CIVIC RULERS IN MONTHLY SESSION

Decide to Have Work Done on Reservoir Lands—Firemen to be Banned—Report of Joint Service Committee

All the Councilors, with the Mayor, were present at the regular monthly Council meeting, which was held on Wednesday evening.

After the reading and confirming of minutes of last regular and special meetings the Town Manager presented his report on the operations of the various services during November.

On the streets the expenditures during the month amounted to $309.59, which brings the total for the year to $3997.87. The pay-sheets for the month amounted to $212.54.

The expenses of the departments of fire and water in November were $38.83, making the total to Nov. 30th, $712.79, with a pay-roll of $14.07.

The sewer cost during November was $16.46, the net total now being $73.70.

On account of police the amount expended in November was $40.89, $18 of which had been paid to special officers on Halloween. The net expense so far during the year has been $376.44.

For the poor the expenses during the past month amounted to $220.81, the total outlay to Nov. 30th being $1388.94.

The financial statement, which was presented by Coun. Balcom showed that the expenditure during November had amounted to $3988.35, the receipts during the same time being $7588.56.

At the end of the month there was a credit balance at the bank of $2218.90, which will be considerably reduced by necessary adjustments to capital account.

For the special committee appointed at the last meeting to take into consideration the application of David Thompson to have adjusted his sewer frontage on Willow avenue Mr. Stars reported that while Mr. Thompson had a frontage of 60 feet on that street much of it was unfit for building purposes, and the committee recommended that he be charged for 250 feet only. The recommendation was adopted by the Council.

The manager reported for the Committee on Water with regard to the proposed cutting of wood from the reservoir lands. Last winter a small section was cleared as an experiment, the result showing that the work could be done at a profit. It was proposed in order to better protect the property against fires, to provide funds for the reduction of the debt, and to provide for a better covering of the land in order to improve the supply, that permission should be given the committee to ask for tenders for the clearing of a further section during the coming winter. On motion the Council gave the desired authority to proceed with the work.

The following accounts were read and ordered to be paid:

Andrew DeLahunt	$ 3.50
William Sawyer	5.65
Miss Harwood (wreath)	8.40
Harry Spimney	8.50
S. Frank	10.70
J. Wannocott	2.05
Aubrey Dakin	4.00
A. M. Wheaton	28.82
C. C. Hancock	19.15
R. E. Harris & Sons	76.10
J. H. Bellizer	41.30
Bruce Spencer	15.50
S. R. Jackson	58.35
Northern Electric Co.	3.37
Davidson Bros.	20.00
E. J. Westcott	16.34
J. E. Hales & Co.	14.00
M. K. McKinnon	356.50
E. C. Shand (wreath)	10.00

The manager suggested the purchase of an adding machine for the use of the town office at a cost of about $260. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The manager reported that the Committee on Fire and Water had arranged for a banquet for the members of the Fire Company to be held at Parish Hall on Wednesday evening of next week, and asked that aside from donations to be made by citizens the cost should be defrayed by the Council. On motion of Coun. Peck this was agreed to.

Coun. Balcom reported as follows for the Arbitration Committee:

"A meeting of the Arbitration Committee was requested by the Council in 1923 to adjust the Joint Service account. An agreement was reached for the year with the understanding that the Committee should again be called together in 1924 to further consider this account. At these meetings three matters were up for adjustment, the items that properly belong in the Joint Service account, the portion to be borne by each section, and the amount due the County on back accounts. ## FORMER WOLFVILLE RESIDENT DIES IN WEST

News has been received from Victoria, B. C., of the death in that city of Mr. Frank Andrews, a former resident of this town. Mr. Andrews was seventy-two years of age, and his death was the result of an accident in which, owing to failing sight, he fell down a flight of steps. The blow on the head rendered him unconscious, in which condition he was rushed to a hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from concussion of the brain and a fractured arm, his dangerous condition, leaving little hope for recovery from the first.

The late Mr. Andrews was a native of Victoria, B. C., and was the son of John Andrews, a Cornishman who came to Canada and settled when a young man. A clever student he graduated from Acadia University in the class of '81, after which he engaged in teaching, holding the position of principal of schools in Halifax and Windsor. Always keenly interested in public affairs he was selected as a candidate in the provincial elections of 1886 by the Conservatives of Annapolis and was elected to the legislature, where he sat for one term. For a time he filled the position of post-master at Middleton, and in 1901 he went to Harvard for a post-graduate course in pedagogy before resuming his profession of teaching.

In 1903 he went to British Columbia, to take a position on the high-school staff at Victoria, which he held until the time of his death, greatly esteemed by his pupils as well as his associates in and out of the school.

While as a teacher of Mathematics he ranked as an expert and devoted most of his time to the teaching of that subject, he was regarded as an authority on matters of Canadian history, particularly during the period of Confederation onward. A great reader and student he was also a ready and forceful debater, either on the platform or in the columns of the press in the discussion of local and national questions.

Mr. Andrews will be remembered by some of the older residents of Wolfville, and was a personal friend of the writer, who has followed his career throughout with interest.

He is survived by his widow, who was before her marriage Miss Bertha Phinney, of Victoria, one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Kenzie, of Port Joli, Maine, a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Andrews, a niece, Mrs. H. O. English, of Victoria, and three brothers, Dr. A. R. Andrews, of Malden, Mass., Mr. G. W. Andrews and Mr. Arthur Andrews, both of Middleton.

WOLFVILLE HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

Gave Splendid Performance at Berwick Last Thursday Evening

BERWICK, Nov. 28.—One of the most enjoyable concerts heard here for some time was given in Bligh's Theatre last night, by the Wolfville High School. It was under the auspices of the local school and drew a full house.

Mr. Basil Silver, principal of the Wolfville High School, himself an accomplished musician, has organized an orchestra in connection with the school, which judging from its work last night is one of which he may well be proud and certainly reflects great credit upon his skill as director.

Last night was the first public appearance of the orchestra—the only High School in the province that has one—and it made good.

The music was of a very high class and every number was finely rendered. The enthusiastic reception given them by the audience should inspire the performers with a confidence in themselves and in their work in the future. A return to Berwick would ensure them the most cordial welcome and a liberal patronage.

At the close of the program a vote of thanks, moved by Miss A. I. Roney, principal of Berwick School, and seconded by Rev. E. M. Webster, of the Anglican Church of Canada, was given to Mr. Silver and members of the Wolfville High School Orchestra.

The receipts of the evening were $72.00 which will be devoted to local school purposes.

The programme was as follows:

ACADIA BIRTHDAY PARTY AT TRURO

TRURO, Nov. 29.—A successful Acadia birthday party was held last evening in the vestry of Immanuel Baptist church under the direction of Miss Mildred Schumann and Miss Dorothy Schumann. Vocal solos were rendered by Vernon Hopper, Morimer Marshall and Miss Edith Olden. Orchestra selections were given under the direction of the leader, R. L. Parks. Miss Leah Whidden gave two readings in her usual pleasing manner.

