CITY TO PROTECT FLAGS FOR 18TH BATTALION

King Says Canada Will Not Interfere In European Tangle

LONDON WILL DO HONOR TO FAMOUS OLD "18TH"

Mayor Announces the City Will Provide Stand of Regimental Colors For Noted London Fighting Unit Previously Overlooked.

LIEUT.-COL. E. S. WIGLE ACCEPTS OFFER

The city of London will present a stand of colors to the old 18th Battalion. The people of London are deeply grateful to the famous fighting unit for the tremendous sacrifices made on the field of battle and so, speaking on behalf of the council, Mayor G. A. Wenige announced this morning that the city would provide regimental flags as a monument to the battalion's glorious record.

This offer was made over long-distance telephone to Lieut.-Col. E. S. Wigle, of Windsor, original officer commanding the 18th, who promptly accepted it on behalf of the veterans.

Mayor Wenige informed The Advertiser that formal action would be taken at the next council meeting. He felt sure that every alderman would put their stamp of approval on any plan to honor the men who had given so much to their country.

The mayor promised also that the colors, efforts would be made, he said, to secure them by Armistice Day, when a public demonstration could be held, and the presentation made. If this plan is carried out, veterans of 18th, several hundred strong, and representing many points in Western Ontario, will assemble in Victoria Park to receive the tribute of the citizens.

Had No Standard. Although it is not generally known the 18th fought throughout the war without a standard. In fact it was the only battalion to leave this city without a presentation of colors.

This was due, not to the indifference of London, but because the battalion, which was organized in October, 1914, and went overseas early in 1915, left the city before patriotic organizations raised that a gift of flags was in order.

As other battalions, some of which did not present a standard, returned to the city, they one, deposited their war standards in either St. Paul's Cathedral or the Cross Memorial Church, where the flags still hang as memorials to brave deeds.

The 18th Battalion, which had seen 42 months of continuous service in France, and which had taken part in the march to the Rhine, returned to the city in May, 1919, and was demobilized on Empire Day. The men left for their various homes, scattered throughout Ontario, and because it boasted no standard, nothing was left of the glorious unit, but a name and memory which the men felt rather bitter because of the apparent neglect of the city in which the battalion was born, although for three years they clung to the hope that some day the citizens would honor them with a presentation. Their hopes seemed in vain until Saturday last.

Veterans in Union. Veterans of the battalion met at Springfield on that day in their fourth annual reunion. Several hundred voices cheered as the suggestion was made by Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham, who served with the battalion six months in France, that action should be taken to secure a standard to be placed in St. Paul's Cathedral. The matter was put into resolution form quickly enough by one of the men, who stipulated that the veterans believed that the flag should be presented by the city. This view was voiced by several other veterans, although Col. Graham stated that he would be willing to make a contribution towards the flag if necessary.

It is evident now that the great desire of the men will be gratified. Their pleas reached the city hall, and they did not fall on deaf ears. But the mayor and the councillors are not alone in proclaiming the gratitude of the citizens. This morning, Mrs. E. H. Johnston, acting secretary of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. O. F. E., informed The Advertiser that she knew that she expressed the sentiment of the organization which she represents when she said that something should be done to honor the memory of the battalion.

I. O. O. F. E. to Co-operate. "I am quite certain that the Daughters of the Empire will be only too glad to co-operate with the city in providing colors for the battalion. The next meeting of our chapter is not until next September, but I know that I am safe in saying that we would be willing to make a contribution towards the flag if necessary. We certainly will give any help that is in our power."

She thought, too, that it would be a splendid plan to hold a public demonstration on Armistice Day. The 18th Battalion was the senior unit of the second Canadian contingent. After a brief training in England it entered the trenches in September, 1915, and although it passed through some of the hardest fighting of the war it retained its identity until after peace was declared.

For the most part it was recruited in London, although other points in Western Ontario were required as reinforcements from time to time. The engrossing problem of immigration in the western peninsula of this province was advanced to another stage when Colonel W. J. Brown, chairman of the agricultural section of the London Chamber of Commerce, received a letter this morning from John Martin, provincial minister of agriculture, that he would look into the whole question of settlement and replacement in this part of Ontario at his earliest opportunity.

Want Separate Division. "For three years the chamber of commerce has been following up the question. Letters have been written to the various ministers and personal visits have been made to a host of politicians in an endeavor to have this western part of the province made into a separate immigration division apart from Toronto and the east."

The London chamber was instrumental in having John Farrell, present appointed to the position of district officer of immigration, and he has been extremely successful in both the placing and replacing of all the men who have come out in the last two or three years.

The chamber feels that as the work is now carried out from the centre in Toronto, that the west end of the province is much neglected, and that all the best are taken from the various parties long before they get as far as London. So far this year, Mr. Farrell has placed 400 men on farms in Western Ontario, and though a number of them have left the farms for the higher paid jobs in the cities, Mr. Farrell is of the opinion that the directors of the chamber have done well.

Will Extend Time. When speaking to Mr. Martin a week ago, Colonel Brown pointed out the position of the chamber, and he asked the minister to extend his time for the next three months, as he has a large number of applications for help which will be wanted in November, December and January. He urged the minister to make London, and district a separate zone of immigration free of all control from Toronto.

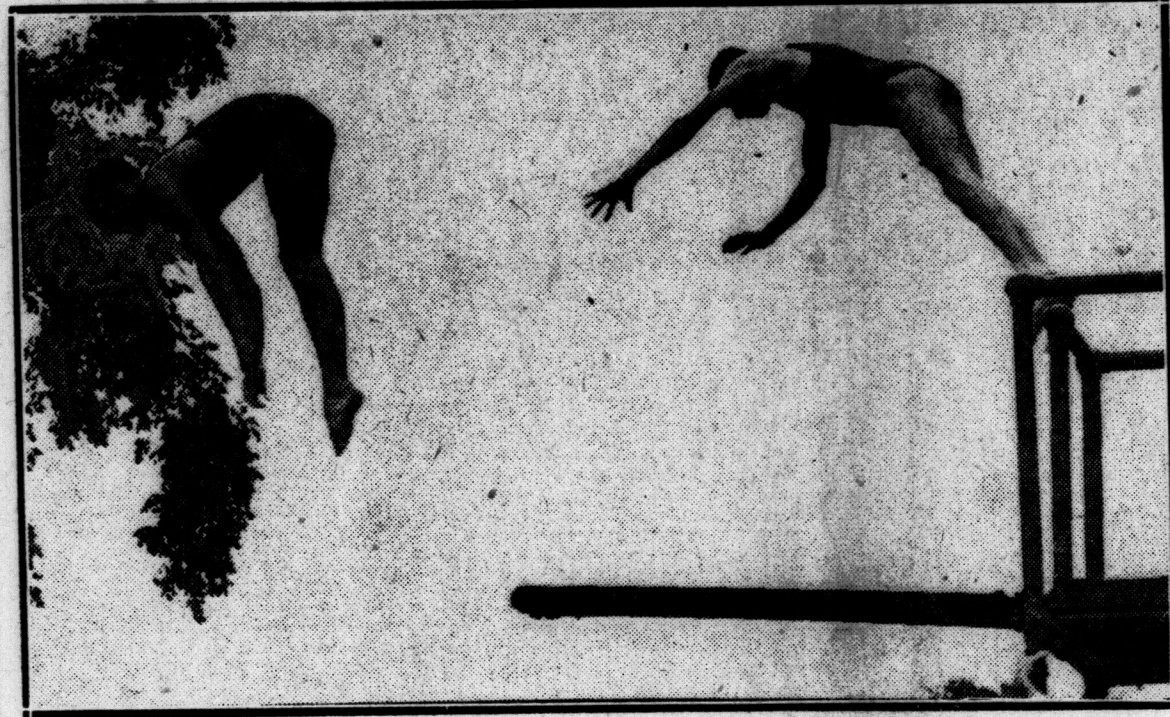

In his reply today, the minister agrees to extend Mr. Farrell's time for the extra three months, and says that he will look fully into the matter with Mr. Noxon, the chief Ontario inspector of immigration in Old London, who is coming to Toronto this summer.

TRIES TO END LIFE TWICE, BUT SAILORS RESCUE HIM

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, Aug. 12.—In full view of several hundred persons aboard the steamer, "Three Rivers," Joe Albert, 24, jumped into the water and was rescued by sailors. He jumped, again, and after being rescued a second time, said to the police: "I can't get a job. I'm better off dead."

Albert was removed to the hospital.

A SPLENDID DOUBLE DIVE.

The four Toronto swimmers, all of them holders of Ontario championships, were the big drawing card at the swimming meet yesterday at the city playgrounds championships held at Thames Park Saturday afternoon.

In the above photograph The Advertiser has snapped two of them diving at one time from the top of the stand. The visitors display of the various strokes and fancy dives was almost perfect and they were cheered every time they appeared for an exhibition event.

Sell Gasoline 5 Cents Gallon

Associated Press Despatch. Sapulpa, Okla., Aug. 12.—Gasoline sold for five cents a gallon at five filling stations here yesterday in the midst of a "price war" which has been waged for several weeks. The price had climbed to ten cents today, with none of the vendors venturing a prediction as to when the "war" will cease.

PROSPECTIVE GROOM FINED FOR TRESPASS

Young Couple Is Caught at Woodstock; Were Riding Freight to Detroit.

Canadian Press Despatch. Woodstock, Aug. 12.—Alice Shawcross, aged 15, and Jos. McMeans, aged 24, both of Brantford, arrested by the local police Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, when caught riding a freight train, appeared in court this morning. DISCOVER ALE BURIED ON FARM AT GRIMSBY

Police Spade Ground Over Thirteen Acres Until Cache Is Found.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Catharines, Aug. 12.—License Inspector John King and High Constable Boyle, Saturday evening, made a big find of buried ale on the 13-acre farm of E. P. Zavitz, near Grimsby, in this county. Working on a tip supplied, the officers swooped down on the place, and by diligent search discovered the cache. It was buried in the ground behind the house, and to disguise the fact the land had been harrowed over. The officers located the buried treasure by poking spades into the ground. In one cache was 480 bottles of ale, and in another 40 feet away was 287 bottles. Zavitz has a small fruit farm and soft drink place on the provincial highway. He said he came there from Windsor three months ago. He is out on $500 bail.

U. S. GOVERNMENT TO TRY TO PREVENT COAL STRIKE

Associated Press Despatch. Washington, Aug. 12.—Reports of an impending intervention by the U. S. Government to avert an anthracite coal strike on Sept. 1 were given added color today when George Otis Smith, a member of the coal commission, went to the White House and conferred with President Coolidge. The commission is known to have had an intervention proposal under consideration for several days.

Ferguson Regime Cancels Plan To Revise Statutes

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Aug. 12.—The Ferguson Government has cancelled the arrangement made by the Drury Government for the revision and consolidation of the Ontario statutes. It is understood that one of the considerations for making the change is economy. The number of judges and officials working on the revision may be almost cut in two. The new government holds that, as the last revision took place in 1914 and the revisions occur every ten years, the Drury Government acted prematurely.

"We don't like our business done for us by the predecessor," explained Premier Ferguson, humorously, today.

CANADA'S PREMIER OPPOSED TO MIXING IN OTHERS' DISPUTE

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King Ignores "Whisper of Death" Articles.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Special to The Advertiser. Quebec, Aug. 12.—L'Evenement publishes this morning an interview credited to Premier King, who passed through here last evening on his way to Ottawa from Point-a-Pic, where he spent the week-end, the guest of Sir Lomer and Lady Gouin at their summer residence. In that interview the premier referred to the European situation and made the important declaration that Canada must not interfere in European affairs.

This came after the premier had been asked what he thought of the situation abroad.

Opposes Interference. "I believe Canada must not interfere in the affairs of Europe. Canadians would not like to see Europe intervening in their affairs. This has always been my opinion and I see nothing which would justify any change in it."

Asked what he thought of the series of sensational articles published in the Montreal Star under the heading of "Whisper of Death," Premier King stated, "I believe that in Canada no one is thinking of death, everybody wants to live and never has there been more reasons to do so. In the last year, the situation has certainly greatly improved, and it will still improve. In Quebec, right here, your harbor is the scene of great activity, and conditions are constantly improving."

Appointments Made. Premier King stated that a number of important appointments had been made last week, but would only be announced this afternoon, where others were to be looked after this week.

It was rumored according to L'Evenement that Mr. Lemieux, Ottawa, had been appointed clerk of the executive council.

In the course of his short stay at Point-a-Pic, Hon. Mr. King was the guest at a dinner given by Lomer Gouin and by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux. He was accompanied by Sir Campbell Stewart.

NAMES LAWYERS IN TRIAL OVER WATERLOO ELECTION

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Aug. 12.—Notice was filed today with the assistant registrar of the appellate division of the court, of Messrs. Price, Cochran & Co. of Toronto, and Clement, Clement, Hattin & Co. of Kitchener, as agents of the petitioners, A. W. Mercer, Conservative, who is protesting the election of Karl K. Homuth, a U. F. O.-Labor member in the late government. Homuth's majority was 13 in the election count and 15 in the recount. Today is the last day for the petitioners to file their petition in desiring an election trial.

COOLIDGE STARTS IN ON PRESIDENT'S JOB

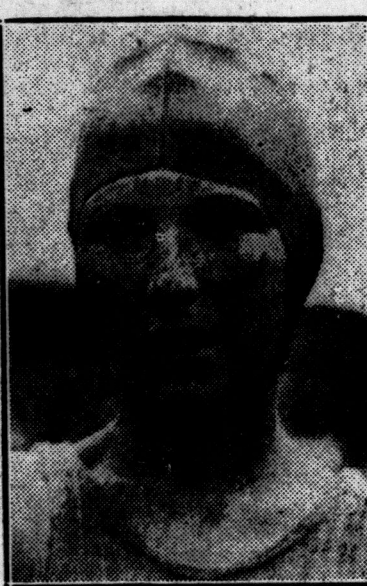

Special to The Advertiser. Washington, Aug. 12.—President Calvin Coolidge steps into the White House today to "clean up the correspondence" left unfinished by the sudden death of President Harding. Pledged to carry out the principles of his predecessor, Mr. Coolidge goes into the executive office as president for the first time to sit at the desk where Mr. Harding sat and finish the job.

