NOBLE WORK OF ENGLISH FREE-

MASONS. London, Jan. 28.—Freemasons under the English constitution have done noble work on behalf of the charities of the order during the past year. The amounts subscribed prove that there is no decrease in the interest of the brethren in the wants of the poor and afflicted. In 1894 the total was over $325,000; in 1895 it was about the same amount; the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows received nearly $110,000. and the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls close upon $91,000. SHUT OUT. The American board on Monday received from Constantinople, by way of Philippopolis, the following cablegram: "Turkey refuses to Barnum leave for going to Erzeroum to engage in relief work for Armenians, saying that missionaries are proving disturbers." The Rev. Judson Smith, secretary of the board, states that the Barnum referred to is the Rev. H. S. Barnum, of Constantinople, and adds: "He is editor of a missionary paper that circulates in all parts of the Turkish Empire. He was located as a missionary in Van, Eastern Turkey, and therefore is well qualified to serve as relief agent. Dr. Smith states that the charges against the missionaries of being disturbers is an insult." "The missionaries," he an insult." "The missionaries," he adds, "have kept their hands, lips and

EULOGIZING LORD LEIGHTON. London, Jan. 28.-All the morning papers contain eulogistic articles of the late Lord Leighton. The Daily News expresses the opinion of all in saying:

aptitudes, though some may surpass him as artists. Never shall we see his like again in the totality of his gifts."

The papers discuss the question of his successor in the presidency of the Royal Academy, and mostly agree that Sir John Millais will not accept the position.

the position.

The burial will be at St. Paul's.

The Academy will give a public funeral, and probably the Prince of Wales will attend. St. Paul's was selected because Lord Leighton was greatly interested in its decoration and his predecessors are buried there.
The Queen and the Prince of Wales sent kindly telegrams of condolence on Saturday. Lord Leighton has bequeathed his Kensington residence in trust for the use of future presidents of the Royal Academy.

BOOTS FOR VEGETARIANS. London, Jan. 28.-A problem which has puzzled the wits of vegetarians from time immemorial has at last been solved. Leather boots and shoes have long been the stumbling block of these gentlemen, as well as the scoff of the roast-beef-eating members of our soclety. Many attempts have been made to get over the difficulty without suc-cess. List slippers are all very well in dry weather, but when it rains they become rather sloppy, undistinguishable from the mud in which they uncomfortably paddle. At last a thorough believer in vegetables for all purposes has discovered a process of management. poses has discovered a process of manufacturing vegetarian boots. He has, he says, worn a pair for several months, and finds them very comfortable and durable. There is nothing but vegetable fiber in them, therefore the most stalwart vegetarian need have no fear of shame concerning them. They are comfortable and neat, not to say handsome. Moreover, they have the great advantage of being useful in a campaign or other emergency. Meat may be plentiful and vegetables scarce. What easier than to make a ragout with the aid of the soles of an old pair of vegetarian boots, and still have the uppers for next day's meal? It used to be said that a French cook could make an excellent steak out of a pair of shoes with the help of sauces. Eng-lishmen will soon be beyond this elementary stage of the cuisine by being able to eat vegetable rosbif as soon as they are tired of walking.

CHARTA.

London, Jan. 28.-Already several women have taken advantage of the act which came into force on New Year's Day for their protection against the cruelty and oppression of drunken husbands. The magistrates have in each case granted a summons, which will be heard and decided in due course. By the new enactment the Legislature has placed women in much more advantageous position than men, for, while it shelters them from unjust and undeserving spouses, it leaves men at the mercy of brutal and drunken wives. This anomaly was brought out by the application of a husband to the North London magistrate for protection from the partner of his hold, who, he said, was a thoroughly bad one. She spent all their money on drink, and was cruel both to him ground for reasonable fear that something even worse would one day hap-He, therefore, asked for a summons for protection under the new act. The magistrate pointed out that na charta for women did not apply to him. Under it his wife might get proget it from her. He was, however, not bound to live with such a woman; but he could only get away from her by private arrangement. The man left the court in a puzzled condition, his idea of equality under the law being entirely upset. ALONG THE LINES.

WAS HE EARTH'S OLDEST MAN? THE BRITISH WOMAN'S MAGNA Hiram Lester, Who at 124 Married a Widow of 81, Is Dead, Aged 128 Years.

McDonough, Ga., Jan. 28.-Hiram Lester, supposed to be the oldest man on earth, is dead in the Henry county poorhouse, at the age of one hundred and twenty-eight. He was born in Raleigh, N. C., eight years before the birth of the Republic.

There is no question as to his great age, as he leaves a son ninety-two years old, who is an inmate of the same institution, and a daughter, who lives in Heard county, and is ninety-five years old. "Uncle Hiram," as he was familiarly known, came from long-lived ancestry. His father lived to be a hundred and fifteen. The old man claimed to have enjoyed the hospitality of George Washington for three days, and spoke fluently on the subject of the official acts of Jefferson, Madison and Jay. He claimed to have fought in the war, of 1812, but he never drew a pension. He lost three sons in the civil war. In 1881 he was obliged to take refuge in the poorhouse. In 1891 he was married to Mrs. Mary Mosley, aged eighty-one, the housekeeper of the poorhouse. Sparks from the Wire.

Nearly 500 miners have struck at Bintonville, Pa., because the company engaged a Philadelphia doctor at $100 a month to look after them. A levy of $1 each was made on the men. The policy of Judge will remain the same as in Gillam's time. He got a

Had this happened while the curling games were in progress the result might have been something terrible, as there were several hundred people in the building. The exhibition of the Dore pictures in Chicago has drawn greater crowds than in any other city in the world. In three days the visitors to the col-have been over 13,500. No such record has ever been made before, even in London, where the Dore gallery was a permanent institution for 21 years. Wm. E. Boyd's handsome residence on Fuller street, Grand Rapids, Mich., was wrecked by a mysterious explosion early Monday morning. Fire broke out and burned the ruins to the ground. Boyd and his wife had been rooming down town for the winter, and there was no one in the building. A grand piano was blown through the side of the building. building.

Disappointment in High Tax Circles Over the Result in Charlevoix.

