A GIGANTIC TRAUD

New York, Aug. 14.- Appraiser Wakeman said yesterday the he had called in the goods of a number of silk importing houses, and was making an examination to see whether the goods had been prop-erly appraised. This is because of a be-lief that certain examiners in the employ of the government have been making large sums of money from the importers by passing Japanese silks with under-valuations. Mr. Wakeman would not say how the alleged dishonesty of the examiners had come to his notice, beyond tin-timating that he had received complaints in letters from silk importers who were too honest or not properly situated to take advantage of the fraudulent prac-tices. Neither would Mr. Wakeman say what firms were implicated in the transaction, but he let it be understood that the goods of ten or a doezn importers had been brought to public stores for reappraisement. The handling of silk goods appraisement. The handling of slik goods has hitherto been in the hands of a few expert appraisers, whose honesty has not been questioned. If the under-valuation and under-weighing have been practiced steadily, as alleged, the government has been defrauded of large sums of money. The examiners are alleged to have had life made pleasanter for them, one having received $2.000 a year from silk in ing received $8,000 a year from silk importing firms, another having been sent to Europe, and another having come into the possession of valuable real estate.

Terrible Position of Workmen in a Waterworks Tunnel Near Cleveland.

Flames Cut Off All Hope of Escape and Those Who Were Not Drowned Are Believed to Have Been Suffocated.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 14.-Thirty men | tings, John Martin and Mike Lynder. suffocated in the new waterworks tunnel in Lake Erie, five miles from shore, and a number of workmen drowned are the first reports of the death list of an awful calamity which occurred at an early hour this morning. The new waterworks tunnel crib No. 2 caught fire and was almost demolished by the flames. Three gangs of tunnel workmen who live at the crib were caught like rats in a trap, and had to either jump into the lake and possibly drown or else go back into the tunnel to a probable death by sufocation. It is known that at least hree men were drowned and a numper were rescued. They belonged to the shift that was resting at the time, and were forced to jump into the lake to escape a death by fire.

MAY ALL BE DEAD. The 30 men who were at work in the tunnel at the time that the fire broke out may all be dead from suffocation. At 4 a.m. when a tug reached the scene of the fire it had died down somewhat. The life saving crew, fire tug Clevelander and four tugs were on the scene, but nothing could be done to learn whether the men in the tun-nel were alive or dead, because of the still burning structure. The firemen had the flames under control at 4 a.m. The opinion of those on the scene was that the tunnel men had perished for want of air. Others thought they were safe, as the compressed air was not shut off.

BOILER EXPLODED. A few minutes before 3 o'clock a oiler in the orib exploded with terrific force. One gang of eight men was at work in the tunnel beneath the lake, and two more gangs were asleer in the crib at the time. As soon as the xplosion occurred one of the gangs in the lake started down the elevator to get the gang underneath out, but while on the way down the power operating the elevator gave out and they were cut off with their companions.

In a few minutes the remainder of the party in the crib discovered that their position was critical. About 21 men and 1 woman were hemmed in by the burning crib, which was of wood, and was filled with inflammable matter. Too terrified to dress they were forced back step by step to the water's edge by the advancing fire.

FORCED INTO THE WATER. Smoke enveloped them and their Soon the flames forced them into the ing near the burning crib, screaming for help, when the tug Sprankle reached the scene. The tug was in the harbor when the fire was first seen, and though it went at full speed to the burning structure, the building had burned to the water's level when it reached there. Thorne, of the tug Sprankle, stated that he found the ake in the vicinity of the fire swarming with men. They were all naked and were swimming about in the water almost exhausted. He says that he saw at least one man throw up his arms in despair and sink to a watery grave. Therne and his crew rescued thirteen of the men and brought them to Cleveland.

PRISONER'S ALIVE.

Later, Foreman Van Hartman, who had returned to the crib on the tug with his fellow-workers, went down into the tunnel shaft, a distance of 120 feet. A rope was tied around his body, so that if he should have become overcome by the smoke he would have been drawn to the top. He was down in the shaft for fifteen minutes, and said the men in the tunnel were alive. He claimed that he could hear them the claimed the claimed that he could hear them the claimed the answer his calls. The tug returned to this city to get storage electric batteries so the bottom of the shaft can be lighted, and the rescue of the fourteen men imprisoned in the tunnel can be effected.

London, Aug. 13 .- At vesterday's session of the South African compensation commission. Newton Crane counsel for the American claimants, submitted the American claims. Dr. A. F. Conroy, of Chicago, a member of the Red Cross Society, asks for $35,000 for losses of surgical instruments, horses and wagons. A. J. Giebener, formerly of Galveston, Texas, now stranded in Saxony, went to South Africa in the capacity of assayer, and was deported from East London. He asserts he is ruined in health and fortune, and wants $50,000. He makes his claim in a letter to President McKinley, with whom, only hope seemed the water of the he says, he fought in the Shenandoah lake. There was not even a ledge around the crib for the imperiled people to cling to, and they were floating near the burning crib, screaming Lord Roberts. Mr. Crane said the claims were made in behalf of the United States government.

The chairman, Mr. Milvan, said he thought no allowance could be made except for legal claims. Something, possibly, might be given to others, as an act of grace, but the foreign office had laid down the principle that the military authorities had power to expel anyone hostile or inconvenient.

Sir John Ardagh, the representative of the foreign office, contended that Dr. Conroy's expedition was composed of men who threw away their Red Cross badges and joined the fighting Boers. Sir John read a letter from Lord Kitchener, asserting that the acts of the nine claimants justified their arrest, the accusations of complicity in the plot against Lord Roberts, and their deportation as undesirable persons. ### EARTHQUAKE THAT LASTED A DAY!

Extraordinary Seismic Disturbances Reported From Alaska

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 14.—Baynes Reed, superintendent of the Victoria Meteorological office, reports that in all probability news will be shortly received of very serious control of the victorial of the control of the victorial serious earthquakes occurring in the Alaskan regions on the morning of Fri-gives very clear details of these shocks, and the photographic records show the disturbances to have been the heaviest registered as yet in this office.

