LIBERALS VICTORIOUS IN BONAVENTURE ELECTION

TWO DAYS SESSIONS OF THE RESTIGOUCHE COUNTY TEACHER'S INSTITUTE LARGELY ATTENDED

Dr. W. S. Carter, Chief Supt. of Education, Inspector P. G. MacFarlane and H. V. Colpitts, President, all Address Opening Meeting—Many Instructive Papers and Addresses. Several Resolutions Passed And Officers Elected For Ensuing Year.

The Restigouche County Teachers' Institute which held its annual sessions in the Grammar School here last Thursday and Friday, opened on Friday morning with some 30 teachers from various districts throughout our County in attendance. The President Mr. H. V. Colpitts, I.R.A., welcomed the teachers and expressed the hope that each one present would derive some benefit from the meeting.

In the course of his remarks he urged all the teachers to become members of the N.B. Teachers' Association, and also to help promote in the various sections of the county to organize parent-teachers associations.

M.A. Kelly, chairman of the Campbellton Board of School Trustees, on behalf of the school board, welcomed the Teachers to Campbellton, and also expressed pleasure at the presence of W.S. Carter, who is Chief Superintendent of Education. Inspector P. G. MacFarlane reviewed the work of the various schools of the county and showed that it was the only year since he had been inspector that all schools in the county had had teachers. He urged upon the teachers the necessity of teaching more music and singing in the schools.

Dr. W.S. Carter, in the course of his address spoke of the things of every day school work. He praised the Campbellton School Board on its teachers and schools. He reviewed the legislation that had been passed in the interests of the teachers since he had held office. This year all schools in the Province had licensed teachers. None had been licensed in the past.

He also reviewed the situation in the province with Nova Scotia where there are more unlicensed teachers teaching than licensed ones. This was the first year in which the supply of teachers not only met the demand but was slightly in excess. He explained that it was due to the increase in salary and loans from the government for student teachers.

Regarding the letters, so far as he knew the province had not lost one cent by those loans. Regarding home study he said that, whether there was any merit in it or not, it was at least valuable as a disciplinary measure. There should be no necessity for a normal child studying longer than an hour a night in order to make a pass mark up to the eighth grade, and in the High School grades no longer was necessary than two hours. Teachers might spend more time in showing pupils how to study.

People were beginning to realize that all might be born free but were not endowed with equal mental qualities. In St. John they are beginning to look after the retarded pupils but he said that the necessity of necessity of not only looking after the sub-normal pupils but also the super-normal ones. The teachers should promote pupils whom they thought were capable of doing more advanced work.

In this regard the country schools had a decided advantage and that was that their flexible pupils could be advanced with less difficulty than could be done in the graded schools but nevertheless, he urged the teachers to do as much of it as they could. He also urged greater study of music in the schools and the formation of parent-teachers association.

The names of those registered at the Institute are: Inspector P. G. MacFarlane, H. V. Colpitts, H. D. G. Bridges, Amanda Quinn, Edith M. Jones, Kathleen A. Murray, Esther MacFarlane, Clara E. Palmer, Georgina Graves, Audrey MacKay, Jeanne Garcia, Gertrude, Lavinia, Laura Dickie, Ma. SEEKING TO GIVE BETTER SERVICE

Large Staff Now Employed At Post Office Here—

While the recent changes in the management and personnel of the Campbellton Post Office has occasioned slight temporary confusion in some departments it is apparent that from now on the public may expect a service which will compare very favorably with any town in the province. Postmaster McIntyre is evidently doing all he can to bring this about. Besides the postmaster himself, there is now a staff of seven engaged whereas formerly only four were employed. An arrangement which should result in better service also is the employment of extra help in the evening for the sorting of the evening mails. Two teen-age boys, old enough to readily understand the work, are employed from 6 to 8 each evening and this should help greatly in a quick disposal of all letters, etc. coming in on the evening trains.

Last week two hundred and thirty-five new mail boxes were installed. These are rapidly being taken up by those who were formerly obliged to get their mail through general delivery and this long needed improvement will no doubt greatly facilitate the work of the post office staff and tend to eliminate errors or delay in delivery of mail matter.

During the busy Christmas season, now not far away, extra help will be taken on and Postmaster McIntyre is also seeking in other ways to make the service here more satisfactory as time goes on.

While in conversation with him yesterday he drew our attention to the large number of letters, parcels, papers, etc. that are mailed without adequate postage or improper address. From the experience in the post office service we know that the cases referred to are not by any means rare. Many people are needlessly careless in forwarding letters and other articles by mail and this negligence which, all too often, is blamed on the post office authorities, is the cause of the delay in transit or loss of things by mail. Greater care on the part of the public would undoubtedly lead to better satisfaction all round.

MAY NOT RECOVER
As a result of serious injury sustained in an accident at his home on Tuesday morning Mr. Malcolm Pratt is a patient at the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital here. Mr. Pratt's condition today is reported as more promising but his chances of recovery cannot yet be estimated.

At the time of the accident Mr. Pratt was engaged in sawing wood. The belt from the engine to the wood-cutter flew off striking the unfortunate man and rendering him unconscious, in which state he remained until some time after his removal to the hospital. He sustained a severe cut on the back of the throat. Mr. Pratt is a disabled and pensioned employee of the C. N. R. from whose service he retired a few years ago.

TWO OF TRAINMEN KILLED IN WRECK
Passenger Train on Lackawanna Railroad Ran Into Freight Train.
New Milford, Pa., Oct. 14.—The engineer and fireman of a pusher engine at the rear of a freight train were killed and three other trainmen injured today when a Buffalo-New York passenger train on the Lackawanna Railroad, running through a heavy fog, crashed into the slowly moving freight, one mile west of here. No passengers were injured, it was said.

Michael Keely, 40, of Haleshead, Pa., engineer of the pusher was killed when his engine overturned as the passenger engine ploughed into it. Ray Osterhout, 35, also of Haleshead, the fireman, was caught between the tender and pusher and crushed to death.

IRENE RICH AND MONTE BLUE PLAY IN SAME PICTURE

Are Co-Starred in Screen Version of "Lucretia Lombard"

"Lucretia Lombard," the screen adaptation of the novel of the same name by Kathleen Norris, scheduled for next Monday and Tuesday at the Opera House, with Monte Blue, and Irene Rich heading a distinguished cast of players.

In book form, the story enjoyed enormous vogue, being hailed as one of the most striking novels of the past decade. It deals with a young and pretty woman tied down to an unlovable husband, and the employment of extra help in the evening for the sorting of the evening mails.

Two teen-age boys, old enough to readily understand the work, are employed from 6 to 8 each evening and this should help greatly in a quick disposal of all letters, etc. coming in on the evening trains.

How two women battle for the love of a man, and how fate steps in at the eleventh hour, staging a spectacular fire to settle the drama, is shown in this Warner Brothers Classic of the screen.

It is said that no pains have been spared to make "Lucretia Lombard" as great a picture as it was a great book. Critics who have already viewed the picture say it is a triumph in every respect.

Monte Blue and Irene Rich will be remembered everywhere for their brilliant work in "Brass," the screen adaptation of Charles G. Norris, who is the husband of the author of "Lucretia Lombard."

Others in the cast are Marc McDermitt, Alec B. Francis, John Roche, Lucy Beaumont, Otto Hoffman, and Norma Schearer.

THE HOME PAPER
The local paper is the small town's greatest asset. No town should fail to appreciate its local paper to the extent of a liberal patronage.—Henry Ford.

The influence of the small town newspaper upon the town and its business men themselves. The newspaper is going to represent the town to the outside world fairly or unfairly. Nothing speaks better for a town than a newspaper that is well supported by the business men, and nothing speaks in louder terms against the town than a newspaper that is struggling for existence and which has little or no advertising patronage from its home business concerns.

If the business man has a good live newspaper publisher in his town he should never let that paper go to press without his name in its columns in an advertisement. We make this statement without any selfish motive. The GRAPHIC has a fairly good advertising patronage for which we are indeed grateful, but if every business concern in this town would advertise with us regularly that fact would not make us rich by any means. There is no such thing on the globe as riches for the country newspaper man.

Lots of men and some business men do not appreciate their local paper as a thing of value except to the owner of the paper, and that is where their vision needs doctoring. The newspaper travels, and is the town's only representative that is always working at the job.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK PROMISED NOW

Sir Keith Price Says Bottom of Slide Has Been Reached

St. John, Nov. 3.—The bottom of the slide in the lumber market has been reached and there is a brighter outlook for the future lumbering interests, in the opinion of Sir Keith Price, director of the Price Lumber Co., Ltd., of England, who is now in the Maritime Provinces looking into general conditions. Sir Keith believes that the government in England will create a more stable feeling in the Old Country and that with this feeling will come some improvement in the lumber market with better prospects for Canadian output. It is two years since Sir Keith visited the Maritime Provinces and he has spent the last few weeks in Nova Scotia accompanied by W. E. Golding, St. John vice president of the George McKean & Co., Ltd., and W. K. McKean, of Halifax and has come through to New Brunswick to look over the situation in the north of the Province. Sir Keith will be the guest of Angus McLean in Bathurst. Sir Keith Price is a cousin of Sir William Price whose death occurred in a landslide about three weeks ago in Quebec. He is equally well known in the Maritime Provinces and is the representative of several Maritime lumber companies. He is entirely conversant with the lumber market affairs in the Old Country and keeps in touch with lumbering affairs in Canada.

Pleased With Roads
Sir Keith is very greatly pleased with the roads he has seen in the Maritime Provinces, and has remarked a very decided improvement in this regard since his last visit two years ago. He recalled having urged that efforts should be made to put the roads of eastern Canada in better condition. He had first made suggestions along these lines several years ago and had been told emphatically that Canadian climate made it impossible to build roads and keep them good. Having knowledge of the splendid roads in England he had realized what an advantage good roads would bring to Canada and it was a great pleasure to him to find his own urging had been found not impractical after all.

