep."

The faculty of the Brantford Conservatory of Music held an informal meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of the musical director, Mr. W. N. Andrews, when plans for the coming year were discussed. Mr. W. N. Andrews presiding. Among other matters it was decided to hold a monthly faculty meeting, to discuss the best ways of teaching and also to have a musical evening, different members of the teaching staff giving the program each month. The new curriculum, which has just gone to press, was also discussed, and the newly granted authority to grant diplomas was also fully explained by Mr. Andrews. At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. W. N. Andrews served dainty war-time refreshments.

Judge Hardy and Messrs. W. H. Fittou, S. A. Jones, K.C., A. E. Waite, K.C., A. T. Thompson, Paris, and R. H. Reville are members of the Brantford Golf Club who left last night for Montreal to attend the first patriotic tournament of the Canadian Senior's Golf Association, which takes place Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next, over the course of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, the premises golf club of the continent. Over one hundred prominent golfers from all over the Dominion will participate in this event. On Tuesday night the annual dinner will be held, at which a number of distinguished American Senior golfers will be present. Cups for the tournament have been donated by His Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Shaughnessy and other notable men. The entrance fees will be devoted entirely to patriotic purposes and will amount to a very handsome sum.

Much interest is being evinced in the little musical playlet, "Snow White," which will be given by members of the junior kith and kin early in October, under the direction of Miss Daisy Underwood, president of the junior kith and kin. Miss Underwood has composed some pretty little songs set to catchy music which will be interspersed through the playlet. Some thirty little girls, all members of the junior kith and kin, will take part, their costumes, which will be most attractive, are all designed and made by Miss Underwood and her mother, Mrs. Underwood. Brantford audiences will remember the dainty little playlet, "Gondrella," which was also re-written and staged by Miss Underwood last spring, and which had such a phenomenal success, several repetitions being given in various parts of the city, to the benefit of the kith and kin soldiers' fund. This year the proceeds will go for the wounded soldiers in the Canadian hospitals in France. To avoid any possibility of Christmas stock-taking from the kith and kin is the object of the enterprise, and it is hoped the playlet will turn out in profitable numbers to use this, the latest effort to help the war-weary, and to be made and well within the means of all.

BARQUE SANK TWO SUBS.
By Courier Leased Wire.
Havana, Sept. 14.—Two enemy submarines which she encountered when 200 miles out from her port of departure were sunk by an American barque, according to a story published in El Mundo to-day. No details of the encounter are given.

The barque had 129 passengers on board bound from an Atlantic port of the United States for Central America, took refuge in a Cuban port this week from a storm that was sweeping across its path. The captain, according to El Mundo, made a report in writing of the encounter with the submarines which was signed by the passengers.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By Rev. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 15

MAKING CHRIST KNOWN TO THE WORLD.

(May be used with missionary application.)
LESSON TEXTS—Matthew 5:13-16; 28:19-20; Acts 13:45-46.
GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.
DEVOTIONAL READING—Philippians 2:10-11.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL FOR TEACHERS—Numbers 10:28; Psalms 96:3; Isaiah 68; Daniel 2:3; Luke 22:32; Romans 1:4; Philippians 2:4-6; James 3:13-20.

I. The Disciple's Relation to the World (Matt. 5:13-16).
Christ saves with a definite purpose. The character of the subjects of the Kingdom is set forth in the Beatitudes. He gives a character which will wield an influence. The whole mass of mankind is shown in the Scriptures to be corrupt, and the whole world in darkness. The disciples are to live such lives as will purify and enlighten. Their responsibilities are set forth under the figures of salt, light, and a city.

1. "Ye are the salt of the earth" (v. 13).
Salt is that which is opposed to corruption. It prevents the progress of corruption. The properties of salt are (1) Penetrating; (2) Purifying; (3) Preserving.
Being salt, the disciples of Christ should penetrate, purify, and preserve society. Seeing on every hand the festering corruption of humanity, our responsibility is clearly set before us. The Christian should not go into seclusion. He should remain in the world, but not be a part of it. Let us be sure that as salt we do not lose our saltiness. Christians cannot do good after they cease being good.
2. "Ye are the light of the world" (v. 14).
Light illuminates and warns. Its gift is guidance. This world is cold and dark. Many are the pitfalls and snares set by the devil. Christians should so live, let their light so shine, as to prevent the unwary ones from falling into them. They should guide the lost ones of earth so that they may find the path that leads back home to the Heavenly Father's house.
3. The city set on a hill (v. 14).
Every city is suggestive of government and social order. Christian character and service should be so set as to give the influence of the hill-topped city. Christianity was not intended to be hidden, but to be made so conspicuous as not to be hidden, the grand objective being to glorify God the Heavenly Father (v. 16).

II. The Disciple's Commission (Matt. 28:18-20).
1. What it is (v. 18). It is to teach, to make disciples. Christ's death on the cross and triumphant resurrection provided the basis for the world's redemption. "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16). This great fact must be proclaimed to the world. The great commission is backed by the urgency of human need and divine love and compassion for this need. The disciples are to administer baptism in the name of the Trinity to those who believe, and teach them to observe all things which Christ commanded.
2. Its scope—all nations (v. 19). It is as wide as the world, and its obligation lasts until all the world is evangelized.
3. Its sustaining power—"all power is back of all those who go. Since he is with those who go the enterprise can be by opposition, by the devil, sickness and death cannot thwart, because it is backed by divine energy.
4. The superintending providence—"I am with you" (v. 20).
Though the disciples may be scattered far and wide, the divine Christ is always present to comfort, guide and sustain. This promise is guaranteed to the end of the age.

III. Paul called to Macedonia to Preach (Acts 16:6-15).
1. Circumstances of (vv. 6-8). While pushing on the work of evangelization on his second missionary journey, the Spirit forbade Paul to preach further in Asia. Doors being thus closed, there was nothing to do but to go down to Troas. The guidance of the Spirit is as much by closing doors as opening them.
2. How called (vv. 9-13).
It was by vision of a man from Macedonia saying: "Come over and help us."
3. What called to do (v. 10).
4. First-fruits of Paul's ministry in Europe (vv. 14, 15).

IV. Paul called to Macedonia to Preach (Acts 16:6-15).
1. Circumstances of (vv. 6-8). While pushing on the work of evangelization on his second missionary journey, the Spirit forbade Paul to preach further in Asia. Doors being thus closed, there was nothing to do but to go down to Troas. The guidance of the Spirit is as much by closing doors as opening them.

CHAPTER XXII
 Brian Accepts the Fact that Ruth is Working, but is Angry

Ruth went immediately to work on the plan left with her. She became so absorbed that she neither saw nor heard La Monte when he came up to her desk.

"You have an hour for luncheon. Mrs. Hackett," he said, smiling at her start of surprise.

"I never thought of luncheon. And I don't know where to go. I am not a New Yorker you know. If I were I suppose I'd know my way about better."

Her soft southern drawl delighted La Monte.

"There is a quiet, refined little place just around the corner on the side street. A sort of lunch and tea room. The food is very good. I often take my wife there when she comes down town."

So he was married. Someway she never had thought he might be in a way she was glad. It would be comfortable to be associated with a man whose wife occasionally called at the shop.

Ruth thanked him, and in a few moments went out to find the tea room he had told her about.

When she had gone he picked up the plan she had been working upon. He glanced at it, then looked more closely.

"Perfect! absolutely perfect!" he said aloud just as Mr. Mandel appeared on the floor.

"What is so perfect, La Monte?" he asked, reaching for the large sheet of paper in which Ruth had outlined her ideas of what she thought would make the room attractive.

"Perfect! I have already had a present of trying. Odd, too, for it is just the right thing for not only that particular room, but for the house."

Then he passed on. Not even his confidential clerk would he show just how wonderful he thought Ruth was, or how delighted he was at his 'find,' as he had called her in his thoughts.

The afternoon passed happily and swiftly. Among Ruth's duties were those of talking with and advising customers. She saw that she would have no idle minutes; yet when five o'clock came and she prepared to leave, she was far more rested than when she left home in the morning—the unwashed dishes, the necessary dinner, to get to the apartment in time for Brian's homecoming, on her mind.

She took a car. She would get off at the market and carry her dinner in with her, just as Mrs. Murphy, the janitress did; just as she had been doing ever since she married Brian.

She bought a steak. It was getting late, and she must not keep Brian waiting for his dinner, the first night she was employed. He would have reason, then, to find fault.

By the time she had taken off her street clothes and pared her potatoes it was time to set the table. There could be no dishes washed until after dinner. Well, never mind, she would wash them all up at once, or if she could, she would get Mrs. Murphy to do as the steak was ready. Brian came in. He glanced quickly at her before he said, a happy ring in his voice.

"Still on the job, aren't you? I thought you would be," and he kissed her fondly. "I was pretty much of a crab this morning wasn't I, dear, to go off the way I did? But you had me worried for fair."

"What do you mean, Brian?" Ruth checked.

had been putting on the dinner and had not quite understood all he had been saying.

"Oh, that fussy stuff about your working! As I said, you had me pretty well groused."

"But I am working, Brian," she said as she poured his tea.

"You are—"

"Yes, I am working at Mandel's, as I told you. I have been there all day. Got home about half past five. And I am so happy, Brian! It is the most wonderful place, the most exquisite stuffs to handle in place of soiled dishes and scrubbing brushes. You must come down and see me there. Mr. La Monte (he's the head clerk) says his wife often comes."

Brian had dropped his fork and was staring at her. Incredible, unbelief and anger striving for supremacy.

"Why, Brian what's the matter?" he heart sinking gas she noted his expression.

"Matter enough! You mean that you really went to work to-day after all I said? You knew I disapproved?"

"Yes, Brian, I took the position, and have worked all day." Her joy evaporated. "If you realized how happy it had made me, dear, you wouldn't object."

"It serves me right for marrying a girl who has been pampered and allowed her own way. Please talk of something else. I don't want to hear another word about it until you come to your senses and tell me you are leaving."

"I will remember, Brian," was all Ruth said, but tears filled her eyes and overflowed down over her cheeks.

GENEROUS RESPONSE AT SIMCOE

Liberal Subscriptions to the Navy League Fund Are Received

OTHER SIMCOE NEWS

From Our Own Correspondent.
 Simcoe, Sept. 14.—The responses for voluntary contributions to the Navy League fund are apparently going to be a liberal one. Locally the accomplishment of the force's effort is deeply appreciated, and genuine expressions of gratitude are heard on every hand.

Getting Things Mixed
 Figuring on a per capita basis, Alderman Jackson showed clearly that Simcoe's share of the Navy League fund is $1000. Of this the town pays $300 through the county. $500 was voted last night. It is thought that the additional $200 will be received by voluntary subscription.

The above is quoted from our Tuesday report of Monday night's council meeting.

The Navy League claim, so far as Simcoe is concerned, was put before the audience at the moving picture show in this light.

Council by resolution requested the Mayor, His Honor Judge Boles and late W. C. King to place the matter of voluntary subscription before the citizens. This was all incorporated in Mr. Jackson's motion, in which the estimate quoted above was included.

Where Are We At?
 This week's local press contains an appeal on a $1,600 basis for Simcoe's share, and asks citizens of the vicinity of Simcoe to turn in and help make up not $200, but $800. Considerable objection is taken to this phase of the movement, and in order that the municipality may be able to record its share, Mr. King, the receiver of the donations, has assured the writer that he will keep citizen's contributions separate from the balance of the fund.

