OF all the holidays of the year, Christmas and Easter stand more prominently on the page of history than any others.
Throughout all the initiations and vicissitudes that have entered into the world's history during the past two thousand years, the two festivals that commemorate respectively the birth and the resurrection of the Man of Nazareth still shine with a luster that remains unfaded after a lapse of twenty centuries.

THE NEW TRINITY CHURCH, WATFORD.

CHURCH DEDICATION

The New Trinity Church, Watford, will be Dedicated and Opened for Service
March 30th.

The New Trinity Church will be opened and dedicated to God's service on Sunday, March 30th, 1913, when three services will be held. At 11 a. m., His Lordship the Bishop of Huron will dedicate the building and preach. He will also preach at the evening service. In the afternoon, Rev. Roger Howard will preach. There will be special music at all services and the choir will appear vested for the first time.

For the benefit of readers at a distance,
a short description of the building and furnishings is given.

The building is a fine structure built of red pressed brick on medusa cement blocks which show six feet above the level. It is situated on the corner of Main and St. Clair streets, on the lot where the home of the late George Howard stood. The building is 34x65 with tower 10x10 extending on the south east corner. The roof is slate. Entering at four several stairs lead up to the church proper, and stairs down lead to the schoolroom. Entering the church one is deeply impressed by the beauty of the building and the richness of the windows and furnishings. The ceiling is of narrow Georgian pine, of natural color, and is divided into 26 panels. At night the building is brilliantly lighted by twenty-four 40 c. tungsten lamps, eight in the ceiling and the rest bracketed on the walls. The upper portion of the walls are painted a light drab, the lower part a shir blue, the decorations are black and gold and the doors and sills grained.
There are two side aisles and a centre
aisle, which together with the chancel are richly carpeted. The seats have quarter-cut oak ends on each of which is carved a malted cross. They were made by Wm. Smith & Co., Cheshire. The windows, 26 in number (20 of them twins) are all made of richest stained glass. The three chancel windows were placed by the Rev. O. W. Howard, of Montreal, and Rev. R. S. W. Howard, of Chatham, in memory of their parents
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Howard and uncle,
Mr. Lawson Williams. These windows are after the English style and were manufactured by the MacCaustland Co., of Toronto. The subject of the windows is "Feed My Lambs." On north side of the nave is a window in memory of John and Ann Haverly, erected by their daughter, Mrs. C. A. Class. The subject of this window is "Behold I stand at the door and knock." Next to this is the Daughters of the King window, elaborate
in design, bearing the words "Harken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine ear." On the south side of the building Mrs. Thomas Woods has placed two windows in memory of her husband.
The subjects of these are "Gethsamene"
and "The Good Shepherd." Next to these is a window, the subject of which is "Consider the Lilies," erected in memory of the late Peter Dodds by his family. At the east end of the building are three windows, the large centre one being placed by Mrs. D. S. Childs, of Flint, Mich., in memory of her parents,
Clark and Sarah Vanancken. The subject is "St. Cecilia." The subject matter of the smaller supporting windows are
"Cross and Crown" and
"Bible and Dove." The remaining windows are of cathedral glass, and all (except the chancel) were manufactured by the Hobbs Hardware Co., of London.

The chancel furnishings are very imposing. The altar rail, lectern and pulpit box stand are of heavy, burnished
brass, and were presented to the church
by Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Howden, of London. The polished brass prayer desk is the gift of Miss Isabel Harris, of Welland, and her sister Miss Kate Harris, of Watford. On it rests a large prayer book, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. T. A.
Adams, who also gave the two brass offeratory plates. The credence table, made of oak, and the handsome book-
markers, are the gifts of Rev. and Mrs.
W. M. Shore, of Warwick. On the rear
table are two heavy brass flower vases,
the gift of Mrs. (Dr.) James of Sarnia.
The engraved brass alms basin (imported from England) is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Harris. The altar service-books are the gift of Mrs. Henry Conn, of Sarnia, and the elaborate altar frontal

was given by Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Brown.
All the brass work was made by the Dennis Iron and Wire Co., of London.
On the left of the chancel is the vestry
from which stairs descend to the basement. On the right of the chancel is the organ chamber containing the pipe organ, an instrument of very pure tone and considerable volume. The church has a seating capacity of 280.

The basement school room is 31x46 feet with 10 1/2 ft. ceiling, and is a bright and pleasant room. It is not yet furnished but will be in time for the opening. The building is heated with a large Kelsey Warm Air Generator, put in by the Howden Est.

The contractors were Henry Hume and Arthur Higgins. Wm. Marwick did the brick and cement work, and London
slaters were engaged to do the slating.
T. Dodds & Son did the tinwork, glass-work and eave-troughing, and E. J.
Hughes the painting and decorating.

The building is complete in every particular and is probably the handsomest and best furnished church of its size in Western Ontario.

The Brooke branch of the Women's Institute held a very successful meeting at the home of Mrs. A. McIntyre on resentation of the ladies of the district was present. The president, Mrs. Campbell, presided, and introduced a varied and interesting program. Miss Mary Fisher gave an excellent paper on "Systematic Housecleaning," which was indeed very appropriate at this season of the year. An instrumental solo by Mrs.

McGregor, and a vocal solo by Mrs.
W. S. Shugg, were much enjoyed. An interesting and instructive paper on "The duties of the Daughter of the Home,"
was given by Mrs. D. McDonald. Little Marguerite Fisher gave a nice recitation which was highly commended upon by all the ladies present. After a fine lun-

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

NEW SILKS, new dress goods, new coats for Easter.—A. BROWN & CO.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Synod of Huron last Thursday, permission was granted Trinity Church, Watford, to sell the old church property and apply the proceeds toward the new building. The old church has been sold to Mr. Wm. Marwick, who will raise it next month.

The Kellogg-Haines Company are putting on a new play this season which is meeting with much favorable comment
everywhere. You will have an opportunity of hearing them in the Lyceum on Thursday evening, March 27th. Plan of hall at McLaren's drug store.

PETER MARTHUR has been notified
to appear before the committee of banking and commerce at Ottawa as representative of the Farmer's Advocate. The committee is at present dealing with the Bank Act, and a number of those who have been criticising the banking system
have been called to give testimony.

