RULES AND REGULATIONS
OF THE
NEW BRUNSWICK
AUXILIARY BIBLE SOCIETY.

I. That the Society be called the "AUXILIARY BIBLE SOCIETY OF NEW BRUNSWICK," for the purpose of co-operating with "THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY," in promoting the distribution of the Holy Scriptures, both at home and abroad.

II. That conformably with the principles of the Parent Institution, the Bibles and Testaments to be circulated by the Society shall be without Note or Comment, and those in the language of the United Kingdom, of the authorized version only.

III. That all persons subscribing One Dollar, or upwards, per annum, or Twenty Dollars, or upwards, at any one time, shall be Life Members of this Society.

IV. That the business of this Society shall be conducted by a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, Depositary, and a Committee, consisting of not less than twelve other members, of various religious denominations, with power to add to their number; and that five members of the Committee constitute a quorum.

V. That the ministers of all Evangelical Churches in the City are, ex officio members of this Society. That every clergyman or other Minister, who is a member of this Society, shall be entitled to attend and vote at the meetings of the Committee.

VI. That the Committee shall appoint all the officers of the Society, and meet once every quarter, or as often as the business shall require, on some day to be fixed by themselves.

VII. That the Committee shall divide St. John into Districts, and appoint two or more of their members for each District, who may associate with themselves any subscribers, for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions and donations from the inhabitants thereof; and that they shall establish proper agents and correspondents in different parts within the limits of the Auxiliary Society.

VIII. That the whole of the subscriptions and donations received by the Society shall be applied, after deducting incidental expenses in the first instance, to the purchase of such a number of Bibles and Testaments from the Parent Institution as are required for local supplies; that the surplus funds shall be given to the Parent Society as a free contribution; and that the Bibles and Testaments in the Society's Depository shall be sold at the prime sterling cost as currency.

IX. That for the purpose of giving full effect to the benevolent designs of the British and Foreign Bible Society, in their grant of the Scriptures for distribution among the poor, the Committee shall make it their business to enquire what families or individuals, residing within their several Districts, are in want of Bibles and Testaments, and unable to procure them, and that it shall be the duty of the Committee to furnish them therewith at prime cost, reduced price, or gratis, according to their circumstances.

X. That for the still further promotion of the circulation of the Scriptures, it is expedient to encourage the formation of Branch Societies in such Districts, within the sphere of the Auxiliary Society, as may not be sufficiently populous to form Auxiliary Societies of their own; such Branch Societies, and the individual members thereof, to be entitled to the same privileges from the Auxiliary Society as it and its individual members enjoy from the Parent institution.

XI. That such persons as may not find it convenient to become members of the Auxiliary Society, or any one of its Branches, shall, upon forming themselves into Bible Associations, be entitled to purchase at the Depository of this Society, under the direction of the Committee, copies of the Scriptures at prime cost, for sale, or at reduced prices, for gratuitous distribution, among poorer neighbors.

XII. That all Clergymen and other Ministers, within the sphere of this Society, making collections in their respective congregations in behalf of this institution, shall be entitled, on remitting such collections to the Treasurer of this Society, to receive Bibles and Testaments to an amount not exceeding one half of the said respective collections, estimated at prime cost, as shall be found to be needed by the poor in the vicinity; such returns of Bibles and Testaments to be claimed within one year from the remittance of the collection. It is recommended in this, and all the other cases, to prefer supplying the poor by sale at low prices, rather than by gratis contribution.

SUGGESTIONS

FOR THE

COMPLETE ORGANIZATION AND WORKING

OF A

Any Branch which in the past has not attained eminence as a tributary to this Auxiliary—whose annual grant has not compared favorably with others in districts of less note as to population, wealth, or religious privileges—is earnestly requested to consider the following suggestions of means whereby its latent resources may be made more available in the blessed cause of Bible dissemination.

1st. The Bible Society being undenominational, care should be taken to preserve its character as such, in its Branch organization, and to this end the Committee and collectors should, as far as possible, represent every Christian denomination in its locality. The page in the Auxiliary's Report containing the list of Branches specifies only the three chief officers of each Branch, viz. : President, Treasurer, and Secretary ; but where there are more than three denominations within the bounds of a Branch, they may all be represented by Vice-Presidents, whose names may appear on the page presenting the full Committee, together with the Collectors and lists of subscribers.

2nd. When a Branch embraces an extensive district, its outlying sections should be represented also by Vice-Presidents, who could superintend the work of collecting in their respective sections. Great care should be taken in choosing Collectors who are competent to present, if necessary, the Society's claims ; for to Collectors rather than to Committees belongs the honor of placing the silver and gold at the service of the Redeemer.

3rd. At every annual meeting (which it is desirable should be held during the Agent's visit) the Committee, if necessary, should be re-cast, and Collectors chosen. Should the Agent's visit happen on a Sunday, such business should be transacted on the preceding Saturday. And should a Committee be subsequently impaired by death or removal of any of its chief officers, notice of such should immediately be furnished to the Agent, and also the names of the persons chosen to fill the vacated position.

4th. When a Committee receives notice from the Agent of his intended visit, no delay should be made in appointing the place of meeting, and making such known from pulpit and press; for the delay of only one day may possibly result in the preclusion of the meeting by another of a merely local character, whose object might probably as well be attained at any other time; whereas the loss of one day means the loss of a whole year, in so far as a due visitation of a Branch by the Agent is concerned. All ministers in the locality should receive special invitations from the Committee to be present on the platform, and should also be requested to call the special attention of their congregations to the meetings, and urge upon them their attendance. The editors of local newspapers should also be asked to insert a brief notice of the meeting; and church choirs, if asked, will generally unite for the occasion, thus making the annual meeting of the Bible Society the most instructive and entertaining of the season.

5th. Each Branch should decide upon always carrying on its collecting work during the month most favorable for such in its district (of which also the Agent should be informed); and previous to the canvass the Annual Reports should be distributed, among the best subscribers, and also placed in the hands of other persons likely to become valuable supporters.

6th. As the annual accounts of the Auxiliary are closed on the last of February, remittances, with lists of subscribers and officers, should be forwarded to the Treasurer, Robert Cruikshank, Esq., Saint John, before that date, but still more desirable if remitted before the Auxiliary's Annual Meeting, which is usually held on the first Thursday in January.

7th. In view of a work of such transeendent importance, it is hoped that in every locality a few ladies and gentlemen may feel moved to espouse the cause of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and use their influence in making their Branch an institution deeply established in the popular heart.

SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE
NEW BRUNSWICK

THE Seventy-Fifth Annual Meeting of the NEW BRUNSWICK BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY was held in ST. DAVID'S CHURCH, on Thursday Evening, January 10, 1895. The audience was large, every seat in the building being occupied.

Mr. J. E. Irvine, President of the Society, occupied the chair. The meeting was opened by the singing of "Old Hundred," reading of Scripture and prayer by Rev. Dr. Macrae, and singing by a quartette of members of St. David's Choir.