From the size of the waves and their peculiar formation, it is probable that the earthquake occurred in Alaska or some locality not far from Victoria, and the movements are very similar to those which were recorded by the seismograph on Sept. 10, 1899, and Oct. 9, 1900, both of which earthquakes so seriously affected

Skaguay. Unlike, however, the two earthquakes above referred to, which commenced abruptly and with little or no warning, in this instance there were preliminary tremors and quakes nearly four hours before the maximum of extreme severity was felt.

The preliminary tremors commenced at 1:30 a.m., Victoria time, and continued until 4:08, the pendulum in this interval recording several oscillations of three millimeters in amplitude. The boom then remained quiet until 5:15, when another disturbance commenced which remidle disturbance commenced, which rapidly assumed immense proportions, until at 6:15 the swing of the pendulum had completely crossed the record paper and maintained this incessant movement for some twenty minutes, when its vibrations, though still exceedingly large, began to lessen, and repeating, as it were, the echoes of its preliminary tremors, gradu-ally died out about 10 o'clock. Another rest then occurred for 48 minutes, when a fresh vibration began, which became very pronounced for nearly an hour, and then continued its everlessening movements until about 1:30, when the pendulum finally came to rest, the extraordinary seismic disturbances having thus lasted for some twelve

SUCCESSFUL SWINDLE

Chicago Bank Beaten Out of $30,000 in Very Simple Way.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—The Inter-Ocean says that one of the Chicago banks was recently swindled out of $30,000 n cash in a skillful manner, but the name of the bank is suppressed. It seems that a depositor of several years' standing appeared a few days ago in the bank president's office with a draft on London for £6,000, which was perfectly good. The depositor informed the president that he desired to deposit the London draft, and at the same time the check against presenting his check for $30,000 for the president to "O. K."

The latter put his initials on it and thought nothing of it. The depositor then went out into the bank and deposited his London draft, and on the following day presented a check for $30,000, which was pand, the teller knowing that amount was to his credit on the books. Later in the day he again appeared at the window and presented the check for $30,000, which had been initialed by the president. This check was also paid. Nothing has since been seen of the depositor.

MUSKOKA FISH ARE NOT DYING

Fisheries Department Contradicts Reports Published in Western Papers.

Toronto, Aug. 14.-The fisheries department contradict the reports published to the effect that the fish taken to the Muskoka Lakes this season are dying. The fisheries inspector has regone over the lakes and ports that there are no dead fish, but that the fish deposited are thriving. It is likely that with the advent of cooler weather the shipping of black bass to the northern lakes will be resumed.

S. G. P. OF CANADA IN SESSION. St. John, N. B., Aug. 14.-The 1th annual assembly of the Sovereign Great Priory of Canada was opened here yesterday with 250 visitors in attendance, and the city was handsomely decorated in their honor. EMBEZZLER EXTRADITED. El Paso, Texas, Aug. 14.—John Krug, an American ordered surrendered to Mexico, to answer the charge of embezzling $100,000 from Wells-Fargo at Escalon, Mexico, has been delivered to the Mexican officers at Juarez. The Mexican officials met the United States marshal at the center of the Rio Grande bridge, where they signed a receipt for the prisoner. He was taken to Jiminez and will be tried there. The extradition proceedings were the hardest fought on record since the new treaty was signed.

The Cutlook for International Peace Through Arbitration Is Exceedingly Bright.

London, Aug. 14. - The House of Commons passed the factories bill to third reading last night after a heated debate, which arose out of the action of the government in withdrawing a clause including laundries within the scope of the bill, because the Nationalists strongly opposed the inspection of the Catholic conventual laundries, on the ground that such ed to attend on that day. Canadian laundries, on the ground that such railways have been especially kind inspection would be subversive of the discipline it is necessary to maintain in reformatory laundries conducted by nuns for fallen women. Mr. Ritchie, the home secretary, and Mr. Balfour frankly admitted that this concession was necessary; but many of the supporters of the government hotly denounced it as surrender Irish obstruction. The Conservative papers today are angry at what is described a "cowardly surrender" and "melancholy weakness." They attribute the result to Mr. Balfour's mismanagement of the house in driving important contentious business into the last days of the session.

DROWNED BOY IS REVIVED!

John Schaffer, Apparently Dead, Tells Experiences.

Was Under Water Forty Minutes and I felt the sand and water.
"'What's the use?" I though again. When Taken Out Showed No. Signs of Life.

A marvelous instance of a man supposed to be dead who was brought back to life is the case of John of the water I lost consciousness. Schaefer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was "Coming back to life, as near rescued after being under water 40 minutes.

Other medical authorities of high repute are astounded at the phenomenon and unable to explain it on any theory known to science.

John Schaefer is 17 years old, weighs only 80 pounds, and has been afflicted with weak lungs and heart. He was brought up from the water off Thirty-fifth street, Brooklyn, by J. Johnson, a boatman, who dived six times before he succeeded in finding

GOLF DEVOTEES

Devotees of the royal and ancient game of golf are in great danger of arteriorsclerosis, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. This formidably-named affliction is said to have caused the death of Wayman Crowe McCreery, the wealthy St. Louisan, who was an assiduous golfer. The disease causes short-windedness, which results from a loss of elasticity in the blood vessels, particularly the arteries, and weakens the walls of these vessels. The overexertion accompanying a fast game of golf is what makes the game dangerous, according to some medical authorities. Dr. A. C. Bernays, a St. Louis physician, is the first to sound the alarm. Hitherto the game has been looked upon as the best possible recreation for a business man who can secure a few hours for outdoor sport. There are some who go so far as to say their health has been much benefited since they began to take time away from business to give to golf. But Dr. Bernays says that he knows of a dozen cases in which golf like lightning from one thing to an- carrying the ball around the links, other, as if I saw a lot of instantane- and many players go round two or three times, and the exertion is far too severe for the constitution.

