SOCIAL BETTERMENT. The lovely Miss Birdie McWhorter formed the Times new reporter this morning that she is at all surprised at the number of feeble-minded women reported from this province. THE TIMES NEW REPORTER haughtily replied that persons of that sort are never distinguished by mental feebleness, which is peculiar to persons of the leisure class, who do not play golf.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER The dead trees in Queen Square are still dead. The fact grows more apparent every day, when the vigorous ones flaunt their green leaves in the summer air. It is understood that the safety board will have a memorial day celebration on Dominion day, when each dead tree will be decorated with a tablet, with inscription stating in what year it died. Such information would be of great value to tourists, especially to those interested in tree culture.

THEATRES

RIP VAN WINKLE COMING
 An Arabian Magician, the Lone Highwayman, Tom Removes, A Day in the Country and some pictures of shorter duration is the programme for the first three days of this week at the Nickel, and it is a right royal good hour of entertainment, with a tawdry popular song thrown in. This new piece, delightfully pictured in colored views, is entitled, "When You Know You're Not Forgotten by the Girl You Can't Forget." The bioscope operator says this new lot of pictures is excellent in color quality and as steady as a set view, and picture lantern men are usually very fussy individuals.

The late taste of fine weather has introduced the Nickel in a more popular light than ever. Hundreds of little folks who were kept at home because of inclement days, are now taken to the big show twice or three times a week. Their babyish chatter and rippling laughter tell how much they enjoy it, and grown-ups, too, feel more like spending an afternoon or evening in the world of life-like motion scenes.

NEW PICTURES AT NICKEL
 A coming attraction at the Opera House will be James H. Huntley in an elaborate revival of Washington Irving's beautiful legend Rip Van Winkle. The engagement will commence Thursday evening and will continue for the balance of the week with a matinee on Saturday. It has been several years since this celebrated play has been presented in the province.

Mr. Huntley, who is starring in the play, is one of the best known of United States character artists. For years he has been touring the Southern States at the head of his own attractions and in that section of the country his name is a household word. He was leading man for Mary Anderson when she was in the height of her fame, appearing later with Edwin Booth in principal roles. He has made a life study of the immortal vagabond of the Catalis and his impersonation of the role is conceded to be one of the greatest characterizations of the United States stage of today.

The supporting company consists of J. Angus Gustam, late leading man with Brady's Way Down East; Mark E. Merritt, Lawrence Conover, Austin Huhn, Frank Haven, John Tucker, Marcia Williams, Violette Hoyt and Sadie Hilton, who will assume the role of Gretchen. The clever little child actresses, Little Nora and Hilda Whipple will also appear in the cast. Reserved seats are now on sale.

Rome, June 2—A tragic incident took place today during a review of the troops by King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena. As a part of the manoeuvres, a military balloon was sent up 700 feet with Captain Ullivelli in the car. A storm which had been coming up burst suddenly and the thousands of spectators were horrified to see a flash of lightning strike the gas bag.

There was an enormous burst of flame and a terrific detonation and the collapsed balloon with its dangling car fell to earth more than a mile from the scene of the review. Captain Ullivelli was found alive but unconscious and was removed to a hospital where he died.

The Russian Douma.
 The present Russian Douma, while believed by some to be inferior to the first, has lived long enough to resemble after the Easter recess. The London Times, always one of the best informed journals upon foreign affairs, contains this significant statement:
 "A new group of the Douma, composed of members of the moderate parties and of the right, has now been formed. Its chief aim is to preserve the Douma from dissolution, increase the fruitfulness of its labors, and wage war against those who try to abuse the privileges of the Douma for revolutionary purposes. The group is split up into several sub-divisions. These sections maintain their individuality, but this will not prevent them from acting as a single group in parliament."
 The London Morning Post, which makes a feature of foreign and colonial political news, has an article by Hon. Maurice Baring concerning the situation in detail, from which the following summary is taken.
THREE DIVERGENT VIEWS.
 "With regard to the present situation in Russia I have met with three different opinions, which between them to sum up all there is to be said on the matter."
 "The first is that a most tragic moment has been reached in Russian affairs; a situation has been created from which there is at present no visible issue. It is impossible for the Douma to accomplish any legislative work, and on the other hand if the Douma be dissolved a coup d'etat must ensue, unless the government desires to summon a third Douma, which would possess all the defects of the present assembly in an increased degree. That is the first view, which can be summed up thus: that the present situation is a vicious circle from which there is at present no visible escape."
MODERATES WILL SAVE IT.
 "One can sum up the second view thus: That the Douma has at all times been enabled to carry on its business in that centre by the support of the government; that the legislative work will be accomplished in committee; but that, if the government does not support the centre, the Douma may at any moment come to grief owing to an alliance between the extreme right and the extreme left on some revolutionary measure. In connection with this view I should add, by the way, that it is argued by some people that the government never had and never will have any intention of supporting the centre; that M. Stolypin is indeed anxious to co-operate with the Douma, but that he is incapable of grasping what constitutional government means, and incapable, therefore, of understanding that such co-operation implies the possession by the Douma of certain rights and liberties, and that as soon as the Douma claims these rights it is told that they are beyond the sphere of their activity."

