London Mail Says Serious Hitch Has Occurred in the Negotiations-Bruce Hamilton Puts 145 Boers Out of Business.

London, April 16 .- The British Cabinet held another meeting today, for the purpose of considering a communication from the Boer representatives who are now at Pretoria, and a message from Lord Milner, the British high commissioner in South Africa. The session was extremely brief.

A SERIOUS HITCH. The Daily Mail, in its issue of the morning, says that it understands that serious hitch has occurred in the peace negotiations in South Africa. The a strongly-worded request from the Boer leaders at Pretoria for an armistice pending the negotiations. This alone is not likely to cause the Boers to withdraw from the conference, says stop the negotiations is the fact that These features are regarded by the Boers as two cardinal points in the irreducible minimum of terms, which Lord Milner, the British high commissioner in South Africa, went to Pretoria to ascertain, and in return for which the Boers agree to the loss of independence and a general surrender. Their other demands, continues the Daily Mail, are that Great Britain shall rebuild and restock the farms, take over the legal claims and liabilities of the two republics and grant a representative government within a shorter period than is now contemplated.

A DIFFERENCE.

In discussing the South African situation in debate in the House of Commons the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, admitted, that he and the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, had a little difference of opinion. He thought the colonial secretary was more sanguine and more anxious than himself to make a charge on the Transvaal. Yet it could not be supposed that the chancellor of the exchequer was backward in a matter of this kind.

145 BOERS PUT OUT OF BUSINESS. London, April 16 .- The following dispatch, dated Pretoria, April 15, has received at the war office from Lord Kitchener:

"Bruce Hamilton's columns arrived Cabinet Council has decided to refuse at the Standerton line last night, having taken 145 Boers, including killed and wounded, during the movement from the Middleburg line."

Lord Strathcona also pre- the deil to know how he best could help sented a medal to Right Hon, Mr. Chamberlain, who was much pleased.

A COLONIAL BANQUET. In addition to the part which they will take in the general ceremonies and rejoicings during coronation week, the colonials in England at the time will have a "fixture" exclusively their own. On July 4 they will hold a great coronation banquet, at which Mr. Joseph Chamberlain has consented to preside, and it is believed that the gatherings of colonials present will be the largest ever seen in London. Among the guests expected to attend are the premiers of Australia, Canada, New Zealand and Natal, and also a number of ministers and members of colonial parliaments. Altogether the event will be a memorable one in the history of the coronation celebrations.

In addition to the eleven men killed yesterday afternoon by the bursting of a twelve-inch gun on board the British cited tenants to refuse to pay their first-class battleship Mars during gun rent, and was arrested at Boyle, practice, several men were injured by the explosion. He had just entered the office of the imperial council, when his assailant, who had driven up in a carriage, approached, and handed him a folded paper, saying he had been charged to deliver it by the Grand Duke Sergius. The minister stretched out his hand to take the document, when the assassin fired five shots at vant. The assassin did not resist arrest. He said that his name was Beis-Kieff, where he was sentenced to compulsory military service for participating in the riots of 1901. He said that he was subsequently pardoned, at the university, and that he therefore revenged himself upon M. Sipiaguine. The minister was taken to the Hospital Maximilianovsk, where he died in one hour.

CARNEGIE'S "INSIDIOUS" GIFTS. London, April 16. - Andrew Carneat Buckingham Palace, when the latter gie's love of organ music induced him to present organs to several poor Scottish kirks to enliven their services. But those benefactions are now playing a considerable part in the schism in the Scottish Presbyterian Church.

The old Presbyterians describe the organs as "a kist o' whustles, with a devil in every key," and this new par-able has been made out of Mr. Carnegie's insidious presents:

"When Andy Carnegie came back from America they say he consulted his work on in Scotland. 'Send organs their churches,' the old gentleman said. 'Nothing would do my work better than that.' So Andy is giving away all the organs he can get fools to take." In Wales Mr. Carnegie's musical tastes have won much better appreciation, and he has been invited to act as president of the Welsh National Eistedfodd, or bardic musical festival, in September.

SCANDAL IN "SOCIETY."

The report causes great surprise, because the countess was only lately made one of the ladies-in-waiting to the Queen.

The following products fall under the five-penny tax: All the flour and meals from the above-mentioned products, as well as macaroni vermicelli, starch, farina, arrowroot, mandioca flour, semolina, cassava powder, mancacroup, potato flour, tapioca, sago, sago meal, rice meal and rice dust, shredded wheat and preparations containing any of the foregoing products.

NO CONCESSIONS TO CANADA. Several ministerial journals regret that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach missed his chance of responding to Canada's preferential tariff by exempting colonial wheat and flour from the new duties. The movement has already believed that it was the attitude gun to induce the ministry to make concessions. It is believed Mr. Chamberlain is sympathetic, but he warns those who approach him that the cabinet is most unlikely to yield.

IN MATTER OF A BRITISH PREFERENCE.

Mr. Maclean Charges Government With Inaction.

His Allegations Refuted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Field Now Clear for Negotiations in a New Direction.

Ottawa, April 15 .- There was an interesting debate on the Imperial budget in the Canadian House of Commons this house to present a scheme wherethis evening. The subject was brought by two things so dissimilar can be up by Mr. W. F. Maclean on a motion to go into supply, and the most spirited to go into any scheme of that nature. debate of the session ensued, lasting It would be the most suicidal policy till nearly midnlght. Among the speakers were the premier, Mr. Fielding, Mr. Paterson, Mr. Sifton, Mr. R. gaged at the present time, and which L. Borden, Mr. Haggart, Mr. D. C. Fraser, Mr. German, Mr. Brock and Mr. Kemp. At 11:30 the house got into supply on Mr. Fisher's estimates, but made very little progress, and adjourned at 2:05 a.m.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier laid upon the table the copy of the contract with Signor Marconi. Upon motion of the premier it was ordered that government business have precedence on Wednesdays after questions by members. Mr. W. F. Maclean objected to the government taking Wednesdays at this stage of the session, as he had a motion on the order paper which he desired to discuss. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that if Mr. Maclean had been in the house yesterday his motion could have been discussed, and reminded the house that there are yet $40,000,000 of supply to be voted.

