AWFUL OBJECT LESSON FOR COAL COMMISSIONERS.

As They Go Down Into Depths of Mine a Hungarian Workman is Killed - Bishop and Judge, in Miners' Suits, Explore Collieries - Glad When 5 O'clock Whistle Sounded the End of the Day.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 30.—The seven commissioners appointed by President Roosevelt to adjust the differences existing between the anthracite mine workers and their employers, today made a tour of the extreme upper coal field and saw every step taken in the production of coal from the time it is blasted from the ground, hundreds of feet below the surface up to the point where it is sent to market ready for the use of the consumer.

The trip was quite a novelty to most of those in the commission's party, some of whom had never been in the hard coal regions. Today's tour consisted of an inspection of number two mine of the Hillside Coal & Iron Company, operated by the Erie Company and the coal brook breaker of the Delaware & Hudson Co.

On the run up the Lackawanna Valley, the commissioners viewed with interest the several mining towns situated along the Delaware & Hudson Railroad. The start was made from this city at 10 o'clock. In the party were the seven commissioners, Recorder Moseley and Neil and four stenographers. Accompanying them were General Superintendent H. A. Plapp and E. B. Rose of the Delaware & Hudson; General Manager W. A. May, H. Bryden, of the New York, Ontario & Western, and General Manager S. B. Thorne, of the Temple Iron Company.

These officials represented the companies and the mine workers were represented by Thomas D. Nicholls, president of this district of the United Mine Workers of America; Harry Collins, national secretary of this district; the Rev. Peter Roberts of Mahony City and James Markwick of New York, the latter an expert. Besides these there were in the party about a dozen newspaper correspondents. When the party arrived at Forest City a short drive was taken through the town to the homes of the mine workers, and then the entire party was bunched into three small cars. What is known in the language of the miner as "the party" is a small locomotive, drew the cars to the No. 2 shaft, a mile distant down the valley.

Judge and Bishop Don Miners' Suits. As the mine was wet and dirty, the company officials provided rubber overshoes, overall jumpers and miner's caps for the entire party. Judge Gray and Bishop Spalding were the first to don the uniform of the miner and goodnaturedly took the remarks thrust at them by the colleagues as to whether or not they were rigged out and provided with miner's lamps, the descent of the 100-foot shaft was made.

At the bottom the president and another member of the Forest City local union of the miners' organization, who are employed in the mine, joined the party. The party then descended into a train of six mine cars and were hauled about a mile and a half underground through the province on behalf of the Ontario government, will send samples of Ontario corn, wheat, oats and barley to South Africa at request of the Boer delegates.

Man Had Just Been Killed. The thin vein runs into the Clifford mine adjoining the No. 2. In the Clifford mine a few hours before the commissioners arrived, a Hungarian was killed almost instantly by the falling of a portion of the roof of the mine.

DWARF GIRL WHO MURDERED BETRAVER MAY ESCAPE WITH TWO-YEAR SENTENCE.

Boston, Oct. 28.—The case of Nina Danforth, the little-dwarf girl, who has spent six months in the East Cambridge jail, awaiting trial for shooting to death the man who had betrayed her, will probably be settled next week, when Judge Lawrence ends the term at Lowell and returns to Cambridge.

It is understood that the attorney-general and the district attorney have reached an agreement with the counsel for the defence as to the length of the sentence to be recommended to the court. It was pretty well settled for several weeks that the girl would plead guilty to the charge of manslaughter, provided the punishment were not too severe, and the various conferences between counsel have dealt with this phase of the matter.

One view of the case, in which sentiment is obscured and only cold legal facts admitted, would indicate that the crime was really murder; but as against this view is the sentimental view shared by many, which regards the girl as justified in proceeding to the lengths she did, considering the duplicity practised upon her. To punish her according to the cold legal facts in the proposition would be impossible, it is said. The average jury would discharge her rather than proceed to such an extremity. On the other hand, that she is guilty of a crime is not denied. With those two facts in mind, the lawyers discussed what might be recommended to the court as, in their opinion, a proper adjustment of the matter.

GENERAL AMNESTY SUGGESTS GENL. BOTHA.

Puts it in Black and White that the Boer Leaders are Loyal to Britain.

London, Oct. 30.—The Contemporary Review has published an article by General Botha, in which the writer insists upon the loyalty of the Boer leaders to Great Britain. He expresses regret that the language of some of their continental appeals was somewhat misinterpreted, when scanned microscopically in England, and reiterates his fervent desire to co-operate with the British government in smoothing the effects of the war.

General Botha says it is humiliating to have to appeal to foreigners for funds to aid his countrymen, and that he believes if Englishmen realized the pitiable condition of their vanquished foes there would be no need to make appeals for help. In conclusion, the writer urges a general and complete amnesty which, he says, would remove the most potent cause of estrangement between Britons and Boers.

CREW OF WRECKED BARKENTINE FREDERICA TELL HARROWING TALE.

In Grave Peril, They Fought for Life in Darkness and Storm at Cape Spencer—Some Tossed on Wreckage, While Others Gained Shore and Sought Help.

The barkentine Frederica, Captain Churchill, bound from Parrsboro to Portland (Me.) with coal, was wrecked Wednesday morning near Cape Spencer. Light, and her captain and crew had a narrow escape.

Tossed for six hours on a raging sea, with but a few frail boards between them and eternity, buffeted by fierce winds threatening every minute to drive their makeshift raft on a rocky coast against which the churning waves would beat out their lives, or with the equally perilous alternative of being carried far out on the Bay of Fundy at the mercy of warring elements, Captain John S. Churchill and six of the crew of the Frederica lived the strenuous life yesterday morning.

Meanwhile a seventh man clung with strength born of desperation to the rocks and watched his comrades swirl out of sight in the storm. Two more were plunging their way toward a distant lighthouse, while their vessel was fast splintering to matchwood on the ledge below.

This, in brief, is the story of the occurrence in the bay yesterday morning, when the Frederica, owned by F. E. Sayre, at Cape Spencer Light and near Cape Spencer Light, was wrecked and her crew being rescued only by the fortunate arrival of the government steamer Lansdowne.

The Frederica left Parrsboro Friday morning for Portland (Me.), with a cargo of coal. All looked well for a successful trip, but by a heavy storm set in, and early Saturday morning she took shelter in Snook Harbor, where she lay until Tuesday morning. While there a complete set of new sails were hauled on. Tuesday morning the weather had moderated sufficiently to allow her to put to sea.