Matters of immediate concern are the anthracite situation, appointment of his personal secretary and preservation of the Harding administration within the Republican party.

GERMANY TO STOP PAYING REPARATIONS TO ALLIES

Associated Press Despatch. London, Aug. 12.—The German government has announced, says a Central News despatch from Berlin, that the stoppage of reparations contributions to France and Belgium will be extended to all the allies, as otherwise the financial reform of Germany is impossible.

The steel gate at Niagara Falls, which travels back and forth over the sullen whirlpool that proved fatal to Captain Webb, proved to have no terrors for the members of the London C. N. R. car shops picnic to the Falls on Saturday. Here The Advertiser staff photographer shows a few of them as they landed from their exciting trip. Some of them made it two or three times and seemed to enjoy the sensation of hovering 300 feet over the swirling waters in the big basket. It's 50 cents a ride and it's all over in 10 minutes, but they said it was worth it.

A GREAT LITTLE SWIMMER. "Pat" Manuel, the 12-year-old Victoria School girl, who proved by her showing at the Thames Park swimming meet on Saturday to be one of the most accomplished young swimmers in Western Ontario. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Manuel of 23 Marley place.

YOUNG SWIMMER NOW RANKS WITH FASTEST IN CITY

Patricia Manuel Has Made Wonderful Progress in Three Years Swimming.

BUT 12 YEARS OLD

Learning to swim only three years ago Patricia (Pat) Manuel, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Manuel, 23 Marley Place, has made such rapid strides that she is now generally recognized as the most finished and fastest young swimmer in the city, if not in the province.

There were two junior girls events at the big aquatic meet held at Thames Park on Saturday, and "Pat" ran away with every one of them. Her knowledge of the back and the side strokes and the apparent ease with which she cut the water, won the admiration of all. In fact, her showing was a whole lot better than the majority of the senior swimmers. Especially commendable was her exhibition of diving and she had little trouble in capturing the plain and fancy dives.

Last week in a four-night contest at the Thames Park pool "Pat" competed with many bigger and older girls, in fact, she was about the smallest entered; and she won seven out of eight events, and was awarded the silver cup.

"Pat" is the only girl in the family, and is the youngest of five children. She has four brothers, Douglas, Stewart, Don and Jack. Jack is also a pretty diver, and he won first in the voluntary diving plus meter at the voluntary diving meet.

URGE MARDI GRAS SPECIAL FEATURE OF WESTERN FAIR

Mayor Wenige Thinks Big Demonstrations Last Week Would Be Eclipsed.

WILL SUBMIT PLAN

A mardi gras festival on Friday in Fair Week is the latest suggestion of Mayor Wenige. This morning he postulated the theory that such a night during Fair Week would add to the attractions to the city, and please the citizens as well as the visitors to Western Ontario's largest show. According to the mayor, the mardi gras, which would be a real street carnival, would far eclipse anything that has taken place in the Old Boys' Week just gone by.

He stated this morning that he will offer his suggestion at the meeting of the manufacturers' committee of the Western Fair Association this afternoon. He has the backing already of a large number of Londoners who feel that the dancing on the street idea was not developed to its full extent in the Old Boys' Week, and that with more time it could be made a most enjoyable evening for everyone. The streets on which the dancing will be carried on will be roped off, decorated with lights, colored flags and bunting, and the crowds restrained to an orderly way of conducting a festival of this democratic nature.

"The idea," said the mayor this morning, "is to stage a real mardi gras street procession through the principal streets, and to close the evening with a dance. The dancing areas can be roped off, the street can be decorated with flags and bunting, and colored lights, and the whole affair arranged to suit to the attractions of the Western Fair week."

"I am sure that it will be a success, and add to the pleasure of the visitors to the city." The meeting of the manufacturers' committee this afternoon, in charge of A. E. Silverwood, was called to deal with the problems of arranging the exhibits in the new building, and in connection with other questions of the exhibition of manufactured products at the fair, which this year is the largest offering of the kind of exhibit in the history of the Western.

TELLS ROTARIANS OF BOYS' CAMP WORK

Lloyd Houlding Speaks at the Rotary Club's Weekly Luncheon Meeting.

Although no scheduled program was arranged for the Rotary Club, following the luncheon at the Rotamuse House at noon today, Lloyd Houlding, from the London Boy's Camp at Rondeau, delivered an impromptu address on the work which has been done at that camp, and the successful time which 112 London boys had there.

"The site chosen for the camp was an ideal one," said Mr. Houlding, "and it would be difficult to find a better location anywhere where sanitary conditions were such that no sickness prevailed, and no accidents marred the several weeks of back to nature life."

Mr. Houlding thanked the members of the Rotary in putting this year's camp across so successfully.

STRESEMANN WILL FORM NEW CABINET IN GERMANY

CURZON SUBMITT
POINT FOR ARBITRATION

Emphasizes, However, That Great Britain Cannot Agree To French Policy—Correspondence With Allies Is Placed On Record—Will Adhere To Plan of Former Premier Bonar Law.

NOT AUTHORIZED BY VERSAILLES TREATY

Associated Press Despatch. London, Eng., Aug. 12.—The British Government in the publication today of its official correspondence with the allies since June placed on record its position with regard to the German reparations problem.

Lord Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs, in an elaborate note dealing with all the manifold aspects of the problem, sets forth that the British Government regards the occupation of the Ruhr as illegal and unauthorized by the Versailles treaty, thus supporting the German contention in this respect. At the same time, however, he offers to submit the point to arbitration at the Hague or some other body.

While still adhering to a tone of the utmost courtesy and saying nothing definite with regard to any separate action on the part of Great Britain, Lord Curzon emphasizes that Great Britain cannot agree with the French policy, which, he intimates plainly, seems to point to an indefinite occupation of the Ruhr.

Lord Curzon still leaves it to the French Government to suggest the method of selecting an international commission to examine into Germany's capacity to pay reparations, but he plainly declares that Great Britain cannot accept the decision of the reparations committee on this matter since the commission has become the mere instrument of Franco-Belgian policy.

Adheres to Plan. Finally Lord Curzon declares that the British Government still adheres to the plan of former Premier Bonar Law under which Great Britain would be satisfied to obtain from Germany reparations and allied debts sufficient to meet Great Britain's obligations to the United States.

Lord Curzon's note, handed to the French and Belgian ambassadors on Saturday, expresses the sincere disappointment with which the British government had received the previous communications of France and Belgium, especially since Great Britain had suggested that an inquiry into Germany's capacity to pay should be conducted within the framework of the Treaty of Versailles, and that the German government should be asked to withdraw its order enjoining the seizure of resistance on condition that this be regarded as evidence of good faith involving reconsideration by the occupying powers of the German occupation and a gradual return to the normal of the industrial life in the Ruhr.

Outlines Viewpoint. The British note remarks that "it is difficult to think in what way greater consideration should be given to the Franco-Belgian point of view."

It then at great length outlines the British viewpoint, which Lord Curzon summarizes as follows:

"His majesty's government never contemplated, and does not contemplate, that Germany should be relieved of its reparations obligations. They are determined that Germany shall pay to the maximum of her capacity. What that maximum may be should be decided by an impartial inquiry. It cannot be ascertained by casting up amounts Germany's creditors would claim, but by a fair assessment of her capacity to pay."

"To ask more than Germany's capacity can only destroy assets which Germany would be able to offer the allies. To force Germany to make the most profitable way of making recovery from a debtor with resources."

"It is admitted that Germany can make surplus payments for reparations by restoration of her finances and stabilization of her currency, she secures a budget surplus available for reparations. But this surplus must be in a form which can be made available for external payments over the foreign exchanges. External debts cannot be paid by the collection of depreciated paper marks."

Will Not Restore. "In the view of his majesty's government, the interference with the economic life of Germany, even if consistent with the treaty of Versailles cannot assist in the necessary restoration. Not only will it prevent realization of any surplus for reparations, but by intensifying the disorder of Germany and currency, will have the gravest reactions on trade."

"His majesty's government, therefore, regards as doomed to failure the method pursued by the French and Belgian governments to secure reparations. Despite the fact that the occupation of the Ruhr has produced a great cost less receipts for the allies, notably of coal and coke, there have been no real gains in this year. Moreover, his majesty's government feels that the ruling situation involves a great and growing danger to the peace of the world, and not the least of that of Britain."

"The government regards the continuance of the present position of fraught with great risk, both political and economic. They consider an impartial fixation of Germany's liability at a figure not inconsistent with her practical power of making payments as a matter of great urgency, as they have suggested what appears to be an appropriate means to this end."

Ascertain Real Value. "When steps have thus been taken to ascertain the real value of the asset represented by German reparations and to secure its realization without further interference with the economic life of Germany, his majesty's government will be ready to deal as generously as circumstances permit and in the light of their respective capacities to pay, with the debts due to Great Britain by her allies."

"They cannot, having regard to Great Britain's heavy material losses during and since the war and to the future tax burdens on its trade, admit that other countries are justified in claiming that the agreed percentages of reparations payments should now be further modified or changed in the order of priority."

"But they remained prepared to ask for no more in respect for the very large sums due to their allies than will, together with the reparations payment by Germany meet the British war debt to the U. S."

"Their policy in this matter is stated."

CUNO QUILTS POST
AS CHANCELLOR

Dr. Gustav Stresemann Is Commissioned To Form New German Cabinet.

VICTIM OF CRISIS

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, Aug. 12.—The resignations of Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno and his entire cabinet were accepted today by President Ebert.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, leader of the German People's Party, has been commissioned by President Ebert to form a new government.

After accepting the task, Herr Stresemann had a conference with representatives of the various parties. The greatest difficulty seems to be in connection with the foreign ministry, and it is thought possible that he will take the post himself temporarily.

It is believed in political quarters that Herr Hilferding will be the new finance minister, and Herr Selman will be deputy minister of the interior, while the name of Herr Rheinboldt of the People's Party is mentioned as the new secretary of state to the imperial chancellery.

Political Cabinet. Thus, the new cabinet would be of a strictly political character, including representatives of the United Socialists, Clerical, People's and Democratic parties. The United Socialists have made it known that they expect to have four seats in the ministry.

Just before Chancellor Cuno called on President Ebert to submit the cabinet's resignation, the Reichstag leaders representing the present coalition parties and the United Socialists, visited the president and discussed the situation. They are now constructing a government on a four-party coalition basis.

This indicated that the United Socialists had arrived at an understanding with the bourgeois parties with respect to their readiness to enter a cabinet which would accept as a platform the program of internal peace and economic demands which the United Socialists put forward in their campaign against Herr Cuno.

Abandonment of the chancellor by the Socialists was commonly accepted as a concession to their radical following and as a counter-stroke to the Communists who are utilizing the nation's distresses as a means of mobilizing the working classes around the red flag.

It may be said that Herr Cuno was purely a victim of the economic crisis, as the three middle parties supporting him were still inclined to stand by his government. But at least they realized the futility of maintaining him in the position of chancellor in the face of 200 hostile Labor votes in the Reichstag. The chancellor's political supporters and President Ebert finally pressed him with the hopelessness of such a prospect, and he concluded to resign.

Forecast Wheat Crop Total in West Canada

Dominion Bureau of Statistics Places Yield At 382,514,000 Bushels.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Aug. 12.—In a report available this morning, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics forecasts the total Canadian wheat yield at 382,514,000 bushels. This is below last year's final estimate of 399,786,400 bushels. The report is based upon the condition of crops at the end of July and indicates that the three prairie provinces will produce 357,295,000 bushels of wheat if weather conditions remain favorable and harmful agencies do not take too heavy a toll.

Manitoba, it is expected, will have a total wheat yield of 144,668,000 bushels; Saskatchewan 211,051,000 bushels, and Alberta 101,776,000 bushels. Final estimates for 1922 in these three provinces were: Manitoba, 142,000 bushels; Saskatchewan, 250,157,000; Alberta, 64,976,900.

Regarding the constitution of the proposed expert commission, the note says that the British government would be willing to see upon it nominees not only of the powers entitled to reparations, but of the United States and of powers which took no part in the late war, and it would seem desirable that the commission be composed of representatives of Germany, France, Belgium and Italy.

Power Controversy Ends at Fort William

Preparations Will Be Started For Erection of $3,000,000 Plant.

Canadian Press Despatch. Fort William, Aug. 12.—The agreement between the city of Fort William and the Great Lakes Paper & Pulp Company, represented by L. L. Aisted of Chicago, was signed Saturday by the mayor and city clerk for Fort William, having already been signed by the company.

This will end negotiations, which have been going on for years, involving the controversy over the price of power in the city of Fort William from the Nipigon development of the hydro-electric commission of Ontario.

The company gets power at $18 per horsepower. The site selected is on the Kaministiquia River, partly in the Township of Neebing and partly in the city. Plans are already drafted, and work on a plant to cost about $3,000,000 will commence at once.

The city and the Township of Neebing provide a portion of the cost and give some taxation concessions.

Thief Restores Voice of Mute

Associated Press Despatch. Paris, Aug. 12.—In a secluded spot just outside the walls of Paris there stands a small and select infirmary where diseases of the throat are treated. Patients suffering from chronic laryngitis go there for medical attention.

The attention of the police was called recently to a series of daylight hold-ups occurring in the vicinity of the sanatorium. It seems that ingenious crooks watched prosperous looking visitors enter the institution, noted the worst cases—those so unable to utter a sound that they had to make signs to the doorman—and then set upon them when they were alone, looting the victim's money and valuables.

One of the stick-up men received the shock of his life today, when an intended victim, upon being attacked, suddenly shouted "Help, thief!" in a voice which would have been a credit to a side-show barker. Fear had like that, here, been a hundred francs; I would much rather give this to you than go on paying doctors."