"The Dawn" was an amusing feature and the one-act play staged by Miss Hazel Gauld and Gavin Benkinson was very well done. Mrs. Elderton, student at the Normal College and graduate of Acadia, read an interesting paper on the Acadia institutions.

"A" in the centre was wheeled into the platform and cut by Mrs. E. D. Vernon and the pieces sold to ready buyers. Coffee and sandwiches were served. The proceeds amounting to about $55 go towards the sum being raised by the women of Immanuel church for the Acadia building fund. Much credit is due the church for the two young ladies who planned the entertainment.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES

The senior Philathea class of the Baptist Sunday School on Sunday, Nov. 30th, took charge of the opening exercises, the programme being as follows:

1. The Philathea Prayer.
2. Stop! Look! Listen!
3. Hymn, "Count your Many Blessings."

The "Stop! Look! Listen!" was an exercise having the "Thanksgiving spirit" throughout. The hymn was appropriate for the occasion. These opening exercises were much appreciated by all present.

WOMEN OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH AUXILIARY

Listen to Interesting Address by Mrs. L. H. Moore, Formerly of Wolfville

The regular monthly meeting of the St. John's Women's Auxiliary was held last Monday at the rectory. There was a large attendance, who accorded a very hearty welcome to Mrs. L. Haliburton Moore, now of Parrsboro, a former member of the society, who is at present staying with Mrs. Dixon at the rectory.

Mrs. Moore who recently attended the annual meeting of the supreme governing body of the society, composed of delegates from all parts of the Dominion, as one of the delegates from Nova Scotia gave a most interesting talk on her impressions and memories of the Convention which was held in the city of Hamilton, Ontario. She reported a large and enthusiastic attendance of delegates from every part of the Dominion. During the last three years, since the previous meeting of the Convention, there has been good progress in every department of the work both in the Foreign and Domestic Mission Field. Encouraging reports come from Tokyo, where normal conditions are being rapidly restored. Since the earthquake two Bishops, one of whom is a Japanese, have been consecrated for the work in Japan, in which the Anglican Church of Canada is doing its principal foreign missionary work. Mrs. Stringer, wife of the Bishop of Yukon, attended and spoke of the work among the Eskimo in the far north.

The address was listened to with the deepest attention and at its close was heartily applauded. Mrs. Moore's many Wolfville friends have greatly enjoyed meeting her and look forward with pleasure to future visits from her.

ANNUAL MEETING OF GASPEREAU WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The annual meeting of the Gaspereau Women's Institute convened at the home of Mrs. Delight Caldwell on Friday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Clifford Caldwell, presided. A school exhibition was held, a large number of prizes given, also money contributed toward the relief of the needy. The following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—Mrs. Adelbert Caldwell.
Vice President—Mrs. Clifford Caldwell.
Secretary—Mrs. J. S. Millett.
Treasurer—Mrs. Bernie Redd.
Directors—Mrs. Otis Caldwell, Miss Evelyn Adams, Mrs. James Martin, Mrs. Reginald Henegar, Mrs. John Gertridge.

Meeting adjourned by the singing of the National Anthem.

SEEKING THE LIGHT

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN

Dear Sir,—In a recent report of the proceedings of our town council I noticed that residents of Kent avenue were clamoring for the erection of street lights on that thoroughfare. The request coming at a time when the moon was at its best struck me as scarcely justified, when we consider the difficulties which our city fathers are experiencing in order to make ends meet. With plenty of moonshine it should not be necessary to have the town put to additional cost at this time. ECONOMY.

ALFRED BISHOP

KENTVILLE, Dec. 1.—Alfred Bishop, prominent citizen of Kentville, and foreman at the Dominion Experimental Station, died suddenly this morning of apoplexy. Mr. Bishop got up expecting to attend to his usual work, but did not feel well and stayed home. He died shortly afterwards. The deceased had a slight stroke two months ago, and was confined to his home for a week.

Mr. Bishop was born at New Mars, December 5, 1865. He farmed for many years and served as Municipal Councilor for Ward Six for two terms, and always took a deep interest in County affairs. In 1912 he was appointed foreman at the Experimental Station and has held that position continuously since. One of the most active and prominent Conservatives in the County, and a member of the executive of the Kentville Conservative Club, he was universally liked by members of both parties.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Faulkner, of Grand Pre, who is a sister of Prof. Alt. Faulkner, of Drew Theological University, also one son, Curtis, in Alberta, and three daughters—Mrs. Van Camp, and Lois, a trained nurse, at home, Grace, trained nurse, at St. Mary's Hospital, New York City, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Adams, Centridge, N.S.

CHARGED WITH HUGE SWINDLE

Over One Hundred Thousand Dollars in Province

The Nova Scotia Publicity Bureau has issued the following report: The compilation of the number of summer visitors that entered Nova Scotia during the past season has been completed by the Publicity Bureau.

The number of tourists entering by each of the various gateways of the province was as follows:

Via Digby	582
Via Halifax	4,775
By train overland	25,000
By motor car overland	43,567

Grand total..... 102,456

The entries given for the port of Halifax do not, of course, include the thousands of visitors who landed for a few hours from excursion steamers passing to or from New York, Quebec and Newfoundland.

The total number of motor tourist cars entering was 10,181, as follows:

Overland	9,139
Via Digby	16
Via Yarmouth	16
Via Pictou	113
Via Halifax	33

Total..... 10,181

A check on cars at different points revealed the fact that the average number of passengers carried was 4.8. Thus the total number of tourists entering with cars was about 48,863.

After exhaustive consultation with hotel men, garage owners, motorists and other competent observers it is estimated that these visitors remained on an average about two weeks and expended on an average about $75.00 each. The estimate is, therefore, that during the tourist season of 1924 the sum of $7,684,200 was disbursed in new dollars throughout the province.

FINE DOG KILLED BY MOTORIST

The many friends of Rev. Douglas H. Humeon, D.D., sympathize with him in the death of "Terry", the fine English setter, which generally accompanied his master, and which was so generally admired for his good qualities. Dr. Humeon was on his way to Greenwick on his bicycle and as usual "Terry" followed him, when at Willow Hollow while crossing the street the dog was struck by a Ford and killed outright. While quite evidently seeing what was the trouble the driver did not take the trouble to stop and get away a identified.

"Terry" was a most intelligent and generally a favorite, and his death is actually a grief to his master and other members of the family. With so many wolf-less dogs running our streets it seems a pity that poor "Terry" should have fallen the victim of a reckless driver.

JOHN R. KINLEY

A sudden death occurred here Friday night when John Robert Kinley, aged 42, passed away at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Kinley Ingraham, on Prospect street.

Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Kinley had been a guest of his sister in Wolfville for the past week. Friday he had an X-ray examination made at the Kentville Sanatorium, but retired in his usual health. In the night he was seized with an attack of angina pectoris and passed away before a doctor arrived.

