Dr. Wild was assailed last evening, "S.S." asked if the baptism of a child by a woman at the salvation army barracks was proper. The answer was that a baptism was right. Whether given by a man or a woman; in a barracks or a church if their spirit and purpose was right. "A Listener," who thought the Germans belonged to the Lost Ten Tribes as much as England, on account of their both belonging to the Aryan race formerly, was told that while they probably were not of the house of Israel, they were to co-operate with England in carrying out the designs of God. "A. H." was instructed as to the creed of the congregational church, which includes a belief in the inchurch, which includes a belief in the inspiration of the bible; God as creator, the death of Christ and his atonement, the existence of the Trinity, eternal life

it. With the statement of those ideas, he would turn to some of the views that have been held touching the application of this great policy to man. John Calvin ventured into a new path of theological interpretation by promulgating five points—distinctive from all other dectrines of his day. Here the dector took occasion to criticize the recent lecture on Calvinism delivered by Prof. McLaren, which he asserted was extravagant and inwhich he asserted was extravagant and in-correct in its tone. He thought the profes-sor did not honor Calvin by his defence of his points, while he did great injustice to the Armenians. He calls his own views

The fourth point was "Irresistable Grace."
The doctor wished it were so; that God's grace resting on a man would be all—con-trolling and all—compelling. But we can resist God, our freedom allowing us to do so. "There never was such a thing as irresistable

There never was such a thing as irresistable grace," he concluded.

The fifth point of final perseverance was briefly touched upon. There is no evidence of it on the human side, he averred. They quote Paul's statement that nothing can separate us from the love of God, but they forthere is no evidence to the statement of the sta get that man can separate himself from God. It is the privilege and within the range of every man that he may persevere to the end, however.

THE SERMON.

Text—"Having made known unto us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure which he hath purposed in himself."—Echesians, 10th chap., 9: hv.

The doctor commenced his discourse by instituting a comparison between the leaders of earthly governments whose duty it is to promulgate policies and God, who, as leader of his wonderful government, has announced the great policy of redemption through the death of Christ. This policy ne thought showed that God was no respecter of persons, nor did he wonder that heaven and earth rejoiced when it was made known to mankind. His reason forbade his limiting this redemption. It was enough to wonder that men chose to refuse it. With the statement of those ideas, he would turn to some of the views that have been held touching the large grain elevator there, are many the city and other property.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 .- The consecration of the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Potter as assist. ant bishop of the diocese of New York took place to-day in Grace church. The ceremonial was probably the most imposing that has ever taken place at a consecration of a bishop of the protestant episcopal church in this country. Forty bishops and over 600 clergymen took part in the services. Bishop Williams of Connecticut came last in the procession. Bishop Smith of Kentucky, presiding bishop of the church and consecrator, was too feeble to take part in the procession and did not enter the church until the hour for service to begin, of the control of the committee. The Toronto World has always shown itself to be a terror to all sorts of slippery characters. It is no respector of persons where anything of a fraudulent obscacter where anything of a fraudulent obscacter.

From the Woodstock Sen such societies are thoroughly unsound. They go upon false principles, and are organized for the benefit of manipulators only. The liberal bounties paid in the early history of their existence are like baits to catch the public. These, indeed, may be regarded as so much money spent in advertising. We do not believe that any marriage aid association will last long. They are good societies to keep away from.