Mr. John E. Irvine, President of the Society, was the first speaker. He said he was sure that on behalf of the Society it gave him much pleasure to welcome such a large audience to celebrate their seventy-fifth anniversary. While they celebrated their seventy-fifth anniversary they were only a branch of a great Society which had disseminated 4,000,000 copies of the Bible throughout the world and spent nearly $1,000,000 in the cause of Christ during the year. Its work reached to-day almost over the world. Besides the British and Foreign, there were the American, Hibernian, Scotch and other Bible Societies which scattered broadcast the Word of God "which liveth and abideth forever. He had been surprised to learn that there were 17 translations of the Bible in the Dominion, and 15 of these translations were furnished by the British and Foreign Bible Society. The Society had been engaged during the last year on Corean, Japanese and Chinese versions, and when that work was completed the Bible would be in so many languages that it would reach 90 per cent. of the population of the world. The Parent Society had during the past year, sent agents and representatives to different parts of the world so as to get in touch with the various branches. One had gone to Africa, and Rev. Mr. Sharp went to Armenia in 1894. When he returned he brought a message from the people which said, "Come over and help us" The speaker hoped that the reports which had been printed in the newspapers about the Armenian outrages were untrue. He had noticed by yesterday's papers that a Spanish gentleman who had recently returned from Armenia said that the Methodist Missionary Society had been responsible for the outbreak. The statement showed untruth on the face of it, as there were no representatives of the Methodist Missionary Society in Armenia.

The Armenians, he said, were the first among the unchristian nations to accept the doctrine of our Lord and Master. There had been great difficulty in having the Bible printed in that country, and Dr. Sharp had gone there principally to have that accomplished. He had succeeded in making such arrangements that the speaker believed that there was now a printing press there, used alone for printing the Bible. Mr. Sharp had arrived in Armenia on the 74th birthday of the head of the ecclesiastical church in that land, and had, after producing a letter from the Archbishop of Canterbury, been admitted into his presence. The interview was very satisfactory, and he endorsed heartily the action of the Society, saw many good things in favor of the Christian church, and the progress it was making in Armenia.

The following Resolution was moved by Mr. Joshua Clawson, and seconded by Mr. Wm. J. Parks :

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be tendered to the Ladies' Bible Association for their substantial assistance; to the Press for kindly services, and to all who aid the Society in its work.

Several hymns were sung during the evening, besides selections by the Quartette before mentioned.

The Benediction was pronounced by Rev. G. O. Gates.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The British and Foreign Bible Society has closed its 90th year with issues of Scriptures for the year of almost 4,000,000 copies, in nearly 320 languages, distributed in almost all the countries of the world by over 600 colporteurs, and 400 Bible women, and other agencies. Its ordinary income was £141,228, being £3,683 more than the previous year, £1,316 being also given for the Special Deficit fund. The sales of Scriptures yielded £91,700, which was some £8,000 less than in 1893. The Committee state that they have limited their expenditures where it seemed desirable, but they have neglected no clear call to enlarged operations.

The Committee of the New Brunswick Auxiliary Bible Society, at the close of its 75th year, finds the ordinary income as follows:

One hundred and twenty-one dollars was donated by a lady to the Bible Woman's fund, and $250 was expended in the work, the balance being paid from the ordinary receipts of this Auxiliary. The treasurer remitted to London £475 as a free contribution, being £110 more than the previous year, and £179 5s. 5d. in payment of invoices of Scriptures.

Remittance was made by the Fredericton Auxiliary of a free contribution of £45, and £25 on purchase account; also by the Miramichi Ladies Auxiliary a free contribution of £68 5s. 4d., making in all from New Brunswick £792 10s. 9d.

Miss E. M. Wesley has been steadily at work as our Bible Woman during the year. Her report shows 1,626 visits during 1894, at 1,267 of which Scripture was read or prayer offered; 106 Bibles, 101 Testaments, 119 Portions and 150 copies of Bible literature were sold, and 3 Bibles, 10 Testaments, 6 Portions, and 260 copies of Bible literature given away. Twenty-six special cases of hardship or affliction were reported to Ministers and others, and the work has proven increasingly useful. The Committee solicit special subscriptions in aid of this work, that it may be carried on without trenching upon the ordinary income.

Our Depository on Germain Street has been efficiently conducted during the year. The sales have been increasing, and the stock has been kept fresh by frequent importations. During 1894 994 Bibles, 1,116 Testaments, 157 Portions, and 19 copies of Bible literature were sold and distributed by the depository, in addition to those disposed of by the Bible woman.

The Committee has debited the Munro trust fund with $81.92, comprising the value of Scriptures given to the poor, and the discount allowed to benevolent institutions in the purchase of books.

Our Agent, Mr. Thomas M. MacKelvie, has systematically visited the agencies throughout the province during the year, and by frequent correspondence has endeavored to stimulate the friends of the Bible Society to revived exertion on its behalf.

Your committee has recently issued an appeal by circular to the Branches and to the city churches, and hopes for a liberal response. The Committee has lost none of its members during the year, and has added the name of Mr. James E. Barnes. For the measure of success which has attended their operations the members of the Committee record their gratitude.

AGENT'S REPORT.

To the President and Committee of the New Brunswick Auxiliary Bible Society:

GENTLEMEN:

As in former years my first work of the season was devoted to some of the Branches in Nova Scotia, and as soon afterwards as the roads permitted I began my rounds among the Branches in New Brunswick, starting on May 3rd, and finishing the tour of the Western and Northern Counties on July 24th.

Anxious to keep our annual Book within the one cent postage limit, my report of visitation will be as brief as possible, indeed I fear that I have erred in the past by being too profuse in my remarks and minute in detail, causing an unnecessary expenditure of paper and printer's ink.

I addressed three meetings at St. George and vicinity and obtained $6.78, but was again unable to form a working Branch there.

We had a good meeting at Welsford and had the promise of a more extended canvass than in the past, but in the death of the Hon. Francis Woods, the late President of that Branch, our Society has lost a very liberal supporter and your agent will henceforth miss his friendly hand and welcome to his most hospitable home. I do not yet know the result of my correspondence with the officers of that Branch since Mr. Wood's death.

The meetings at Patterson and Blissville were rather small and the times declared deplorably dull.

I held three meetings in Richmond Branch where I obtained some subscription lists, and I am glad to learn that your Treasurer has since received a further contribution from that good Branch.

I addressed two meetings in Woodstock; at the latter the Branch Committee was re-formed and promises were given that henceforth Woodstock would make a better show on our subscription lists.

While on my way to Jacksonville I was informed of the death of the late president of that Branch—Mr. John Simonson—and that no meeting had been appointed; also a gathering in another interest precluded any movement at that time on behalf of the Bible Society. I am afraid that my correspondence since my visit has failed in its aim.

Lakeville and Bloomfield were again visited and addressed. I held two meetings in Centreville Branch. That at Tracy's Mills was largely attended and promises were freely made of a general canvass for our cause.

It rained heavily when at Bristol and our meeting there was a failure. At Glassville I got a good collection and as usual was treated with much kindness.