It is better that the council's desire been carried out as set forth in the motion. It is not our desire to curtail subscription to the Navy League, but we have the British Red Cross Appeal in the offing, and that of the I.O.D.E. is ever with us, and of late response is declining.

Should the voluntary subscriptions exceed $200—and there is already indications that it will—Simcoe will have exceeded its proportion by population; should it fall short of $800, the sum designated by the council, no member of the Simcoe council ever contemplated solicitation for funds to this cause outside the municipality. It is preferred that the three townships bordering upon us, the mayor and council of their own accord, if it were better had the council's desire been carried out as set forth in the motion. street, died yesterday shortly after mid-day. The funeral for Jarvis will leave here at two o'clock to-morrow.

Much sympathy.

Much sympathy has been tendered Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, who reside on the George Leask farm, down the Gravel Road, in their sad loss sustained in the death of their infant son, Russel Harold, which took place on Wednesday, Sept. 11. The funeral to St. John's was held yesterday afternoon. The bearers were Masters Willie Judd, Lawrence Wilson, Leslie Quamby and George Newland.

The Moores came to Simcoe as strangers a very few years ago, but have already won the esteem of a wide circle of friends. Many from town attended the funeral.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

In the Matter of the Estate of Christina Campbell, late of the Township of Brantford in the County of Brant, Married Woman, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 56 of the Trustee Act, R.S.O., 1914, Chapter 121, that all creditors and others having claims or demands against the estate of the said Christina Campbell who died on or about the fourteenth day of July, 1918, at the Township of Brantford, are required on or before the twenty-eighth day of September, to send by post, prepaid, or deliver to Henderson & Boddy, Barristers, Brantford, Ontario, Solicitors for the Administrator William J. Campbell, their Christian names and surnames, addresses and descriptions the full particulars in writing of their accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after such last mentioned date the said administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which it shall then have notice, and that the said administrator will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim notice shall not have been received by him at the time of such distribution.

HENDERSON & BODDY, Solicitors for William J. Campbell, Administrator.

Dated at Brantford this sixth day of September, 1918.

Mortgage Sale

Under and by virtue of Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage, there will be offered for sale by Public Auction, on Wednesday, the Twenty-fifth day of September, A.D. 1918, at the hour of two o'clock, in the afternoon, in the Court House, Brantford, the following lands and premises:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the City of Brantford, in the County of Brant, and being composed of Lot Number Twenty in the "Stanley Park Subdivision," and that our figures, $1000, is an approximation, as was the evident intent of J. D. Jackson when he framed his resolution. It is very unfortunate that the committee reached beyond the confines of the corporation, but the matter can yet be adjusted.

Almost 90 Years

Mr. Alex. Forsyth, of Victoria, left yesterday morning for Toronto to attend to-day the funeral of his father, Geo. Forsyth, who had reached the ripe age of eighty-seven years. Deceased came from Scotland, and followed his trade first at Seaforth. He leaves a family of ten children, two of whom live in western Canada, and the others in western Ontario. At present all of these are in good health.

NORFOLK NEWS

NO EXTENSION OF COUNTY PHONE SYSTEM SOUGHT

Company's Policy is to Fill in Area Already Covered

NEWS FROM SIMCOE

Simcoe, Sept. 14.—(From Our Own Correspondent.)—Occasionally one notices locally unkindly criticism against the Norfolk Telephone Company regarding their failure to install phones or to extend lines. Instances are cited of refusal to take up applications for instalment of the service. In fact, the company has been threatened from time to time with application for an order from the board directing the company to instal more phones as applied for. The management has invited any such course, knowing as it does, that no such order would be granted. The fact is that the company has no phones to instal and can get none at present.

Then there is the question of overloading party lines, and this column has mentioned the overloading on the Fisher's Glen line. But it is pointed out that a thousand dollars would go a short way towards stringing another line to the Glen, with wire at present prices and that even if installed the revenue would be practically nil, for the Bell Co. would get all the long distance tolls and the cottagers of a month's sojourn selection desire a phone. The company owns its own head office and exchange building in Waterford and its Delhi and Scotland premises, and is financially in a flourishing condition. Its chief critics are those who regret having sold their stock in the concern before the company got rightly on its feet.

Demand for Local Motor Club.
 Motorists who have been afield during the summer now wanting have pretty well agreed that through having no local organization, Simcoe is gradually going off the motor map. Even signs designating the road to Simcoe are not in evidence. It is claimed that local automobile owners benefit from the prestige of the Provincial organization and contribute nothing thereto. It is also pointed out that a good local organization is an advertising acquisition to a town. The subject was mentioned at a scantily attended meeting of the Board of Trade last week, but it was felt that the matter was hardly within the jurisdiction of that body.

It requires only an announcement for a meeting with an official of the Provincial organization on hand to put the matter squarely before Simcoeans, and we should have a local motor club of at least two hundred members.

As we understand, a local club is also a self-disciplining body and if a local organization did nothing else it would have served a good purpose if it could suppress the nuisance caused by some half dozen of our owners who go persistently and regularly about town as if endeavoring to make citizens believe that the town tractor is approaching. There are continually complaints made to the police about drivers who use the cut-out as if it were their special business to interrupt every conversation on the street. For our own part we would plead patience with the owner of the car who is so short of power that he is obliged to belch his cut-out about town. Further, we are convinced that there is music in the madness if one had but the ear to appreciate it.

C. M. Brookfield made a business trip to Brantford yesterday. The photographer who dropped in to Castle Robertson under the name of Henry Turner turns out to be Robert Elliott. He hales from Port Stanley however and is known in St. Thomas.

Miss Ferguson and Miss Vaughan of St. Louis are expected to arrive in town to-day to spend a week as the guests of Mrs. J. R. Jackson.

All honor to the lass or laddie, who is homeward bound from school before four o'clock. These are they who have been dismissed early for good conduct and scholarship. Our coming men and women of front rank.

Mr. Kelly's attitude on the school building question will cause many to scan closely the attendance report for September as presented at the October meeting three weeks hence. Mr. Kelly has this in his favor, that an enrolment of 50 pupils with an average attendance of say 45 is the maximum for one teacher and better work could be accomplished with 35 or 40.

The St. Williams Preserving Company has added to the local plant by purchasing from W. Sutton the land and buildings occupied formerly for coal sheds and extending north to the town oil tank.

J. B. Jackson is having repairs and alterations made to the masonry of the Judge Robb property recently acquired. This building is said to be the oldest brick structure in Simcoe.

THE SITUATION.

The American troops in their first major operation, have certainly attended to matters in top style. They have wiped out the St. Mihiel salient and taken some thirteen thousand prisoners, besides making an advance possible into the Lorraine coal and mining regions. Just about all that now separates them from German soil is the River Moselle. The Huns were manifestly unprepared to resist the splendid fighting force sent against them, and many officers are included in the list of captured. The Kaiser and his advisers will now realize their mistake in scoffing at the United States forces, and it will be just as hard an awakening for them as administered by the "concomitant" British army.

Halt's men have gained ground in the St. Quentin area and the French in the Rheims area.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

On the 31st of October Canada will return to the old time system and the clocks will be put back one hour.

Speaking generally it may be affirmed that the new plan has worked very well indeed and the saving of daylight has been of material economical advantage. There are still people who figure that they are losing an hour of sleep somewhere and others who complain that there is great difficulty in getting the children to bed during daylight but that of course is a matter of family discipline. In the country districts there has been more complaint than anywhere else but no serious inconvenience would seem to have resulted.

It might be as well next year to fix the limit for the last day of August and in any event there should be coincidence with the date passed in the United States. This year their clocks will be changed on Oct. 27th and during the four days of difference between them and us there is going to be a good deal of confusion especially in the matter of train schedules.

ENGLAND.

The Courier has recently re-published more than one tribute to John Bull from United States papers. Here is another from the Chicago Evening Post:—

"Trust the battle line to England, the Indomitable!"

Of all the people of history none more than the English have shown the strength that comes in the fight with back to the wall. The last ditch is where England fights best, and there she will fight best to-day, if forced to it by the most tremendous military pressure the world has ever known.

Thank God our boys are fighting at her side, even if it be but a few of them!
 May they carry to her the assurance of our faith and glory in her. May they sweep aside the ancient prejudices that have made us grudge England her fair meed of trust and honor.

Here at home, we cannot join physically in the battle to stop the most evil assault of all time. But we can join it with our spirit. We can send across the tossing waters and up through the stricken lands to the fighting lines the cry:

Hold fast brothers! We are coming! The battle can and will be won!"

A NOBLE DOUBLE CAUSE.

Commencing in the churches on Sunday and during the ensuing week the appeal comes to the residents of Brantford and Brant County on behalf of the Sailors Fund and the British Red Cross.

No two causes could be more happily joined, or make a stronger combined appeal.

What the allied countries owe to the men of the British merchant marine is beyond compute. The vessels manned by them have been the special targets of the German submarines, whose crews, not content with sinking the ships have in addition ruthlessly abandoned the survivors to the waves and not infrequently fired upon the boats in which they have been seeking to make a perilous escape. In addition to this "U-boat" peril there has also been the menace of the freely sown floating mines and yet these gallant sailors have stuck bravely to their calling. In all some fifteen thousand have perished and each week sees the terrible toll still further enhanced but there is not, and never has been, the slightest sign of flinching upon their part. By their work the commerce of the Allies has been kept moving along the sea paths, Great Britain has been saved from the starvation which otherwise would have been her portion, and the producers in other lands have been able to make the shipments which have kept the wheels of commerce in motion and enabled the feeding of the armies and the guns and the non-combatant citizens. It has been a vitally important part which these heroes of the merchant marine have played at small wage and without any government provision for themselves or their dependents, as this branch of seafaring is outside of administrative service. The call now is to return some part of the help which they have rendered—help which every one of us can extend amid peaceful surroundings and not as they are doing and have done amid circumstances of very special danger.

As for the British Red Cross that also is a work of sacrifice and humanitarian service which must appeal to every one having red blood in their veins.

The total asked from the residents of this city and county is $50,000 in all, or $25,000 for each cause and of a surety there will be a most hearty and ungrudging response from all classes. It is in fact an honor and a privilege to be afforded the chance to give to such a noble double object.

NEW PRICE FOR NEWSPRINT

Commissioner Pringle Now Promises to Issue Another Order

By Courier Leased Wire.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—A more detailed and definite statement by Commissioner Pringle as to his intention to issue a new order before October 1, fixing a new price for newsprint, and the announcement that the inquiry would be adjourned from today until Monday, September 23, when the commissioner hopes that the publishers will be represented, were the features of the resumed newsprint inquiry this morning. The commissioner explained today that the new order would be for 30 days, but that it would be Moral Reformers Unpopular—"A Sociologist" inquires "Why is it that despite all outstanding moral reformers have been hated?" When the reformers advocated tearing down unsanitary buildings and putting up buildings fit to live in, the real estate owners hated the reformers, and when the abolition of slavery was advocated the slave owners hated the abolitionists; and when the temperance advocates pointed out the unspeakable crimes of the liquor traffic they were naturally hated by brewers, distillers and bar-keepers.