Ineffer Vigorous Conservative Attack on Sir Charles Tupper.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—The result in tre Charlevoix election yesterday has greatly depreased members of the Cab-priests in the country:

"Chicoutimi, Jan. 24, 1896.—You will read tomorrow to your parishioners, but without making any comment, the following communication: Dear Brethren,—We do not wish to interfere in politics, and we do not side with one party or the other, but there is a very important religious question to be settled, viz., the Manitoba Catholic school question. We hold that it is a serious matter of conscience for the electors to give their votes to a candidate who will not pladed himself in idate who will not pledge himself in the most positive manner to vote during the present session for a remedial which would be acceptable to the ecclesiastical authority. Please note, I again repeat it, that this is a serious matter of conscience for the electors. (Signed) M. F. L., Bishop of Chicouti-

The majority of the Catholic electors, however, refused to mix their religion with their politics, and voted to sustain Mr. Laurier's position that the coercion of Manitoba should not be un-dertaken while there is a door left for a conciliatory policy, and an opoprtun-try afforded for having the Manitoba people settle this question themselves.

The nomination of candidates for Cape Breton took place today. The Herculean effort being made to elect Sir Charles Tuppepr shows that even in this Conservative hive the men in power believe that he could not get a majority, in the present condition of public opinion, unless the miners were bulldozed and the most extravagant promises as to the future made. All is not plain sailing, however. The Atlantic Weekly, published at Dartmouth, N. S., though a strong Conservative journal, comes out strongly against Sir Charles Tupper and his fellow-conspirators in the Cabinet. It says: "During the past six years we have had some of the most problems resilities, which ever revolting political atrocities which ever blackened the fair fame of any country, and that, too, in a country where there is no excuse for impure politics. There never has been a time when hon-The Tory party has again brought to the front one of the ablest men Canada ever produced. Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., is a man of indomitable will, able and unscrupulous. He can without doubt do much to carry the Tory banner onward to victory; but is he worthy of it? No man in public life in Canada has so often been called upon to de-defend himself from the attacks of his nemies or to answer to his friends. Today the attack against him is entirely on the lines of his corruptness and utter lack of sound principles. Is the Conservative party so lacking in honest men or men of ability that it cannot present a Cabinet of upright men, worthy of the honor and confidence of a great people? We think not. The series of disreputable and blackguardly squabbles which have disgraced this country during the past few days ought to bring the blush of shame to the face of every honest elector. It is full time the Carons, Haggarts, Montagues, and men of such ilk were relegated to obscurity. They should never have been in a Cabinet, and, having once resigned, they should never have been taken tack. To place Sir Charles Tupper at the head of the Canadian Parliament with such men supporting him would be a crime before high heaven. We do not believe the Canadian people will ever commit it. From one end of the land to the other there is a protest loud and deep. Even party papers, usually so quick to applaud party leaders, seem to falter. They do well to falter, for if the party goes forward so led they go to certain failure. It is well known that Sir Mackenzie Bowell has been most shamefully and dishonorably treated; that he has been made the victim of a foul plot, and the men who tried to ruin him now are endeavoring to climb to power over his head. The fight between the factions is bitter, and unless some new combination is formed, leaving out men whose names are a reproach, Conservatives cannot hope for success in the coming fight and do not deserve it."

.... The estimates for the next fiscal year were presented to Parliament last night. The total amount to be apropriated is $41,400,923-an enormous sum, in view of the condition of the people. The militia are to be drilled the usual twelve days, the estimate including increase of $366,500 for this purpose, and $34,666 for clothing and necessaries. The appropriation says all the city corps and all the rural corps are to be called out. The Northwest mounted police appropriation is increased $30,000. The hon, gentleman read at length from many newspapers to show that the fair had been grossly mismanaged, and that Lieutenant-Governor Mackintosh, as representing the Ottawa Government, was responsible for much of the extravagance and debt.

A discussion ensued. Dr. Montague disclaimed Dominion Government responsibility. Sir James Grant thought the over expenditure not worth talking about, Mr. Mills (Bothwell) thought that to make a satisfactory statement with regard to the $25,000 expended the Government should know what was done with the entire amount expended. Mr. Martin asked if the debts would be paid, but Mr. Daly preferred to ignore the question. Mr. Davis agreed that the Dominion should pay for the extravagance, and finally Mr. Martin's motion carried.

Mr. McMillan moved that, whereas the United States Government offers to admit free of duty ploughs, harrows and certain other agricultural implements, from any country which made quite sure of carrying the seat by securing the aid of the Conservative Roman Catholic bishop, who telegraphed the following order to all the ada should accept that offer by admitting those articles into Canada free of duty, and at the same time so relieving the Canadian manufacturers of the taxation on the raw material as to enable them to take advantage of the markets of the United States. Messrs. McMillan and Grieve (Liberals) and Mr. Davin (Conservative) supported the motion as in the best interests of the farming community, while fair to the manufacturers. Mr. Grieve said that including, as the resolution did, a proviso for free raw mahe was sure that Canadian manufacturers were capable of com-

Great Britain. Mr. Mills (Bothwell) read from the Act to show that the High Commissioner should reside in England, and discharge the duties from time to time assigned him by the Governor-General. How could he carry out those duties while residing in this country? He contended that Sir Charles Tupper could not legally act in his present capacity in this country, and no orderin-Council could validly confirm him. Mr. Mills—Oh yes, there is, when you make him a Minister. Mr. Dickey said the arrangement was only temporary.

Mr. Davies said that the Minister of Justice had practically agreed with the argument of Mr. Mills. It was a pitiable position for a Government to be placed in, and served to indicate the dominant power exercised by a man who could compel his colleagues to appoint him illegally to such a position Sir John A. Macdonald had never defended the legality of his action in that regard.

Mr. Lister also strongly condemned the outrageous arrangement, the mo-tion passed, and the House adjourned.

MEDAL.

By the narrow margin of two shots in a four-rink contest, the Forest City presented many years ago by Mr. David Glass, for annual competition pedestrians and vehicles practically as among London clubs.

