You That Are Gone.

You that are gone—we know not where, have that your eyes were shut in sleep, and that your hands were wakened fair, heads whose warm touch we felt we miss.

You that are gone, this is to say: The hearts you left behind you years and wait impatient, day by day.

For your return.

Who knows what pathway led your feet? Into the dawn and twilight meet.

Out where the dew and dew-drops meet, into the vast unknown, somewhere—

While through the mist of worlds you roam, and sigh and say that soon or late you will come home.

Your chair within this ledger-book holds still its comfortable space; it waits for you, and waits for you, and waits for you, and waits for you.

And drop their jewels of dew; the very air, both with perfume, is waiting for you.

We know not, in the curving night, whose every shadow blue and fern far from gleaming of the light.

That comes from all the land-stars—We know not, but we faintly hear your step and we hold silence then, with faith that ever drawing near.

You come again.

They say 'tis done; that we no more may see you unless you speak, or catch your footfall on the floor.

Or trace the roses in your cheek; But still we wildly send this call: To you, that somehow you may learn That hearts and hearts are waiting all for your return.

A Paper of Pins.

There was no sign displayed over the doorway of the little store; no name painted on the single window. But if the neighbors wished thread, or needles, or fish hooks, or yarn, or any one of fifty other things, they ran in to see Silas.

Among his motley stock of small wares the old man would delve patiently for the desired article. If not to be found, he would remember who purchased the last, and offer to holler out and borrow it while the purchaser tended shop. He was extremely eager to oblige, and painfully anxious not to charge too much, lest his friends might become dissatisfied and elsewhere.

Much loved, much laughed at, and alas! frequently cheated, was Silas; but he did not mind trifling impositions. He couldn't haggle. Any one could beat him down. The joy of his life lay in accommodating and in feeling that he was appreciated.

The sunlight poured in at his window, children sat on the grass-grown steps, and a glowing lantern-tender, and a basket of woolen socks behind the counter, and Silas gazed cheerfully from his open door, entirely at peace with his surroundings.

His white hair rippled in the late afternoon breeze; his mild eyes filled with a calm satisfaction; in his clean-shaven cheeks showed a childlike glow, and a gleam of the snow-colored hair behind the counter, and Silas gazed cheerfully from his open door, entirely at peace with his surroundings.

There was something fresh and sweet about the old man. He was so nice, so smiling, like a wind-blown white birch-tree leaning from the bank of a happy stream to reflect its light in peaceful waters. He rested his twisted leg on a chair-rung, and shaded his eyes with a well-kept hand, peered down the street of the quiet village.

The touring car which had stopped his attention whirled up and stopped nearly opposite. Such were not rare sights, but this automobile was a large one and held several people. To halt here was unusual. The children on the step looked up to stare.

Some occupant of the car was speaking to a passer. He pointed across the road. Silas heard him laugh. Then a lady, elderly, dignified, alighted and came toward the shopkeeper.

As she approached, the old man got behind the counter with alacrity. Here, surely, was a customer. He lifted always to be in readiness, with a certain welcoming air, that strangers might feel at home directly. If they cared to chat or hear his story, Silas had plenty of time.

She was a handsome woman, even in age, this visitor, with her regular, highbrow features; yet her mouth and eyes were hard, as if the years had not passed lightly. They softened pleasantly while she glanced about the tidy little room.

'How nice!' she said. 'Really worth coming into, as a relief from the dust and everlasting clutter. Have you any large pins—black ones, that are out of the medium?' Silas alerted in the show case.

At the sound of his voice the woman, who had scarcely looked at him, started and gazed intently at his face. Her eyes expressed intense surprise mingled with recognition. Her lips, her bosom swelled. She stepped closer, eyeing him eagerly. The man returned her scrutiny with placid courtesy, smiling and holding out his wares.

'Am I an I—his customer clear of her throat—am I speaking to Mr. Lettmore—Silas Lettmore?'

'Yes, madam,' he said, bowing.

'I'm Silas Lettmore.' There was no recognition in his gentle eyes, no hint former knowledge of her.

'Five years,' he said. 'You'll find them excellent pins. I sell a great many. Anything else I can show you?'

The woman looked at the doorway, then back at the man. Mechanically she laid a coin on the counter. He put a paper of pins in an envelope and handed it to her.

'Thank you very much,' said he gratefully.

Across the road the automobile whirled. Loud voices and laughter followed over. Some one called.

A bit of red stole into the woman's eyes. Her eyes were strange and bright. The gloved hand resting on the counter was tightly clenched.

She spoke quietly.

'Do you not remember me?'

'No, madam! If I'm in quite sure I never had the pleasure of meeting you before, unless—'

'Unless what?' she said sharply, a note of agony in her tone.

'My accident,' he replied simply. 'It left a blank, you know.'

'Your accident! A blank! I—never heard,' she exclaimed, as if to herself. Her fingers unclenched, going to his passive hand. 'Why, Silas! cried she impulsively. 'I'm Helen Foslake—or—I was.'

'Yes?' he said, apologetically. 'Helen—Foslake—dear me! No, I'm sorry, but—'

Slowly she withdrew her hand. A sigh, half impatient, half piteous, broke from her.

The shopkeeper showed deep concern. He bent partly over the counter, drumming softly with his fingertips.

'Please don't mind my forgetting,' he said anxiously. 'You must be one of my old friends, but it's useless to try to recollect. Maybe you would like to hear the way of it.'

She nodded, and made a queer smiling murmur.

He began a glib recital, smiling again at his tale most prove entertaining.

'Something—I can't imagine what and they won't tell me—sent me off at a tangent when I was twenty-five years old. They say I was reckless and miserable, and I went away, travelling. My train ran off a bridge. I got a twisted leg and a badly banged skull. I guess about seven years of my existence is wiped out by my brain-rip. The rest is all right. I remember my school-days. For a long time after the wreck my legs were slow. Then they cleared by degrees, but I was like a boy, and had to learn a good deal all over again. My people obtained damages from the railroad company—a good deal, I think, for all that. I kept my money in a bank, and have been here keeping my store for many years. You see, I hate noise, and it gives me an interest to have a shop, besides being so lovely and quiet. The folks are friendly, and I'm very happy in it, and you'll understand. I was so late to have some money. I was always hard up at school, and now I can buy things. It costs quite a bit to run my shop. I can very glad you come in, and I hope the pins are what you wish. I don't your party calling for you to hurry!'