He contrasted the casual acceptance of the road improvement in England with the road improvement in the provinces several years ago with the present good roads campaigns and the public demand for successful undertaking of road construction on a large scale.

Sir Keith will spend some time in eastern Canada before returning to England.

THE LAST SURVIVOR
The death of Albert Hagar at Plantagenet, Ont., removes the last survivor of the first Parliament of Canada in the township of North Plantagenet and he had therefore attained the age of 97. He was educated at the Johnsbury and Teachers Academies in the State of Vermont returning to his native place in 1847. From that time on he took an active part in public affairs, both in municipal matters and in national politics.

He became a member of the North Plantagenet. In 1867 he was elected to the House of Commons for the County of Prescott, and in 1872 he was again returned by acclamation. The GRAPHIC has a fairly good advertising patronage for which we are indeed grateful, but if every business concern in this town would advertise with us regularly that fact would not make us rich by any means. There is no such thing on the globe as riches for the country newspaper man.

Lots of men and some business men do not appreciate their local paper as a thing of value except to the owner of the paper, and that is where their vision needs doctoring. The newspaper travels, and is the town's only representative that is always working at the job.

COOKS SHOULD KNOW
That when there is too much salt in soup it can be made palatable by putting a piece of raw potato in the pan for a few minutes.

That when milk is slightly scorching by putting the pan into cold water and adding a pinch of salt.

That the labor of stirring milk may be obviated by putting a large clean marble into the pan. (The marble will automatically do the stirring while the liquid cooks and there will be no scorching.)

That less sugar will be required when steeping fruit if a pinch of carbonate of soda be added.

P. EMILE COTE ELECTED YESTERDAY TO PROVINCIAL

With Big Majority

Fairly Heavy Polling In Nearly All Districts—Majority of Liberal Candidate Placed at Approximately 1400—A Sketch of The New Member

The elections in Bonaventure County yesterday resulted in a sweeping victory for the Liberals, when Paul Emile Cote, well known lawyer of New Carlisle, was elected with a majority of 1400.

As far as can be learned a fairly heavy vote was polled, indicating in nearly all sections a decisive victory for the Liberal party which has been in power in Bonaventure County since 1890.

The New Member
Mr. Cote, Bonaventure's new member in the Provincial Parliament, was born in Lewis in 1887, and until 1912 resided in Quebec City. He secured his early education in the Quebec Seminary then went to the School of the Christian Brothers where he took a commercial course. This was followed by a classical course at Laval College after which he studied law at Laval University. In 1912 he was elected President of the Faculty of Law at Laval and was admitted to the Bar in 1915. Coming to New Carlisle, he practised law there in partnership with the Hon. J. F. Buzzaud until 1919, when he then opened law offices of his own.

He Cote knows the county well and he knows its needs. He has a good knowledge of politics as effecting his constituency and the people he represents—and moreover he is a worker. As a representative in the Provincial House he seems eminently well fitted to be trusted with all Bonaventure County interests.

PARTRIDGE SCARCE
Fredericton, Oct. 18.—The report has been sent to the Chief Game Warden from many districts that partridge are found infested with ticks. Ordinarily the birds do not have these lice on them and the occurrence is most unusual. There seems to be no explanation for it. Scarcity of the partridge is also reported quite generally now. Last spring was a favorable breeding season for them and unless disease has reduced the birds more than usual there should have been many of them this year.

Close Season in 1925 Probable
The reports regarding partridge are becoming so serious that a close season in 1925 is highly probable. The State of Minnesota has adopted the policy of alternate open and close seasons for partridge. The same policy is advocated for New Brunswick.

Deer are reported plentiful in almost all sections with many killed since September 15th. There is no indication of scarcity among them.

THOUGHTS ON HOME TRADE
A short time ago a man from another part of the Dominion told us that he believed the development of home trade was one of the biggest factors in the growth of his own community. He also stated his conviction that home buying was one of the best possible means of fully developing a town or city. He also cited interesting facts which seemed to prove conclusively that his contentions were not only theoretically sound, but also wholly practical.

What applies to other towns throughout Canada in this respect should also apply to Campbellton. It is not difficult to imagine how different things would be today if, during the past decade, the hundreds of thousands of dollars that have fattened the bank accounts of distant mail-order houses had been spent in Campbellton. It is safe to say that our town would have enjoyed more rapid growth and advancement and that a greater degree of prosperity would now prevail.

Of course in order to attain this, the principle of home buying would have to be put into effect in all kinds of business. It would mean that the chances of earning a comfortable livelihood here considerably improved. The natural result of home trade would be increased population, increased population and better homes.

With the coming of hydro, Campbellton will have new opportunities for development. But the progress of our town will be determined by our success in the promotion of home trade.

HOW IS A MAN JUDGED?

J. Pierpont Morgan was once asked the question. I never look a man up, I look him over.

Stop and think what these words mean.

Simply that one of the greatest business men the world has ever known attached tremendous importance to a man's personal appearance.

If you could stand before J. P. Morgan to-day for his verdict, what would it be.

Let the mirror tell the truth. —Dress well and Succeed—

MISSING GIRL DRESSED AS BOY

Even Her Mother Failed to Recognize Her—Worked as Caddy.

After having masqueraded as a boy since her disappearance from her home at 83 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, Oct. 12, caddied innumerable rounds on the public golf links at Forest Park, and slept in a Y. M. C. A. men's lodging house, Julia Hennigan, 15-year-old Brooklyn high school girl, was found at Broadway and Rodney Street, a few days ago, by Detective George L. O'Connor, of the Missing Persons Bureau, only a few blocks from her home.

Julia, her last fifteen cents spent for coffee and rolls and a newspaper, was leaning against a pole reading the story of her adventure when Detective O'Connor accosted her. She was dressed in brown trousers, a heavy brogan, a brown sweater and a felt hat, and, according to O'Connor, easily could have avoided detection.

In fact, her disguise was so good that when the detective took the girl to her home, her mother failed to recognize her.

Detective O'Connor took the girl to Manhattan Police Headquarters where she told her story to Captain Ayres.

"I always wanted to be a boy," she said. "I wanted the freedom that boys have."

"How do you feel about it now?" asked Captain Ayres?

"I'm glad you found me," she replied. "I'm glad to be a girl again. Being a boy isn't what it's cracked up to be."

Julia told the captain she had read the stories of the disappearance of Franklin Roosevelt, who left his home in the upper west side of Manhattan, a few weeks ago, and was stimulated to dreams about his exploits. She saved the money her mother gave her for the movies and did not spend as much on candy as before. She bought the shoes, a boy's hat, trousers and underwear with this money. The sweater, shirt, cap and tie were obtained from her mother.

On the morning of October 12 Julia made ready for her venture. She put her clothes in the cellar of her home. That night she came back and, doffing her skirt, put on the boy's clothes and plastered her hair back. Her own clothing she hid in a bin.

That night she went to the Y. M. C. A. at South Ninth Street and Marcy Avenue. There was no difficulty in obtaining a room. The next morning she went to Forest Park. She needed to replenish her funds, and caddied looked easy. She carried clubs for golfers for eight days. The other youngsters at the links suspected nothing, nor did he golfers.

The second night after her departure, Julia took a room in a men's lodging house at 302 Bedford Avenue, only a short distance from her home. She got a small room, for which she paid $1.50 a week. All the other lodgers were men. That night she had her hair cut short.

At night, Julia sat around the table with the fellow roomers, "longshoremen, teamsters, and caddies on the docks, and read the newspaper stories about himself and talked with the men. Once she tried to smoke a cigarette.

"But it made me sick," she said, "so I stopped."

After a week the caddying seemed unremunerative for a livelihood. She was conscience-stricken over her parents' worry because of her. When she read that they feared she had been murdered she called her home on the telephone. That was Monday night. But after informing her mother that she was safe, she hung up the receiver. Yesterday, however, she found herself with only 25 cents, she decided that she had had enough of being a boy. She called Detective O'Connor at the Missing Persons Bureau.

"I'm tired and hungry," she told him, and asked: "If I come back will you arrest me?"

O'Connor arranged to meet her at the Broadway Phonograph Shop, 232 South Fourth Street. When he went there the proprietor told him no girl had been in the store, but a boy had left a note. This directed O'Connor to Broadway and Rodney Street. There he found Julia.

KISSED BY MILLION LIPS

Blarney Castle is still the mecca of myriads of tourists, and the trip is not complete without kissing the famous Blarney Stone. Of the stones variously asserted to be the original one, able to bestow the gift of persuasive eloquence upon whoever touches it with his lips, the one the kissing of which is a difficult feat, almost unbearable polsomeness in which Canada's history society, in France, was in existence. Duc de Levis Mirepoix and Marquis de Montcalm, men whose names evoke brilliant memories, spoke at banqueting board and brought thoughts of Chevalier de Levis and Montcalm, who died before Quebec. There was a tightening of hearts as the glorious images of the past floated before the banquet, and it was no wonder that after Painleve had eloquently replied to Dr. Beaud, who gave the toast to France, that the company was moved to sing "Oh, Canada!" There were moments of almost unbearable polsomeness in which it was felt as if it were a father, mother, and flourishing grown up son united.

ROMAN FORTRESS FOUND

The North of England Excavation Committee has made an interesting discovery at Heddon-on-the-Wall, on the North Tyne, in the form of fragments of an early fortress gate, which consists of parts of the eastern and western gates of a Roman camp on the Roman wall. There has just been excavated the central pillar of the great west gateway (standing five feet in height), the remains of the foot of the western gate central-pillar and a small part of the northern half of the great west gateway.

All the stone work is in a wonderful state of preservation, particularly the huge pillar of the great east gateway, which a gigantic block of masonry. In regard to the eastern portions of the discoveries, it is assumed that the existing portions of the wall have been found, as it is more or less obvious that the remainder has been used for the purpose of building elsewhere.