Closed Churches—A man who is worried because his church is closed every day except Sunday asks, "Is it right?" No, I do not think it is right and a better day is coming for the churches. It has been the custom from the beginning for Protestant churches to be used only for Sunday worship, but we are beginning to see that they can be used seven days a week for the needs of the community, and in such a way as to advance the kingdom of Christ upon the earth. The church can be made a rallying place, a resting place and a place of public instruction.

renewable from month to month, probably until July 1, 1919. The order, he said, could not constitute a hardship for anybody concerned, because of the fact that provision has been made for a reference to an appeal tribunal in case either the publishers or the manufacturers are not satisfied with it.
 When the sitting opened, Mr. H. A. Stewart, government counsel, who was not present yesterday, agreed to the inclusion in the records of evidence taken in the inquiry before the Federal Trade Commission at Washington. He thought it very proper that this course should be adopted, as it would save much time and expense. The commissioner then made reference to the absence of counsel representing the Canadian Press Association. Personally, he said, he could not agree with the claim of that body that insufficient notice of the sittings had not been given. All the statements of accounts, etc., now under review had been placed in the hands of the publishers, and they must be fully advised of everything up to the present time. At the same time, continuing the commissioner, they probably would not like to do anything in this matter that would injuriously affect them.

ST. MIHIEL SALIENT IS CAPTURED

Americans Take All Villages And Shorten Front by Half

SPLENDID OPERATION Over 12,000 Prisoners and Enemy Guns Taken by Pershing's Troops

By Courier Leased Wire
 London, Sept. 13.—All the villages in the St. Mihiel salient have been captured by the Americans and the front in this sector was reduced from some forty miles to a little under twenty miles.

The latest news from the St. Mihiel sector shows that the battle line now runs directly from Pagny, on the Moselle River, to Hattenville and then along the foot of the heights of the Meuse.

Pagny, a town on the Moselle River, is on the western border of Germany.

In addition to 12,000 prisoners who have been counted large numbers of Germans are still coming in.

With the American Army in Lorraine, Sept. 13.—(By The Associated Press).—(1 p.m.)—The Germans last night and early today were attempting to remove their artillery through the town of Vigneulles, under stress of the American attack on St. Mihiel salient. They were met with the greatest difficulty, however, being hampered by airplanes as well as by artillery fire.

The enemy has already lost a number of cannon and trench mortars, besides a huge number of machine guns.

The Americans pushed ahead all along the front except at one point. They were met with less resistance than they had expected. The Germans made only one counter-attack in an attempt to stem the onrushing tide of Americans.

The Germans, however, began their protective barrage too early. They gave the Americans warning of what was coming and General Pershing's men were completely prepared for the counter-attack when it started.

Prisoners unanimously testify to the accuracy and the deadliness of the American preparatory artillery fire.

Observers had so completely located the principal German works in advance, that the enemy troops could only take to their digouts and await the end of the bombardment.

Paris, Sept. 13.—(Via London).—"We are now standing on our new lines, which have been prepared," says the official statement reporting military operations on the western front, issued to-day by the German general staff.

Help the Dependents of the Victims of the Subs.

DO YOU realize who it is that has borne the brunt of Germany's hellish submarine campaign? It is not the Navy, for the U-boat tries to keep out of the way of our fighting ships. Not the ship-owners, for insurance companies, for high rates protect them. Not the 300,000 men of the Merchant Marine and the widows and orphans of the 15,000 that have made the supreme sacrifice. The submarine has hit hardest in the thousands upon thousands of homes which have been robbed of the breadwinner. Widows may mourn their loss in poverty, for the Government makes no provision for this service, as it does for the soldier and sailor of the Army and Navy. To protect us, to protect our trade, to let our soldiers cross the seas in safety, and to feed our soldiers and the Allied people in Britain, in France and the other theatres of war, our Merchant Marine has "carried on"—submarine or no submarine. They have paid the price. We can help. It is our privilege to contribute to the support of the dependents of the victims of the submarine warfare. BRANTFORD HAS NEVER FAILED. GIVE! This list is not complete, and further appointments will be announced later. Testimonies of the Militia Department and list of officers who possessed the selection of officers for these duties, more particularly for the senior commands, has been a matter of much concern and careful consideration. The troops to be sent to Siberia consist of a self contained force of all arms and services and the nature of the operations to be carried differs widely from those on the western front. It was necessary therefore for officers who possessed not only the ability to command, but technical qualifications of high order in view of the open character of the warfare and the co-operation of

SCHUBERT CHOIR ITS PROUD RECORD

Organized as a Male Chorus in February of 1902

ITS HISTORY TO DATE

Brantford Male Chorus, which annually given the name of the Schubert Choir, was formed Feb. 3, 1902. The officers were: Hon. Pres., Preston, M. P. P.; President, Judge Hardy; Vice-President, S. F. Passmore, M.A.; Mr. J. P. Passmore, M.A.; Executive: Mr. T. S. R. C. Burns, Mr. W. Mr. Kerwin, Mr. E. Sinnet, J. P. Schultz, Conductor, D. Jordan, Treasurer, Mr. Moffat; Secretary, Mr. G. H. Accompanist, Mr. E. A. The first concert was given on May 8th, 1902, in the Wickliffe and the Toronto String Quartet were the visiting artists. In the inception, Mr. A. D. Jordan was taken to London, and his brother, Mr. H. K. Jordan was appointed conductor. The concert of 1903 was given in the drill hall, when Mr. Geo. Hastings (tenor) and Pittsburgh were engaged. Concerts were given in 1904, 1905 and 1906, when renowned artists appeared. Herbert's orchestra being the first visitors. In June, 1906, a motion was carried admitting to membership of the choir. It was a mixed voice choir, and the name was changed to the Schubert Choir. The first concert under the new regime was given Feb. 1st, 1907, when Reder-Kelsey (soprano), Grace Hastings (violinist) and Henry S. Saunders (cellist) were the soloists. In a most successful concert giving part songs and choruses by prominent composers. The members of the new society for the season were: Hon. President, Mr. F. Cockshutt, M.P., and Mr. Preston, M.P.; President, his brother, Judge Hardy; Vice-Presidents, S. F. Passmore, M.A. and Mr. J. P. Passmore, M.A.; Conductor, Mr. H. K. Jordan; Treasurer, Mr. R. C. Burns; Librarian, Mr. John R. Vorey; Secretary, Mr. J. Percy Davies; Organist, F. W. Bush, G. Drury, and Mr. A. G. Olive, Garry Pickings, A. G. Parker, M. H. Robertson, L. Ritchie, J. F. Schultz and H. Judson Smith. Pianist, Miss Shannon. At the 1908 concert, Miss Marie Soddart (soprano) and Miss Grace Hastings (violinist) were the soloists, and the choir gave in a very successful manner, part songs and choruses by Schubert, Elgar, Tschakowsky and Gounod. The 1909 season brought Miss Leonara Kennedy (soprano), Mr. E. N. Roberts (baritone) and Mr. Henri Merck (cellist) with the Pittsburgh orchestra, directed by Emil Paur, and the choir gave a good performance of Max Bruch's cantata "Fair Ellen." In 1910, Miss Margaret Keyes was the visiting soloist, and the choir offered part songs by Fanning, Moskowski, Blumenthal and Gounod. For season 1911, Miss Florence Hinkle was engaged as the soloist, but was unable to do so on account of sudden indisposition, and Miss Edna Blanche Showalter was sent to deputize for her. The wonderful singing made her a great favorite at a most successful concert. The year 1912 brought the Boston Festival Orchestra club, with Mr. E. N. Roberts (baritone) and Mr. Webster (cellist) as soloists, and the concert was a success in every way. Owing to the great success of the Boston club they were engaged again for season 1913, and the choir gave Cole Porter's cantata "Hilary's Wedding Feast," with Mr. Redearn Hollingshead as the soloist. Other singers appearing with the choir were Mr. Daniel Beddoe and Mr. Herbert Witherspoon, whose performances will remain in the memory of those who heard them. No concert was given in 1914, on account of the conductor, Mr. H. K. Jordan being away in England, and on his return he accepted a post as organist in Winnipeg. He left our city with many regrets from both choir and people, for he had labored faithfully to give to our city the best in music, and the choir achieved distinction under his faithful leadership. In the fall of 1914 the executive met to fill the vacant post of conductor and Mr. Clifford Higgins was unanimously appointed. Mr. Higgins came from England with a long list of choral successes standing to his credit at the great musical festivals, 13 firsts, 7 seconds and 4 third prizes, and a trophy and conductor's bronze medallion at the International Concours de Musique, Paris, France, 1912. Although the depression of war somewhat cast a gloom over everything, rehearsals were commenced and a good chorus secured again and the choir continued its annual musical offering in Feb., 1915, when Mrs. Denison Dana (soprano) was the soloist and the Toronto String Quartette gave a number of beautiful quartettes. The 1916 season saw a quartette of artists from Toronto assisting the choir in a concert version of Wallace's favorite grand opera "Maritana." The year of 1917 saw Miss Estelle Carey (soprano), Miss Marjorie Jones and Miss Mildred Sanderson, (violinists) in the soloist departments, and the choir gave a series of part songs and a children's choir of 200 voices also sang several two and three part songs in a very charming manner. For two years the conductor had desired to launch out into a wider field of unusual interpretation, but the executive doubted the wisdom of undertaking a heavy expenditure in such strenuous times. Eventually Mr. Higgins prevailed upon them to embark on a more ambitious program feeling sure that the Brantford people would always support the Schubert choir in its efforts to lead the way in the highest class of music, and as several gentlemen came forward with promised support in case of a deficit, the conductor arranged a really up to date concert, with an orchestra. The principal choral work was Sir Edward Elgar's new work, a war trilogy "The Spirit of England," which not only roused the choir to heights of enthusiasm and swelled its ranks, but the first performance last February created a thrilling impression that will live for years to come in the memory of the vast assembly that packed the house. From a choral standpoint it was the finest achievement in the choir's history and the singing of the visiting soloist, Miss Betsy Law Shepherd (soprano) of New York was so delightful that her reappearance with the Schubert Choir is anxiously awaited. The concert not only proved a great musical success but a financial one, and the whole-hearted support and confidence exhibited by the music loving people of our city will enable the executive to enter upon their educative musical work with greatly renewed vigor, and make the study and performance of the newest and best works possible, which will not only benefit the entire community, but give all choral singers in the city an opportunity to enjoy the rehearsal and performance

ADVENT OF AMERICAN TROOPS WORRIES FOE

Advance Guard of Army of Ten Million Men Now in France

FINEST MATERIAL

By Courier Leased Wire
Manchester, Sept. 14.—Of particular interest to the American public was the reference by Premier Lloyd George in yesterday's speech to the advent of the American forces in France. The full text of the passage in which he made this reference reads:
"The additional fact which depressed the Germans is the advent of the Americans. They have been pouring in steadily. There is no finer feat in the history of British industry than the way in which our shipping has been taken away from all sorts of urgent business in order to concentrate on transporting the troops across, and now we are carrying about sixty per cent. of the American troops across the Atlantic."
"There is another German miscalculation for you. They were under the impression that no more than two divisions could be brought across. There were many people who thought that, but a special effort was made, and you never know what you can do until you really try in any business. When British shipping was mobilized without any loss of time for the purpose of carrying American troops, it was a marvelous feat, of which we have real reason to be proud as a nation."
"There are now hundreds of thousands of them, and the Germans know it. The advance guard of an army of at least ten millions of the finest material in the world is fighting. The Germans have no America, and as a result of their despair they are actually turning to Austria."

LOAN TO SWITZERLAND

Mr. Manufactures--- Do You Read the Newspaper?

Of course you do. You want to know how the war is progressing—what's happening in the United States, in Great Britain, on the continent.

You could not dispense with the newspaper.

There are millions just like you.

This multitude is interested in the newspaper as they never were before.

The floating of an immense war loan in the United States interests us; the political situation in Great Britain more than interests us; it vitally affects us, and the work of our boys at the front—it entralls us.