'Yes, Good-by—God keep you!' whispered the woman. She squeezed both his hands, gave him a lingering look which startled him, and went. Silas Lettmore gazed serenely after the departing car.

'Who in creation was Helen Foslake?' he meditated. 'That old lady must once have known me well. Bless my soul she looked really to be dead, but there's nothing to cry about. A sympathetic old lady—very!'

The heavy, red-faced, white-mustached owner of the auto whirled his wife with a reluctant allow.

'Talk, can't you!' said he. 'Are you asleep, Helen?'

The woman roused herself.

'Of what?' she asked daily. 'Pleased People? Whatever became of Helen Foslake? She was a sister of Silas's. You remember Silas?'

'That impetuous, big-chapped fellow over for me, my dear? Yes, I have a dim recollection of the boy.

His sister? Gracious! I don't know what becomes of all the people. Do you?'

His wife sat up stiffly, and steadily regarded the mountains.

'One, occasionally,' she returned. 'Wrap that shawl about me, Dave; I'm cold.'

He tucked the covering around her shoulders, saying severely:

'You stayed forever in that cool shop after being in the heat. What did you get, anyway?'

'Pins,' replied she shivering. 'Nothing but pins, my dear.'

This as a RAUUU-You?

'Every day spinning—'

'You make—' the balance goes a little further, 'well, you get thinner. On the danger line to-day, to-morrow may be too late! Better use Ferronze, it builds up—a little gain the first week, but the gain keeps going. Next week, not quite so thin. Keep right, lots of fat won't hurt at all. Your blood is enriched, cheeks grow rosy, your heart and nerves grow strong and you don't tire so quickly, joyous robust health, and a sturdy frame and a cheerful mind—all these come with Ferronze. You'll try it, only—'

Making a Noise in the World.

'Lincin,' said Mr. MacGillkambly, 'told a story about a little steamboat running on the Wabash river with a whistle so big that when the captain blew it he had to tie up the bank for an hour or two to get steam enough to go on. He had only a little boat, but he wanted to make as much noise as any body on the river.'

'And isn't it so, by the way, with our friends the automobilists? If you don't see it you can't tell by the sound of the horns whether the machine coming is a veritable battleship of a car with a limousine body and with four extra tires clamped to it, and with hampers and baskets strapped to the roof, a regular house on wheels driven by a hundred horse-power engine on a rickety little second hand two-horse power runabout, for the lumpy little runabout is altogether likely to carry a bigger and louder horn than the majestic touring car.'

'And still, are steamboat men and automobilists the only people that like to put up a big front? Don't we all of us, big and little, like to make all the noise we can in the world?'

Defeated by Dr. Hamilton.

In so way is health so menaced as by constipation. It leads to indigestion, insomnia, anemia and a hundred ills. Ordinary remedies fail—they relieve—don't cure. The worst case is defeated and cured quickly by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which cleanse the entire intestinal tract, stimulate kidneys and liver, keeps the pores of the skin open. You'll never have stomach trouble, yellow complexion or headache if you use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are a perfect system tonic, 25c. at all dealers.

The People's Burden.

After several years of relentless pursuit of the various colossal trusts on the part of the government legal departments, a decisive victory has been attained and the Standard Oil Trust, the trust of trusts, has been convicted of illegal business methods and has been fined $29,240,000. There is a bare chance that the conviction will not stand and that it may eventually be reversed but at any rate there is great cause for rejoicing in the thought that business monopolies are not entirely above the law. If we have at last come to the point when the law is to regulate business instead of business regulating the law, common people are greatly to be congratulated and there is some hope of bringing about relief from the oppression of other business enterprises that at the present time impose such burdens on the mere right to live.—The Farmer.

Prevent Taking Cold.

Often you come home, cold and shivering—feet are wet, throat is raw, chest a little sore. A bad cold is just beginning. Put a Nerville Porous Plaster on your chest, rub your throat with Nerville and take a stiff dose of Nerville in hot water. This prevents a chill or checks the cold instantly. No remedy so useful in the home, so sure to prevent serious illness as Nerville and Nerville Plasters. Sold by all Dealers, 25c. each, but be sure you get the genuine and refuse any substitute.

The Late Grant Allen was found of making the assertion that there was no Anglo-Saxon genius for art; it was all Celtic. If an Englishman was an artist or poet it would be found that he had a Scotch or Irish ancestor somewhere. The death of the great composer Edward Greg brings to light the fact that his father was a Scotchman, the descendant of a Scottish merchant, who emigrated to New York after the battle of Culloden. So when Greg's charming compositions are played let all Scotchmen hold their heads up and look modest, but conscious of their race genius.

The Lord's Way.

But the Lord let him live on.

A landlord turned a poor family out of a house not many yards from Marsh St. and seized what the law allowed. He threw the family out on the street because they were behind in the rent, and he wanted the house for another man who had more ready money, and repeating 'Money talks now—a day.'

But the Lord let him live on.

She sat watching by the window. It seemed a long time since he should have arrived. It seemed long for with two kids to cloth, and with little to eat in the house, but it wasn't long to him. He asked the boys, 'Wat? You have.' Hers was a sigh, his was a laugh. He went home and when she brushed the dirt from his hat and asked for a little money, he said he had none.

And the Lord let him live on.

A man caught the hand of a girl, and through his gentle pleading reached her heart, and she was happy in him. She thought of him at work, and at rest, in the light and in the darkness, and moved that man as only a woman can love. He betrayed her. She became an outcast, lived on a few years, pined and died. While he was a new face and was attracted by a new fancy and flattered.

But the Lord let him live on.

A man lived a pure life, and although he was over many he was humble and kind-hearted. He lived quietly and unostentatiously, and was not spoiled by his position and power. His life might be summed up in the words: 'He was a good man.'