The Department of Education has issued the timetable for the annual examinations in June. Students enrolled in the middle and upper schools will begin on June 12, and will finish their work on the 30th. The lower school and Model and High school entrance examinations will be concluded on June 15.
All work will cease before the 1st of July.

This is the time of year you want new shoes. We would ask you to call and see our spring and summer stock, which is now complete. We keep everything from the heaviest farm boot to a ball-room
pump, and our prices are always a shade lower than elsewhere.—P. DODDS & SON.

The Village of Watford has a $4,450 sidewalk debenture for sale, bearing interest at 5 per cent., payable in 20 equal, annual installments of principal and in-the bank drawing only three per cent.

W. S. Fuller, town clerk, will furnish full particulars. m7-tf

Who can feel pessimistic and gloomy
this glorious weather? Surely the warm sunshine of these beautiful spring days
stirs the blood of even the most sluggish to a desire for action. Let us all work hand in hand and shoulder to shoulder
for a greater Watford and a greater Lambton. Forget your grouches and suspicions and lend a helping hand to the good work.

SOME LEADERS: Sherwin-Williams
Paints for inside or outside painting.
Laquerette for floor or furniture. Elas-tica for linoleums, oil cloths or stained floors. Muresco for walls and ceilings.
Sold only at HOWDEN'S.

DAILY, everywhere, there bobs up a young man, little and stately, with clean cut face and clear eyes, whom you are inclined to put down as a "perfect specimen of humanity" until he opens his mouth—and betrays a lack of manners.
As soon as this young man begins to speak you become aware that he is not a gentleman, but a "gent" in all that the word implies in the vocabulary of the street corner.

LADIES' Easter gloves.—SWIFT, SONS & CO.

Mr. HOLLAND Sarnia, president of the Amalgamated Boards of Trade of Lambton, was in Watford on Friday evening last and gave an informal talk in the Lyceum to members of the local Board of Trade. He outlined some of the ways in which united action of the Boards would be beneficial to the welfare of the county at large and also to individual sections. He was attentively listened to and his remarks much appreciated by those present.

At the last meeting of Havlock Lodge No. 238, A. F. & A. M., a pleasing incident took place in the presentation to the Lodge of a beautiful steel engraving (framed in Circassian walnut) of W. Bro.
Dr. N. J. Lindsay, of Calgary. Dr. Lindsay, who left Watford for the West about 1883, is one of the oldest surviving Masters of Havlock Lodge, having filled that office in 1878. He was always an enthusiastic worker in the society. The portrait was graciously accepted by the W. M., in a few well chosen words, and the secretary requested to forward a proper acknowledgement to Bro. Lindsay. The presentation was made by R. W. Bro.
James Newell.

TWO WOMEN TESTIFY

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Their Health—Their own Statements Follow.

Hallburton, P.E.I.:—"I had a doctor examine me and he said I had falling of the womb, so I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. All the bearing-down pains have vanished. I have gained ten pounds in weight, the discharge is all gone, and I feel better than I have for a long time. I think any woman is foolish to suffer as I did for the sake of a few dollars.

"You can use my letter as a testimonial. It may encourage other poor women who suffer as I did to use your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. GEO. COLLAUTT, Hallburton, Lot 7, P.E.I.

Read What This Woman Says:
New Moorefield, Ohio.—"I take great pleasure in thanking you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had bearing down pains, was dizzy and weak, had pains in lower back and could not be upon my feet long enough to get a meal. As long as I laid on my back I would feel better, but when I would get up those bearing down pains would come back, and the doctor said I had female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only medicine that helped me and I have been growing stronger ever since I commenced to take it. I hope it will help other suffering women as it has me. You can use this letter."—Mrs. CASSIE LLOYD, New Moorefield, Clark Co., Ohio.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The Middleton anti-treating bill introduced into the Michigan Legislature, not only prohibits treating in saloons and barrooms, but makes it the duty of bartenders and proprietors to refuse drinks to those seeking to treat friends. It provides a penalty of a fine of from $10 to $50 for the first offence; $50 fine or 90 days in jail for the second offence; and for the third offence the license of the saloon in which the "have one on me" ceremony takes place can be cancelled.

More towns die for want of confidence on the part of business men and lack of public spirit than any other cause. When a man in search of a home or a business location gets into a town and finds everything brim full of hope and enthusiasm of the prospects of the place, and all earnestly at work to build it up, he soon becomes imbued with the same spirit, and as a result he drives down stakes and goes to work with the same interest. When, however, he goes to a town where everyone expresses doubt and apprehension for the future prosperity of the place, moping about and indulging in mournful complaints, he naturally feels that it is no place for him, and he at one shakes the dust off his feet while he pulls out with all possible speed for some other place. Consequently try and make a live, enterprising town out of the one in which you live. When you are working for or saying a good thing for your town you are accomplishing all the more for yourself.

One of the saddest things in rural Ontario is the neglected cemetery to be found here and there in every district. Broken and over-turned tombstones, weeds and undergrowth, sometimes down fences and stock running among the graves, make up a sad picture. Surely the living owe something more than this to the dead. A little money, a little time, a little thought of duty is all that is required to remedy past neglect. A high-class funeral, a mountain of expensive flowers, new black clothes and much crepe, the ornate church service, a flood of tears more or less prolonged, a costly monument and—then utter neglect of the sacred spot where the dead sleep. Plenty of time for all social, commercial and political gatherings, but no time to get together and do something for the decent upkeep of the place where our dear ones lie. Shame upon us who are guilty and let us awaken to our duty in this regard.—Ridgetown Dominion.

MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM SUBDUED.—When one is a sufferer from muscular rheumatism he cannot do better than to have the region rubbed with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. There is no oil that so speedily shows its effect in subduing pain. Let the rubbing be brisk and continue until ease is secured. There is more virtue in a bottle of it than can be fully estimated.

HABITS ARE TYRANTS.

Changing Them Too Suddenly Is Apt to Produce Bad Results.
Those who form sudden resolutions to break off their habits, no matter whether they are good or bad, may be laying themselves open to an illness.