ST. THOMAS YOUTH
KILLED BY TRAIN

Harold Haney, Car Checker, Steps in Path of Locomotive.

DEATH IS INSTANT

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Aug. 12.—Death was instantaneous when Harold Haney, 22-year-old car checker, stepping back to look at the number on another car, was knocked down by an engine backing on the adjoining track, in the M.C.R. yards, about 9 o'clock this morning. When the engineer ran to the spot, life was extinct, the head and right shoulder being completely severed from the rest of the body. The accident occurred about the center of the yard on the east side of the station.

The boy was practically the sole support of his mother and older brother. His father, the late William O. Haney, prominent engineer on the Grand Trunk Railway, died about 18 years ago. His only sister died a year ago last December.

Laurence, his older brother, developed tuberculosis as a result of a severe attack of influenza at the time of the epidemic, and removed to Colorado four years ago for treatment, being accompanied by his mother. Both are in Denver, Colorado, at the present time.

The suddenness of the accident makes it well-nigh incredible. Last night the boy was at Port Stanley. This morning he left for work at 8 o'clock, "cheerful and happy" as Mrs. Haney, at whose home he lived, said. At 9 o'clock came the great change, and the end of a life of brightness and sacrifice, and untold promise.

An employee of the M.C.R. for 10 years, Haney, who started as a caller, had worked up to the position of chief car checker. He was well liked everywhere for his kind and gentle character. Despite his youth, he placed a great deal of confidence in him, and for his untimely death, his future was assured in railway circles here.

He was a member of the Roman Catholic church. An uncle, John Haney, and a cousin, Mrs. Emma Thomas, reside in Aylmer.

Word has not yet been received from Mrs. Haney in Colorado, and it is hoped that she will be able to be taken there or interned at St. Thomas.

DATE NOT ARRANGED FOR PRINCE'S SAILING

Expected To Renew Acquaintance With Canadian Friends On Way East.

By HENRY SOMERVILLE. Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent. Copyright. London, Aug. 11.—The Advertiser is informed by the Prince of Wales' secretary that he has not yet decided upon the actual ship and date of departure for Canada. The prince will not go by a man-of-war, but by an ordinary passenger liner the first week in September.

He will be back in England not later than October 30. He has made no engagements whatever in Canada except for visiting his ranch, to which he will proceed straight from the port of embarkation. He will travel incognito as the Duke of Cornwall, and he will not be officially received as Prince of Wales. It is not unlikely that after leaving his ranch he will break his journey to help in doing with them.

"I found much resentment," added the Conservative leader, "at what people here believe, and sincerely believe, has been unfair treatment of their demands, and especially, resentment over a want of candor on the part of public men, but I found on all hands a disposition to be reasonable and no spirit of hostility anywhere toward the other provinces of Canada."

HARRISTON MEN ANSWER FIRE CALL EFFECTIVELY

Special to The Advertiser. Harriston, Aug. 12.—The fire alarm was sounded in Harriston about 10 o'clock on Friday afternoon, when it was discovered that the grass alongside the Captain Holton residence at the C. N. R. tracks on Margaret street was on fire, burning briskly and making headway towards the house and the flax stacks, which are on this property. The fire brigade responded, and with Mayor Farwell and Aldermen Eddy, and other willing citizens, the fire was soon brought under control. Apart from the burning of the dry grass no other damage was done.

DISASTROUS FIRE
VISITS MONTREAL

Total Loss Is Estimated At $500,000—Two Hundred Automobiles Burned.

FOUR MEN HURT

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, Aug. 12.—Damage set at $500,000 was caused by the fire here this afternoon, which destroyed the premises at the corner of Osborne and Mountain streets of the Ledoux Jennings Carriage Company, Limited, and which, spreading to neighboring buildings, including the Bell Telephone Company's garage, three dwellings and a hotel, caused great damage. Four men, including two firemen, were slightly injured. Over 200 automobiles stored in the premises were destroyed.

The fire raged for nearly six hours after 8 o'clock, and a great alarm had to be put in before it was finally brought under control.

The roar of the exploding gasoline in the tanks of the automobiles could be heard for blocks. Firemen narrowly escaped when part of the front wall of the factory fell on their ladder wagon. The great vehicle was just backed in time as it drove saw the wall collapsing. Most of the avalanche of brick and masonry fell on the engine of the wagon, crushing it, but none of the men were hurt.

Other walls collapsed, falling through the roof of the Bell Telephone garage and the roof of the Ledoux Jennings building, in each of which buildings small fires were consequently started, but were soon put out. Two men were slightly injured by the falling bricks, and fireman Turner dislocated his shoulder, and Fireman Godin sustained some burns.

At 10 o'clock this evening the back walls of the four dwellings abutting on the factory collapsed with a roar of falling bricks. These houses had been evacuated by the families living in them early in the afternoon. Turner dislocated his shoulder, and Fireman Godin sustained some burns.

Trucksloads of masqueraders paraded the streets all evening, and refused to leave until the last handful of confetti had been thrown and the last tickler broken.

Quartets of songsters with tinpan jazz bands congregated in doorways and entertained the more timid folks.

At Queen's Park Mayor George Wenig, Ed. Struthers, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and other Old Boys, said their farewells. At the park, too, a brass band furnished music for a community sing-song of all the old favorites of the Old Boys and others. But it was not a sad goodbye. Everyone bore up under the strain. Music, song and dance made hearts lighter, and otherwise would have been heavy, light. Not until Saturday night did many London Old Boys who had moved here from hundreds of miles away start the trek back to the homes of their adoption. Many were the regrets at leaving the native heath.

Flashes of bygone days are now but memories, but many native hearts are still there. Some may disappear by the time the next reunion rolls around, but there are others who will always remain. It is these dear hearts of Old London Town that draw the native sons from all parts of the continent every few years.

In three years London celebrates its 100th birthday. She has issued invitations to all her old boys and girls to come back then and put themselves a piece of her birthday cake and make themselves at home.

The organization work for the great event is already under way.

Will Return. Thousands of London Old Boys have left until then. They have left behind them their signatures with the London Old Boys' Association. They have taken with them memories which they treasure ever.

"They have not said 'Goodbye,'" they have said, "Au Revoir!"

It was this knowledge of another good time coming back that made the leave-taking so boisterous and merry. Londoners who have been away for weeks. To those whom she has entertained and to those who were hidden to the feast, but could not come, she extended a warm welcome. London is always at home to London Old Boys and Girls.

OVER 2,000 HARVESTERS LEAVE TORONTO FOR WEST

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Aug. 12.—More than 2,000 harvesters left tonight in special trains en route for the west to aid in harvesting the grain crop. A great number will leave tomorrow. The exodus of labor from the east to take part in harvesting operations surpasses all previous records.

Quite a large number of women and children traveled by the harvesters' special, in some cases whole families, who were taking advantage of the reduced fares to the Prairie Provinces.

BOY DROWNS IN LAKE.

Port Hope, Aug. 12.—Edward Beebe, 15-year-old son of Lorenzo Beebe of Morish, was drowned while bathing in the lake here this afternoon.

The body has not yet been recovered.

Neighbors Go In Search Of Pretty Girl's Attacker

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Aug. 12.—Practically the whole countryside at Billings' Bridge, Ottawa, was out all Saturday night and most of Sunday morning engaged in a man hunt for the author of one of the most dastardly outrages committed in the history of Carleton County, whereby pretty Hazel Morlett, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Morlett, well-to-do farmer of Billings' Bridge, lies at her parents' home almost at death's door.

The unfortunate girl, attacked by an unknown man, but of whom the police have a fairly accurate description, within a quarter of a mile of her home, in broad daylight, was terribly battered about the face and throat by her assailant, who, after dragging her into a shed and outraging her, left her for dead.

Miss Morlett's plight was not discovered until some time later, when, as she staggered along the road home, an older sister was sent in search of her and found her with her features almost unrecognizable and hardly able to stagger along the road home.

Reaching there she faltered out her story, and the news spreading like wildfire through the countryside, soon a posse of neighbors, assisted by the police, were scattered through Billings' bush in the direction the man was supposed to have taken, but although the search was kept up all night no trace of him was seen.

LONDON OLD BOYS
BID CITY FAREWELL

Hundreds Gather On Saturday Night For "Au Revoir" Celebration.

BACK AGAIN IN 1926

Old Boys' Week came in like a lamb, but went out like a fire grown lion. As a matter of fact it gave several lusty post-mortem roars, for the fun lasted well into Sunday morning. Old Boys' week was officially ended by the Old Boys' association, the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't have driven the revelers from the streets on the strike of 12. They had lost track of time.

The fun started early Saturday evening. Shoppers who didn't intend to celebrate the last night were drawn into the whirlpool of mirth, and before they knew it had caught the spirit of the evening, paraded their parcels and their Sunday straws in stores, and started out armed with tickler and confetti.

Parade Streets. Trucksloads of masqueraders paraded the streets all evening, and refused to leave until the last handful of confetti had been thrown and the last tickler broken.

Quartets of songsters with tinpan jazz bands congregated in doorways and entertained the more timid folks.

WIFE SENDS PATHETIC MESSAGE TO MR. SHAW

Prayer of Faithful Wife For the Return of Trusted Husband.

Special to The Advertiser. Tilbury, Aug. 12.—Believing that William A. Shaw, missing editor and proprietor of the weekly Times of Tilbury, may be wandering somewhere about the streets of some city while suffering from the effects of the mental lapse which is thought to have caused his disappearance, his grief-stricken wife sends him this simple yet heart-rending message. It is a prayer of a faithful wife for the return of a trusted husband:

"Will, dear, as we have received no word of you since Tuesday, your sisters and I beg you to help us in your time of trouble. We can think of no reason for your leaving. It is so unlike the kind and loving husband which you have always been. Please come back to me."

Investigating Death Of Aged Train Victim

Dies From Injuries After Stating He Had Been Pushed.

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, Aug. 12.—St. Hyacinthe, Que., died today in the St. Boniface hospital from injuries received Friday night when he either fell or was pushed off a Canadian National train while passing through Transcona. The dead man was on his way to Waltham, North Dakota, to visit relatives.

Being picked up alongside the railroad track, Brillon, according to the police, stated he had been pushed off the train by some one whom he did not know. Following this brief statement the man lapsed into unconsciousness and died shortly afterwards.

According to Canadian National Railway investigation department, Father Bowie of the Bishop's Palace, Boniface, who gave the aged man absolution, declared that "the man's mind may have been wandering, and that instead of being pushed off he may have fallen from the train."

Provincial police are investigating, and an inquest will be held.

RAILWAY SHOPPERS
PICNIC AT NIAGARA

Three Thousand Travel On Special Trains For Day's Outing.

INSPECT WONDERS

Three thousand members of the London branch of the C. N. R. carshop family crowded 24 hours into a day on Saturday, when they made their annual pilgrimage to Niagara Falls. Three special trains carried them in the nature of an entirely informal affair, and the Falls was chosen as the destination. It had been a day on account of the many delightful attractions that it offers to the sight-seer and because it affords an opportunity to look before the train, and spend most of their time with their American neighbors.

The first special left the London east yards at 4:45 in the morning. Sun and train were out at 4:00 when it was yet dark, and when the last shouts of the Old Boys and their comrades in fancy costumes and multi-colored confetti were still ringing among the tree tops.

Nine o'clock saw the arrival of the pioneer party in the city of the roaring waters. It had been a day on account of the many delightful attractions that it offers to the sight-seer and because it affords an opportunity to look before the train, and spend most of their time with their American neighbors.

Just as the initial trainload embarked on their train they were met at the corner of the street by the pipe band of the local Orangemen. It formed the auspicious start of the day, and cheered the new arrivals as they came to the city. They arranged welcome. No set rules and regulations governed the day. Every family party went its own way and did just as they pleased, more in the nature of a sightseeing expedition than a picnic.

All over the town of wonders they were to be seen, and all admiring they could be seen here and there. On the great ride around the gorge, a ride known and talked of all over the world, there were members of the carshop family. On the steel cage that glides back and forward across the great gorge, most fearless trip in appearance, there were always one or two of the party, and around the Falls themselves, on both sides, a Londoner could recognize well-known faces.

Cave of Winds. The Maid of the Mist and the Cave of the Winds claimed their share of attention, and were busy enough to make the day a memorable one. Members of the party who were keenest to try the sensation of sailing into the spray of the horribles.

It was surprising how many Londoners seemed never to have seen the Falls before. The rumble of the crashing, smashing column of water struck their ears when they landed, and they took their fill of the great green god from every angle of Clifton Park.

It was a right merry day, and at night when the special appeared at their platforms they were immediately filled with a wonderfully good-natured crowd, glad to be back in the comfort of their land, and thankful for the weather, which had been the chief ingredient of a successful outing, and for the whole experience. The carshop family, on whose behalf the special was run, was successful by the willingness of the C. N. R. to co-operate with its employees and had issued special rates for the day.

Committee of Day. The latest steel colonist coaches had been supplied and made the traveling much easier for the occupants. In spite of the heat the trains kept cool and everyone ready for fun in the early hours of the morning somewhat sleepy, but in good spirits and satisfied with the trip.

The committee of the day, consisting of L. A. Betts, W. Burch, G. Lowney, W. Page, W. Woods, J. H. Day, W. Harris, W. Skinner, H. Skin, Dr. Gray and others, were in charge, on whom lay the obligation of pleasing the members and providing them with a really enjoyable picnic, as to be congratulated in their achievement, and everyone who shared this view when the day closed.

MILL AT STRATFORD DESTROYED BY FIRE

Firemen Overcome by Avid Fumes in Valiant Fight Against Flames.

Special to The Advertiser. Stratford, Aug. 12.—Fire early this morning completely destroyed the plant of the McLeod Milling Company, causing a loss of upwards of $50,000. The fire was discovered by a nearby resident, Olin Brown, who was awakened by the crackling of the flames, and quickly sent in an alarm.

The firemen were quickly on the scene and made valiant efforts to save the building. The smoke from burning grain and flour was very dense and the explosion of an ammonia tank in the bleaching room made it very difficult to get at the heart of the fire.