THE BRITISH BUDGET.

Mr. W. F. Maclean, upon motion to go into supply, arose and said that the statements made by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach in delivering the British budget yesterday, introducing a tax on wheat and flour, were of the utmost importance to Canada. The disappointing thing about it was that while we can given Great Britain a preferclosed. Socialist disturbances occurred ence in our market, there was not a word in the British budget offering lean believed that it was the attitude of this government which was responsible for no offer of preference being contained in Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's budget. Mr. Maclean went on to say that early in January Mr. Chamberlain warned the British people that the tain a tariff benefit, namely, by the imposition of a duty on foreign food products, the tax to go towards a scheme of defense. Thrice had Canada's opportunities been thus thrown away, and he feared that when the coronation conference took some cold-blooded, meaning phrase would be used by Canada's representative which would throw down the whole proposition. The two questions of inter-imperial preferential trade and imperial defense must go together. Only by carrying them out in this spirit could our great Northwest be developed properly, and the United States be brought to sense of its obligations to this country.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, expressed surprise that Mr. Madlean had not given the usual notice to the government in this matter, so that they might be in a position to discuss it. But his failure to do so was, he added, due probably to the fact that he did not know his own mind on the subject. Mr. Maclean's charges against the government of having given Great Britain a preference for nothing and of being swayed by United States procl.vities, were charges that would go together. As to Mr. Maclean's views on the tone in which the invitation to the coronation conference had been answered, why did he not put The largest find of diamonds in them before the house in the form of opposition in the matter, if it has such policy? The facts were that the Canadian Government were invited to discuss the commercial, the political, and the military situation at that con-The government's answer ference. If there were any way of improving those relations he was prepared to discuss it. But his honorable friend must remember this was no new question. In 1897 the invitation to the colonial conference was in almost identical terms, and of all the colonies represented there they were with two exceptions of opinion that the relations then existing between the colonies and Great Britain were perfectly satisfactory. Nothing had since occurred to change his mind. The basis on which the British Empire rests was the local autonomy of its constituent parts, and he did not see at present how it could be improved. "My honorable friend," continued the premier, "says we made a great mistake in refusing to consider the military situation, in refusing to discuss a scheme for the general defense of the empire. He says that the commercial question and the military question must go together. His view that commerce and war must go together is one from which I must differ. challenge him or any other member of considered together. SANGUINARY DUEL!

Butcher and Cook in Chicago Fought With 18-Inch Knives.

Chicago, April 16.—A savage duel with eighteen-inch butcher knives, which will probably be followed by two deaths, took place in the kitchen the Union League Club Monday night. The principals were Emil Colton, butcher, and Jules Kuntz, chef. They cut and slashed ferociously, until both fell from loss of blood. Colton's left hand was almost cut off at the wrist, and Kuntz received four wounds which severed eight arteries, his skull also being fractured. The combat lasted fully ten minutes, and was witnessed by several other employes of the club, none of whom dared to interfere. The men were not separated until both fell to the floor, weak from loss of blood, and still try- Kimball. ing to strike each other. Both were

Last night Raymond appeared before another large house at the London, and gave an even more entertaining exhibition than that of Monday. In magic, Mr. Raymond did several clever feats, while his spiritualistic cabinet proved one of the most laughable, unique and incomprehensible exhibitions of the kind ever seen in Canada. A well-known business man, one of a committee of three on the stage, was taken on a trip to Spiritland, and when he returned to this terrestrial sphere he had a red nose, a black eye, a tambourine and sleigh bells around his neek, a tin pail over his head, his coat and vest almost off and his attire generally dishevelled. At tonight's performance Raymond will do his famous challenge handcuff test in which he will defy the police to keep him handcuffed. Last night Raymond appeared before Entertainment.

Franz Reilhoffer's Tyrolean Yodlers gave the closing number of the Metropolitan course at the Auditorium last night, the entertainment having been transferred to that house from the Grand. Franz Reilhoffer gave some clever facial impersonations of celebrities, and the company furnished an enjoyable programme of music, including echo and yodling songs, tyrolese melodies, and selections on the zither, the xylophone, the alpine, violin and the mountain flute. The entertainment deserved a larger audience than it received.

"THE EVIL EYE" TONIGHT. "THE EVIL EYE" TONIGHT.

"The Evil Eye," which comes to the Grand tonight, is one of the big events of the season. Mr. Sidney R. Ellis, the author, has entirely re-written the play, introducing many new ideas, scenes and situations, while Chas. H. Yale gives special attention to this part of the performance. A small army of scenic artists, theatrical mechanics, makers of stage properties and papier mache, costumers, designers, wigs, tights and shoemakers spent months in painting, making and manufacturing the scenery, properties, mechanical effects and hundreds of costly costumes that are necessary in such es that are necessary in such a large enterprise.

"THE BONNIE BRIER BUSH."

John Kendrick Bangs, author of "The House Boat on the Styx" and editor of Harper's Weekly, has this to say of "The Bonnie Brier Bush": "The play has intrinsic elements of success. Mr. Stoddart's Lachlan Campbell would have made a reputation for this actor even if he had hitherto lacked it. The role fits him with that precise nicety that has made Jefferson's 'Rip Van Winkle' the perennial attraction." During the long run of the piece in New York, similar encomiums were elicited from other publications, and a rare treat may therefore be anticipated in the presentation of the piece here. Ian MacLaren's beautiful stories of Drumtochty life are as well known here as is Mr. Stoddart, and this veteran actor is to be congratulated upon having secured so fine a vehicle for his dramatic powers. Mr. Stoddart, with his entire original supporting company, will be seen in a return engagement at the New Grand next Friday evening. The sale of seats opened this morning, and the house promises to be a record-breaker. "THE BONNIE BRIER BUSH."