The body was taken on the morning express to Paradise for interment in the family lot. Mr. Kinley is survived by his wife and eight children.

THE NOVA SCOTIA SANATORIUM CHRISTMAS TREAT

It is, perhaps, not too early to remind the many friends of the Nova Scotia Sanatorium that our Institution at Kentville has about 75 war veterans among its patients, for whom a special effort is made to celebrate the season of Good-will in cheerful and generous fashion. The public has not forgotten these chronic sufferers, and its generosity is keenly appreciated.

If any societies, Women's Institutes, Daughters of the Empire, Local Councils of Women, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, etc., Church Societies, or individuals, wish to send contributions in the shape of money or gifts or filled stockings, please let the sanatorium executive know as early as possible what they may count upon receiving, and when.

Letters and parcels should be addressed to Dr. A. F. Miller, Medical Superintendent, N. S. Sanatorium, Kentville, N. S.

Contributions will be personally acknowledged as they are received.

$10,000.00 CASH PRIZES

Visited Nova Scotia During the Past Season—Left over Seven Million Dollars in Province

REX BEACH AUTHOR OF "FLOWING GOLD"

Rex Beach, whose novels of the rugged outdoors are eagerly read by the public, due to the virile creations of his fertile brain, is the author of "Flowing Gold", a First National picture, produced by Richard Walton Tully, which shows the next Wednesday and Thursday at the Orpheum Theatre. Directed by Joe De Grasse, it is enacted by an excellent cast, which includes Milton Sills, Alan Q. Nilsson, Alice Calhoun, Josephine Crowell, Chas. S. Selton, Bert Wood, J. Cissy Fitzgerald and John Reice.

"Flowing Gold" is the prize the author has craved for oil, by a race of which thousands of persons have become millionaires. The scenes are laid in the oil country against a background of hundreds of derricks.

Beach has written many stories of stirring adventure, but none with more action and suspense than "Flowing Gold", in the estimation of unbiased critics. Among the thrilling episodes in the picture are the burning of an oil well, a cloudburst, which spreads the burning liquid over the countryside, a thrilling fight among the heroic characters in the story. And there is a romance, with a Ilona Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson as the lovers.

last item arose out of the report of the auditors who last spring investigated the accounts of the County. Wolfville's portion of this claimed shortage was about $2000. An agreement was reached on all these points. Several items included in the Joint Service account for years were unanimously deleted. Wolfville's portion was fixed at 101 per cent, whereas it had been 12 per cent, during 1921 and 1922. As the items struck out of the account approximately equaled the shortage claimed by the auditors report, the County representatives agreed not to press their claim. The net result is a saving to the taxpayers of Wolfville of about $1500 in the two years. A further meeting of this Committee will be held next year and an additional reduction in our portion of $500 or $1000 can be secured if our case is pressed. The best of feeling prevailed at these meetings. The representatives of the County, while careful to safeguard their interests, displayed an admirable sense of justice and fair play.

The Council expressed its approval of the work done by the Committee and the report was accepted.

He Drove 100 Miles

A dealer in a New Brunswick town recently drove fifty miles one way and fifty miles return for the purpose of selecting his Christmas stock of Mors Chocolates, although in the meanwhile he had opportunities to buy other chocolates from travellers who came night to his store. However he knew what his customers wanted. And went after it.

Mr. J. E. Dicketa, for many years in the cable service in Nova Scotia, but for the past fifteen years stationed in New Zealand, left after a holiday in his old home for Montreal then to New Zealand. He is taking a five pound package of Mors Chocolates along with him to distribute amongst friends in New Zealand.

A growing custom amongst visitors to the Maritimes.

on Monday, to fill the seat in the New Brunswick Legislature made vacant by the appointment to the Senate of Hon. C. W. Robinson, E. A. Reilly, K.C., the opposition candidate, defeated the newly appointed Attorney General, Hon. Ivan C. Rand, by over 900 majority. While the bye-election was to fill a vacancy in the local house it was from start to finish fought out on federal issues, Maritime Rights being the chief topic of discussion.

Editorial

Our pulpits are our work clothes. Each of us live some kind of a sermon every day.

DEPLETING OUR FORESTS

WHILE the avowed policy of the United States is that "a tree grown is a tree saved," we in Canada appear to be anxious that our forests should become depleted to provide for the needs of that country. One of the latest ways in which this is being accomplished is by the shipping of Christmas trees for the use of our "American" cousins. Recently a shipment of seven carloads was sent from Avonport station, which constituted part of a total of one hundred and eleven carloads which has already been sent from this province to various points in the United States. Thousands of trees were included in this shipment, one only of many which will leave the province during the time from now until the week before December 25th. These trees were purchased from local people by a man from Queens county who paid for them at the rate of thirty cents for a bundle of four.

From the fact that a car contains something like sixteen hundred trees it will be seen what havoc is being wrought to the future forests of this country. The trifling profit which the cutters and shippers are able to make on this business is not at all in proportion to the loss sustained by the province in consequence of a traffic which should be prohibited. Such a wholesale encroachment upon the future wealth of our province will be appreciated by any person who takes the trouble to look into the matter fully. The manner in which the resources of this country are being neglected is criminal and calls for immediate action.

A DISGRACE TO OUR COUNTRY

IT MUST be anything but gratifying to the decent people of Nova Scotia—and they are by no means in the minority—that the capital city of this province should have become the centre of operations for rum-runners to the United States, in which country, apparently, an honest effort is being made to enforce a reasonable measure of prohibition. Were it not that the allegation is only too true, the unenviable reputation which our province has acquired in consequence would be the less distasteful.

While nominally we have a prohibitory law in Nova Scotia, the enforcement of its provisions is shamelessly neglected by those who are made responsible for its carrying out. Not only that, but liquor is permitted to be held in bond at Halifax, from which port it is allowed to be distributed by violators of law operating in our own country and elsewhere. Such a condition is a shame and disgrace upon our country and flag, and should not be allowed to continue.

We have no desire to place the blame upon any political party, as there has been no assurance given up to the present that under a different government there would be any change in policy from that which now obtains. What we do say is that prevailing conditions are no credit to the people of this province, who should take the reins into their own hands and insist on a change.

LAW BREAKERS SHOULD BE PUNISHED

THERE has been entirely too much evidence of "booze" around town of late, especially on Saturday nights. Conditions are no worse in Wolfville than in other towns of similar size, and probably not so bad as in most of them—yet very much worse than they should be. While we have no desire to criticize anyone—and we know that at those responsible for law enforcement have no easy task in these times—we have no hesitation in expressing the opinion that some more drastic action than has yet been manifest should be taken to meet out suitable punishment for those who are systematically breaking the law in this regard. The good name of the town demands it, and citizens who pay the taxes have a right to expect that their property and personal safety and comfort should be considered. If we have not the necessary police force to keep our streets and public places decent and orderly, provision should at once be made for such increase as is necessary to quell the evil.