Several firemen were overcome by the acid fumes and smoke and were removed to the hospital.

The mill, affiliated with the Canadian Cereal and Flour Mills Company, and is one of the most up-to-date in this section of the country, and had been working in capacity of late to take care of orders on hand. A large shipment of flour which was to have left the mill Monday morning was totally destroyed. The loss is fairly well covered by insurance.

Climbing Tecs Hand Aces Setback With Twin Defeat

McCallum Wins Slugfest, 10-6—McCaffrey Wins 4-2 Twilight Win.

Jack Beatty's climbing, fighting Tecs handed the Saginaw Aces a stinging double defeat here Saturday before probably the largest gathering of spectators that has attended a local Mini game this year. The first fray, a free-hitting mix in which the Tecs were outscored in number by one club, but outshone in quality, distance and bunting, ended 10-6. The sunset affair was a fast 4-2 decision.

Jack Schaefer confined his work with the willow to wild base, picking two choice ones off Matsuzaki in the first game, incidentally driving in three tallies and nicking Wayneberg for his third double on his first trip to the plate in the second. This walk also accounted for a brace of runs. Mackey, Coogan and Churry also had doubles, and Barbelon chased Nettze to the fence to find his triple.

The opening game was featured by on-and-off fielding, London committing seven errors while the Aces were gumming up four. McCallum lightened, with good support in the critical spots, however, and held the Wetzels brigade in the rear.

Saginaw opened the scoring in the first, when Bashan singled, took second on Coogan's error, and scored on Dunn's single. Kane, singled, sending Dunn to third. Mackey threw wide to get Kane stealing, and Dunn tallied.

London tied it right up in their half, when eight batters faced Matsuzaki. An infield error and a hit batter, ahead of Schaefer's long double to center, accounted for the runs. The Tecs added a fielder's choice. In the fifth London piled up another pair on a single, a sacrifice and a ball, adding two to their lead.

Ruth Can't Use Crawford's Bat

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Aug. 12.—Babe Ruth, New York American League slugger, yesterday received word from Ban Johnson, president of the league, prohibiting him from using the "Sam Crawford" bat in future. The "Crawford" bat is made of four pieces of seasoned wood glued together. The bat was manufactured by Sam Crawford, the former Detroit slugger, and Ruth had had considerable success with it.

Ruth was at a loss to understand the Johnson action, as he did not know the bat was illegal, and did not know there had been any complaint made against it.

SCENES AT THE PLAYGROUNDS' SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIPS AT THAMES PARK, SATURDAY. Right insert is a study in expression in one of the girls' backstroke events, while in the center are the senior girls lined up for the two laps, free style event. At the extreme right are "Pat" Manuel and her brother Jack, who were the outstanding figures in the junior events. "Pat," who is but 12 years old, took first prizes in the five individual junior girls' events, both in diving and swimming, and displayed a finesse that might well be envied by grown-up swimmers. She was one of the smallest girls entered, and her fine showing won the commendation and cheers of the large crowd. Swimming experts predict that the brother and sister will soon be backing laurels for their home town if they continue to progress as much as they have within the past year or so.

Enrique Tirabocchi of Argentina Makes 22 1/2 Miles in 16 Hours 33 Minutes.

Associated Press Despatch.
Dover, Eng., Aug. 12.—Enrique Tirabocchi, Argentine swimmer, landed at 12:32 o'clock this afternoon after swimming the English Channel from Cape Griz-Nez, France, in the whole time of 16 hours and 33 minutes.

After 15 hours and 33 minutes in the water, Carlos Toth of Boston, Mass., abandoned his attempt to swim the Channel at 8 o'clock this morning. He was within 2 1/2 miles of the English coast when he gave up.

With fortune in his side, Tirabocchi took nine hours less for his journey from the French side to Dover than Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., required last week to traverse the route in the opposite direction. The Argentine swimmer also cut five hours and twelve minutes off the record set in the swim on a similar route by Captain Webb, an Englishman, who later lost his life in trying to negotiate the rapids at Niagara Falls.

The great effort of Tirabocchi sapped his strength, and unlike Sullivan he was not able to walk up the shore. The moment the Argentine's feet touched the bottom a few yards from the pebble covered beach, he fell into the arms of members of the sixth and seventh contingents of the finishing strokes of his struggle across the 22 1/2 miles stretch of water.

He recovered rapidly, however. His retinue, who had rowed across the swimming trunk and lifted him out of the water, seemed to revive him. Before anyone had an opportunity to find out what he thought about his swim, he had been taken to a hotel and told him to a tug which immediately pointed its prow back toward the French shore.

Tirabocchi had luck with the tide. He had been 10 minutes slower in getting to the shore when the tide was in the long Admiralty pier and Shakespeare Cliff, he said, but he had the same experience which last year won him a gold medal for his feat. He had the same goal and then been carried away from the shore by an adverse tide.

He had to contend with only three tides, but he had to swim against the tide. Tirabocchi had had five to fight. Tirabocchi had had five to fight. Tirabocchi had had five to fight. Tirabocchi had had five to fight. Tirabocchi had had five to fight.

Like Sullivan, the Argentine will receive $10,000 for his feat and also a gold medal from the Channel Swimming Club.

Brantford, Aug. 12.—Guelph Outfitters and Brantford team defeated the Cordage at Guelph on Saturday by a score of 6 to 3, thereby winning the intermediate inter-county championship. Hough for the winners allowed many hits and scattered through as many innings. The game started with a home run and had the game well in hand. Webster was frequently in trouble, but pitched himself out of many bad holes. Leader's three-base hit in the second frame with the bases full was responsible for winning the game. Guelph will likely meet Ingersoll in the next round.

AMERICAN WOMEN BEAT BRITISH TENNIS TEAMS

Associated Press Despatch.
Forest Hill, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The United States women's tennis team, having won all three of its matches against leading British players in the West Side Tennis Club's new stadium yesterday, need but one of the four matches—three singles and one double—to be played tomorrow in order to win the silver cup donated by the national play by Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman of Boston, former national champion.

The triumph of United States players in the three matches yesterday was led by Helen Wills of Berkeley, Cal., who defeated Miss Kathleen McKane, leading English woman player, in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5.

Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, U. S. national champion, won from Mrs. R. C. Clayton, the British hard court champion, 6-1, 8-6, in a brilliant contest.

The first half of the game was very fast and even, Massey leading 3-1 when the whistle blew. Playing downhill in the second half, the visitors piled up the score by adding four goals, scoring three successive goals. Hingley took the next two, and Moss was responsible for the last.

Special to The Advertiser.
Brantford, Aug. 12.—In a virtue of their splendid 6 to 1 victory over the G. W. V. A. team in Peterboro on Saturday, the Massey-Harris team enters the Ontario Cup semi-finals. The result of the Peterboro game, after the 1-1 tie here a week ago, was a great surprise to local fans, who now look upon the Masseys as the logical cup winners.

The first half of the game was very fast and even, Massey leading 3-1 when the whistle blew. Playing downhill in the second half, the visitors piled up the score by adding four goals, scoring three successive goals. Hingley took the next two, and Moss was responsible for the last.

HAND ONT. HOSPITAL SEASON'S FIRST DEFEAT

Grace Church, Toronto, Cricket Team Wins 121 to 56, and 44.

On Friday the cricket game scheduled to be played between Grace Church, Toronto, and the local club was played in delightful weather before quite a number of visitors, and ended in the local getting their first defeat this season by a score of 121 to 56 and 44.

The locals took the wicket and were dismissed for 56 runs. The visitors then batted and compiled a score of 121 runs. The locals were one man short, only batting 11 whilst the visitors batted 42 and up to the seventh wicket scores were practically even. Then the local bowlers were changed and a stand was made by Wild and Denton of the visitors, the pair putting on 49 runs. Upon going in to bat again the locals were not at all confident and seemingly suffered from stage-fright, all being nervous, and the consequence was their wickets fell faster than in their first innings, and lifted him last 41 runs, their lowest score this season.

The visitors were a well-balanced team, but the locals disappointed quite a few. May was the hospital's top scorer with 21 runs, but he unfortunately had his right thumb split by the ball and it caused him discomfort both in batting and bowling. For the visitors Edward Beardsall played five cricket, making 27 and 22 runs respectively, and their bowler, Stuckerton, in the two innings, took 14 wickets for 45 runs, doing the most economical job. Both J. May and Dr. Chalk bowled well for the locals and were complimented by the visitors. The visitors were royally entertained by the officials of the hospital and club and were well pleased with their visit.

RED SOX WIN SLUGFEST.
Cleveland, Aug. 12.—Boston pounded the Cleveland Indians 10 to 3 today at the Stadium today, by a score of 5 to 2. Sylvester Johnson had the better of Joe Bush in a pitchers' battle, keeping the Yankees' hits well scattered.

Babe Ruth drove out his twenty-ninth home run of the season in the first inning. The score: R.H.E. Boston 100 000 001—5 8 0 Cleveland 000 000 002—2 8 1 Johnson and Bassler; Bush and Schang.

OVERCOME BIG LEAD.
Washington, Aug. 12.—Washington overcame a six-run lead and defeated Chicago today 6 to 3. The Nationals coupled four hits with two bases on in the seventh inning. Russell and Johnson pitched effectively in the latter part of the game, striking out three men in the last two innings.

The score: R.H.E. Chicago 000 003 000—4 9 2 Washington 000 002 013—9 3 2 Cuykendall, Robertson and Schalk; Zimmler, Mitchell, Russell, Johnson and Ruel.

KITCHENER GREEN SHIRTS SIGN UP TWO NEW MEN.
Kitchener, Aug. 12.—The Kitchener Green Shirts senior hockey team will line up with the same players as last year, and in addition they will have two new faces. The new men are Edward Kalbfleisch of New Hamburg and Connie Woodcock of Elora. The latter is a goalkeeper and is also a southpaw pitcher, and will be seen with the Wolves in the senior intercounty League next year. Kalbfleisch is a left wing player.

Thames Park Swimmers Easily Take City Trophy

Given 87 Points, While Birketts, Second, Get 4—"Pat" Manuel, Juvenile Wonder, and Stevens Are Stars of Big Aquatic Meet.

Successful from every point of view was the monster swimming meet held at Thames Park Saturday afternoon to determine the aquatic stars in the various playgrounds and to decide what recreation centre could claim the trophy.

After two and a half hours of well-contested racing and pretty diving the Thames Park water-dogs were declared the winners with a total of 87 points. The amount of good the city tank in that park has accomplished in encouraging swimming among boys and girls is shown in the fact that Thames Park's closest rivals were the Birketts' squad with 34 points. Riverview was third with 29.

"Pat" Manuel, 12 years old, was the real star of the meet. Small for his age he ran away with all the junior girls' events by winning five firsts in the five individual events. "Pat" also figured in the junior girls' relay race won by Thames Park. Her all-around proficiency in the water was a wonder to many of the older swimmers entered.

"Pat" won the fancy and plain diving in her class with as much ease as she captured the long plunges and the straightaway swims. The graceful and ease with which she cut the water was a sight to witness.

Stevens of Riverview was one of the main reasons why Riverview annexed third division. He is a seasoned swimmer, and won his events handsily. He captured first in the two laps free style, and the relay—a three mile swim. The exhibition this London boy gave marked him as one of the best swimmers in this district, and officials say that with a little more coaching he should be in real championship class.

A quartet of Toronto swimmers, each holder of a title, gave a splendid exhibition of the art, and their flawless diving and racing was loudly cheered. The display of fancy diving was especially pretty to watch. The visitors were: Turner Chapman, holder of the Ontario title for the 100 and 40 yards breast stroke and the City of Toronto 100 yards. He also holds the Canadian record for the 100 yards breast stroke. Carl Warner, Ontario 40 yards back stroke champion; John Oldwright, Ontario 50 yards free style champion, and Albert Webb, Ontario's junior champion for the 40 yards back stroke and also holder of the junior high and low board diving title.

ALERTS CAPTURE INTER-CLUB FLAG

Overcome One-Run Lead of Oriens in Fifth Frame

Saturday.

Alerts, by virtue of their win over the Oriens Saturday, won the Inter-Club League championship, and with that honor goes the distinction of representing London in the Intermediate O. B. A. playoffs. Alerts won Saturday by a score of 8 to 4.

Oriens fought bitterly for the first four frames, and held a one-run lead that looked big at times. In the fifth they blew up, and Alerts won the game by a score of 8 to 4.

Alerts won the first frame by a score of 2 to 0. Oriens fought back in the second and third frames, but Alerts won the fourth and fifth frames by a score of 2 to 0 each.

Alerts won the game by a score of 8 to 4.

ROSS YOUNG

Back in 1918 Davey Robertson was slotted to start another year in the Giant outfield. But Davey and the Giants bosses couldn't agree on several matters.

It was announced, during that time, that Ross Young, late of the Rochester International League, would play in the Giants' place until that gent returned.

When Young read this news he said: "They might just as well have left off at that part about the Giants' place, because I'm going to play that outfield from now on."

Down the Line In All Sports

The Toronto World ran in its Sunday edition a lengthy dissertation under the heading, "London A. A. A. Gunned Up Big Meet." It goes on to state that "the Ontario branch of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union have considered and dealt with the London 'fiasco,' and that 'all events in which Americans competed, whether winners or not, have been declared 'out,' and will be run off next Wednesday at Varsity track.'"

COOMBS FAMILY HOLD BIG REUNION

Members Come From All Over Country To Attend the Gathering.

ELECT NEW OFFICERS

From all parts of Western Ontario, and from Toronto, Detroit and Chicago, descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Coombs of London gathered at Springbank Park Saturday in a jolly family reunion.

Altogether 110 persons joined in the festivities making the outing one of the largest of its kind held at Springbank this year. A program of sports, a baseball game, and a supper created an atmosphere of good cheer, which did much to tighten family ties.

It was the second reunion of the descendants of John Coombs, who came from Devonshire, England, to settle near London early in the last century. Despite the hardships of early pioneer life the family thrived until today grandchildren are to be found not only in all parts of Ontario, but throughout the Canadian West.