OTIS SKINNER ON MONDAY,
In his production of "Francesca da Rimini," which comes to the Grand on Monday, April 21, Otis Skinner appeals to the public with a strong, poetic play, a splendid production, and a company that would carry a drama of less value to success. There are four conspicuous and half a dozen subsidiary characters in "Francesca da Rimini," all requiring sympathetic and artistic treatment, and Mr. Skinner's company this season has been engaged for the special purpose of securing fitting interpretation for the poetic beauty of the play. "Francesca da Rimini," the master work of George H. Boker, was written during the formative period of the drama in America, and to the British Empire, that this cruel OTIS SKINNER ON MONDAY, tive period of the drama in America, and the time was not ripe for its full appreciation. Mr. Skinner has now demonstrated that "Francesca da Rimini" is still one of the best acting and most picturesque plays written during the latter half of the nineteenth century.

A 400-pound mountain bear, which stands five feet on his haunches, is carried with the Butterfield & Bromilow melodrama, "Man to Man," for use in the most thrilling scene in the play, which shows a fight for life in a mountain some between the bear and man. Certainly, we must improve on our militia; we have a scheme before us today for that purpose. We must look after our own defenses. But there is all the difference in the world between undertaking this domestic military expenditure and embarking in the vast scheme which is embraced in my honorable friend's conception. I do not share his views, and so long as he wants to line war and commerce he will find me unalterably opposed to him. I cannot agree (Liberal cheers.) Dr. Sproule spoke strongly in favor of the position taken by Mr. Maclean.

Mr. R. L. Borden said that he for upon the idea of a preference to Canone would always maintain that so stinct may overcome his training, and a much more realistic battle than is announced on the programme may result.

The play comes to the Grand for matinee must deal with it and control that submust deal with it and control that subject, but he could not agree with the premier that it was altogether out of the question to discuss it when we are the enormous expenditure of the British people for warlike armaments were to some extent for the benefit of Cantions in England. Sproule asked. "That," replied Mr. Fielding, "is not the point. Up to the present it has not been opportune to do so." The tax was essentially a war tax, and while everybody in Canada agreed that a preference would be beneficial, the Liberal party had taken the ground that the preference would be a benefit to Canada, and at the same time to inupon the idea of a preference to Canada in return. In 1896 nobody looked seriously upon the question of getting a preference in the British market. Mr. W. B. Amalaamated Association in Session at Wheeling, W. Va.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 15. - The opening session of the Amalgamated Association convention was called to order this morning by President Theodore Shaffer, with over 200 delegates in attendance. The address of welcome delivered by Mayor A. T. Sweeney was responded to by President Shaffer and Assistant Secretary Tight. The convention then went into executive session, and consideration of the credentials was taken up. The wage committee is still in session. It is believed that the committee will report favorably on the recent agreements entered into with the American Tin Plate, American Sheet Steel, American Steel Hoop and Republic Iron and Steel Companies, and that the convention will ratify what has been done. With much interest in the presidency, Shaffer is a candidate for re-election, and Assistant Secretary M. F. Tighe is being boomed by his admirers. No other candidates are mentioned at this time.

Are Being Contracted Every Day-The Treatment Prescribed by an Eminent Medical Author and Physician-Timely Action the Al Important Point in Treating Colds | Q

"Colds that will never be cured." A startling sentence, but you know it to be true. Scarcely a day passes but some death from consumption, pneuor similar ailment emphasizes the truth of this statement. It is well to remember that a newly-contracted cold can, in almost every case, be cured. It is the neglected cold that leads to death—the cold that runs on and on—the cold that is added to by fresh colds from time to time. But what treatment is to be chosen from the great number of remedies that are recommended? You can use common-sense in buying medicine, just as you can in the purchase of a piano, a bicycle or a sewing machine. Find out what treatment has the best record in the past, apply the test of time, and get the opinion of people who know from experience.

If you apply this test to medicines for coughs, colds and similar ailments, you will select Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, because of the extraordinary merits which it pos-sesses, and which have become known to the public generally through years of trial. The sales of this remedy are far in excess of any similar preparation, and have never been so large as during the present season. These two facts are, we believe, the strongest evidence that can be produced in verifying the merits of any remedy that has been thoroughly tested for years. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is prized especially because of its far-reaching effects, even in the most serious cases of bronchitis, whooping cough, croup and asthma. It is not a mere relief for eoughs, but acts on the whole system thoroughly, curing the cold and removing the chest pains, soreness of the lungs and bron-chial tubes, and all inflammation of the respiratory organs.

Just a word of warning. There are other preparations of turpentine and linseed put up in imitation of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. To be sure you are getting the genuine, see portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on the wrapper. Twenty-five cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60 cents. London, Wednesday, April 16.

LONDON, ONTARIO.

A String of Misstatements.

The Free Press publishes a tissue of misrepresentations under the head of "Asylum Maintenance."

The Advertiser cited two cases in Great Britain where the cost of maintaining the insane population fell with special heaviness on local ratepayers This was contrasted with the system in Ontario where the asylum expenditure comes entirely out of Provincial revenue, relieving the municipalities to that extent. A great portion of this money has been derived from the sale of timber on crown lands, the only method by which it could be raised without resorting to direct taxation; yet for years the Opposition condemned the sale of timber as being a waste of the Provincial capital. Their plan for providing sufficient revenue, without disposing of the forest wealth, was never confided to the public. That there are many private asylums in Great Britain has nothing to do with the present argument. The simple fact is that the insane poor are maintained in England by the municipalities, while, for the same purpose In Ontario the taxpayers are not called upon to contribute a cent. The Free Press adds

"To say that the Government of Onentirely is false. Those of that unfortunate class who are able to do so are forced to pay for their own maintenance in these institutions."