Billions of dollars have been raised, millions of men recruited in stupendous armies, the morale of nations kept growing and growing; even the sinister work of the Hun has been fostered through the atlantean power of printers' ink.

Taking all this for granted—

How does this increased power of and concentration on the newspaper effect you and your business? Have you taken full advantage of it?

The war will be over some day—before we realize it, the Hun will be driven off soil bought by the blood of our sons and our sons' allies; our armies will be exchanging their swords for the implements of peace; France and Belgium will be one mighty workshop; problems will have to be faced by every patriotic and country-loving man and woman.

IN THE MEANTIME WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO YOUR MARKET?

Has your competitor a firmer hold than he had before the war?

The lesson: Don't wait for a "better" day—use the four A's of commercial success—

ALERTNESS, AGGRESSIVENESS, ACTIVITY, ADVERTISING.

—and then you don't need to worry about "after the war business"; your problems will solve themselves for you as they arise.

MISSING BALLOTS HALT VOTE INQUIRY

Investigation Into Alleged Irregularities in St. John's Now Being Probed

St. John's, Que., Sept. 13.—An unsuccessful attempt to prove that the governor-in-council had no right to appoint the royal commission now engaged in holding an investigation of votes cast by soldiers in St. John's barracks during the last election was made when the inquiry resumed in the court house here this morning. The attempt was made by Bernard Rose, K.C., Montreal, who was acting for Captain Campbell, whose name appeared in the Hansard report of the speech made in the House of Commons by Joseph Archambault, M.P., for Chambly-Vercheres, in which allegations of irregularities on part of officers in connection with the voting at the barracks, which favored his opponent, Hen. J.H. Rainville, were made.

The inquiry had not proceeded far this morning when it was found that Francis Chadwick deputy clerk in charge ordered yesterday to produce envelopes containing the ballots in Chambly-Vercheres, had only been able to find the accepted vote. As the rejected ballot papers are essential to the inquiry it was decided to meet in Ottawa on Monday to take evidence as to their whereabouts.

Mr. Rose attacking the right of the governor-in-council to appoint the commission, said that it should have been done by parliament itself. He also protested that the officers were charged with detection of duty in Mr. Archambault's speech, they should have been tried by a tribunal appointed by the military authorities. Aime Geoffrin, K.C., Montreal, appointed by the commission as one of the council, pointed out that there was no charge against Captain Campbell in the Hansard report. Mr. Rose in the commission's instructions, upon which they were acting. He reminded Mr. Archambault's speech that they were not trying Mr. Archambault's speech, but the votes which were used to carry current. Use the insulating handles which are provided for that purpose. While in bathrooms, toilet rooms, kitchens, have the mistake in Hansard corrected. Judge LaCelle, chairman of the commission, accepted Mr. Geoffrin's view on the locality of the commission's status and ordered the inquiry. John MacNaughten, a member of the corps of counsel, drew attention to a statement in a Montreal evening paper yesterday that none of the officers called were present in the court nor in the country. This was an error, he claimed. Judge LaCelle pointed out that dozen of the accused officers had been in court yesterday, only two of the men being overseas. Mr. Chadwick filed the envelopes containing the votes of Chambly-Vercheres. Mr. Geoffrin drew attention to the fact that the envelopes contained only the accepted votes and not the rejected. Pressed for an explanation as to why the rejected votes were not forthcoming, Mr. Chadwick said that he had brought everything contained in the Chambly-Vercheres box handed to him by the military returning officer.

A seal placed upon the box before it was handed into his custody had not been disturbed until he broke it in Ottawa last night. Judge MacLellan said that perhaps the rejected ballot papers had been put in some separate place. As they were absolutely necessary he would transfer the enquiry to Ottawa so that evidence about them could be secured.

Still Better Willard--- with threaded rubber insulation

This represents the first automobile starting and lighting battery in which it has been possible to get all the advantages of the well-known insulating properties of rubber without either decreasing the voltage necessary for cold-weather starting, or increasing the size and weight of the battery beyond ordinary limits.

It means still greater protection against battery troubles, still further assurance of continuous operation, because battery insulation protects the source of life of the whole electrical system.

Two years' successful operation, which still continues, on 85,000 cars, preceded the announcement to the motoring public. The Still Better Willard has proved, and is proving itself even better than we expected, and is now on sale at all Willard Service Stations.

Come in and we will tell you more about Threaded Rubber Insulation and Willard Battery Service.

CARE NEEDED WHEN USING ELECTRICITY
Simple Rules for the Prevention of Accidents on the Street and in the Home

Electricity, life fire, is a valuable source of energy that science has made available for use in the household. But it must be controlled. Hundreds of lives are lost every year and much property destroyed as a result of defective wiring and the careless handling of this remarkable unseen force.

Below is a brief summary of recommendations by the United States Bureau of Standards which, if followed, will go far toward eliminating accidents in the use of electricity:

(1) Never touch a wire or any electrical device which has fallen on a street, alley or lawn, or which hangs within reach, if there is any possibility that it may be touching any overhead electric wire. This applies to insulated overhead wires as well as to bare ones.

(2) Avoid touching guy wires which are used to anchor poles to the ground or the ground wire run down wood poles. Never try to join are lamps, nor touch the chains or ropes supporting them. During and after storms do not touch even the poles, if wet.

(3) Never climb a pole or tree or on near which electric poles pass. Never touch such wires from windows nor while on roofs. Warn children against climbing poles or standing on pole steps.

(4) Never throw string, sticks, or pieces of wire over the electric wires carried overhead. Also, never fly kites near overhead wires, nor throw sticks or stones at insulators.

(5) Do not touch or disturb any electric wiring or appliances in buildings except such as are intended to be handled. Keep furniture and other materials away from interior wires, or see that the wiring is in conduit, or otherwise adequately protected against mechanical injury.

After using portable heating appliances, irons, etc., turn off the current before leaving them.

(6) Never touch those interior live metal parts or sockets, plugs, etc. which are used to carry current. Use the insulating handles which are provided for that purpose. While in bathrooms, toilet rooms, kitchens, laundries, basements or other rooms with damp floors, stoves, heaters or pipes, etc., which may be touched; avoid touching any metal part of lamp sockets, fixtures, or other electrical devices since they may accidentally be alive. While in a bathtub never touch any part of an electric cord or fixture even if it is a non-conductor. The use of electric vibrators in the bath is dangerous. Avoid touching stoves or other metals when using the telephone, particularly during electrical storms.

(7) Never try to take electric shocks from the wiring in buildings or on streets nor induce others to take such risks.

(8) Avoid touching bare or abraded spots on flexible electric cords. Do not hang cords on nails and when damaged have them repaired or replaced by a competent electrician.

(9) Never touch a person who has been shocked while he is still in contact with the electric circuit, unless you know how to remove him without danger to yourself. Call a doctor and the nearest lighting company. Use a long dry board or wooden-handled rake or broom to draw the person away from the wire, or the wire away from him. Never use any metal or any moist object.

(10) To resuscitate a person suffering from electric shock draw his tongue out of his throat and apply artificial respiration for two or three hours, if necessary.

(11) Watch for and report any fallen wires, defective wiring, etc., to the electrician who employs you, but competent electricians to repair or change wiring and do not attempt it yourself unless qualified to do so.

RUPERT OF BAVARIA TO WED PRINCESS OF LUXEMBURG

Prettiest of Five Sisters in Fiancee of German Princelet

Princess Antoinette, 18 years of age, is the prettiest of the berry of five fascinating sisters of the young burg, and nothing but pity can be felt for her in connection with her impending marriage to Crown Prince Rupert of Bavaria, who is more than thirty years her senior, and long celebrated as one of the most brutal scions of Old World royalty.

It is ridiculous to regard matrimonial alliance, officially announced in the early part of last week by King Louis of Bavaria, as a love match. Indeed it is not so long ago that stories were circulated to the effect that Princess Antoinette had determined to retire to a convent in order to escape from the overpressure brought to bear upon her to marry one of the princes of the House of Prussia. In wedding Rupert it would be a case of going from the frying pan into the fire, the only advantage being that he belongs to the same faith as herself, namely, the Roman Catholic church.

The announcement of the marriage, which has been forced upon her in order to attach the reigning house of Luxembourg to Germany, naturally serves to recall the unhappy fate of the first wife of Rupert, who killed herself at Sorrento six years ago. She was an attractive little woman of much the same type as her sister, Queen Elizabeth, of Belgium, and a daughter of the late Duke Theodor of Bavaria, who devoted his entire life and his genius as an oculist to restoring the sight of poor people, free of cost, having at the time of his death between fifteen and twenty thousand cataract operations to his credit.

Gabrielle by name, she was the only princess of European royalty who could boast of having enjoyed the personal friendship of the terrible old Dowager Empress of China, who entertained her most graciously and cordially at Peking. In fact, the old Empress took a great fancy to her and caused her to prolong her sojourn in the Chinese capital for weeks beyond the appointed time.

On her way back from China to Europe she fell ill in New York with an attack of appendicitis and spent several weeks in a sanitarium in that city before being sufficiently recovered to return with her husband, and under the care of a New York physician to Munich, where she underwent an operation immediately on her arrival.

DRASTIC MEASURES AGAINST STRIKERS

Will Be Barred From Employment And Drafted Into Army in U. S.

By Courier Leased Wire.
Bulletin, Washington, Sept. 13.—Striking machinists at Bridgeport, Conn., have been notified by President Wilson that unless they return to work and abide by the wage award of the War Labor Board they will be barred from employment for a year, and draft boards will be instructed to reject any claim of exemption from military service based upon their alleged usefulness on war production.

The President's warning went to-day in a letter addressed to the Machinists replying to resolutions forwarded to him announcing the strike because of dissatisfaction over the War Board's award and a later interpretation by an umpire.

SAILING SHIP ATTACKED.
An Atlantic Port, Sept. 14.—A report of an encounter between a German submarine and an American sailing ship last Thursday morning about 200 miles off the American coast was brought here to-day by a steamer from Central American ports. The identity and fate of the sailing vessels, which the men on the ship arriving to-day said was being shelled, were not learned.

On her way back from China to Europe she fell ill in New York with an attack of appendicitis and spent several weeks in a sanitarium in that city before being sufficiently recovered to return with her husband, and under the care of a New York physician to Munich, where she underwent an operation immediately on her arrival.

QUEBEC TROOPS IN DARING FEAT

Drove Enemy Across Nord Canal And Took Prisoners

By Courier Leased Wire.

With the Canadian Forces in the Field, Sept. 12, 2 p.m. (By J. F. B. Vesey) Canadian Press correspondent.

The enemy did not hold for long the bridgehead he established the night before last this side of the Nord Canal at Sauchy-Cauchy. Quebec troops sailed this past night and not only drove the enemy across the canal, but carried the war into his own territory, returning with prisoners. Under the worst possible weather conditions our troops fought the extremely difficult salient formed by the Sensee and Nord Canal are digging themselves in. Not content with a cross shell fire from the north and east the enemy has gas-shelled the villages in this sector, including Excourt, Rumancourt and Soudemont. Had it not been overshadowed by his brilliant offensive of the past month, the gallant defensive work in this triangle in which Quebec, eastern and western Ontario, Manitoba and Alberta troops are engaged, as well as former mounted units, would rank as a major instead of a minor operation.