The contest was held in the afterclub, and proved intensely interesting. As will be seen by the scores, the play was rather one-sided, as far as the first rink was concerned, Mr. Ingles' players having a regular walk-over with Mr. D. Regan's quartet, and practically winning the medal. Mr. Ingles' rink had a majority of 21 shots, and, rather strange to say, it was the only rink of the Forest City Club that had a balance on the right side. The other London rinks did their level best to pull down that lead, but it was too large, and the medal went In the to the Forest City. The score:

PEAT OF A BLIND BICYCLIST. A blind boy bicyclist of Oakland, Cal., performed a remarkable feat a week or so since by riding from Oak land to San Jose on his bicycle and back again, a "century run" along the highway, guided only by the sound of the bell on the bicycle of a friend who accompanied him. He has been stone blind for fourteen years. His name is N. L. Perry, and he is now about 17 years old. He was a student in the Berkeley Institute for the Deaf and Dumb and Blind, and while there was the leader in field sports and in the gymnasium. He graduated with honors, and is now a student in the State University. His loss of sight is compensated for in some degree by an abnormal sense of hearing.

When all the young men of his acquaintance began to ride the bicycle he became greatly interested in the machine and determined to own and ride one himself. He was confident that if he could once learn to mount and pedal and dismount, his sense of hearing would enable tim to ride with perfect safety and with great enjoyment. His first lesson proved a very trying experience, and he had one serious fall. But he persisted, and soon he was able to mount, maintain FOREST CITY CLUB WINS THE his poise, and pedal around the arena of the bicycle school with the ease and assurance of an expert. Then he gradually ventured out on the roads in the Curling Club won from the London Club yesterday the Glass gold medal, presented many years ago by Mr. suburbs of Berkeley. A code of signals on the bicycle bell was arranged to indicate various conditions likely to be met on the trip, such as unusual obstructions, the turns in the road, and the like. The road is not one of the best even for a rider possessed of all his faculties, but the blind boy, piloted by his friend, made the trip in safety and with much

Another Liberal Victory. Only in constituencies where the mafortiles in their favor have been overwhelmingly large do the men in power at Ottawa hold their own in the byeelections. Even in ridings gerrymandered to insure Conservative success, lke West Huron, the high tax leaders have in the bast few weeks been deteated, and now Charlevoix, Quebec, where it was alleged the name of Sir Charles Tupper was to charm the roters into electing a high tax advothe member, on Monday voted its faith in Hon, Wilfrid Laurier's Liberal principles by a very substantial

It may happen that where the high tax leaders have a normal majority of from 500 to 2,000, they can hold a seat, though in Montreal Center, a hostile Conservative majority of over 1,200 was wiped out by Hon. James Mc-Shame; but it looks as if in all constituencies with smaller majorities the high tex Cabinet of quarrellers is doomed to defeat just as soon as an election is held. Within a very short time bye-elections have been held in a dozen constituencies, but in no instance has the party led by Hon. Wilfrid Laurier been defeated. On the other hand, supporters of the coming Premier have captured the following seats, held till the recent bye-elections by high tax advocates:

Winnipeg, Man. Antigonish, N. S. Montreal Center, Que. Jacques Cartier, Que West Huron, Ont.

Charlevoix, Que. The Government also lost Cardwell o a McCarthyite, and saw its majority in Westmoreland, N. B., cut down 1,400; its majority in Victoria, B. C., reduced from 610 to 107; and was led to allow its candidate in North Ontario to pursue a two-faced campaign, or that seat would have bene lost to the Ottawa combine also. The evidence is overwhelming that the country demands a change.

A scientific journal asks, Are animals left-handed? The question is worthy of consideration. A high authority at Ottawa, after giving earnest attention to the matter, asserts that the cat is undoubtedly ambidextrous—that is if there is anything worth grabbing within reach.

A Wise Town.

The people of Petrolea have done well in voting to provide money to obtain an efficient system of waterworks. Ever since the foundation of the town, the Petroleans have been ut a great disadvantage because they acked a supply of wholesome water for domestic purposes. Now they mean to get water from the St. Clair River, fifteen miles distant, which while not equal in point of quality to such water as we have in London, will yet be wast improvement on the present infficient supply.

Petroleans will have better health and better material prosperity, as a result of their enterprise, if it is properly managed from start to finish.

The field for enterprise and invest-nent in Canada is large and comprehensive. But when a man becomes a baronet and a millionaire the announcement that he and his progeny have given up a few thousand dollars annually fades into insignificance be-fore the importance of the query as to where he originally got it.—Mon-treal Herald.

Sir Charles Tupper, for example. He was a hard-up country doctor. He went into politics. He stayed there, almost entirely neglecting his profesion. He is now a millionaire. Where did he get the money?

The Rate of Interest. Mr. Mulock, M. P. for North York, nas introduced a bill into Parliament the rate of interest at 4 per when there are no contracts or ents to the contrary. This bill should be made law. The present rate of 6 per cent was made at a time when the earning power of capital was much higher than it is at present, and when the field for enterprise was much greater than at has been for some cime past. As capital is the first requisite for successful business, Parliament may well aid in making it easier for those requiring its aid to obtain he needed supply.

The bye-elections in Ontario and Quebec prove that Sir Charles Tupper exhibited wisdom in seeking election in a constituency where it might be possible to secure his return by having the unfortunate mining population coerced. Where the people are tree to say and do as they please they will have mone of him or his blightBy the Way.

"The Teaching of Christ Regarding the Old Testament," a lecture delivered before the Theological Union of the London Conference of the Methodist Church in Ridgetown, in 1894, is published by William Briggs. The author, Rev. John Reynolds, of Windsor, takes issue with what he terms "the theories of radical higher critics concerning the authorship and authenticity of the Old Testament." A summary of the argument in the booklet is that Christ taught expressly both the inspired authority and historical truthfulness of the Old Testament. Mr. Reynolds does not claim special aptitude for the task undertaken, but is evidently fully persuaded of the soundness of the position he endeavors to establish.

Since mid-December six bye elections have been held. All of the six seats were held till election day by the Conservatives.

Lord Leighton, whose sudedn death was recently reported by cable, was the first painter who had been elevated to the peerage because of his art work. He never sat in the Upper Chamber, having only received a call a few weeks since.