 "Now, for the third view. This view which I have heard expressed by people who have had great experience of the inner working of the Russian administration, is as follows: The situation is hopeless, because the Douma which possesses a revolutionary right and a revolutionary left cannot possibly last long. The government on the other hand has within its ranks no statesman; nobody gifted either with the power of initiation or the power of foresight. It is guided by no principle and based on no policy."
PEASANTS WANT PEACE.
 "The only comments I will make on this view are, first, that people who are in touch with the peasants tell me that the peasant is not at all inclined towards revolution at present; that they want law and not revolution. The wish is, of course, father to this thought, but this is also the case with those who say that the country is seething with revolution. Therefore on this question it is safer to assume that the attitude of the peasantry will probably depend on whether the harvest is good or bad. Secondly, I believe that the Douma is only one factor in the situation, and I also believe that we are not now on the eve of a revolution, but in the middle of a revolution; that is to say, in the middle of a sequence of events leading from the destruction of a bankrupt regime to the establishment of a new order by means which are not always and not wholly peaceable. But at the same time I consider that the process is deceptive and that the Douma will be able to contribute to the spirit money, and resolve to rouse the ship of the country by the means of a revolution to the law (1898) and the outbreak of the civil war (1902)."

REORGANIZATION OF GOVERNMENT

Caucus Will be Held on Thursday in Fredericton - - Dr. Anglin's Salary.

At a meeting of the provincial government held in the government rooms, Church street, on Saturday, a decision was reached to hold a meeting of the government's supporters in the legislature in the executive council room in Fredericton next Thursday evening to discuss the question of filling the portfolios now vacant.

The chief commissioner of public works reported that arrangements had been made before the provincial engineer to make a complete survey of the St. John Suspension bridge with a view to submitting the plans and details to some engineer in the United States. It is the intention to bring the expert to St. John for the purpose of inspecting the ground.

The government also set as commissioners for the provincial hospital and had under consideration the allowance to be made Dr. J. V. Anglin, the medical superintendent, for expenses recommended by the public accounts committee. It was decided beginning June 1 to allow him $1,500 a year in lieu of household expenses and supplies from the farm. The salary of the superintendent is fixed at $2,500 a year and $200 holidays.

Arrangements were made that A. C. Chapman, the manager of the New Brunswick Fencing Company, should confer with Dr. Anglin as to the most suitable wire fence to be erected round the grounds of the hospital in place of the present wooden structure.

At a meeting held in the mayor's office Saturday afternoon Lieutenant-Governor Tweedie, Col. G. R. White, D. O. C. COLLISION AT MILO JUNCTION

Two Engines Wrecked Through Mistake in the Signals.

Milo, Me., June 1.—A south bound passenger train on the Bangor & Aroostook Railway collided with a freight in the Milo Junction yard about a mile from Milo today, wrecking both engines, but fortunately causing no serious injury to any of the passengers.

The passenger train was No. 16 from Greenville Junction for Bangor, and was heavily loaded with passengers. It entered the yard at about 20 miles an hour, crashed into the engine of the retreating freight.

The impact was sufficient to completely wreck the engine and to throw the entire passenger train backward along the track a distance of forty feet, giving the passengers a very severe shaking up.

The only one of the passengers who received injuries, except from the shock, was Dr. H. S. Snow, of Milo, whose face was somewhat cut by glass from a broken window. Dr. Snow was taken to his home here and his condition was not regarded as serious though he suffered considerably. The passengers were transferred to another train and went on their journey.

Another waste of time and expense in this province is in making foolish or useless laws. Sometimes a remedial law is passed containing a clause which renders the whole thing weak and is meant to do nothing.

"RALPH CONNOR" IN THE PULPIT

Large Congregation Heard Rev. Dr. Gordon Preach Yesterday in St. Andrew's Church.

Rev. Dr. Gordon of St. Stephen's church, Winnipeg, preached to a very large congregation in St. Andrew's church yesterday.

After referred to the greatness and goodness of Moses and his experience in leading the children of Israel, the reverend gentleman passed on to point out the lessons to be drawn from the incident.

On one occasion the children of Israel had murmured at the difficulties of the journey and threatened to stone Moses and return to Egypt.

It might seem that the punishment of Moses' sin was out of all proportion to the offence.

At the evening service there was scarcely a standing room in the church.

Rev. Dr. Gordon pointed out how that the friend of God need never hear to do.

Just before Rev. Dr. Gordon commenced his sermon, the pastor of the church, Rev. David Lang, drew the attention of the congregation to the fact that yesterday was celebrated as the 123rd anniversary of the founding of St. Andrew's church.

Mr. Lang in conclusion said that yesterday was his third anniversary in the pastorate, and he warmly thanked the congregation for the generous measure of support which they had extended to him.

At the evening service there was scarcely a standing room in the church.

Rev. Dr. Gordon will lecture in the church tonight under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, on the Men of the Church, the Guardians of the Nation. The collection will be in aid of missions.