A very proper principle, too; but the Ontario Government has received an average of only $80,000 a year in the past three years from paying patients, while the cost of caring for the asylums has been considerably over $600,-000 a year, to say nothing of the money spent on buildings, repairs, etc.

The Free Press goes on to say:

undertaken to provide room for all, yet has not done so. Any reasonable three insane persons, who are unable to gain admission to an asylum "for want of room." It is of the utmost importance that insane cases should receive early medical attention. Neglect may mean a confirmation of the disease which might have been cured if taken in hand promptly."

This is decidedly rich. "Any reasonable and proper outlay of public money for asylum purposes is applauded." Yes; but by whom? Ten years ago when the asylums of the Province were crowded, and many lunatics were confined in the jails, the Government felt the necessity of providing more accommodation, and determined to erect an asylum in Brockville. Did the Opposition applaud this very urgent expenditure? If the Free Press will turn up the journals of the House for the session of 1892 (page 199) it will find the votes of Mr. Whitney and all the other Conservative members recorded against the proposal. The asylum was built, and has now 630 inmates. When the Government again undertakes to make further provision for the insane population, it will probably meet with the same kind of applause from the Opposition.

To quote the Free Press further: "Mr. Whitney objects to the giving again today. The ring off for a year. wealthy foreign syndicates on the mere pretense of 'developing' the country, and not getting from them anything near their real value. That is the nature of his criticism. Take the pulpwood, for example. Areas equal in extent to small European kingdoms Clergue's enterprises are thus given away without survey, and merely for the toll of 40 cents a cord in the wood taken off for exort.
This wood is worth $3 50 per cord in the rough. It is sent to the United States, manufactured into paper, etc. and sent back to Canada of the value of $40 per cord. And this is what Ross boasts of as a policy of 'development.' The raw material is simply cleared out as so much rubbish to be got rid of. The foreign capitalist gets the profit In the proportion of $40 to 40 cents!"

Was there ever a more flagrant misstatement? The Government has given away not a single acre of land to any pulp syndicate. A pulp syndicate is merely licensed to cut spruce on a given area, but it is obliged to erect a mill where every stick of pulpwood cut on that area must be converted into pulp. The wood is not exported In the rough, as the Free Press would 000,000, while electric and other prohave its readers believe. The Free Press ought to know that pulpwood There is no lack of money and entercut on crown lands cannot be exported prise in the old country yet. except in manufactured form. It is either ignorant of this or is practicing a deliberate deception. The toll of 10 cents on each cord of pulpwood cut is reasonable, as present values go. It young that they hesitate to bring them was approved by the Opposition mem- into the public congregation may leave bers of the Legislature. Besides, the Government reserves the power to increase the dues at any time. The Government's pulpwood policy is one of real development, as it provides for the creation of manufacturing industries to utilize the raw material. Mr. Whitney would put the pulpwood up at auction and deprive the poor settler of the spruce on his location. Under the present system a pulp syndicate has no right to the spruce on a settler's land. Furthermore, if there 4s more spruce than the concession-the timber on the same tract.

The Free Press winds up its attack on the asylum administration by criticising the methods of purchasing supplies. This is a rechauffe of the old charge, that the merchants of London and other places who fill asylum orders at market prices, are in reality being bribed. There are all sorts of commodities required in public institutions, especially provisions of many kinds, which cannot be purchased by tender, in justice to the inmates. The quality of supplies must be strictly regarded. The Free Press knows that if Mr. Whitney came into power the present method would not be altered in the least. The fact remains that the the matter with this gun. asylums of Ontario are the most economically managed on the continent, and in that respect Mr. Whitney's ad- is as good as the old-fashioned kind. vent might bring a change.

Cannot Kill the Trusts.

The United States Interstate Commerce Commission is simply stating a fact when it reports that trusts cannot be suppressed, and that industrial combinations are on this continent to stay. The alarm created a few years ago by the trust movement is subsiding. It was a phenomenon that confounded many of the economists, but it is now better understood. The national calamities which were predicted, have happily not materialized. People are beginning to realize that the trust is not an unnatural development; that it is strictly in accordance with the economic principles that underlie lesser consolidations of capital. It is generally admitted that there is nothing essentially monopolistic in Yet why waste hard-wrought verses in the aggregations of industry which are coming under centralized control. The Standard Oil Company is a case in point. It is probably the most typical trust, yet it has never been able to tario supports all the insane population acquire a complete monopoly, and were it not for discriminations practiced by the railway companies, the independent oil producer would thrive better than he does at present. New capital, which is accumulating so fast, is always looking eagerly for an opening, and any attempt on the part of the trust to raise prices above the competitive level would inevitably bring rivals into the field. Should any trust be able to seize on all the sources of supply of raw material, an almost busily engaged in working problems in impossible contingency, the public still multiplication, with more or less satishave a weapon in the tariff, and can factory results. "It (the Ontario Government) has invite the competition of the world. The trusts would be further shorn of and proper outlay of public money for asylum purposes is applauded. Yet regulation to prevent the watering of near the surface. The teacher said, in nearly every county goal in the Pro- securities and if greater publicity could a kindly tone: be given their affairs. A way should be found to compel railway companies to abolish the vicious system of rebates, which discriminates heavily would you like to be a rabbit?" against smaller independent producers. It is useless to attempt to legislate the trust out of existence, even if it were desirable. All the anti-trust legislation on the statute books has proved so much waste paper. The public are beginning to take a saner view of the whole matter, and to realize that the only method is to regulate these great industrial units, not to try to exterminate them.

The Opposition has been a jewel of consistency in being always "agin the Government."