A cablegram from London announces that, beginning yesterday, electricity is to be substituted for steam as motive power on the underground railways in London. The relief from smoke and lust of the coal locomotive will greatly add to the attractiveness of underground rapid

Sir Charles Tupper was wise in going to the Conservative hive of Cape Breton, N. S., to try for election. It is apparent that in any ordinary constituency in Ontario, Quebec or the Northwest he would simply be no-

"T. Shaw Chapman, the old weather prophet," writes from Marbleton, Que., in regard to the weather for the remainder of the winter and early summer as follows:

"To sum up matters I look for the arrival of the great ice-fields this year a little later than average, say about the 20th of February. Consequently we shall have a considerable amount of snow in the next two months, with average but variable temperature. April and May will also be variable and somewhat below the usual temperature of these months. The balance of the year will not be characterized by any great extremes of heat or precipitation, though I look for a considerable amount of variableness, as was the case in 1895. If the icebergs be launched in large numbers, we may look out for midsummer rain about the 25th of June upon the coast belt of Canada and the United States. In conclusion, to put the whole science of meteorology into a nutshell, so far as the weather is concerned, it is simply a question of ocean and atmospheric currents caused by the unequal distribution of the heat of the sun on the face of our planet, and the consequent atmospheric rush of cold towards the warm to restore the equilibrium of temperature.

Since Sir Charles Tupper fled from his London retreat, and camped among his fellow-conspirators against Sir Mackenzie Bowell, four bye-elections have been held, and all four, though Conservative till election day, have gone Liberal.

The Montreal Gazette says: "The Prince of political cracksmen is the title given Sir Charles by one Opposition journal." Our contemporary is surely not ignorant of the fact that the title was conferred on Sir Charles Tupper by the Toronto Mail, whose fortunes are now allied with the Empire. The men who so candidly portrayed the characteristics of the Nova Scotia politician are still at the helm of the paper.

He seems to be not only a Great Stretcher, but a Hoodoo. No sooner did he begin to meddle at Ottawa than four seats were lost to his party. And this is only the beginning of the Tupper regime!

Mr. Marter's Opposition party in the Ontario Legislature, like that in Manitoba, seems to be going out of the

With Sir Charles Tupper it is "ME and sir john macdonald."

Several anonymous letters have been received at this office lately, but we hasten to assure Sir Adolphe Caron that none of them bears a resemblance to Dr. Montague's handwriting.

One does not hear much now from the Canadian high tax organs about free trade Britain going to the dogs. Never has the mother country shown such life and vigor.

The Sultan has been treating the British ambassador coldly. But then, the ambassador had previously made it very hot for the Sultan.

great nations to meet on common ground in a noble cause. Against such a union, with such a purpose, no combination of powers could prevail.

The candidate who was to have had such smooth sailing in Cape Breton, Sir Charles Tupper, is generating a vast amount of wind.

11 11 11 Britain's flying squadron, though serving as a spectacular exhibition of her maritime supremacy, seems to have stirred Russia and Germany into greater naval activity, for both have suddenly resolved to spend huge sums on warships. But, of course, this is all being done to maintain peace.

The Dominion Cabinet wishes no more bye-elections, because its majority in the House is uncomfortably slender already, considering the strain to which it will be put by the Government programme.

The Tuppers should not claim credit for renouncing any portion of their Treasury haul. They did it only under compulsion.

The Dominion Government state that it released the perjurer and personator, Chamberlain, because of his services "in the penitentiary." The explanation was necessary. There was a general impression that the clemency was due to his services just before entering the penitentiary. 11 11 11

There is a pronounced repugnance to entering public life among Conservatives at Winnipeg, from Hugh John Macdonald down. The difficulty of entrance by way of Winnipeg may account for it.

The slaughter of Armenian Christians has become so common that the massacre of 2,000 the other day was chronicled in ten lines by the news agency. Will these horrors only cease with the Sultan?

Scribner's Magazine for February is very much of a "travel number." Lewis Iddings takes the reader to the altitudes of Colorado; Mabel Thayer has a story of Seville, for which Vierge supplies the illustrations; H. F. B. Lynch describes his ascent of Mount Ararat, and Frank Russell tells of hunting the musk ox with the Dog Rib Indians. The serial novel and the serial history are continued, and there are interesting contributions by several other writers. The magazine is splendidly illustrated.

CANADA'S RISING ORATOR. The rising orator of the backwoods of Canada was lately addressing an assembly of fellow-patriots. In the course of his speech his patriotism was bubbling over, his eloquence was a surprise to even himself, for this is what he stated: "The British lion, what he stated: The British fion, whether it is roaming the deserts of Africa, or climbing the forests of America, will not draw in his horns or retire into his shell."—Detroit News.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTION. This method is not an unknown em of despotism, and it would be easy, no doubt, in Congressional records to find a number of illustrations of it. It might be found that something parallel to the following had been known in Congress:

Comes High, but Must Have It-Five Men Can Erect It-Adaptable as a Water Tower.

Said a man who is out of work as he stood in the central fire station this morning waiting for the test of the aerial ladder truck:

"When the ladder is brought out you will see every man who is out of work for three blocks around." The test was commenced at Perrin's. and it drew nearly a thousand people and stopped work in all the neighboring factories for nearry an hour. All of those who witnessed it were not unemployed, but a number of them were. The test was set for II o'clock, and at that time a big crowd was at No. 1 fire station waiting patiently. At 11:30 word came to proceed to Perrin's seven-story building, and No. 2 company was left in charge of the central station to watch for

Had there been a fire of course these would have been cut immediately, but as it was the firemen had simply to maneuver and put up with the inconvenience. But for the wires that if this policy should be adopted the ledge of the tower on the top as it was in the revolution twenty story could have been reached. As it was, the ladder was allowed to rest a foot or so below it. It took only five men to handle

> The Retiring General Was Merciful-The Patriot Leader Not Dying as Reported.

Havana, Jan. 28.—Official reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Gen. Gomez, the insurgent leader, is neither dying of consumption nor suffering-from a fractured leg or other wounds received from the Spanish troops. He is in god health and vigorous despite is in god health and vigorous despite his 65 years of age, and he is still prosecuting his campaign with none the less energy now that Capt.—Gen. Martinez De Campos has been recalled to Spain. Gen. Gomez expressed his regret at the deposition of De Campos, saying that De Campos was a statesman and patriot, and that he had conducted the war from the beginning with fairness and humaneness, if not with success. As for the coming of Commander General Weyler, he thought Cuba had little to expect from him except bloodshed and extortion and torture. Gomez said his troops were in a fair condition, being well enough fed, despite reports in Havana diseminated no doubt by the Spanish oficials, that his men were starving. As for the future, the general said that the chances of Spanish success and the failure of the cause of independance heaven more and more his 65 years of age, and he is still proscess and the failure of the cause of independence became more and more remote every day. With the approach of warmer weather, with the rainy season in about five, or at the most Mr. Wm. Yates, of the London Machine Tool Company, and ex-Mayor John Campbell—the test was commenced.