Although there was another meeting at Hartland during my visit we had a fair gathering.

At Victoria Corner we had also a fair meeting, and the promise of a wide canvass. As usual I received the kind attention of the president and his family.

At Northampton I was glad again to meet my old friend the president, who never fails to gather funds for the circulation of that Book whose precious truths are treasured in his memory and are the joy of his heart.

At Prince William and vicinity I experienced the most generous attention of the Rev. Wm. Ross. I addressed three meetings in his extensive parish, and I hope to see another large contribution from our new friends there.

I paid two visits to Sheffield and was the recipient of much kindness from some of the friends of that most loyal and liberal Branch. At Gagetown the meeting was small but very encouraging.

Very few came to the meeting at Wickham, but there were good assemblies at Jerusalem and Hampstead. At the latter place our Society has lost a good friend by the death of Mr. Albert Palmer, who was for many years its devoted Secretary.

At Douglas Harbour the meeting was good and the speeches of our friends there as usual excellent.

I held two meetings at Cambridge Branch, where I was kindly entertained as usual and conveyed from place to place by my old friends.

The meetings at Carsonville and Corn Hill were fair, although when at the latter place the day was exceedingly stormy. I held two meetings at Donegal but failed to reach Waterford.

The meeting was very small at Bathurst, but those present promised a canvass for the cause.

I spent four days collecting at Dalhousie, Charlo, New Mills and Jacquet.

We had a fine meeting in Campbellton,—that fine Branch which has grown so rapidly under the zealous care of its President, and which gave us last year $95.00, notwithstanding the remarkable hard times. I hope to hear very soon of even an advance on that good contribution.

Belledune contains only a few Protestant families but they never fail to remember our cause.

I held two meetings at North Esk and Whitneyville and had a liberal contribution.

Harcourt meetings are always small, while at Bass River they are well attended. At the latter place our Society has lost a friend by the death of Mr. Miller, for many years its president. I think that the new committee will prove by their good works the good judgment of their electors at the last meeting.

The meetings at Kingston and Richibucto were of the usual character,—if not as large as I could desire, yet they always embrace people in the front rank of the Society's intelligent supporters. I am glad to see that the kind ladies of that old Branch have done so well this winter in their canvass.

The Buctouche meeting was fair but as yet I have seen no further returns than the plate collection. I hope however that the cause will not be forgotten.

Cocagne is a small Branch in the midst of a French community, but our meeting was again good and the subsequent canvass praiseworthy.

McDougall and Scotch Settlement, West. Co., has also done well, although our last meeting was small.

On this tour I was disappointed as to meetings at St. Andrews, St. Stephen, Millstream, Johnston and Waterford.

From October 1st to 8th I was engaged in the Branches of Albert and Hopewell, Scotch Settlement, Kings County, Springfield, Chipman and Salmon Creek. At all of these places I was as usual kindly received and promised their annual contributions in due season.

From December 8th, until the present date my time has been occupied in visiting Branches or in correspondence with those that require to be put in remembrance of promises made or duties to be performed.

I was engaged in Nova Scotia at the time of the annual meeting in Sackville, but was privileged to address another meeting in the Methodist church Upper Sackville on Sunday, Dec. 8th. On that occasion the Rev. Dr. Stewart of the College and Rev. Wm. Harrison kindly drove up to assist our cause. The annual meeting was also held on a Sunday in the Methodist church, and I learned from the press that such was addressed by the esteemed president, by Principal Allison and the Rev. Wm. Harrison. This showed the genius and solicitude of the president and gave good evidence on the part of the learned leaders of that prosperous branch of the Church of Christ, to devote a part of the Lord's Day for the annual meeting of the Bible Society,—for the rehearsal of the Bible's triumphs and for the promotion of its circulation in every tongue of man. And I hope that down through the centuries this plan so loyally incepted will be perpetuated in Sackville until He comes again in the glory of His power at the restitution of all things.

I held two meetings in Westmorland Branch, three in Bay Verte and Port Elgin and three in Rotsford. I think that Westmorland will advance, indeed I feel sure of this, if the officers will make a general canvass of that extensive and prosperous parish; where Sackville leads so nobly, Westmorland will do well to follow.

The Hampton meeting was not quite so well attended as on some previous occasions, but the platform had the usual number of speakers and a very officient choir. I was glad to learn that an increase in the annual contribution was then expected, and that our good cause has such a hold in the popular heart of Hampton.

I was greatly cheered at seeing such a large gathering at Barnsville. The Reformed Presbyterian Church was filled from platform to vestibule. The evening was truly all that could be desired, and crowded sleighs came all the way from St. Martins—one sleigh from a distance of 15 miles—filled with sweet singers for the occasion. Although the president again failed in obtaining speakers from St. John there was not only no lack but an abundance of platform ability, for the Rev. Messrs. Knight and Lawson and Fraser were in good form, while Mr. Smith rose to the occasion higher and stronger in more senses than one. It was perhaps rather late when the meeting dissolved, especially for those who had a two hours journey before them.

I paid a second visit to Millstream—when I held two meetings, in the F. B. Church in the morning and in the Methodist Church in the afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Pierce also kindly conveyed me in the evening to Apohaqui, and there also vacated his pulpit to allow me to present our cause to his congregation.

We had a good meeting in the Methodist Church at Sussex, which was addressed by nearly all the resident ministers. I was glad to hear the Chairman state that the result of the present season's canvass is a splendid advance on last year's, and I have good reason to believe that Sussex Branch will continue to show an advance from year to year.

The following report of St. Stephen's annual meeting is taken from the St. Croix Courier, January 10th.

THE BIBLE SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of the St. Stephen auxilliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening last, the president, Hon. Judge Stevens, occupying the chair. In opening the president made an impressive address and was followed by Rev. J. T. Bryan, Dr. Sprague, Rev. A. A. McKenzie and Rev. Mr. Thomas of St. Ann's Calais. Mr. J. D. Chipman, secretary of the society, in his opening remarks stated that before submitting his financial report of this branch, he would read from the committee's report of the Parent Society.

Referring to our local branch he said that since its organization in 1856, this branch, including Milltown, has remitted to the treasurer of the bible society at St. John over $6000 from subscriptions and sales of bibles and testaments. The average amount remitted for the last 10 years has been about $130, but owing to the fact that nothing was collected in Milltown for the year 1893, and only $2.50 in 1894, the amount remitted for the last two years was only $109.98 in 1893 and $103.11 in 1894.

The amount of collections from the Saint Stephen subscribers has been about the same for the last ten years, so that had we got the usual amount from Milltown for 1893 and 1894 our remittance for those two years would have been about the same as formerly and made our average for the last ten years larger. The meeting was largely attended and interesting throughout.

I deeply regret that owing to the protracted sickness of the esteemed President of the Moncton Branch, and through other untoward circumstances, no meeting could be obtained in Moncton. We may, however, possibly have a meeting early next month. Although Moncton is at present hard pressed in meeting the liabilities of her local institutions, I am sure that a good general canvass for our cause would meet with fair response, for during my own canvass, which was necessarily limited, I obtained $40.75.