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach has inserted the thin edge of the protectionist wedge, and it may split his party.

The three Middlesexes will send a solid contingent to support Ross in the next House. The east riding will swing into line this time, sure.

The Bell Telephone Company's application to increase its capital stock comes before the Senate Committee again today. The company should

It is pointed out in palliation of the waste of time that the recent debate in the House of Commons at Ottawa race of enthusiastic dancing men is lasted only 21 days, whereas in 1899, not absolutely extinct any more than when Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Geo. E. Foster were in it, the talk lasted 40 days and 40 nights-the exact duration of the deluge. There has been some improvement, though there is still room for amendment.

In the present session of the Imperial Parliament, existing railway companies are promoting 55 measures providing for a capital expenditure of $106,000,000. Then twenty bills of new companies propose to raise $285,jects bring the total to $487,000,000.

"Hereafter, beginning today, mothers who wish to attend the morning preaching service and have babies so them in our church 'nursery' in the Sunday school kindergarten department, which will be in charge of an able committee, John A. Tuck, chairman, assisted by competent nurses."

This notice was printed among the announcements in a leading Chicago church Sunday before last, and before the service began last Sunday four nurses, attired in neat gowns and white caps, were in attendance in the church basement, and took from tired mothers half a dozen children, who were well cared for while the service proved and will carry out its details.

Vanderbilt-Webb Interests Propose to Build It at Montreal-Denied Permission to Bridge the St. Lawrence.

Montreal, April 16.-An application by the Vanderbilt-Webb interests for power to construct, maintain and operate a subway under the St. Lawrence, between the south shore and the city, will come before the railway committee of the Privy Council this week.

The plans which are now in Ottawa indicate that the tunnel will be the largest in the world. It will begin at the south shore near Longueuil, pass under St. Helen's Island, thence into the city to a central point of the east end, where the central station will be erected. The tunnel will not only be a medium for the Quebec Southern trains and for electric street cars, but for the interchanging of all business traffic and communication between the south shore, St. Helen's Island and Montreal. The subway will have two tubes, each 27 feet wide and 21 feet high. That for cars, passengers and freight will be double-tracked. The second will be for teams and pedestrians, having drives and footways. The cost is estimated at from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000. A bill recently introduced for the same interests for permission to construct a bridge over the St. Lawrence did not get through, and this has caused a change of plans to the subway said he was not dead. The man was Alexander Scazeletta, who had been imprisoned for a slight offense. He had been called in the morning by the keeper, but did not respond. His cell was opened and the man could not be aroused. The jail officials were informed and they sent for a physician, telling him that the prisoner had died in the night.

The doctor made a casual examination and pronounced the man dead, and the undertaker was sent for. His employes were carrying the supposed corpse out to the wagon, when Scazelthe coffin. For two days he talked incessantly in jail, but on Saturday ap-

RECORD-BREAKING ACTIVITY.

The financial expert of the New York
Telegraph says this week:

"I have carefully inquired into the recent speculative activity in Canada. I learn that the prominent exchanges in Montreal and Toronto have been recently somewhat busily engaged in record-breaking. We here know comparatively little of the securities traded in in those exchanges, but we have watched with a good deal of amazement the rapid and apparently sustained advance in Dominion Coal and Dominion Iron and Steel. I learn that the foundation of this movement is thought to be meritorious, and that the plans now under consideration with reference to those two properties are being carefully, matured, having as their end the improvement of both. JOHN GIBBONS KNOWN TO BE A BAD MAN

Pleaded Guilty to Throwing Stones and Is Remanded for a Week.

Four big rocks made an ominous exhibit in an assault case at this morning's police court, and Martin Moran, as a result of coming in contact with one, had a bad-looking eye, that will require some nursing.

Late last night John Gibbons, whom the chief said ill-treated his wife before she left him, went to Mr. Moran's place, on Grey street, where his housekeeper was visiting, and demanded admittance, which was denied him. He was then very drunk. This angered Gibbons, and he began throwing large stones and broke several windows, besides injuring seriously Martin Moran. A little child was asleep in the damaged room at the time the stones were flying, and several rocks were produced which were found on the bed, any one of which would have been heavy enough to kill the little one. Gibbons pleaded guilty. He is well known to the police as being a worthless character, having been up for abuse and non-support of his wife several times. At the suggestion of J. B. McKillop, the prisoner was remanded for a week.

James Springer, who has been on one of his usual sprees, went down for 20 days because he was not possessed of $5, and Wm. Clark, a well-known vagrant, will get free board for two months.

John Anderson, for driving a team over a sidewalk in East London, was assessed $1. This is intended as a warning to others. Another case against Thomas Boyd was dismissed.

It is no unusual thing for a vessel plying between Japan and London to carry 1,000,000 fans of all kinds as a single item of its cargo. The famous Lowther Arcade, in the Strand, London's great toy market, is

PREACHER BESIEGED IN THE EARLY DAYS

Marriages Were Not So Numerous in 1832, But Ministers Were Scarce.

Mr. Verschoyle Cronyn gave a most interesting address last night before the Middlesex Historical Society, using as material many of his own early memories and the records of the life of his father, Rev. Benjamin Cronyn, who came to London in 1832. That was the year of the cholera, and, as many had gone to the woods to escape the 400 people here at that time. Those remain, and he was besieged by lov- usual. ing couples who were anxious to be married. Many had lived together as man and wife, there having been no minister in the neighborhood to unite them more ceremoniously. Mr. Cronyn, marriages and often uniting the parents and baptizing their children. Many personal reminiscences were given by Mr. Cronyn, which added greatly to the interest and historical value of his address. Mr. Cronyn called attention to a misleading statement in "Annals of the Colonial Church," a work published in Quebec many years ago, to the effect that the Hon, and Rev. Dr. Stewart had preached in London to a congregation of 250 on July 28, 1822, whereas the service referred to took place in the barn of the late Wm. Geary, on lot 15. con. 5. Peterboro Deputation "See the Explanation of Trouble From Wheels Go Round."