A remarkable feature of the remains of the west gate pillar is that two pivot holes are clearly visible, by means of which the great double doors were attached. Thus to this day the remains of the most important halves of the inward and outward doors, which were the only ones, is an excellent example of Roman masonry, showing splendid points and rustic carving.

Excavations should be, according to knowledge of Roman fortresses, a guardroom, but it is thought that the remains of this, together with the gate, will be found. TIMES MANAGER LUNCHEON HOST

Sir Campbell Stuart Entertains Notable Gathering at Versailles

Palace Of Versailles, Oct. 23—Rarely has there been such enthusiasm as marked the foundation of the Canadian History Society of France at the luncheon promoted by Sir Campbell Stuart from President Doumergue, of the chateau specially lent by the French Government for the memorable occasion. The tables were named after Franco-Canadian celebrities; Champlain, Jacques-Cartier and Montcalm. Authentic tapestries on which walked Louis XIV and Cardinal Richelieu were hung around. The Duke of Connaught, president of a similar society already founded in England, replied simply but stirringly to messages received by Sir Campbell Stuart from President Doumergue, of France, and from King George.

All idea that there could be any rivalry for the affection of Canada which has roots in both countries between France and England were quickly dispelled by a glance around the magnificent hall rich with the memories of France's glorious days, for sitting side by side were representatives of British families closely connected with Canada and survivors of French families which played a part in the discovery and development. Canada was present in all the men's minds rather as a hyphen uniting France and England, giving them a common interest and drawing them together by bonds of history.

Dr. H. B. Balch was the Canadian delegate in the company which included all highest officials, ambassadors, ministers, marshals, perfects and high commissioners in three lands. Canada was present in all the men's minds rather as a hyphen uniting France and England, giving them a common interest and drawing them together by bonds of history.

SNOW STORM RAGED IN TEMISKAMING

Heavy Wet Snow Fell to Depth of Six Inches in Some Places, Including Cobalt Area Say Reports to North Bay

North Bay, Ont., Oct. 7—Reports trickling in from various parts of Temiskaming to-day indicate that considerable damage was done by Wednesday's snow-storm. Heavy wet snow fell to a depth of six inches in some places, including the Cobalt area. Many farmers who had not taken in their grain had it flattened by snow, which, however, disappeared within twenty-four hours. The great majority of Temiskaming telephone lines are out of commission, having broken under the strain of the snow clinging to them. In Milberta section, several roads are blocked by trees broken down by the weight of the snow.

Beautiful Indian summer weather has been experienced by the North Bay for the past few days.

MAN'S BODY WAS CHAINED TO TREE

Philadelphia Dead Two Months—Had 150—Foot Radius to Move In.

The body of a man identified by cards in his pocket as Henry Handy McHenry, of Philadelphia, was found recently by hunters chained to a tree in the thickest part of Green Mountain, six miles from Trout Run. The man had been dead about two months from last appearances. The chain had been wrapped around the tree and then locked by a loop around his neck. It was 150 feet long, which permitted the man to walk and crawl in a circle around the tree in his queer prison. The ground in a circle around the tree was beaten with the man's footsteps.

The body was well dressed in a palm beach suit, brown shoes, silk stockings and cap.

State policeman, city officers and county authorities together with citizens have been searching for hours late to-day in an effort to get a clue to unravel the mystery.

In McHenry's pockets were found a number of name cards, a card noting membership in the Ardmore Country Club and the Central Branch Y. M. C. A.

In addition was found a letter introducing the bearer, McHenry, to the scout masters of Delaware and Montgomery counties as a part time publicist.

The letter, which was signed by Edward A. Carlson, 1403 Real Estate Building, Philadelphia, urged scout masters to keep all their publicity matter for McHenry, and give him the same upon his visit to them. In his pockets were a cheap watch, $47 in cash and a railroad ticket to Philadelphia. The place at which his body was found is two miles from any habitation and equally distant from the Susquehanna trail. The discovery was made by members of a hunting club, who were inspecting their lands.

FISHERMEN FINED IN FIRE LOSS

Neglect to Put Out Camp Fire Which Spread to Nearby Forest

The impression which some persons have that fishing parties which cause forest fires cannot be traced or identified and so invariably escape punishment, received a severe setback on the 17th., when Magistrate Comben of Woodstock convicted four anglers. The fine of twenty dollars and costs was imposed on each but what was more important, the costs of extinguishing the fire started by the party were added to the fines. The costs amounted to $119.31 and the total makes the expense of a piece of carelessness or of deliberate foolhardiness enough to make the members of the party remember.

The fire which caused the prosecution and the penalty named occurred on the 12th of July. The value of the registration certificate for woods travel was proven for the four anglers obtained their permits. They did not, however, extinguish the fire which they started as they should have by the terms of the certificate.

A prompt report to a Fire Warden and hard work by residents of the locality and two mill crews aided by a forest-fire pump, prevented this blaze from spreading over a great area. It was on the Northwest Branch of the southwest Miramichi above Juniper. The Law provides a maximum penalty of 200 for leaving a fire burning in the forest, with costs, or nine months jail. This is the first instance of culpable being required to meet the costs of extinguishing a fire but it is not likely to be the last if any similar offence is discovered.

Inquest in Twelve-Year-Old Lad Who Operates Twelve Teachers Whom Parents Blamed For Alleged Ill-treatment.

Glace Bay, N. S. Nov. 2—The inquest on Silas Mufgford, 12-year-old school boy of New Aberdeen, whose death his father charged was caused, by a beating received at school, was concluded last night, the Coroner's Jury bringing in a verdict of death from blood poisoning and exonerating the teachers from any blame in the matter. The verdict was in accordance with the report of Dr. M. T. Sullivan, and Dr. Dan McNeil who held the post-mortem examination. Only two witnesses were heard at the final session of the inquest, school companions of young Mufgford, who testified that they were unaware of the boy having been subjected to hard usage in school.

Three Prisoners Break Away from County Jail in Burlington, Vt., After Overpowering Officer at the Door

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 25—Three prisoners broke away from Chittenden County jail here early today, after having overpowered the guard at the door, placed him in a cell and locked him up with his own key. The three who escaped are Edward St. Aubin, of Montreal, held for violation of the Immigration Act, and Chinese Exclusion Act, Arthur Sturdy, of New York, held for New York State on a charge of forgery of money orders, and Charles Kelly, who is held for looting a Burlington home last Saturday of clothing, valued at $1,000. Mrs. H. Ten the latter concerned under blankets. He was lodged in jail at St. Johnsbury and the same charge as her husband, did not escape.

St. Aubin has had a varied career since his arrest several months ago by the motorcycle corps of the international boundary. A search of his automobile, the officers said, disclosed a quantity of liquor and four Chinese, the latter concerned under blankets. He was lodged in jail at St. Johnsbury and the same charge as her husband, did not escape.

POACHER GLAD TO SEE KING

To Have Met the New Minister Would Have Been Entirely Different.

"Here is a yarn about the King which will be new to most readers, and which disapproves a current notion that British religionists have lost the idea of Church discipline," writes a reader from the west.

"A church near Balmoral Castle, where His Majesty was enjoying a holiday, had just received a new minister, and there was a local bad un—a poacher and so forth—who had been neither the minister nor the King.

"One Sunday morning, the King happened to be walking along the bank of the Dee, when he saw the poacher fishing for salmon. The King stopped and said: 'You must know that you're no right here. For one thing, this is preserved water; and for another this is Sunday.'"

"The poacher waddled through the water and peering upwards, asked: 'Who are you?' The King smiled: 'Oh I'm the King,' he said."

"The fisherman was instantly relieved. 'What a fright ye gave me,' he exclaimed. 'I thought ye were the new minister.'"

THE BURIED CITY ON NEVADA PLAINS

20,000 Pueblo Indians Lived There 3,000 Years Ago.

The first detailed account of a buried Pueblo city which 3,000 or more years ago housed probably 20,000 people in Southeastern Nevada was brought to Reno recently by M. R. Harrington of the Museum of the American Indian, New York City, who returned from a ten-day expedition.

"The ruins covered with sand, ran in a continuous line six miles, and are about a half a mile wide," he said.

"The outlines of houses of stone and adobe and stone pavements are clearly seen. Cornerstones jutted out of the sand, and here and there the rectangular ground plan of a house could be seen. Everywhere were myriads of pieces of broken pottery.

"Some of the stone was broken 18 by 12 inches, and sometimes round slabs were set on edge and the adobe joined in and over to make the walls. The walls were made of adobe and stone. The outlines of houses of stone and adobe and stone pavements are clearly seen. Cornerstones jutted out of the sand, and here and there the rectangular ground plan of a house could be seen. Everywhere were myriads of pieces of broken pottery.

SHOWS THE POWER OF ADVERTISING

"Eat More Fruit" Campaign in Great Britain in Progress

London, Oct. 22.—A tribute to the power of newspaper advertising is contained in the report of the first year of the "eat more fruit" campaign issued by the Fruit Trades Federation.

"This is the largest co-operative fruit advertising campaign ever launched in this country," says the report, and during the past season the peculiar virtues of oranges, apples, lemons, pears and grapes have been brought home to more than twelve and a half million people in Great Britain daily, and nearly a hundred million weekly, by press advertising.

The success of the campaign is testified by letters from fruit brokers, shippers, wholesalers and retailers throughout the country and by the fact that it has just been renewed on an even more extensive scale.

By means of advertising it is hoped to make "Great Britain, which today consumes less fruit than Iceland, the greatest fruit eating nation in the world."

PREMIER VENIOT MUCH IMPROVED

Expecting to Go to Moncton on Thursday on Departmental Business

Bathurst, Oct. 28.—Premier Veniot, who has been confined to his home for the past two or three weeks, is recovering quite satisfactorily and expects to be able to go to Moncton on Thursday to meet some of his political party friends. He will return to his home here on Friday or possibly Saturday and expects to be able to go to Fredericton on Monday or Tuesday to attend to departmental business. There will be no doubt some political interest in his visit to Moncton at this particular time.