Send Greetings.
Thirty-seven descendants in the three Prairie Provinces could not attend the reunion this year, but they collectively sent greetings in the form of a poem which was read during the outing. Part of it reads:

"Oh, we don't forget the east land
Now our homes are in the West,
For it takes 'em both together
To make the one Big Best."
"So, since we can't come east this year,
To keep the feast with you,
We send deep love, fond memories
Best wishes, real and true."

Several generations were represented at the reunion, but the oldest person present was John Pearce of Union, 81 years of age. Mrs. A. Hart of Dundas is two years younger. The youngest member of the family present was Baby George Blyton, aged 3 months. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Blyton of London.

Made It, Success.
The success of the outing was due to Charles Pearce of St. Thomas, president; Mrs. H. Jewell, St. Thomas, secretary; and Miss Rose McCreedy, treasurer of the family, and an executive committee of S. McCreedy, C. Parsons, S. Blyton and Miss Ann Kidner, all of London.

The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:
President, Charles Pearce, secretary, Miss Nettie Jones, treasurer, S. McCreedy. The executive committee is composed of Misses R. Merritt and A. Kidner, Mrs. A. Cathro, Mrs. H. Jewell, H. Pearce, W. Duffy, Latham Gregory and C. Parsons.

The following are the race results:
Girls, 5 to 10, Audrey Pearce, Ellen Coombs; boys, 5 to 10, Ted Smyth, Glen Duffy; girls, 10 to 15, Margaret Pearce, Mary Coombs; boys, 10 to 15, C. Healey, B. Atkinson; married ladies, Mrs. Art Pearce, Mrs. William Duffy; hoop race, W. Merrett; balloon race, Harry Merrett; harrow race, snow shoe race, Ted Smyth, Geo. Gregory; time race, T. Merrett, Blanche Ralph; clothespin race, Mrs. L. Gregory, Margaret Pearce; blind race (couples), B. Ralph and B. Atkinson, F. Ralph and F. Pearce; married men's race, W. Duffy, H. Jewell; fat ladies' race, Mrs. W. Merrett, Mrs. J. Blyton.
An exciting baseball game between the men and the women was won easily by the women.

Proposes Memorial Road To Honor Dead President

Special to The Advertiser.

Washington, Aug. 12.—A road of remembrance in honor of Warren G. Harding is suggested in a message sent by Charles Lathrop Peck, president of the American Tree Association, today, to George Faxon of Plano, Ill., the president of the Cannonball Trail Association.

James Line of the Aura Automobile Club has suggested the name of the trail be changed to the Harding Highway, the Lincoln Highway and the Roosevelt Highway are widely known.

"Memorial tree planting along such a highway by the people, particularly those in states through which the highway passes would be a remarkable tribute and a magnificent memorial," said Mr. Peck today. "Mr. Harding was nominated in Chicago and died in California where the trail ends. Thus the naming and planting of such a road of remembrance would be a most graceful thing."

"As president, Mr. Harding was a tree planter as is Mrs. Harding. They both know the value of tree planting. President Harding, among other places, planted a tree in Central Park, New York City, and Mrs. Harding planted the armistice elms that stand at the head of one of the avenues leading to the Lincoln Memorial. This planting marks the opening of arms conference week, during which the body of the unknown soldier was placed at Arlington."

"President Harding dedicated the Zero Milestone on the Ellipse. This is the measuring post for all great highways that now do or are to cross the continent. I can think of no more fitting memorial than a road of remembrance planted with memorial trees by the people of the United States in honor of Warren G. Harding."

CITY ORANGEMEN HONOR DERRY DAY

Visitors From Different Sections of Province Also Gather For Service.

WILL GO TO SARNIA

In commemoration of Derry Day, when the siege of that famous city in the history of Orangism was relieved, 400 of the members of the Black Preceptories of the county of Middlesex and London joined in a great church parade yesterday afternoon to Cronyn Memorial Church and listened to an inspiring and interesting address by the Rev. Roy Mess.

Today the same members of the Orange Order left for Sarnia at 9 a.m. by a special train on the C. N. R., where they will spend the day and take part in the largest program ever devoted to the Orange Order of the Black Preceptories in Western Ontario. The speakers of the day will be the Hon. Howard Ferguson, the Hon. Arthur Meighen, E. A. Miller of North Bay, A. A. Gray, Grand Master of Ontario west, Brother McCready, Most Worshipful Grand Master, E. T. Essary, K.G., of London, and Brother Armstrong of Winnipeg.

March To Church.
The 400 Orangemen who took part in yesterday's procession gathered at 2 p.m. at the Orange Hall on the corner of Dundas and York streets. Led by the London Orange brass band they marched to the Cronyn Memorial Church, where at 3 p.m. they joined in the special service of the day at which the Rev. Roy Mess preached the sermon.

Afterwards they marched back to their central hall and dispersed in readiness for the big outing today at which more than 50 preceptories are expected to be present.

Representatives from the following nearby towns and cities attended yesterday's procession: Komoka, Appin, Strathroy, Mount Brydges, Denfield and Toronto. The parade was held under the auspices of the County Black Preceptories.

Urges Stability.
Taking his text from Matthew 16: 18, and the words "Thou art Peter on whom I will build my church," Mr. Mess urged the necessity of retaining stability in the world today. "Never," he said, "in all the history of the world is the need for stability, both personal and national, greater than it is in this hurrying age."

"Of all the countries in the world, following the last days of the war, Great Britain has maintained the soundest and most assuring stability. In business, in religion, in legislation, she has kept this attitude and in no other country has there been so little fanciful legislation."

Mr. Mess went on to state that stability is not synonymous with stagnation. "Stability," he declared, "is one of the steps by which evolution progresses. It is not a hindrance to the progress of humanity," he stated, "but the greatest aid that can have. To wreck this stability of which we are so proud, and of which Great Britain is so worthy the possessor, is to open the door to revolution, which is never the gate of progress and nearly always the path of retrogression."

Sensational democracy he declared is the most pressing danger of the social and political life of today. "This is the means by which wickedlings and unscrupulous men get their hold in public life, pretending to be fighters on behalf of the downtrodden and using the undoubted needs of the unfortunate as the steps to carry them on to power."

He reminded the Orangemen that their slogan of the "open Bible" was originated by the church and that unless the church was able to maintain this stand, the world would have a closed book.

STATES FINAL DESTINY IS NOT FIXED AT DEATH

S. W. Carpenter Addresses Bible Students At Hyman Hall Sunday Afternoon.

Final destiny is not fixed at death, according to S. W. Carpenter, who lectured on "Three Judgment Days" to Bible Students at Hyman Hall yesterday. The speaker pointed to the Scriptures as declaring that "God hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world," and it will be "by that man whom he hath ordained."

The one ordained for this work is the meek, loving, merciful Jesus, who gave his life for the world, therefore none need be terror-stricken at the thought of judgment day. Men do not condemn without a fair trial, much less will the great Creator pass judgment on any without a full, fair trial. Death by hanging would be everlasting punishment as much as by any other means; one would not need to be eternally tormented.

The Bible shows the judgment day of the world is going to be a very joyful time.

PRINTERS ENJOY ANNUAL OUTING

Hold Splendid Picnic At "Loveholme" On Saturday Afternoon.

MANY FEATURES

London printers as well as many visitors in the city for Old Home Week entered into the spirit of festival on Saturday. It was the occasion of the annual London Typographical Union's picnic, and both newspapers and members of the Haydon Press passed up the usual afternoon's work for a high old time at the picturesque fruit farm of Purdom Love's on Brick street near Springbank Park.

Three hundred typographers, their wives and friends thronged the delightful grounds at Springbank, and there engaged for a time in merry-making. The picnicers were occupied for the greater part of the afternoon inspecting the farm and taking part in the impromptu program of sports, which included several games of baseball and novelty races.

Many Surprises.
All sorts of surprises claimed the attention of the merry-makers for many hours, and the genial host, Mr. Love, administered to his guests' desires in admirable fashion.

Motors carried the picnicers to the farm at Springbank, after leaving the Labor Temple in London at 1 o'clock. The stream of motors carrying the merry throngs entered the entrance to Mr. Love's farm an orchestra was waiting to greet them. Tents were pitched from which refreshments were served, and the orchestra played acceptable selections for dancing during the evening hours.

Among the novelty events arranged by the picnicers were a motor race, a bicycle race, a foot race, a basketball game, and a baseball game. A delicious luncheon was provided by the members of the union.

Enjoyable Feature.
One of the most enjoyable features of the day was a trip by the boys and girls of the Typographical Union members when they motored to Springbank and there had a ride on the miniature engine. Each was furnished with an ice cream cone and crackly nuts. The pleased youngsters joined their parents later at "Loveholme," from whence they proceeded back to their homes in the city.

In the evening the grown-ups enjoyed a quiet time on the pretty lawns of the summer farm. The success of the day was due to the committee in charge of the entertainment, who had provided everything to make the day one of the most successful of the union picnics. Saturday will long be remembered by the 300 printers who made the journey to Springbank.

The family trouble was straightened out in an ante-room.

Uses Kindness To Grow His Vegetable Garden

Peter Hird of Central Avenue Knows Every One of His Plants.

When Peter Hird stands erect in his garden on Central Avenue his corn towers up as high as he is. Peter is a sturdy Scotchman of five foot ten and three quarters, so it is not difficult to calculate how high his corn is and it has not begun to come to maturity yet. One cob alone is 18 inches long. What it will be like when it is ready for eating is difficult to imagine.

And corn isn't the only thing. His tomato plants reach up to the top of his head, and are laden with great clusters of fruit.

"How do you get your garden to grow so?" he was asked.

And the answer came in the delightful Scotch of his native land. "It is through kindness that you can grow anything. Be kind to your plants. Give them plenty of manure and water and they will grow for you."

And his answer was characteristic of his methods. Surely it is kindness which impels Mr. Hird to keep water standing in barrels and tubs for a whole day's warning in the sun before he uses it to water his precious plants.

He would not sooner think of dashing cold water from the tap over his garden than he would think of plunging his small grandchild into an icy bath. His plants are like children to him. He trains them in the way they should go with loving care. And they flourish under his attention.

Knows Every Plant.

He knows every individual plant in his garden, although there are thousands of them in all.

He does a certain amount of experimenting to get new varieties and rears his own seed by saving the most perfect from his garden.

"Do you tie a string around the stem to mark the perfect flower, so that you can tell which seed pods to collect?" asked an interested but ignorant visitor.

Tie a string around the stem! Mr. Hird was amazed.

"Why I know every flower in this garden. If one is picked I miss it immediately," says Mr. Hird. And those who know him well say that this is perfectly true.

Mr. Hird, who is an employee of the P. R., has made a hobby of gardening ever since he came to London. He served his time as a gardener while a boy in the old land, and so knows a great deal about working with plants.

Onions and Carrots.

For example he knows that if he plants his onions between rows of carrots the carrots will keep the white maggots away from his onions, and the onions will come to maturity much more rapidly in the shade of the carrot leaves.

Just now he has a very peculiar plant growing in his garden, which seems to be a cross between a melon and a thorn. He is tending it carefully to see what will be the result. Just now it is filled with small yellow flowers, and the leaves and stems are thorny.

His celery plants are big enough for use and perfectly blanched above.

Your Home and You

By HELEN KENDALL

A SPRIG OF MINT.

One afternoon recently, while we were driving past the summer home of some friends we ran into say "Howdy" to them. They were used to call it down south. Our hostess insisted upon giving us each a glass of iced tea, which she kept on tap, she said, in a corner of the ice-box. It came in a tinkling amber draught in a tall glass, with a round of lemon hanging on the brink and a long glass slipper pulled it through very cooling and tempting to dusty motorists whose throats were parched. Just before the tray was handed round, however, she said suddenly:

"Well, I thought those glasses looked a bit empty, so I went to the pantry and the shelves, and the other small green things," she said when she came back. "But I was always having unexpected callers dropping in and wanting the sprig of mint for cold porch drinks, so this sprig I transplanted the whole mint bed, and here within easy reach. It doesn't look like anything but flower foliage, you know, so one can't have it right in a flower border. It creeps along at the foot of tall flowers, will grow in the shade, and in any kind of soil, and we think it adds both looks and flavor to summer beverages."

"Mint can be gathered in the morning, of course, or even the day before, and kept in a glass of water, but

Florence, Aug. 12.—On Wednesday of last week in Bolton's Grove on the Sydenham River the Shetland picnic was again held. Perhaps the attendance was not so large as other years, due to the large Ford picnic and baseball tournaments held at one or two other points on that day. The weather was not only ideal for the event, but special attractions greatly added to the enjoyment of the pleasure-seekers.

John Farrell as chairman did not fail. B. W. Fansher, M.P., gave the address of welcome.

Mr. Hanes, M.P., Mr. Graham, the Messrs. Moorehouse and others also gave addresses. The Petrolia Band, the baby show, the race for the duck, etc., and three fast games of baseball made things interesting. In the evening a high-class concert was given, in which the Iron Quartet of Brampton, Harry Bennett, Scotch comedian of Toronto, and the Petrolia orchestra were the artists who presented the program which closed the day.

LYNEDOCH HOLDS BIG COMMUNITY OUTING

Special to The Advertiser.

Lynedoch, Aug. 12.—The Lynedoch Union Picnic, which was practically a community affair, was held Thursday on the Lynedoch picnic grounds and was a tremendous success. The weather and surroundings were perfect and the whole neighborhood attended, the ages ranging from four weeks to eighty-five years.

After a delicious dinner, in the serving of which the ladies upheld their reputations as wonderful cooks, a community sing-song with organ and violin accompaniment was engaged in. Then came the sports which included many features—walking across the river on a slippery pole, biscuit and whistling races, newspaper race and honey-moon race which provided a great deal of amusement for the onlookers. The mail-driving contest for the married ladies was so successful that their husbands ungrudgingly resigned their positions as handy men around the house. Two balloon ascensions, and a ball game added to the interest of the afternoon. Special credit is due Mr. W. R. Halliday for his work in making picnic a tremendous success. The picnic is looked forward to and enjoyed by all.