And just as he was developing into the flower of his manhood the Lord took him.

But the Lord ever errs.

Neither does he explain.

Are You Weak Instead of Strong?

You are discouraged.

You feel old and worn.

You are sick, but not aware of the fact.

You can drag yourself around—but work is impossible.

With your stomach crying out for assistance and the nerves all on edge why not try Ferronze—it will surely do you good.

Ferronze is a wonderful combination of vegetable extracts, fortified by excellent tonics for the nerves and stomach.

When you feel depondent, Ferronze cheers you up.

When languor and oppression weigh you down, Ferronze braces you up.

When sleep is impossible Ferronze calms the nerves and gives you rest.

For bounding health, good looks, good spirits, nothing equals Ferronze; makes

THE ACADIAN.

Sanctum Suggestions.

One of the most important matters dealt with by the Municipal Council of late years has been the appointment of a Scott Act inspector. For several years the Kings County Temperance Alliance has at each annual meeting appeared before the Council in behalf of this appointment and their nomination has invariably received the position. In the carrying out of this policy good work has been done, until the liquor traffic in our county has almost become a thing of the past. The Alliance, realizing, however, that it is only by "eternal vigilance" that the traffic can be kept in check, followed the same course at the annual meeting of the Council this week, and on Tuesday the members attended the meeting in a body, and through their spokesman, Dr. Henry Chisholm, of Grand Pre, asked for the re-appointment of Mr. I. L. Cox, of Canning, who in the past has done such faithful and efficient work, and through whose fearless and unflinching efforts such progress has been made in the enforcement of the Scott Act in this county. The matter was deferred by the Council to the meeting of the 24th day afternoon, a majority of the members preferring, apparently, to take action in this matter in the absence rather than in the presence of the members of the Alliance. On Wednesday afternoon when the matter came up for final action it was moved that Mr. Cox be re-appointed, which motion was supported by Councillors Reid, Anderson, Hamilton, Parker, Woodbury and Morse. The motion was opposed by the other eight members of the Council and therefore defeated. Warden McMahon then announced that he had a man to suggest for the position, Mr. L. B. Gould, of Aylesford, who was appointed to the office. The warden also suggested that a committee be appointed to direct the work of the inspector, on which committee he volunteered to act as chairman. Cousins, Morse and Griffin were appointed the other two members of the committee. The whole affair appears to be very transparent and the members of the Alliance and all interested in the progress of the temperance reform are naturally indignant. The action of the Council certainly bears every evidence of an attempt to throttle the operations of the Scott Act in this county. THE ACADIAN has no acquaintance with the new inspector, but the fact that he is the choice of the opponents rather than the friends of the temperance reform would indicate that whatever his personal qualifications he will not be a very energetic official. Mr. Cox, on the other hand, has been an excellent inspector and has the full confidence of the temperance people, and no good reason has been given for the Council's failure to re-appoint him. It has been openly hinted that in view of the near approach of a Dominion election there are those in the county who would prefer to see the liquor traffic have free scope during the coming year, and certainly the facts seem to warrant such an opinion. This action of the Council must convince the members of the Alliance that they made a serious mistake in not taking a hand in the municipal election last fall and seeing that men were elected on whom they could depend for support in the carrying out of their work. Over confidence has been the fault of the Alliance. The franchise is not yet dead in Kings county, and by every possible means is endeavoring to keep its grasp on public affairs.

The service in the German street Baptist church last night was under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. of Acadia College. The devotional exercises were led by Tilley Westmore. The choir was composed of Acadia students, numbering about thirty. Solos were rendered by Miss Maud Scott and R. F. Stalling.

William S. McIntyre gave an address on The Northfield Conference. George Keirstead spoke on the Acadia College Y. M. C. A. and Miss McCathern on the Relation of the Northfield Conference to Acadia College. All the addresses were especially good.—St. John Star.

The Colchester Sun says that a rumor comes from Cumberland to the effect that D. W. Robb may be the conservative candidate in the Dominion general elections. Mr. Robb is a great captain of industry, head of the well known large and progressive industrial concern known as the Robb Engineering Company.

Geo. V. McInerney, K. C., died on Sunday at his home in St. John, N. B., after a lingering illness. He was an able barrister and prominent in the public life of Canada, having represented Kent county for eight years in the Commons. He excelled as a public speaker.

The house at Annapolis known as the Ritchie house and more recently as St. Andrew's school has been purchased by Mrs. Melanin, widow of the late Hon. Mr. Melanin, until his death minister of education for the province of Manitoba.

Dr. A. Ross Hill, a Nova Scotian, has been chosen president of the University of Missouri, an institution having 1,000 students. He is but 37 years of age and a graduate of Dalhousie.

The records show that the month of December last passed has been the warmest in thirty years and has probably never been exceeded in this respect in this country.

Rev. W. B. Hutchinson, D. D.

The President of Acadia altho a son of Colchester, made his first public address in Truro on Sunday last and his three addresses on that day have left a most favorable impression upon those who had the pleasure of hearing him. As a speaker, he does not rely upon high sounding phrases and rhetorical embellishment, but rather, perhaps with the consciousness that he has something to say, his manner of speaking is most direct and convincing. This does not mean by any means that his addresses are barren of adornment but simply that adornment is made subservient to the matter most admirable and pertinent in his use of illustrations. In his addresses on Sunday he made free use of these and always most pointedly. As a story-teller, he also showed wonderful aptitude and ability. The effect of his tale of Richard and Saladin from 'The Taisman' was masterly and his application almost unique in its fitness.

Before one has heard him speak at all a splendid impression is formed of the man. A splendid physique, a robust form and an honest determined face prepare the audience for a man of sterling worth and steady purpose. When he has begun to speak, the impression of stability becomes a conviction. The logical sequence of his ideas fix his addresses so upon one's mind that at the close one has a distinct and tangible recollection of the whole. This facility of leaving a lasting and clear impression of a discourse marks Dr. Hutchinson out clearly as the man for the position that he has been called upon to fill as the executive head of a great and progressive university. The Sun wishes Acadia and her Colchester president lasting success and immediate success in the present forward movement.—Colchester Star.