A TEACHER asked her class to write an essay on New York. She was surprised to read the following in one attempt:

"The people of New York are noted for their stupidity." The young author was asked how he got that idea.

"These miss," was the reply, "says in my book the population of New York is very dense."

Farm News

FATENING POULTRY
FOR THANKSGIVING
(Experimental Farms Note)

There is no bird for the family table that equals the turkey. With the Canadian Thanksgiving so early, however, few turkeys are ready for that festival, and yet some of the early birds might better be prepared for this market than held until Christmas and New Year's, picking out the largest ones, and giving them a week or two's special feed. Confine the birds for fattening in yards (not in crates), and give a mash of ground grains mixed with milk, twice a day. Feed just as much as will be cleaned up. If it is not convenient to confine the largest birds, it will do no harm to feed the whole flock the same feed and take out those that are fit for the Thanksgiving trade, leaving the others for later market.

Geese and ducks will also be used to a certain extent for thanksgiving but in all probability well-grown cockerels will be used more than any other. These are not many delicacies more appreciated than a well-fleshed cockerel. But it must be fed. It also costs less to have a plump, juicy and tender bird than it does to have a thin, dry and tough one. Crate feeding puts on the flesh and now is the time to see about it. Two or three weeks' feeding make a big difference though a longer time is better.

It costs much more per pound to grow the frame than it does to put the flesh on the frame after it is there. To grow the frame costs anywhere from 10 to 20 cents per pound, depending on the bird and the way they are fed, but by crate-feeding the bird for a few weeks before killing, a pound of flesh can be added for from 6 to 12 cents.

In experiments conducted at the Experimental Farm at Ottawa, it took but 2½ pounds of dry mash mixture to make a pound of meat, this pound of meat, and the cheapest combination of feed was equal parts oats, corn and buckwheat, all finely ground this was fed twice a day, just enough for the birds to quietly clean up. Good strong, healthy birds, weighing 4 to 6 pounds are suitable, and best returns come from the American breeds. Care must be taken that the birds are healthy and free from lice—a good dusting of insect powder should be applied before putting into crates. They also should have a 24 hour fast before the first feed. This is essential if the birds are to be kept in condition throughout the feeding period. Another necessary precaution is to restrict the feed for the first two or three days, until the birds become accustomed to the confinement, after which they may have all they will eat twice a day. A dose of Epsom salts in the first feed, 1 pound to 100 birds, helps to keep them in good condition during the feeding period.

A slatted crate is best, but a packing box may be made over to do. Even an empty crate will do better than nothing. But keep the birds clean and give them plenty of fresh air without draughts.

It never pays to market birds without the finishing, but the done pay to get any birds that are ready off your hands early. Usually there is a better price, for a limited number, at Thanksgiving than at Christmas, and to put some on the market then helps to keep up the price later in the season.

EARLY FALL PLOUGHING OR AFTER HARVEST CULTIVATION

(Experimental Farms Note)

Early fall ploughing or as it is sometimes called, after harvest cultivation, is not widely practiced in the Maritime Provinces. This method of handling soil was introduced into the Eastern Provinces by the Division of Illustration Stations. It has certain well defined advantages over late fall ploughing that should enlist the attention of careful farmers. It is an admirable way of preparing old sod or pasture land for hoed crop or for reseeded.

The procedure, in the case of old sod or pasture land, is as follows: Immediately after haying, say the last of July, plough the land shallow and flat. Then roll it to compact the ground and disk lightly. The next thing in the fall plough again. Plough the same way but deeper and with the furrow set up rather than flat as in the first ploughing.

Land treated in this way may be used for a hoed crop the following year and if it is, a nice, mellow and clean seed bed will be available. Further, the rotted sod will serve as plant food. If it is desired, the field may be sown to grain and seeded down. In any case, if the preparatory work has been done carefully, weeds will have received a check from which they cannot recover, more particularly couch grass which, with the exception of mustard, is the hardest to control in the East.

The chief objection registered in opposition to after harvest cultivation is the amount of labour involved in the preliminary preparation. This undoubtedly is true, and while the initial labour cost mounts high, yet the succeeding year it is correspondingly low and better crops are produced. After harvest cultivation is practised on all of the Dominion Illustration Stations and merits the attention of more farmers. This treatment is especially applicable to old sod land or pasture fields.

FOR
COLDS & BRONCHITIS.

As you dissolve a Peps tablet on your tongue, certain healing fumes are released which are immediately taken with the breath down into the furthest recesses of the lungs where liquid medicines cannot penetrate. These Peps fumes on their way bathe the whole of the breathing passages with their healing potency, soothing the throat, allaying inflammation in the bronchi, and relieving the chest. Liquid medicines are simply swallowed into the stomach and cannot act in this direct Peps way.

While Peps are an expensive remedy to produce, the demand has become so great that it has now been found possible to have the

PROVINCIAL CROP YIELD

The grain crops—Wheat, oats, barley and buckwheat are below an average yield. The acreage of these crops was less than last year and the yield per acre of grain is less than that of 1923. A preliminary estimate places the total yield of these grains at 90 per cent of the crop of last year.

The yield of potatoes, turnips and fodder corn is less than last year. A forecast of the yields issued by the Agricultural Branch of the Bureau of Statistics gives the following comparison between 1923 and 1924:

Potatoes, 1923—45,522 acres, 6,049,000 yield; 1924—acres, 46,231, yield, 5,496,850.
Turnips, acres, 10,799, yield 2,095,000; 1924—acres, 9,045, yield 1,828,700.

CROP REPORT
Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 6, 1924

Harvesting of grain and late hay has been slow on account of dull and foggy weather occurring during the latter half of the month. Some broad-leaf hay yet remains about Sackville, but ten days time should see all grain and late hay harvesting operations completed. There is a belt in the Southern counties. Other counties have sufficient for the requirements of farm stock.

Oat threshing has begun. The turnout is less than last year, and the quality too is not up to the average. Identical conditions apply to wheat and buckwheat.

Good catches of grass and clover have followed the removal of the grain crop. Pastures and meadow aftermath have freshened and are stringy, which dealers felt for milk has relaxed. Excellent weather for digging has prevailed. The crop is good and the potatoes are sound, not large, but abundant to the hill.

The rot crops now making rap during October the acre yield will be the same.

A comparison of the crop acreages for 1923 and 1924 is reported in the following table. The estimates were compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics from data gathered in several provinces in 1923.

	Acres, 1923	Acres, 1924
Wheat	14,400	11,616
Oats	225,695	205,244
Barley	5,590	5,069
Peas	1,498	1,229
Beans	1,850	1,216
Buckwheat	45,010	38,265
Potatoes	45,522	46,231

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.

At the opening session of the Restigouche County Teachers Institute here last Thursday the founding of parent-teachers associations was urged strongly both by Dr. W. S. Carter, Chief Superintendent of Education and Mr. H. V. Colpitts, President of the Institute. At other educational meetings during the year in various parts of the Province educators have made a similar plea. Whether or not anything of this nature will evolve in the near future remains to be seen, but there is positively no doubt but what a greater degree of co-operation between parents and teachers would add greatly to the effectiveness of our educational system.

Although it does not seem to be generally recognized, the success of the teacher in her school work is measured very largely by the co-operation received from the parents of her pupils. This of course is more marked in the case of some students than in others. Every teacher is blessed with a number of pupils who have a sense of duty, at least a vague understanding of the difficulties of the teacher in charge, and the limitations of school life, and an aptitude for study which cheers the teacher in hours of discouragement, when so many of those under her tutelage seem to be hopelessly stupid. But on the other hand, most every teacher is, at one time or another, taxed to a limit of her endurance and her skill by pupils who seem to have an abnormal propensity for mischief and trouble-making, those who are too lazy to put forth any effort to study or ones who have minds neither receptive or retentive and who no matter how hard they try do not seem to be able to make much progress.

In such cases as these more co-operation from the home would be a boon to the teacher who, seeing little accomplished through her painstaking efforts, would welcome assistance from parents in order to solve some of the problems that confront her. In many cases, by assisting their children in home study or by effecting better discipline at home and better conduct at school, help greatly to lessen the teachers' burden and incidentally advance their children in their studies.

In many cases, too serious difficulties arise solely from the fact that some parents do not entertain the proper attitude toward teachers. They fail to recognize the importance of the school as an institution of inestimable value in community life nor its potential influence in the individual lives of their children.

With every passing year educators are striving to improve our educational system in its various departments, so that our children on leaving school may be the better fitted for rising up to positions of responsibility and success in life. Surely efforts with such an objective is worthy of sympathetic interest and co-operation of parents themselves. Perhaps the proposed parent teachers associations may do much to solve the present school problems.

OPPORTUNITIES IN CANADA

It is quite inexplicable to many people why so many opportunities for exceptionally advantageous investment of capital in Canada should have been so completely overlooked by British investors to be later taken advantage of by Americans. Persistent advertising of some of Canada's resources is however bringing its reward. In this connection, F. B. Fetherstonhaugh, K. C. contributes an article to the current number of The United Empire, in which he urges the advantages of this country for an investment of capital. Mr. Fetherstonhaugh stresses the point of view of building up the Empire, which in the final analysis will not likely prove to be the determining factor of the business man. However, the author makes telling use of the industrial figures of 1920, which now United States investors have grasped the opportunities presented to them by this country with much greater eagerness than the British investor. In thirteen industrial lines only two showed a preponderance of British capital. The list as presented varies all the way up to 98.7 per cent of United States capital in artificial abrasive against 4 per cent for Britain. Even in agricultural implements British money represents 9.6 per cent of the investment and United States money 88.4 per cent. "It cannot be said that Canadians are reluctant to accept United States Capital," says the Toronto Globe. "As a matter of fact they are just as eager to secure it as the Britisher has shown himself to obtain a good foreign investment. The main thing is that the opportunities are here, waiting for the British investor, with the assurance of stable government and a square deal in all legitimate lines of endeavor. Canadians believe the Old Country business men have overlooked too many good ventures in this country in the past which have been grasped by people south of the international boundary."