Dr. J. Chris Lange, dean of Western Pennsylvania Medical lege, says that all that Dr. Bernays asserts of the game is the truth.
"From what I understand," he said, "the players walk long distances over my teeth hard.

"I kept snuffing and blowing the exertion in making long drives, huntsand from my nose; then, gasping I ing the ball and running from place fast. Sold by all leading grocers.

over hilly country. The exertion of thing that causes one to reach the condition commonly known as 'out of breath' is a pernicious recreation. When one becomes short of breath, the amount of oxygen that should be contained in exhalation is absent. The fact that the blood does not contain the oxygen that the exercised body demands increases the action of the Then comes the weakening of the blood vessels and the disease is likely to be fatal. It does not cause sudden and unexpected death usually. No one should indulge in any exercise that brings this shortness of breath, or else they should rest before becoming winded."

Golf is commonly looked upon as an ideal divertisement for middle-aged men, and upon the links about Pittsburg a great many business men, well into the period called middle-age, can be found playing. Dr. Lange says this exhaustive exercise is extremely pernicious for such men. A man who has reached the age of 50, he says, should take no exercise at all, and no man, young or old, should indulge in exercise that takes all the breath away. He says that men should have strength enough to do their work, and that is all. Dr. Lange says that if one man shovels coal and another keeps books, other conditions being the same, the bookkeeper will have the longest life, because he suffers none of the wear and tear. Golf has its medical defenders, too.

Dr. F. M. Storer, of Wilkinsburg, is a player, but says he has never given its bearing upon the organic structure any study. In a general way, judicious indulgence he considers ben-eficial. Dr. Karl Emmerling is another ardent golfer, while Dr. E. M. Mattson, the city bacteriologist, is an enthusiast, but is not now in the city. Among golfers themselves, who don't go into the question of increased heart action or too rapid reduction of weight, or arteriorsclerosis, there is not a dissenting voice as to the merits and fascination of the game. They insist that the exercise does them good and keeps them from becoming addicted to embonpoint, without an evil effect.

These good people have been told by a friend of the benefit so many are receiving from the use of Granose and Granola. They are of the wise thinking class and will soon be convinced, with others, that Granose and Grancla are the purest, most natural and best prepared foods to be had, and a sure

> Ottawa, Aug. 14.-Mrs. Rosanna St. George, whose body was found in the Ottawa River Monday, probably suicided. At the inquest the woman's husband and several of the jurors were intoxicated, and the coroner reprimanded the constable for summoning jurors from barrooms. It was brought out in evidence that Mrs. St. George had been suffering from melancholy, and that she was not in good health. She did not live happily with her husband, and her brother, Albert Dunn, says St. George had something to do with causing his wife's death. St. George said he left his home early Sunday morning to go fish-ing, and when he returned several hours later his wife was absent, and the next time he heard about her she was drowned. He says his wife was deranged mentally. The doctor's evidence was that there were no marks of violence. Mrs. St. George told a priest she wanted to die and go to purgatory.

THE FUNERAL OF THE EMPRESS

Details of the Ceremonies That Took Place at Potsdam--King Edward and Emperor William March Together.

Potsdam, Aug. 13 .- At 9:30 a.m. the | brief ceremony the royal party withgates of Sans Souci Park were opened to the press and to a few ladies connected with government and court circles. The small crowd here was rigidly kept within prescribed limits andra on the right and the Empress by a military guard. The morning brought an overcast sky, with the sun feebly peering through the clouds, adding to the solemnity of the occa-sion. A slight breeze rustled the foliage, bringing down an occasional leaf. prematurely shriveled by the drought. The magnificent fountain beneath the Sans Souci Palace cast an immense volume of water in the air, the splashing of which broke the silence reigning in the park. While observers waited, military organizations marched in and took up positions along the central avenue, through which the procession was to pass.

ARTISTS SKETCH THE SCENE. Numbers of artists from London newspapers occupied the time in sketching scenes in the park as set-tings for illustrations. Promptly at 10:30 the tolling of bells announced the arrival of the funeral train at Wild Park, but it was nearly 11 o'clock when the sound of music in the distance announced the approach of the funeral procession. Far down the avenue moving masses appeared, now and then halting the procession to assume its proper position. As the procession drew near the notes of the best known funeral marches, played slowly and plaintively, became audible, the mufil- The August Bulletin, Bised on Reports ed drums rolling in solemn impressive-

It's Time Wasted

And strength wasted, to try to push back the rising tide with a broom, It's just as great a waste of time and a far more serious waste of strength to try to push back the rising title of disease with the "nervines," "com-pounds" and "nerve foods" which simply drug the nerves into a drunken stupor. They make you feel good? So does whisky, while the feeling lasts, but the reaction is dangerous and deadly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a tem-perance medicine. It contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine or other narcotic. It strengthens the body by purifying the blood and increasing the supply of that vital fluid. It heals diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition and thus removes the obstacles to a perfect nourishment of the whole body. "Six years ago my stomach and heart troubled me so much I had to do something, as the doctors could not help me," writes Mrs. 8. A. Knapp, of San Jose. California. Box 392. "I went to San Francisco and had treatment for catarrh of the stomach and was better for some time, then it came back. I then used Dr. Pierce's Golden Modical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' These medicines cured my stomach. I do not have the pain and indigestion as I did. It is very hard for me to tell you what I suffered before I commenced taking your valuable medicine. I recommend it to all the sufferers whom I meet." "Six years ago my stomach and heart troubled me so much I had to do something, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets strengthen and stimulate the liver.

WEAK MEN

Do You Want to be Strong?