Modern Medicine.

No sane mother would wish her child treated under the conditions of medicine or surgery of half a century ago. Why then should she give her little one the old-fashioned medicines of half a century ago, which more likely than not contain poisonous opiates that cannot cure the child, but merely drag it into temporary insensibility. Baby's Own Tablets is a modern medicine prepared with all the care and skill of modern medicine science. And the mother who gives this medicine to her child has the guarantee of a Government analyst that it does not contain one particle of opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. This medicine cures all the minor ailments of little ones, and makes baby a healthy, laughing, happy child. Sold by all medicinal dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Prohibition Gains.

In twenty-two municipalities in Ontario local option was carried on Monday and in only one out of five in which a repeal by-law was submitted did it meet with defeat. This indicates that the idea is growing in favor. Localities that have not experienced local option are inclined to try it; those that have it are not disposed to dispense with it. Many reasons combine to make the public favorable to the prohibition principle. The desire for sobriety, the yearning for the reform of friends who have fallen, the feeling that the neighborhood will be better without liquor are among the sentiments that bring people to the polls to vote against the licensing system. A very strong influence, however, is the presence in a community of the hotel of the lower class, kept by a man of bad principles and of bad habits. Such an establishment will do much harm, because of its indiscriminate sale of liquor and its inducements for idleness and youth. When a place of this kind is doing its destructive work, what wonder is there that the people of the municipality should rise up and sweep the entire business away?—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Stomach Trouble Cured.

If you have any trouble with your stomach you should take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. P. Klotz, of Edine, Mo., says: "I have used a great many different medicines for stomach troubles, but find Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets more beneficial than any other remedy I ever used. For sale by Rand's Drug Store."

Mrs. Ford, wife of Rev. E. C. Ford of George St. Christian church, died somewhat suddenly Sunday morning—although she had been ailing for a few months, and the end was not altogether unexpected. Mr. and Mrs. Ford came to Pictou a couple of years ago, during which time the deceased lady won the respect and esteem of many friends. Mrs. Ford was 67 years of age. Two children survive—a son, Rev. Frank Ford, and a daughter, Mrs. Stevens, both residing in Cleveland, Ohio. Yesterday a funeral service was held at the home, previous to the removal of the remains to the railway station, to be taken to Liverpool, N. S., for interment.

Rev. and Mrs. Ford formerly resided at Port Williams and their many friends in this vicinity will hear with deep sorrow of the latter's death.

Eight Prizes to be awarded in a Letter Writing Contest Open to Everyone in the Maritime Provinces.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have been used in the Maritime Provinces for a generation. Hundreds of remarkable cures have been reported during that time and there is scarcely a family in which the remedy has not been tried with beneficial results. This furnishes the material for the letter to be written in this contest. There is no demand upon the imagination; every letter must deal with facts and facts only.

THE PRIZES.
The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. of Brockville, Ont., will award a prize of $25.00 for the best letter received on or before the 1st day of February, 1908, from the Maritime Provinces on the subject 'Why I Recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.' A prize of $10.00 will be awarded for the second best letter received; a prize of $5.00 for the third best letter; and five prizes of $2.00 each for the next best five letters.

THE CONDITIONS.
The cure or benefit from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills described in the letter may be in the writer's own case, or one that has come under his or her personal observation.

More than one cure may be described in the letter, but every statement must be literally and absolutely true.

The letter should be no longer than is necessary to relate the benefit obtained from the remedy in the case described.

Every letter must be signed by the full name and correct address of the person sending it. If it describes the cure of some person other than the writer of the letter, it must also be signed by the person whose cure is described as a guarantee of the truth of the statements made.

The writer of each letter must state the name and date of the paper in which he or she saw this announcement.

Fine writing will not win the prize unless you have a good case to describe. The strength of the recommendation and not the style of the letter will be the basis of award.

It is understood that Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. shall have the right to publish any letter entered in this contest if they desire to do so.

The contest will close on Feb. 1st, 1908, and the prizes will be awarded as soon as possible thereafter. Do not delay. If you know of a cure write your letter NOW. Observe the above conditions carefully or your letter may be thrown out.

Address all letters as follows:
The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., Letter Contest Department.

ALL SICK WOMEN SHOULD READ MISS SCHWALM'S LETTER

In All Parts of Canada Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the Eminent Remedy.

Many wonderful cures of female ailments are continually coming to light which have been brought about by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and through the advice of Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who has given to sick women absolutely free of charge.

The present Mrs. Pinkham has for twenty-five years made a study of the life of her sex; she has consulted with and advised thousands of suffering women, who today owe not only their health but even life to her helpful advice.

Miss Annie E. Schwalm, of 235 Spadina Ave., Toronto, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a specific for female weakness with which I have been troubled for years, and had gradually returned to my former self. In my affliction I was advised to use your Compound, and within a few short months there was no trace of my weakness, my strength gradually returned, and in a very short time I considered myself a perfectly well woman. I appreciate your good health, and beg to assure you that I am most grateful to you for discovering such a wonderful remedy for suffering women.

The testimonials which are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female ailments.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass. She will write in return for her advice. It is absolutely free, and to thousands of women has proved to be more precious than gold.

MISS A. E. SCHWALM

Is the cream of the wheat—the choicest Manitoba Spring Wheat and Ontario Fall Wheat.

It contains the good qualities of both, makes wholesome, nourishing bread and biscuits both, makes tender, light, tasty cake and pastry. Like Ontario wheat flour, it also yields MORE of flour to the barrel, than any other. Good cooks say that their greatest help in baking is BAKER'S FLOUR. Try it.

Don't Take the Risk.

When you have a bad cough or cold do not let it drag along until it becomes chronic bronchitis or develops into an attack of pneumonia, but give it the attention it deserves and get rid of it. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are sure of prompt relief. From a small beginning the sale and use of this preparation has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. Its many cures of coughs and colds have won for it this wide reputation and extended use. Sold by Rand's Drug Store.