It should always be remembered that the greater offender is not the poor victim but those who for the sake of gain furnish the stuff which causes all the trouble, and no effort or expense should be spared to have these apprehended in order that a better state of affairs might prevail.

OUR APPLES IN BRITAIN

MUCH to encourage the fruit grower is contained in the news from England. First came the return to power of the Conservatives, who have been in favor of adopting the recommendations of the Imperial Conference.

Since then many things have pointed to a better market in the old land for Nova Scotia fruit and other products.

There is much significance in the recent announcement of the organization of an association entitled "British Empire Goods", with many very prominent men at its head. Not only will this association advocate the buying of empire-made goods, but it is out after written pledges committing business men for the period of one year to buy empire products whenever possible.

Growing Empire sentiment along with the great publicity given our fruit at Wembley and at the Imperial Fruit Show in Birmingham will make it possible for us to sell many more apples in the Old Country and at better prices.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

THREE weeks from today will be Christmas Day! However, the exceptionally mild weather—an extended Indian summer—makes it hard to believe that the festive occasion is so near at hand. The local stores are taking on the Christmas spirit, Santa already being much in evidence.

Christmas is the most joyous occasion of the year in the lives of the young folks, and it is their welfare and happiness which should be looked after first. The local stores have attractive displays of suitable gifts for both young and old. Purchasers will do well to watch the columns of THE ACADIAN closely during the next week or two for announcements in this respect.

Be sure to shop early! You'll find it much more pleasant than waiting until the eleventh hour. There will be larger and more complete stocks for you to select from; you'll avoid the crush and fuss of the last mad rush, and the clerks will have more time to wait upon you.

AN APPEAL TO OUR ADVERTISERS

YOU KNOW, in your business, what it would be if all your day's customers waited till ten minutes of closing time and then squeezed in and demanded instant and perfect attention. It's exactly like that when advertisers squeeze their copy into our office at the last minute and then expect the same results as if they'd given the composing room boys enough time to turn it into snappy layouts. You do your best by your advertising only when you give us time to do our best by it. This applies especially at this busy season.

GENERAL ELECTION IN THE AUTUMN

Government Not Likely to Go to the Country Before Late in 1925.

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—The success of the Government in the West Hastings by-election has given an impetus to speculation on the question of a general election. The suggestion is heard that the Government might appeal to the country next summer, but there is little likelihood of this, as the session will run well into the summer, and an election in mid-summer or until after the crop is harvested would not be considered.

There is the further statement, put forward by a Montreal daily, that the Administration will likely live out its full term of office, and not appeal to the people until 1926. This is still more unlikely. There are only two instances of a Government having taken advantage of the full five year term, and one of those—the Borden War Administration—was under abnormal circumstances. The other was the Conservative Administration which began with Sir John Macdonald in 1891, and ended after a succession of premiers, with Sir Charles Tupper in 1896.

The unwritten law of precedent both here and in Great Britain is against a government continuing to the end of the term, nor is it considered good tactics.

While the question has not been considered any more than informally, there is every probability that the appeal to the people will be made in the autumn of 1925.

Mail Contract

SEPARATE SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the Postmaster General, will be received at Ottawa until noon, on Friday, the 12th December for the conveyance of His Majesty's Mails, twice per week between

GASPEREAUX P.O. & VESUVIUS P.O. and three times per week between HARBOURVILLE P.O. & BERWICK RY. STN. (via Burlington)

REVENUE OF CANADA DECLINES

Customs and Excise Returns Show Big Falling Off.

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.—A decrease of $41,028,820 in the total customs and excise revenue for the eight months of the fiscal year ending Saturday, as compared with the same period a year ago, is shown by the monthly statement issued from the Customs and Excise Department.

Total customs and excise revenue for the eight months of the present fiscal year was $164,254,325. For the same period of 1923-24, the total was $205,283,145. Customs import duties show a falling off of $10,834,634. Customs import duties were collected amounting to $80,865,585, compared with $91,700,170 in the eight months of the previous year. Excise tax collections amounting to $87,783,682 were less by $28,443,712 than for the eight months of 1923-24.

MADE BY THE INTER-PROVINCIAL ROADS CONFERENCE WHICH CLOSED HERE YESTERDAY.

In the opinion of the conference it was felt that it was in the interests of public safety that such measures be adopted, in order to curtail reckless driving. The cancellation of such permits for serious infractions would be one of the penalties imposed.

It is understood that the Ontario government will adopt the principle at the next session of the legislature.

Another recommendation made by the conference was that an educational campaign be undertaken by the provincial government and regulations adopted to compel motorists to reduce speed to 15 miles per hour within 300 feet of railway crossings and to compel motor buses to come to a full stop in such areas.

A Gift that Increases in Value

Presentation Covers are provided for Christmas Gift Books.

WHAT DID YOU GIVE LAST CHRISTMAS? Toys for the kiddies—most of them broken by now. "Something useful" for the grown-ups—now worn out or forgotten. Cash to your employees—appreciated but soon spent. Other presents—hurriedly bought and perhaps ill-chosen. Are they remembered now?

Suppose this year you give them each a Bank Book containing an initial deposit, and urge them to add it regularly. Could anything be more suitable?

Add "Royal Bank Pass Books" to your list of Christmas Gifts.

THE INVERTED PY AMID

BY
Bertrand W. Sinclair
Author of "North of Fifty-three"

The test of anything is its workability. Rod's policy worked, with almost four hundred men on his payroll. And if he had not been compelled to pour his profits into that moribund Trust Company he could have built up a reserve strong enough to carry his working force over any possible non-productive period. At the worst now, he could square the Norquay account with the world at large. But a little thing might leave him with no resources whatever. And he regretted that. He knew what he could do, if he once had a free hand. That uncertainty bore on him hard. He was doing his best. His men were doing their best. Logs came down as if the trees were handled by intelligent automatons with legs and fingers of steel. He had no labor difficulty that was not solved on such occasions as it arose by a half-hour's dispassionate talk over a table with the spokesmen of his crews. The walking delegates of the Logger's Union approached him as confidently as if he had been a member of the union.

But there was always that cursed pit into which he was flinging his trees. It yawned bottomless. It loomed before him distressingly; an Augean stable that he must clean. He had his weak moments, his hours of utter discouragement. But he could neither stop nor turn aside. Sometimes in the streets of Vancouver, after a checking up with Charlie Hale in the Norquay Trust office, he would have the morbid fancy that the deep traffic road of the city was like the roar of the rapids by Little Dent, and that he was in a frail craft shooting that fierce economic tiferace to disaster in the financial whirlpools.

What a price to pay for one man's purblind ambition! He would look back at the chaste white square of the Norquay Trust Building, at the black iron skeleton or the great electric sign, and his lips would mutter a curse.