To feel young again! To realize the joyous sparkle of nerve life as it infuses the body with its glowing vitality; to feel the magnetic enthusiasm of youthful energy; to be happy, light-hearted and full of joyous impulses; to be free from spells of despondency, from brain-wandering, from the dull, stupid feeling; to have confidence, self-esteem and the admiration of men and women! Such is the wish of the brokendown man, and it may be gratified.

DR. McLAUGHLIN'S ELECTRIC BELT

Makes men strong. It causes the nerves to tingle with the joyful exhilaration of youth; it fills the heart with a feeling of gladness, makes everything look bright and makes the nerves like bars of steel. It has special appliances for weak men. Wonderful cures are reported daily, and grateful friends send the most interesting accounts of how, under this splendid system of self-treatment, their eyes began to sparkle, their blood began to bound through their veins, and their muscular and nervous systems to regain all the electricity and vigor of early youth. That strength is electricity. The Dr. McLaughlin Electric Beit is made to restore it when lest, and it never fails. Wear it while you sleep; it pumps a glowing stream of energy into your body every minute. It braces wonderfully.

Any honest man who will secure me can have my appliance and

The Public Interest.

Hitherto it has been the custom to look upon capital and labor, the great factors in production, as paramount. The public has scarcely been viewed as a partner at all in the great industrial fabric. The elements of production have been discussed from a purely politico-economic point of view, and hitherto the science of economics has been considered the science of wealth. Economic progress meant to a large extent the progress of industrialism rather than the good of the people at large.. This was practically the view of Ricardo. There is a marked tendency, however, within recent years to look upon production as solely a means to an end and that end the good of the body politic. Probably the tendency has not had clearer manifestation than in connection with the great steel strike, which is at present Boers' work was cosmopolitan and alputting a quietus on the steel in- truistic in every sense of the word. His dustry, and at the same time effecting to such an extent the general public. A century and a half ago capital and labor and the public were not clearly defined. With the invention and introduction of machinery and the system of division of labor, we have the large factory and the consequent ple of Great Britain. In 1882 he set differentiation between capital and about organizing a tour to Britain, on labor. Development has proceeded along these lines, so that there is a fixed gulf between these two great elements in production. Immobility between capital and labor has become a distributed literature about the capa-

There is, however, a third side: to individuals or corporations only by the people at large through their representatives, or, in other words, by the Government. Individuals and corporate bodies should not forget that the public also has rights. A strike, which is virtually economic warfare, cannot last any length of time without great inconvenience to the people. The great consuming masses must be considered. It is all nonsense to say that compulsory arbitration will interfere with the rights of either capital or union labor, as if public interests should be set at naught for the benefit of the minority which capital and labor in any single industry must ever be, when compared with the aggregate of people composing the nation. Something should be done by governments to compel differences between employers and employes, at least in businesses conducted under state or municipal franchises, to be submitted to arbitration boards and the decision of such boards should be final. A case in point here would be the settling of a street-car strike. 'Here would be a should compulsory measures prove effective, they should not cease here. Industrial strikes or lockouts should eventually be subject to compulsory arbitration in such proportion as they effect the public welfare or produce public inconvenience. Professor Richard T. Ely makes the following very important statement:

"First of all we should classify businesses with respect to degree of public concern in their continuous operation. Naturally, railways, telegraph lines and generally the agencies of transportation and communication, together with lighting plants and other socalled local 'public utilities,' belong in the class in which the social interest asserts itself most vigorously. Here clearly the interest of society is paramount, and the duty of preserving the continuous operation of the industries providing these services is like that of the prevention of crime. In other in these particular cases we should have courts of conciliation and arbitration, with adequate power to settle disputes wihout a recourse to private industrial warfare. So far as other industries are concerned, we could have a further classification into those with a very large social interest, as coal mining, and those in which the social interest in any one economic concern is relatively small, for example, mercantile pursuits, those rank nig just below the railways, conciliation and arbitration boards should be furnished with sufficient powers to gather together all the facts in regard to disputes between employer and employed, to make recommendations to the parties concerned and to inform educate public opinion. No board of this kind should ever be clothed with so little power as to be contemptible, and the reasons why a feeble board can accomplish nothing are similar to those which would render judges of little use, if contempt of court were permissible.'

The above extract is worth considering. It has been the custom to take sides with either of the two great facions of an industrial war, thus turning it into partizanship pure and simple. How much better it would be to insist on popular rights, and effect as speedy settlement as possible, for in the instance of a continuance of industrial differences, not only capital and labor. but the public as well, must suffer in-

The Monetary Times says: "The number of applications that have been made for grants of land for military services, under the Soldiers' Land Grant Bill, Ontario, is said to have been greatly in excess of what was expected; that the applications would swallow up all the surveyed crown lands and that even an extension of surveys for that purpose, to meet all demands, would be necessary It is the nature of claims on the Government to grow beyond all expectation. It is regarded as significant that of 1,410,769 negro heads of families in the United States, 264,288 own their homes and farms, while the remainder are good field for experimentation. But tenants. This is certainly a very creditable showing, when one considers that less than 40 years have elapsed since the negro race were slaves, without a cent's worth of property. In Georgia alone the colored men own upwards of 1,000,000 acres of land. After the war, the emancipated slaves got hold of swamp lands which were regarded as of very little use, largely in pay for services rendered. Many difficulties were placed in their way, not the least of which were the Ku-Klux Klan outrages, the panic of 1892, and the great fall in the price of cotton, which was their principal product. But the colored men never lost heart, and since 1895 their condition has again placed under the same conditions have done better than these negroes? We

The New York Post, commenting on the very satisfactory nature of the trade returns of Canada for the past financial year, says:

"It would not do to take seriously the snarling of Opposition papers like the Montreal Star and the Toronto Mail and Empire: but it is certain that the Canadians are learning to be content with their isolation from the United States, and that they increasingly put their faith in British markets. If the Canadians feel or choose to assume an indifference to reciprocity with the United States, it is because Canada is doing very well under the present fiscal conditions. Her total foreign trade in the fiscal year closing June 30 last was $345,985,000-an increase of $60,000,000 over the previous year. #### Bargain-Making Triumpnant.