Have Bought a Waterworks System and Seek Information as to Operating It.

A deputation of town officials from Peterboro are in the city today acquiring some information about the municipal operation of waterworks plants. In the party are Mayor T. H. S. Denne, Water Commissioner W. H. Hill, Town Solicitor E. H. D. Hall, Town Clerk S. R. Armstrong, and Waterworks Superintendent H. Henderson. Peterboro has just acquired its waterworks system, paying $250,000 therefor, and before adopting rules and bylaws for operating it, a tour is being made in order that the experience of other municipalities might be utilized. The deputation was taken to Springbank this morning by Secretary Ellwood, and shown over the plant. They left at 2:30 p.m. for Windsor, court in June was made this morning and they will also visit Brantford and

The Russian Minister of the Interior, after being shot by a student, was taken to the Hospital Maximilianovsk. No wonder he died.

Ald. Winnett is probably asking himself why he ever thought of running for mayor, since the present chief magistrate lets him act so frequently.

It is only natural that the tenders received by the water commissioners should be well within the estimates.

LACROSSE.

LOOKS LIKE A MIX-UP. Toronto Globe: The lacrosse situation yesterday for the senior C. L. A. was a case of sober second thoughts. At Monday night's meeting of the senior committee Shelburne was represented by P. Kelly, but that was not a genuine representation, as there is no chance of a senior team in Shelburne this year and Kelly himself is expected to play with London. In all probability it was just a manufactured vote for London's purposes. Mount Forest and Fergus withdrew early in the proceedings, and after much caucusing and lobbying, two districts, as named vesterday, were voted for by the majority. This arrangement put the "big" four-Tecumseh, Brantford, St. Catharines and Orangeville-in one group, leaving Paris, Woodstock, Stratford and London in the second district. This arrangement did not last log. St. Catharines had been trading votes with London, and when the Forest City was side-tracked produce the desired effect. The other five set to work to arrange a schedule for themselves, leaving St. Catharines, London and Paris to flock by themselves as intermediates or juniors. The five clubs worked till 3 o'clock yesterday morning without being able to make a schedule that was mutually satisfactory. Then they made another leaving Woodstock and Stratford by themselves. When St. Catharines found out yesterday that their delegate had withdrawn the club from the senior series there was a busy time, and another St. Catharines man was immediately disbe made out of the remains. He didn't sultation. A day or two will bring further developments in the line of an effort to reconstruct the series, so that St. Catharines will be in. London will in balk, and a side bet of $500 for each also want to get back.

The London, St. Catharines and Paris combination also made out a schedule, but it is not worth printing, as they are not in the senior series, and until they are grouped together by mediate or other schedule so far as the C. L. A. is concerned. If another meeting is held to rebe met by the bolters, said the other clubs on Monday night.

CITY LEAGUE MEETING. There should be a full representation at the meeting at the Tecumseh House tonight of the City League managers. The question of securing grounds must be settled without delay, as the players require to fit themselves for the opening of the season, and cannot do so before proper practice grounds are secured. Get together, gentlemen, and arrive at some amicable conclusion.

The St. James Gazette predicts an early public announcement of the progress of the peace negotiations. The paper says there is little doubt that if the British and Boers arrived at an understanding on the main points of the proposals, peace wil lensue, the banishment proclamation will be withdrawn, and minor points, like re-stocking the farms, will be referred to a board composed of British and Boer representatives.

TARIFF MAY BE BROADENED. London, April 16 .- Despite all efforts to minimize the importance of the revival of registration duties on grain and flour, it is evident that a new departure has been made in the direc-tion of a revenue tariff. The duties may be small and bakers may be unable to raise the price of the loaf, but Cobdenism has been struck at a most vital point. If small duties can be placed on foodstuffs they can also be levied on many commodities for revenue purposes. SHE PATIENTLY BORE DISGRACE

A Sad letter from a lady whose Husband was Dissipated.

How She Cured Him with a Secret Remedy.

"I had for years patiently borne the disgrace, suffering, misery and privations due to my husband's drinking habits. Hearing of your marvelous remedy for the cure of drunkenness, which I could give my husband secretly, I decided to try it. I procured a package and mixed it in his food and coffee, and, as the remedy was odorless and tasteless, he did not know what it was that so quickly relieved his craving for liquor. He soon began to pick up flesh, his appetite for solid food returned, he stuck to his work regularly, and we now have a happy home. After he was completely cured I told him what I had done, when he acknowledged that it had been his saving, as he had not the resolution to break off of his own accord. I heartily advise all women afflicted as I was to give your remedy a trial."

Laura lifted her head with a haughty air and faced him with an unflinching gaze, though she was white to the lips.
"You never dreamed that I loved you—that was what you were going to say," she cried, with intense bitterness. "You have cried, with intense bitterness." did not once suspect that I could live for many weeks in the same house with you, meet you day after day, receive your attentions, study your character, and not have my pulses quickened, never learn have my pulses quickened, never learn to regard you other than as a friend?" "And what is that?" he asked, never suspecting that she would presume to suspecting that she would presume to hold him to his compact.

"To abide by the promises which you have made and won," she returned, in the same voice as before.

A shock of revulsion went quivering through his every nerve as he heard this, for his innate sense of delicacy told him that no true woman would have made such a demand as this, after having been told what he had confessed.

"Impossible!" he cried, involuntarily; "it would be the greatest wrong imaginable to you, and—to Agnes, to say nothing of myself."

The name of her hated rival drove Laura nearly wild with rage and despair.

Would she have to yield him to that despised "baby-face," after all her plotting?

ting?
Never! she would hold him to his promise, in spite of everything; and, once he was indissolubly bound to her, she would be so fond and devoted that he would be compelled to love her. compelled to love her.