THE MINISTRY OF EDUCATION.

it cannot be much longer postponed. To think of facing an opposition as strong in numbers and ability as the one led by Mr. Meredith, with the most important port folio in the cabinet in the hands of an inva-Iid colleague, would be suicidal. We have no doubt that the government could weather the session, but they would come out of it with greatly diminished prestige, and no premier can afford to make such a sacrifice under such circumstances. If Mr. Mowat is willing to risk it, his supporters should give him to understand that they are not, and should insist on the education department being at once placed under the charge of one who is capable both of administering it well and of defending his administration to be an absolute necessity we repeat our strong conviction that Mr. Mowat's wisest policy is to take the educational portfolio himself, promote Mr. Fraser to the attorney generalship, and take a second layman into his cabinet as commissioner of public works. This charge would be popular for several reasons. It would give the province a wise, confidence that the abolition of the educational portfolio would soon cease to be agi tated; for the people have no real desire to see the education department erected into an irresponsible bureau, and the clamor for such an anachronism would never have been raised but for the vacillating and irritating manner in which educational affairs have would bring into deserved promine nember of the cabinet who has been kept too long in a position which precludes him from giving the government the full benefit of his great administrative and forensic ability. And it would afford Mr. Mowat a chance of yielding gracefully to the not unreasonable demand that the overwhelming preponder ance of lawyers in his cabinet should be reduced. The public works department is one peculiarly suited for being administered by a layman, and it would not be hard to find one with the necessary ability to undertake the task. Since we first made the suggestion that the inevitable reconstruction of the cabinet should take this form several Ontario journs have noticed it, not one on either side, so far as we are aware, saying anything sgains it. We did not expect much to be said in its favor, for most of our contemporaries are party organs, and while those on the one side are afraid of helping Mr. Mowat, those on the other are afraid of embarrassing him by expressing an honest opinion. In making our suggestion we have been actuated solely by a demand to promote the public good. We accept the Mowat administration as fixture for four years to come and we want to see it put in a position to work as advantageously as possible in the public interest. We attach more importance to the education department than to any other, and we believe Mr. Mowat himself to be the man best suited for taking charge of it.

BLIND TO ITS OWN FAULTS. Globe of Saturday: Parties in the United States are at present in a transition state. The causes passed away into the limbo of dead issues. The enasm of other times has disappeared. It is now a fight chiefly of office holders and trading politicians, and greatly if not exclusively over the spoils It that is a true picture of the situation among our neighbors, it is equally true of Canada. And the best proof of it lies in the columns of the Globe and Mail and the lesser party organs. The way in which the grit papers hailed Sir John Macdonald's unseating in Lennox, and the way the Mail tries to make capital out of the Dakota investments of Messis. Pardee and Hardy, is the proof of it. The political writings and speeches of the day having little in view but spoils. Why can't the Globe learn the lesson for itself that it tries to teach the Americans?

THE PLANETS AND THE PUBLIC WELFARP. About four years ago there appeared in the public newspapers in the different parts of the world startling statements regarding pertain anticipated astronomical phenomens, which attracted general attention and would even appear to have received investigation at the hands of the more prominent scientific men of Lurope and America. It was asserted that the arrival of their perihelion, at nearly the same time, of the four great But try to start a new telephone company, outer planets-Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Nentune-which was to occur between 1881 and 1887, was an event fraught with in fact, predicted for the years in question the occurrence of violent earthquakes and volcanic eruptions, tidal waves of unexampled extent and floods of devastating capacity, epidemics of physical disease and epidemics of moral disorder. THE COTTON MANUFACTURERS' ASSO-

Immediately it was known that the cotton manufacturers had formed themselve into an association a number of our contem poraries opened fire upon them all along the line. It appeared to be taken for granted that this action on their part was something unwarrantable and outrageous-something that the community had a right to resen and punish. This combination of theirs, was assumed, could mean nothing else than monopoly. Now, we trust it is pretty well understood by this time that The World is no supporter of monopoly in any form, hav-If the Mail will turn up The World of ing always been particularly outspoken March 14 last it will find a column and a against it. But on the subject of the alleged half of small type, embracing 147 extracts cotton monopoly we have not been able to agree with our free trade contemporaries. extracts were the daily statement of the On this question we venture to take two Mail in regard to Federal bank shares, and positions, one affirmative and the other negative, both of which we feel quite confident