A Boer clergyman is reported have received this message from ex-President Kruger: "Tell the Americans that they are killing us by sending horses and mules to our enemies.' We presume that when Mr. Kruger speaks of "Americans" he means United Statesers. They are likely to turn a deaf ear to his expostulations, how ever. There may be a section of the people of the United States who are ready to pass resolutions in support of the Boer claim to misgovern and oppress the Uitlanders in the Transvaal, but these resolutions are as empty at the Boer pretension to fair treatment of the English-speakers in South Africa. They mean nothing, but antipathy to British institutions, and can have no effect in helping the Poor old Kruger, this is one of the many things which he does not seem to understand. If he did, he would realize the hopelessness of his struggle against the establishment of equality of rights and opportunity in South Africa, and counsel the speedy adherence to the liberal terms of peace which the British have always been ready to concede.

Probably no other language has so rich and varied a vocabulary as the English. Its simplicity is seen in the writings of Bunyan; its power in the dramatic works of Shakespeare; its beauty in Tennyson and Wordsworth and its clearness and grace in the prose of Prof. Goldwin Smith. The English is truly a living language, among other things, a sort of vitality may be seen in the number of words that are being added from time to time. American authors have contributed the following: "Lyronym," meaning an assumed name under which a poet may write: "metropoliarchy," the rule of the midle classes of a large city; the term "littleist," a would-be realist; "velleity" denotes the lowest kind of desire, an indolent or inactive wish or If our contemporary had gone back inclination towards a thing; "dena few years, and made the contrast of dral," meaning woody growths, derivlast year with, say, 1895, the increase ed from the Greek, dendron, a tree; would have been shown to have been "hypethral," meaning out of doors. phenomenally large. #### The Suffering Public.

[Boston Traveller.]

The disastrous effect of the great steel strike upon the steel industry and its effect upon the workingmen special at has been pictured by many writers since the great struggle began, but the result upon the general public has received but little attention. The fact appears to have been generally lost sight of that in all such struggles, if long continued, the public is the great sufferer. Improvements in our great cities will of necessity be checked, the building of railroads cease, the farmer suffer and everybody be made to share the consequences of the labor struggle. In fact, the loss to the general public would be likely to outand its army of striking workmen. If for no other reason, the public good should demand a settlement of the trouble at once. TORONTO, Aug. 13.—There was a fairly large run of cattle at the western live stock yards today, but as has been the case for some time back, the bulk was of the light, half-finished variety. Anything of choice quality finds a ready sale at firm prices, but inferior offerings are a drug on the market. The cattle at present offering continues to show damage, occasioned by the dry, hot spell some time ago, and the little strides towards improvement that are being made, now that the pasture is again better, are offset by the ravages of fles, which are unusually troublesome in the country districts. Trade in the small meats section was much better, and sheep were 5c per was much better, and sheep were 5c per cwt higher, while lambs have advanced 1½c per lb since last market day. Good veal calves are scarce and very firm, at unchanged prices. The market seems to be in every good shape, and a continuance of the present range of prices is probable for the next few days at least. HEROIC POLICEMAN'S ACT.

New York, Aug. 14.-Frederick Muhs, a Brooklyn peliceman, by an act of bravery and presence of mind, last night saved a woman and her child from death under a fire truck, but in the act was himself trampled down by the horse and cruelly crushed by the heavy truck. He is not expected to live. Muhs has been the force for nineteen years and is 48 years of age. The truck belonged to the salvage corps and was on way to a fire. The woman and child were crossing the street at the time, and becoming frightened, hesitated. Muhs saw the danger and dashed to the rescue, sweeping the two out of the way, but too late to save himself.

BIG COMBINE OF GROCERS

Cannot Affect Canada, Say the Local Wholesalers.

Rease Given for the Failure of the Attempted Amalgamation of Ontario Wholesalers.

The wholesale grocers of London, interviewed with reference to the proposed $100,000,000 wholesale grocers' combine, which, according to the telegraphic dispatches, is being formed in Philadelphia, state that they know nothing of it and that no Canadian wholesalers were approached in the matter. They agree also that the combine can have no effect whatever upon Canadian trade, as practically no groceries are bought by Canadian retail houses on the other side, while what little buying is done by the wholesales is mostly from the manufacturers. A prominent Toronto wholesaler has pointed out that only 270 out of 2,700 wholesalers and jobbers in the United States are reported to be in the deal, a percentage altogether too insignificant to control the trade. Many wholesale firms, he says, have not very large sums invested, their business being one in which there is a quick turnover. Supposing that the 2,700 firms have an average of $50,000 each, this would give a total cash investment of $135,000,000. The alleged proposition is to capitalize one-tenth of the firms for $100,000,000, which is equal to $870,000 per firm, the excess over their actual value being water upon which he doubted the ability of the concern to pay dividends. The grocery business is, he said, conducted on an average gross profit of 71/2 per cent, the expenses averaging 6 per cent, leaving a net profit of 11/2 per cent. It is therefore only possible to carry it on profitably under existing conditions by making a large turnover.