"You say it is impossible! How so?"
she demanded.

"Can you ask?" and a slight expression of scorn curled his lips as he put the question.
"I suppose you would say because you do not love me," Laura returned, with a heavy sigh.

"Yes, that is one reason, and because I do love another. You perceive I am very frank-a full confession is the only very frank—a full confession is the only proper thing now. I should have no right to marry you while my whole heart is given to Agnes; it would be a continual outrage to you, for she would ever be in my mind; my life would be ruined by the act, and hers also, for I believe she loves me as truly as I love her. Now I can understand her strange manner tonight," Max concluded, looking really relieved to have the cause of it explained.

to have the cause of it explained.
"And is it nothing to you that my life will be ruined, all my hopes shattered?" Laura asked, with quivering lips. "Oh, Max!" leaning toward him, her white hands clasped in agonized appeal, her face full of an inexpressible love and longing, "I love you! I love you!" I believed myself your affianced wife, the future seemed like the promise of paradise to me; I cannot give you up; it will kill me!"

She was superbly beautiful as she sat there in that eager attitude, the intense longing of her passionate soul written on her face, and Max realized it as he had never done before; yet it had begun to be a repulsive beauty now that she had sacrificed her womanly delicacy to gain her own selfish desires without regard to his feelings or the violation of every-thing that was sacred in marriage. Still, there was the profoundest pity in his heart for her. Believing that it was all a terrible mistake, believing that she was honest and sincere in all that had pertained to her share of it, he felt that that it was a very trying position for her and that it was a very trying position for her and that it was a very trying position for her that it was a very trying position for her and that it was a cruel awakening for her to learn that, after all, she was not the object of his regard.

Yet, in the face of all this, his sense of manliness, of honor and of right, made him recoil with loathing from the thought of yielding to her appeal; he knew that two wrongs could never make a right, and an honest, straightforword course was the only one possible to him.

"I cannot think that your life will be ruined." he gently returned, his deep.

I beg of you, Laura," he went on, with vehement earnestness, while the hot blood rushed again to his brow, "that you will strive to conquer brow, "that you will strive to conquer this unfortunate regard and reserve the better affections of your nature for someone more capable of making you happy." Laura sat silent for several moments after he had concluded, striving for composure to enable her to carry through the ast act in this thrilling drama In a few moments she hurriedly arose and stood before him, white as the beautiful dress she wore, but proud and calm, and with a resolute, indomitable purpose gleaming in her dark eyes. You cannot deny that you spoke words to me tonight such as a man has a right to utter only to the woman whom he intends to marry?" she said, in a cold, hard tone.

"No-of-course, I cannot deny it," he answered, with a heavy, regretful sigh. "You cannot deny that you asked me to be your wife—that you pledged your-self to me with this ring?" and she turn-ed the stone upon her finger so that it seemed to flash a warning fire into his eyes.

"N-o," he returned, regarding her colorless, resolute face wonderingly.

"Then—you are my betrothed husband, and—I shall claim you as such!" the daring, desperate girl cried, with a startling ring of triumph in her voice and a look of determination that made him stare, there is block of extensions of the startling ring of triumph in her voice and a look of determination that made him. stare at her in blank astonishment and

CHAPTER XX.

Max stood regarding her for a moment speechless bewilderment, scarcely crediting his sense of hearing, and won-dering if he had really comprehended her meaning.
Then he asked, while a feeling of mingled contempt and anger took possession of him:
"Do I understand that you intend to hold me to a promise which I made un-hold me to a promise which I made under the impression that I was pledging myself to Miss Walton?"

She met his gaze unfalteringly.

"Yes—yes, I do," she resolutely reaffirmed. "Legally, you have bound yourself to me; any lawyer, any judge, would tell you so. You sent me that note—"

"I did not send it to you," Max interposed. "I told Annie to take the box up to Miss Walton; but she must have been ordered to do something else, and so gave it to Mary Crawford, who made the mistake."

Well, but I am not responsible for all "Well, but I am not responsible for all that," Laura defiantly retorted. "The fact remains that the box was brought to me, with Mr. Remington's compliments, and with the note lying inside upon the flowers. Naturally supposing it was intended for me, I of course opened it and read the note, and there is not one word in it, from beginning to end, to show that it was intended for anyone else; read it for yourself and see."

Max bent his gaze upon that unfortunate communication, and found that what Max bent his gaze upon that unfortunate communication, and found that what she had stated was but too true. His face clouded with annoyance and dismay, as he began to fully realize the cruel embarrassment of his position. "Next you met me according to this appointment"—the girl here glided to his side, and by a dexterous movement repossessed herself of that note—"and, if you will take the trouble to recall that interview, you will remember that there was not a word in all you said to indicate that Miss Walton was the object of your regard; you did not once call her by name throughout the conference, and you can readily perceive that I had no means of knowing that you supposed yourself to be making love to her. I imagine that anyone would bear me out in the belief that I am your betrothed wife, especially with this ring upon my finger; it is rather unfortunate for your cause that you did not have it marked with at least the initials of the lady whom you desired to marry," she concluded, with sarcastic bitterness. whom you desired to marry." she con-cluded, with sarcastic bitterness.

Max barely repressed a groan over his win short-sightedness. Then a mighty indignation and contempt arose within him.
"I should judge from your words, Miss Pomeroy, that you intend to assert your supposed rights publicly, if I persist in refusing to yield to your requirements, and perhaps even sue me for breach of romise?" and his lips curled with the corn he could not wholly repress. Laura's eyes drooped for a moment, and a wave of red suffused her face; but she quickly recovered her assurance and defiance.

"What do you imagine the verdict of a jury would be if I should?" she demanded, with bold effrontery.

NEW BASEBALL POWER. New York, April 14.-A. G. Spalding has devised a new scheme, which has just been made public in his guide, for the control of professional baseball.