The ladder is yet a strange makin the hands of the firemen, and its handling was not quite as rapid as sional men, and it is further promised years ago, the populace will uprise, and the downfall of Spanish dominion in the Island of Cuba will then be certain. In fact there are many who opine that there may be an uprising among the inhabitants of the city even before they are oppressed by the mailed hand of the commander. There is known to be a strong undercurrent of feeling against the succession wrongs that have ben done and are being done, and there certainly is a feeling that if De Campos could not restore order and dominion by his plan of campaign, surely Gen. Weyler can do no better with the practice of cruelties for which he is famous.

The Cubans generally feel Campos' departure keenly. They knew that he was their friend, and, while loyal to Spain, treated them as men in battle and refused to carry out the sanguinary policy preferred by his soldiers. ary policy preferred by his soldiers. Gen. Gomez is quoted as saying that it was a dark day for Cuba when Campos gave up the command of the Spanish forces. "It was his hand," said Gomez, "that stayed the blood-thirstiness of Spain, and we love him. All Cubans love him."

TROLLEY CAR ON FIRE. The Passengers Got Out in a Hurry-A Flying Flame.

Elmira, Jan. 28.—This city was the scene of a singular trolley accident today, which opens up a new line of to street car passengers. While a Maple avenue car was bowling along East Miller street a sheet of flame suddenly burst through the floor. It quickly caught in the cushions, and in almost an instant the car was ablaze. Passengers rushed toward the exit, both rear and front, and tumbled over each other in their fierce energy to avoid incineration. The motorman, after having seen the last of the living freight desert him, turned the power on to its fullest extent. The car fairly flew towards the barns. The faster it went the flercer burned the flames, which were fanned by the air. Before the car house could be reached it was seen that all hope of extinguishing the flames were past, and the motorman shut off the power and left the car to its fate. It was entirely destroyed, despite the attentions paid to it by a chemical company, which arrived on the spot too late to do effective work. It is said the fire was caused by water entering the resist-

Quebec, Jan. 27.-A panic occurred yesterday morning when the ice bridge, which has just taken across to Levis, started off with the flood Several hundred persons were then crossing from Levis to Quebec. Ice canoes at once put out to the rescue of the people drifting up the St. Lawrence. There were some very narrow escapes, but no loss of life. With the receding tide the bridge again caught fast, and may hold good for the rest of the winter.

A GIGANTIC WAVE. Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 27.—The British steamship Ailswald, which has arrived here from Hamburg, with a general cargo of merchandise, was nearly swamped last Friday afternoon off the Georges shoal by a tidal wave. It was seemingly a solid wave of dark green water, capped with foam, and towering as high as the vessel's forebrought head on to the wave, it was upon the Ailswald, and, striking her on the port side amidships, passed completely over the ship, totally submerging her for a moment. The wave left house is its act. Believe on the bott Jesus Christ and ye shall be saved," when he sank to the floor.

SHOT IN THE HAND.

George Schwab Was Handling the Family Revolver,

And Now the Bullet Cannot Fe Dislodged -The Foundation of a Persistent Rumer.

All over the streets of London it was whispered last night that a man had been shot! Pedestrians stopped the policemen, visitors to the fire halls quizzed the firemen, and those who could, called up the newspaper offices by telephone. "Who was it that was shot?" was the universal query.

The policemen didn't know; the firemen had not been called, and the newspaper offices were equally in the dark. Old jokes were resurrected, and there could be found every little while the man who would suggest that perhaps the victim got shot at a hardware store—a half-pound or so.

A Dundas street policeman said that he had seen several people about "half-shot," but none were in critical enough condition to require his aid.

First it was asserted that the shooting had occurred near the sacred precincts of the Dundas Center Church, when the rumor was next heard the scene had been shifted to Richmond street. Everybody was puzzled.

Where there is so much smoke there generally is some fire, and in this case there certainly was a report. Sure enough, there was a shooting. It was and causing his parents no end of worry. The other boys were of another family and have proved very troublesome of late. The oldest was distributed by the short was a lad named George The victim was a lad named George Schwen who lives on Grey street just not even fired in self-defense.

The victim was a lad named George Schwab, who lives on Grey street, just in rear of the celebrated Waterloo street school building. George was handling the family revolver yesterday morning, when it exploded. The bullet pierced the right hand, and lodged somewhere about the spot where the hand leaves off and the arm commences. And the bullet has not yet been Doctors have probed and George has squirmed, but the bullet Schwab, of the G. T. R., is the father of the boy. He is about 16 years of age.

The general is in Australia, where he has been conducting a vigorous campaign against the devil for several months. the flag of three colors, believed her, as, indeed, he believed every word that those kindly and resolute old lips ever uttered to bim.

He had never been in a city, and only once, on the day of his first communion, in the town, four leagues de Dieu fillal reverence was still accounted the first of virtues, yet the counted the first of virtues, yet the simple, cleanly, honest life that he led. With what men did outside his little world of meadowland and his little world of meadowland and he had no care nor any oo.

"I will go see Margot this evening," said Reine Allix, ofter a little pause. "She is a good girl, and a brave and heart and fair name. You

Once e man had come through the village, or the Berceau, a traveling hawker of cheap prints—a man with a wild eye and a rectless brain—who told Bernadou that he was a downtrodden slave, a clod, a beast like a mule, who fetched and carried that rich might fatten-a doit, an idiot, who cared nothing for the rights of man and the wrongs of the poor. Bernadou had listened with a perplexed face; then, with a smile that had cleared it like sunlight, he had answered in his country dialect:

"I do not know of what you speak.
Rights? Wrongs I cannot tell. But I have never owned a sou; I have never told a lie; I am strong enough to hold my own with any man that flouts me, and I am content where I am. That is enough for me.' The peddler had called him a poorspirited beast of burden, but had said so out of reach of his arm, and by night had slunk away from the Berceau de Dieux, and had been no more seen there to vex the quiet content-ment of its peaceful and peace-loving

At night, indeed, sometimes, the little wine shop of the village would frequented by some half-dozen of the peasant proprietors of the place, who talked communism after their manner, not a very clear one, in excited tones and with the feverish glances of conspirators. But it meant little, and came to less.