We had a good meeting in Dorchester, which was addressed by all the ministers of the town.

Before the Annual Report is through the hands of the printer I may be able to send you reports from Salisbury and Shediac.

I notice that at the present writing some of the best Branches have not yet sent in their contributions, probably this is due to the unusually heavy snow storms, for in many places travelling is almost impossible.

Hoping that when all the contributions are in the hands of your treasurer you will be fully assured that the Bible Society is still deep in the popular heart, and that notwithstanding the ever multiplying institutions pressing for favor and funds, our cause is recognized as the greatest, and sustained in about every community.

Grateful that I have again been carried through another year in perfect health, and ever mindful of the many kindnesses conferred on me for the good work's sake, I am

Your obedient servant,

ABSTRACT OF THE REPORT

OF THE

British and Foreign Bible Society, 1893-94.

The Society closes its ninetieth year with a Bible translated, more or less entirely, into nearly 320 languages. Almost 4,000,000 copies have, since March last, been supplied to the Churches and Missionary Societies, or circulated by the Society's own agencies. In almost all the countries of the Old World and many of the New, colporteurs, over 600 in number, have been employed, and 400 Biblewomen have pursued their sisterly work in the Zenanas of India and the East.

I.—ASPECTS OF FINANCE.

The financial statement which the Committee have to submit for the year ending March 31, 1894, considering the adverse conditions of commerce and agriculture, they regard as satisfactory, and demanding thankfulness to God.

For the purpose of this Abstract it may be briefly stated that the NEW INCOME of the Society amounts to £141,228 14s. 8d., which is £3,683 13s. 9d. more than in 1893; in both cases the Special Deficit Fund being omitted. The SALES of Scriptures have yielded £91,740 3s. 11d., which is less than last year by £8,093 3s. 11d. The total receipts, including £1,316 0s. 9d. for the Special Deficit Fund, have thus been £234,284 19s. 4d.

The EXPENDITURE has been £222,847 12s. 7d., which is £1,890 18s. 11d. greater than in the preceding year. Deducting the total expenditure from the total receipts a balance is left in favor of the Society of £11,437 6s. 9d.

The large deficits of some recent years have impressed upon the Committee the obligation of limiting the expenditure where it could be done without serious injury to the work. They greatly regretted the necessity for so doing, as did the agents whose fields of labor were thereby affected. The Committee, however, desire their supporters to understand that no clear call to enlarged operations has been neglected from apprehension of failing funds. They have faith in God and in His Church to believe that where Divine Providence manifestly opens a door for the entrance of His Word the means to enter will be given.

The Committee beg the earnest attention of the Society's friends to one untoward aspect of the present financial statement. The excess of receipts over expenditure is owing to the legacies being much in advance of the average. This does not indicate a sound financial condition. The Committee would be greatly relieved if the ordinary contributions were sufficient to lessen their dependence upon this precarious source of income. Still, remembering that the Society commences the new year not only without a deficit, but with a fair balance in hand, the Committee record their sincere thanks to the donors, and their deep gratitude to God who has inclined and enabled them to give, some out of their abundance, and others out of their poverty.

II.—ISSUES.

The total ISSUES of the year ending March 31, 1894, in Bibles, Testaments, and single books or groups of books of the Scriptures amounted to 3,664,456, and the number would probably have been much nearer four millions but for some delayed returns. Of the whole, 1,669,588 copies were issued from London for home and abroad, and 1,994,868 from Depots abroad. In Portions only the home issues are higher than those of 1892-3: and those from abroad are scarcely less. Bearing the general depression in mind—and the reports of the year everywhere reflect it—the circulation must be considered full of encouragement.

III.—TRANSLATION AND REVISION.

The work of translation and revision has proceeded vigorously during the year with an ever-deepening and widening ratio of progress. Complete statistics for the year have not yet been received with regard to translations begun and revision completed, but it may be safely said that more has been attempted, and more accomplished, than in any previous year.

In the East the great versions of India and China are undergoing revision in the light of advancing knowledge; and in Africa and the Isles, new languages are being pressed into the Society's service, and rapid progress is being made with versions already begun. In Korea a new version has been begun, and in Java a new version is being completed. Ceaseless efforts are being made by a great army of devoted scholars to render God's thoughts in the words of all men, and larger numbers of strange peoples are daily hearing in their own tongues the wonderful works of God. As we pause to look at the achievements of the past, and recent years, the words rise to our lips—'So mightily grew the Word of God and prevailed.'

IV.—BIBLEWOMEN.

The returns for the Biblewomen—402 in number—who were more or less maintained by the Society's grants in the year ending September 30, 1893, are in all respects encouraging. The number of Biblewomen receiving grants has increased by thirty-two. The number of native women to whom, on an average, the Scriptures were read by them has grown to 527 a week more than before, and stands now at 22,014. Out of those who are being taught by the Biblewomen to read, no less than 1,577 native women have attained, within the year, the power of being able to read the Scriptures for themselves. The whole circulation for the year comes to 15,931 Bibles, Testaments, or detached books of Scripture, being an increase of 2,754 copies on the circulation of 1891-2. The 402 Biblewomen were geographically distributed thus:—India 291, Ceylon 69, Syria and Palestine 14, Egypt 16, China 8, Mauritius and the Seychelles 4. The reports continue to bear ample evidence of the high spiritual value of their work.

V.—OBITUARY AND NEW APPOINTMENTS.

VI.—REVIEW OF THE FIELD.

Let us now turn to the vast world-field in which the Society's work is being done, and try to see it, and to hear the voices which come to us from it, as the Agents, and especially as the colporteurs, may help us to see and hear. But first let us turn to the colporteur himself.

He is everywhere a man of the people among whom he labors, —a Frenchman in France, a Slav in Russia, a Hindu in Hindustan ; he is able to understand his countrymen, and the idiom which expresses the feelings of the heart. Often of high intelligence he possesses not a few popular gifts, and even when of the homeliest cast of mind there are some gifts with which he cannot dispense. He must be of infinite patience. He requires the full indwelling of that Charity which hopes and endures everything. He needs a heart quick with natural sympathy ; and, being often himself a householder, the gentle bonds by which wife and children draw him homewards, lead him also to enter into the sorrows of many a family he visits and compel him to drop tear for tear. Above all he must be a man of faith ; he must seek strength and courage from his Divine Friend in a course of habitual prayer : his life must be hid with Christ in God.