Taxation without representation seems to him a future impossibility. If minor league clubs pay for protection they will insist on representation. He sug-gests that the various leagues elect delegates to what might be termed a supreme baseball court, with a chairman, who would have active executive control of the body. He would have this court settle all disputes between leagues and with players, would have it appoint all umpires and formulate the playing rules. Territorial rights could be regulated by this body, although Mr. Spalding is disinclined to have it regulate the salaries of the players.

EASTERN LEAGUE MEETING. The Eastern League schedule meeting will be held on Thursday in New York city. The magnates from the eight cities will be present to adopt the schedule which will be submitted by President Powers. President Ed. Mack and Manager Ed. Barrow will attend the meeting.

NOTES FROM THE DIAMOND. The proposed trip of the Torontos through New York State has been canceled, and the club will do all its preliminary work at home, leaving on the 30th for the first league game at Worcester.

LACROSSE.

THEY ARE DISSATISFIED. Local lacrosse players seem to be much dissatisfied over the outcome of Monday's meeting in Toronto, though the admission is made that in some respects the proposed arrangement was the best that could be suggested at the time, for traveling expenses would be reduced, and that is an important item. But bitter complaint is made regarding the grouping, a kick in which Paris joined. It is said to be foolish to think of the Tecumsehs. Brantford, Woodstock, Stratford and Orangeville playing on one schedule, while London, St. Catharines and Paris are on an-other. It is likely another meeting will be held, at which it is hoped the senior committee will be more liberal in its decision.

BOWLING.

A WONDERFUL SCORE. A WONDERFUL SCORE.

At Joliet, Ind., in a recent match, one of the most remarkable scores in the history of bowling was made by Michael Binzen, manager of the Conlin alleys. In a match game he not only made a perfect score of 300, but had a grand total of 20 strikes in succession. He played three games, the respective totals being 220, 300 and 275. He finished the first game with three strikes. Then came the twelve strikes, and he opened the third game with five successive strikes. third game with five successive strikes. EXHIBITION GAMES.

At Worcester—

At Worcester—

Boston, April 16.—Everything is ready at Mechanics' building for the reception of the horses that will be seen this week at the Boston Horse Show. The interior of the building never looked prettier. The entire basement is occupied by the roomy box stalls, and gives the same impression as is obtained in a large well-kept private stable. The floor above, on which the tan bark ring is built, has a horsey appearance, and the place looks like a huge riding school. The ring is already in fine condition, with the footing as firm in fine condition, with the footing as firm as a roadbed.

A DELIGHTED RUNNER. The winner of one of the professional races at Bennings one day last week turned up in Directum, who was at all sorts of fancy prices. He got up in the very last stride, and beat Flo Russell a head. Gum Honey, the favorite, was third. The result delighted one of the runners in the ring. He was sent by his employer, Sam Wagner, to place $100 on Lithium, but, mistaking the order, bet on Directum. Over 300 delegates attended the convention of the London District Woman's Missionary Society, held yesterday afternoon and evening in the First Methodist Church. The convention proved one of Church. The convention proved one of the most successful of those yet held by the society. The business up for consideration was disposed of by the ladies with an expedition which might well be emulated by bodies composed of the sterner sex. At the evening session interesting addresses on missionary topics were delivered by leading workers.

The afternoon meeting opened with devotional exercises, Rev. George J. Bishop, Rev. George Jackson, and Rev. Thomas E. Harrison administering the Sacrament to the delegates. The receiving of reports from the nineteen auxiliarles was taken up after Mrs. Fred Smith had been appointed secretary treasurer. The report was as follows:

Of course, the happy rascal usually buys the wrong size, and we have to fix it two or three times before it fits. Of course, we are always careful to let him think the trouble is only a pleasure. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. THE PICTURE MAN'S POPULARITY. The picture man also has to bear the mingled worry and pleasure of trying to please people who want suitable wedding presents. The dealer in pictures is quite popular among gift purchasers, for a picture is always a welcome present.

"We know just about what is wanted," a local dealer said, in speaking of it to-day. "Prospective purchasers usually tell us when they want wedding present, tell us when they want wedding present, and we know what to get for them. There are certain lines we carry that invariably suit all tastes. Of course, a picture is a good thing to give any married couple, whether they're rich or poor. It's always welcome. A picture is a message in itself. It displays the sender's personality. There are many married folk in this city who never look at certain pictures in their homes without being reminded of some peculiarity, perhaps, some shade of character, in the person who sent it as a wedding present. person who sent it as a wedding present. "Here's a picture that is very popular," he said. It was a sweet-faced Madonna. "I don't suppose I need say why it's so popular. Reproductions of land-scapes are extremely popular, but not to the same extent as some other classes. Among young society people I think that Asti's beautiful heads and Gibson's drawings are bought most. They are not expensive, yet they make very acceptable presents."

The dealer glanced around his beautifully-arranged store, until his eye fell upon two charming illustrations of Longfellow's "Hiawatha" and the "Hanging of the Crane." "I really believe," he said, "that these pictures have been bought for wedding presents more than any others since they came out. There's a certain touch of sentiment in them that seems irresistible to anyone sending wedding presents. Diavolo, of course, is the stage name of the lanky man who loops the loop on a bicycle in the circus at Madison Square Garden, New York every afternoon and evening. His real name does not matter. Before he became a circus performer his regular occupation was looping the loop with a razor on the adamantine visages of the males

Then it occurred to him that if he could make the trip standing up in a cart on wheels he could make it on oller skates.

After much figuring he discarded the roller skate idea and fastened upon the bleycle. He was not a trick rider—not even an expert—but he believed he could ride a wheel through the loop. In his quiet, insistant way he interested others, and finally the engineer who designed and built the Coney Island loop figured out a loop for the use of the barber.