The weather and the price of wheat were dearer matters to them; and in the end they usually drank their red wine in amity, and went up the vil-lage street arm in arm, singing patriotic songs until their angry wives flung open their lattices and thrust their white headgear out into the moonlight and called to them shrew-ishly to get to bed and not make fools usually silenced and sobered them all ter portionless, but it is no fault of instantly; so that the revolutions of the child's. Let them say what they usually silenced and sobered them all the Berceau de Dieu, il not quenched in a wine pot, were always smothered in a nightcap, and never by any chance disturbed its repose.

But of these noisy patriots Bernadou was never one. He had the inconservatism of the French peasant, which is in such direct and tough antagonism with the feverish lism of the French artisan.

llis love was for the soil-a deeprooted love as the oaks that grew in Of Paris he had a dim, vague dread, as of a superb beast continually draining and devouring. Of all forms government he was alike ignorant. long as he tilled his little angle of land in peace, so long as the sun ripened his fruits and corn, so long as famine was always away from his door and his neighbors dwelt in goodfellowship with him, so long he was happy, and cared not whether he was happy under a monarchy, an re or a republie.

apathy and cursed, the young man imbibed from nature and the teachings of Reine Allix.

"Look at home and mind thy work," she had said always to him. "It is labor enough for a man to keep his own life clean and his own hands honare who are ever telling the good God how he might have made the world a better plan, while the rats gnaw at their haystacks and the children cry over an empty platter."

And he had taken heed to her words, so that in all the countryside there was not any lad truer, gentler, braver or more patient at labor than was Bernadou; and though some thought him mild even to foolishness, and meek even to stupidity, he was no fool; and he had a certain rough skill at music, and a rare gift at the cul-ture of plants, that made his little home bright within in the winter time with melody, and in the summer gay without as a king's parterre.

At any rate, Reine Allix and he had been happy together for a quarter of a century under the old gray thatch of the wayside cottage, where it stood at the foot of the village street, with its great sycamores spread above it.

Reine Alix was silent a minute and more, cherishing the primroses and placing them in a little brown cupful of water. Then she looked at him steadily with her clear, dark eyes:
"Who is it my child?"

"Who is it, my child?" He was always a child to her, this last-born of the numerous brood that be dwelt with her under the spreading branches of the sycamores, and had now all perished off the face of the earth, leaving himself and her alone.

Bernadou's eyes met hers frankly: "Is that Margot Dax; does that please you, gran'mere, or no?" in the pleases me well," she said simply. But there was a little quiver about her firm-set mouth, and her aged head was bent over the mirrors. head was bent over the primroses. She had foreseen it; she was glad of it; and yet, for the instant, it was a

"I am very thankful," said Bernadou, with a flash of joy on his face, He was independent of his grandmother; he could make enough to marry upon by his daily toll, and he had a little store of gold and silver in his bank in the thatch, put by for a rainy day; but he would have no more thought of going against her will than he would have thought of lifting his hand against her. In the primitive homesteads of the Berceau de Dieu filial reverence was still ac-of pure heart and fair name. You have chosen well, my grandson."

Rernadou stooped his tall, fair, curly head, and she laid her hands on him and blessed him. That evening as the sun set, Reine Allix kept her word, and went to the young maiden who had allured the eyes and heart of Bernadou. Margot was an orphan; she had not penny to her dower; she had been brought up on charity, and she dwelt now in the family of the largest landowner of the place, a miller, with a numerous offspring, and several head of cattle, and many stretches of pasture and of orchard.

Margot worked for a hard master, living, indeed, as one of the family, but sharply driven all day long at all manner of house work and field work. Beine Allix had kept her glance on her, through some instinctive sense of the way that Bernadou's thoughts were turning, and she had seen much to praise, nothing to chide, in the young girl's modest, industrious, cheerful, uncomplaining life. Margot was very pretty, too, with the brown oval face and the great black, soft eyes, and the beautiful form of the southern blood that had run in the veins of her rather, who had been a sailor of Marseilles, whilst her mother had been a native of the Provencal country. Altogether, Reine Allix knew that her beloved one could not have done better or more wisely, if choose at all he must.

"Some people, indeed," she said to herself as she climbed the street whose sharp-set flints had been trodden by her wooden shoes for 90 years-"Some people would mourn and scold because ere is no store of linen, no piece of silver plate, no little round sum in money with the poor child. But what does it matter. We have enough for three. It is wicked, inded, for parents of themselves in that fashion, which to live so that they leave their daughlike, it is a reason the more that she should want a roof over her head and a husband to care for her good.' So she climbed the steep way and the slanting road round the hill, and the door of the mill house, and found Margot busy in washing some spring lettuce and other green things in a bowl of bright water

Reine Allix, in the fashion of her country and her breeding, (was about to confer with the master and mistress ere saying a word to the girl, but there was that in Margot's face and in her timid greeting that lured speech out of her. She looked long and keenly into the child's downcast countenance, then touched her with a tender smile:

"Petite Margot, the birds told me a little secret today. Canst guess what it is? Say?" Margot colored and then grew pale. True, Bernadou had never really spoken to her, but still, when one is 17 and has danced a few times with the same person, and has plucked the leaves of a daisy away to learn one's fortune, spoken words are not very much wanted. At sight of her the eyes of the old woman moistened and grew dimmer than age had made them. She smiled Be not thou at any time as they still, but the smile had the sweetness of a blessing in it, and no longer the kindly banter of humor.

"You love him, my little one?" she said, in a soft, hushed voice. "Ah, Mere Allix!" Margot could no say more. She covered her face with her hands and turned to the wall, and

A Brilliant Sermon on This Theme by Dr. Talmage.

Lessons Drawn From Abimelech's Siege of Shechem.

Christians Should Change Their Tactics if Necessary-The Value of Concerted Action.

