Policy of Progress Outlined by Whitney

ON IT LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVES WILL APPEAL TO THE ELECTORATE,

Many Necessary Reforms Which Will be Introduced and Carried out When They Are Returned to Power.

Toronto, September 3.—In concluding his great speech to-night, Mr. J. P. Whitney, the Opposition leader in the Ontario Legislature outlined the Conservative platform as follows:

Law reform—Divest the division courts many of the anomalies which now hamper its usefulness. Lessen the expense and expedite the results of litigation and provide without further delay one final and conclusive provincial appeal from a trial judge.

New Ontario—The development of the unsettled parts of the province and its resources, as hitherto anticipated by the Opposition should be proceeded with, and the people of the older sections of the province will not object to any reasonable expenditure. A railway to the Temiscamingue district should be added.

Railway Grants—Grants to railways should only be made for development or colonization purposes, and in such cases only after most careful examination into the merits of each application. In every case stocks or securities should be taken for the amount advanced, and freight and passenger rates should be controlled by the local legislature. If money granted by the province by way of bonus to local railways are to be paid back to such provinces by the Dominion Government, Ontario must insist upon justice being done her in the same way.

Minerals—Substantial encouragement should be given to the development and refining of our several minerals, in order that the entire process of refining be carried on here, instead of in a foreign country.

Timber, wood pulp and saw logs—Stock should be taken of our timber resources, in order to ascertain with reasonable exactness the amount and area of our timber wealth so that the people may be in a position to judge of the course pursued by the government and legislature with reference to the most valuable areas. Included in this is the great pulp wood wealth, which should be dealt with as far as possible on the same principle as our timber, and should be disposed of openly by public competition. It is hardly necessary to say that the policy of the opposition regarding saw logs, which has brought such beneficial results, must be continued.

Finances—The financial position of the province is the key to the situation. With her extensive resources the problem of the provincial finances can be easily solved, leaving the way clear for such increased expenditure in agriculture and education as may be found necessary and desirable. This result can be arrived at without periodically selling timber limits or, in other words, capital stock, to cover an anticipated deficit caused by the excess of annual expenditure over annual income.

Agriculture—Grants for agricultural purposes should be increased, especially looking forward to the early establishment of additional agricultural schools.

Food transportation—We should co-operate heartily with the Dominion government in improving the facilities for the transportation of our food products, and our department of agriculture should, without further delay, address itself to the question of the improvement of the breed of our cattle, in order that we may obtain a market in Great Britain for dressed beef, and allow the dressed beef of Dakota to find a market without our assistance.

Education—The public school curriculum must be so changed and framed that the ninety-five per cent of our children who cannot go further than the public school will there receive the best possible education suited to their needs, and having regard specially to the fact that their education begins and ends in the public schools. Under the present system the moulding of character are entirely lost sight of in favor of the machine-like system of written examinations, the effect of which in our system is, as Principal Grant aptly and significantly observes, "to cramp the mind and destroy the vitality." The teachers of the province should be called upon to contribute from their very valuable experience by choosing from among themselves members of a consultative body, which will represent the combined wisdom of the best qualified men in the province, and whose advice will be at the command of the minister. The urgent needs of the University of Toronto should be dealt with in no niggardly spirit. The university should be put upon a sound, stable and permanent footing, and delay in this respect be the sure forerunner of further stagnation and decay. As already indicated, the claims of Queen's University must be considered in capacious or technical spirit, and having regard to the great educational work which it has performed and will perform in the future. The burden imposed upon the people by the frequent changes and the high prices of school books must be lightened.

Municipal law amendment—Owing to the neglect of the government, the volume of municipal law has become cumbersome, involved and unwieldy, and should be thoroughly condensed and revised. The most crying evil in our municipal system to-day is the very unsatisfactory condition of our assessment law. For some time the government has for the reasons already indicated, encouraged a scheme of assessment which would unduly favor certain corporations at the expense of the ordinary ratepayers, the last step towards the accomplishment of which was taken when the premier introduced last session the bill containing the monstrous proposition enabling municipal councils to exempt from taxation the property of certain corporations for three years at a time without the consent of the ratepayers. The fact that the leader of a government dared to submit such legislation, coupled with the fact that he carefully refrained from alluding to it when before the people, is a significant indication of the position of the Government with relation to the great corporations, and a startling intimation to the ratepayers of the province of the dangers that confront them. Will the ratepayers quietly submit or will they give their assistance to the Opposition, so that this question may be settled once and forever in their favor.