Mr. George McDonald has returned home after an enjoyable trip to Winnipeg.

Mrs. Florence Wood and Miss Gladys Schrader of the McCallum Apartments left Sunday morning for Chicago, where they will be the guests of Mrs. Wood's sister, Mrs. James Rouke, and Mrs. Jack Lloyd. On the way home they will visit Mrs. Leonard Schrader at Grand Rapids.

Miss Thelma Schmidt, Dufferin Avenue, entertained recently at a handkerchief shower in honor of Miss Floesie Pring, bride-to-be. Assisting the hostess were Miss Marjory Parson, Miss Bettie Jenkins and Miss Mathabridge. The lovely array of gifts was arranged in the form of a shower bouquet.

Mrs. Robert Brown, Wortley Road, entertained at a delightful touseau tea on Saturday afternoon, in honor of her daughter, Miss Isabel Brown, whose marriage will take place this week. Mrs. Brown received her guests in a smart white hand-drawn gown, while the bride-elect was frocked in white canton crepe. The tea table was attractively arranged with pink roses and gladioli. Miss Winifred Barnes officiated, assisted by Miss Norine Floyd, Miss Floesie Simpson and Miss Effie Brown.

The Million Dollar Doll

By C. N. AND A. M. WILLIAMSON.
Authors of "The Lightning Conductor."

Hartley Phillips Gets Several Unexpected Shocks Interviewing Terry

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Teresa Desmond (Terry), lovely and unbelievably innocent, has left her father.

Terrence Desmond, a selfish, unreliable man, the proprietor of the Blue Moon, a roadhouse, Terry's father.

Juliet Divine, her beautiful half-sister—known as the Million Dollar Doll—whose sketchy career is unknown to Terry. No one knows of the girl's relationship, and "Julia" is careful to keep Terry, who is an exquisite counterpart of herself, hidden from her (Julia's) fiancé.

Mancel Fernandez, a South American millionaire, of extremely jealous temperament.

Eustace Nazio is a wealthy Greek, whose unwelcome advances caused Terry to run away from her father.

Miles Sheridan, a young man, "the Prince," furnished the money for her convent education when she was a child, partly to atone for a past rudeness of

Betty Sheridan, his wife, whose infidelity is making him wretched.

Hartley Phillips, acting as Sheridan's medium, has offered Julia twenty thousand dollars to take a yacht-trip with Sheridan, in order to facilitate Betty's obtaining a divorce. Unable to go herself, Julia persuades Terry to go in her place, posing as the Million Dollar Doll.

Terry does this because of her desire to repay "the Prince" for his generosity.

Julia marries her South American and goes away, while Terry waits impatiently for the cruise when she will see her "prince" again.

Suspicious of Julia's long silence, Phillips calls at her apartment, and Terry, assuming her new role, informs him that she finds him coarse.

CHAPTER XVII.
A NEGLECTED YOUNG WIFE IN LAVENDER.

Hartley Phillips was somewhat taken aback. The rebuke was so quaintly put and so unexpected that he wanted to laugh again, but he didn't quite dare.

He felt that the tables had been turned upon him. He had come to scold, and was being scolded.

But, no doubt, that was precisely the little cat's game! She had balanced a chip on her shoulder, and was egging him on to knock it off.

Very likely she really did want an excuse to wriggle out of the bargain she hadn't been keen to accept; but if so she wouldn't get it from him.

Though he'd threatened to find someone else for the yachting trip, Miss Divine didn't toe the mark, he knew no one who would fill the bill, she filled it.

"I'm sorry," he said, scarcely letting his eyes twinkle. "I eat my own words—including the devil. But you must admit I have a grievance. For all I could tell, you might have left New York, and turned us down cold for some other business."

"Oh, I wouldn't do such a thing! I wouldn't even if I—" Terry blurted back her words. The blush that flooded her face seemed to Phillips an achievement. There couldn't be much paint and powder about all that color to come through!

"I used always to believe you were a good little sport," he apologized.

"I'm glad I was right. But all those excuses—those naps—those headaches!"

"You don't look as if you'd been out of sorts. On the contrary, you look about ten years younger than when I saw you last!"

"Oh, I hope not!" cried Terry, then blushed more than ever. The blood that streamed to her forehead forced tears to her eyes.

This time Phillips could not keep back his laughter. "I see your point," he said. "As you looked only about 21 before, going back ten years would make a child of 11! I seem rather clumsy today."

"But never mind, as you mean to play fair, we'll let bygones be bygones. I had to find out for certain if you were prepared to keep your contract; and I came to say, too, that I shall call for you myself, about two hours before 'Silverwood' is due to sail, and march you on board. Mr. Sheridan is unable to do this. I hope you don't mind?"

"I never supposed he would come for me," said Terry.

The Million Dollar Doll humbled Phillips was getting a bewildering number of new lights upon her character. But, after each shock, he told himself that it was part of the game.

She was merely practicing upon him, to see what success she might hope to make with Sheridan later on, in the role of ingenue. He decided to warn Miles, whose treatment of Betty proved how soft he was towards women, in some ways.

"That's all right, then," Phillips replied cheerfully, and went on to give Miss Divine her instructions. She must be ready early in the morning, day after tomorrow.

He would call for her at 10 o'clock, in a taxi, as his own car was laid up (Julia would have known that this was not true; that he didn't wish his act of friendship for Sheridan to be too conspicuous); there would be a second taxi for luggage, within reason it might be as much as she liked—and the yacht would call at 12.

The girl thanked him quietly for everything. Not a single word about a single new extortion! This new game was really deep.

Phillips began to enjoy it more than he would have thought possible at first, for the creature's shrewd and ingenuously pleased him. His own sharpness pleased him also, for he was taking in a single man being the elder man devotedly loved, and his attachment to his friend caused him to detest Betty. As he sat in his big car, scowling at her in a dainty small one, he sent active waves of dislike towards the charming figure, exquisitely dressed in mauve that toned with the automobile.

He would have been glad to see the car smashed to matchwood, with Betty in it!

If she were dead, Miles wouldn't need to go through this dreary farce on board 'Silverwood,' in order to take his wife home with him, and shepherds Phillips could not think calmly of the pleasant future prepared for Betty Sheridan, by Miles' sacrifice; her divorce from him; the big sum in alimony she would get—big enough to make marriage possible with the man who had infatuated her—Prince di Salvano. Phillips wished he hadn't run across the woman this morning!

As if those hate-waves had reached him, given her an electric shock, Betty turned her head and stared straight at Hartley Phillips before he could avert his eyes and pretend not to see her.

Outwardly the two were on quite good terms. Although Betty was aware that Phillips' eyes had seen, all the world—supposed to ignore the tension between husband and wife. Betty was staying with a friend in Greenwich, and the New York house was in the decorator's hands; the alleged reason why Miles lived at the studio.

ON THE DANGEROUS AGES OF MAN

There are THREE kinds of men,
Good, Bad, Indifferent.
As a rule the BAD ones
Make interesting lovers,
The GOOD ones,
Uninteresting husbands,
And no SELF-RESPECTING man Ever yet had time
For a man who was INDIFFER-

The NICEST men are about nine-

The kindest, FORTY-NINE,
The HARDEST, about twenty-

But, of all men, the most FAS-CINATING,
Blase, difficult and EXPERI-ENCED,
Is the young man of thirty-nine.
And if he is a BACHELOR—Spare me!
For the LOVE of a bachelor of forty
Is worth very little.
It is frayed and THREADBARE,
And would give little SATISFAC-TION
To a SENSITIVE woman.
What a wise WOMAN looks for
Is Security and Principle
In a man and in the BANK,
But she generally finds
By the time a man HAS ENOUGH

He's nearly seventy,
At least he's SIXTY-NINE—
So what's the use?

Redtail Is Just a Minute Too Late To Catch Little Chuck

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Little folks who are running away generally think of but one thing, and that one thing is getting away. It was just that way with the disobedient young chick scampering up the Long Lane toward Farmer Brown's. The only thing he could think of was getting as far as he could before his mother, Polly Chuck, should discover that he had run away. So as he ran he didn't give danger a thought. The only use he made of his eyes was to see where he was going, and now and then look back to see if his mother was coming after him.

Had his father or mother been in his place they would have seen Redtail the Hawk high up in the blue sky. They would have seen him because they would have been watching for him. But the young runaway didn't look up in the sky. It is doubtful that had he seen Redtail he would have had sense enough to hide. More than once he had seen Redtail when his mother had sent him, together with his brothers and sisters, down into their home to be safe. But always Redtail had been so high up in the blue, blue sky that he had looked very small and nothing to be afraid of at all.

The young Chucks had talked about it more than once. "Mother is silly," said the particular young Chuck had said. "She is afraid of nothing. How could that fellow way up there in the blue, blue sky hurt us?" I don't believe in being afraid until I see something to be really afraid of. Such a fraidy as mother is!"

His brothers and sisters had been inclined to agree with him. They listened to all that their mother told them about the dangers of the Great World, but inside they laughed at her. You see they had been too safe. It would have been a good thing to have had some real dangers to frighten them while their mother, Polly Chuck, was about to show them what to do. In this way they would really have learned.

So as the runaway Chuck scampered up the Long Lane he thought of danger entered his head. He was getting tired. You know he was only half-grown, and he had run so fast and so far that he was growing tired. He decided to turn into the bushes on one side and find a place to hide and rest a while.

It was a lucky thing for that young Chuck that he decided to do this just when he did. Had he waited half a minute longer, this story would have had quite a different ending. He saw a little opening and turned into it. Just as he did, there was a terrible sound. It was the wind whistling through the stiff wing feathers of Redtail the Hawk as he checked himself so as not to strike the ground. You see he had swooped down from high up in the sky just a second too late.

The young Chuck caught a glimpse of fierce eyes, terrible claws, an awful hooked bill, and great wings just as he ran under a thick bush. He hadn't dreamed that there could be such a terrible sight. He dropped down flat right where he was, and it was a lucky thing for him that he was under a thick bush. There was a scream of anger and disappointment, and this added to his fright, if that were possible. He had received his first great lesson—the lesson of fear.

A SEARCHLIGHT of 500,000,000-candle power, said to be the largest in the world, was recently erected in San Francisco, California.

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

CORA COOKS THE BREAKFAST.

By JANE OSBORN.

Filbert North and Compton Hilton went down Linden Street at the same time every morning, for they both left home when the 7 o'clock whistles blew. The difference was that Compton, aged fourteen, went busily while Filbert North sailed easily along in his own car. It was exactly the sort of car that Compton was planning to have when he grew up. Then Cora wouldn't have to play for a living for herself and Compton.

Then she wouldn't be away every evening. Then, too, she would be able to go to bed in time enough so she would be able to get up in the morning to eat with Compton. All this Compton was reflecting, for it never occurred to him that they would not always go on living together just as they were then.

In course of time the young factory owner in the automobile saw the young schoolboy swinging along on foot, and asked him to take a lift. This it became Compton's duty to carry Compton as far as the grocery store.

"Gee, but I had something good," Compton told him, as he got in. "Sister made corn muffins last night and I had them warmed up for breakfast. She sure gets nice breakfasts for me even though she does have to get them the night before."

"Wish I had someone to make corn muffins for me," said Filbert with self-pity. Then he explained to his young friend that his aunt, who had been keeping house for him, had gone away for two or three months, and that after she had gone the cook left to get married. So Filbert decided to get along without a cook—just a woman once a week to clean house. First he tried to get breakfast at a downtown restaurant, but didn't like to start out hungry. Then he tried making it for himself, and he was still struggling with his own cooking. Dinner, for instance, he could get them at his club.

"I'd give a good deal for good breakfasts," said Mr. North wistfully. "I'd give another cook, but how'd I know if she was honest? And I'd have to leave her alone in the house."

They sped along in silence for a few minutes. Compton broke the pause. "What would you give for a good breakfast? I mean, what, for instance, did you give when you got your breakfasts out? As much as 25 cents?"

"Nearly a dollar, counting the tip," said Filbert. "I'd give more than that for a good breakfast, though. Breakfast's my best meal."

"Would you give fifty cents?" said Compton eagerly, and as Filbert North's quiet assent he went on: "You see, sister cooks more than enough. She seems to think I've got a terrible appetite, and well, you see you could have breakfast with me and maybe I'd tell her and maybe I wouldn't. And then I'd get the money, not for myself, but, you see, I'm trying to save enough money to get a little car—for sister. I'm getting twenty-five cents a day now she doesn't know about and I'm saving that, and if I could get fifty cents more that would be seventy-five, and after a while I'd have enough to make first payments on a car, and after that I guess Cora could afford to make the monthly payments just from what she'd save in taxi fares. You see she plays the piano nights for dances, teaches music daytimes besides, and quite often she has to take a taxi to go to the place, because she has to get at night alone and when the trolley isn't convenient she takes a taxi. But she can't afford to make the first payment."

Filbert North agreed. At dinner one night not long after Cora looked quizzically at her brother. "Compton, dear," she said, "do you get enough to eat? I mean at breakfast. It seems to me as if I got enormous amounts ready, and I always lay out two or three eggs and make quite a lot of cereal, but there is never a bit left. I don't mind your eating so much, if you can, but I'm wondering if you'd like more. You wouldn't hesitate to tell me, would you?"

Once or twice the boy thought he would tell her all about it. It seemed a little sneaky to be selling part of the breakfast she prepared the night before, but Compton wanted it to be all part of his big surprise.

The next morning, when Compton went downstairs to finish breakfast preparations, he found on taking off the square of linen that covered the breakfast tables that places had been laid for two instead of one. Compton went into the kitchen, opened the refrigerator and, instead of finding a single grapefruit Compton apparently found two. Usually he gave his portion of fruit got ready for breakfast to his "boarder," insisting that he didn't like it anyway—and that was a lunch job.