Washington, Jan. 27.-In his sermon of yesterday, Rev. Dr. Talmage took for his subject, "The Power of Example." The text selected was Judges, ix., 48: "And Abimelech took an axe in his hand and cut down a bough from the trees, and took it and laid it on his shoulder, and said unto the people that were with him, What ye have seen me do, make haste and do as I have done, and all the people likewise cut down every man his bough." Abimelech is a name, maledorous in Bible history, and yet full of profitable suggestion. Buoys are black and uncomely, but they tell where the rocks are. The snake's rattle is hideous, but it gives timely warning. These bad people are mentioned in the Bible not only as warnings, but because there were sometimes flashes of good conduct in their lives worthy of imitation. God sometimes drives a very straight nail with a very poor ham-

So the city of Sechem had to be taken, and Abimelech and his men were to do it. I see the dust rolling up from their excited merch. I hear the character and the character the shouting of the captains and the yell of the bestegers. Unable longer to resist the city of Shechem falls; and there are pools of blood and dissevered limbs, and glazed eyes looking up beggingly for mercy that war never shows, and dying soldiers with their head on the lan of mother or wife. head on the lap of mother, or wife, or sister, who have come out for the last office of kindness and affection.

As I look over the city I can find one building standing, and that is the temple of the god Berith. Some soldiers outside of the city in a tower, finding that they can no longer defend Shechem, now begin to look out for their own personal safety, and they fly to the temple if Berith. They go within the door, shut it, and they say:

"Now we are safe. Abimelech has taken the whole city, but he cannot take the temple of Berith. Here we shall be under the protection of the O Berith, the god! do your best now for these refugees. Nay. Abimeboth marches his men to a wood of gods." Zalmon. With an axe he hews off a Imb of a tree, and puts that limb upon his own shoulder, and then he says to his men, "You do the same." They come up to the foot of the temple of Boyith and Abirectal Berith, and Abimelech takes his limb of a tree and throws it down; and the first platoon of soldiers come up and they throw down their branches; and the second platoon, and the third, until all around about the temple of Berith there is a pile of tree branches. The Shechemites look out from the window of the temple upon what seems to them childish play on the part of their enemies. But soon the are struck and the sparks begin to kindle the brush, and the flame comes up all through the pile, and the red elements leap to the casement, and the woodwork begins to blaze, and one arm of flame is thrown up to the right side of the temple, and another arm of flame is thrown up to the left side of the temple, until they clasp their lurid palms under the wild night sky, and the cry of "Fire!" within, and "Fire" without, announces the terror, and the strangulation, and the doom of the Shechemites, and the complet. overthrow of the temple of the god Berith. Now. I learn first from the subject, the folly of depending upon any form of tactics in anything we have to do for this world or for God. It is no easy thing to take a temple thus armed. I have seen a house where, during revolutionary times, a man and his wife kept back a whole regi-ment hour after hour, because they were inside the house and the assaulting soldiers were outside the house. Yet here Abimelech and his army come up, they surround this temple, and they capture it without the loss of a single man on the part of Abimelech. Fathers and mothers, brothren and sisters in Jesus Christ, what the church most wants to learn, this day, is that any plan is right, is lawful, is best, which helps to overthrow the temple of sin, and capture this world for God. We are apt to stick to the old modes of attack. We put on the old-style coat of mail. Oh, my friends, we will never capture this world for God by any keen sabre of sarcasm, by any glittering lances of rhetoric, by any sapping and mining of profound disquisition, by any gunpowdery explosions of indignation, by sharp-shootings of wit, by howitzers of mental strength made to swing shell five miles, by cavalry horses gorge-ously caprisoned pawing the air. In vain all the attempts on the part of these ecclesiastical foot soldiers, light horsemen and grenadiers.

My friends, I propose a different style of tactics. Let each one go to the forest of God's promise and invitation and hew down a branch, and put tt on his shoulder, and let us all come around these obstinate iniquities and then, with this pile, kindled by the fires of a holy zeal and the flames of a consecrated life, we will burn them out. What steel cannot do, fire may. We want more heart in our song, heart in our almsgiving, more heart in our prayers, more heart in our preaching. Oh, for less of Abimelech's sword and more of Abimelech's conflagnation! I had often heard "There is a fountain filled with blood." The great demand for a pleasant, safe and reliable antidote for all affections of the throat and lungs is fully met with in Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It is a purely Vegetable Compound, and acts promptly and magically in subduing all coughs, colds, bronchitis, inflammation of the lungs, etc. It is so palatable that a sum artistically by four birds perched on their Sumday roost on the gallery, until I thought of Jenny Lind, and Nilsson, and Sontag, and all the other warrblers; but there came not one tear to my eye, nor one master emotion to my heart. But one night I went down to the African Methodist meeting-house in Philadelphia. and art I went down to the African Methodist meeting-house in Philadelphia, and at the close of the service a black woman in the middle of the audience began to sing that hymn, and all the audience joined in, and we were floated nearer heaven than I have ever

Oh, my friends, the Gospel is not e syllogism; it is not casuistry; it is not polemics, or the science of equabbles. It is blood-red fact; it is warm-hearted invitation; it is leaping. bounding, flying good news; it is efforescent with all light; it is rubescent with all summery glow; it arborescent with all sweet shade. I have seen the sun rise on Mount Washington, and from the Tip-top House; but there was no beauty in that compared with the day spring from on high when Christ gives flight to a soul. I have heard Ferepa sing, but there was no manic in that compared with the value of Christ when he said: "Thy sins are forgiven thee, go in peace." Good news! Let every one cut down a branch of this tree of life and wave it. Let him throw it down and kindle the let him throw i it. Let him throw it down and kindle it. Let all the way from Mount Zalmon to Shechem be filled with the tossing joy. Good news! This bonfire of the Gospel shall consume the last temple of sin, and will illume the sky with apocalyptic joy, that Jesus Christ came into the world to save

Still further I learn from this subject, the power of example. If Abimelech had sat down on the grass, and told his men to get the boughs and go out to the battle, they would never have gone at all, or if they had it would have been without any spirit or effective result; but when Abimelech goes with his own axe and hews down a branch, and with Abimelech's arm puts it on Abimelech's shoulders, and marches on, then my text says, all the people dil the same. How natural that was! What made Garibaldi and Stonewall Jackson the most magnetic commanders of this century They always rode aftead. Oh, the overwhelming power of example! Here is a father on the wrong road; all his boys go on the wrong road. Here is a father who enlists for Christ; his children enlist. The best sermon ever preached is a holy life. The best music ever chanted is a consistent walk. If you want others to serve God, serve him yourself. If you want others to shoulder their duty, shoulder yours. Where Abimelech goes his troops go. Oh, start out for heaven today, and your family will come after you, and your business associates will come after you, and your social friends will join you.