A man who for the last twelve years has made a rule of spending one week of his holiday each year in bed departed from the custom last year and for the first time throughout that period had an illness which kept him from business. The human body can shape itself to practically any conditions or habits, but if those conditions are discontinued suddenly one is almost sure to be ill.

In fact, it is the opinion of a well known physician that any kind of habit is bound to "hit back" if it be discontinued too abruptly. No man can suddenly switch off meat to a vegetable diet, for instance, and remain well. Here is a common instance of how the body adapts itself to environment. A man is kept to his bed for two or three weeks. When he gets up he finds it difficult to walk for the first day or two. He puts down this trouble to weakness. But his legs are not really weaker. It is simply that their mechanism is upset.

De Quincey is a notable example of the way habits become chains, which, if broken, bring illness and often death. The famous writer had accustomed himself to taking four ounces of opium a day. He would certainly have died if he stopped this daily dose.—London Mirror.

OLD TIME TRAINED NURSES.

Removing and Burying the Dead Was Part of Their Duties.

In their "History of Nursing" the authors, Miss Nutting and Miss Dock, quote from an article written in 1764 which gives an insight into what was required of the trained nurse in the eighteenth century. The article says:

"This occupation is as important for humanity as its functions are low and repugnant. All persons are not adapted to it, and the heads of hospitals ought to be difficult to please, for the lives of patients may depend upon their choice of applicants. The nurse should be patient, mild, compassionate. She should console the sick, foresee their needs and relieve their tedium.

The domestic duties of the nurse are to light the fires in the wards and keep them going, to carry and distribute nourishment, to accompany the surgeons and doctors on their rounds and afterward to remove all dressings, etc.; to sweep the halls and wards and keep the persons of the patients and their surroundings clean, to empty all vessels and change the patients' linen, to prevent noise and quarrelling and disturbances, to notify the steward of everything they see which is wrong, to carry out the dead and bury them, to light the lamps in the evening and visit the sick during the night and to watch them continually, giving them every aid which their state requires and treating them with kindness and consideration."

A CUNNING WAGER.

It Looked Like a Sure Loser, but Was Really Easy Money.

There was a queer bet, one that seemed somewhat foolhardy, made by a politician a few weeks before the election in 1906, when it was apparent that McKinley would sweep the country.

He had been approached by a man who offered to make a "majority" wager. "I'll tell you what I'll do," the politician replied. "I'll bet you $50 that I can write down the names of thirty states that McKinley will carry."

The man snapped up the bet eagerly, and the politician wrote the list of names and gave them to a friend to keep, sealed, until the day after election.

"Now," he said, "just to show you how big a cinch McKinley has, I will bet you $500 that I can name ten additional states that he will carry."

The man who took the first bet jumped at the second chance, feeling certain that forty states would not go Republican.

When the election was over and the votes counted the envelopes were opened. In the list of thirty states the politician had named all the solid south and the doubtful states. He lost $50. But in the list of ten he named states that did not go Democratic in twenty years until the election of 1912.—Louisville Times.

An industrial electrician of Rotterdam, Holland, has hit upon the device of making a two-year-old cheese in a day. He subjects fresh cheeses to the action of an alternating current through which fresh cheeses, after twenty-four hours, have all the properties of cheese quite old. It is expected that further experiment will enable the manufacturer so to graduate and direct electrical action of this nature as to give various cheeses any taste and consistency required by a fastidious market.

ASTHMA VICTIMS. The man or woman subject to asthma is indeed a victim. What can be more terrifying than to suddenly be seized with paroxysms of choking which seem to fairly threaten the existence of life itself. From such a condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought many to completely restored health and happiness. It is known and prized in every section of this broad land.

For the Bowels

If you only knew as much as we and those who have used them know about Rexall Orderlies, you would be as enthusiastic about recommending them as we are. They taste just like candy. They act so easily and so pleasantly that the taking of them is a pleasure.

Even children like Rexall Orderlies; and you know that if a medicine appeals to a child, it will appeal to grown-ups.

Rexall Orderlies

help chase gloom, dispel blues and make you feel happy by their splendid tonic, cleansing and strengthening effect upon the bowels.—They act to free the system—and keep it free—from the distress and ill feeling that naturally results from irregular and inactive bowels.

Rexall Orderlies do this quietly, without griping or causing nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They act to overcome and remove the cause of bowel ills and in a short time usually make unnecessary the continued use of physics and purgatives, thus tending to stop such unhealthy habits as may have been formed.

Make us Prove This

We do not ask you to take our word for this. We want you to make us prove it, and at no cost to you.

Buy a box of Rexall Orderlies at our store. Use them once, or use up the whole box. Then, if you are not thoroughly satisfied, just come back empty handed and tell us. Without obligating you or questioning you we will return the money you paid us for them.

Doesn't that indicate that Rexall Orderlies are at least worthy of trial? Doesn't it prove our faith in them? Doesn't it merit your confidence? Could any offer be more fair to you?

We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children, delicate and aged persons. Rexall Orderlies come in convenient, vest-pocket size tin boxes, 12 tablets, 10c; 35 tablets, 25c; 80 tablets, 50c.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores. You can buy Rexall Orderlies in this community only at our store:

Concrete is the best building material

A BROAD statement—Yet literally true. The aim of man from the beginning has been to make his building materials as nearly like natural stone as possible. The great labor required to quarry stone led him to seek various manufactured substitutes. The only reason he ever used wood was that it was easiest to get and most convenient to use. Wood is no longer easy to get. Like most building material, its cost is increasing at an alarming rate. The cost of concrete is decreasing. So, from the standpoint of either service or economy, Concrete is the best building material. Canada's farmers are using more concrete, in proportion to their numbers, than the farmers of any other country. Why? Because they are being supplied with a cement of the highest possible quality, which insures the success of their concrete work.

Canada Cement —

The secret of concrete's popularity in Canada lies in the fact that while we have been advertising the use of concrete, we have also been producing, by scientific methods, a cement so uniformly high in quality that the concrete made with it gives the complete satisfaction our advertisements promised.

Concrete would not have been in such universal use today, had an inferior grade of cement been supplied. Insist upon getting Canada Cement. It is your best assurance of thoroughly satisfactory results from your concrete work. There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

Without this label it is not "Canada" Cement.