Death of Prof. F. H. Eaton.

The death of Prof. Frank H. Eaton, a former well-known resident of this county, occurred at Victoria, B. C., on Sunday. Mr. Eaton was a native of Kentville, where he was born in 1851. He was a graduate of Acadia in the class of '73, and was for some time instructor of Greek and natural science at Horton Academy. He was in 1879 appointed as teacher in mathematics and physics at the Normal School at Truro, which position he filled with marked ability. He was an active member of the senate and board of governors of Acadia College for several years, and took a foremost part in the organization of the Summer School of Science, of which he was for two years president. In 1893 he returned to Kentville and purchased the New Star newspaper from the late James Stewart. He changed the name of the Advertiser, and continued the journal until 1897, when failing health compelled him to seek another climate. He went to British Columbia and obtained the position of inspector of schools in Victoria, which position he filled for ten years.

Local Happenings.

Notices are out for the town elections, which take place on Feb. 4th. Be sure and hear Rev. Dr. Chown next Wednesday evening at the Baptist church. Don't miss HARRIS, the magician in College Hall to-night—instructive and entertaining. Don't forget the Board of Trade meeting next Tuesday evening. Make an effort to be present. The weekly prayer-meeting of the Wolfville Baptist church is now held on Wednesday evening. Law office of Shaffner and Pincover store of R. E. Harris & Son. Open every Wednesday. To-morrow is the last day for paying 1907 taxes if you wish to vote. This includes frontage tax. Be sure and bring the children to College Hall to-night. HARRIS, the magician will delight them. The first real cold snap of the season occurred on Tuesday night, when the mercury went down to the zero mark. Mr. Lonsbury, of Fredericton, N. B., has rented Mr. O. D. Harris' residence on Gaspeaux avenue for the winter. The rink was opened for the first time on Wednesday evening with the ice in excellent condition and the band in attendance. Mr. Geo. E. Colkin, of Kentville, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. L. P. Dennison, at Hortonville, paid THE ACADIAN a brief visit on Saturday last. The members of Orphans Lodge, No. 92, I. O. O. F., are requested to meet at their hall Friday evening, Jan. 17th, at 8 p. m. Rate-payers of the town will please remember that in order to qualify for voting at the ensuing election all taxes for 1907, including frontage tax, must be paid not later than Saturday, Jan. 18th. Rev. G. J. Coalter White expects to give his lecture on "Costumes, Customs and Curios of Palestine and Syria" in the Baptist church, Canard, on Sunday evening, and at Port Williams on Monday evening. Mr. I. S. Bostes wishes to announce that next week he will be in charge of a new tailoring business in Wolfville, which with a fine line of samples and facilities for doing the best work will make a bid for custom tailoring and guarantee satisfaction. See adv. in next issue. Rev. Dr. Chown, Temperance and Moral Reform organizer and lecturer for the Methodist church in Canada, is to speak at a union meeting in the Wolfville Baptist on Wednesday evening of next week. Dr. Chown is a speaker of international reputation, and our people will be decidedly fortunate in having this opportunity of hearing him. W. Stetson Rogers, of Halifax, Grand Master of the I. O. O. F., will make an official visit to Orphans Lodge, No. 92, on Monday, Jan. 20th. He will be accompanied by an orchestra and other members of the order from Halifax and other lodges. Members of the order are requested to be present. E. W. DUNCANSON, Rec. Secy. The Canning Quadrille Club extends a cordial invitation to the members of the Wolfville and Kentville Quadrille Clubs and Upper Canard Whist Club to be present at a dance to be held in the Cornwallis Trading Co.'s warehouse, Canning, on Tuesday evening, January 21st, 1908, at eight o'clock. Gentlemen—$1.00. C. R. DICKEE, Secy. The Kings Co. Record, of Sussex, N. B. recently published a description of the new school building now about completed in that town, the plans of which were made by Mr. Leslie R. Pairs, under whose direction the work was carried out. The building will cost about $50,000, and is said to be the finest school building in the Maritime Provinces. Great praise is given Architect Pairs for the careful manner in which he has prepared the important work that has been entrusted to him. The annual meeting of the Wolfville Fire and Protection company was held in their rooms on Monday evening, some twenty members being present. The reports of the secretary, treasurer, chief and captain were received. These showed that four alarms had been given during the year, the damage in all cases being slight except at the residence of Mr. R. East-Horseshoe, where the fire being in the roof and difficult to get at considerable water was required. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Chief—A. M. Whiston. Vice Chief—J. E. Herbin. Capt. of the four hose teams—P. W. Godfrey, W. C. B. Harris, J. E. Hales and James Christie. Capt. Ladder Truck—Ross Fraser. Capt. Salvage Corps—M. W. Pick. An invitation was received from the Kentville Fire Co. to be present at their annual dinner on Wednesday evening, Jan. 15th, which was accepted.

C. H. BORDEN,
WOLFVILLE.

Port Williams.

On the evening of Jan. 9th a very pleasant time was spent in the vestry of the Baptist church here by members of the Sunday-school, church and congregation. It was the date of the financial meeting of this branch of the church. A very satisfactory report of the year's business of the church was given by our competent secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. J. Borden. A debt of ninety dollars still remains on our new horse-shed, but plans were made to remove this indebtedness in the near future. After reports had been given from the various organizations of the church the social part of the meeting was conducted. This was a new departure in connection with the yearly financial meeting suggested by our pastor, Rev. F. H. Beals, and proved a success in every way. It consisted of some good music by the choir, reading by Mrs. C. A. Campbell, etc. One of the most enjoyable parts of the evening's program came near the close of the meeting when Bro. T. J. Borden was presented with a solid oak combination bookcase and writing desk, also solid oak chair with leather bottom. An address was read to Bro. Borden by Mr. C. H. Campbell informing him that the gifts presented were but a slight expression of the esteem and appreciation in which he is held by the church and congregation and Sunday-school for his faithful work as secretary and treasurer. Bro. Borden in a few appropriate remarks thanked those who had given him this expression of love and sympathy in his work for the church and Sabbath-school. The meeting was then closed and all went to their homes feeling that if there were more financial meetings of this kind held in our church they would be better attended and a greater blessing would come to all who came and enjoyed them. Your performance in our auditorium recently was highly enjoyed by all those present. Children and grown people alike were charmed with bells, goblins and magic and we hope to have you with us again. W. C. LOWE, General Secretary Y. M. C. A., Charleston, S. C. [Harrell, the magician, will appear in College Hall to-night.] At the meeting of the Municipal Council this week Mr. W. B. Roscoe was appointed solicitor for the Municipality. This position was formerly held by Mr. W. P. Shaffner.