And his daily work, like his own spirit, touches at many points the ever-varying life of man. What a life it is as we may see it through these colporteurs' eyes !—how hard often, and dark ; again how kindly and how beautiful ; often how troubled with sin and pain,—always how pathetic, how strangely profound. There is indeed nothing more instructive, nothing more suggestive of grave thought than the journals of these men. We open one and find its writer, somewhere in France or in Germany, in a workshop full of atheistic socialists. He offers his books, prefacing them with some friendly salute, but his only answer is to be driven with insult and often with injury into the street. He tries another band of workmen, only to meet with the same success ; the day wears on in such depressing experiences : he has sold hardly anything : he has heard hardly one kindly word. 'What sighs should we hear escaping from our men's breasts,' writes Mr. Millard, 'could we but follow them in some of their rounds! But with a few pages the scene and the spirit change; we find the colporteur seated in some neighbourly home; the house-mother, who perhaps remembers him when he was in the village before, confides to him some of her sorrows; he quotes word after word of comfort; he speaks to the children as if they were his own; he pours out his heart in prayer, while they all, kneeling beside him, respond with newly-awakened tenderness: he leaves behind him, when he goes, copies of the Gospels and the Psalms. Half an hour afterwards he is on the road with a group of people round him: they have never heard of the New Testament; he reads or repeats some of its words, for his habit is to speak as much as may be, in the language of the book he carries, and more than one hand is stretched out for the little Portion, sold so cheap, but containing things so pointed, so heart-searching. A little further on we find him toiling up the hill-path leading to a shepherd's hut; it is a most unlikely place, but he could make little of the village below, and an impulse he cannot explain, compels him to try his fortune here. He enters to find a poor invalid who welcomes him as if he were a messenger from Heaven: he learns that a copy of the Gospel had been bought in a distant market ten years before, carried to this spot among the mountains, read with many thoughts and tears,—that it became an evangel of peace,—and now that he, the salesman of the Word of God, coming so unexpectedly, comes not as a stranger but as a friend. What a reward for all the day's disappointments, and how naturally, as he goes back down the hillside into the valley, does he, like John Bunyan's pilgrim, set out on his way again singing. Let us think of incidents like these but endlessly varied, filling up day by day, season by season, the history of the colporteurs' year. In truth, the long record of Christian work can show few worthier illustrations of the trials which test men's faith in God, of the obstacles which keep the mind perpetually alert, and, it must be added, of the faithfulness which makes every form of service noble. 'These are English books!' said a French postman last year, while his face darkened at the thought of foreign interference;—that was the obstacle which suddenly barred the colporteur's way. 'But do not you faithfully deliver English letters when they are entrusted to you?' he replied, and the postman assented and waited for the application:—that was the skilful turning of the obstacle into a stepping-stone of advance. 'And I,' he proceeded—and we can notice the graver look, and hear the softening of his voice—'I am entrusted with this Gospel of Peace—I am bound to carry it to its address, and it is addressed to every living creature':—that is the commission and the faith of the colporteur to which, in every land, and in the face of a thousand obstacles, he keeps so true.

Such examples as these and such a picture must be kept before the mind as we survey the different countries and receive accounts of the work which has been done. For these accounts, so far as they are statistical—and we often have little beyond statistics—are in themselves but indications of something behind them—something which, compared with themselves, is as life in its force and passion compared with a formula in mathematics. We can represent in figures the number of copies sold, but what can recall out of the darkness of the past and of forgetfulness the interviews, the arguments, the hours of study over the unfamiliar but strangely convincing pages, the hours of prayer, the awakenings of soul and its struggles, the strife of good and evil in the heart, the breakings of light in the darkness, the descent of the Angels of God. We cannot bring these things into the statistics, but they are behind the statistics: they are intensely actual and existent, and they are of the very substance and soul of all the work itself. Sometimes they show themselves—distant though very distinct and vital—in the journals: sometimes we see but a face and it is gone, or hear a voice which, when we listen, is silent again: often for the overwhelmingly larger part of the time included, and of the space, they are entirely invisible, but, like all spiritual things, they are always present, always actual, always eternal. Let us remember this world of the unseen,—these unregistered realities; let us often turn from the narrative of visible and audible things to its silence, though indeed we may always hear it speak to us if we but listen to our own hearts.

Our journey begins with FRANCE, and there, at the outset, we already feel the icy influences, which—like east winds in summer—so often chill the spirits of the colporteurs. 'In France,' says M. Monod sorrowfully, 'we work on deliberately hostile ground. As in other countries all the forces of the natural heart are against us, but here also all the forces of the dominant Church, with its thirty-five millions of nominal adherents, are leagued against us:—and what are we?' And yet in spite of all there has been advance. The colportage circulation is indeed lower, because the force is less, but the total circulation has been unexpectedly high.* 'Never indeed,' says M. Monod again, 'have there been, in any time, so high sales.' There is even better evidence than this. 'If we are but careful observers,' he adds, 'we shall find that He who comes not with observation is coming and does not tarry. Numerous are the evangelical churches in France—created, founded, and progressing—owing to the sole reading of the Scriptures circulated by our colporteurs; more numerous still the small gathering of working people around a Bible, perhaps the only copy in a village, imported by one of our good labourers.' How much does this mean!—and how much also that piteous inquiry of a poor man who imagined that his mass book was the Bible:—'How is it that our priest has never told us to search the Scriptures?' One of the most regrettable facts of the year, in France, has been the reduction of the colporteur force by almost one-fifth, and if the men no longer at work were like Guerin of Lyons, the loss has been very grave. This good man died in the fall of the year, and the words of his widow—written in the unreserved confidence of a letter—at once picture by a single touch the noble life of so many of his class, and open the springs of natural tenderness. 'We have not yet had courage enough to go to the Gard and see the place where my poor husband ended a life so useful and so filled with labour. You cannot imagine the conflict in which he lived—conflict with men's spirit and with the elements. Neither rain, nor wind, nor snow, nor storm, could induce him to take a moment's rest. In winter, in summer, he was off by daybreak, and returned only at night, often drenched through and through. And now it seems to us he is on tour again, and we expect him home—but he does not come! We shall go to him, but he shall not return to us.'

Much of this might be repeated for SPAIN: there also the colportage circulation is lower, for the force has been reduced: but there also the general circulation has been increased.* In Spain also we hear of Associations of Bible Readers—those popular Collegia Pietatis which have been so often, in days of lost or decaying spirituality, the beginnings of a new Reformation, and the schools where many have found and loved the Wisdom of Christ. About the prospects of the Society's work in this land of many a disappointment, Mr. Jameson is naturally reticent, but he indicates something of the eagerness of his belief and desire in one emphatic sentence—'This I can positively assert: that in Spain the conditions for the circulation of the Scriptures are being prepared as they never have been before.'

* Total circulation for the year in the SPANISH Agency, 64,835 (previous year, 61,870; by colportage 29,943 (previous year, 37,809).