WILL INCREASE PLAYERS' POOL

A Readjustment of World's Series Proceeds to be Made

By Courier Leased Wire.
Chicago, Sept. 13.—The players' pool, derived from the world's series, will be increased in the near future by action of the National and American League, members of the Chicago National League team said to-day for the purpose of giving the men, who competed, a larger remuneration than they received under the arrangement framed last winter before it was known how serious an effect the war would have on baseball. The Red Sox and the Cubs claimed they are subjected to an injustice because the New York Nationals and Cleveland Americans runners-up in their respective leagues will receive under the new system of division almost as much as the Chicago Nationals, contenders in the world's series.

The Chicago Nationals who returned from the east last night, disabused to-day, most members of the team entering essential employment.

CRISIS OF DECISION

Noted English Appealed to Home to Give Support

"If each one of us can depend on our doing our bit, crushing once and forever. We must continue the struggle for our children and our children's children, the tasks of civilization are safe."

If the above message, from the lips of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, in the Y. M. C. A. hall, upon whose ears it fell, the address of the gathering was as it was scarcely over and standing room was sought by the force of her words, she appealed to everyone to give support to the cause of the war.

"The crisis of the war is now upon us," she said, "and we must have a fresh German peace week, and we must leave it to the world to decide."

It was difficult, indeed, to resist the simple dressed lady, a sincere, mild of aspect and of new with one's conception of militant suffragette of 1913. CRISIS OF WAR AT HAND TODAY DECLARED MRS. PANKHURST

Noted English Woman War Worker Appealed to Big Audience For Courage at Home; German Peace Offensive Must be Resisted

"If each one of us can feel that the existence of the empire may depend on our doing our bit, then we are bound to win this war by crushing once and forever the German desire for world domination. We must continue the struggle until we have made certain that our children and our children's children may live in peace, carrying on the tasks of civilization and progress which we by our efforts made safe."

If the above message, ringing, sincere, impassioned, as it fell from the lips of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of English women's war work, in the Y. M. C. A. last night, left untouched the hearts of any upon whose ears it fell, the fault did not rest with the noted speaker. Addressing the gathering which thronged the Y. M. C. A. auditorium as it was scarcely ever thronged before, with every seat occupied and standing room at a premium even in the hall outside, Mrs. Pankhurst, by the force of her strong and manifest sincerity, appealed to everyone, man or woman, young or old, for confidence and constancy in days of trial now near at hand.

"The crisis of the war is here," declared Mrs. Pankhurst, in the course of her remarks, "for with the tide of battle turning in our favor, a fresh German peace offensive has been launched this week, and we must leave unprotected no spot in the home front."

It was difficult, indeed, to reconcile this simply dressed lady, amiable, sincere, mild of aspect and of manner, with one's conception of the militant suffragette of 1912 and 1913; this patriotic Englishwoman, open-hearted and ardent in her support of Britain and all things English, with the woman who a few brief years ago proved herself the worst thorn in the side of the English Government when she and they saw not eye to eye. It was not until she commenced to speak, and one breathed the undercurrent of determination beneath her words, and caught the gleam of courage that flashed from her eyes, that one realized fully the indomitable will and fearless conviction embodied in that slight figure. Mrs. Pankhurst the suffragette, and Mrs. Pankhurst the war worker are one and the same, the energies once directed against the law of the land when she felt the injustice of these laws, now given as unstinting aid on behalf of the law and turned into the channels of effort parallel with those of the government. Not the least of the surprises of the present war has been the response of the women of England, the unanimity with which the suffrage question and other matters of internal strife, were relegated to the background in the hour of stress, that played by Emmeline Pankhurst in striking about that time, is perhaps not yet fully appreciated.

W. G. RAYMOND, "I think this meeting is in the history of your memory and in the history of the city," declared W. G. Raymond, chairman of the evening, in introducing Mrs. Pankhurst, a woman whose name he felt would live forever, who was willing to give of her services, unflinchingly wherever they were sought on the home front. Whatever opinion Canadians might have held of Mrs. Pankhurst prior to the war, her attitude in proclaiming a truce immediately on the declaration of war had converted most. "Unless we win the war," she had declared, "there will be votes for no one."

He laid bare the trickery which lay behind German peace, ourselves denouncing as traitors all who favored a premature peace. There were few who were working harder to drive such malignant influences from the country than Mrs. Pankhurst. In closing, Mr. Raymond called for three cheers for that lady.

MRS. PANKHURST, "I accept those cheers vicariously," declared Mrs. Pankhurst, "feeling that they are a tribute not to me, but to the women of England, who are doing their bit on the home front. She recalled her former visit to Brantford two years ago, explaining that on her present trip to the United States she had felt obliged to revisit her many friends in Canada. She told next of having addressed the Canadian troops at Bramshott and delivered to them a message of courage and good cheer from the people of the Dominion.

"I always think of Canada as so generous-hearted," she proclaimed, "and I know that that thought is sound. Canada had raised more money, food and clothes for the Serbian Relief Fund in six weeks than the United States. In three months, on her previous visit to America. Tribute to Wounded. Mrs. Pankhurst described as "another piece of Canada in England," the Buckinghamshire hospital, where wounded Canadian soldiers were cared for. Like all their fellows of the allied armies the Canadians were the most patient, heroic, uncomplaining men alive. No matter what their sufferings, the wounded uttered never a word of complaint.

"I have never come across a soldier in hospital," she stated, "who feels an injury or has a complaint to make." She told of one hospital in London, in which women performed every duty, held military rank and had military rule over their patients. That was but one of the products of the war. Nine-tenths of the shells which went from Britain to the allied armies were made by women. The speaker proposed to outline not what women had done for the war, but what the war had done for women.

War Brings Women Vote. "Along with the sorrows and sufferings of war there come often blessings of untold value," she declared. To the women of Canada, the war had brought political independence. At the outbreak of war, the women of Britain made their traces before the political parties made theirs, before capital and labor made theirs.

"And we have kept ours while the others have been broken at times; we should have continued to keep ours, even had we not, through a series of political accidents, received the franchise." She explained the manner in which British troops in France had been disqualified from voting because of non-residence in Britain; the result was the only meeting of the militant suffragists during the war, at which not votes for women, but votes for soldiers and sailors were demanded. Recognition of the demand had been made by the government, the vote had been restored to all men on active service and without an effort on their part, the women were also given the vote, by a bill signed by the King in January of this year. Immediately the women had united and pledged themselves to support Lloyd George to the end.

"In Britain, as in Canada, the war has brought us the right and privilege of citizenship, but along with these duties and responsibilities of citizenship," it had brought also economic independence, a larger vision, a realization of woman's true value and importance. What Women Has Learned. "When the time for reconstruction comes, the woman citizen with her larger view, her new dignity and her greater intelligence, will bear a greater part in that work."

The war had levelled social castes, widened the sympathies of women of all classes, and brought all to a common outlook. The barriers of prejudice and class had been broken down, never to be restored, by the sorrows and privations of war. Crisis is Here. "I believe that we have reached the most critical stage of the war," declared Mrs. Pankhurst. "We have faced dark days, darker because we have been facing an enemy far better prepared than we have been. But I believe that to-day, when the tide of battle has turned in our favor, the day is really most dark, for we must prepare to combat another German stroke for peace."

Warns Against Propaganda. The latest peace drive had been inaugurated in the Kaiser's recent speech at the Krupp plant. "That arch traitor, the Kaiser," she declared, "has always been most dangerous when he makes his designs under a pretended desire for peace." She recalled the manner in which, previous to the war, the Kaiser had posed as a lover of peace, had almost deluded the entire world while he was preparing for war. He had played to win the sympathy of the International Socialists, whom the speaker declared the most dangerous element in any nation, the element clamoring for peace, instigating strikes, striving to break down the morale of the home front. It was to combat this insidious propaganda that Mrs. Pankhurst had come to America.

The speaker recalled the work along these lines done by the suffragette party in England; on behalf of recruiting, encouraging munition work, campaigning against strikes which threatened the nation's safety. On the Welsh coal mines, in the munition factories, the women reminded the workers that they were an essential part of the nation, and must do their work as such. The women of America, both the United States and Canada, were working hard for the war. In Canada, women had always had work to do, work which the women of England were only now commencing to realize, with the shortage of domestic help brought about by changed circumstances. Must Fight to Victory. "We do not doubt our soldiers or our sailors," declared Mrs. Pankhurst, "we know we can depend on them to the last, but we sometimes fear for the people at home. In spite of four years of war and all that it has brought, however, I believe that the British people and the French people never consent to a peace by negotiation, they will insist on the unconditional surrender of the Kaiser. "We are pledged to free Serbia, to give national independence to the people who are the slaves of the ramshackle Austrian empire, and if we do not accomplish this our honor will be smirched, and our future unsafe, for the Kaiser will have obtained in the Balkans a hold which will enable him to win the war. He went into the war with the ambition of gaining Belgium and a part of France, but he has gained such a hold in the Balkans that he is now prepared to renounce his other conquests. If Germany once gained control of the Balkans, warned Mrs. Pankhurst, Britain's Indian empire must fall as surely as the sun was to rise again, and that would be but the beginning of the inexorable decay of the entire empire, no part of which would any longer be safe. So not only the honor of the empire, but our very safety, bound us to carry the war to a decisive issue. "We would be mad," exclaimed Mrs. Pankhurst, "after four years of sacrifice to accept an inconclusive peace now when the tide of victory has just turned in our favor. We must nerve ourselves to see this thing through, or it were better for our children that they had never been born, for their heritage would be one of shame and subjection. "Let us think, when peace offers come thick upon us of the flower of our land, who have died on every battle front, and their sacrifices to us in vain. In the coming months of stress shall we remain true to their memories?"

Reverie of Acitators There was particular need for watchfulness in working circles. There were temptations in every factory working for the interests of the enemy. Russia was an example of a nation whose German propaganda had succeeded to the full, and there was no doubt that the same would be true of Russia and Canada; we could not afford to-day to leave one point on the home front unprotected.

Mrs. Pankhurst appealed to her hearers to impress upon workmen and working women, the fact that the war is theirs as much as ours, and that if we fail they will be the poorest sufferers as were the working people of France and Belgium, of Serbia and Poland and Russia. If a unity of spirit among the working classes could only be brought about, the existence of the empire would not have been in vain.

Tells of Marine Seaman Mrs. Pankhurst here turned to the subject of sailors' week, telling graphically of the perils daily at sea by thousands of men and women on ocean steamers. She had crossed the ocean four times, and the North Sea twice, since the war began, and had shared the perils of the deep on a single voyage with those who were sharing them daily. They never ask for sympathy, no Victoria Crosses fell to their lot, but day by day they carried on their backs, transporting thousands of people across the ocean and bearing food to those in need.

If this meeting has helped to do anything to bring home a realization of the war and what it means, it will have been worth while," declared the speaker in conclusion. "If each of us can feel, as the soldier does, that the existence of the empire may depend on our doing our bit, then we are bound to win the war, by crushing once and forever this insatiable desire, not alone of the Kaiser, but of the German people, to stand at his back, for world domination. We must carry on the struggle until we have made certain that our children and our children's children may live in peace carrying on the tasks of civilization and progress which we made secure by our efforts."

"After 'Keep the Old Flag Clean' had been most appreciably sung by Miss Dorothy Boyd, a vote of thanks to Mrs. Pankhurst was moved by Miss Bunnell, who declared that the message delivered by that lady was one which would remain in all who had heard it for years. The vote was seconded by Mrs. Hunt, and conveyed amid thunderous applause. Mrs.

on the faces of his prefects. These are Flight Commanders and all are accustomed to responsibility such as does not fall in peace time, to the lot of men double their age.