Ballot-stealing—While the moral sense of the people of Ontario will, no doubt, soon speak in unmistakable tones and render it very difficult, if not impossible, for a government ever again to hold power by virtue of the violation of the ballot box and the degradation of the evidence of guilt, perpetrators of these crimes and their punishment, yet legislation must be had to render collusion between such criminals, and the beneficiaries of the crimes impossible in the future.

VICTIMS OF BAD BOOZE

Many Prisoners at Police Court all Trace Trouble to Intoxicants.

Judge Houston Hands out Some Good Advice to One of the Unfortunates.

Martin Browning and Agnes Grosse, two well known characters round town, appeared at the police court this morning charged with being drunk and disorderly. Both pleaded guilty and were remanded for a week when a more serious charge will be brought against them.

A young man was also charged with being drunk and disorderly and was fined $1.00 and costs, $3.75 in all.

Walter Stevens, who has several times figured in the police court here and twice served terms of imprisonment in the Central, was charged by Mr. Snider with stealing some chains. It appears that Stevens, who was under the influence of liquor, stole some chains from Mr. Snider and sold them to Harry Ball on the Market Square.

He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year in the Central Prison. Stevens has a long police court record. On August 17, 1891, he was fined for assault; on Oct. 6, 1891, dismissed on a charge of passing counterfeit money; on Dec. 5, 1892, dismissed on a charge of fighting; on Nov. 4, 1895, given six months in Central for breaking windows; on Feb. 2, 1899, given six months in Central for stealing.

In sentencing the prisoner Judge Houston said, "You are very unfortunate. Your whole trouble is whiskey. You seem to have no control over yourself and for that reason I believe you are better in prison than you are out. My advice to you when you get out this time would be to stay away from Chatham and quit drinking and evil associations."

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 4.

THE DUTY OF THE NEWSPAPERS.

The Ottawa Citizen discusses the duty of newspapers in connection with such cases as that of the two clergymen who got into trouble in Syracuse by injudiciously if not criminal action, on lines so fully in accord with the views of this great home journal that we produce the article in part:

The Citizen has heard more or less unfavorable comments on the "prominence" given by the press to the Syracuse incident in which two Canadian clergymen figured. Some people object to it on the ground that the wide-spread publication of such news is injurious to the church and to religion; others demonstrate on the line that the publication injured a number of innocent persons, including the families of the men implicated. Also that it is unfair to spread to such an extent on a case in which clergymen are implicated, when, had they been ordinary business men or the average citizen, comparatively little notice would have been taken of it.

In our opinion none of these grounds are tenable. In fact each is in itself to some extent a reason why much prominence should be given to the case of the newspapers. In the first place it will be admitted that any case which goes into the criminal courts is a fair subject for publicity. If one of the principals in the Syracuse case had not been arrested and tried in a police court there might have been nothing heard of the matter so far as the newspapers are concerned. As for the effect of publication on the church and religion it seems to us that the wide-spread publicity given to such a case is a guarantee to the public that such incidents are of very rare occurrence. The suppression or minimizing of such news would have the contrary, and, to the church, decidedly uncomplimentary and unwelcome effect of creating the impression that such cases are not rare, or that, if they do occur, the press does its best to whitewash them.

The most appealing, if not the most convincing argument, against wide-spread publicity, is that of the injury done to many innocent people. There is no doubt that many of the good and guiltless suffer much pain and distress as a consequence. But the newspaper has a duty to the public. It is not always a pleasant duty, but it is a duty. No small part of the punishment of the man who gets into the hands of the law is the exposure which in these days inevitably follows through the columns of the press. The man inclined to do wrong has before him the deterrent knowledge, that he will not only make trouble for himself, but bring distress and sorrow upon his perfectly innocent family and friends. The knowledge exerts an influence for good in the community. In fact, among the better classes of the community it would not be exaggeration to say that the influence is even stronger than that of the law, because of an appreciation of the wide-spread and far reaching results which do not end with the direct action of the law. There is scarcely a day goes by but friends of persons who appear in the courts bring pressure to bear on the newspapers to have the facts suppressed. **The duty of a newspaper under such circumstances is a most difficult one—a duty and a service to the public which the latter does not as a rule understand or appreciate, and one of the performance of which not infrequently results in pecuniary loss to the publisher. Yet most newspapers perform the duty most conscientiously. It would save them a great deal of trouble to accede to the requests, and few would be any the wiser, but the rule is that the suppression of any one case is an unfair discrimination when the cases of a dozen others are published. On some papers the rule is not an iron one. Cases arise of trivial importance to the community or to society, where it can be shown that the direct material damage to the person and his family will outweigh any good that the publication will do to society. In such cases, after verifying the particulars, the names are withheld.