In ITALY, the third of the great Latin nations, the same record curiously repeats itself. Here also the colportage circulation has been reduced, and for the same reason: but here also the total issues for the year are higher.* They are indeed higher than ever before, and it may well stir one's hopes to hear that for the Italian race in and out of Italy,—for the Italians who but yesterday were under the rule of the Vatican—for Italy in which the Bible was proscribed and all but popularly unknown—the total supply has been close upon 200,000 copies. Even as to the colporteurs' sales it is full of suggestiveness to note that while France with a population of 38,000,000 has had, from this source, but 60,000 copies, Italy with a population of only 31,000,000 has had 87,000. Sig. Meille in his elaborate report naturally discusses the Encyclical of November last, but points out—and English Christians may perhaps require to be reminded of it—that in this characteristic deliverance all the old positions of the Papacy, as regards the popular diffusion of the Scriptures, are unchanged. But there is one sentence—it is quoted from Jerome—which strangely enough is reproduced in the Encyclical and of which Sig. Meille justly says: 'I would have it inscribed in brilliant letters in every Roman Catholic, nay in every Protestant Church:—'To be ignorant of the Scriptures is to be ignorant of Christ'—'Ignorantia Scripturarum est ignorantio Christi.' And he supplies—what the Encyclical withholds—the natural inference—'If the Scriptures are of such paramount importance—if he who does not know the Scriptures cannot know Christ, the only Saviour of Mankind, how is it possible to keep the Scriptures from the people!'

Such seem to be the most remarkable aspects of the Society's work in the three great Latin countries. What is to be said of the neighbouring group of Germanic nations in which the Reformation has made its home? The answer to this question may be brief: it will also be felt to be full of encouragement and of promise. It is—that among each of these peoples—among the Swedes and Norwegians, the Dutch and the Danes, the Germans and the Swiss, the work of Bible circulation has passed, or is rapidly passing, into their own hands, and that it is deepening and widening year by year. From Sweden and Holland the Society's Agents have been already withdrawn. Norway is approaching similar autonomy; with Switzerland the Bible Society is related only as a friendly source of assistance and supply : and in the German Empire its work is primarily directed to the Roman Catholic population and practically limited to them. And there can be nothing more pleasant than the evidence which shows that the German Societies are themselves steadily rising to the measure of their great influence and responsibilities.* In 1881 the total circulation was 172,000 copies : in ten years it had risen to 313,000 : in 1892 it was 326,000 : last year it was 338,000. Within the Society's own special sphere there has also been advance, and its colportage circulation has risen from over 51,000 to over 60,000. This is the work of thirty men, and the accounts of their experience given by Mr. Watt are full of inspiration. The interest is perhaps greatest in the extreme East, where the emotional and susceptible Poles—some of the Romanist, some of the Reformed, faith—have shown their deepening interest in the Scriptures by more than doubling the issues of 1892. But here also, as in the case of France, the peculiar quality, the intensity, the tenderness, of the colportage work seems embodied in a personal narrative, and, like that other, it is one of death. Few of its servants have served the Society better than Colporteur Eydam, and his last duties were painfully trying, for he was stationed in Munster, in the very centre of an intolerant Romanism, the monasteries and convents of that Papal city overshadowed his path everywhere. Like his French brother, Guerin of Lyons, he was attacked with acute illness on a journey, but, unlike him, he was able to reach home : his wife was beside him, and his children, when he died. His latest words, and all his thoughts as he neared the end were of his work and of his untroubled faith ; and the last sentence which he feebly articulated was that chosen by the Society in its Specimens of Languages as the completest expression of the love of God and the hope of man.

Of AUSTRIA-HUNGARY little can be said in a review so rapid as this, not that there is any lack of matter in that narrative which, constantly the same, is yet constantly varied and continually impressive, but because of the very copiousness of it, and the complexity and the fulness of the populations in this great Empire.†

* Total circulation of all the Societies in GERMANY, 612,362 (previous year, 621,470); total circulation for the year through the Agency of the British and Foreign Bible Society, including Switzerland, 292,271 (previous year, 289,783). Colportage sales were 60,793 (previous year, 51,615).

† Total circulation for the year in the AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN Agency, which includes Upper and Lower Austria and the neighboring provinces, Bohemia, Hungary, Croatia, Slavonia, Transylvania, Trieste, Bosnia, Russian Poland,

It is not indeed easy to pass, though it is impossible to particularize, the story which Mr. Millard tells with so much spiritual sympathy,—for every example of success holds him with its charm; and whether he speaks of Hungary, where the ‘increasing circulation is a marvel’ to him, or of Bohemia, where ‘our work is greatly blessed,’ or of Moravia or Roumania, he lingers on every illustration—and they are many—of the usefulness of the work of his men. For them indeed he has nothing but praise. ‘Our colporteurs are doing their best to bring the Word of God to every home and every hamlet in our Empire: we find them in the miserable huts of wood fellers, climbing over high rocky mountains, or in solitary cottages on the plain: here seeking entrance to splendid mansions, there at the sick-bed of the poor: colportage is indeed the very backbone of our work.’ If one sentence only must be chosen to summarize the results of labour so devoted, none can be better than Mr. Millard’s own—brief, but limitless in meaning:—‘Christ’s cause in Austria-Hungary is gaining ground year by year.’

Nor can any detailed account be given of the Society’s work, done in the face of peculiar difficulties, in the TURKISH AGENCY.* though these regions must always have peculiar interest to minds of classic culture. To them it is almost indescribably suggestive to watch the influences of a new faith, a new literature, new forms of thought falling, softly as the early blooms of summer, on the old homes of Greek civilization; to watch the colporteurs at work in Macedonia—solitary men, found here and there, but the representatives of a power far mightier than that of Alexander; to meet them in Mitylene—the Lesbos of Sappho, of Alcaeus, of Terpander, the very centre of the flower of ancient Hellenic luxury; to learn that in the schools of Greece itself, and in an ever-increasing degree, the New Testament is being introduced. To attempt to estimate the significance of all this is the less necessary, for in one awakening sentence Dr. Thomson sums up the resultant of the forces at work. ‘In Bulgaria,’ he says, ‘and in other lands of the East, the circulation of the vernacular Scriptures is producing at present changes which may almost be compared with the Reformation in England and Scotland, and other countries of Western Europe.’

This generalization leads us into the EGYPTIAN AGENCY,* for it refers largely to Muhammadams, who still surround, though half-conscious they cannot much longer be defended, the sacred places of their faith. And Mr. Weakley's judgment point in the same direction. 'The mode of the Muhammadam is being altered, he receives the colporteur without the malignant scowl of earlier years; it is no longer strange to hear him give as his reason for declining to buy that he already posses a copy of the Injil.' Indeed, it is largely owing to the fact that so many of those who can read have been supplied that the issues of last year are hardly so high as those of 1892. It is interesting to know that since this became a detached Agency ten years ago, over 100,000 Scriptures have been circulated in Egypt itself, and among the streams of ocean-travellers who crowd the Suez Canal. Mr. Weakley notes that among the vessels most open and friendly to the colporteurs are those of RUSSIA, and that name, so much more expressive every year, leads us into the great Empire which borders at once along their eastern and northern limits both the Agencies we have left.