CHAPTER XXVII

Late summer of 1920 pricked to utter collapse the prosperity balloon which had been deflating ever since the Armistice. Europe still staved in the choice juices of local punitive expeditions, reparations snarls, gyrating exchange, so that North American commerce lagged by the way with heavy feet. Here and there industry somehow kept going. It couldn't stop altogether, even lacking foreign markets. Crops were sowed and reaped; people were fed; life went on. But capital ventured timidly. Wages fell, even though commodities seemed reluctant to cheapen. The stress came particularly hard on the Pacific Coast. The bottom dropped out of the lumber market. A thousand loggers walked the streets of Vancouver, hungry, bewildered, as soon as their savings gave out. Only here and there a few companies and individuals, fortunately situated, well-managed, or filled with bowels of compassion for their men, were enabled to continue. They could log cheaply. They were willing to risk a little loss rather than disband crews and let machinery rust; and they hoped for the upturn, the revival of "confidence" that salesman which coaxes itself to Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce.

Rod owned his timber. He neither leased, paid royalty, stumped, nor interest on borrowed capital. It was choice timber, picked long ago when his forefathers had the cream of coastal forests to choose from. If a tree could be cut and sold at a profit by cutting it he was the one. So long as he could operate without loss, he meant to keep on. He had to keep on, until the cost production overtook the market price.

And because he kept on along the lines he had laid down in the beginning, he found himself in disfavor with people who had once considered it a privilege to know a Norquay. He did not suffer from that. They could not hurt him. If he had not been deeply troubled because he saw the nearing end of his own rope, he would have been amused.

To know that there were men who jammed him heavily for paying labor so much a day when labor could be had for less. To be aware that a certain clique looked forward to the weight of the Norquay Trust crushing him, and that there might be pickings on the interest they took in his welfare, how eager they were to point out that he was hurting himself and demoralizing the labor market, making it hard for them to readjust their business to changed conditions, to deflate properly. Labor had to come down off its high horse and his tactics delayed the unsettling. And so forth. None of it troubled Rod.

He did not want their friendship. He set no store by their opinions. He had been a solitary animal all his life, too self-contained for superficial friendships. He had dreamed in and out of books as a youngster, while some of these others were already up and doing. As a man he played a lone hand, acted with resolution, brooded over his own problems, disregarded the non-essential.

He had his wife and his son. He had a given task to accomplish. He had a friend or two to lean on if he needed to lean, Andy H-ll, Oliver Thorne, his brother-in-law who wrestled with the Norquay Trust as the angel of the Lord wrestled with Apollyon. In the city office he had two men he could rely on, two heroisms, two old, very wise, white-mustached men who had handled accounts, costs, sales, during his father's regime and Phil's. And there was Staggs, the butler, and his wife, who elected to remain at Hawk's Nest for the sake of a house room and a sentiment Rod understood, valued, was moved by. They were, Staggs said, too old to go into service elsewhere. They had a bit of money put by. Enough to live rent free, but not enough to cope with the cost of town living. They would like to stay at Hawk's Nest and keep it aired and dry, to care for such part of the grounds as Staggs could keep from going to rack, and Rod thanked them and let them have their wish. It gave himself and Mary a room always ready when they wanted to spend a day or two there, which they did at times. It was pleasant to sit on the wide porches in blazing August, to watch the juniper practice across the lawn astride a stick, Hawk's Nest home in a very dear and intimate sense, even if it could no longer be maintained in the old opulent state. Rod never passed down the channel in the Heida about his business without a lingering, regretful look at that red roof glowing against a background of green timber and great mountains.

There remained only one link—apart from his sister Dorothy who came to Hawk's Nest each summer for a month, and in whose Vancouver home the dim-misted Norquay clan gathered at the Christmas—between Rod and the numerous folk who had haunted their place in the old days, the girls he had danced with, the young fellows who had been his contemporaries. That link was Isabel Wall.

It seemed a strange friendship. He had always regarded Isabel with a feeling of patient tolerance. She had fallen in love with him once, in her doll-like fashion, to his great embarrassment. She appeared to have no recollection of that episode. She seemed firmly attached to Mary. Between them, diverse as they were, there did exist an intimacy, an understanding, an affection that Rod was slow to fathom, which he did not fathom at all until he began to take serious stock of Isabel and discovered that for all her unchanged pink-and-white prettiness, this diminutive person was really not at all the Isabel Wall of his original conception.

It seemed to him in the beginning to be incongruous that his wife's greatest, almost her only intimate, should be the frivolous daughter of a man who, next to Grove Norquay, was chiefly responsible for the evil days upon which the Norquay family had fallen. But because his faith in his wife's judgment was a vital thing, he let that pass. If at first glance it seemed incomprehensible it was an accomplished fact. Isabel lived in his house as much as she did her own. She seemed absolute mistress of her coming and goings. If she had once had no mark to shoot at save dress and parties and men, she did not seem to care greatly now whether she danced and played and flirted. Yet she seldom uttered a serious thought. She remained a charming irresponsible, give, to stang and cigarettes. She descended upon them in town, at the Euclaws, when they were at Hawk's Nest or in the logging camp on Val ez, when the mood took her. She was always welcome. Isabel was a gloom-speller. Rod used to wonder at first if she did not come chiefly for the joy she got in devilling the lift out of Andy Hall. But presently he found himself with a sneaking fondness for Isabel and her quaint pertness. And when he reached that stage and admitted it, Mary laughed.

"Isabel's a jewel, Rod. She's sound and sweet and true as steel. She's been pampered and petted all her life. Yet it hasn't spoiled her in any of the various ways in which that sort of thing does spoil girls. She sticks to us because she's used to us, she's got to be real people she knows. That tiny blonde contains some very sound wisdom. She hasn't many illusions left, and still she hasn't got cynical or hard and calculating. Laska made a hash of her life and has reacted accordingly. Their mother's helplessly society-mad. That idea of heaven is to be presented at Court sometime. Bob drinks like a fish and goes on the loose just as Grove used to do. Her father knows only the money game and plays that to the exclusion of everything else. The poor kid's only chance in the world, she says herself, is to find and marry a man who can stand on his own feet."

Shortly after that conversation Rod went in search of a logging boss, thinking, as he walked beside a chute in which hummed a steel "main line" that quivered under the strain of a heavy load, of Isabel and her astonishing metamorphosis. Or was it merely a cropping out of something latent? Unhappily that did happen. By all the rules of the game, Isabel should continue as she had begun, a butterfly, a dainty practical creature who had never toiled, spun, or concerned herself with anything but each day's pleasure as it came her way. He hadn't credited Isabel with perception to fathom the futility of the pursuit of pleasure as a life work, without duties, responsibilities, or any creative passion. But he could understand her instinctive revolt. He wondered what John P. Wall thought of this daughter who found dissatisfaction in a life that was all pleasure and no purpose.

If an article is worth displaying in the store, it is worth displaying in your advertising.

ONLY ONE

There's just one kind of a man or woman—the one that has not honest goods. Advertising and "the goods" go together. Neither is of value without the other. Without advertising the best goods will not, as a rule, reach the public. And without honest goods, advertising will bring no permanent success—nor will any other operation. But together they make an unbeatable team.