MABEL'S CHITCHAT

What to Do With Relatives That Get on One's Nerves.

OLD PLUMES TRANSFORMED.

Fashions For Spring Are the Wildest and Freakiest Since the Invention of the Needle and the Discovery of Silk--Some of Their Vagaries.

Dear Elsa--I know how perfectly horrid it is to speak disparagingly to outsiders of one's relatives, but the truth is ever since the holidays we have been fairly inundated with a steady stream of relatives staying in the house with us until these visitations have worn my poor nerves almost to the proverbial frazzle.

Do you know, dear, I think if there were only seven jokes in the world certainly the witicism concerning the uncongeniality of relatives would hold a conspicuous place among them, for ever since time immemorial undisciplined men and women who have lived under the same roof--and most of us are undisciplined--have wrangled and bickered and quarreled to a greater or less extent, I heard recently of a canny old Scotchman who seems to have pretty clear ideas of the relation problem.

My idea is that when the strain becomes too great it is best to make a change before something decidedly unpleasant happens. One's sentiment suffers, to be sure, but that is much better than having one's disposition ruined and one's nerves worn to a frazzle.

"Now," as the wairus said, "is the time to talk of other things" and to be further bromidic in my quotations. In the spring a woman's fancy turns to thoughts of her new clothes and particularly her new hats, for these are the first barbingers of warm weather.

Well, dear, you must prepare yourself to look like an Indian princess as to headgear and a Balkan, Servian or Russian woman in the rest of your costume, for we are modestly caught up in the eastern war cloud, and all sorts of far eastern oddities are to be our fate next spring. Hats are like Chinese lateen sails, trimmings like scimitars and skirt draperies like Chinese laundry tickets.

Well, maybe I am exaggerating a bit, but we are going to be most all these things in our new togs. Speaking of hats, a friend of mine recently returned from abroad said to me, "See my new hat with seven ostrich feathers!" I looked and beheld a very tiny chaparral of satin with the new point at the back brim and at one side of the hat a small, rather depressed looking ornament, which appeared to be a limp quill made of silk threads.

"There are seven long, handsome ostrich feathers in that wisp of a thing, my dear," asserted the late arrival from Paris.

"I know it is incredible, but that despondent looking quill is one of the most chic and expensive hat trimmings in Paris at this minute. It is called scraped ostrich, and the stems of seven plumes were scraped clean of feathery plumage and mounted again on a central stem to make the quill."

This ornament is not a bit funnier than the new spring flowers that are to adorn hats, which are made of tiny feathers dyed in realistic colorings and formed into roses, pansies and all kinds of millinery flora.

But, to come back to feathers, I know how disappointed you were after saving up your pennies for months to invest in a stunning willow plume, and right after your purchase Dame Fashion had the unkindness to call them off the list of things modish.

Affliction has always a grace if one can find the way. Enter with me into the charmed portal and let the fashion alchemist transform your de mode willow plume into a wreath of approved beauty, the curled French feather, which leads the sartorial van just now.

This is the way it's done: The ends are clipped from the willow plume just above the knot, and the shortened plumes are curled up evenly. This makes a rather narrow but fluffy wreath of feathers, and these narrow wreaths are laid flat within the curl of the wide hat brim, but not poised against the crown.

One of two small and not too expensive French tips curling over the brim at one side near the back complete a perfect up to date hat, and the number of these ostrich wreaths seen on the new millinery demonstrates that something has been done with the hopelessly passe willows, after all.

Having scattered these crumbs of comfort in your direction, I will re-plant myself to the kitchen, where I will scatter a few more over the top of a brown Betty pudding, which is in the process of making for tonight's dinner.

Devotedly, MABEL New York.

PILLS THAT HAVE BENEFITED THOUSANDS.--Known far and near as a sure remedy in the treatment of indigestion and all derangements of the stomach, liver and kidneys, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills have brought relief to thousands when other specifics have failed. Innumerable testimonials can be produced to establish the truth of this assertion. Once tried they will be found superior to all other pills in the treatment of the ailments for which they are prescribed.

A Tradition Shattered. The lady had no experience, but she had a lot of sense and determination. So when she entered the market she was as good as the next person. She approached the stall of a butcher and felt of the breastbone of a fowl. Then she said: "Is this a good chicken?" "Yes, ma'am," said the marketman confidently, as was his wont.

"Then the old saying is wrong," said the lady. "What old saying?" demanded the marketman. "The old saying that 'the good die young!'"--Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Blaine's First Stump Speech. James G. Blaine made his first appearance on the stump in the canvass in Maine in 1856. He went to Farmington to hear Senator William Pitt Fessenden speak and with no intention to speak himself. But Mr. Fessenden did not arrive on time, and some of his Augusta friends put Blaine forward to take the platform. He likened his situation to that of a farmer who had a horse for which he asked $500. A horse trader offered him $75 for the animal. "It's an awful drop," said the farmer, "but I'll take it." The story, took and so did the speech that followed.

The Voice of Experience. "Demosthenes put a pebble in his mouth when he arose to make an oration." "Oh, you never can tell. Maybe it was just a lozenge, to keep his tongue from getting as dry as a piece of leather. I've tried to do some public speaking myself."--Chicago Record-Herald.

Criticised. Uncle Ezra--They have just discovered that the bank cashier has had a weak heart for ten years past. Uncle Eben--There's government supervision for you! Bank examiner has been coming here all this time and just found it out.--Judge.

Newly Discovered Evidence. "Why do you want a new trial?" "On the grounds of newly discovered evidence, your honor." "What's the nature of it?" "My client dug up $400 that I didn't know he had."--Louisville Courier-Journal.

The English of It. He--You have had a week now to think of my proposal of marriage. She--Yes, and the more I think of it the less I think of it.--Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Moore left last week for Okotoks, Sask.

Mrs. R. Adams left this week on a visit to friends in Elbow, Sask.

Mrs. J. F. Medley and children went to Rouleau, Sask., Tuesday.

Mrs. Amasa Hagie is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Will Morrison, Ridgeway.

Ben Smith has sold his farm, lot 20, con. 2, S. E. R., to Alex Leitch, of Alvington, for $4,400.

The gripe is very prevalent in this vicinity, most of the children being out of school with it.