The vessel ran along for some time under a double reefed mainmast and storm trysail. With this she kept a course west by south as long as possible. The storm grew, and the situation became worse, and shortly before 3 o'clock Wednesday morning the crew were called to wear ship.

She Struck.

Then something was found to be wrong; the braces were foul and the yards refused to move. Nothing could be done, and the Frederica was a plaything for the waves.

A few minutes more and, to use the words of one of the crew, "a great black cloud seemed to be right ahead of us, but it was a cliff," and the Frederica pounded and ground on the rocks and it was a case of every man for himself.

John Franson, one of the crew, jumped on the rocks when she first struck. Melbourne Sabean followed him, while the rest of the crew made effort to launch the small boat. But another smash came and a giant wave had splintered the small boat.

The next thought was to get a line ashore with the chance of safety in the direction of H. F. White volunteered to carry the line. He wound the end of it and struck out for the shore. After a struggle he reached it and was soon beside the others. The line, however, had parted, and for its purpose was useless.

The idea then came that some of those on shore should clamber up the cliff and go to the lighthouse for assistance. To climb the cliff with such a wind in such a storm was hard, yet White and Sabean managed to push Franson up. Then Sabean reached the summit, while White was left alone on the ledge. Unable to climb without assistance, wet, cold and exhausted, he had to wait, perhaps for succor or death. It was an even chance as the heavy sea washed over him, and he was obliged to cling to the rocks to prevent being swept away.

The Vessel Breaks Up.

Meanwhile the ship had pounded and was breaking up and the captain and crew clung to the wreck. The top of the after house broke away and the men on the wreck, believing their chances of safety would be better on this unimpaired raft, clambered upon it and drifted some yards from the rest of the vessel. A few apples floated to them and were washed aboard. They seized them and made as good a meal as possible.

Steamer Passes Them.

About 8 o'clock a large steamer passed. They shouted and waved their shirts, but she paid no attention. Then a second steamer, the Lansdowne, was seen approaching. She drew near and lowered a boat, and with much difficulty the men were taken off. Then the steamer started for where Seaman White was left in his perilous position. The small boat put out and, as she neared White, that gallant fellow, realizing that it was impossible for her to come much nearer the rocks, jumped into the sea again and swam to the boat.

The Lansdowne, when she sighted the castaways, was bound up the bay supplying the lights. Those on the Frederica were John S. Churchill, captain; William Ferguson, mate; Thomas Leyton, boat-swain; Oscar Lyng, cook; George Colter, John Finney, John Franson, Melbourne Sabean and H. F. White, seamen.

The Frederica was a 266-ton register and was built in St. John in 1884. She was owned by Fred. E. Sayre and was uninsured. There was some insurance on the freight.

"THE PRESIDENT,"
BY ROOSEVELT,

His Opinion as Governor of New York in Magazine Article.

Boston, Oct. 29—In an article written for the Youth's Companion, which will be published next week, Theodore Roosevelt gave his ideas of the duties and responsibilities of the President of the United States. President Roosevelt wrote the article in 1900, while he was governor of New York, and previous to the Republican national convention, which nominated him for vice-president. In the present day.

"The President of the United States occupies a position of peculiar importance. In the whole world there is no other ruler, certainly no other ruler under free institutions, whose power compares with his. Of course, there is the enormous personal factor of the incumbent himself to be considered entirely apart from the power of the office itself. This is merely another way of stating that in any office the personal equation is always of vital consequence."

"The senators are the constitutional advisers of the president. The secretaries who form the cabinet advise him on matters of general policy when he so desires it. With the senate, the advice and consultation are obligatory under the constitution. The senate has no right to dictate to the president who shall be appointed, but they have an entire right to say who shall not be appointed, for under the constitution this has been made their duty."

"Although many men must share with the president the responsibility, there is upon him always a heavy burden of responsibility. It is easy enough to give a bad administration, but to give a good administration demands the most anxious thought, no less than very unusual powers of mind."

"There is every reason why the president should be held to a sharp accountability alike for what he does and for what he leaves undone. But we injure ourselves and the nation if we fail to treat with proper respect the man who, in the highest office in our land, is striving to do his duty."

"Although there are few harder tasks than that of filling well and ably the office of President of the United States, but if the man at the close of his term is able to feel that he has done his duty well, he has the satisfaction of feeling that he has performed one of the great world's tasks and that the mere performance is in itself the greatest of all possible rewards."

HON. MR. BLAIR'S OPINION CARRIES, BEFORE THE RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

Applications in Reference to the Victoria-Vancouver and Eastern Railway—Minister Says People of the West Want the Road, and Legal Questions Could Be Left to the Courts.

Ottawa, Oct. 28—(Special)—A meeting of the railway committee of the privy council was held today to dispose of three British Columbia applications and one from Manitoba. The British Columbia applications have been before the committee for some time past. They are in reference to the Victoria-Vancouver and Eastern Railway.

The first application was for a branch line from the main line of the Victoria-Vancouver and Eastern to Columbia and Grand Forks and the second for a branch to the Granby smelter, at Grand Forks. In addition to this there was an application for a crossing of Grand Forks and Kettle River railway.

W. H. McNeil, of Rossland, and Audley Morrison, M. P., appeared in behalf of the applications. They were opposed by A. B. Aylesworth and Mr. Boland, of Toronto.

For the Grand Forks and Kettle River, Messrs. McNeil and Morrison spoke strongly in favor of the application, showing that the interests of the country through which the Victoria-Vancouver and Eastern was to run, that is, from the Kootenay to the coast, demanded that the construction of the road be proceeded with. The fact that Mr. Hill, of the Great Northern, was interested in the road, ought not to be used as a reason why the work should not be gone on with. Of the 350 miles, 122 were approved by the minister of railways. The construction of the road would give another transcontinental line to Canada.

Mr. Aylesworth opposed the application because the portion of the road built, about 16 miles, was being used for a foreign corporation, the Great Northern, instead of by the Victoria-Vancouver and Eastern. This was done by the original charter holders selling out the Mackenzie

WHY IS THE PRICE HIGH?