The journals which lead us first through Northern Russia to the utmost shores of Eastern Siberia,† and then by the South into the heart of Asia, are full of glimpses of unfamiliar scenery—ever-varying, bright with changing colour, strangely suggestive of many things in the past and the future—full also of incidents which awake the deeper sympathies of the heart. We see and hear all this as page after page is turned—we feel as if we were ourselves visiting these distant places with the writers as our guides. Dr. Nicolson leads us to the great factories near Moscow, and shows us the people crowding round the colporteur—those 'Russian people' whose character he bids us notice—'so receptive, so generally full of respect for things connected with religion, so thankful for an interest shown in their spiritual welfare'—as elsewhere he speaks of them as bringing 'minds kept fresh and simple through direct intercourse with nature to the Word of God, and when they understand it, straightway attempting to bring their lives in accordance with it.' Then he enters the prison. There also the Gospel is welcome: the library sent by the Bible Society is in full use, and the prisoners 'express their thankfulness for the edification and comfort it affords them.' He directs us afterwards, as the narrative passes on to one of the sunniest parts of his Agency—the broad valley of the Volga; and at the season—it is the month of April—when the skies are intense blue, when the great river, 'as if rejoicing in its escape from winter,' covers whole stretches of the lower lands with its flood; when the steamers speed from port to port—those steamers in which the colporteurs, through the courtesy of the Directors, travel free; and when every deck and every pier is crowded with passengers. Among these crowds the men ply their friendly trade. 'Now,' says Dr. Nicolson, 'it is a Polish merchant who is induced to look into a Bible in his own language, and after making proof of its contents, declares that the book shall be his constant companion; again it is a Russian priest who makes himself specially useful in inducing the passengers to buy, by telling them that the English Bible Society in all countries seeks to induce the various nations, tribes and tongues, to purchase the sacred volume; again it is a Russian soldier, who, welcoming the Bible as so many of his comrades do, clasps it with fervour, and with audible prayer to his heart.' But it is impossible to do more than watch the rapidly passing panorama: we enter Siberia, guided in the Western Sub-Agency by Mr. Davidson, in the further East by Mr. Keay. We notice, as they do with wonder, the immensely rapid progress which is being made: the towns growing into cities, the steamers multiplying on the rivers: great industries planting themselves: but everywhere we find the colporteurs—those 'Apostles of the Nineteenth Century' as Dr. Nicolson calls them—and see with what endurance, and with what success, they everywhere pursue their toil.

Full of interest as all this is, the interest is deepened in the south.* Hence Mr. Morrison reports the largest total hitherto excepting the previous year, and 'of single copies sold to single individuals and bought to be read, absolutely the largest ever known.' It is indeed full of significance to notice that adding the issues of the Southern to those of the Northern Agency, we reach a circulation of above half a million copies, and find that the Russian people receive almost one-seventh of the entire issues of the Society for the whole year. When we remember what lies behind these figures, and when we see, revealed from time to time, the details of the work they represent, the impression is very much deepened. At a large establishment near Kharkov, as the colporteur passed the doors of the workmen's cottages he heard little but the rudest language and the sounds of dispute and quarrel. He was not unsuccessful in distributing copies, and when the day's work was over he again passed the doors. A great change had come: the unkindly voices were silent: one man with a Gospel was the centre of a group who listened as he read; while from an open window a voice was heard: 'Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judæa.' A little further on there was another group similarly engaged, and as the colporteur passed he heard the words which, true of his great Master, are also true of the company to which he himself belonged: 'He went about through cities and villages, bringing the good tidings of the Kingdom of God.' We see in such an incident a picture of the elevating work which is going forward everywhere. One of the colporteurs, worn out by ceaseless labour, has recently resigned. Mr. Morrison, in bidding him grateful farewell, remembers that he has been the means of distributing probably 25,000 copies of the Scriptures on the Dnieper, that historic river up which the Heralds of the Cross sailed when they visited Russia for the first time 1,000 years ago. One of his colleagues, aided by a free pass on the steamers of the Russian Steam Navigation Co., is hardly less busy:—'Ever travelling from port to port, visiting the seamen in Sevastopol, the pleasure-seekers in Yalta, the Greeks of Theodosia, the artillerymen of Kertch, the picturesque mountaineers of the Caucasus coast, the men of the volunteer fleet, the new recruits drafted off to the army, the time-expired men who are leaving the Caucasus for their homes.' Near Simferopol we get a picture of colporteur life and endurance which cannot easily be forgotten. 'He had not long left till it began to snow. The snow fell heavier and heavier, the road became blocked, a strong north-west wind howled along; at last the horses cannot move; the colporteur and the driver are gradually drenched to the skin; they push the cart from behind hour after hour; finally they reach a roadside inn, completely exhausted, but the brave man's only remark is, "It is dreadful weather, however it will soon be spring, and I thank God for permitting me to work continuously."' This however is nothing exceptional. Another colporteur, breaking up fresh ground, visited the Cossacks of the Ural who, with the Kirghiz, a helot race, inhabit 'a bleak, raw land, where clouds of salty dust blow about all day long, and where the scanty vegetation is something that only camels can eat.' Few parts of the Agency are more interesting than the Caucasus—that historic territory, so picturesque in itself, so various in its populations, so full of the movement and progress of the present. From this old land comes a voice which will be welcomed wherever lovers of the Word of God hear it: it is that of the newly appointed Armenian Katholikos, who in a recent sermon said to the people who are so dear to him: 'I bless you, my beloved Armenian people; I ask you to read the Gospel and to teach its precepts to your children; love one another and live together in harmony. If you have the love of Christ in your hearts all will be well, for the source of all that is good is love.' Mr. Morrison's report appropriately closes with a picture of the Colporteur-Translator Aveteriantz sitting in the Hindi Serai of Kashgar, on the edge of the great Gobi wilderness, a case of Scriptures behind him; in front of him a desk, and on it the MS. of the Gospel which he is translating into the language of the people, who come sometimes to watch him, with indefinite curiosity, at his work, sometimes to possess themselves of a copy of the Scriptures to carry into their distant homes.

Little can be said of CHINA, for the river of visible life, of picturesque detail and of incident, so open to the light elsewhere, buries itself here largely out of sight; we have brief summaries, statistics and general statements: it is only here and there we see the spiritual world which lies behind and is above all mere returns, or listen to the voices of the heart. Yet these statistics are full of significance.* Despite the depression which has followed flood and famine; despite the very partial access yet gained into some important provinces, the circulation has been unusually high; it approaches a quarter of a million copies and exceeds that of 1892 by more than 50,000. About 160 native and six European colporteurs have been engaged, and they are exerting an influence which must ultimately be revealed. How deep this influence is, how steadily it is spreading, there are not a few evidences. 'The Gospel,' writes one of the missionaries in a significant sentence, 'has at length begun to find its way from the uneducated multitude to the literary classes, and among them it is affecting the life and views of thinking men.' Even more significant perhaps is the declaration of a native of some education and reflection—a declaration full of that awakening sense of change—that pathetic lament over a departing order of things—that confessed recognition of the approach of a new and mightier power, which was heard once when Christianity won its first great conquests, and which we are beginning to hear in many heathen lands again. 'These men,' he said, 'have come into our beautiful country; they build chapels, and the sound of their bells is heard far and near. The alarming sound enters even into our ancestral halls, and our family graves. Even our incense loses its power, our sons and daughters will die; and the foreigner and his faith will triumph.'