Mr. McLaughlin, Muncney, has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Bruce Faulds, for some time.

Mr. Alzona Matthews, of Warwick, has purchased the Donald McGibbon property on Union street, Forest.

Mrs. Wellington Smith, Birnam, who has been confined to her bed for some time, is now able to be around again.

Miss Bertha Johnston, teacher in the F. C. B. C., London, was the guest of Misses Ella and Mary McCormick over Sunday.

The contract for the 2nd line school was let to R. O. Spalding, contractor. The lumber and factory work will be supplied by G. Chambers.

Miss Myrtle Williamson, who has been confined to the house for the past three weeks with a severe attack of pneumonia, is now able to be out again.

Mr. Geo. Graham has a sow that is prolific enough to satisfy any reasonable person. In less than eleven months it had 51 pigs, 18 on April 20th, 16 on Sept. 24th and 17 on March 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stewart, of Lanigan, Saskatchewan, and Mr. Stewart's mother, Mrs. Wm. Sadler, of London, have been spending several days visiting his uncle and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stewart of Warwick.

The entertainment given by Mr. Cyril Hayes, of London, in Zion Congregational Church, was pronounced the best ever given in this locality. Mr. Hayes' portrayal of biblical characters far exceeds his reputation. The program was varied by a few lighter selections which were also very much appreciated. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the attendance was not large, but should Mr. Hayes ever give another concert in this neighborhood, we assure him a full house.

The March meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. D. Auld. The meeting opened by singing of "The Maple Leaf Forever" and prayer. It was decided to hold a social evening some time in the near future to raise funds for the Tuberculosis Hospital. The house was tastefully decorated with the emblems of Ireland, while the Irish quotations in response to the roll call were apt and witty. Little Miss Olive Corney brought tears to the eyes of many by her pathetic recitation. Mrs. George Brennan, and Mrs. Mains delighted the guests by singing, the first a suffragette's song, the latter "By the Dear little Shamrock of Ireland." Mrs. Minnie gave a well prepared paper on "Spring and its Beauties," showing that to all it should be a season of delight and charm. Miss Minnie gave a reading appropriate to the season "The Maple Leaf and its Products." A profitable afternoon was enjoyed by all. Meeting closed by singing The National Anthem.

The weather was very mild, with the exception of a couple of days in January, with the mercury about the 60 mark.

SPRING BLOOD IS WATERY BLOOD

How to Get New Health and New Strength at This Season

Spring ailments are not imaginary. Even the most robust find the winter months trying to their health. Confinement indoors, often in overheated and nearly always in badly ventilated rooms—in the home, the office, the shop and the schools, taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery and is clogged with impurities. Some people have headaches and a feeling of languor. Others are low-spirited and nervous. Still others are troubled with disfiguring pimples and skin eruptions, while some get up in the morning feeling just as tired as when they went to bed. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of order and that a medicine is needed. Many people take purgative medicines in the spring. This is a serious mistake. You cannot get yourself with a medicine that gallops through your system and leaves you weaker still. This is all that a purgative does. What you need to give you health and strength in the spring is a tonic medicine that will enrich the blood and soothe the jangled nerves. And the one always reliable tonic and blood builder is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills not only banish spring weakness but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anaemia, nervous debility, indigestion, rheumatism, and other diseases due to bad blood.

Miss Lillian Howe, Portland, Ont., says: "A little over a year ago I was in a very anemic condition, suffering from most of the symptoms of that trouble. Often I spent sleepless nights, and felt as though I did not care whether I lived or not. In this condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after the use of ten or twelve boxes I was restored to the blessing of good health. I feel, therefore, that I cannot say too much in praise of this medicine."

If you are ailing this spring you cannot afford, in your own interest, to overlook such a medicine as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

W. M. Waddell, an old Kerwood boy, is the new manager of the Strathroy cemetery.

NAPIER.

Rev. J. Ure Stewart preaches his farewell sermon in Napier on Easter Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart leave many warm friends in our village, and the best wishes of a host of friends go with them to their new home. Mr. Stewart is a fine musician and his place will be hard to fill.

The Napier branch of the Women's Institute held a very successful meeting in the town hall Wednesday. A splendid representation of the ladies of the district was present. Mrs. J. I. Brady gave her paper on "The Legends of St. Patrick." Mrs. McIntyre gave an interesting talk on her trip to the West last summer. Mrs. de Gex, district president, being in the audience, was asked to speak, and gave some words of encouragement, showing the excellent progress of the institute during the past few years. The president then called on Mrs. (Rev.) Stewart, who leaves Napier in a couple of weeks, for a few words. Mr. Gardner, in calling her forward, expressed the loss that would be sustained in her departure, as well as the high esteem in which she is held in the organization and district. Mrs. Stewart, in a few well-chosen words, thanked the ladies for their kindness, and congratulated the president on the grand success of the Napier branch. She also stated that had she been present at the next meeting, when the election of officers takes place, she would have moved her re-election to the office, owing to her capabilities and splendid record. The meeting, after a fine luncheon, closed with the singing of the national anthem.

Mr. H. A. Switzer had the misfortune to lose one of his heavy horses last week. It will prove quite a loss when horses are so high in price.

Three red foxes arrived on Saturday night for Mr. Wm. Neil, 6th sideroad. Mr. Neil intends starting a fox ranch.

J. P. McVicar shipped five cars of pressed hay to Toronto this week. Scarcity of cars is delaying the work to a considerable extent.

WISBEACH

White—McVicar.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Reeve J. P. McVicar, Brooke, Wednesday last week, at noon, when his youngest sister, Miss Annie, became the wife of J. Gordon White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, concession 4, Brooke. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Neil A. Campbell, of Inwood. The bride was beautifully gowned in white duchess satin, with a veil caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white lilies and ferns. She was unattended. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served, the table being decorated with pink and white carnations. The happy couple left on the M. C. R. evening train from Inwood for Detroit, where they will be the guests of the bride's brother, Dr. N. McVicar and J. McVicar. Mrs. White's travelling suit was of navy blue, and she wore a black velvet hat, with willow plumes. Among the many presents received were a silver tea service and a silver fruit dish. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm, on concession 4, Brooke.

Toronto.