Cornelius Shields, general manager of the Dominion Coal Company, says in an interview at Sydney:

"We have shipped considerably more coal this year to Halifax and St. John and it has been entirely at the regular market figures. We have not shipped a pound of coal at an advanced price. We are not getting any fancy prices at all as has been stated. We have been misrepresented and while we still do not feel that we should stand for it." As the Halifax Chronicle's correspondent understands it, the company contracted with the different dealers to supply coal at the regular prices and that when the demand for coal increased, the dealers did not the company took advantage of it and increased the price.

Man and Mackenzie & Mann in turn selling out to Mr. Hill, of the Great Northern. Besides this there was a case in the British Columbia courts against the road. Representatives from Columbia and Grand Forks appeared in favor of the Victoria-Vancouver and Eastern road. Mr. Blair said that what he was in the west the people were crying out for this road. He thought that the legal questions should be left to the courts and that the committee should deal with the public necessities. It was finally decided by the committee to grant the order for the crossing and branches. The courts can decide any question as to the status of the company.

BURGLARS MURDER PAL AFTER A FIGHT OVER THE SWAG IN PORTLAND.

Portland, Me., Oct. 28—William Thompson, alias William Riley, of Chelsea (Mass.), known to the police as a "Hobo burglar," was shot, presumably by his fellow burglars, on the county road between Stroudsburg and Westbrook at an early hour this morning.

It is supposed the burglars, who had robbed O. E. Sherman's general store nearby, of whom Thompson was undoubtedly one, quarreled when it came to dividing the spoils, and Thompson was shot. The companions ran away and he was left lying in the road. He crawled to the house of Roscoe Knight and was later taken to the Westbrook police station, where he died shortly after 2 p. m. without revealing the names of those with him, nor did he tell how he came to be wounded. He was badly intoxicated when found.

Officers in this city suspect three men, Thompson said there were two men with him but the police think there was another. It is believed some one of the trio must have been wounded. The men of whom the police are in search are said to have been with Thompson in Portland a day or so ago.

The Westbrook police learned of the burglary at a general store owned by O. Sherman not far away where $20 worth of goods had been stolen and an attempt made to blow open the safe with dynamite. They found in the road in front of the Knight house a sack from the store containing shoes, rubbers, tobacco, etc. Where he had laid in the road, probably for three hours, was a 32 calibre revolver containing one loaded and five empty cartridges.

Thompson was taken to the Westbrook police station where it was found one bullet had entered his right wrist evidently when he raised his hand to ward off the revolver, and another had entered his back just above the hip and buried itself in his body.

Thompson would not confess and contended to the last he had been held up and robbed, being first upon whom he ran away. He has lived at South Boston and was a frequent visitor at Bangor.

Coroner Perry impelled a jury, who, after viewing the remains, adjourned next Saturday at 3 p. m. County Attorney Whitehouse and Doctor Thompson conducted an autopsy, locating the bullet in the body.

The police have issued requests for the apprehension of James Ryan, aged 26, James Arnold 31 years and Wm. Smith, 22 years, Thompson's suspected companions. They previously have been arrested with Thompson and their records are grouped with his at the police station.

A GIGANTIC PLOT,
Chicago Prisoner Will Swear to It Before
Grand Jury.

Chicago, Oct. 30—The Daily News today says: To State-Attorney Dineen and his uncle, Police Inspector Wheeler, a convicted tax-fixer, has revealed in all its ramifications, the gigantic plot that culminated with the discovery of the Masonic Temple tax frauds. Unless the present programme shall be changed, Wheeler will go before the grand jury tomorrow and in a formal declaration under oath, reiterate the statements made to the prosecutor. The conspiracy, or rather the series of conspiracies, drove two men to suicide, according to the confession.

According to Wheeler, the Masonic fraud was merely incidental to an extensive series of operations reaching back into the past and made possible through lax methods, coupled with a desire on the part of responsible prominent business houses to evade taxation.

When
in Bed

Put some Vapo-Cresole in the vaporizer, light the lamp and place it near the head of the bed. Then all the time the baby sleeps it will be in the healing, soothing vapor. The hard, tight cough loosens; the fever gradually comes down; the breathing becomes natural; and phlegm becomes every part of the throat and bronchial tubes are touched by the medicine. The hard coughs and convulsions of children nothing equals Vapo-Cresole.

Vapo-Cresole is a very druggist everywhere. A Vapo-Cresole outfit, including the Vaporizer and Cresole, complete, is a life-line, and a bottle of Vapo-Cresole is a valuable paper on Vapo-Cresole's medicinal use upon request. Vapo-Cresole Co., 126 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

BIG GRIST FOR DIVORCE MILL AT FREDERICTON; THREE CASES IN COURT.

Two Go Over Until Next Session—Evidence in the Third is Taken and Judgment Reserved—Decision in Turner vs. Turner to Be Announced Friday.

Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 28—(Special)—This was divorce day before Judge Gregory. His honor took up three cases—Bend, F. McCutcheon vs. Margaret McCutcheon; George Wm. Clements vs. Melita Jane Clements; and Esther Ward vs. Bliss Ward. In the two first named cases some of the evidence is omitted in the report, because of its nature.

Judge Gregory announced that he would not deliver judgment in the St. John case of Turner vs. Turner, until the libel had been properly amended, and that he would also deliver judgment in Hartley vs. Hartley on that day.

McCutcheon vs. McCutcheon.

The case of Benjamin F. McCutcheon vs. Margaret McCutcheon was then taken up. The trial was commenced at the July term, when the libel of the plaintiff was read and the evidence of two witnesses taken. The libel set forth that the respondent had been guilty of adulterous conduct.

This morning A. George Blair, jr. for the defendant, stated that his client, who resided in Boston, was detained there by illness and asked adjournment until she could attend.

Alex. W. Baird, for the plaintiff, objected to a postponement.

The answer to the plaintiff's libel was read by Mr. Blair. It gave an emphatic denial to the charge of adultery and unfaithfulness. It charged that the plaintiff had failed to contribute to the support of the defendant and her children. She asks in conclusion that she be dismissed from court with such reasonable costs as may seem proper.

The judge remarked that it was not usual to proceed with a case immediately upon the answer being filed. He suggested that the case be stood over until next term and that she finally did.

Clements vs. Clements.