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales! Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum. positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

An insight into the responsibilities of newspapers in connection with cases such as that at Syracuse will no doubt materially alter the opinions of many people who are prone to accuse the press of sensationalism.

On this auspicious occasion we beg also to remind your Royal Highness that forty years ago your August and Illustrious Father visited these shores—a fact which yet remains as a fond memory in every colonial heart.

In recognition of such that may impress your Royal Highness as being raw and uncouth in the populace, we would plead that the arduous toil of subduing a new world has heretofore engaged a great number of those your Royal Highness may be pleased to see before you, but rough, untutored, and toll-marked though they be, no more loyal hearts can be found anywhere than those which, directed by His Excellency, the present Governor-General—whose future we recommend to your Royal keeping, your Royal Highness—now and herewith and hereby pledge to your Royal Sire and your Royal House their undying loyalty and most dutiful devotion.

Most humbly, etc., etc.

There is no telling what kind of address might be presented by Canadians in their excess of enthusiasm, and so it is not well to leave it to chance. Indeed, the only real safe course would be for His Excellency to authorize an address which could be used by all municipalities.

A former Mayor of Washington, N. J., was fined $1 and costs for using the word "damn" on the public streets. His remark was considered a work of supererogation in Washington, N. J., and he was fined for a willful waste of words.

It was real mean of Richardson—a professional writer—to take advantage of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and make a monkey of the statesman in the letter writing business. If it were a platform discussion, now, the silver-tongued statesman would down the editor in no time. And if he made any slips, Sir Wilfrid would afterwards refuse to be held responsible for "newspaper reports" of his speech. Gab is Laurier's forte.—Hamilton Spectator.

Dear Fellow-Being.—We are proud

After all, why should the people of this country take umbrage because Lord Minto and Major Maude want to revise the addresses to be read to the Duke of York, before allowing them to be presented? They understand how these things are done. Things of this kind are formal. For the purpose of addressing royalty there is a fixed code, as in telegraphing or in signalling by means of flags—how could the people of this country be supposed to understand it if our people wrote their own addresses they might use the simple language of earnestness, and, to the mortification of the well-informed, omit some of the phrases that are habitual on such occasions. It is a kindness to save us from ghoulishities that might be the amusement of the royal court for twenty years to come.

No doubt, too, when His Majesty visits an English city the size of Toronto the same precaution is taken, by having the proposed address revised by some intermediary of Lord Minto's experience and judgment.

Therefore, why should we murmur? But for the kind intervention of His Excellency and Major Maude, Mayor Howland, of Toronto, or some other Mayor might startle His Royal Highness by reading some such address as the following:—

To His Royal Highness the Duke of York:

It is a kindness to save us from ghoulishities that might be the amusement of the royal court for twenty years to come.

No doubt, too, when His Majesty visits an English city the size of Toronto the same precaution is taken, by having the proposed address revised by some intermediary of Lord Minto's experience and judgment.

Therefore, why should we murmur? But for the kind intervention of His Excellency and Major Maude, Mayor Howland, of Toronto, or some other Mayor might startle His Royal Highness by reading some such address as the following:—

To His Royal Highness the Duke of York:

Dear Fellow-Being.—We are proud

and glad to have you visit us because you are heir to the throne around which you may rest assured the colonies stand grouped, and which they are ever ready to guard against attack, it being the symbol and guarantee of that approved and fire-tried system of Government which has staked out this corner lot on both hemispheres and given them as an inheritance to the descendants of our ancestors.

We are proud also to welcome you because forty years ago our fathers welcomed your father, as we hope, our sons will welcome your son in the days to come. It is a prosperous relation that exists between your Royal House and us, and if not a perpetual one, the fault will not be ours.

However, you must be dead tired after travelling so far, and being lionized so much, therefore, we will conclude by saying that you are welcome to all this part of the earth, for we are all as loyal subjects as the peers of England themselves.

P.S.—If ever siblings don't go right in the years to come, flag us.

We are, etc., etc.