Toronto, March 18.—Receipts at the Union stockyards to-day were 101 cars, with 1,643 cattle, 774 hogs, 552 sheep, 69 calves and 61 horses.

High prices asked at the opening of the market to-day had the effect of checking the demand and trade towards the middle of the day and on to the close became very slow and draggy. The run was only moderately heavy, but cattle kept arriving all the day, and this fact encouraged buyers to hold off in the expectation that prices would ease off a little. In the case of the heavy cattle this expectation was realized for prices did go off 10c to 15c. On good grades of medium weight butcher cattle the market held about steady.

The run of hogs was lighter than expected and the market stiffened to $9.40 and $9.50, fed and watered, and $9.10 to $9.15, f. o. b.

Sheep and lambs were common in quality and the market easier. Stocker cattle are easier.

Another paper was given by Mrs. Wilson on marmalade, giving some very good receipts for making it. The ladies were much pleased to have the Misses Holbrook, of the High School, to favor us with two pleasing solos. We always like to have the young people take part. A Story of General Washington's Secret Service
 By WILLIAM T. HANCOCK

There still stands on the Hackensack river, in New Jersey, after weathering the political and atmospheric storms of nearly two centuries, a fine specimen of the homesteads built by the early Dutch settlers in America. It was forty years old when the Revolutionary war opened, and its original owner had then long passed away.

When it was built the country round about it was infested by Indians. They stole a son of the owner, and so long as he lived there he and his family were in terror of other depredations. A recent investigation of a historical society has revealed an ingenious contrivance whereby if besieged by savages those who lived in the house might make their escape.

When Washington was called to the chief command of the American armies his first duties were at Boston, then New York city, then New Jersey. While operating in the latter field the old Dutch house on the Hackensack lay between him and Manhattan Island on ground belonging to neither British nor Americans. The homestead was at the time occupied by John Oldershaw, an aristocratic Englishman who had turned what means he had into cash and emigrated to America. His family consisted of a wife and two children, the latter having been born in America. The mother was ill suited to the rude life of a new country and lived in the hope of some day returning to England. Both she and her husband were bitter Tories, but their children, who had never been in the mother country, sympathized secretly with the patriot cause. They were a young man, Edgar, aged twenty-two, and a daughter, Anne, aged nineteen.

One evening General Howe, commanding at New York, with certain members of his staff, rode out over the Jersey flats between the city and the rising ground beyond on a tour of reconnaissance and at nightfall stopped at the Oldershaw mansion. Too late in the day to return to his headquarters, he suffered himself to be persuaded to remain all night, with his attendants, and was entertained by Mr. Oldershaw.

During the evening he and his host sat over a bottle of port wine, and the general, warmed by the juice of the grape, became confidential as to his plans for gaining an advantage over General Washington. Above the apartment in which they sat was Anne Oldershaw's bedroom. Though the timber with which houses were built in those days was far more durable than now, it was rough hewn and not so carefully selected. In the floor of Anne's room was a knothole, and in the wooden ceiling of the room below was a crack. Anne, who had gone to bed, but not to sleep, hearing voices below, was desirous of learning what the general might have to say to her father. So she arose from her bed and, slipping on a warm wrapper, put her ear to the hole in the floor. She was enabled to hear a plan the general was stating to her father for capturing a large American force then located near Trenton. Indeed, the Britisher's reconnaissance was on business connected with the projected exploit.

The next morning Anne related what she had heard to her brother. He took a very different view of the matter from that of his sister. He was desirous that General Washington should be warned, but was deterred from betraying his father's guest by giving the information. Love of country, however, triumphed over other considerations, and he determined to carry it to General Washington, whose headquarters at the time were in the Ford mansion at Morristown. Letting his sister into the secret of his intended move and telling his parents that he was going to New York to see a friend, he set out on foot. On reaching the town he ascended the incline west of it and arrived at a tavern in Orange, which was then a stopping place for postboys traveling between Morristown and Hoboken. There he secured a horse, passed over the heights lying west of the town and in a couple of hours rode up to Washington's headquarters. He was received by Colonel Alexander Hamilton of the staff and immediately introduced to the commander in chief.

Upon receipt of the information he brought Washington gave orders which would block his enemy's game and asked Edgar Oldershaw what he could do to reciprocate the favor he had received at his hands. The young man, feeling loath to return to his father's roof, begged the general to secure him a commission in the army, and, his request having been granted, he openly took sides with the patriots.

It was not long after this that Washington, being desirous of information as to the enemy's forces in New York, sent a young man, Lieutenant Harold Travers, who had done some secret work for him, to obtain it. Travers was to proceed in citizen's dress to New York, learn what he could and return. Before he departed the general called upon Lieutenant Oldershaw to instruct Travers as to the routes by which he might travel. Among other things Oldershaw told Travers that if he needed aid and comfort to apply—secretly, of course—to his sister Anne, giving him a bit of paper on which was written an introduction.

It was about a week after this that a young man rode up to the Oldershaw mansion and asked if he might beg a meal. The request was not unusual, for taverns were not plentiful along the route, and hospitality was the rule of the country. Oldershaw asked the traveler whence he had come and was told that he had left New York a few hours before; that he was traveling on business for General Howe and was on his way to Trenton. Being left for a few minutes alone with Anne Oldershaw, his expression changed to one of terror, and, handing her a slip of paper, he begged her to hide him. Anne glanced at the paper, saw that it bore an introduction from her brother and beckoned Travers to follow her.

The meal for the traveler had been prepared and Mr. Oldershaw was opening a bottle of wine with which to regale his guest when a clatter of horses' hoofs was heard without, and a dozen British troopers rode up to the house. An officer dismounted, came in and asked Mr. Oldershaw if a citizen, describing Travers, had stopped at the house. Oldershaw said that he had and thought he had gone to make a toilet; he was expecting him to come in at any moment. The officer asked if Oldershaw was a loyal subject of the king or a rebel and when assured that he was the former told him that he was harboring a spy of General Washington's who had been to New York and was carrying information of the British forces.

The house was at once surrounded, that the spy might not escape, and Oldershaw went through the interior looking for him. Neither Travers nor Anne could for some time be found, but presently Oldershaw met the latter coming through a hall on the ground floor.