It will be remembered that a couple of years ago a determined effort was made to form a combine of the wholesales in Ontario, but the scheme fell through. The local wholesalers assign various reasons for its failure, but the chief one was probably the inflated value placed by some of the firms for the good-will of their business, the figure asked being in some cases three and four times the amount placed upon the stock. This would have meant the watering of the stock to an extent which would make impossible the earning of a dividend. In some cases, this demanding of a large price was virtually a refusal to enter the combine, as the wholesalers were unwilling to give up a business paying a good profit on a basis which would give them only a nominal return. Others, too, were actuated by a feeling of loyalty to their old employes, who, after years of faithful service, would have been left without employ-

Some of the wholesale men claim that an amalgamation of the wholesale houses now doing business would be beneficial to the trade and to the consumer. The salaries and expenses of travelers now constitute a great portion of the expense of conducting a business. An amalgamation of firms would enable two-thirds of this expenditure to be saved; the cost of carrying on the business could be reduced to 4, where it is now 6 per cent, and the wholesale men could sell 11/2 per cent cheaper and make more money than they do now. On the other hand. such an amalgamation would throw out of employment an army of travelers, bookkeepers, and other employes, sufficient in number to be a serious factor in industrial conditions.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS. Pittsburg, Aug. 13. - Neither side moved decisively today in the great industrial conflict between employers and employes in the steel trade, and the result is still in the balance. The strikers made gains at Pittsburg. McKeesport, Wheeling and Bellaire in the last 24 hours, but in the main the advantage is still with the mill own-

The general situation tonight can b briefly summarized as follows: Ten men, five of them skilled, quit at the lower union mill of the Carnegie Company, in Pittsburg today, and joined strikers. Their deflection sents the first break in the Carnegie forces of more than 15,000 men. The strikers were jubilant over the incident, but the company claims to have filled their places at once, and there will be no more desertions at any of

The Bellaire plant, at which the men struck on Sunday, was finally closed down today, after working short handed until yesterday afternoon. Several hundred boys employed at the National tube works at McKeesport went out during the night and day and their action materially aided effort of the strikers to finally tie up the plant. The works are going ahead short-handed, but the ranks of the workers are thinning and the supply of material is limited.

The strikers made gains at Wheeling and the steel officials admitted today that Benwood would be closed down Clark's mill here is moving along full-handed, Lindsay & McCutcheon is perating with a small crew and the managers are planning to open Painter's and increase the force at Lind-say & McCutcheon's. A break in the anks of the men who struck Painter's is expected, but the strike managers deny that one will occur. Another break is reported as possible at Newcastle, but there is as yet no positivs indications of it.

WORKS TO BE DISMANTLED. The American Tin Plate Company has a small force at the Crescent plant in Cleveland, and is also planning resumption at other points with nonunion men.

The Steel Corporation has ordered that the Chartiers' plant at Carnegie be dismantled and removed to Leechburg. According to an authoritative announcement made by officials of the American Sheet Steel Company, destruction of this plant has been or-dered by the Steel Corporation as a result of the refusal of the men to operate it.

The number of men out as a result of the general order is now roughly estimated at 16,000, and on the three orders at 62,000. Many strikers have found work in independent mills or at other occupations, and many are idle merely because the skilled men are Insurance on the Coronation-Many Englishmen Taking Out Policies at Lloyd's.

Insurance on the king's coronation has already commenced. As might be expected it is more active at Lloyd's than with the regular insurance office. According to a Lloyd's broker, who has been dealing in this line, nine guineas have been paid for every £100 issue on the king's life till the close of the coronation cere-

For a £10,-000 insurance it means that the insurer must pay £3,150 straight away out of his profits. But pray remember the innumerable and heavy risks we are taking of the festivities not coming off as intended." "It is just that element," said an insurance expert to an interviewer, "that is not much fancied by the insurance offices. There are, of course, large insurances already on the life of the king, both direct and taken out to protect the holders of a lease

"One of the lives in these leases is often the king's, and the leasee, if he is wise, insures the king's life order that he may be compensated by the insurance for the loss of his lease on the king's death. shall not; do you not see that I cannot bear it?"

She flung away from him, throwing herself on the sofa from which she had arisen on his entrance, in such a state of agitation that her husband was alarmed and tried to soothe her, conquering his own emotion to give her back the calmness which had so deserted her. As she lay there, shaking in every limb, he could see by the change in her that the past two years had not been without suffering; he could see how thin her hands were, how wan the still lovely face, how hollow the lustrous eyes. Alas! it seemed as if his love for her, and hers for him, had brought a curse with it—a curse which, as she said, had lain heavily on the still both.

"My child," he said, gently, in the deep, musical voice she remembered so well, and which thrilled her to the inmost oul, "believe me, had I known even in part how distasteful my presence was to you, I would never have sought you." Distasteful! when she would have given fears of life to throw herself into his fears of life to throw herself into his arms and sob upon his breast! Distastedul! when only the thought that it was for his sake, that he might still be happy with that golden-tressed girl he loved, kept her from kneeling at his feet and craving a portion of his love again, of the love which he had no longer to give, a love which she possessed, that sweet young wife, in all its fullness. Distastedul! even in her misery Andree could have laughed aloud at his blindness. Never, in all the old days—never, in the happy days of courtship—never, on their eventlaughed aloud at his blindness. Never, in all the old days—never, in the happy days of courtship—never, on their eventful wedding day—never, in their married life—nay, not even when she watched him leave her on the day he went to Paris, and thought that he could never look upon her with love again, had he been so unspeakably dear to her as now—as now, when by her own act she had forfeited his love—when, believing her dead, he had raised an unsurmountable barrier between them. Not even when, she had seen him in earnest converse with Constance—Staveley, bending over the with smiles and tender looks, had the pain been so fierce as now, when he stood before her in his stately presence, the beautiful face, pale and pitiful, sorthed beautiful face, pale and pitiful face, pale the beautiful face, pale and pitiful, sorrowing for her, in his noble unselfishness, through all. Oh! to throw herself for one moment into those strong arms. to rest her aching head upon his breast, to feel his lips meet hers once more—it would make death easy, nay, it would make death welcome,
"What can I do for you, Andree?" he

"I knew it all along, my child. I knew even before you did."

dree."