Those who would deny them this right had better take care what they are committing themselves to, and the indefensible position into which their own logic must draw them. Deny the right of cotton manufacturers to combine, and what becomes of the same right on the part of cotton operatives, or other bodies of working men? The right of working men to combine has just been very ably maintained in England by Mr. Frederic Harrison and others, who have been showing the good that trades unions have accomplished during the last few decades. The time was when the right that we were not influenced by any motive of workmen to form unions was denied by but the public good. We disclam any the masters, but that period has long feeling of religious prejudice and would just passed, in England at all events. At the as soon expose a wilful breach of the law time of the telegraphers' strike The World on the part of any protestant denomination made it a main charge against the Western as if perpetrated by our catholic fellow cit- Union directors that they had refused to izens, and if any of the latter feel grieved recognize the operators' union, whereas in at the exposure let them not blame us, but England such recognition has long been rather those who have given the scandal of a thing settled, and is not now disputed by selling intoxicating drinks at church test the wealthiest and proudest employers in tivals and pionics contrary both to law and the land. Now it may appear to morals, a practice which we again assert is some that it ought to be a profit and a christian welcome. But nobody found any fault with them; somehow or other they escaped censure altogether. Perhaps it was because they kept so quiet about it, their meetings

being generally held in a hotel parlor, with enorters and outsiders strictly excluded. Our rext position is a negative one; we plumply and squarely deny the possibility monopoly in the cotton manufacture. Monopoly there may be, and actually is, in railways and telegraphs, simply because the number of lines, of either, is limited by the difficulty of getting charters, capital, right of way, &c., with good prospects of success in the fight which new companies have to face. But there is no limit to the number of cotion mills that may be established, it only the money wanted can be obtained. Capitalists might form new companies, and put up several cotton factories in both Toronto and Hamilton, for instance. But let them try to build and run another railway between the two cities, and they would find it a very different matter. Suppose that there existed something like monopoly in the grocery business, in Toronto, we might expect to see very shortly such a starting up of new shops as would speedily correct the evil. and you will quickly find that to be "s horse of another color." Sign: In your issue of Oct. 18 I noticed paragraph that a special train to Woodoridge on the previous day was delayed "on ecount of Grand Trunk obstructions." In regard to this allow me to say that no intimation was sent to me by the officials of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce railway of their intention to run this special train. If such had been done arrangements would have been made by me for its prompt despatch. I venture to suggest therefore that the blame of delay can hardly be a tributed to this company. EDMUND WRAGGE,

To the Edito of The World. SIR: Is there no one to plead for the unhappy girl just condemned to be hanged for infanticide at Hamilton. Of course the tender maternal heart yearns over the infant: but does it not also mourn over and sympathise with the unhappy mother? The average representative of the class is impecuations, yet prodigal, radical in principle, yet conservative in practice—'tis a benison to society and to himself that a heavy course of professional studies is just about sufficient to engross all his time and vigorous energies and leave him but little leisure to resent the anathemas of society as vigorously hurled at him. Why is he held in such mal-repute, I wonder? for from the ranks of the students of to-day is he held in such mal-repu'e, I wonder? for from the ranks of the students of to-day soon must step the sage professors of the future—the legislator and statesman, who, from the crude material of territory must build the fame of empire—the judges for the bench, the courcil for the bar, the chemist for the laboratory, the lecturer for the lecture hall; and all other efficient holders of eminent positions, for, slowly the old men of to-day are stepping off the stige, and the students who follow them must of necessity fill their places. After such a metamorphosis they'll be regarded indiffurently, wont they? and may have an opportunity of balancing accounts with the world.