Another middle-aged very well set up officer next catches the veteran's eye. He wears his uniform as if born in it, and on his breast is the white-edged crimson ribbon of the Long Service and Good Conduct medal. He is the Quartermaster, now performing in the R.A.F., the duties which for years past he has performed for a regular battalion of the army.

A less surprising figure is a captain of about 25 with a bad limp and two wound stripes. He wears no wings, for he is the Adjutant and in his drama he is still with his infantry battalion in the trenches. Harder to place is a second lieutenant, without badges or bands of any sort, broad shoulders, and a keen intellectual face. He proves to be the Mechanical Transport Officer and what he does not know about economy in petrol, repairs to engines, and organization of journeys is not worth knowing.

The rest of the mess is made up of some youthful instructors, and yet more boyish pupils who listen modestly to stories of the "old hands" about battles with the enemy. A surprising collection of men they appear to the old Colonel, but all are full of the right spirit, all animated by esprit de corps, and all are engaged in building up the traditions which are handed down to future generations of the Royal Air Force. After being in their company for an hour or so the Grimean veteran would probably admit that he found no falling off here in the quality of the youngsters who held the King's Commission.

RECORD GRAIN HANDLING. Montreal, Sept. 14.—A new record for grain handling has just been established by the Grand Trunk on its line in Eastern Canada. During the month of August, that railway transported the great total of 8,371,521 bushels of grain, carrying the bulk of this vast tonnage from Great Lakes ports to Montreal for export. The cars required to move this traffic numbered 4,653, showing the remarkable loading average of 1,799 bushels per car. The amount of grain transported by the road in August surpassed the best previous record by about half a million bushels.

A ROYAL AIR FORCE MESS

If a Colonel of Crimean days were to stroll into a present-day Royal Air Force mess in England he would probably think that he had walked through Alice's looking glass.

A cheerful, gruff, well-to-do veteran, and hospitably offers him a drink. From the old Colonel's experience this youth should be a second lieutenant. But on the cuffs of his well worn tunic, the Colonel notes with amazement the badges of a Major's rank. On his breast, moreover, in addition to a pilot's wings are seen the ribbons of the D.S.O. and the M.C. This young man's features wear an expression of mingled responsibility and dare-devil recklessness, and gradually, the veteran realizes that he is speaking to the Commander of the Station, the owner of a name famous for mastery, organization and heroic gallantry in flight.

Near the lounge a grey-haired, somewhat portly man, who despite his uniform wears the air of a prosperous city merchant. His sleeve carry but one button, so he is a lieutenant. This is the Equipment Officer, and a past master in the art of producing all the spare parts needed to keep aeroplanes constantly in the air, and to keep Squadron happy. The youthful C.O. evidently holds him in high esteem, and he seems on the best of terms with the youths around him. A few boyish-looking Captains are dotted about the ante-room, all with the look, and their faces that a schoolmaster likes to see

SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

"THE GARDEN OF ALLAH."

"Great is Allah, Allah! There is no God but Allah and Mohammed is his prophet!"

These are the sounds that one will hear if they haunt the place where-in are housed the many Arabs who are part and parcel of "The Garden of Allah," the attraction at the Grand Opera House to-night. At the G. T. station this morning swarthy men, each with a turban on his head, with dark eyes peering cautiously about, with ever the one idea that "Allah" shall be obeyed, were everywhere present.

You might have thought that a bit of Egypt or the Tripolitan Desert had been dropped into the depot, and that Turks and Constantinople had sent representatives to a world council, but no, they were only the participants of that great spectacular production unloading. The on-lookers did not stop to give the English-speaking actors more than a passing glance, in view of the fact that Arabian people were coming. To be sure there was Miss Sarah Truax, pretty and smiling, and then came William Jeffrey, looking artistic with soft felt hat aslant; that Gray, tall and dignified; Slean Abbott, forgetting that he is a "Sand Diviner," and then the swarthy group of "Sons of the Desert."

Many a moon has shown on the hot sands since they left the town of Biskara; many a dance has been held in the Ouled Nalles; many a kid has been killed and eaten by the families at home since they came first time. The scene of the story is laid in southern California, and the scenic effects are among the most beautiful ever screened. The picture depicts the clash of social forces and the dangerous tendencies of modern civilization. Jane Novak is seen in the leading role in this picture, supported by a powerful cast. Mr. and Mrs. John F. Webber will appear all week at the Rex in an unusual novelty singing offering.

"MISSING." The new photoplay, "Missing," produced by J. Stuart Blackton from a scenario written by himself and James Young, from Mrs. Humphrey Ward's successful novel, is an English story and by a coincidence, nearly all of the players and directors concerned in its production are from some land where the British flag flies. Mr. Blackton is a native of England; Sylvia Breamer, the leading woman, is an Australian, and Thomas Meighan, Molly McConnell and Kathryn O'Connor are of Irish extraction. Even the camera man, William O'Connell, is of Irish descent.

This is a remarkable picture in many respects, it having to do with the present war. The story is usually dramatic one and involves two sisters, one of them ambitious, the other modest and retiring. The former seeks to gain wealth and social position, by contriving the marriage of her sister to some man of wealth. She however, weds a poor British army officer, who, a across the seas to work for "The Garden of Allah," and incidentally to praise "Allah" for the wealth accruing.

Bar-legged they were, their coarse outer garments head worn, and worn in spite of their flimsy appearance, and always the furtive expression that seems to be saying "Allah."

Then finally the throng left, the English-speaking actors going to their hotels, the Arabs lined up on their way to the room especially engaged for them. There they will flock by themselves, saying their prayers with faces towards the East for no matter how much these "Sons of the Sand" lie or steal or cheat, they pray religiously three times each day.

In their temporary quarters they will do their own cooking, the meals consisting of kid and rice; and in lieu of kid, lamb will take its place, this meat being for the innocent—as they are. The menu may be varied from kid and rice to lamb and rice, or even mutton and rice, but sameness does not pall on these economical creatures.

Their Sheikh, while he is not born to the rank, is at the head of prayer calling and spiritual guidance generally, but the fact that he is not of the born-and-brought-up "shiekness" militates against his absolute control, dressing as he does in semi-European dress, offends the humbler followers of the Prophet.

"EYES OF THE WORLD."

Another splendid attraction is scheduled to appear at the Rex the first of next week, in the picture, "Eyes of the World," dramatized from the well known novel of the same name by Harold Bell Wright, and now shown in Brantford for the year after the wedding, goes to the front and soon is reported as missing. His mind wrecked and nearly dead, he strays back into the British lines, where later his wife rejoins him and restores his memory, by singing "Swanee Boodle," a song they used to sing in their court-ing days.

The production which will be seen at the Brant Theatre next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, is said to be one of the best Mr. Blackton has as yet sponsored, and it is more than likely that it will duplicate, if not surpass, the success of his previous achievements.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery come on so quickly that often a little life is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Music in the Home

SCHUBERT CHOIR MEETING.

The executive of the Schubert Choir met at the home of the conductor, Mr. Clifford Higgin, to arrange plans for the forthcoming season. There was a particularly large attendance and very great enthusiasm prevailed throughout. Mr. Percy Farworth, the President for this season, presided. It was decided to commence rehearsals on Tuesday evening, October 1st, at the usual hour and place. That the membership fee be the same as last year, notwithstanding that the music to be given would be more expensive than last season. As all the works to be performed require the services of a good orchestra, the choice and number of the players was left in the hands of Mr. Clifford Higgin, as the individual orchestral pieces to be played. The conductor's selection of works for the next concert was enthusiastically approved, and confidence was expressed that with a wonderfully fine list of the finest choral works the enthusiasm of the members would not only be maintained but increased. The music will be all by composers of the Allied countries. Britain, America and Italy will be represented in the choral numbers, and France by the orchestral pieces. There will be a vocal solo, a military choral song, an operatic scene for two choirs and two soloists, and a Shakespearean choral number. Sir Charles Villiers Stanford's aural work, "The Songs of the Sea," which includes the wonderful and rollicking "Admiral's Song," is one of the most thrilling pieces ever written on the life of the British Jack Tar, and is all alive with the salty spray of ocean waves. The tribute to our naval fighting men will prove exceptionally popular. Sir Charles' military number, "The Last Post," is a work of great dignity and martial splendor, and the burlesque which follows at some of the most interesting moments, is certainly wonderfully conceived. From the opening bars one feels the atmosphere of the military camp, and throughout the entire composition the music pulsates with a vivid realism of battle. Here is the beginning of the first stanza: "The day's high work is over and done.

AN EASY WAY TO ACQUIRE LOVE FOR MUSIC.

Have you ever realized the power that music has to carry the memory back years and years until the illusion is so realistic that when your mind returns to its immediate surroundings you realize with a start it was only a day dream—that you were not actually and physically where your thoughts were? A few bars from one of the old songs carries you back to the old home. You see the fields, the river, the "ould kirk" in the hazy distance. You almost feel the evening breeze on your cheek and hear the familiar sound—the lowing of the kine and the bleating of the sheep. You're living again those dear old days just as vividly as you did long ago.

Or the strains of an old waltz reminds you of your first dance years and years ago. You live over again the days before the dance when you were so busy getting everything ready—and then the great night arrived. You remember your entrance into the brilliant ballroom. You saw all those old friends who you thought you had forgotten until now. Then the excitement and the pleasure and the wonderful dances—the people you met for the first time and the faces you saw for the last time. All this recalled by just a few bars of music.

This is one of the reasons why music has such a great hold on people—and why its charm never wears—why some music no matter how old no matter how familiar or oft heard, is always new. It is a necessity that there should be such music in every home, and thanks to the ingenuity that made possible the talking machine and the player-piano, this music is no longer dependent upon their gifted and tutored friends for this blessing.

The executive feel that such a program will please the most excellent musicians as it surely the most ambitious effort ever put forward in this city. Mr. Higgin is trying to secure a solo harpist to give a couple of selections, as well as play the harp passages in the orchestral works. The success of last season's work, eclipsed all others, and this year's arrangements would indicate an even greater achievement in 1919.

DIET MAY BE DISSOLVED

By Courier Leased Wire. Copenhagen, Thursday, Sept. 13.—The government is firmly decided to dissolve the Prussian Diet, if no agreement is reached in the franchise reform question, according to the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger. Chancellor von Hertling, however, will shortly summon various party leaders for a conference, the article continues, and every effort will be made to find a solution to the question. It adds that the House of Lords will be given full opportunity to consider the question, despite attempted terroristic methods, plainly referring to the Social Democratic party's published demand that the Diet be dissolved immediately. It appears likely that a decision will not be reached for a fortnight or more.

PROLONG CONVENTION.

Lemon Juice For Freckles

Girls! Make beauty lotion at home for a few cents. Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quartet of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

vented by the intervention of the Klan. The agitator who was fomenting the trouble received repeated warnings that he was in danger, and in order to protect him the police put him under arrest. While on the way to the police station in the patrol wagon, they were stopped by an automobile squad, each car bearing the insignia of the Invisible Empire—the fiery cross of Scotland, the occupants also being clad in the weird garments of the Ku Klux Klan. The policemen were threatened with revolvers and the prisoner removed from the wagon. What became of him after this is not recounted, but the strike was averted and war work proceeded as usual.

At Birmingham, Ala., a strike leader was planning for a big walk-out of workers at some mills in the suburbs. The strike, however, never materialized, and the man has never been heard of since. The Klan professes to be on the look-out for alien enemies, for the disloyal and for strike agitators. If there are no labor troubles, the Klan goes after slackers and idlers. A preliminary warning is given, which, if not heeded, is followed by more drastic action. In Montgomery, the Klan has warned off all immoral women from Camp Sheridan.