The case of George William Clements vs. Melita Jane Clements was next taken up. The defendant is at present a resident of Halifax, and her husband is seeking for an absolute divorce on the ground of adultery. Livingston Goggins, master mariner of Westport (N. S.), now deceased, is named as respondent.

The libel, which was read by S. B. Busin, for the plaintiff, set forth that the couple were married at Pembroke Shore, Yarmouth (N. S.), on Nov. 19th, 1872, the wife's maiden name being Melita Jane Bain. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Isaiah Wallace, a Baptist clergyman. The couple lived together for 18 years and became the parents of six children. After that, the libel went on to say, the wife became unfaithful of her marriage vows.

In conclusion the libel states that the plaintiff is a person of good behavior and conduct, and prays that the marriage contract be annulled by the court.

Rev. Isaiah Wallace was called as the first witness. He said he was a Baptist clergyman and had lately resided at Wolfville (N. S.), but was at present homeless, as he was en route to New York to visit his son. He had married Mr. and Mrs. Clements at Yarmouth on November 19th, 1872. He informed the court that he knew the plaintiff as an upright and honorable man who held a good position. The plaintiff said he was in the employ of the Singer Manufacturing Company as traveling inspector, and had his headquarters at the Hotel Ottawa, St. John. He said he first had reason to suspect his wife's fidelity in the fall of 1892, when he met her walking arm in arm with another man at Westport. She did not know he was at home at the time and therefore his appearance on the scene was quite a surprise to her. From that time on their relations were strained. When he married the defendant he followed the vocation of a fisherman but he afterwards went to Halifax and accepted an agency. Later on he moved his wife and family to that city.

The plaintiff concluded his testimony this afternoon.

Judgment was reserved by the court.

Ward vs. Ward

The case of Esther Ward vs. Bliss Ward was allowed to stand over, no one appearing to ask for trial. The parties to this suit belong to Seckville.

$7.50 in New York.

New York, Oct. 29—Most of the retail dealers reduced their prices of authentic fur domestic use to $7.50 a ton today, and at that rate sold only to customers who were in need. All others they advised to wait until the price dropped to $5.50.

Election $200 on Wall Street.

A bet of $200 to $100 was made on Wall Street Tuesday. There seems to be about $20,000 Odell money at 2 to 1 with no color money offered. Charles M. Minzenheimer has commission of $10,000 to wager at odds of 2 to 1.

OUR COUNTRY CORRESPONDENCE.

NEWCASTLE CREEK.

Newcastle Creek, Queens Co., Oct. 26.—Newcastle, although important for the large coal trade, has received an impetus of late in the great demand and increased price of coal, and the building of the railway from Chipman with branch lines to several important mines.

The hire is to be extended to Fredericton but the terminus at present is the new town of Minto, which has sprung up within a few weeks. Streets have been laid out and a number of buildings are in the course of construction, including the station house, freight house, cars, sheds, etc.

Messrs. King, of Chipman, who have purchased valuable coal property and are operating largely, are putting up a large store and as soon as carpenters can be secured will erect 10 dwelling houses for their operatives.

R. J. Kennedy is erecting a large three story hotel, the building of which is 30 by 28 feet with 60 by 20 feet. It will be heated by furnace and fitted with all modern conveniences, electric light, telephone, etc., and with lively stable in connection.

Beside these, several building lots have been sold to Robert McGill, Howard Eskin and others. There is also to be a barber shop. In fact, everything is to be strictly up to date and Minto promises to be a rising and progressive town as recent developments have proved the mineral resources of the surrounding country almost inexhaustible.

The J. S. Gibson Company, who have successfully operated a steam excavator in taking out coal about a mile below Newcastle wharf, will during the coming winter sink for the lower vein of coal which every indication proves will be hard coal.

McMann's Cove at Lower Newcastle, which is rapidly becoming an important shipping port of New Brunswick, presents a lively scene. Steamers, barges, tugs and sailing vessels are constantly coming in and out loading and unloading. It is estimated that last year the exports, principally of coal, amounted to $60,000.

Telephone communication from Chipman to Newcastle bridge was completed last week. Newcastle bridge, which is being rebuilt by Messrs. Baird and McLaughlin, promises to be a fine structure. The piers are of granite and the bridge is to be covered.

ST. MARTINS.

St. Martins, N. B., Oct. 28.—Recent improvements to school buildings and their surroundings in the parish of St. Martins show that the ratepayers are fully alive to the advantages of a well equipped school. The school room, neat dwellings and pleasant playgrounds.

During the summer the following districts have fenced their school property, erected ornamental trees and otherwise improved their grounds: Bain's Corner, Fairfield, Green and Little Beach.

The ratepayers of Quaco Point are making preparations to fence their grounds this autumn. The school at Bain's Corner has had an experimental garden in operation this summer, and school Inspector W. S. Carter was the purchaser of a large quantity of plants from that garden recently; the first instance perhaps in New Brunswick of a school offering agricultural products for sale.

The school buildings in St. Martins have been painted during the summer and look very neat and attractive. There are also a garden and well laid out grounds in connection with the advanced department.

During the visit of Inspector Carter to the schools, he met the trustees and in view of the fact that manual training and experimental work will in all probability receive a place in the curriculum, it has been proposed that the trustees take steps to acquire the lot adjacent to the school building for experimental purposes. A meeting of the ratepayers will likely be called in a few weeks to consider the purchase of the lot.

It has been proposed that Bain's Corner, Fairfield and adjoining districts consolidate and form a large central school at Bain's Corner, which defies all the skill of our hunters and trappers has destroyed several of the pens of our poultry flocks. It is reported that a valuable hen by the name of Michael Kelly, on Friday night killed E. S. Hatfield's pair of Buff Orpingtons, which he imported at a cost of $100.00. This is also a move to form a District Superintendant. Epee, who is laid up with typhoid fever, is reported much improved today.

E. B. Buckeridge, of Harcourt, is in town. Wild ducks and brant are plentiful; wild geese unusually scarce. The singing of the Macaulay concert here the necessity for a modern hall has been particularly noticed and it is said a company will be formed this winter to provide one. There is also a move to form a board of trade if the council room can be secured for the winter.

Mrs. Laforgue, of Sarniside (P. E. I.), is in town. Bruce McBeth, son of the late governor, was married to Miss Oulder, of Kempt Road last week. The sewerage system at Contracted for will be completed the first week in November although some extensions will be made next spring owing to the growth of the town.