The Drunkard's Responsibility

The Rev. Mr. McLeod preached a temperance sermon last evening in the Central presbyterian church, his text being chosen from the 30th and 31st verses of the 15th chapter of Numbers. In the text and context distinction was established between sinning through ignorance and sinning pre-sumptuously or "with a high hand," as it is sumptuously or "with a high hand," as it is in the margin and ought to be in the text. The sermon was in the main an enforcement of the scriptural doctrine of the heavy re-sponsibility of the drunkard for his besetsin. For him to plead ignorance is im-ible from the very nature of the case; possible from the very nature of the case; that plea cannot for a moment be entertained. He sins presumptuously and with a high hand. It was possible that harm may have been cone by the too common processes the common cannot be the cannot be called a cannot be ca error on the temperance platform of putting the responsibility too much on brewers, distillers and liquor dealers and too little on the drunkard himself. The drunkard should never be encouraged to imagine that others are responsible for his sins as thereby his own accountability would be diminished. The dread truth of the scripture was that God holds the drunkard a presumptuous sinner, one who knowingly and with a high hand defies his law. On this point the word of God was most emphatic in both the old testament and the new, and sinners should lay it to heart.

A motion of regret at the departure of Rev. Dr. King from the city was unani mously carried, and a committee appointed to tender the same to the reverend gentleman. A motion was offered and carried by Mr. R. Lewis, requesting that the public school board employ professional oculists to determine to what extent short-sightedness and other defections of the eye exists among the pupils in the public schools of the city..

The following are the days on which the court of revision will consider appeals against assessments, a day being appointed for hear ing the appeals from each ward: St. John's ward on the 26th, St. David's the 29th, St. Thomas' the 30th, St. Andrew's the 31st, St. Patrick's Nov. 1, St. Lawrence the 2d, St. Stephen's the 5th, St. George's the 6th, James' the 7th and St. Paul's the 9th. The appeals from St. Paul's ward should rightly be heard on the 8th, but this being the date of thanksgiving day the court will have to adjourn over.

The Adelaide Rink

The attendance at the Adelaide street rink on Saturday was larger than ever. Everyone was delighted with the performance and the best of order was preserved. Next week all the old attractions will be presented and west—Morehouse & Godson's old and their whereabouts is unknown, all the old attractions will be presented and several new ones, including the Zulus, whose throwing of the assegai is said to be a thrilling performance. Among the visitors on Saturday was Dr. Wild, who expressed nimself highly pleased with the entertain-

A DOG'S TERRIBLE DEED.

A Little Daughter of Mr. James Bethune, Q. C., Nearly Killed. There was the greatest kind of excitement around the residence of Mr. James Bethune, Q. C., at Adelaide and John streets, about home a vagrant Newfoundland dog, which was tied up in the woodshed. At the hour named yesterday the brute broke out of the shed, and came round to the front of the house. A nurse and a little 3-year—old girl were walking on the verendah. Without a moment's warning, the dog jumped upon the verandah and seized the child in his ponderous and savage jaws.

The little one was dragged to the gr where the brute commenced to bite her in the most horrible manner on the back of the left thigh and leg. The nurse ran to his cane and managed to drive him off, but the brute several times came very nearly getting the best of the resouer. He opened his mouth and barked in the opened his mouth and barked in the most ferocious manner. A couple of neighbors hearing the noise came out with revolvers. The dog meanwhile ran round to the wood shed, and putting his head through a window displayed renewed ferocity. No less than fourteen bullets were put into his head and body, but they were found a mall calibra that they did not seem of such small calibre that they did not seem to effect the animal very much. He kept on barking and biting. Dr. Temple of 191
Simose street was among those who gathered round, and he started on a run to his residence and procured bis double-barrelled breech-loader. Meeting a policeman they breech-loader. Meeting a potection they hurried b.ck. The policeman walked up to the wood shed, put the mouth of the gun up to the dog's head and blowed him to eternity in a second. To a World reporter Dr. Temple described the savagery of the animal as something hardly ever seen in the canine species. He stated that the little one way year severely but not pecessarily one was very severely but not recessarily fatally bitten. He did not think the dog was mad. The scene attending the sad event was one rarely witnessed in this or any