The prisoner was accused of forgery. "But, my Lord, this is ridiculous. I can't even sign my own name." "Don't worry," said the judge, "you are not charged with that."

On Monday evening a meeting of the Ladies Faculty Club was held at the home of Mrs. Avarad Cohoon, Prospect street. The subject for discussion was "Home Economics", the program being in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Wheelock and Mrs. Osborn. A very pleasant and profitable evening was spent, and at the close dainty refreshments were served.

ACADIA UNIVERSITY HOCKEY STAR MAY JOIN FREDERICTON

FREDERICTON, Nov. 20.—Alten Clark, star of Acadia University's Hockey team for several years past and captain of Acadia's 1924 team, is expected to play with the Fredericton Hockey Club in the Western section of the Maritime Provinces Amateur Hockey Association this coming season.

One of the best defence players in Intercollegiate Hockey in recent years and a veritable stone wall for Acadia's teams, Clark will fill the vacancy in the Fredericton club caused by the departure of Edgar Wade. Clark is regarded as equally as good a defensive player as Wade.

Otherwise the Fredericton Hockey Club's line-up will probably be about the same as last winter, all the other regulars being here while several of the young players will be more useful because of the experience they gained last season in senior company.

Two women were quarrelling about ages. At last, as if to end the dispute, one of them turned away and said in a very conciliatory tone:

"Let us not quarrel any more. I at least, have not the heart to do it. I never knew who my mother was! She deserted me when I was a baby, and who knows but that you may have been that heartless parent?"

"Father," said little Algernon, "why has my hair grown so much longer than yours, when yours has grown so much longer than mine?"

Exit father!

PRESIDENT OF COMBINED BANKS

Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., President of the Bank of Montreal, who will direct the destinies of an enlarged organization when that bank takes over the Molson's Bank, a proposal approved by the Minister of Finance. This will reduce the number of chartered banks in Canada to twelve. It is expected that the necessary ratification by the shareholders will be quickly given.

MARY PICKFORD AFFORDED UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITIES

In "Through the Back Door" Mary Pickford's forthcoming United Artists' release, this clever little artist will be afforded an opportunity for the display of talent equalled only in such previous productions as "Dollyanna" and "Daddy Long Legs". This production will be at the Orpheum Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

It is the first picture in which Little Mary ever worked under the guidance of two directors, Alfred E. Green and Mary's brother Jack sponsored this production, and the result of their combined efforts is said to prove further the truth of the old adage, "Two heads are better than one".

The outstanding feature of "Through the Back Door" is the delightful comedy sequences scattered throughout the picture. In a little girl role Miss Pickford has a chance to become involved in innumerable complications all provocative of mirth, yet touched with that pathos which stamps this greatest of all ingenues as mistress of her art.

In addition to the clean, wholesome fun with which this feature abounds, there is found running through it a counterplot of gripping drama in which filial devotion becomes a dominant factor. The struggle of a child to win recognition from her mother and the seemingly insurmountable obstacles that intervene furnish the motivating impulse for the story. Professional blackmailers, a designing "other woman" a "misunderstood" husband and an "abused" wife all play their respective parts in this unusual photoplay which opens in picturesque Belgium, then jumps to Long Island and closes in business-like New York.

Johnnie—"Mother, I just seen--" Mother (reprovingly)—"Johnnie! Where is your grammar?" Johnnie—"I was trying to tell you, she's down at the barber shop getting her hair bobbed."

WHAT IS HAPPINESS?

Happiness I have discovered is nearly always a rebound from hard work. Happiness loves to see men at work. She loves self-sacrifice. She will be found not in palaces, but lurking in corn fields and factories and hovering over littered desks. She crowns the unconscious head of the busy child. If you look up suddenly from hard work you will see her, but if you look up too long she fades sorrowfully away.

What this country needs more than anything else is men that can think straight—men that can reach conclusions based on intelligence and knowledge. Not on ignorance and prejudice. The nation is crying for men that can neither be caught by the glittering spider web of Bolshevism nor blocked by the reactionary's wall of selfishness and stupid prejudice.

Mr. E. S. Langille informs us that he is getting excellent results on his radio. On Tuesday night he distinctly heard a message from Madrid, Spain, which is a station not often heard by radio fans on this side of the water. Mr. Langille says that a year ago he heard a message broadcasted from London, England.

Both the Kentville and Windsor hockey clubs have held organization meetings preparatory to the coming season, and will have teams in the Valley League. We have as yet heard nothing concerning Wolfville's prospects but we always have a team in the league and no doubt this winter will be no exception. It is true though that plans were being made.

THE ACADIAN has omitted to make suitable mention in its news columns heretofore of the new store recently opened here as a branch of Weaver's Kentville establishment. Entirely refitted and attractively arranged it presents a fine appearance and is becoming a popular resort of shoppers. The new store is a decided addition to the business establishment of Wolfville, and should succeed.

The new pharmacy which was opened in the Beakney Building on Monday presents a fine appearance and is a credit to its young proprietor, Mr. D. Ross Cochran. The store has been attractively fitted up and well stocked and will undoubtedly receive a full share of the public patronage. Mr. Cochran is a regularly qualified pharmacist, who has had considerable experience, and is cordially welcomed by THE ACADIAN to citizenship in our town.

At a special meeting of the Council, held recently it was decided to offer to the outside districts now contemplating the purchase of a fire engine and equipment free storage and care for the same in consideration of having the use of the equipment in the event of its being necessary. Since our last issue one girl, Ruth Pudsey, of Greenwich, has been fortunate enough to win one of our beautiful mink dolls, and has been made happy. Other girls are busy and hope to secure the coveted prize before Christmas. We have a new supply now on hand that are in no way inferior to those that have been given out. The girl who tries will hardly fail, and it given a little assistance by friends is pretty sure to secure a doll. Absolutely irrefutable to every one who procures five new subscriptions to THE ACADIAN and sends us the money therewith.

The weather, which has been unusually mild all through November, has developed quite a wintry aspect during the present week. There was quite a snowfall on Sunday morning, with many flurries since, and although not enough has yet come to make sleighing, runways have been in use. The roads all over the country are said to be in splendid condition for sleighing and motors are as much in evidence as at any time during the season. There is very little frost yet in the ground, however, and as the swamps and brooks are yet far from being filled with ice, scarcely be looked for yet.

CANADA BUYS LESS AND SELLS MORE TO UNITED STATES

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—Canada is buying less from and selling more to the United States than she was a year ago. In the twelve months ended October, imports from the United States were $534,000,000, a drop of $86,000,000 compared with a year ago. Exports to the United States were $418,000,000, a betterment of $7,000,000 over a year ago.

Canada's balance of trade with the United States therefore shows an improvement of $83,000,000.