Compton was a bit preoccupied during breakfast. He was wondering how his sister could have discovered the secret when she probably thought of him for not having told her.

At each place a small breakfast plate was placed, and when Mr. North lifted this plate to one side to make room for his grapefruit, he noticed a small envelope unaddressed. He quickly slipped it into his pocket, and when his young host went into the kitchen to get the corn muffins he had been reheating and the scrambled eggs that he himself had made, Filbert North quickly scanned the note. It was brief:

"Dear Stranger—Since you are a friend of Compton's you are welcome in our house. What she slipped a note does not want to explain. Will you? Yours perplexedly."

"CORA HILTON."

Filbert North reread the letter as soon as he got to the office. And for some reason he left it in his waistcoat pocket and reread it on several occasions that day. As he left the house that morning he slipped a note addressed to Miss Cora Hilton into the letter box on the front porch.

"I have no right to explain," he told her, "but I'm sure you'll be of confidence to Compton. Why don't you ask him outright? I do not think you ought to deprive of what he is doing."

Then followed lines praising Cora's cookery and the expression of Filbert's gratitude. The note was signed simply "Stranger."

Cora read the letter—and that day found occasion to re-read it several times. She was young enough to answer, and the answer was placed beneath Mr. North's plate at breakfast. This followed for a few more days. It was Compton's turn to become suspicious. Then one day Mr. North met Compton with a new automobile. He had gone back to his garage while Compton was clearing up the breakfast. That was the custom.

Filbert asked him if he thought he could learn to run it.

"I haven't been paying enough for my breakfasts," he said, "so I thought maybe you'd take this instead. Cora says you can run it yourself as soon as you get a license."

"Cora—you mean my sister? Stammered Compton. "How'd you get acquainted with her?"

"You introduced us—as much as anyone," said Filbert. "We're pretty well acquainted. We've talked things over and—"

"Well, I don't think it would take me long to learn to drive," assured Compton, willing to postpone the solving of the mystery in the face of the marvel of possessing a car of his own. "How soon you think they'd let me have a license?"

"About as soon as we get our license," said Filbert easily. "Next week, maybe."

"Your license," said Compton. "What you're getting a license for?"

"We're getting a carriage license—your sister Cora and I," announced Filbert. And Compton only whistled and then said: "Oh, shucks."

Members of Eighteenth Decide To Secure Colors At Big Springbank Rally

The glorious memory of the 18th Battalion is to be preserved to posterity by a stand of colors which will soon be placed in St. Paul's Cathedral.

At a reunion and picnic of the veterans of this old battalion at Springbank Park, Saturday, it was decided unanimously to secure regimental flags to commemorate the brave deeds of performance by the unit on the field of battle.

Forty-three months the battalion served in France, uninspired by colors which it could call its own, for the 18th has the unenvied distinction of being the only battalion raised in London and Western Ontario which was not honored by a presentation of flags. The unit organized late in 1914, proceeded overseas early in 1915, before the people of London could reward it justly.

But the men who filled its ranks proved to the world that they could fight even though they had no regimental flag to defend. Their spirit was such that though the battalion entered the bitter struggle in September, 1915, it preserved its identity on the banks of the Rhine. Its ranks were kept intact at a terrible cost, however, for more than 5,000 men were required from time to time to fill the gaps caused by great sacrifices.

And now, though the battalion has been demobilized four years, the men still cling together. Although they have no standard around which to rally, they have held reunions annually since the war years, and so friendships and ties established during great trials have been preserved.

Such a gathering was held Saturday. From all parts of Western Ontario, to the number of 600, they and their wives and children came to spend an enjoyable afternoon in games and races, in recalling incidents of other years and in retelling old stories. It was following the supper, which was served from picnic baskets on long tables, that the meeting was held to decide whether or not colors should be secured. The matter was broached by Lt.-Col. C. M. R. Graham, who acted as chairman for the day. "It seems to me, fellows," he said, "that we of this battalion have a real grievance. No organization has seen fit to present colors to the 18th as a monument to the deeds accomplished, and as something by which our children will remember the part we played in the war."

Have No Colors. "Our children of 20 years hence will go into the churches of the city where the colors of every other battalion hang and they will say, 'History tells us that there was an 18th Battalion also, but we do not see its colors. What became of its flag? Did the Germans get it?'"

"Now I know that we can get colors. All that is needed is a resolution from you fellows that we want one."

Up Spoke H. R. Davidson. "I move that we ask for colors. We of the 18th feel that they should be presented to us. I feel that the 18th did its bit even more than some other battalions have done, so I think the least the city of London could do would be to present us with flags."

"I am a little sensitive about the mention of London," Col. Graham retorted, "for I am a citizen there. You must remember that the official headquarters for this battalion is not London, but Windsor. Lt.-Col. Widge beat us out. We tried to bring it here. In reality the 18th is only a reserve battalion for the Essex Battalion."

Others stated that the London colors felt London should provide them.

Motion Carried.

Col. Graham overruled them, however, by a statement that he thought that he knew where he could get them. The motion then carried amid cheer.

It was decided also that a monster reunion should be held next year on the Saturday before Civic Holiday. Each center in Western Ontario will be asked to organize so that the outing will be made the largest in the battalion's history. Each organization will be requested to make a contribution toward the expenses.

Results of organization were shown this year as far as London, Stratford and Guelph were concerned. Guelph sent some 35 men, 20 of whom were of the original base company which captured The Advertiser trophy during training days. This loyal company which still proudly boasts of its record, came from the Royal City by motor truck. Stratford sent 40 men, while there were representatives also from most every point in the peninsula, as well as Detroit.

The officers present were: Lieut.-Col. Graham, Capt. H. Dickinson, G. Thomas, M.C., and R. Shuttleworth, Lieut. J. C. Frith, M.M., H. Secord and S. L. Gunn, all of London. Unfortunately, Lieut.-Col. Widge, the original battalion commander, who was to speak, was unable to be present.

Feature Sports.

The sports were featured by a baseball game and a tug-of-war. In addition there were all the conventional races with some novelties. A team made up of visitors defeated a London team by a score of 9-7. As the score indicates the game was close, and it was replete with thrills and snappy playing.

The lineups were: Visitors—W. Callander, pitcher; D. Callander, catcher; H. Steenton, McCormick, G. Borland, R. Hall, O. Ziegler, H. Betts, George E. Emmert, F. Betts, Fairbanks and Dunn. London—Robertson, pitcher; W. Gray, catcher; H. Clark, M. H. Hoffman, G. Dickson, W. Ball, W. Stewart, C. Jackson, Rogers, A. Elliott and C. Clarke.

Umpires—H. Barnes and Geddes.

London had little trouble in defeating Guelph at tug-of-war. Following were the teams: London—C. Hesse, A. Thomas, D. Egan, H. Clarke, N. Jackson, M. Noble, A. Elliott, C. Clarke, E. Ball, W. K. Gray, C. P. Horton and C. Jackson. Guelph—J. Lamont, A. Webster, R. Ellis, H. Steenton, R. Mudge, W. Callander, C. Ziegler, W. Geddes, F. Mallison, H. Worlton, H. Peor and D. Callander.

Race Results. Following were the winners in the races: Boys' race, Tuxford, Jackson, Morten; boys' race, Arthur, Snelgrove, Joseph Frith, Clifford Ball; boys' race, Charlie Jackson, Stanley Ball, Arthur Snelgrove; boys' race, William Jackson, Richard Tolhurst, Eddie Ball; girls' race, Kathleen Jackson, Margaret Solis, Dorothy Lech; girls' race, Georgia Martin, Jean Frith, Myrtle Martin; girls' race, Isabel Lindsay, Cora Matthews, Ada Clark; girls' race, Charlotte Grassick, Elith Ball, Florence Smith; young ladies' race, Irene Davis, Edith Ball; married ladies, Mrs. Pitt, Mrs. Sallas, Mrs. Egan; young men's, R. Smout, J. C. McCormick, C. P. Horton; married men's, R. W. Smith, R. G. Robertson and F. Frith; W. Saggah and M. Renwick; D. Egan and Mrs. Egan.

THIRTEEN ARE KILLED IN GERMAN RIOTING

Strike Disturbances Break Out in Various Parts of the Country.

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, Aug. 12.—Provincial centers of Germany report that the high food prices and the scarcity of money are leading to serious trouble in many places. Thirteen persons have been killed and a number wounded in collisions between police and infuriated demonstrators at Neuruppin, near Breslau. At Glatz, Silesia, riots were suppressed easily, but at Novre, three were killed and forty were wounded when the police attempted to disperse crowds which were plundering the shops.

The strike movement in Berlin and elsewhere has taken a serious turn. Because of dismissal of workmen from shipyards and other industries at Stettin a general strike is expected there Monday. Lignite miners at Meuselwitz, near Cera, are on strike and all the mines and industrial works at Stassfurt, Saxony, are idle. A fight took place there between strikers and Nationalists, one man being killed. At Frankenhause, near Erfurt, looting of shops on a large scale is going on.

PRESIDENT WILL NOT PERMIT COAL STRIKE

Chairman of Coal Fact-Finding Commission Goes To Washington.

Associated Press Despatch. Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 12.—President Coolidge will not permit a coal strike, it was said here today after a conference between John Hays Hammond, chairman of the coal fact-finding commission, and Dr. George Otis Smith, a member of that commission, who had hurried to Mr. Hammond's Gloucester home after a conference with the president in Washington tonight.

Mr. Hammond announced after the conference that he would go to Washington to see President Coolidge on the coal situation either Tuesday or Wednesday. It was also announced that a day or so after that conference a joint meeting of anthracite mine operators and miners' officials would be held in New York.

THOUSANDS FROLIC AT PORT SATURDAY

Picnickers and Old Boys Enjoy Delightful Day's Outing At Lakeside.

Special to The Advertiser. Port Stanley, Aug. 12.—The only thing worth while at Port Stanley on Saturday was the lake, that is, if the spot where the masses congregate might be taken as the deciding factor. A thousand would cover the number of people on the hill, but those on the beach and in the lake were innumerable.

The L. & P. S. cafeteria was in great demand, and on the board walk, the flying boats, icees and soft drinks were the chief attractions. The canoes also were busy all day.

On Invererie Heights numerous small private picnics were held, including a reunion of Muskoka people who now reside near St. Thomas and London. About 60 people attended this annual outing, reaching Port Stanley in automobiles shortly after dinner.

The London Hosiery Mills, Ltd., held their picnic here on Saturday with 75 employees present. The chief feature was a ball game between the men and women, which very properly ended in favor of the weaker sex with a score of 12-10. Sports were held on the hill with the following results:

Shoe race—H. Greason, D. Parker, Back and forward race—McKeown and R. Tustin, K. Francis and L. Thompson.

NEW FAIR BUILDING
WILL HAVE 313 BOOTHS

Ninety-Five Per Cent of Total Space Has Already Been Allotted.

The new manufacturers' building in the grounds of the Western Fair has 313 booths for the exhibition of manufactured products. Ninety-five per cent of them have been let, and many of the new exhibitors in the Western are showing products that are quite strangers to the fair. The automobile section is the largest, the history of the fair. For the first time the pure food exhibits are being shown in ideal surroundings where they can be fully appreciated.
The heavy articles are on the ground floor, which has 185 booths, and the top floor houses the lighter products in 128 stands. The difference in the number of booths in the first and second floors is accounted for by the fact that there are large spaces in the first floor which are necessary in such a building to let the light down to the exhibits. The building is 291 feet long by 128 feet in width, and looks even more inside.

DISLIKES PUBLICITY

By HENRY SOMERVILLE.
Special to The Advertiser.
London, Aug. 13.—It is a salutary gift for a man to be able to see himself as others see him, and it is also somewhat interesting to know how others see him. Mr. Peter C. Larkin is not given to writing or talking autobiography, but speaking just after his appointment as high commissioner for London he described himself, in the language of Mark Antony:
"I am no orator.
But as you know me all, a plain blunt man.
That doth love my friend."
Only a few weeks ago, speaking at a dinner in London, Mr. Larkin remarked rather ruefully, that he had been pitted into an onerous public position at a time of life when he might have reasonably expected to be able to take things easily. The high commissioner was not out of respect for the wishes of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier who had long marked out Peter C. Larkin as the Canadian to stand for Canada in the metropolis of the Empire.
Presumably it was towards the speech-making and that art called publicity which which he declared his confidence in his ability to handle the administrative work of the office, for as he said himself, he had had 35 years' experience in the organization of men and things.

Secured Real Premises.
It has been made very apparent in London that Canada is represented by high commissioner who is by temperament and training a business man and not a politician. If Mr.
Larkin's contributions to the oratory of imperialism have not been voluminous he has built up a reputation as a man who gets things done. One of the things he set himself to do from the very first has only just been brought to a successful conclusion:
the acquisition of a worthy building for the Dominion headquarters in London. The old office at No. 19 Victoria street had long been too small and the unimpressiveness of "his headquarters" had been painfully Canadian eyes with the palatial premises that other Dominions have secured.

The high commissioner's search for a habit was a long one. A number of well-known buildings were offered, but Mr. Larkin was hard to please. He had to be satisfied not only with the building and its position, but the price. Vendors who thought that a government buyer could be coaxed into paying a fancy price found that they were up against a very hard bargainer in Mr. Larkin.
One deal, in which a famous bank was the owner of the property, was nearly put through. Every paper in London announced it, and some added the information that the price was a million pounds. Mr. Larkin, however, was not satisfied, and though negotiations
continued until nearly the last moment, when new offers were made,
he refused to allow his hand to be forced.
The negotiations with the bank were broken off, and the high commissioner took as temporary offices the first floor of Kinnaird House in Pall Mall.
These offices are themselves an enormous improvement on Victoria street, but something still better is in sight. Thanks to the pertinacity of Mr. Larkin and the alertness of his lieutenants, Canada has secured the premises of the Union Club, the Travellers' Club, and the Canadian Travellers' Club. The government had the pick of all London it could not have chosen a more ideal site. The building can be made, for its price, as easily as the property has been acquired at an exceedingly moderate price. The interest on the purchase price will be very little more than the rentals already being paid for the present offices leased to the Dominion in London. The high commissioner has done a great stroke of business for Canada.