The members of the secret society are said to be drawn from the best men in the community, and the long white robe, covering both body and face, is worn as in the old days.

Horses and automobiles are similarly covered. By this terrifying costume it is the object of the Klansmen to strike fear into their victims as to obviate further drastic action; if this should fail of its intended effect, however, the members are all sworn to carry out their purposes without fear of the consequences.

The re-creation of this formidable body, after an inactivity of fifty years, is one of the most extraordinary-outcomes of the war. All who have seen the Birth of a Nation picture can readily conceive what an immense power for good or ill is possessed by a secret association such as this. It is a matter for profound being exerted in the interests of the allied cause.

To every home there comes a time when every thought, every hope, every prayer for the future centres on the recovery of one loved one. In that hour of anguish, every means to recovery is sought—the highest medical skill, trained nurses, costly treatment. Does the price matter?

It may be so great as to stagger the imagination—a sum beyond the possible.
But does anyone ask, "Can we do it?" Money or no money, they do it. And somehow they pay.
It may mean doing without things they think they need. It may mean privations, sacrifices, hardships. They make unbelievable savings, they achieve the impossible, but they get the money to pay.

If anyone says "I cannot save" let him consider to what extent he would pinch himself to relieve the sufferings of a loved one at home; and surely he would not pinch less for our fighting brothers in France.
Without suffering actual privations, nearly every family in Canada can reduce its standard of living, can practice reasonable thrift, can make cheerful sacrifice to enrich the life-blood of the nation.

To-day in this critical period of our nationhood, there is imperative need for MONEY—vast sums of money. Only one way now remains to obtain it.

You who read this, get out pencil and paper NOW. Set down the items of your living expense. Surely you will find some items there you can do without.

The nation must save, every community, every family, every individual Canadian must save.

Determine to do without them. Start TO-DAY. Save your money so that you may be in a position to lend it to your country in its time of need.

IN THE WORLD OF LABOR

The Guelph Co-operative Association handles over one ton of Ontario Government fish every week. It is the largest individual retailer outside of Toronto. The society is selling at the rates fixed by the Government, but in addition, pays thereon to the consumer the usual purchase dividend.

Stratford teamsters and garbage men in the employ of the civic board of works department have made a request for an increase in wages of 50 cents a day to meet the high cost of living. At the present time the scale is three dollars a day, which they contend is not sufficient for a man to raise a family on.

The strike of the coal miners in the Brule mine property, Edmonton district, has been settled, according to advices received in Calgary. Some 500 men were involved by the walk-out, which proved successful in completely tying up the mines. The strike lasted for several days.

Organizer A. Bastien of Montreal, the well known representative of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, has been commissioned to act as organizer of the American Federation of Labor in the Province of Quebec. As he can speak both the English and French languages fluently, no better incumbent could have been placed on the job, and it can be safely asserted that it won't be long before he will have something under way.

Another big organization campaign on behalf of the international trades union movement in Montreal is about to be launched, and Messrs. Alarie, Wall and Lafamme, who have done so much for the local labor cause in that city, will co-operate with A. Bastien, the newly appointed A. F. of L. organizer, to set a number of the unorganized crafts into line. The present would seem to be a most opportune time to get in some effective propaganda work with this object in view as the sentiment in favor of organization was never so pronounced as now when all the big international are making such phenomenal headway. The membership of the local unions in Montreal has increased rapidly during the past eight months in addition to the formation of new bodies which in the aggregate have a roll call of several thousand names.

Women Replacing Men
Recent reports concerning the replacement of men by women in Great Britain are made available in the August issue of the Monthly Labor Review.

In April, 1917, the number of women directly replacing men was estimated at 1,256,000, of whom over three-fourths were found in industrial and commercial occupations and in government employ.

In January, 1918, according to the British Labor Gazette, of June 1918, this number had increased to 1,442,000.

The degree to which women replace men varies widely in different industries.

In government establishments, not including controlled establishments engaged in munition work, they formed 35 per cent. of the total employes; in banking and finance, 24.6 per cent.; in commercial occupations, 16.9 per cent.; in engineering firms, 7.14 per cent., and in all metal trades 6 per cent.

These figures refer only to the women directly replacing men. Many others are engaged in work in which they replace only partially or indirectly, men who have been withdrawn.

Machinists Are At Disposal of the Government

The International Association of Machinists has been placed at the disposal of the U. S. government for war work, the entire membership to be mobilized for that purpose. This does not mean that all the members will be taken from the non-essential industries, but the machinery of the organization will be used to reach an equitable distribution of the craft to insure a maximum production.

E. C. Davison, general secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Machinists, has sent circulars to every local of the organization, enclosing blanks to be filled with the following information:

The number of machinists in each local engaged in industries non-essential to the success of the war; also estimates of the number of non-union men in each locality engaged in non-essential industry.

A list of the non-essential industries in each locality, both union and non-union, including registrations, which will be made of all machinists and toolmakers in these plants.

Blanks are being furnished every local of the association for the registration of every machinist and toolmaker of draft age, with a view to possible deferred classification.

Duplicate copies of all this information will be furnished to the Public Service Reserve of the Employment Service, and will form a valuable part of the information to be obtained in redistributing machinists to meet essential needs.

So great is the need of machinists that the war department is considering the advisability of furloughing those already enlisted, as well as giving deferred classification to those under the draft age, but now in the service as soldiers.

SAULT STE. MARIE DID ITSELF PROUD.

Organized Labor in Sault Ste. Marie did itself proud on Labor Day in spite of wet weather, which at one time threatened to spoil proceedings. The big parade in which nearly four thousand participated was a manifestation of the growing power and solidarity of the working class movement in this section of the province.

Taking part in the procession were fully 1,500 employees of the great steel plant of the Algoma Steel Corporation which is now thoroughly organized. Another feature was the turnout of the women's auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the ladies were given considerable applause along the parade route.

In the afternoon what was probably one of the best programs of sports and attractions that has ever been held in this district was run off at the Oakbine race track before a great crowd of spectators who thoroughly enjoyed the sport. A number of exciting horse and motor cycle races were greatly enjoyed. The day was an unqualified success in every way, and labor certainly made an excellent showing and many who witnessed the big parade were clear-

GOOD REMEDY FOR CARBON IS WATER

Bad "Gas" Has Considerably Aggravated Chief Cause of Poor Performance

These days nearly everyone is having carbon troubles. Engines run badly and carbonize a whole lot quicker than motorists think they ought to. Instead of cleaning up the carbon every 220 miles or so in most cases it is a job that has to be done every 100 miles. And it isn't the fault of lubricating oil, poor engine construction or leaky piston rings, either, in most cases, it is the poor stuff that is sold under the name of gasoline that is raising the mischief.

That is why the market is flooded with anti-carbon devices. These take all forms. Some of them are chemical compounds made up of tablets that are supposed to be dropped into the gasoline tank along with the fuel. They are advertised to be innocuous and at the same time effective. Certain chemicals would have a bad effect on lubricating oils and on motor materials, so that they might actually not only clean out the carbon but part of the engine too.

Kerosene run into the engine is an old-time device. At the close of a day's running, while the motor still is hot, the recommended plan is to put a little kerosene into each cylinder through the petcocks and let it stand until the morning. Then running the motor file will blow the carbon out. But, as one man phrased it: "Why use kerosene to clean a motor, when all we're burning nowadays is kerosene masquerading as gasoline?" Good thought.

Water is a highly recommended and really effective carbon remover. It is the best, old-timers say. One man advises a very simple method: "When your motor is running idle, speed it up until the air valve in the carburetor opens. Take a syringe about the size of a hypodermic syringe, and inject water slowly into the carburetor. Do this four or five times, and you will see the carbon in huge chunks come out through the exhaust."

Another motorist who has been making use of an auxiliary water supply in connection with his motor which is supposed to inject steam into the combustion chamber, announces good results from its use. He says he had a carbon-filled motor when he started and that now it is clean as can be. The market is full of devices with the use of water or steam as a base. Some of them use water from the cooling system; others depend upon an outside supply.

But all appear to be effective, and have the advantage of being constantly in operation, which is about the only objection to the syringe system proposed above.

Carbon troubles are surely annoying, and never were they more prevalent than now. A foul engine is at the bottom of a lot of things that make a car go badly. For one thing you can't get good mileage on bad gasoline used in a motor choked with carbon. The reduction in mileage is sometimes appalling. One case recently was of a four cylinder car that had been doing on test better than thirteen miles to the gallon, which suddenly showed a shrinkage down to nine miles to the gallon. When the carbon was cleaned out the motor picked up again to its old average.

Fuel as it is today, it is almost imperative that some sort of cleaning device be employed pretty constantly in order to rid one of the annoyance of a sluggish, knocking motor.

EVERY SWEDISH HIS OWN DISTILLER

"How Goes the Fermentation?" is Daily Greeting in Sweden Now

When two friends encounter each other in Sweden, says a current jest, they no longer greet each other with the usual "Good day. How goes it?" Instead they say, "Good day. How is the fermentation getting along?"

The reference is to the jar containing a mixture of water, sugar and yeast which each assumes the other to have standing in a warm corner of his house, preparatory to distilling his own spirits. The jest, of course, exaggerates conditions, but there is more than enough truth in it to justify it. Home distilling flourishes in Sweden.

From laboring man to lawyer, there is no class where one cannot find men who are able to discuss the advantages of this or that method of making the "cognac," as the basic fluid is technically termed, of the best apparatus for distilling, or how to cleanse the product from fustil and of flavoring methods. So widespread indeed, is the practice, that the police make apparently little or no effort to find and punish violators except such as distill for sale. These are punished sharply if found.

The incentive to home distilling in the manner in which the sale of distilled liquors has been restricted, due to the shortage of grains, sugar beets and potatoes. The allowance has been cut to two quarts each three months. Before the war it was a quart each week.

There is a suspicion in some quarters that the present restrictions are needlessly severe and in part dictated by prohibitionist sentiment. Swedes will not suffer dictation even by a majority in matters of food and drink. The result is home distilling.

A further result of the restrictions is to distilled liquor and of the fact that the only beer obtainable in Sweden to-day has an alcohol content of less than one and one-half per cent. has been to make a "metbok," or passbook entitling the owner to purchase spirits, a very valuable possession.

NOTICE

TO UNITED STATES CITIZENS IN CANADA.

By the United States Military Service Convention Regulations, approved by the Governor-in-Council on 20th August, 1918, MALE CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES IN CANADA, WITHIN THE AGES for the time being SPECIFIED BY THE LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES prescribing compulsory military service, except those who have diplomatic exemption, ARE MADE SUBJECT AND LIABLE TO MILITARY SERVICE IN CANADA, AND BECOME ENTITLED TO EXEMPTION OR DISCHARGE THEREFROM, UNDER THE CANADIAN LAWS AND REGULATIONS.

The regulations governing this liability are published in the Canada Gazette (Extra) of 21st August, 1918; copy whereof may be obtained upon application through the post to the Director of the Military Service Branch of the Department of Justice at Ottawa.