Pupils' Recital.

The Pupils' Recital which is to be given in Almonde Hall, Friday evening, January 24, will be listened to with interest. Mr. Ringwald's pupils, some of whom appear for the first time, will be assisted by pupils from the departments of Education and Voice. The following program will be rendered. The admission fee is twenty-five cents and a share of the proceeds will be devoted to the Fine Arts Building Fund: 1. Overture Cantata. Bosthoven. 2. Concerto in G major. Mendelssohn. 3. Where Corals Lie. Edward Kiger. 4. Nocturne op. 9, No. 2. Chopin. 5. On Wings of Song (Duet). Mendelssohn. 6. Sonata op. 31, No. 3. Bosthoven. 7. (Reading) Echo and the Ferry, Jean Ingelow. 8. Staccato Rhapsody. Kublanstein. 9. Q. Keet in the Land. Mendelssohn. 10. Concerto in minor. C. M. V. Weber. 11. Concerto in piano. Chopin. 12. Concerto in piano. J. C. Ringwald. Yarmouth, Jan. 2, '08. My wife had severe Bladder and Kidney trouble for 10 years. I had spent over $40.00 for different kinds of medicine and gave it up. I was persuaded to try Kurefalo. She has taken a bottle and is entirely well. EDWARD HILTON, Pleasant Valley, Yarmouth Co.

Twenty Thousand Added.

Just think what an army of twenty thousand men would mean. Yet that is the number of new subscribers added to the mailing lists of that great paper, the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, during the month of December. The publishers have an enormous staff day and night and must keep right up to the mark or the enormous volume of new subscriptions would swamp them. Old subscribers are being constantly warned to renew early. The wonderful vains of the Family Herald and Weekly Star is becoming known all over the world. Few Canadian homes can be found without it. It certainly is the best dollar's worth to be had today. The Municipal Council was in session at Kentville this week.

Personal Mention.

Architect Fair was in Wolfville on Wednesday morning. Miss Robinson has returned from Annapolis and re-opened her exchange. Mayor Black was in Kentville and Berwick last week, installing officers of the Oddfellows Lodge, he being the District Deputy Grand Master. Mr. Ralph Creighton, local manager of the Union Bank, who has been spending his vacation in Cape Breton, returned home on Saturday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Creighton and children, who have been spending the past two months at the home of the former in North Sydney. Mr. A. R. Cobb, formerly of Wolfville, after practicing his profession of architect in Cleveland, Ohio, for two or three years, has lately gone to Paris for a course in architecture at the famous Beaux Arts school. His many friends will be pleased to hear that at a recent entrance examination for a class of 600, of whom 20 were Americans, Mr. Cobb made the highest mark of any of the Americans, and he and four Freshmen made 17 points out of a possible 20. Thus being one of the five to lead the class.

Pertinent and Impertinent.

A Toronto barber shot twice at a man last week and missed. That man's hand isn't steady enough to shave one. The Thaw jury has been chosen. Now let the show in the big tent proceed. I wonder if the Mayor has been taking a correspondence school electric power course on the quiet. Menonites won't fly the Union Jack over their school in Manitoba. And the Donks won't wear clothes—nice lot of people we are gathering in the west. For a man who has spent practically all his life in other pursuits, Mayor Black seems to be the star pupil in the electric power school. A Chicago doctor has discovered a way to prolong human life indefinitely by the internal application of electricity.—Another reason why you should not trust the Mayor or the old council.—Electricity may be operating. Hogtown is making preparations, it is said, to lose another of its great industries. We wonder if the county at large is to be asked again to assist in retaining it. Kentville seems to be a good country for manufacturers. Young gentlemen (?) who jabber in church on a Sabbath evening, should be chased back to the woods early on Monday morning. Now just see here! What is the use of grumbling and complaining about the town government? They won't do any hurt, be certain on that point. That would be impossible. Men of force and ability might do something—wrong. We understand that King Edward the Seventh, of England, is to visit Wolfville in June, taking in the College closing exercises. What about that address which was manufactured for Earl Grey? Would it fit our great King? Cheap electric lights, good roads, a live civic government, reception of King Edward with a lot of automobiles, are all live questions. We would move that the Mayor write King Edward and tell him that he owes an automobile, and that Mr. Young and others also, own automobiles, and that part of the program, referring to automobiles, can be omitted. Again, we would urge that nothing be done to disturb the present city government. 1. They won't do any hurt. 2. Live men are not needed here. 3. We are testing the electrical cure. 4. You might get men who would do something besides collecting taxes, and bragging about it. We are waiting anxiously for the Mayor's message. In it no doubt we will learn of what a great town government we have, what has been done, and what will be done in the future. Carbstones, mud, taxes, connections,—how much has been collected in dog taxes, how many gentlemen and ladies were dunned by the policeman for unpaid taxes, when the town will owe the electrical light plant—and don't laugh when reading all about it.

Here's a Poser.

DR. SIR.—I notice that the Kentville Orchardist this week publishes the Town of Wolfville balance sheet, which appeared last week in THE ACADIAN. Wolfville people are probably glad to have this very creditable statement given all publicity possible. At the same time we in Kentville are inclined to wonder why it is that the Kentville paper does not find room for the balance sheet of the town which is published. So far as I can remember it has not done so, this year or any other year. The law requires this, I believe, and as the editor of the Orchardist is a member of the council he should feel it his duty to have the law carried out in this regard. ELECTRON, Kentville, Jan. 15th, 1908.