"Where is the stranger?" he asked. "The stranger! Why, isn't he with you?"

"No. We must find him. He's a spy of the rebel, Washington."
 It was with difficulty that Anne was able to maintain her equanimity, but her father was so eager to catch Travers that he was not as observant as he would have been otherwise. Directing her to help hunt for the spy, he ran back to report to the officer that the young man had disappeared.

Anne Oldershaw had at times wondered at a certain part of the flooring in the basement, or cellar, the wood of which seemed to have taken on a different color from the rest. She had spoken to her brother of it, and one day they had examined it together. Edgar found a way to lift this bit of flooring. The two descended into a subcellar and entered a passageway, at the end of which they came to two wooden gates, like those of a canal lock, though but five or six feet in height and two or three in width. Through seams in these gates water trickled.

This tunnel had been built by the original owner of the house, after he had lost his son, as a means of escape from Indians.

The discovery occurred after the family had become divided on the subject of loyalty to King George, and it occurred to Edgar that this passage might afford means of escape, for he had heard the stories of troubles with the Indians that the former occupants had suffered. He told his sister to say nothing about it, for the present at any rate, till he could explore it further. But before he could do so the episode that had taken him to Morristown had occurred and the matter remained as he had left it.

When young Travers asked Anne to hide him she at once thought of this place, known only to herself and her brother. She led him down a pair of stairs. Together they lifted the trap, and he went into the passageway.

There could be nothing better calculated to draw two young persons of opposite sex together with magnetic rapidity than this situation. Before the trap was lowered a look passed between them that annulled their individual natures and made them one. After a pressure of hands the trap was permitted to fall, and a few moments later Anne met her father in the hall.

It was manifest to the troopers that the spy was hiding somewhere in the house, so they maintained their watch without and hunted within. Fortunately for Travers, Anne was not suspected. As soon as she left him he threaded his way through the passage to the gates. Seeing a chink above through which a ray of sunlight came, he managed to raise himself to it and saw the river, its surface about a foot and a half below the roof of the tunnel. If he could open the gates he might get out and escape. The tunnel would only be filled to within eighteen inches of its top, and he need not be drowned. He tried to open the gates, but could not do so.

It was not till the next morning that Anne dared visit the captive, when she slipped away with some food. Travers asked her if she could get him a crowbar or a large iron poker, or, better still, a saw. She brought him a saw and after a brief interview left him, and he went to work on the gates, sawing through a wooden bar that held them shut. When nearly finished he decided to wait till dark, when he opened the gates and the water flowed in, and after it had found its level he swam out under a starlit sky. By morning he was at Washington's headquarters.

The Britishers never solved the mystery of Travers' disappearance. Indeed, it had never been solved until recent explorations led to the discovery of the tunnel. After the war Oldershaw and his wife went to England, Anne married Travers, and they occupied the mansion on the Hackensack for many years.

Don't Look Old Before Your Time

WOMAN'S delicate system requires more than ordinary care and attention—more care and attention than it is given by the average woman.

Neglect it and ill soon creep in, and the look of old age, sometimes quickly, sometimes gradually follows.

That backache, so common among women, brings with it the sunken chest, the headache, tired muscles, crows-foot, and soon the youthful body is no more youthful in appearance—and all because of lack of attention.

There is no reason why you should be so unfortunate, when you have at your disposal a remedy such as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—recommended for over 40 years as a remedy for ailments peculiar to women. We have thousands upon thousands of testimonials on file—the accumulation of 40 years—testifying to its effectiveness. Neither narcotics nor alcohol are to be found in this famous prescription. Regulates irregularities. Corrects displacements. Overcomes painful periods. Tones up nerves. Brings about perfect health. Sold by dealers in medicines, in liquid or tablet form.

MRS. WILSON'S RECIPES.

A Few of the President, Elect's Favorite Dishes.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the next president of the United States, is, like most southern women, a good cook. The following recipes are used by Mrs. Wilson when she is ambitious of setting before her famous husband some of his culinary favorites:

Georgia Indian Pudding.—Place four cupfuls of sweet rich milk into a double boiler. Moisten in a little of the milk four rounded tablespoonfuls of yellow Indian meal and add to the milk when hot, stirring it well. Then add half a cupful of molasses, a little salt, a tablespoonful of ground ginger and a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Stir well and add four rounded tablespoonfuls of butter. Mix well and then pour into a baking dish with a pint of cold milk added and well stirred in. Bake in a slow oven three hours. Sometimes raisins are added. Serve with hard sauce.

Waffles.—Into four cupfuls of well sifted flour rub a heaping tablespoonful of butter and salt well. Break three eggs, placing the yolks in one bowl and the whites in another. Beat each stiffly. Add three cupfuls of sweet milk to the yolks and then to the mixture add the buttered flour, beating briskly. Continue to beat for five minutes. Into the center of this batter then place two rounded teaspoonfuls of baking powder and then beat again vigorously. Lastly, beat in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and bake immediately in waffle irons. To be served with butter and hot maple syrup.

Hominy Fritters.—To two cupfuls of cold boiled hominy add a cupful of rich cream and beat. Add two well beaten eggs and two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat to a smooth batter, and then drop in large tablespoonfuls into very hot fat and fry brown on both sides.

LAI D THE SPECTER.

The Story of a Ghost With a Troubled Conscience.

The following well authenticated ghostly happening is recorded in Jessie Adelaide Middleton's "The Grey Ghost Book":

A lady had taken a furnished house in Suffolk, England, from a widow who had lately lost her son. One day she was sitting in the drawing room when the figure of a boy of about thirteen walked across the room, halted opposite a table on which was some china and began to weep bitterly. When she got up and hastened toward the boy to comfort him he at once vanished. As the same thing occurred repeatedly, the lady wrote to the owner of the house, seeking for some explanation. This was her answer:

"Will you kindly search the table with the china ornaments on it, and if you find sixpence in any of them put it into the poor bag in church? I gave him sixpence to put in the bag the last Sunday he went to church, and instead of putting it in he kept it to spend. He told me about it before he died, but I did not know where he had hidden it."

The tenant searched and found the sixpence in a little china jug. She put it into the poor bag—and was never again visited by the apparition.

Paying Through the Nose.