UNITED STATES CITIZENS of the description aforesaid who were IN CANADA ON 30th JULY, 1918, HAVE SIXTY DAYS FROM THAT DATE within which to EXERCISE AN OPTION TO ENLIST or enroll IN THE FORCES OF THE UNITED STATES, or TO RETURN to the United States; and THOSE WHO for any reason SUBSEQUENTLY BECOME LIABLE TO MILITARY SERVICE IN CANADA HAVE THIRTY DAYS FROM THE DATE of the accruing OF SUCH LIABILITY within which to exercise the like option. It is stipulated by the Convention also that certificates of diplomatic exemption may be granted within the optional periods aforesaid. EVERY CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES TO WHOM THE REGULATIONS APPLY is required to REPORT TO THE REGISTRAR under the Military Service Act, 1917, FOR THE province or DISTRICT WITHIN WHICH he is, in the manner by the regulations prescribed, WITHIN TEN DAYS AFTER THE EXPIRY OF HIS OPTIONAL PERIOD and will be SUBJECT TO PENALTIES if without reasonable excuse HE FAILS SO TO REPORT. For the information of those whom it may concern Sections 3 and 4 defining the requirements of registration, with which it will be necessary strictly to comply, are set out substantially as follows:—

REGULATIONS

3. EVERY MALE CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES WITHIN THE AGES for the time being SPECIFIED IN THE LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES prescribing compulsory military service, not including those who have diplomatic exemption, WITHIN TEN DAYS AFTER THE EXPIRY OF THE TIME LIMITED BY THE CONVENTION within which the Government of the United States may issue him a certificate of diplomatic exemption, SHALL TRULY REPORT TO THE REGISTRAR BY REGISTERED POST, and in writing, which is plainly legible, his name in full, his occupation and the date of his birth; stating also whether he is single, married or a widower; and if the latter, whether he has a child living; also if married, the date of his marriage; and stating moreover his place of residence and usual post office address in Canada; and, if he reside within a city or place where the streets and dwellings are named and numbered, the name and number of his street and dwelling; or if he reside in another place, the lot and concession number, section, township, range, and meridian, or other definite description whereby his place of residence may be located, having regard to the custom of the locality in which he lives; and IF WITHOUT REASONABLE EXCUSE HE NEGLECT OR FAIL TO REPORT IN THE MANNER and with the particulars aforesaid within the time limited as aforesaid, HE SHALL BE GUILTY OF AN OFFENCE, AND SHALL BE LIABLE UPON SUMMARY CONVICTION to a penalty not EXCEEDING FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS, AND TO IMPRISONMENT for any term not exceeding six months, and moreover he shall incur A PENALTY OF $10.00 FOR EACH DAY after the time when or within which he should have registered during which he shall continue to be unregistered.

4. EVERY UNITED STATES CITIZEN WHO HAS DIPLOMATIC EXEMPTION, although not otherwise subject to these regulations SHALL WITHIN TEN DAYS after the granting of the same truly REPORT TO THE REGISTRAR, in like manner and with the same particulars as required by the last preceding section; and in addition he shall embody in his report a true and complete statement of the particulars of his certificate of diplomatic exemption. NEGLECT OR FAILURE without reasonable excuse to comply with the requirements of this section SHALL CONSTITUTE AN OFFENCE PUNISHABLE IN THE MANNER AND BY THE PENALTIES provided in the last preceding section.

ISSUED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, MILITARY SERVICE BRANCH.

THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT

There have been several record scores made on Canadian golf courses this season, but easily one of the best was recently registered by that sterling pro, Charlie R. Murray, of the Royal Montreal Golf Club.

542, 553, 335-35 434, 533, 342-31

The course at Dixie is not quite up to full championship measurement, the total yardage being 5,610, but it is extremely well trapped and requires the placing of every shot. AGUTE NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

All Treatments Proved Useless Until He Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. JAS. S. DELGATY.

R.R. No. 4, Gilbert Plains, Man. "In the year 1910, I had Nervous Prostration in its worst form; was reduced in weight from 170 pounds to 115 pounds."

The doctors had no hope of my recovery, and every medicine I tried proved useless until a friend induced me to take "Fruit-a-tives".

I began to mend almost at once; and after using this fruit medicine for 8 or 4 months, I was back to my normal state of health.

I never had such good health for twenty years as I have enjoyed the past six years. We are never without a box of "Fruit-a-tives" in the house."

JAS. S. DELGATY.

the championship at Sandwich in 1904, as his greatest achievement. Lieut. Francis Guimet considers the 72 made at Brookline, Mass., in 1913, when he won the U. S. open championship in the play-off with Vardon and Ray, as his premier performance.

Armand Massey, the French champion, put down a sensational 62 on the Scottish links at Archfield, in June, 1914, as his best score. Two months after he was helping to stem the Teuton tide in France. Wounded early in the war, for some time now he has not been heard from, and fears are entertained that he has played the "last and best game of all."

Capt. "Larry" Jenkins, who won the British-amateur when it was last played for, thinks a 70 he notched on the old Troon course, his chief endeavor on the links, and he has for four years now been making record scores at the front and has the M.C. to his credit.

"Dave" Watt, the left-handed champion of the world, who recently died fighting for King and country, records a 61 at Mortonhall in 1913, as his 'st achievement.

Mr. Walter J. Travis, the "grand old man of American golf," open and amateur champion of the past, gives a 69 at the Chicago Golf Club as his best score.

Mr. Edward Blackwell, the longest driver of his day (with the old gutta serena) made a 266-rod drive at St. Andrew's, which is considered a 73 at St. Andrew's as his record achievement.

The most antique score in this precious book of the "Hieland Chief" is that photographed by "Old Man Hunter," a 51, made on the other twelve-hole course at Prestwick in 1878.

Altogether a thoroughly interesting golfing collection which will revive fond memories in the minds of many followers in Canada of the "game of games."

In connection with these "best scores" it might be mentioned that Mr. George S. Lyon, Canadian amateur champion, won his 71 at Lambton, notched in the open championship in 1910, when he was runner-up to D. Kenny, as the best of his many golfing performances of great merit.

All these great players have, of course, many much lower scores to their credit, but these choice records were made, generally speaking, in championship play and under the most testing competitive circumstances. Hence their great value to the individual performer and to the student of the game.

WATERFORD

(From Our Own Correspondent.) Last Sunday the Rev. Mr. Smith of Port Burwell preached two very excellent sermons in the Baptist Church here. There were large congregations at both services.

Miss Rosie Jarvis spent Sunday at the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Barber, Bloomsburg.

Miss Laura Trussdale returned to her home here on Sunday morning after spending three weeks with relatives in Detroit and Windsor.

Major Walters and family of Hamilton spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Savley, here.

Burglars breaking through the back door of Mr. Herb Stafford's store and got away with several pairs of rubbers and shoes.

We notice an account in the paper that Mrs. W. E. Taylor of the Adelphi Hotel, West Lorne, had been shot and seriously wounded by David W. Smith, hotel porter.

The Rev. Mr. Caldwell is still away on his holidays, and in his absence the Rev. Mr. Louisa services took the services last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell are expected to return this week. The services there (Methodist Church) will be in charge of the Rev. Mr. Louisa.

On Saturday evening at eight o'clock the Ladies' Aid will meet in the Baptist Church for their regular meeting. The program will be unusually interesting, the subject being "Living Songs in Living Service."

On Saturday evening at eight o'clock the Ladies' Aid will meet in the Baptist Church for their regular meeting. The program will be unusually interesting, the subject being "Living Songs in Living Service."

We notice that Waterford has a new bus. Mr. Leonard S. Dean has one which meets at various points on the highway between the Toronto, Buffalo and Hamilton, or the L. E. and N. railways.

A number from here attended the Toronto Fair last week. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. W. Fawcett were in London this week on business and also attending the Fair there.

Mrs. A. O. Loughrey is visiting at her old home, Mitchell, for a few days.

Mr. Robert Cammel of Brantford visited his sister, Mrs. Ed. Spencer, one day last week.

Mrs. W. W. Peng of Toronto is spending some time with her son here, Mr. P. G. Wilcox.

Miss Muriel Olmsted spent the week-end with friends at St. Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Boughner of Brantford spent a day in the guest of the latter's father, Mr. Ed. Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Slaght and Miss Ruby Slaght and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Murr motored over from Brantford on Sunday and called on relatives here.

Mr. C. J. DeFields, Fire Chief of Windsor, Mrs. DeFields and children and Mrs. Richard Machelde, who have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. John DeFields, here, returned home. While East Mr. DeFields attended the Fire Chiefs' convention in Toronto.

We are sorry to report Mrs. John Terry as being ill in the month with her friends and hope that she will soon be well again.

Mr. Edgar Hicks, wife and child of Nixon were visiting friends in Waterford on Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Calkins (Miss Alice Calcy), who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Calcy, for the past month, left for Toledo on Wednesday.

We are glad to be able to report that Mrs. Thomas Wright, who has been sick for some time, is able to be around again.

Last Sunday afternoon at three o'clock the members of the Waterford Loyal Orange Lodge, together with members from neighboring lodges, attended special services in the Anglican Church here.

Visiting members came from Simcoe, Kelvin, Port Dover, Brantford and other places. A band from the Kelvin Lodge were present and music was rendered by them, together with the church choir. Mr. Hatton sang a solo. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Frank Anderson, M.A., County Chaplain, from the text, "Contented Earnestly for the Faith, once for all Delivered to the Saints." After the services at the church were finished, the L.O.L. members, headed by the band, marched through the town, back to the lodge rooms, where a number of short speeches had been made, a war-time lunch was served by the ladies.

The lawn social which was to have been held at Victoria Square on Thursday last, Sept. 5, was on account of the bad weather, transferred to the court room, where a good business was carried on in the sale of ice cream, pies, cakes, etc. After this had been attended to, a splendid program was given, which was much enjoyed by the audience and consisted of a patriotic address by the club chairman, Dr. Foster, who spoke of the splendid work done by the British sailors. Miss Laura Pettit gave two selections on the piano, "Romana," by Sebulus and an encore, "Destiny." Miss Violet Evans sang nicely. Mrs. Roy Addison and Miss Nellie, sang a duet, and a ladies' quartette by Mrs. Appden, Mrs. Frank Scott, Miss Smale and Miss Kalar, was well liked. Mr. Clarence Rowe of Hamilton gave a number of selections on the violin and saxophone. Altogether the evening was a great success.

Word has been received in town in a roundabout way, that one of our boys in France, John Mathews, had been killed in action. That this is not true has been proved by his mother receiving a letter from him dated later than the time he was said to have been killed. There was news in a letter from France from one who said he had helped to bring him in, but it must have been mixed up with another of the same name.

Great preparations are being made for the Waterford fair and it is expected to be much better than in former years. A splendid program is being prepared, consisting of races, school drills, baby contests, girls' soft ball, etc. Henderson's Pipe Band of London has been engaged for the day. This band is formed of just girls and boys. Don't forget the date, Sept. 27.

Miss Rosie Jarvis spent Sunday at the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Barber, Bloomsburg.

Miss Laura Trussdale returned to her home here on Sunday morning after spending three weeks with relatives in Detroit and Windsor.

LADY'S SHIRTWAIST.

By Anabel Worthington.

One of the most attractive of the new shirt waist models, is this one with the narrow roll collar and cuffs of a contrasting material. No. 8655 is smartly tailored and it is carefully made it will look as well as the high priced ones in the shops. There is a narrow yoke effect, which is produced by extending the back of the waist over to meet the front, which are pleated. The centre front closing is accomplished by means of bound buttonholes and large, flat buttons. The long sleeves are set in without fulcres and they are gathered into deep cuffs.

The lady's shirt waist pattern No. 8655 is cut in four sizes—38 to 42 inches bust measure. As on the figure the 38 inch size requires 2 1/2 yards 36 inch or 2 3/4 yards 40 inch, with 1 yard 18 inch contrasting material. Price, 10 cents.

To Obtain This Pattern Send 15c to The Courier Office, or two for 25c.