Whooping Cough

RELIEVED AND CURED. The cough comes in paroxysms of short rapid sobs to clear the air passages. The face becomes red, the eyes swollen, the body bends forward and when the breath comes unobstructed there is a deep loud drawing in of breath—the whoop. The greatest cure must be taken in order to prevent complication of the lungs or pneumonia. Fresh air and outdoor diet are important, and the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It is almost immediate relief from the hard coughing. By the continuation of this treatment through cure will be brought about and the risk of complications avoided. 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Mr. Henry M. Edwards, Allen Park, Ont. I would express my thanks for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for whooping cough. My children were very bad with it and this medicine brought relief and cure.

College News.

The mid-year examinations begin on the 16th inst. The Juniors defeated the Freshmen in debate last Saturday evening. On Saturday afternoon a basketball match between teams representing Nova Scotia and New Brunswick was won by the latter. In anticipation of cold weather a whistler brigade has been formed. Any member, who shaves off his hirsute appendage, incurs a heavy penalty. The Acadia hockey team played the Windsor hockeyists at that town on Wednesday evening, the score being 6-2 in favor of the latter.

Lame Shoulder Cured.

Lame shoulder is only caused by rheumatism of the muscles and quickly yields to a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Mrs. F. H. Fever Sore.

Fever sore and old chronic sores should not be healed entirely, but should be kept in healthy condition. This can be done by applying Chamberlain's Salve. This salve has no superior for its purpose. It is also most excellent for chapped hands, sore nipples, burns and diseases of the skin. For sale by Rand's Drug Store.

Miss Clarissa A. Murphy, fourth daughter of the late Harry D. Murphy, Windsor, was united in marriage to Rev. James B. Three tired citizens—a lawyer, a doctor and a newspaper man—sat in a back room recently in the cold gray light of the early dawn. On the table were many empty bottles and a couple of packs of cards. As they sat in silence a rat scurried across the hearth into the darkness beyond. The three men shifted their feet and looked at each other uneasily. After a long pause the lawyer spoke.

"I know what you fellows are thinking," he said, "you think I saw a rat, but I didn't."

A philanthropic person heard of a negro family that was in destitute circumstances. The family consisted of the mother, a new nursing maidservant's estate, and two young children.

The benevolent old gentleman called to investigate the matter, and, after listening to the mother's story, gave her five dollars to get a child to look after the mother, and took his departure.

No money was to be given that the negro said in his own words: "Sobbe, you done give me dat dol, and you get de children to be de mother."

Beauty at Zenith at Forty.

There is a beauty quite apart from youth—the beauty of mature woman. Some there are that maintain that beauty does not reach its zenith under the age of 35 or 40. In a measure this is borne out by events of the antique past, which may likewise be paralleled with instances of our own day.

Helen of Troy appeared on the scene at the age of 40. Cleopatra was 32 when she met Antony. Aspasia, married to Pericles when she was 36, was a figure brilliant in her world for 30 years after. When Diane de Poitiers was past 36 she won the heart of Henry II, and he but half her age.

Anne of Austria was 38 when described as the most beautiful woman of Europe. Mile. Mar was heralded as the greatest of beauties at 45, and Mile. Recamier was at her best between the ages of 35 and 50. All these women were world-famed for their beauty, and gave the lie direct to that toothless old saw which buzzes the power of sweet sixteen. The dew of youth and a complexion of roses it must be admitted sometimes combine in a face that is unmovable, irrefragable, utterly lacking in that expression which goes to the making of a perfectly wonderful visage.

The World's Cities. Tokio has 8,000 public baths. Budapest and St. Louis have the deepest water wells in the world. London consumes over 9,000,000 tons of coal every year.

Paris possesses the largest public gardens and the largest hospital. In Bilbao there is a law prohibiting the ringing of church bells even on Sunday.

In Tokio, workmen wear upon their jackets the name of their trade and the name of their employer.

St. Peter's, Rome, has a floor area of 227,000 square feet, the greatest of any cathedral in the world.

A London firm of electro-plate makers has in its service eighteen workers who have been with it for over fifty years.

In Vienna Museum there is a collection of coins numbering 125,000. It is said to be the finest in the world.

Of all the boy-workers in London, newboys are the healthiest, barbers the most unhealthy—a tribute to the opened air life.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure, and it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountain shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs.

Locomotor Ataxia Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Read the Strong Testimony of a Man Who was Helpless for Years and Whom Hospital Doctors Said was Incurable.

Locomotor ataxia is a disease of the spinal cord, characterized by peculiar disturbances of the gait, and difficulty in governing the motion of the legs. As the disease progresses there is a total inability to walk. One of the earliest signs is a tired feeling particularly noted in the knees and ankles. Often a numb feeling is associated with it. As the disease is of slow growth, some cases covering a period of years, the increase and intensity of the symptoms is not noticed, but its progress is constant and gradually approaches a total lack of feeling in the legs, causing a wobbling gait and entire inability to govern the steps. As it grows the patient loses control over the bowels and bladder. A further symptom is the sensation of a pressure at the waist, as the upper parts of the spinal cord become affected. Locomotor ataxia is stubborn in yielding to treatment, and before the discovery of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was considered incurable. It has been fully demonstrated, however, that this disease can be cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

The length of treatment required depends upon the stage at which it is commenced. It is dangerous to delay taking the pills after the presence of the disease is recognized, although this medicine has wrought cures in many cases of long standing.