GO TO SCHOOL

Last week we met a boy who wants to quit school. He is still quite young but he has become obsessed with the foolish idea that he knows enough to get along. Perhaps he does. But the world is already far too full of people who are just getting along—and, incidentally getting nowhere.

All over the world may be found countless toilers eking out a meager existence by the sweat of their brow. Nothing dishonorable about that of course, but the world has been robbed of the big things they might have done for humanity if they had secured a good education when they had a chance to. And they have woefully cheated themselves out of a fuller life through their failure to realize in time the inestimable value of advanced education.

On this subject a modern philosopher says:

"Of all the fools on earth the boy who will not take an education when he has a chance is the most sickening. He is deliberately handicapping himself in a race where he needs every advantage. He is putting his immature judgment against the accumulated experience and wisdom of the whole human race. He is indulging in weakness or laziness that he will pay for a hundred times over. He is selling his birthright for a mess of pottage."

He is laying up shame and pain for all who are unfortunate enough to love him. He is an ass. He is a monumental, three-star, prize, blue ribbon, exhibition ass. He is an ass of the longest-eared and palest gray variety. God help him, for he won't let anybody else."

The boy or girl who throws away an opportunity to secure a good education is making one of the most colossal mistakes of his or her lifetime. One of the paramount duties of parents today is to keep their children at school just as long as they can. When they have acquired sufficient education to make progress among the world's workers they will also have learned enough to put forth continuous effort to steadily add to their store of knowledge.

Prct Daniel West

The death of Mrs. Jerry Dea which occurred October 11 inst., caused such regret among relatives and friends of the deceased, Mrs. Dea died in her ninetieth year at the residence of her son Mr. Edmund Dea. She was held in high esteem by all who had the privilege of knowing her. She was the mother of Sister St. Daniel who died at the Sisters of Charity in Quebec, the grandmother of Rev. James LeBlanc, Vicar at Bonaventure and Sisters St. Joseph and Jeanne Mance of the Sisters of St. Joseph at Hotel Dieu Campbellton N. B.

Mrs. Dea is survived by three sons, Edmund, Port-Daniel; Thomas, Manson Maine, and Jerry, Vancouver. Three daughters; Mrs. F. H. Chapados, Mrs. P. A. LeBlanc, Gascons, Miss Nan Dea Duluth, also a large number of grandchildren.

Her funeral took place on Monday morning to St-George's Church and was largely attended. Rev. James LeBlanc her grandson sang the service. In the sanctuary were: Rev. Father Chessel parish priest and Rev. Father Belles of Gascons.

The pallbearers were: F. N. Chas. Joseph, P. A. LeBlanc, Jerry and Joseph Jones G. Canpados and W. Ahern. Interment was made in the family lot where Mr. Dea had preceded her four years ago.

To the bereaved relatives and friends are extended our most sincere wishes of sympathy.

EDITOR'S MAIL

Campbellton, N. B., Nov. 4, 1924.
 To The Editor of The Graphic,
 Dear Sir:

As a citizen and ratepayer of the Town of Campbellton I wish to state my views as to the appointment to be made soon of the Lord Mayor—of a duly qualified man to fill the position newly created of "Milk & Food Inspector. As I understand there are two applicants: the one, Dr. J. Ferrus Donnelly of Newfoundland, and, the other Dr. J. Arthur Roy of the Town of Campbellton. I have nothing to say about the first named, and I have a good deal to say in favor of the man who left his home in Campbellton, went overseas, was wounded, discharged from the army honourably and since then has been an honourable citizen of this Town, a large taxpayer, I know he pays over $200 per year for the upkeep of our Town, a married man with a family of four children, and numerous relatives living here, and eminently qualified in every shape and form to fill the position for which he is an applicant, being very well educated at different colleges through the Maritime Provinces in both English and French. Are those in authority going to support our native sons, who I will venture to say in this particular case is more qualified to fill the position here than others, who after all are strangers. Let the Board of Health (perhaps), the Town Council (surely) and the Provincial Government decide. I may also add that what ever the politics of Dr. Roy may be, he has the first right, or rather election have the right of having one of their own placed in the new position of Milk & Food Inspector especially when equal rights to all, being considered, Doctor Roy is not only better qualified than Dr. Donnelly, as the man in whose favor I am writing this is a bilingual man, a lifelong citizen of our Town, and one of the heavy taxpayers as everybody knows. Furthermore, I like to point out: Dr. Roy is a public spirited man, as he has at least twice done his best to be elected as an Alderman of this Town, to serve, free of charge the people whom he could have so well represented.

One last, and most important word: Arthur J. Roy is a graduate from Ontario Veterinary College, University, 1914. Now, Gentlemen of the Board of Health, Town Council, and Provincial Government, let us know who you are for, Dr. Donnelly from Newfoundland or Dr. Arthur J. Roy of our Town and County.

AMBROISE ALLAIN.

The engagement of Miss Carrie McNeil of Nouvelle and Mr. Eugene Pitre of Escuminac is announced. The marriage will take place in near future. Mr. Pitre has been employed at the P. Q. Lumber Co. in Nouvelle for several years.

The many friends of Mrs. Tom Parker will regret to learn that she is very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Damas Caisey were visiting friends in Nouvelle last week. Miss Elizabeth Levesque spent a few days last week in St. Omer.

YOUR TOWN

My town, where my home is founded, where my business is situated, where my vote is cast, where my children are educated, where my neighbors dwell and where my life is chiefly lived. It is the home spot for me. My town has a right to my civic loyalty. It supports me, and I must support it. My town wants my citizenship not parsimoniously; friendship; offhandness; co-operation not dissension; sympathy—not criticism; my intelligent support—not indifference. My town supplies me with law and order, trade, friends, education, recreation, and the rights of a free born citizen. I should believe in my town and work for it. And I will.

one would see groups of French together and groups of English together and there was not the mixing that there should be. Bilingual text books would be of great assistance, the English on one page and the French on the other.

Make School Easy.

The first school of a child was at the mother's knee. The first years of school should be made interesting. A love for learning should be created. In order to do this the French pupils must be taught in French. They should be taught that they were under British rule and to be proud of it. That under that rule they had the privilege of expressing themselves in their mother tongue. If this was done the result would be that, when they look at the Union Jack, which is the champion of liberty, there will arise in them a desire to shed their blood for it, if necessary.

The talk of French domination was childish talk. Children should be taught not to be French-Canadians or English-Canadians but Canadians without the French or English.

Considerable discussion followed Mr. Savoie's address. The papers read at the Institute Friday consisted of one on the teaching of French in the schools, one on the teaching of history, Miss Jones, Campbellton, some school problems by Miss O'Connell, one on the teaching of nature study, by A. W. Purvis, Jacques River; some study by Miss Emma Harquail, Dalhousie, and Miss Kathleen Doyle taught a lesson

WHAT SIGNS SAY

A dealer in furs says that there is a cold, stormy winter ahead of us. He judges by the thickness of the fur on the skins he handles. He says that the fur is very thick this fall which is a sure indication of a cold winter. A local poultry fancier is of the same opinion as the fur dealer. He says he never knew hens to moult so early and grow new feathers so rapidly as has been the case this season.—Fredericton Mail.

GRANT CONTINUED

Hon. Dr. Roberts, Minister of Health, has returned from a visit to Toronto and New York, bringing encouraging information concerning his efforts while away on behalf of the public health nursing system established last year. In Toronto he attended a meeting of the central committee of the Red Cross and was promised that his request for $10,000 to help carry on the work of public health nurses would be given serious consideration at the annual meeting next March. In New York, the Minister of Health was successful in having the Rockefeller Foundation grant continued for twelve public health nurses.

HOCKEY

Although the hockey season is still some weeks away considerable discussion has already been aroused in some quarters as to whether or not Campbellton will have a winter team in the game this winter. It is too early yet to suggest a possible lineup for the coming season but there is no doubt but that our town will be well represented in the game again this year. Although some of the old players, are away this year there is no reason why their places cannot be filled by younger hockey-ists from the intermediate leagues. This year too we have the Reverend "Billy" Godfrey, the former Mount A "fish" in our midst. If this reverend young gentleman who is widely known throughout the Maritime Provinces for his skill and speed as a hockeyist, can be induced to don the togs or become the coach of a local team it is possible that Campbellton may distinguish herself in this popular winter game.

OCTOBER A DRY MONTH

A survey of weather conditions for the month of October show that only 1.28 inches of rain fell during the thirty-one days, which is a record dry October in forty-nine years. It is also said that November will make up the deficiency as we are promised lots of rain.

HAD UNPROFITABLE TRIP

A Young man who went on the Harvester's Excursion to the West says that too many went, for the amount of work available, with the result that labor was a glut on the market. He was paid $3.00 a day for the days he could work, on wet days he was paid nothing and had to pay sixty cents board. He was out of pocket $35.00 on the trip and he did not hear of any one who went from the Maritime Provinces who was not out from $25.00 to $35.00.—Fredericton Mail.

ANOTHER CAR SEIZED

A seizure of a part of a car load of liquor consisting of 132 cases of liquor of good quality was made a short time ago at St. Leonard by the Revenue Service. Little was said of the seizure at the time. The shipment was enroute to Edmundston from New Carlisle, Que., consigned to a function address. Another seizure made at New Carlisle some time ago is believed to have been part of the same lot. The practice is to land the liquor on the Quebec coast of the Baie des Chaleurs and forward by C. N. R. The authorities were on the watch for this lot. The value was about $3,000.