STOCKINGS DISAPPEAR INTO SHOE TOPS; PARIS' NEWEST WRINKLE

The Paris fashion experts apparently believe the weather prophet's prediction of a hard winter, for high shoes are to be worn this year—so high that the tops reach the knees. The bottoms are of patent leather and the tops of fine smooth cloth, in fact so fine that it will be hard to see where shoe ends and stockings begin. Some of the shoes will be trimmed with a broad band of color running up the back from the heel to the hollow of the knee.

Silk stockings already have been discarded by many women except for indoor wear. They are replaced by woolen or silk-woolen in plaid, check or other elaborate designs. These fashionable woolen stockings are often more expensive than the finest silk.

THE ART OF AGRICULTURE

All hail the art, to which we owe White tr gives happiness below:

For should our agriculture stop, Society must shut up shop:

Our brightest elites and beaux must please

To dwell in caves and hollow trees;

On roots and acorns dine, like goats,

And sup on leaves and buds, like goats.

Woodchucks would burrow in the street,

And gaunt wolves prowled where merchants meet!

Churches by catamounts be haunted,

And gruff bears growl where hymns are chanted,

Owls hoot church airs with pipe sonorous,

And croaking crows caw caw the chorus!

Should cultivators fail, their fall Would implicate and ruin all;

For as old Atlas bears the pack Of all the heavens on his broad back,

So should the farmer bear his pains

The sublunary world sustains;

And if by some mischance he tumbles,

The whole wide world to ruin tumbles!

CLEANING TAPESTRY

For cleaning tapestry curtains and upholstery an improvement can be effected by the use of bran...

This mixture must be gently rubbed into the tapestry, care being taken to discard the bran when it shows signs of being dirty.

The bran will clean the material and through the addition of the salt a marked effect will be noticed on the colors.

CONCERNING RADIO WAVES

All types of waves, including heat, light, water, sound and radio, are produced in a medium which will vibrate or oscillate when disturbed. Waves are vibratory motion. When a stone is cast into a body of water the surface of the water is disturbed and waves are set in motion. When the vocal chords of a speaker vibrate the air is disturbed and waves of sound are created. The ether, an invisible, odorless, tasteless substance, is the medium in which radio waves travel. These electro-magnetic waves cannot be seen, neither can they be heard until transformed into sound at the receiving set.

Water waves explain the formation of the invisible radio waves. Picture a pond of smooth water as the ether of space. When a stone is thrown into the water it starts a series of ripples or waves which spread in all directions. The waves continually increase, but at a speed sufficient to cover only a few inches a second. If there are any little pieces of wood floating within range of the waves they bob up and down as the waves strike them. These bits of floating material may be contrasted to the radio receiving stations. Radio waves as well as the waves of light, heat and sound travel in ever-increasing circles. Incidentally, that is why the seats in a theatre are generally arranged in a semi-circle. The heat from a fire radiates in all directions from the source. The further one moves from the fire the less intense the heat. The waves of heat, light, sound, water and radio all become weaker with distance.

To produce radio waves it is necessary to have an electrical circuit carrying a vibrating, or to use the electrical term, an alternating current, which sets the waves in motion. The condenser, two or more sheets of metal separated by an insulating material called the dielectric, serves as the basis of radio transmission. One of the metallic plates acquires a positive charge of electricity and the other plate a negative charge. They are connected through a conducting wire and a discharge takes place giving rise to radio frequency currents or waves.

The antenna and ground form an enormous condenser. The antenna wire acts as one metallic plate, the ground as the other plate, with the air between serving as the insulating material or dielectric. In connection with the transmitting apparatus this condenser receives an electric charge which it then discharges, setting the ether in vibration, similar to the effect created by a stone dropped in a pond of water.

The microphone in a radio studio picks up music and sends it over the line to the apparatus room, where voice amplifier tubes give it increased strength; modulator tubes vary the current in accordance with the sound vibrations, and power tubes give it the impetus which sends radio frequency currents into the antenna system. The waves spread out from the antenna in all directions, increasing in diameter similar to water waves, but at the speed of light, 186,000 miles a second, equivalent to encircling the earth seven and one-half times in the tick of a watch.

The waves maintain a certain distance between each other. The distance from the crest of one wave to the crest of the wave ahead or preceding is called a wave length. If the distance from crest to crest is 360 meters, then the station is said to operate or broadcast on a wave length of 360 meters. A meter is equal to 39.37 inches. High-powered transatlantic stations transmit on a wave length several miles long, and one has a wave measuring fourteen miles from crest to crest.

Wave lengths are measured by an instrument called a wave-meter. Suppose you were in a boat anchored in a pond and that you counted the waves which passed and noted by a watch how many crests passed in a second. If five crests passed in a second it could be said that the frequency of the waves was five a second. After the speed of the waves is known the distance from crest to crest can be calculated. If the speed is ten feet a second, and five pass in a second, the length of the waves is ten divided by five, or two feet. The speed of radio waves is 300,000,000 meters a second. If the frequency with which the waves strike the antenna is known, the distance from crest to crest can be calculated.

The larger the stone and stronger the force which huris it into a pond the more will be the wave length. In radio, wave length has nothing to do with the power of the transmitter. The more amperes in the aerial circuit and the greater the pressure in volts between the aerial and ground, the more powerful will be the radio waves and the longer the distance covered.

When the Hertzian wave strikes an antenna in tune with its particular wave length a current similar to the transmitter current, but of decreased intensity, is induced in the wire. The tuning instruments of the receiving set place the station in tune with the incoming waves. That is, by varying the amount of wire on the coils and the capacity of the condensers the wave length of the receiver is made the same as that of the broadcasting station. The stations are then said to be in resonance, or in tune. The human ear cannot hear all frequencies—sounds which vibrate above and below the range of the ear. Frequencies below 10,000 cycles are known as audio frequencies because they are normally audible to the ear. All frequencies above 10,000 cycles are termed radio frequencies. It is the detector which converts the incoming high frequency wave to a frequency low enough to actuate the phones and produce sound audible to the human ear.

BOSTON IS HOCKEY MAD

Reports from Boston say that the people there have gone hockey mad. This is said to be due to a fact that the "Hub" is to be represented in the National Hockey League this season. There are thousands of Canadians in Boston and the vast majority of them are from the Maritime Provinces. The hope of seeing Canada's great winter pastime played there has created widespread interest. The Boston team will be made up of Canadians, and the Maritime Provinces will be undoubtedly represented in the line-up. The youth and young men in the States have never taken so seriously to the game and as a result they will have to rely on Canadians to uphold their prestige when the referee's whistle sounds and the puck is put in play. Hockey as played in Canada is exceptionally fast and thrilling and should make a great hit in the States. If the game becomes popular in Boston there is no doubt that Tex Richardson or other promoters will see to it that New York is represented next year.

DO YOU DRESS SUITABLY?

There are so many ways of dressing unsuitably that the chief pitfall rests in choosing clothes to suit your figure and your face.

Don't forget that if you are very tall, and want to minimize your height, you should never wear full skirts. They make a tall woman look enormous. Straight or simply draped gowns will suit you beautifully and the skirts should be a medium length.