We give the following statement of Mr. Henry Furzer, a well known resident of Delta, Ont., in proof of the claims that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure this most dreaded of diseases. Mr. Furzer says: "I am deeply grateful that I am able to write you and let you know the great benefit I have derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Some years ago, while working on the Grand Trunk Railway, I injured my back while lifting a heavy weight. Gradually the trouble grew worse and I was taken to the hospital at Brockville. The treatment there seemed to help me and after some weeks I returned to work. I was able to work a few days when the trouble returned worse than before. Again I went to the hospital, blisters were applied to my spine, but without avail. The doctors told me I had locomotor ataxia, and that there was no help for me, as I would never be able to use my legs again. I returned home in the belief that I would always be a helpless cripple, and that death only could bring relief. I gradually got worse and worse. There was absolutely no feeling in my legs. I lost control of both bowels and bladder, and suffered great torture from a grinding pain about the waist. I could scarcely sleep at night. Finally a friend asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and on my saying no, he got me a set, and I began to use them. It was quite a while before I found any benefit, but finally relief began to come. The pains about the waist ceased, I slept better and my appetite was better. Then the feeling began gradually to return to my legs, and then I was again able to stand alone. As time went on the improvement continued, and I was at last able to go about with the use of a cane, and I could get in and out of a buggy without assistance. I scarcely hope to be the vigorous man I once was, but only those who have suffered as I did can imagine the great gratitude I feel for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I strongly and sincerely advise similar sufferers to give this medicine a fair trial. You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Simply Couldn't Suppose It. Scottish folk are proverbially canny and prudent in money matters, and the following anecdote of a young man's generation is no exception to the rule.

A teacher in a lowland school was taking mental arithmetic with a class of boys. She asked one urchin: "How much would your mother give you to buy four pounds of tea at one and six a pound?"

"We na'er get se much at once as that, mum."

"Never mind that. Four pounds at one and six."

"But we canna afford the one and six, mum. We always have the one and twa."

"Answer the question. What would she give you to pay for four pounds of tea?"

"Na'with, mum."

"What do you mean by 'na'with'?"

"She'd na' gie' me se much o'na'barrow. She'd tell me to take the moon tea pit it down."

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! But, supposing she did?"

"With a pitying smile came the reply, 'A can see y're ne'er met me mither, mum.'"

What Lava is Good For. Tourists in Italy are astonished at the practical use made of the lava that has flowed from Vesuvius in past and recent eruptions, for all Naples and its vicinity appear to be a world of lava. The streets are paved with it. There are staircases and statues, drinking troughs, brick-ovens and even jewelry of this strange material which once bubbled from the yellow and dripping lips of the great crater above.

The careless guides make money out of it by presenting coils or other objects of partially cooled fragments and selling these to visitors. On the sandy flanks of the mountain there is enough lava to build another New York City—Chicago—a shambles from sea to sea, and the stones are as good as new.

Daniel's Band. In the Book of Daniel we read that the young Hebrew was offered wine to drink he voted 'No.' He persuaded three of his friends to vote 'No.' Let us all join Daniel's Band. Daniel said 'No.' And we will do so. Daniel won three. And so will we!

A Signboard. I will paint you a sign, rum-seller And hang it over your door; A true and better signboard Than ever you had before. I will paint with the skill of a master And many shall pause to see This wonderful piece of painting, So like the reality. I will paint yourself, rum-seller, As you wait for that fair young boy, Just in the morning of manhood, A mother's pride and joy. He has no thought of stopping, But you greet him with a smile, And you seem so blithe and friendly, That he pauses to chat awhile. I will paint you again, rum-seller— I will paint you as you stand, With a foaming glass of liquor Extended in your hand. He wavers, but you urge him— "Drink, pledge me just this one!" And he lifts the glass and drains it, And the heffish work is done. I next will paint a drunkard— Only a year has flown. But into this loathsome creature The fair young boy has grown. The work was quick and rapid— I will paint him as he lies, In a torpid, drunken slumber, Under the wintry skies. I will paint you the ideo of the mother, As she kneels at her darling's side, Her beautiful boy that was dearer Than all the world besides. I will paint you the shape of a coffin Labelled with one word—"Lost." I will paint you all this, rum-seller, And will paint it free of cost. The sin and the shame and the sorrow, The crime and the want and the woe, That are born there in your workshop, No hand can paint, you know. But I'll paint you a sign, rum-seller, And many shall pause to view This wonderful, swinging signboard, So terribly, fearfully true. —League Journal.

A Judge to a Saloon-keeper. A saloon-keeper in Kenosha City was suing for divorce in the Circuit Court presided over by Judge Park. The wife of the saloon keeper was in the state asylum for the insane at St. Joseph, taken there as the result of excessive indulgence in drink. Judge Park, in delivering his opinion, said: "The salient fact of this case are that the husband sued the wife for divorce because of excessive intemperance. He married her when she was a mere girl and soon after their marriage, he went into the saloon business and is to this day. His testimony was that his wife drank before he married her, and that she loved alcohol so well that she used it in her coffee. The testimony of the witnesses for the wife tends to show that the husband is not entitled to a divorce. He took this young and innocent girl from her father's home and made her his wife. If she was then addicted to drink he ought not to have been surprised at its development later. If she was not addicted to this excessive use of drink when he married her—there is a strong testimony to show that she was not—then the fact that he is in the saloon business tends to show that he is responsible for her fall, and there is strong testimony to show that he is.

When a man is engaged in the business of making drunkards it doesn't lie in his mouth to complain if the effects of that business come home to him. The divorce is refused and the bill dismissed. —Life Line.

A Word to Boys. The London "Free Press" strikes the nail on the head in the following: "When we see the boys on the street and public places we often wonder if they know that the business men are watching them. In every bank, store and office there will soon be a place for a boy to fill. Those who have the management of the affairs of the business houses will select a boy in whom they have confidence. When they select one of the boys they will not select him for his ability to wear, use slugs, smoke cigarettes, or top a beer mug. They see that a few of these habits themselves, but they are looking for boys who are as near granite as in every sense of the word as

Makes Red Blood AND GOOD HEALTH

What Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does is to increase the number of red corpuscles in the blood and thereby make the blood redder and richer in the elements which build up new cells and tissues to replace those wasted by disease and in the process of living.

By use of this great restorative you lift yourself from the low level of health which leaves you an easy prey to every ill wind that blows for with this, waxy blood you each cold easily and are an easy victim for consumption and contagious diseases.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. By the building up process, cures anemia, depression, headache, indigestion, weakness, fainting spells and all diseases of the nerves. 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Edman, Date & Co., Toronto.