The bride and groom were supported by Thos. E. Paterson, of Studholm. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Chapman took the C. P. R. for their future home in Everett (Mass.). The bride, who belonged to one of the oldest and best families of Sussex, was highly esteemed for her beautiful character and excellent qualities. Ed. Conely, of the Sussex Mercantile Company, and Herb Johnson acted as ushers in a most satisfactory manner.

Mrs. Harriet presided at the new pipe organ and her rendering of Mendelssohn's Wedding March was a most impressive and beautiful performance. The church has been improved since.

Mr. Carr, of West River, Albert county, is holding union revival meetings in the Methodist church, Albert. The evening sessions are well attended and a number of converts are being made. Doctor Carnwath performed the operation.

HOPEWELL HILL.

Hopewell Hill, Oct. 27.—The American three-masted schooner Ellen M. Mitchell, with pilot from Shelburne, went on to the middle ground at the mouth of the St. John's River, on Friday night, and sprang a leak. The captain, James Stewart, telephoned for a tug and today the vessel was taken to Hopewell Cape to be beached for repairs. She pounded on the middle ground for several tides and is badly strained.

James Doherty, first officer of the barque W. W. McLaughlin, who left the vessel in England on account of illness, came to his home here on Friday, having some over in the Allan Line. Numpkin. He will join the McLaughlin when she arrives on this side.

Samuel Reynolds, a native of Newfoundland, was jammed between two plater cars at Hillsboro on Thursday and had his collar bone broken besides receiving other injuries. The Methodist church at Surrey, which has been undergoing repairs, was reopened on Sunday, Rev. Dr. Harrison preaching at both services.

Deer Island, N. B., Oct. 27.—The pie supper which was held at Fair Haven on Saturday evening, was a grand success, about $80 being netted. Quite a number of our young men will soon leave for the States to secure employment for the winter.

The busy season in the sardine factories is past and most of our young men have returned home. The rifle practice held at Cumming's Cove range on Friday and Saturday last was well attended, and good shooting was the result, notwithstanding the fact that it was the second time that the company have been together since organization.

While G. W. Sirls was strolling through the woods a few days ago a large bear made his appearance, but soon fell a victim to his rifle.

Successful Voyage With Oil as Fuel. Sydney, N. S. W., Oct. 30.—The Shell Transport Company's steamer Clam has arrived here from Batavia, having made a record voyage. She used oil as fuel, and it increased her speed half a knot as compared with her last voyage under coal. The consumption of oil was 18 tons a day, against 24 tons of Welsh coal and 28 tons of English coal. Her crew is estimated smaller than usual.

Rev. David Worley, who has just died at Nesheo Rapids (Kan.), after preaching in this county for 33 years, had eight sons in the union army during the civil war. Six were in the Third Iowa Cavalry and two in the Ninth Kansas. Their average stature was 6 feet 2 inches.

AMHERST.

Amherst, Oct. 29.—(Special)—Some time ago Angus Purdy, postmaster at Amherst, was dismissed. A recommendation was sent to the department at Ottawa that his case be opened giving him an opportunity to answer any charges made.

Wood was received today stating that the action of the department was final and that the name of a successor had been recommended. It is understood that Noel B. Steele's name has been forwarded and he no doubt will receive the appointment. The Amherst post office is one of the best positions in the county. Mr. Steele is a son of Rev. D. A. Steele, D. D., of this town.

A young man, prominent in sporting circles and belonging to one of the best families in the town, has absented himself from the office in which he was employed, for the past two days. Fears that matters financial are not just right are entertained.

Digby, N. S., Oct. 29.—(Special)—A very pretty wedding took place in the Presbyterian church this afternoon when Rev. Donald McGilivray, of Lunenburg, was united in marriage to Miss Mina Allen Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bishop, of Digby. The bride wore a suit of blue broadcloth with hat to match and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern.

A STRONG, VIGOROUS MAN

Is Liable to Break Down—Per-na is Sure to Restore.

Hon. Frank Dunn, Alderman Twenty-Fourth District, writes from 232 East Fifty-Eighth Street, New York City: The Per-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O. Gentlemen: "There is no remedy for a broken-down system that I know of which will so effectually restore health as Per-na. Whenever I am overworked or suffer from the consequences of a cold a few doses of Per-na builds me up again more quickly than anything I ever tried. I find it especially valuable for catarrh. Three bottles cured me three years ago of catarrh of the stomach and I have never had the least symptoms of it since."

Very truly, FRANK DUNN, Alderman 24th Dist., N. Y. City.

Per-na is a medicine that gives tone to some parts of the system. There are different kinds of tonics, but the tonic most needed in this country, where catarrh is so prevalent, is that tonic that operates on the mucous membranes. Per-na is a tonic to the mucous membranes of the whole body. It gives tone to the capillary circulation which constitutes these delicate membranes. Per-na is a specific in its operation upon the mucous membrane. It is a tonic that strikes at the root of all catarrhal affections. It gives tone to the minute blood vessels and the terminal nerve fibres. Catarrh cannot exist long where Per-na is used intelligently. Per-na seeks out catarrh in all the hidden parts of the body.

Paul Hartman writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "In January last I began the use of your Per-na and I can testify for what was accomplished by its use. At the time I could scarcely walk to my place of business without stopping to rest and I arrived home completely exhausted. I had severe pains in my head, and general weakness. After using the first bottle of Per-na I began to improve and today I feel that I am a sound man and I work twelve hours a day without any bad feeling."—Paul Hartman.

A. J. Harsh, an expert of the C. B. Co., N. W. Washington, D. C., writes: "I had catarrh of the stomach and small intestines for a number of years. I went to a number of doctors and got no relief. Finally one of my doctors sent me to Chicago and I met the same doctor. They said they could do nothing for me, that had cancer of the stomach and there was no cure. I almost thought the same for my breath was something awful. I could hardly stand it, it was so offensive. I could not eat anything without great misery, and I gradually grew worse. "Finally I got one of your books, and concluded I would try Per-na, and thank God, I found a relief and a cure for my dreadful disease. I took five bottles of Per-na and two of Manalin, and I now feel like a new man. There is nothing better than Per-na, and I keep a bottle in my house all the time."—A. J. Harsh.