Aided to Lift Embargo.
The removal of the British embargo on Canadian cattle has been a feature of Mr. Larkin's high com-missionership. Perhaps there is no much difference between a good businessman and a good diplomatist.
Anyhow, Mr. Larkin in the embargo negotiations had a very large hand.
He was asked by the principal of the Arnprior School, who had been dismissed from the important share of others in the affair, it may be said that the result attests the success of Mr. Larkin. British papers will not ask for things unless he thinks he is reasonably entitled to them, but if he does ask he will not be bothered off with evasive answers, but will get a plain yes or no.

During the controversies that have marked the trail of the British Empire Exhibition, interested parties made great efforts to get Dominion high commissioners on their side, and some Dominion representatives did engage in wordy warfare and newspaper correspondence. Mr. Larkin abstained from all public quarrelling.
He made it clear to the responsible authorities that Canada would only help to finance the exhibition if it helped faithfully to its original purpose of demonstrating the resources of the British Empire. But he refused to endorse carping criticisms, such as that the timber used for scaffolding was not empire timber.
"Contractors," he has said, "have used that and over again." He said to a reporter, "Canada is too big to insist that contractors must purchase empire timber for temporary scaffolding. This is a small point, but a terrible amount of fuss was being made about small points, and the Duke of Devonshire, who was trying to pour oil on the troubled waters at the time, was grateful that the representative of the largest Dominion concerned used his influence to sweep petty details out of the path to a broad settlement.

Settle Exchange Dispute.
No single affair has taken up more of the high commissioner's time than the settlement of the exchange dis-

VISITOR THROWS
U. S. WILL APPROVE OF RECIPROCITY

After Next Presidential Election Best Time To Try, Says Archie Kaines.

IF DEMOCRATS WIN

The most auspicious time for the Liberal government to negotiate for complete trade reciprocity with the United States will come after the American presidential election, Archie Kaines, former Londoner, and now one of the foremost financial executives in the United States, declared in an interview today.
Mr. Kaines lived here 40 years ago, returning last week to look up old acquaintances. He is a Democrat and looks confidently to the future of a Democratic government in the country of his adoption next election.
The industrial depression with which Canadian industry is at present confronted would not be in existence, Mr. Kaines thinks, if free trade was in operation between the two countries. In 1911, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier sought a reciprocal commercial pact with the United States, Canada lost a wonderful chance by rejecting reciprocity. But Mr. Kaines believes the prospective American Democratic government will give this country another opportunity to break down the trade barriers between the two nations. If reciprocity comes about, he is confident Canada will experience an unparalleled measure of prosperity.

FINISHED SECOND AND THIRD.
Gerald Davies, London, won the second and third of the Ontario championship bicycle race at Queen's Park on Saturday and second in the mile race for the championship of the city. He also rode in the quarter-mile and five-mile provincial championships.

pute between the Canadian government and the British treasury. The treasury owed Canada a hundred and twenty-five million dollars, and had been owing it for three years when Mr. Larkin came here. The treasury refused to pay except in sterling, with sterling reckoned at par value.
As sterling was far below par at the time, this would have meant a heavy loss to Canada. A few weeks after Mr. Larkin appeared on the scene he secured the remittance of five million dollars a month in Canadian currency, which continued until Canadian currency reached par with American. The final settlement as to the rate of exchange at which the debt should be paid was secured by Mr. Larkin. The final settlement was only made after Mr. Asquith had arbitrated on the matter. The award was not entirely to Mr. Larkin's satisfaction, but he gained a compromise which meant much solid cash to Canada. He fought out the question to the end, though many prominent Canadians, both before and after the award, took the side of the British treasury in the dispute.

There was no essential reason in the nature of things why the debts of Rumania and Greece to Canada should be handled by the high commissioner in London, but the finance department in Ottawa thought they could not have a more competent agent. The results are that Rumania paid half a million dollars interest in a few months ago, and a quarter of a million is to be received from Greece
in the immediate future.
Mr. Larkin's capacity for the rapid despatch of business is marvelled at by those who come in contact with him. He is not a high commissioner in name only, but he is a man who will take things himself, master the details, and come to a decision without circumlocution. Sometimes his assistants are left rather breathless, but if he rushes them and they are generally very sorry. He was once giving the present writer an interview, and there being a couple of minutes delay in the production of a document, he explained that one of his stenographers had been overworked and had had to be given a rest. He said that the over-pressure had been applied without his being aware of it, and I heard him giving the most careful instructions to insure the highest quality of his work. His sense of humor, his keenness of vision, his enthusiasm, for the known to appreciate everything done, and to set an example of strenuous work himself.

Does Not Like Publicity.

The high commissioner, with all his business rigor, is a very human personality. He regards his office as having not only to do with governments and trading corporations, but with all Canadians, high and low, and he is not averse to dealing with the opinion when he first arrived at Victoria street, that the atmosphere was chilling, and even forbidding to visitors. He took measures to change this, and make visitors feel that they were being welcomed by fellow-countrymen, and not frowned upon as strangers. To be of service to others is the high commissioner's hobby, and indeed it is his chief present business in life. To refuse a request is very disagreeable to him. Once when he was asked to St. James' Palace to present a portrait of "Canada's Loveliest Child" to the Queen's Doll House, he was asked by press photographers to pose for a picture. Princess Marie Louise, who desires that nothing should be published about the Doll House until it is ready for presentation to the Queen (though columns have been published about it for a year past in all the newspapers), had begged the high commissioner to give no information to the press representatives who were waiting outside the palace. The high commissioner complied with her wish, and having given a rapid explanation to the reporters, had his car driven away before he could be photographed. He went to some trouble afterwards, however, to apologize to Canadian pressmen for the disappointment he had been compelled to cause them. Nobody could publicly less than Mr. Larkin, but he knows that reporters have to do their daily work of gathering news, and if he must refuse a reasonable request from them he will do it courteously.

Inspired Good Feeling.

The good feeling which Mr. Larkin has done so much to inspire within London was well exemplified at the Dominion Day reception at the Ritz Hotel. Over a thousand people came of all ranks and degrees. Every Canadian was made to feel at home at a great Canadian gathering.
It was a boiling hot day, but Mr. and Mrs. Larkin and their daughter stood at the door for three hours, shaking hands and exchanging friendly words with everyone of the thousand visitors who entered.
It is said that Mr. Larkin does not care for social functions. However, that may be, he performs them in a manner that gives much pleasure to visiting Canadians in London.

SAYS OMISSIONS
IN PENSION BILL
ARE NOT SERIOUS

Hon. H. S. Beland Advises
G.W.V.A. Interest of Veterans Will Be Cared For.

APPOINTS BOARD

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Aug. 13.—Hon. H. S. Beland, minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment, made a statement this morning in relation to the petition submitted to the government by the G. W.
V. A. in regard to his dropping of certain sections from the pension and re-establishment legislation at the last session of parliament.
"The sections were omitted," said Dr. Beland, "and I do not know how it occurred. But the omissions are not serious."
"One section omitted," he went on, "gave the appellant the right to access to the files in his case. It is quite within the power of the minister to allow access to the files without an act of parliament."
"And it will be your policy to grant such access?" Dr. Beland was asked.
"Yes," he replied, "it will be our policy to grant it."
"The other section omitted," he continued, "provided that the successful appellant should have the expenses of his appeal paid. Under the act as it stands tonight, the Senate made a number of amendments, and the appellant has the right to have his expenses paid under such conditions as are set by the governor-in-council. As soon as the board of appeal is appointed and is functioning, we shall pass an order-in-council to give the successful appellant the right to have his expenses paid."

WON SPECIAL PRIZE.
Norman Tucker, 16-year-old London boy, who made a good showing in the Ontario championship bicycle races held at Queen's Park Saturday afternoon. Tucker finished sixth in the five-mile race and third in the mile race for the championship of the city.
He also received Mayor's Wenige special prize for leading at the end of the first lap in the latter event.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Maitland Street Organization
Enjoy Delightful Outing
at Springbank.

The Maitland Street Baptist young people held their annual picnic at Springbank on Saturday afternoon with about sixty present reporting an enjoyable time. Starting off with a football game, everyone enjoyed themselves until Miss Muriel Cough-try, convener of the social committee, had been extra-ordinarily prosperous for 15 years. Canada could enjoy equally good times if she would abandon her high protective trade policy.

Well Known Here.

When a boy, Mr. Kaines went to the Union School, under "Nick" Wilson, along with Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago captain of industry, and other noted persons. He worked in the Bank of Commerce here when that institution was founded by James M. Smith, the founder of the Dominion Bank. He has traveled all over the world in a banking capacity, and in 1914 became president of the great southern financial house after having been founder and chief of the Foreign Bank of New York.
Mr. Kaines is a large, genial man, seemingly far away from the common conception of the shrewd metropolitan banker. He and Mrs. Kaines are staying at the Marlborough Club, planning to leave for New Orleans, their home, in a short time.

CONFESSES MURDER OF BUFFALO WOMAN

Christopher Velcoff Admits Crime, According to Police Officer's Statement.

Special to The Advertiser.

Buffalo, Aug. 13.—After steadfastly protesting his innocence, Christopher Velcoff, Montreal, has confessed to the murder of Mrs. Minnie Breeden, number 1014 Buffalo avenue,
Niagara Falls, New York, last June
7. Deputy Chief of Police Callinan announced today. The alleged slayer, Breeden because she obtained large sums of money from him, and then wished to throw him over for another man.

On the night of the murder, he visited the woman he went into a room that he had occupied to get his clothes and found them missing. He said she had given them to another man. Enraged, Velcoff secured a jackknife, and entered the room where the woman was sitting sewing a lace curtain and attacked her. She fought desperately for her life. Her throat was cut, and her body mutilated. Velcoff told the chief that he intended to cut his own throat, but lost his nerve and fled from the house.

RESTRAINS FERRY SERVICE
FROM SOMBRA TO U. S.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Aug. 13.—Justice Fisher granted an injunction this morning in the case of Wm. E. Meyers, restraining the defendant from operating a ferry between the village of Sombra and Marine City on the St.
Clair River. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant had obtained an exclusive license to operate between the two points, and defendant held that all that was necessary for him to do was to clear the Canadian customs port. The motion was heard last Thursday.

"at home" at their Mayfair house,
and all Canadian visitors to London are sure of one thing: Canada home where they will be welcomed. To prominent and representative Canadians the high commissioner is lavish in his hospitality at the Marlborough Club, that favorite haunt of the late King Edward, membership of which is more exclusive than that of the House of Lords.
The Duke of Devonshire said only the other day that he hoped the present high commissioner would remain in office as long as he was colonial secretary. The same wish for Mr. Larkin's long tenure is certainly shared by those Canadians in London who know how Mr. Larkin is serving Canada.

CLEANING UP SCHOOLS

Summer Vacation Period Has

The board of education has put in a the schools. Several changes have been which is to be used as the foundation of the proposed East London Collegiate organization. The north building of the old Central Collegiate has been

Of the other schools have gone through the floors and generally in making the rooms ready for their next session.

The Trafalgar school will be ready for use by the 1st of September. Capt.

a busy season, and that a large amount of outside work that can only be done at this time of the year has been accomplished.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Aug. 13.—General reorganization of the entire civil service is slowly but surely being carried on. While up to the present there has not been a ripple on the surface of the pool, ministers are active in their various departments taking stock of the situation.
"The ministers are looking over the departments prior to making some morning. "The survey is being made not with the idea of penalizing anybody, but to bring the staff down to a size compatible with efficiency."

Premier Ferguson also stated that there would be departmental reorganization to bring together scattered branches of the service.

BLACK DIAMONDS
NOW TABOO!

Dear Sir:

You started something, when you wrote Ma that you thought she was a little over-enthusiastic about the Moffat.

"Too enthusiastic!" she exclaimed. "Humph! Well, you just write her that such a thing is impossible. She would understand that, if she had slaved for years, as I did, over that hot old coal stove. When I wanted to cook, the fire was always either too low or too hot. And I was always scouring and cleaning. Now there is only half the work—no coal, no dust, no ashes to bother with. And I can keep clean and comfortable while baking.

"Tell her both my health and temper are better. I can go out now for the whole afternoon, and know that when I get home, in just ten minutes water is boiled for the tea, and I can put in a small steak and serve it done to a turn in fifteen minutes. There is no rushing home early and getting into an old house-dress to get the fire started for supper.

"Too enthusiastic, indeed! Well, so far as my kitchen is concerned, black diamonds are forever taboo! The Moffat is so clean, so safe, so reliable—and so economical. It has proven the best most economical range of the times."

That was a lot of speech-making for Ma, Sis, but you struck a tender spot. And, I must say that I am just as enthusiastic a Moffat champion as Ma. When I set up housekeeping, in my kitchen, too. Just think of getting white coal in by wire. None but a Moffat Electric Range for me!

And that's the way you'd feel, too, if you were home. Ma isn't always in the kitchen how. And when she gets through the baking, she isn't just ready to drop as she used to be.

The Moffat patented burners cook at a steady even heat—fast, medium or slow, according to the best method of cooking each particular food. (All switches are three-tactical food, and plainly named on the outside, and plainly named on the outside—high, medium and low.) And I've told you before about the wonderful, one-piece, ventilated, porcelain enameled Moffat oven, and how deliciously it roasts meat—and how deliciously it roasts one pound less (in an average size roast) than ordinary ranges.

The Moffat certainly is dandy, Sis, and it is recognised as the World Standard for Electric Ranges. Nothing else equals it. It has so many exclusive patented improvements, and, although electricity has not been used very many years for cooking, 42,000 women are already using Moffats.

I'd like to see you, too, resolve that Black Diamonds will be taboo in your new kitchen—and that a Moffat Electric will reign instead.

Helen.

P.S. Further information, illustrated literature and catalogues will be furnished by your electric shop or write Moffats, Limited, Weston, Ontario.