"WOMEN WHO GIVE" BOASTS GREAT CAST

Barbara Bedford, Robert Fraser, Benese Adoree, Frank Keenan, Joseph Dowling and Margaret Seddon play the principal roles in "Women Who Give," Reginald Barker's latest production, which comes to the Opera House Wed. and Thur. of next week. The production is an adaptation of "Cape Cod Folks," Sarah F. McLean Greene's classic of the New England coast. It has been filmed in unusually thrilling and dramatic style providing motion picture entertainment of the very highest quality and is decidedly one of the most interesting productions to play in this town. A wonderfully realistic shipwreck with a fishing schooner smashed to pieces on the rocks, a life and death struggle with a huge swordfish, the firing of a fisherman's cottage and intense dramatic moments too numerous to mention, all tend to make "Women who Give" a photodrama that no lover of motion pictures will care to miss.

ASTHMA NEVER CAME BACK

Since Taking The Fruit Treatment In "Fruit-a-lives"

Read this letter from Mrs. J. M. Pennington of New Rockland, P. Q.

"In 1919, I was taken with bronchial Asthma and no one knew what I suffered during the winter. I began having choking spells and would sit gasping for breath and could not sleep. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-lives" and soon the choking spells became calmer and I have not had one since May 7th, 1923. It is such a relief to be able to go to bed and have no thought of having to get up in the night for an hour or more as I did all that winter, but never have to now, all because of the "Fruit-a-lives" tablets every night.

Delicious Soup Menus From Six Different European Nations

Good soups are always welcome and the secret of soup serving is to have a variety rather than to serve the same kinds so frequently that the family tires of them. It is nice to try famous ones of different nations once in a while just as a surprise. The following recipes have been tested and approved and are well worth trying.

Turkish Soup

Take two quarts of good mutton broth that has been well cooked, cooled and had the grease removed. Add to it a cupful of washed rice, and the same of green peas and cook gently until the rice and peas are very soft. Then add a grated onion, a cupful of tomato sauce, pepper salt and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Serve grated Parmesan cheese with the soup.

French Sorrel Soup

Pick over, wash and drain a pint of fresh sorrel, then chop it fine. Mix two tablespoons of butter and cook the sorrel in it for five minutes, then stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour, salt, pepper, and add gradually a pint of hot water. Simmer for ten minutes, then strain into a beaten egg in a small boiler with a cupful each of cream and milk. Add pepper and salt to taste, stir until hot, then serve. If the egg is beaten into the cream and milk before putting it into the double boiler it will cook more smoothly.

Austrian Soup

Scald together a pint each of rich milk and veal broth or stock, thicken it with roux, season with pepper, salt and a teaspoonful of onion juice. As the soup steeps add a blade of mace. After a half hour add a pint of sour cream and as soon as it is hot again, serve. Toast squares may be served with the soup.

Bavarian Soup

Soak a pint of lentils over night in water to cover. In the morning drain and put them into two quarts of soup stock, add four slices of bacon, two diced potatoes, two diced carrots, parsley and celery tops. Cook until all is soft enough to put roux to the consistency of cold honey through a pure sieve, thicken with and it is ready to serve. Pepper and salt should be added to taste.

Swiss Cheese Soup

Cut three potatoes into inch cubes and set them to boiling in three pints of soup stock or chicken broth. Cook until soft, about twenty minutes, when done, but not broken, add a cupful of diced Swiss cheese, pepper, salt and a teaspoonful of onion juice. Place a toast square in each soup plate and turn the soup over it.

Polish Soup

Take a good piece of shin of beef and put it on to cook in two quarts of water. When the meat is well done strain through a damp cloth, remove the meat from the bones and cut it in small pieces and return to the soup. Add a tablespoonful of butter, pepper and salt to taste, four peeled slices of lemon, a cupful of boiled rice that has been well dried off and a cupful of sour cream. When heated through, serve.

Ways to Solve The Problem of Lovely Hair

What is the condition of your hair at the present moment? Do you find that it is thriving along beauty lines since its exposure to the summer wind and sun? Or does the present season find your hair in a poor condition and unable to look its best during the winter months to come?

To my way of thinking, hair requires even more beauty care in preparation for Winter than it does for Summer time. In the summer most of us enjoy some exposure to the sun and air, and these elements are wonderfully beautifying to the hair. A vacation in the country, where one can go around hatless and let the sun shine on the bare head and the sun blow through the hair is most beneficial to the health and beauty of the hair.

It begins to look fluffy and alive and vigorous immediately, and its owner is delighted to find that tresses have automatically captured the lustre that she has always longed to have them possess.

But the long winter necessitates the constant wearing of a hat when one is outdoors and the hair is very likely to appear less lustrous and to become dry and flat and unattractive unless its owner renews her beauty care with vigor. I often warn my readers against the beauty destroying effects of indoor existence and steam-heated houses upon their complexions. The same holds true for hair.

If your hair still retains some of its summer lustre, take steps immediately to care for your hair so that its appearance will improve. This you can make it do in short order, for hair responds very quickly to beauty treatment.

If the ends of your hair have become broken, and if the hair itself is thin and uneven, you should start out to raise a new and stronger crop of hair. Cleanse it with a vigorous shampoo, and remember that olive oil is an excellent agent for feeding and loosening a heat-dried scalp. You may have to massage your scalp often with olive oil to start it on the right path, in which case you should shampoo it after each application of oil.

In most cases I do not recommend too frequent shampoos, but while you are giving the olive oil treatment, you may need to shampoo your hair at least once a week.

In the meantime, brush your hair thoroughly every night, then massage it with the hair oil.

Oil of almonds—6 ounces.
Oil of rosemary—2 drams.
Oil of mace—60 drops.

The nightly massage of your hair should do wonders to stir up growth and thus increase the growth and beauty of your hair. The whole secret of beauty hair is good circulation, and if you induce a vigorous flow of blood to your scalp, you can rest assured that the beauty of your hair will be increased.

the Gospel of Christ, for it is the Power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." The gospel message for Good News was asked of God. We, as co-workers with Him, are expected to carry this good news to those who know not Christ. Are we doing our best? I read a short piece where it was asked what if Peter and John and the others failed if they forgot, then He said—"I have appointed no others." He don't expect us to fail. We must put on the whole armor. To do God's work is a big business, and we must be alone with Him in earnest prayer every day, and back our prayers with a life that will please God. We may say aside every weapon of the devil, which doth so easily beset us, and avoid all appearance of living a wantonly life, and keep ourselves unspotted from the world.

There are many ways of doing this, but the best way is Prayer. I read what an old Puritan father said about prayer. He said—"Prayer is the best book that brings not the land to the boat, but the boat to the land." The land is always there—so God is always there, and if we let go we fall. We are in the sunshine of His Love. The sun may be shining brightly, but if we draw the curtains we don't get the warmth or the benefit from it, like we would if we opened the curtains. So it is with the Gift of God's Love. It is for us if we accept it. Dr. Johnson's advice is—"Keep your friendship with God in good repair." He tells a story of going on a journey. He looked for a compartment that was empty, he found just what he wanted in the last coach of the train. He got in and made himself comfortable and took his paper to read. After a little he thought, why this train is not going. He went out to find his train had gone ten minutes. His coach was not coupled on.

How many of us are like that? When Christ's parents went to seek Him after three days' journey, the first words he said—"Why seek ye thus? I was about my Father's business." But this is the best thing I ever saw. Every White Ribbon Sister, and the message tells us to be holy and—"Lo! a child with you always," and there is nothing in this world that gives the joy to the soul like bringing the unborn child to Jesus found one. Found the sheep that went astray. Put His loving arms around me. Drew me back into His way."

May we keep in the sunshine of God's Love, putting on the whole armor of service, and then at the close of life we shall hear the "Well done."

PAMPHLETS AND POSTERS IN DEMAND

Most Convenient Method of Quickly Reaching Voters

Posters and pamphlets played a greater part in the British election than ever before. Conservative headquarters claims to have sent out already twenty tons, the Labor Party talks of 40,000,000 pamphlets and fly sheets, and the Liberals say orders are rushing in hourly from the constituencies and are being filled as quickly as possible.

The rush to the printed page and pictorial appeals is one of the results of practical universal suffrage. Not a handful of voters go near even a street corner meeting which the Socialists so greatly love, and personal canvassing is a super-human task in constituencies running into 40,000 voters. But anyone sees posters as they walk along the streets, pamphlets can be shoved into sidetrack boxes when the voters are not at home, and short and telling printed arguments can be left by canvassers to press home the points they have raised in conversation.

Distribution is the problem which worries most election agents. It is really skilled advertising work, and they have neither the time nor the machinery to place their literature properly. Here the Labor Party declares it scores. The zeal of its members and their facilities for reaching the homes of the working classes enable them they declare, to get far more value out of their pamphlets than the older parties.

The Conservatives have struck a new note this year. They have issued two posters which are really fine photographic reproductions of copyright works of art. One is the famous picture by Hubert Herkomer, Royal Academician, of a worker on strike. He stands with angry determined face at the door while his wife, with a bonny babe in her arms, hides her face in misery on his shoulder. "The Socialists promised me work, I've not got it," is the inscription which gives the picture political point. The other is from a painting by Harold Speed and represents a typical elderly dock laborer. Labor's organ, and exclaiming: "The Socialists, they've done nothing for me."

Of course, be-whiskered, blood-stained Bolsheviks of the usual caricature type are used over and over again by the Tories. One poster shows a Red coming back to Russia with a sack of coin on his back and bundles of bank notes in his hands.

"Bolshevik, Bolshevik, where have you been? Over to England, where the Reds are still green," the artist sings.

In another an unemployed workman watches pounds sterling running across the sea to Russia, while a third, referring to the housing difficulty, portrays Ramsay MacDonald asleep on top of a house which is built on a small island.

The Liberals have had special difficulties in that they have to fight both Labor and the Conservatives. Their poster, showing a dreary line of unemployed, would help the Tories as much as themselves in a three-cornered fight. So they rely mainly on three panelled pictures representing themselves as the happy men between the other parties. The best of these show a fine young man as a Liberal who is labelled "It." On his left is a Conservative, a beautifully turned out clubman with a bald head and gouty foot, who is declared "Past It," and on his right a typical, shabby Clydeside street orator who is pronounced "Beyond It."