Write to Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio. If you do not get a reply from the factory return to the use of Per-na. Write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

AN IDEAL MEDICINE. A New Discovery Which Cures All Forms of Catarrh. The tablet is the ideal form in which to administer medicine, but until recently no successful catarrh tablet had ever been attempted. There is now, however, an excellent and palatable remedy for catarrh in tablet form, known as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and sold by druggists, composed of the most recent discoveries in medicine for cure of catarrh and result from their use have been highly gratifying.

The old time treatment of catarrh was in the form of blisters, leeches, poultices, sprays, and other unscientific remedies were used with no success, but being in liquid or powder form were inconvenient to use and gave all ailments in liquid or powder form and no medicinal properties when opened or exposed to the air. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain highly concentrated antiseptics, Hydrates of Blood, and Red Gum which kill the catarrh germs in the blood and mucous membrane, and in the process are strictly scientific and moderate. They cure all catarrhs, whether of the blood or of the mucous membrane, and are equally effective in all cases of constitutional blood disease and all applications can have only a temporary effect.

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 1, 1902.

A PRESENT NEED.

"In time of peace prepare for war" is an axiom of wide application, and in no direction does it better apply than to matters of civic health and the important questions affecting the food supply of the city.

This report was published in the Telegraph of the next morning and in the following issue the matter was fully discussed editorially.

The health of the citizens demands the most rigid care of the city's meat supply. Nothing but a modern abattoir will serve the purpose.

THE CIVIC BURTHEN.

Acting under the legislation passed at the last session of the House of Assembly the aldermen have appointed a committee of their own members to enquire into and report on the assessment act now in force in St. John.

In other words the respective chairmen of the four city departments are the committee to decide whether the present system of taxation is the best possible way, and if not whether its defects can be rectified by amendment or by the introduction of a new method of civic taxation.

The first matter of importance, then, for this investigating committee to decide, is whether the present law is defective and if so in what respects.

It is to this end that the Telegraph has been publishing in concise form the facts of the matter as revealed in the city valuations for 1902-3, which have occasioned so much comment from citizens.

(1) That the present system of civic taxation is defective in principle, and (2) that the present defective system is rendered more oppressive by the lack of courage or of intelligence shown by the present board of assessors in fixing many of the valuations, and in failing to discover a considerable amount of personal property which might bear its share of the burden of taxation.

We believe the present system is defective in that it unduly taxes the manufacturing and jobbing interests by the imposition of high valuation on plant, machinery and stock in trade which could be more equitably adjusted by a system which would substitute a tax based on business assets and personal property and incomes.

We have shown that the personal property discovered this year in St. John for taxation purposes is only a little over 50 per cent of the value of real estate, and that the bearing of the present system is to oppress the laboring classes and the manufacturing and distributing interests which create the city's wealth.

There is a curious revelation in the news of this morning. When Theodore Roosevelt was governor of New York he wrote an article for the Youth's Companion which was pigeon-holed by the editor at that time for reasons we must guess at.

It was known twenty years ago that Theodore Roosevelt had a well-defined ambition to be president. Possibly the editor who delayed the publication of the article which Governor Roosevelt wrote, did so anticipating his election to the greater office, an event which clearly would greatly enhance the value of the paper.

Whether or not such was his purpose, the article to be published now will arouse much more interest than it would have commanded had it been printed in 1900, when it was written.

It is practically bringing about a settlement of the coal strike, the president performed a great public service, although he virtually departed from precedent in substituting private agreement for public government, and thus seemingly confessed that the laws of the republic could not be invoked swiftly and successfully to meet the emergency.

British students of sociology have been very much exercised of late about the decline of the birth rate in Great Britain.

According to the census of 1901, the birth rate was 31.57 per 1,000. After the decade 1841-51, when the rate was 35 there had been a steady increase until it reached 37.9 in the decennium 1871-81.

The decline in the birth rate during the last decade may be accounted for in several ways. During the first portion of the decennium 1891-01 a commercial depression existed in Britain, and it has been observed that such a condition has a material influence on the birth rate.

In recent years there has been probably a greater tendency among the British masses to accumulate some capital before marrying, and thus the tendency to defer matrimony has been increased. There also appears to be a certain close relationship between high culture and a low birth rate which cannot be construed as a mere coincidence, but which is rather a phenomenon that has been observed and will be more plainly seen on comparing the conditions of the various European nations.

The birth rate in France is a source of anxiety to the statesmen of that country. The population there is almost stationary. The French families are not nearly as large as they were a century ago, and the government is finding the greatest difficulty in obtaining recruits to keep up the strength of the army.

Among the peasantry and masses of Germany, on the other hand, the birth rate appears to be steadily increasing. The Germans are more easily contented and are not so much given to the accumulation of capital as the British and French. The last German census shows that there has been a marked accession of population due entirely to the natural increase.

In Russia, where the standard of the laboring classes is much below that of Germany, the birth rate is even higher than in the latter country, and like Germany she draws more men annually for the army than she needs.

The decline in the birth rate is not such a serious matter to Britain as it is to the other European nations which are entirely dependent on conscription for the supply of soldiers to defend their empire, and still it is a matter of grave importance, and sociologists will await with interest the results of the next decennial census.

A COMPARISON.

It is the fashion just now in Tory circles to attempt to persuade the people of this section of Canada that Mr. Borden and the men who accompanied him on his western tour made a profound impression upon the country. Some may believe that they did so. Better not believe anything of the kind. Better, perhaps, than bald assertion one way or another is the following comparison of men made by the Manitoba Free Press:

It is not unfair to assume that Mr. Borden was accompanied by his ablest lieutenants—the men who would be called upon to become cabinet ministers should there be a change of government. To those who sat under them and listened to their speeches we propound the questions: "What do you think of them as prospective cabinet members? Do you believe they are big enough men to cope with the great national issues which are coming up for settlement every year? We know very well what the answer will be. The West will not be a consulting party to the programme of replacing Mr. Sifton by Mr. Boyd, Sir Richard Cartwright by Dr. Sproule, Sir William Mulock by Mr. Blain, Mr. Fisher by Mr. Pope, Mr. Fitzpatrick by Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Blair by Mr. Fowler, and Sir Wilfrid by Mr. Borden. The contrast is a little too startling.