"Paying through the nose" is to be indirectly swindled in a transaction or to pay an exorbitant price for a thing in consideration of long credit. A variant is "to be bored through the nose," "bored" here having the meaning of cheated, deceived.

At this instant he bores me with some trick. "Henry VIII." I, 1, 122.

One that hath gulled you, that hath bored you, sir.—"Life of T. Cromwell," 1602, II, 11, 103.

And Howell in his "Instruction For Forren Travell" (1650), page 59, "had known divers Dutch gentlemen grossly gild by this cheat (the selling of forged manuscripts to young travelers in Italy), and some English bor'd also through the nose this way by paying excessive prices for them."—London Notes and Queries.

THE PARCEL POST.

Advantages Given to the Housewife by Uncle Sam's New Service.

The new parcel post is a great convenience to the housekeeper in town as well as making a market without the aid of the middleman for the farmer. People living in towns and cities by this means may order foods fresh from the farm and thereby save time money and trouble.

As an example of the various good points of the parcel post delivery take the shipment of eggs, which a housekeeper can get fresh from the farm every morning—eggs that were laid the previous day.

Take, for instance, a family of two. Allowing that they would consume six eggs a day, says Mrs. Kate Howe in a recent article, they could order a four day supply for a little more than they cost and receive them in perfect condition. In most cases the farmer pays the postage, but he probably adds that amount to the price of eggs.

Coughing in Lieu of Oratory.

A singular fashion which prevailed among the preachers of Cromwell's time was that of coughing or hemming in the middle of a sentence in order to attract the attention of the congregation. The necessity of continually attracting the attention of the listeners could not have argued well for the brilliance of the sermons. Some authorities say that the preachers coughed merely as an ornament to speech. At any rate, when the sermons were printed, as many of them were, the coughs and hems were always indicated on the margin of the page.—St. Louis Republic.

In his will Stephen Swain of the parish of St. Olive, Southwark, gave to John Abbott and Mary, his wife, sixpence each "to buy for each of them a halter, for fear the sheriffs should not be provided," and John Aylett Stow left the sum of 5 guineas for the purchase of the picture of a viper biting the hand of his rescuer to be presented to an eminent K. C. as a reminder of "his ingratitude and insolence."—London Mail.

COMMUNICATIONS.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.]

Watford, March 18th, 1913.

To the Editor of the Guide-Advocate.

Dear Editor,—Please allow me a little space in the Guide-Advocate for the purpose of referring to a subject that is being widely discussed these days. On Wednesday of this week, March 19th, the centennial of the birth of Dr. David Livingstone occurs, and all the evangelical denominations the world over are making an effort, I understand, to celebrate in some way this notable event. Now, the question being asked by many people is, "What denomination did Dr. Livingstone belong to?" I have met a number who were of the opinion that he belonged to the Presbyterian body; I have met others who regarded him as an Anglican, while quite a few are not sure what he was. Now for the purpose of making clear to the readers of the Guide-Advocate the true denominational identity of Livingstone, let me state a few particulars about his life.

David Livingstone was born in Blantyre, Scotland, in the year 1813. His parents were poor, but honest and upright, and were exceedingly anxious that their three sons should fill honorable positions in life. Their prayers were answered. John, the eldest, emigrated to this country and became a prosperous farmer. He died, some years ago at Listowel, Ont., and is buried there. David, the youngest, went to the United States, and there became a minister of the Gospel. David, the second son, was he who was destined to travel where no white man had ever trod, and on whose life-work just now the attention of the whole world is turned. Neil Livingstone, the father of the missionary, had been a deacon in the old Cong'l chapel at Blantyre for twenty-two years before he died, and all his family were members of that place of worship. At the age of nineteen, David Livingstone made his way to the University of Glasgow for the purpose of studying medicine, and thereby fitting himself for foreign missionary work. While in Glasgow he also studied theology under the leadership of Rev. Dr. Wardlaw—one of Scotland's most famous divines, who trained men for the Congregational ministry. On obtaining his Diploma of Licentiate of Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons, Livingstone was accepted by the directors of the London Missionary Society for service in the foreign missionary field, and in due time he made his way to the Continent, there to carry out his great and noble work. Now I would like to explain clearly to all who might be interested, that the London Missionary Society, under whose auspices Livingstone went to Africa, is not in any way connected with the Presbyterian body, nor with the Anglican body; it is strictly and entirely Congregational in its constitution, and is maintained by the Congregational churches of Great Britain. The Society will accept men from other denominations for service abroad, but they all adopt Congregationalism before going. Dr. Livingstone, however, belonged to the Congregational body before he was accepted by the London Missionary Society, and the writer of this article had the honor of being asked to preach in the little old chapel in Blantyre, Scotland, where all the Livingstone family used to worship. If any friends are inclined to doubt Dr. Livingstone's denominational connection, they would do well to read the latest biography of the great explorer, written by the Rev. C. Silvester Horne, M.A., M.P.; he clears away certain misstatements and brings facts to light. Hoping this article may be of interest to some one, and thanking you for the space allowed,

I am, yours faithfully,
(REV.) ROBERT STEVENSON.

Rural Mail Regulations

New regulations have been received by postmasters from the Postoffice Department, governing the duties of rural mail couriers and the extension of their work among boxholders. Each courier is supplied with a school bag attachment in which is a supply of stamps, money orders, postal notes, requisitions, receipts, etc., which he is supposed to distribute among his patrons, who, when a money order or postal note is required, must fill out one of these orders and hand it to the courier, not leave it in the box. If any registered mail comes for residents along a route, the letters or other registered matter is brought them the next day and receipts are taken for same by the courier, who also gives certificates for registered matter handed him on the road, and receipts for moneys given him for postal notes, etc., for which requisition is made. Each courier carries a special stamp punch, from which he dispenses stamps, not singly, but in 25c or 50c lots, and only to persons who have boxes.

Can a cow carry a 4-inch wire nail in her liver and retain her good health? This question is answered in the affirmative by Glen Kemp, Amherstburg, who one day last week, when dressing a beef cow, discovered such a nail embedded in her liver, without having any apparently bad effect on the animal. How the nail got there and how long it had been there is a mystery, but it had worked, its way right into the center of the organ.