She dared not let her eyes rest on that noble face, with its expression of holy forgiveness which would have illumined the plainest countenance. She turned away, and, hiding her face again, cried softly; but her emotion seemed to have lost much of its passionate bitterness. "Do you not see how terribly you are paining me, dear child?" he went on, after a moment, his voice weakened with the mental struggle he was enduring. after a moment, his voice weakened with the mental struggle he was enduring. He shook his head as he rose.

o you find it so easy to forget?" he with a touch of bitterness in the pathos of his voice.
"Ah, me! no!" she answered, with a dreary sadness which struck him then, even in the keenness of his own suffering, with a sense of the loneliness and desolation of her life, and the impossibility of leaving her so bowed with sorrow and distress. "It will be easier for you soon," she said, in a low, sweet voice, with a chord of sadness in its music; "easier for us

"Do you, indeed, bld me go and never see you again? To forget you is out of my power, whatever your capabilities for forgetfulness are. But am I to accept this as final? Am I really to look upon you as one for ever lost to me?"

"Is any other course open to me?" she said, wonderingly, but with intense sadness. "I am the cause; it is but just that I should suffer. Would that I could bear it all."

ed. "One cannot suffer alone. Must I go, Andree?"

He spoke calmly, standing before her, but had she been less moved she would have detected how forced the composure was, and how it was contradicted by the eager passion in the dark gray eyes.

'Yes," she said. "Go while I have strength to let you go. It must be, Douglas"—for the first time speaking his name—"it must be—it must be."

Her voice rose to a passionate wail of agony as she turned to him, giving him one look of intense love, renunciation, and woe. Douglas met it, and read its meaning partly, but he could not understand her yet. Why must it be? Why must they part if she loved him even a little still?

She ended with a wail of passion, and turnists from him hid her face in her arms. Douglas made a step toward her; but she extended her hands as if to keep him off, and, stung to the heart with the abhorrence which the action seemed

"Is it necessary to tell you why?" she said, faintly. "Is it necessary to tell you that other ties, other love—"
She turned deadly pale, and her voice failed. It seemed as if she were going to faint, for she staggered. Douglass ex-tended his arms, and supported her in them gently, but coldly for a moment. The touch seemed to revive her, for she raised her head; then, with a sudden raised her head; then, with a sudden passion, he caught her to his breast, and held her in a long, close clasp, stooping his lips to the beautiful bowed head which av against his heart For a moment she stood thus, conscious only that he was with her again, that she

"Andree," he said, imploringly, "Andree, what ties, what love, can be so close, so true, as those that bind us together? Oh, my child—I think—I hope—I believe you love me still."

She lifted her eyes with an unspoken prayer in them. She could not speak; but he understood the meek entreaty, and put her gently on the couch, waiting silently at her side, watching the pale face ently at her side, watching the pale face as it lay upon the cushions, the eyes closed, the lips quivering with pain. ### Invader Won Third Race From the Cadillac Yesterday on a Foul.

Then Footed Away From the Milwaukee--- Waterloo Wins Baseball Championship of Western Ontario---Superb Lacrosse at Brampton.

Chicago, Aug. 14.-William Hale Thompson, the Cadillac's skipper, presented the Invader with the third race of the international yachting match for the Canadian cup by fouling the Canadian boat at the start in full view of the judges and most of the spectators. Captain Aemileus Jarvis, of the Invader, declined to fly his protest flag, but the judges steamed after the Cadillac and notified Capt. Thompson that they had disqualified his boat, whereupon Cadillac was jibbed around and left the race. The Invader sailed over the course and was raced by the Milwaukee, the Oshkosh boat that so hotly contested with the Cadillac in honor of defending the cup, and the sailing match was followed all round the triangular course of 21 nautical miles by the usual fleet of steam and sailing yachts. The Invader beat the Oshkosh boat handsomely at all points of sailing in a light wind. Capt. Jarvis said after he got ashore that he felt no satisfaction getting a cup race in this way, but that he was pleased that his boat had had an opportunity to beat the Milwaukee. Capt. Thompson clined to say anything except that the judges had disqualified his boat. To impartial spectators it appeared as though the Canadian skipper had outwitted Thompson and that the latter when he found he was caught in a trap with the buoy at one end of the starting line close under his lee and his rival with the right of way bearing down upon him, tried to force his way through instead of coming about under the Invader's stern. Capt. Thompson came down towards the buoy on the port tack meeting Invader on the opposite tack just before they got to the line and close to the buoy. The Cadillac, of course, was trapped unless Capt. Thempson brought his boat about under the Invader's stern. If he tried to come about on the starboard tack under Invader's lee, he ran the risk of fouling either the boat or the buoy as he bore around. To be forced to come about and close under Invader's come about and close under Invader's stern right of the line no doubt was a bitter pill for a racing skipper to have to swallow, so Thompson elected to squeeze through where he had no chance and the consequence was he plainly fouled his rival. Capt. Jarvis promptly luffed his boat to save her as much as possible, and one of the Cadillac's crew tried all he could to force Invader off with his hands. The judges' boat soon weighed anchor and the officials lost no time in notifying Thompson that his boat was dis-At this juncture the 35footer Milwaukee, which was in the attendance fleet to leeward of the

LAWN TENNIC.

ANNUAL TOURNAMENT AT NEW-PORT. Newport, R. I., Aug. 14.—With an entry list numbering 56, and including ome of the very best talent in the country, the annual lawn tennis chamionship tournament began at the Newport Casino yesterday. The ditions were fine. There was little wind and the weather was plentifully warm enough to keep the muscles of the players limber. The greatest interest yesterday was felt in the match in doubles between the eastern and the western champions. Little and Alexander, of Princeton, the western champions, and Ware and Wright, of Boston, the eastern champions, were scheduled to meet in the championship court at the southeast corner of the ground. The grand stand at this point was filled with spectators before the players appeared. The first set in the championship match went to the easterners quite easily, 6-1. The hard game played by their opponents was of no avail against the steadiness of Ware and Wright, who lobbed beautifully and covered the court perfectly. Only one game, the fifth, went to the credit of Little and Alexander. For the rest, they were completely out-played. Ware and Wright won the doubles.

LACROSSE.