Labor makes a clever appeal to the English love of football with a player "Heading" the ball and the advertisement "Use your head and vote Labor," and in another series shows in the most delicate of colors, MacDonald is "the hope of the world," being taken by the hand by the Angel of Peace, while tiny figures representing Germany, Russia, France and other countries look up admiringly.

GENEROUS GIFTS

The immense value offered by The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season is meting with the success the publishers deserve. Their large calendar for 1925 with the beautiful picture—"The Sale of Old Dobbin" is proving a very popular premium, while the Ten Thousand Dollar Electric Contest is a record breaker. For those who raise clubs of new subscribers, there is a catalogue of some very handsome and useful rewards. The Family Herald is securing thousands upon thousands of new subscribers by their generous gifts, added to the paper itself; in fact few homes will be found without that great weekly when Two Dollars will secure so much.

GIVEN THREE YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Peter Smith, Former Provincial Treasurer—Jail Sentence for Jarvis, Sr.

Peter Smith, the former treasurer of Ontario in the U. F. O. Government, and the Aemilius Jarvis, Sr., of bonds and brokerage house of Aemilius Jarvis and Co., were Friday afternoon found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the province. Smith was sentenced to serve five years in Portmouth penitentiary and Jarvis to serve six months in the county jail. In addition both men must remain in prison until a fine of $600,000 is paid.

Aemilius Jarvis, Jr., and Harry G. Peppall were found not guilty of conspiracy to defraud the province. The theft charges against all four were dismissed.

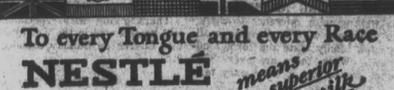

An appeal will be entered, both on behalf of Peter Smith and Aemilius Jarvis Sr., against both the conviction and sentence of the court.

The four men were charged before Chief Justice Meredith and a jury in the Criminal Assize Court at the City Hall, Toronto, commencing on last Monday. An application for bail will be made to the Attorney General to-day.

In Beautiful England

A Brief Account of our Pleasant Experiences with The Canadian Weekly Newspaper Party on our Trip Abroad
By H. B. ANSLOW

London, July 8.—Yesterday was another most enjoyable day, and one long to be remembered. At 8.30 we left London by charabanc for Kenly Aerodrome, where upon the invitation of the air ministry we were to see an exhibition of flying by different types of planes.

We arrived at about 10.30 after a very pleasant drive through a beautiful section of rural England, where the roads were narrow and bordered with beautiful hedges.

At the aerodrome we were conducted through the quarters and hangars and the various works explained. At 11 o'clock the real program commenced. With a roar of exhausts five planes took to the air, and carried out a program which was very exciting. At times there were as many as twenty planes, representing many types in the air at once.

The following program will give our readers a slight idea of what we witnessed:

PROGRAMME OF FLYING

On the occasion of the Visit of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association to KENLY on the 7th of July, 1924.

1. On arrival, the party is requested to split up into parties of 15. Each party will be conducted by an Officer. These parties will visit—Barrack Hut, Dining Hall, Institutes, Workshops, Hangars.

2. A Flying Display will take place, consisting of the following events—

AEROBATICS.

Carried out by one aeroplane from No. 66 (Fighter) Squadron, which is situated at BIGGIN HILL, AERODROME, Kent. The air evolutions performed under this title are practiced by the Royal Air Force as being part of the advanced training for aerial combat. It demonstrates the complete control over the aircraft by the pilot, 'in whatever situation he may find himself during a flight and provides him with many manoeuvres by means of which he is able to obtain tactical advantage over his enemy. Looping, whereby he can hope to reverse the positions of pursuer and pursued; Stalling, to simulate a crash landing or the death or wounding of the pilot, by which means he may return to the attack under more favourable conditions; Rolling and Flying on the Back, being of more utility as showing how a recovery to normal flight may be made from any attitude.

II. FORMATION FLYING

A formation of 3 Bristol Fighters from No. 22 (Fighter) Squadron, KENLY, will display the type of formation most generally employed: 3 aeroplanes comprise a Unit, and Units are employed in formations of 1-3 or 5. Other formations employing 4 or 5 aeroplanes to a Unit are also employed.

Formation is employed for mutual protection from attack by Hostile Aircraft, and permits of a concentration from which an attack can readily be delivered on the instructions of the Formation Leader.

III. The formation employed in (11) will be a formation of 3 Siskin Fighter planes, and a flight will take place in which the evolutions shown in (1) will be seen in practice.

IV. A flight of 6 Snipe Fighter planes from No. 25 (Fighter) Squadron, situated at HARKINGE, near FOLKESTONE, will then deliver a type of attack much used during the Great War: a low Altitude Attack suitable against Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, Strong points, Shipping etc. Bombs of light calibre and machine guns are both employed; the aircraft attacking from different directions which renders adequate defence a matter of the utmost difficulty. This type of warfare has a highly demoralising effect on troops.

V. In order to afford an opportunity to members of the party of seeing for themselves the altered aspect of things from the air, while the flying operations witnessed are fresh in their memory, opportunities will be given for short passenger flights in Bristol Fighter machines, D. H. 9's (Bombers), and Vickers Vimy (Bombers, Twin engine). No stunting will take place during these flights, which will be of a straight forward nature.

Word was passed along that as many as desired of our party would be taken up for a short flight. Evidently those in charge did not know Canadian Newspaper men and women and were prepared for only about fifty, whereas out of about one hundred and thirty requested to be taken up.

As it was impossible to take all, a party of leaders, among them Mrs. Anslow, was escorted to a large Hadley—Page byer, of the same type as those which fly from Paris to London, and twelve passengers taken up. The plane rose to an elevation of twelve hundred feet, and circled round the country side for about twenty minutes, the passengers getting a most wonderful view of the landscape.

Here we were served with refreshments and after bidding farewell to the general officers, we proceeded on our way to Hever Castle, the beautiful estate of Major J. J. Astor M. F.

The following report of the reception is from The London Times.

The delegation of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, which has been touring Europe, and is now in Great Britain, was entertained yesterday by Major J. J. Astor, M. P., and Lady Violet Astor at Hever Castle. In the morning the delegates had been the guests of the Air Ministry at Kenly Aerodrome, where they saw a Royal Air Force pageant in miniature (including the bombing of a "submarine" from the air) and from there they motored to Hever Castle.

After luncheon, Major Astor formally welcomed the guests, saying that they had, no doubt, discovered that the country was very much more welcoming than they had been told. He could assure them that there was no home in England in which they were more welcomed than at Hever Castle, and for several reasons. First, because of the happy years his wife had spent in Canada as a child, when her father was the Governor-General, and he could tell that the Canadian memories counted a great deal with her; and then he had the honour to be closely connected with a well-known journal in this country. His conviction was not old, as yet, but it had been extremely pleasant, and it was of increasing interest, so much so that he would not exchange it for any interest that he was capable of imagining. Perhaps his opinion of the world of newspapers was very largely due to the good comradeship which united those who were associated with it, and in the name of that comradeship he and Lady Violet Astor hailed their presence there that day.

"The Times" And Imperial Ideals

To each of them the newspapers with which, or for which, they worked were "the leading newspapers," and that was obviously the right view. (Laughter and cheers.) They certainly felt it very strongly at Printing House Square, and wished to see The Times not only as an English voice, but a voice throughout the British Commonwealth. He, as he expected all of those present had done, had welcomed the modern development of the old Imperial ideal, and in their new conception of Empire a community free yet interdependent nations, they could find, he thought, a nobler and truer inspiration than in any other of the Imperial destiny of their race.

OLD PEOPLE NEED A TONIC-NOW

They Should Take Father John's Medicine

It is not uncommon for old people to feel frail and weak and unable to resist the cold as the call of winter comes on. Their body energy is often a low ebb. They have not been getting quite the proper amount of nourishment from their food.

When this is so, they should at once begin to take a food medicine to strengthen the body and to nourish and enrich their blood.

Father John's Medicine is the best food tonic and is perfectly safe. It nourishes nerve and body tissue and builds up the resisting power so that the system is able to throw off poisonous waste matter. It acts as a very mild laxative. All pure food. Guaranteed free from dangerous drugs.

was certainly his own ambition that The Times should be a trusty and vigilant guardian of that ideal. (Cheers.) That was another reason for a number of years with the first Dominion of the British Commonwealth, were welcomed at Hever. In the name of his wife and himself he extended a very hearty welcome to them all.

Mr. W. Rupert Davies acknowledged the welcome given, and said that he was expressing the sentiments of his fellow delegates of Canadian weekly newspapers when he said that their hearts were overflowing with gratitude to their hosts for asking them to that beautiful old place to spend the day. They came with feelings of warmth and friendship, because of the fact that Lady Violet had resided in Canada for a number of years with her father, who was one of the most popular Governor-Generals they had ever had. (Cheers.)

LADY VIOLET ASTOR, in a few words of welcome, said she could assure them that her own happy possible recollections of the six years spent in Canada, and the badge the delegation still just presented to her would still more remind her of Canada and the Maple Leaf. (Cheers.)

Before the guests adjourned they sang "O Canada" and then in small parties were shown over the castle with its many towers and battlements. At this luncheon, which was served on the lawn under the shade of a large tent, there were about four hundred guests. A celebrated military band furnished music during the luncheon.

Hever Castle is one of the most beautiful country estates in England, and has a most interesting history. Here came Henry VIII to court one of his numerous wives, and the room occupied by this much married English king is kept as he used it, as were many other rooms and relics in the castle.

The grounds were very spacious and the gardens beautiful. It was rose time in England, and consequently we saw it in all its beauty.

Our ride back to London in the evening through a section of rural England which is delightful was certainly much enjoyed. Our particular party were want to break forth in song, and a two hour ride was all too soon at an end.

Weigh Your Furnace

If every furnace was weighed before being bought the one model sold would be the Improved Cumberland, pipe or pipeless, coal or wood burning.