It is indeed a little too startling when presented thus simply. And when the success of Liberal rule, and the prosperity and content of the country are considered also, the western tour of Mr. Borden and his lieutenants seems to have been of importance chiefly from the fact that it permitted the western people to make such a comparison and draw conclusions which must prove disastrous to Tory hopes.

BRITAIN'S VIGILANCE.

The members of the German Navy League and the Pan-Germans have long been ambitious for their country to become a dominant naval and commercial power upon the Atlantic. The "eighteen year programme" passed by the Reichstag in 1890, and which has since been reduced to eight years, was intended to greatly strengthen the naval power of Germany.

To supplement this extensive programme the German government has given to the North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American companies large subsidies to assist in the construction of steamers with a remarkably high rate of speed, such as the Deutschland, Kronprinz Wilhelm and other vessels of a similar type.

The organ of the League, Die Flotte, recently stated that the fast steamers of the German trans-Atlantic lines could be employed as commerce destroyers to paralyze the trade of Great Britain or any other nation in the event of war.

The recent action of the British government in granting to the Cunard Company a subsidy for 24-25 knot steamers, and the construction of a number of naval vessels with a speed of 25 knots or more, has caused considerable consternation among the naval enthusiasts of Germany, and has destroyed their dream of the German supremacy on the Atlantic.

We find that others besides ourselves were so astonished at Mr. Powell's diatribe charges that they took notes of them and forwarded a copy of the charges to Hon. A. G. Blair, minister of railways, who has these statements in his possession.

The Mail says pertinently: "If Mr. Powell knew these charges were true why did he not make them in communities where all the circumstances were known, instead of iterating them at Revelstoke, 3,000 miles from the scenes of the charges?"

In Regard to Faces and Heads.

I always love to study faces. The characteristics of the proprietors are as plainly imprinted upon them as is somebody's "Celebrated Tonic" on your front board fence.

Dark-brown eyebrows pasted on a lady's brows indicate that she would make a model step-mother after she had some practice with the hickory switch, and heard the first wife mention it a enough.

Small heads denote nervous organization, or disorganization, with quick thought, because they don't have so much space to look over when they want anything on the jump.

A man with a big nose has a future as well as a big nose before him; he will follow wherever his nose goes, and if he gets into a fight he will always have something between him and his enemy.

A nose won't be much account for anything practical, unless it may be to "talk through." The owner of such a nose will have a happy wife, and be sure to get smoothly along at home, in fact he will find it his interest, seeing how good a handle it is.

A nose with a hinge to it prefixing the face of lovely woman denotes scorn for worldly things in general. No other nose is near so perfect as this, and the possessor does not have to wait long as Mike Auber did for something to turn up when she has something so handy for occasions.

A sharp-pointed nose is indicative of great penetration and sharp language. The acutest held that possessors of such noses were good people to avoid, but they were old fogies evidently.

A flat, hard cheek denotes persistency and firmness of purpose, and shows that its owner cannot be put down or aside with impunity.

Red freshly painted cheeks, put on rather lavishly, denote the most delightful superficial modesty which is the chief charm of the society woman. If after a while much of it is left on your shoulder it implies surprise and profanity.

People with a dark-brown glass eye are generally inclined to seeing only one thing at a time, and are without widely extended views of life or other things, or of comprehensive matters in general.

A very red nose has got to be of late a sign of a counter, or I would say a counter-sig, denoting a certain mental tendency to the non compass vermentis state.

People wearing black wigs are generally fiery and passionate in disposition, and ardent in their loves, and some of them, in their spirits. They are awful people to get out of patience in less than seven or eight years. Very unreasonable they are!

Boston, Oct. 20.—Prof. Alexander Agassiz, his sons, Maximilian and Rodolphe, and Henry A. C. Taylor have gone to the Lake Superior copper region.

WELL MR. POWELL? When Mr. H. A. Powell, the rejected of Westmorland, made a weak-kneed denial of the insult to the I. C. R. employees credited to him in the West, the Tory organs with suspicious alacrity accepted his word for it, although his tardy retraction was neither nearly nor completely.

Although anthracite is selling for $6.50 a ton in New York the high price of hard coal here has forced the members of the school board in common with other mortals to get busy and find out what substitute can be procured. Already soft coal has been substituted for the school buildings lately by the trustees, and recently a special meeting of the school board was held to consider what would be done in the smaller schools, where stores of the self-feeder variety are used. Soft coal will not burn in these stores, so the board decided to put in stores of the class known as "pot" stores in order to overcome the difficulty.

Rev. G. M. Campbell, of Centenary church, has received very urgent calls to the pastorate of two of the most influential churches of the Canadian far west, one from Wesley church, Vancouver, the most prominent Methodist congregation in that city. The other comes from the rapidly growing city of Calgary (Alb.) to the Methodist church there. Both congregations were anxious that Mr. Campbell should become their pastor after next conference, but the reverend gentleman himself has, as yet, nothing to say regarding the matter. Mr. Campbell has preached in neither of these churches, which is a singular fact considering the urgency displayed in their requests. The calls were sent entirely on the reputation of Mr. Campbell, which has extended to the Pacific coast. He was most favorably impressed with western Canada during his recent trip and it is not at all unlikely that next year will find him in charge of either of these churches.

"SEE THAT OLD FARMER" WHERE?

PASSENGERS HAD A SCARE.

Tree Blown Across the Track Seen by Vigilant Engineer--No Wreck

The Shore Line train was on hour late in reaching St. John Tuesday night. When a few miles from St. George two cars heavily loaded with stone became detached as a result of weak couplings and the train had to be backed a considerable distance when the discovery was made. The train then started again, slowly, as the night was very dark.

The train was passing in at one side of the passenger coaches and the occupants were passing more or less uncomplimentary remarks in reference to Russell Sage when the train stopped again very abruptly.

Across the track, about 30 miles from St. John, a large tree had been blown and a serious accident was averted only by the watchfulness of the engineer and the slow rate of speed at which the train was travelling.

It rained very heavily all along the Shore line yesterday and more or less rain has been reported from various places.

CAPTURED BY DETECTIVE

KILLED AT THE DEPOT.

Young Haligonian Who Lifted $110 From Fellow-boarder--Quick Work Pleases Halifax Chief.

Halifax, Oct. 29.—(Special)—A fisherman named Doucette arrived here a few days ago on his way home. He had $110 and went to a boarding house in Lower Water street kept by a man named Bourdreaux. Yesterday morning, on opening his purse, in his trunk, he found the money gone. He notified the chief of police, and Detective Power found that a young man named James Kearsey who had been boarding in the same house as Doucette, was missing.