THE GAME AT BRANTFORD. Brampton, Ont., Aug. 14.-The Orangeville Dufferins visited the Excelsiors yesterday, and a fine game of lacrosse was the result. The first half was slow, and ended with the score of 3 to 2 in favor of the home team. the second half the lacrosse was superb, both teams having a general share. The final score was 4 all. The Excelsiors' home had an off day or the result would have been different wall, Peaker and Perrin were the excelsiors' stars, mhile Menary, Irvine and Downing composed this of the vis-

However, Capt. Jarvis soon saw the intent of his would-be contestant. He went in and beat the Milwaukee with ease, many of the spectators not knowing until the close of the race that the Milwaukee had not been substituted.

Waterloo, Ont., Aug. 14.—Guelph telephoned yesterday that they could not possibly get a team together for their scheduled game here Saturday next. By Guelph disbanding Waterloo wins the baseball championship of Canada. They had already won the championship of the Canadian League this season. One by one the teams dropped out and dis-banded, first the Londons, then Wood-stock. Berlin was third to say quits, and now Guelph gives up the struggle. This leaves the Waterloo nine, representing the smallest town out of the six, champions for 1901. The Waterloo team was without a doubt the best aggregation out-Thompson, showed up well, especially Hardy, whose good work in the box materially helped to land the champion-ship. #### BURGLARS TRIED TO KILL POLICE.

Exciting Encounter Between Niagara Falls Policemen and Midnight Marauders.

Niagara Falls, Aug. 14.-Night Policemen Rimmons and Welch had an exciting encounter about 1:30 a'clock yesterday morning with two desperate characters that they had shadowed as they came out of the G. T. R. freight yards. The two men, noticing the constables were on their track, when at the foot of Park street, under the shadow of the cantilever bridge, attempted to give the officers the stip, but the policemen step-ped them. One of the man jumped out on the roadway and opened fire on the officers. The latter returned the fire with their revolvers, and secured one of the men. The one with the revolver made men. The one with the revolver made good his escape in the darkness. No one was hurt. The one secured gives his hame as John Madison, North street, Buffalo, and had every pocket in his clothes stuffed full with valuable small Bilver wares. In his pants pocket was a burglar's jimmy. He claims to have come from Hamilton on a G. T. R. train.

-The trustees of the Protestant Orphans' Home held their monthly meeting in the Y. W. C. A. on Monday afternoon. The president was in the chair, and the meeting was opened with devotional exercises, followed by the several reports, all of which were satisfactory, that from the home being most encouraging. In the home at present there are three fine boys and a beautiful baby girl, for whom the trustees are anxious to procure suitable homes. During the month of July four children were received into the home, and seven of the little in-mates were discharged to spend holldays at different points. Other business transacted was of a routine nature, and but one application was re-ceived for a little girl to be taken into a farmer's home in West Lorne. At the time there was no child available. The next monthly meeting of the board will be held in the Y. W. C. A. parlor. The doctor says that merely a rough washing for these vegetables will not do. He advises first washing and then soaking for half an hour in a 3 per cent solution of tartaric acid—that is, cream of tartar water—which is cheap, agreeable and powerful antiseptic. With vegetables grown for weeks in manured fields, often dry and dusty, and then sold at street stands, perhaps, where they are exposed to the no less rich dust of the city thoroughfares, it is no wonder that they are apt to be covered with all sorts of microbes and bacteria. The precaution of such an antiseptic washing can certainly do no harm.-Boston Herald.

EDWARD PIPER'S FUNERAL. The funeral of the late Edward Piper, drowned on Thursday last at Port Stanley, was held on Monday afternoon from the residence of his father, Samuel Piper, Tempo, to Hunt's cemetery, Lambeth. It was attended by the members of St. Paul's Lodge, A., F. and A. M., Lambeth, in a body. There were, it is estimated, 200 vehicles In line. The services were conducted at the home by Rev. R. McIntyre and the Masonic service at the grave by Past District Deputy Thorneycroft, of Lambeth, and District Deputy Dr. Guest, of St. Thomas. The bearers were D. McPherson, J. A. Kelly, T. Monteiller, F. Hunt, W. Heron and J. C. Love. Among the floral offerings C. Love. Among the floral offerings were a wreath bearing the word "Brother" and a bouquet from the family and a spray from Miss Mercer. Among the relatives present were: Jas. Stanley, Bowmanville, and Dr. D. H. Piper and James Sutton and family, ENTRANCE EXAMS. The Toronto World prints a letter from Dr. Ferguson, of that city, that comments upon the recent entrance examinations in Toronto, Hamilton, London, Ottawa and Kingston. The doctor shows that of the 656 candidates in Toronto, only 55 per cent passed, while in Hamilton 76, London 85, Ottawa 81 and Kingston 84 per cent were successful. The question is asked: "Are our pupils badly pre-pared, or are the examiners too severe, or are the examiners for other cities named too lenient, the pa-pers being the same for all over the

NO SUNDAY BOATING.

There will be no Sunday poating in connection with the London Rowing Club. Many of the younger members wanted it, and petitioned that it be allowed, a meeting was called there-fore and held last night at the Tecumseh House. It was largely at-tended and the subject was discussed with vim. When the question was put the vote stood 35—34 against. The privilege was allowed once, but not taken advantage of to any extent. recommendation will be made to the members of the executive committee that a grant of money be made to be applied in obtaining prizes for the regatta to be held shortly.

PERCIVAL-ELLWOOD.

The marriage of Mr. Walter Percival, son of Mr. Joseph Percival, of Central avenue, and Miss Edith Ellwood was solemnized Monday evening at the residence of the bride's mother, 587 York street. The bride wore white organdie, trimmed with chiffon, and carried bride roses, and Miss Mabel Westell attended her. The groom was supported by Mr. Harry Turner, of Fried, Wright & Co., and Rev. Mr. Scott, of the Dundas Center Methodist Church, performed the ceremony. The groom's present to the bride was a set of solid silver spoons, and to the bridesmaid a gold ring set with pearls. Many handsome presents were received by the young couple, who are very popular in the