Still further I learn from the subject the abvantage of concerted action. If Abimelech had merely gone out with a tree branch, the work would not have been accomplished, or if ten, twenty, thirty men had gone, My friends, where there is one man in the church of God at this day shouldering his whole duty, there are a great many who never lift an axe or swing a bough. It seems as if there were 50,000 men belonging to the reserve corps, and only 1,000 active combatants. Ch, we all want our boats to get over to the golden sands, but the most of us are seated either in the prow or in the stern, wrapped in our striped shawl, holding a big-handled sunshade, while others are blistered in the heat, and pull until the our-locks groan, and the blades bend till they snap. Oh, you religious sleepy-heads, wake up!

My friends, this is the morning of the day of God's almighty battle. Do you not see the troops? Hear ye not all the trumpets of heaven and all the drums of hell? Which side are you on? If you are on the right side, to what cavalry troop, to what artillery service, to what garrison duty do you belong? In other words, in what Sabbath school do you teach In what prayer-meeting do you exhort? To what penitentiary do you declare eternal liberty? To what almshouse do you announce the riches of heaven? What broken bone of sorrow have you ever set? Are you doing nothing? Is it possible that a man or woman sworn to be a follower of Jesus Christ is doing nothing? Then Nde the horrible secret from the angels? Do not let your cowardice and treason be heard among the martyrs around the throne, lest they forget the sanctity of the place and denounce your betrayal of that cause for which they agonized and died.

Still further, I learn from this subject the danger of false refuges. As soon as these Shechemites got into the temple they thought they were safe. They said: "Berith will take care of Abimelech may batter everything else; he cannot batter down this temple where we are hid.' But very soon they heard the timbers crackling, and they were smothered with smoke, and they died miserably I suppose every person in this audience this moment is stepping into some kind of refuge. Here you step into the tower of good works. You say, "I shall be safe in this refuge." The battlements are adorned, the steps are varnished; on the wall are pictures of all the suffering you have alleviated, and all the schools you have established, and all the fine things you have ever done. Up in that tower you feel you are safe. But hear you not the tramp of your unpardoned sins all around the tower? They each have a match. You are kindling the combustible material. You feel the heat and the suffocation. Oh! may you leap in time, the Gospel declaring: "By the deeds of the law shall no flesh living be justified."

I want to tell you of a Gibraltar that never has been and never will be taken; of a wall that no satanic assault can scale; of a bulwark that the judgment earthquakes cannot budge. The Bible refers to it when it says: 'In God is thy refuge, and underneath thee are the everlasting arms." Oh, fling yourself into it. Tread down uncermoniously everything that intercepts you. Wedge your way there. There are enough hounds of death and peril after you to make you hurry. Many a man has perished just outside the tower, with his foot on the step, with his hand on the latch. Oh! get inside. Not one surplus second have you to spare. Quick, quick,

THE BLIND CHAPLAIN Made a Fervent Prayer for Armenia in Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.-When the senate was called to order yesterday morning, Rev. Dr. Milburn, the blind chaplain, prayed eloquently for bleeding Armenia. "Hear the cry of our agony," he prayed, "in behalf of the people of Armenia, despoiled, tortured, their homes in ashes; their men and women and children slain at the edge of the sword; their women dishonored. Arouse and unite the powers of Christendom, the queen, the czar, the kaiser, kings and princes, their ministers and people, that the Sultan shall be forced to sheath his bloody sword and stay the frenzied rage of his fanatical soldiery and subjects." The House passed by a vote of 143 to 26 the Senate concurrent resolution declaring it, to be an imperative duty in the interest of humanity to express the earnest hope that the European concert brought about by the treaty may be speedily given its just effect in such decisive measaticism and lawless violence and to secure the Christian inhabitants of the Turkish Empire all the rights belonging to them as men and Christians and as beneficiaries of the explicit provisions of that treaty; requesting the President to communicate these resolutions to the five signatory powers thereof, and declaring that Congress will support the President in the most vigorous action he may take for the protection and security of American citizens in Turkey and to obtain redress for injuries committed upon the persons or property of such

MOTHER'S INFLUENCE. Who can over-estimate it? For good or evil it is far-reaching. Her name, the first that falls from the lips of the prattling babe, is often the last whisper of the dying sage. God bless our mothers! How important, then, that they be shielded from those weakening diseases which too often wreck their constitutions and render them wearied, fretful invalids, prematurely aged and ambitionless. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done much to emancipate woman from this thraldom, and may be taken by the most delicate, with absolute certainty of benefit. For nursing mo-thers and all debilitated, or "rundown" women, it is the most effective restorative tonic to build them up. To those about to become mothers it is a priceless boon. It lessens the pain and perils of childbirth, shortens labor, promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child, and shortens the period of con-

London Youths in Mt. Brydges-Locked Up In the Cooler-They Make Their Escape.

(Special to the "Advertiser.") Mt. Bridges, Jan. 27.-On Sunday even ing as Mr. Geo. Wadsworth was returning from the opening services of the new Methodist church, in Delaware, two young men (one alleged to be a typewriter of a law firm in London), and both well-loaded with whisky, drove up alongside and wanted to race, but as it was no go they kept annoying to Mt. Bridges and as they entered the village they kept up a series of war whoops which broke the stillness of the quiet Sabbath evening. The constable and and several of the villagers turned out and tried to stop the rig but they applied plenty of whip to the poor horse and broke through the crowd yelling and swearing furiously. They returned again in a short time, and finally were captured and landed in the cooler, and the horse was placed in the Commercial House stable. They threatened and swore what they would do if they were not allowed their liberty, but, alas, they had to submit. But some time early this morning they managed in same way to loosen some of the bars, and the pair escaped. The const followed them this morning, but as yet have eluded him. No doubt if caught a very heavy fine will be imposed, as the authorities are determined to put a stop to such conduct, especially on Sunday evening.