For the Cumberland is the heaviest furnace on the market. The extra weight means extra wear. The Improved Cumberland is fortified at every point with less surplus strength against rust and rough usage. The Cumberland lasts longer because it is stronger. Many Cumberland Furnaces have been on the job more than a quarter of a century and—to quote Mr. McAllister, Jacquet River, as "as good as ever and working better than ever."

The Improved Cumberland has important advantages over other makes. Send for descriptive circular.

Then Zam-Buk is your surest means of securing once more perfectly sound tissue and a blemish-free skin. Zam-Buk owes its signal triumph over skin disease to its unique herbal composition. This rare antiseptic balm expels all harmful germs that have secured lodgment beneath the cuticle, banishes sores and eruptions, and grows healthy new skin in a way done by no mere pore-clogging ointment or fatty salve.

BOZEMA ON HANDS.—Mr. J. E. Cusick, of 849, Wilson St., Hamilton (Ont.), says: "Every winter eczema appeared on the back of my hands. The itching and pain was most severe, and the disease got so bad that I was unable to work. When a sample box of Zam-Buk proved its worth and I was cured, I bought a regular box of Zam-Buk and have used it ever since."

BURNS & SOALS.—Mr. E. Webster, of 319, Colborne St., Montreal, says: "As I was lifting a pan of boiling water off the kitchen stove, I was scalded on the back of my hand. We tried several ointments, but had no relief. I then used Zam-Buk and the pain was gone in a few days. I have used it ever since."

POISONED HAND.—Mrs. C. W. Broom, of 302, Safford Avenue, Winnipeg, says: "I cut my left hand with a sharp knife. The wound was deep and the pain was very severe. I was afraid an injury had been secured. Inflammation set in, and my thumb turned black with poison. Zam-Buk soothed the acute pain directly, drew out all inflammation and soon healed the wound."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

On Monday evening Oct. 27th, Mrs. W. S. Montgomery entertained at a bridge of four tables in honor of Mr. Richard O'Leary of Richibucto.

The prizes were won by Mrs. Geo. G. McKenzie, ladies first, and Mr. James Morton, gent's prize. The guest prize went to Mr. O'Leary. The guests were—Mrs. and Mrs. James Morton, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lingley, and Mrs. S. W. Dimock, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McNutt, Mrs. Albert Mott, and Mrs. D. A. Stewart.

Mrs. Alex. Wallace returned home last week from an extensive trip to the United States. Mrs. Wallace was born in Fall River, Mass. and renewed many acquaintances of her childhood days.

It was with deep regret that many friends in Dalhousie learnt on Saturday evening, through a despatch received by Mrs. E. R. Gaudet, that her niece Miss Marie Jeanne Allan, daughter of the late Louis Allan of Dalhousie, had passed away at the Allan home in Montreal. Miss Allan, who visited Dalhousie, her native town during the Christmas holidays, was a young lady admirably gifted. The sympathy of all who knew her will be extended to the family in their sad bereavement.

Miss Bernadette Hayes, of the Royal Bank staff, Montreal, was on a visit in Dalhousie last week, the guest of Mrs. E. J. Melanson. Mrs. Frank Synette, Miss Louise Synette, Miss Nita Doucet, Miss Martha Methot and Mr. Albert Godin, had a most enjoyable trip to Batouste Ste. Therese and Petit Rocher on Saturday, returning home on Sunday evening.

Miss Eileen McEvoy has returned from the New England States, to spend some of her time at her home in Dalhousie. Among the social functions, which were quite numerous on the occasion of Halloween was the splendid party given by Miss Margaret Methan, of about thirty of her friends, at the home of Mrs. Alex. Wallace, Renfrew St.

Mrs. Charles Nelson entertained little children in her pretty home on Halloween. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Godin are enjoying a week's visit among friends at Kedgewick.

It was with regret that the people of Dalhousie learnt on Tuesday morning of the death on Monday evening, at Eel River Crossing, of Mr. Michael Gendron. His late father was one of the pioneers of Eel River. It is remembered when Eel River Crossing had only three houses and one of them, was inhabited about the progress the town has made during recent years.

Mrs. Doherty of Madisno, N. B. is visiting Miss Elizabeth Stewart at "Glen Cottage." His late father was one of the pioneers of Eel River. It is remembered when Eel River Crossing had only three houses and one of them, was inhabited about the progress the town has made during recent years.

OBITUARY

The death of Mrs. Lydia Thompson of Flatlands, occurred on Friday, after a brief illness, in the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital, Campbellton. Mrs. Thompson, who was in her eightieth year, was the widow of the late William Thompson. Mrs. Alexander Anderson and Mrs. Frank Dolman, both of Flatlands are daughters. The funeral service was held at her late residence, on Monday afternoon by the Rev. R. J. Coleman and the Rev. E. V. Forbes, and the interment was made in the Campbellton Rural Cemetery. Messrs James Pullock, Arthur Firth, Josiah Mann, Anasie Thompson, Frank Dolman and Alexander Anderson acted as pall-bearers.

LIFE ON MOUNT EVEREST
Animal life, it appears, is to be found on high mountains far beyond plant growth. The highest growing plant that the Mt. Everest expedition of 1924 observed was the blue twenty thousand feet. A minute, at eighteen thousand feet, but animals live at as great a height as twenty two thousand feet. A minute and inconspicuous black spider, says a member of the expedition, hops about on rocky cliffs and hides beneath stones in those bare places that happen to be swept clear of snow by the wind. I cannot think on what it lives at that height. In these altitudes there is no other living thing—nothing but rock and ice. This little spider is worthy of note as being the highest permanent inhabitant of the earth.

WHO MADE THE FIRST PAPER?

The credit for making the first paper is due to a Chinese named Tsai-lun.

In A. D. 75 he made the first hand sheet of paper from the bark of a mulberry tree.

Before this leaves of trees and various barks used in crude form had been good enough for the Egyptians, Romans and other nations. The Chinese, however, did not use the crude inner bark of the tree as the final material on which to make his records. He used the bark merely as a raw material from which he produced a finished sheet of paper by a series of processes which, primitive as they may seem to us now, were the forebears of paper manufacturing today.

China monopolized the art of paper-making for about 800 years, until the secret was learned from her by the Arabs, who improved upon the Chinese processes by using linen or cotton rags instead of mulberry bark.

Soon after 1800 the first paper to be made with wood pulp came into the market.

Nowadays, to meet the enormous demands of the press and commerce generally, over 400 varieties of wood and grasses have been called into requisition. Linen and cotton rags are used only in the making of the finest notepaper.

A lucky horseshoe, nailed over the door of the home of Capt. Geo. Huntington of Lube, Me., has been discarded and thrown far and wide. The captain lost faith in horseshoes when lightning, attracted by the emblem over the door, struck his domicile and in the fire that ensued the family lost most of its household goods and personal effects.

EDISON'S INGENUITY
(Visualizer Magazine)
Thomas A. Edison pricked his finger and the result was a phonograph. Any one of a million others might have pricked their fingers and the outcome would have been a few cuss words. The man who is alert and properly observing has a great advantage over the one who fails to use his faculties to their fullest.

The accident which led to the discovery of the talking machine happened in Edison's laboratory when the inventor was trying out a new type of telephone receiver which consisted in its essentials of a sensitive diaphragm and a needle. The wisp of Menlo Park was singing lightly and heartily at his work when the vibration of his voice sent the fine needle into his finger, pricking it very slightly.

The shock was not great nor the pain, but it carried a message to his agile brain. It set him to pondering. If he could make the needle record the vibrations of his voice in wax, he reflected, he could then send the needle back again over the same surface and perhaps the sound would be repeated.

He quickly snatched up a strip of telegraph paper and rubbed it over with a wax candle end. He moved that gently forward while he shouted the words: "Hello, hello!" into the receiver. Then he ran the paper back over the steel point and heard a faint "Hello, hello!" in return. These were the first words on a talking machine.

River Charlo

Rev. C. F. MacLennan and Mrs. MacLennan very pleasantly entertained about forty young people from Charlo and New Mills, including the C. G. I. T. and C. S. E. T. groups at a Halloween party at the Manse on Friday evening. The Halloween decorations added much to the spirit of the occasion. Mr. MacLennan had a splendid programme of games arranged in which everybody took part. There came ice-cream, cake and candy. The boys and girls had a thoroughly good time and voted Mr. MacLennan a capital entertainer.

Lanse-au-Beaufils, Que.
The weather during the last month has been excellent and our motorists have been taking advantage of the good roads.

A number of young people were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mahan on October 21st., it being the anniversary of their second daughters birthday. A very interesting game of progressive 500 was enjoyed. Refreshments were partaken of at twelve o'clock, after which dancing was enjoyed to the fullest.

Miss Gladys Mahan left for Paspébiac on October 22nd. where she is visiting friends.

Miss Hilda Mercier who has been visiting her parents left on Friday for Montreal. Miss Mercier while on her visit made several new friends who were sorry to learn that her visit was of such short duration.

Mr. Clifford DeFeu spent Saturday last in Chandler.

Some of our young people welcomed Halloween, as a splendid opportunity to indulge in a few pranks. However they were unable to carry out all the plans as a few of our friends are the owners of fine watch-dogs.

Messrs. Alex Beck and Arthur Gale arrived home on Friday last. They have been working at La Prairie during the last few months, and their many friends are glad to welcome them back again.

We are pleased to see that Mr. G. P. Boudreau's Garage has been completed.

The L.A.B. Jitney is still able to make her daily trips between Lanse-au-Beaufils and Red Head. This Jitney has proved very useful to travellers during the summer and we wish it all success in future summers.

20th Century Brand

FINE TAILORED CLOTHES
LEADERS FOR 25 YEARS

A new style for 1925

The double-breasted jacket was never more the vogue than at present. This new 20th Century model is built on the latest lines. With the comfort of ease is given a well set up, neat appearance. The lapels are long and generous, the shoulders a little broader than in the past. It appeals to the clean cut straight thinking, particular man.