That voice we may also hear in INDIA: we have already heard it; for there also the sky is slowly being filled with the light of a new day, and many eyes are watching how it is flushing all the spaces of the east. To India indeed there can be in this outline but a reference; for of the six Auxiliaries at work there, only three have as yet sent their reports, and those are comparatively brief. But in every case there has been advance. Even in the apparent exception of Bangalore, the centre of the Kanarese-speaking people, the actual circulation has been less only because the demand exceeded the powers of supply, and the exhausted stock could not be at once replenished. Never has the Madras circulation, except in one case, been so high: fifty-two colporteurs have distributed 75,000 copies, and the demand for vernacular Scriptures here, as everywhere else, is steadily growing. Steadily indeed, as all missionary work also reports; but not too steadily nor too swiftly: nor too soon can English Christianity blot out, in the evangelical devotion of the present, some of the painful memories of the past. There was a time—it was before the Christian conscience was awakened about India—when for eighty years there was no church at Calcutta, and such service as there was was held in a private house; when the only recognition of Sunday was the hoisting of a flag; when one of the oldest and best inhabitants of the city could say that he was not sure that he could produce ten righteous men there, but thought he could produce five; when outside the capital there was no assembly for religious worship, nor any evidence that Englishmen had ever a religious instinct; when natives could speak of Christianity as a religion of the devil.* These days are gone—they are perhaps forgotten—yet they may well be recalled if their sorrowful memory may quicken the spirit of thankfulness for the present, or may at all deepen the conviction that the debt England owes to India is incalculably great, that it is all the greater from the unfaithfulness of the past, that it should be paid without stint, without hesitation, without delay.

done, or of JAPAN, for the record of the year is uneventful, and the progress of Christianity seems to pause before the absorption of the people in their new political passions and cares. But there is one fact which illuminates the story with a light of its own, a light sufficient indeed to illuminate many a year of otherwise discouraging labours: it is the history and the yearly record of the Scripture Union,—that Union which already numbers 13,000 members with their 300 local secretaries; which has already done some of the deepest and happiest work of the century; which is planning and attempting more; of which the personal memorials are among the most beautiful and the most touching of those of any Christian community.

Already we have surveyed some of the aspects of work carried on in half a world, but so wide is the Society's field, that there yet remains another hemisphere—continents yet unvisited, great movements to which no allusion has been made. Nor can anything beyond an allusion be made to them now, or in pages which do not so much summarise the larger Report as form, in relation to it, a kind of prelude outline. But in that fuller History it will be seen that the first lady colporteur sent out by the Society has found her work among the thirty millions of MALAYSIA,* that to the same great field have gone four young Englishmen to join their countrymen there, and to continue the work they have so worthily and successfully begun: that in the WEST INDIES and in CENTRAL AMERICA the Society's operations are being more fully organised and developed; that the political revolutions in the Southern Republics, in CHILI and PERU, in the ARGENTINE, have not hindered, nor even lessened, the circulation of the Word of God, and that in CANADA, as in AUSTRALIA and NEW ZEALAND, the Society has proved for another year how deep the fellow feeling, how indispensable the assistance of its faithful friends who are there. To AUSTRALIA, so important is the Society's work there, a special deputation has been sent, and it is hoped that, as a result, the union between that great colony and home may be more close and more friendly than ever. It will also be found that for AFRICA new versions are being prepared year by year; that, in connection with the Agencies of Morocco and of Algiers in the North and the South African Auxiliary at the Cape, much good and enlarging work is being done; that supplies of Scriptures for the great missionary field of the East and the West are constantly being sent ; that to Uganda alone, where the newly awakened and eager spirit of Bible study is one of the most remarkable facts of the century, some 66,000 copies have been despatched * ; that while sections here and there of the continent are being painfully won over as political annexations of the European powers, the whole is being added, slowly indeed but surely,—not with bloodshed, but through sanctified learning, through the devotion of many noble lives, through the tender ministries of Christian women—added race by race, language by language, faith by faith, to the Kingdom of Christ.

It is a survey which cannot but suggest many reflections, many and varying according to the minds in which they arise. But there are two which—so obvious are they and almost inevitable—will probably be awakened in all.

The first is that of the multiplicity of languages. How great that multiplicity, how perplexing, how obstructive to the spread and apprehension of thought, not the most experienced colporteur knows, scarcely the most erudite linguist, nor even the far-wandering traveller who, like the old Greek wanderer, has seen many cities and many nations of men. With us in our island home how dimly felt: but there are forty languages needed in the Turkish Agency, forty in the South Russian. The colporteur must carry many books he cannot read, and there is a tender heart in every language which none can touch or understand but those in whom it was born. How numberless the rooms in the strange house of human life!—how many closed doors—how impossible to reach the inhabitant within unless one has the golden key—the knowledge of the mother-tongue!

The second reflection is that of the world-wide unrest of thought and faith. It is among ourselves,—that profound insecurity of conviction—in the West: wrought partly by the new science, partly by the new literature, partly perhaps by the very fixity of posture we have long had in traditional beliefs: even more by the working of that great silent law of change which all human things obey. Even in the East,—the still home of an everlasting yesterday, in India, in China, those who know them best mark portentous changes in the historic systems of faith which had lived millenniums before Christianity was born,—point out seams of cleavage in the great masses—assure us, not so confidently that they will soon fall suddenly as overturned towers, but quite assuredly that they are already crumbling to their end,—that the fatal day has reached them,—that the places which know them now shall soon know them no more for ever.

* The work in Uganda may serve as an illustration of the many fields of work less prominent in the public eye. The New Testament is now completed and issued in one volume; and the Old Testament is making progress. During the twelve months up to March 31, 1894, there went forth from the Society 1,587 Testaments, 53,315 New Testament Portions, and 6,176 Old Testament Portions.

These two reflections very naturally arise. And as they impress themselves on the mind, may they not awaken a third—and with it a strange sense of Divine purpose in human affairs—a reflection as to the position in which, in this polyglot transition time, the Society finds itself, half unconsciously placed.

For, from the first, translation became the most necessary of all its duties, a duty which has continued and grown more necessary ever since; until now the Bible has become itself polyglot—a wonder of translation—has learned to speak in new tongues, and instead of being an incomprehensible book in this myriad-languaged world is fast becoming intelligible in them all. And this many-languaged Book is in the Society's hands.

Also, this Book alone. Not a Creed, nor a Theology, nor any system of elaborated thought, but the Divine Book only, without comment,—the original source to which perplexed thought must return; from which new Reformations have started; out of which living influences have flown like rivers;—the expression of that divine truth which everywhere finds out the heart, which explains man to himself and reveals God,—which will exist and be new and vital when the old idolatries, when the new philosophies, have passed away.

Let us be steadfast, let us be hopeful, let us rejoice in that possession, let us envy no other. How blessed we are to have received it!—but let us give it to others, to every language, to every nation. It is more blessed to give than to receive.