In hats, a turban shape will be found the most becoming of all. This style suits practically all tall women. As regards shoes, it is not necessary to wear absolutely low heels, which make some feet look very clumsy. What is called a baby Louis heel is smarter and more shapely, and gives hardly any more height.

If you are very short, you should avoid low waistlines, though if you are slim as well the new waistless frocks will suit you beautifully.

A profusion of beads and jewellery, also, is not for the short woman—more than one or two pieces of jewellery will cause her to look overweighted. She should also avoid wide-brimmed hats, and costumes or suits that show a sharp

HOW TO SOLVE CROSSWORD PUZZLES
The method of solving crossword puzzles is very easily understood. The small numbers in the squares refer to the definition. Thus: No. 1 horizontal calls for a word that will answer the definition and at the same time fit into the number of white squares from No. 1 to the first black square at its right. No. 1 vertical calls for a word that will answer the definition and at the same time fit into the number of white squares from No. 1 downward to the first black square. When you have inserted the right words into all the white squares, the puzzle is solved. You will then find that all the words interlock.

The little woman should never attempt draperies, though frills and flounces will look charming on her. Her skirts should be short, but not extremely so, as this gives the awkward effect of an overgrown child.

The Hantsport Tennis Club held a most enjoyable dance in the Empire Theatre on Friday, a number coming from outside towns. Mr. Cyril Harris and Miss Pearl Dickson furnished the music.

Navigation on the Avon River is still open. The steamer Rotundus still makes her daily trip. Several large logs were taken down the river last week.

On Friday evening a grand rally was held by Court Rank, I.O.F., a large number of guests being present from Kentville, Wolfville, Windsor and Avonport. Splendid addresses were given by High Chief Ranger Youd, of Kentville, High Court Physician Dr. Shankel, Hantsport, and Mr. Hutley, Windsor. An excellent repast was served.

Miss Ethel Johnson, of St. Stephen, N. B., Vice President of the Rebekah Assembly made her official visit to Hantsport last Friday evening. During the evening Mrs. Alice Burns, recording secretary, was presented with a fifteen year veteran's jewel. The address was given by the District Deputy, Mrs. Rhoda Frizelle, while the jewel was pinned on by the Vice President who gave an exceptionally interesting address. At the close refreshments were served.

Mr. L. Rock was on a business trip to Halifax last week.

CELEBRATED FORTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

An event of more than usual interest took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glenn, Cheverie, Nov. 24th, the occasion being the fortieth anniversary of their wedding. Comparatively few persons have the honor and privilege of having spent half a century in wedded life and still be actively engaged in duties of the home.

The friends who gathered to offer their congratulations and carry the congratulations of others, who were not fortunate enough to be present, were entertained in the most heartiest manner which has made the hostess beloved among a very wide circle of friends.

Among the guests were Mrs. L. V. Masters, of Hantsport, and Mr. Roy Keeler, of Dartmouth, Mr. Keeler being a nephew of Mrs. Glenn's, while Mrs. Masters is a sister who was present at the time of the marriage. A large number of congratulatory messages by telephone, telegraph and letter were received during the afternoon and evening.

As has been intimated both Mr. and Mrs. Glenn are enjoying the best of health and their interests and activity extends beyond the home circle. Mrs.

Glenn has been an earnest worker in Temperance organizations, Women's Institute and is widely known throughout the province in church and Sunday school work. Their friends at home and those at a distance wish Mr. and Mrs. Glenn many more years of happiness and usefulness.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn are the parents of eight children, six of whom are living: the oldest son, Capt. Charles Glenn, of the United Fruit Co. Grant, for some years fireman in the night force of the U. S. Navy Yard; McLain and Ralph, of the firm of Damn & Glenn machinists, Boston; Bessie Mrs. Splane St. John, N. B.; Maude Mrs. Brown, Boston. Though unable to be present all sent loving remembrances.

CLERGY READY FOR PROPOSED CHURCH UNION

Windsor District Ministers Make First Declaration of Intention of Methodist Clergy in Province

At the Quarterly Meeting of the Windsor District of the Methodist Church held at Hantsport last Friday, a resolution was unanimously adopted in which the ministers of the District expressed their intention of becoming ministers of the United Church of Canada, on June 10, 1925. This is the first action of this nature on the part of Methodist ministers in this Province, and it is expected that the ministerial members of all the other districts of this conference will immediately take the same step.

The resolution was signed by all the ministers. The morning session was occupied by the presentation and discussion of three papers on the subject of Religious Education. These were "Aims and Methods of Week-day Religious Education," by Rev. C. A. Munro, of Newport; "Teaching the Bible to Children in the light of Modern Knowledge," by Rev. D. B. Hemmeon, D.D., of Wolfville; and "The Place of the Pastor in Religious Education," by Rev. W. A. Burbridge, of Grand Pre.

The afternoon session was devoted to a round-table discussion of the problems of Evangelism, led by Rev. F. E. Barrett, President of Conference and Chairman of the District.

CANADIAN APPLES KING OF THEM ALL

Canada has taken a foremost place in the apple-growing world. Awards made at the Imperial Fruit Show in London, England, and at every other Show at which exhibits have been made, prove this beyond a shadow of doubt. In flavor and palatability the Canadian-grown apple has no superior. An interesting and a travel-getting-up book published by the Fruit Branch at Ottawa, and obtainable at the Publications Branch, in establishing these facts, outlines the produce of what is termed "the King of fruits" in the country as a whole, and in each of the apple growing provinces, gives details of the Fruit Act relative to the grading of apples, describes their food value, and supplies upwards of a hundred recipes for making sauces, butter, concoctions of various sorts, pies, puddings, relishes, salads, etc., in which the apple is the principal ingredient. Whether fresh, dried, evaporated, or canned, or used in any way, apple, the food of the people, is a wholesome food, easily prepared, attractive, and palatable at all times. It furnishes mineral salts and organic acids, it possesses important nutritive value, and has medicinal virtue also, especially if eaten at the beginning of the meal or between meals. It is not difficult to agree with the remark that "no housewife should be without a box or barrel of Canadian-grown apples." To facilitate stocking up in this manner, a statement is furnished in the

TODAY'S RELIGION

Religion is telling the truth in a trade, Without even counting the cost, And having the courage to stand by the right, Though fortune and friends may be lost.

Religion is 36 inches per yard, And 16 full ounces per pound, And 60 whole minutes of other men's time, Not watching those minutes roll round.

Religion is meeting the world with a smile, Then bringing a bright smile back home, A joy to the loved ones who wait for your step, No matter how far you may roam.

Religion is turning your back on the wrong, With a prayer in your heart to do right, Then stepping forth boldly to conquer yourself, With your face ever facing the light.

Religion is giving a bright word or more, To those whose dark clouds hide their sun, If you've got the kind of religion I mean, You will hear the Great Master's "Well done!" —Marsh-Weiss "Zenith".