Telegrams were sent out and tonight a message was received from Chief Clark of St. John, that Mr. Kearsey had been arrested there. The chief and Detective Power are greatly pleased over the quick work of the St. John officers. Detective Power leaves in the morning for St. John to bring back Kearsey.

Chief Clark received a telegram Wednesday morning from Chief Sullivan of Halifax, asking him to be on the lookout for Kearsey. The telegram contained an accurate description of the lad and Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Kilen searched boarding houses and the America Hotel but Kearsey had not come right through to St. John, but stopped over on the road and reached here on the Pacific express yesterday afternoon.

Detective Kilen was at the depot and when Kearsey stepped off the train he was arrested. At first he denied that he was the person wanted, but afterwards he acknowledged the theft; $110 was found on him.

SAVE THE BABY.

A Mother Tells How Many a Threatened Life May Be Preserved.

To the loving mother no expense is too great, no labor too severe, if it will preserve the health of her little one. Children are generally simply kept, so light is baby's hold on us that it is often a knowledge of the right thing to do that turns the tide at crisis. And in baby's illness every crisis is a trial one. Think the timely use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would save many a little life.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest of all blood-making, nerve-strengthening, and health-giving remedies. They will make you strong and healthy, and give you a good appetite. They will also give you a good complexion and a good night's sleep. They will also give you a good digestion and a good bowels. They will also give you a good circulation and a good heart. They will also give you a good nervous system and a good mind. They will also give you a good body and a good soul.

THE GIBSON PROPERTY.

Colonel McLean Denies the Rumors of a Sale

Col. H. H. McLean tells the Globe that Mr. Alex. Gibson is about selling to a Nova Scotia syndicate, the mills and property at Marystown with out foundation. What probably gives rise to the rumor is that Mr. Gibson is contemplating making extensive improvements to his property and issuing preferred stock in order to furnish him with additional capital for the increased expenditure.

Mr. Gibson and other shareholders have opened negotiations with Mr. Gibson for the purchase of his stock. The preferred shareholders, he says, have nothing to do with the management of the company, and the absolute control of the company will be retained in Mr. Gibson's hands. There is no reason, Mr. McLean says, why Mr. Gibson should dispose of the property; he is in as good health as he ever was, strong and vigorous, and the last three years have seen his existence.

RAIN, DRIVEN BY A 44-MILE GALE,

SWEPT CITY AND COUNTRY; RIVER RISES.

The heaviest rainstorm St. John has had for months was the downpour which for more than 36 hours converted the city gutters into miniature brooks, made conditions unpleasant generally and increased the total precipitation for the month by a good substantial addition.

The rainfall was general through the maritime provinces but was reported as heavier along the St. John river valley than on the Miramichi. Since Monday night there has been a rise of nearly a foot in the river at Fredericton and the water at midnight was still reported to be rising.

This rapid rise has caused a change in the plans of the river navigators and as it continues to a sufficient extent the steamer Aberdeen will go on the route between Fredericton and Woodstock. She is now running to the Washademoak place of the steamer Star and went on her regular trip yesterday. She will return to Indianstown today and after discharging freight will go to Fredericton if the reports from further up the river are favorable. If conditions warrant it she will make a trip from Fredericton to Woodstock on Saturday.

A rise of about eight inches has taken place at Woodstock. The rain is very heavy in Quebec at the headwaters of the St. John.

Chatham, Mass., Oct. 28.—A southeast storm prevailed today, moderating at sunset, when the wind shifted to southwest with a thick fog. The indications are for a northwest gale, with clearing weather before morning.

New York, Oct. 28.—The local weather bureau has received the following from Washington: "To observe, New York: "Advisory warnings 2 p. m.—Winds will continue strong from northwest on middle Atlantic and south. New England coast tonight, diminishing in force Wednesday morning."

Digby, Oct. 29.—The wind and rain storm yesterday was very severe, although very little damage has as yet been reported. A number of poles in the north end, on the line of the D. A. R., were blown down and some of the wires broken. A schooner at Grandville went ashore in the storm but was only slightly damaged. A wharf at that place was destroyed.

Chatham, Mass., Oct. 29.—The northwest gale which set in last night continued all day and several large schooners gave up attempting to round the Cape and came back for anchorage.

Provincetown, Mass., Oct. 29.—The schooner Vera, of Gloucester, which has arrived here reports the loss of Dan Keeffe, a native of St. John's (Nfld.), who was knocked overboard by the main boom while the schooner was on the Georges last Sunday.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 29.—The schooner, from Prince Edward Island for St. John's with a cargo of cattle went ashore in a dense fog this morning at Toppass, near Cape Race. She lies in a dangerous position and will probably be a total loss. Another craft has gone ashore on the Isle of Valen, a few miles to the west of Toppass. Two men from this vessel were drowned. "GABRIOTT."

VERDICT: "NOT PRETTY!"

By J. F. Cowan.

No one knew this better than the person against whom it was rendered. But no culprit convicted by a jury of his peers, ever evaded a verdict with stronger feelings than did Hetty Hartman from what she knew to be the unanimous verdict of her friends and acquaintances.

And as is usually the case, that which she did not possess she coveted above everything else. The beautiful, or even the moderately attractive woman can afford to seem fulfilled about her charms, but for the homely woman to pretend not to care, is too self-evident a case of sour grapes.

Hetty did care, and she rebelled again at her fate with tears and sighs. She suffered a more poignant grief on account of her homeliness whenever it coupled itself in her mind with the name of John Belington, as if it were a punishment for her ugliness.

It was not in the first place her figure under the dress that she was so vain of, but her eyes, which were a wistful gray, and her hair, which was a wistful gray, and her hair, which was a wistful gray.

John Belington was a tall, thin young fellow, of athletic build, with wavy black hair, eyes like coals, cheeks blushing with the hues of health, square built and muscular, and the very picture of manliness.

John Belington stood and looked at the little thing for a full minute, and then her nervous prostration, confirmed in his mind the driver's remark.

"There is it!" she suddenly exclaimed. "We can get down there! There's a narrow, steep footpath which leads down in a zigzag direction, where the side is not quite perpendicular."