But if such an address is submitted to His Excellency and Major Maude they could make a few slight alterations in it with a pen and return it, already for use, like this:

"To His Royal Highness George Frederick Ernest Albert, Duke of Cornwall and York, Duke of Rothesay, Prince of Saxony, Earl of Carrick and Inverness, Baron of Renfrew and Killarney, Lord of the Isles, and Great Steward of Scotland, K.G., P.C.K.T., K.P.J.G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O., LL.D., D.C.L., etc., etc."

"May it please Your Royal Highness,"

"We beg the humble privilege of paying our homage and welcoming your Royal Highness to our land. We humbly and dutifully crave permission to testify to the unwavering loyalty of this part of the dominions of your Royal House round which they form a trusty guard."

On this auspicious occasion we beg also to remind your Royal Highness that forty years ago your August and Illustrious Father visited these shores—a fact which yet remains as a fond memory in every colonial heart.

In recognition of such that may impress your Royal Highness as being raw and uncouth in the populace, we would plead that the arduous toil of subduing a new world has heretofore engaged a great number of those your Royal Highness may be pleased to see before you, but rough, untutored, and toll-marked though they be, no more loyal hearts can be found anywhere than those which, directed by His Excellency, the present Governor-General—whose future we recommend to your Royal keeping, your Royal Highness—now and herewith and hereby pledge to your Royal Sire and your Royal House their undying loyalty and most dutiful devotion.

Most humbly, etc., etc.

There is no telling what kind of address might be presented by Canadians in their excess of enthusiasm, and so it is not well to leave it to chance. Indeed, the only real safe course would be for His Excellency to authorize an address which could be used by all municipalities.

POSSES SEARCHING.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 30.—Posses are scouring Collin, Dallas, Hunt and Denton counties for a negro who, last night, broke into the house of Mrs. Shackleford, a white resident of McKinney. After a desperate struggle, in which she was severely cut and bruised, Mrs. Shackleford drove off her assailant. Posses were at once formed to lynch the negro, but, so far, he has evaded his pursuers. All the negroes in McKinney have been given time to leave town and a serious conflict is feared.

SAVED CHARGES.

Newark, Aug. 31.—The wreck of the southbound passenger train on the Sussex Bay division of the Pennsylvania (Northern Central) last night has resulted up to tonight in the death of eleven persons.

The death of Miss Anna Kane was most pathetic. She was a nurse girl employed by Mrs. Edwin Stancliffe, of this city, and was sent from Sussex yesterday in charge of Mrs. Stancliffe's two little daughters, who were coming to Elmira. When the wreck occurred Miss Kane threw her arms around the children to protect them, while she received the full force of the escaping steam in consequence. As a result, one of the children was uninjured, while the other, though severely burned, was saved from death.

"Nothing, nothing," she replied, trying to blush; "only those are my sentiments."

Holland Customs.

Holland has some peculiar customs. In many towns bulletins are affixed to the doors of houses in which persons are sick in order that their friends may be apprised of the state of their health without knocking or ringing, and in Haarlem the birth of a child is announced by means of a small placard adorned with red silk and lace.

WIFE AND CHILD

Leamington Citizen Visits Detroit in Search of them.

Detroit, Sept. 3.—Wilhelm Christopher Philip, a venerable-looking farmer who lives two miles east of Leamington, Ont., is trying to locate his wife and son, George Johann Ludwig, aged 7 years, and has requested the Detroit police to assist him.

According to Plotz's story he married Mary Ellen Mullen and they lived with their little son on the farm until the Friday before last Christmas, when Mrs. Plotz came to Detroit with the boy with the intention of living with her brother, who, Plotz says, lived at 740 Fourth avenue at the time.

Mrs. Plotz corresponded with her husband, he relates, until about June 1 and then the letters ceased. Plotz tried to find out by letters whether the mother and child were and sent $3 with which Mrs. Plotz might return to the Canadian farm. But the letter, accompanied with the money, was never answered. So, yesterday Plotz came to Detroit on an excursion train for the purpose of finding wife and boy.

THREW CHILDREN FROM WINDOW.

Massy, Ont., August 30.—At 11 o'clock to-day fire broke out in the kitchen of Cyrille King's house, occupied as a dwelling and grocery store. Mrs. King and her children were upstairs when the fire was first discovered, and had a narrow escape. She was unable to make an exit by the stairs, and in her desperation threw the children out of the window and then jumped out herself, but not before she was seriously burned. Everything was consumed by the flames, which spread eastward, burned out the houses of six other families. Their names are: H. Peters, photograph gallery and dwelling; C. Roy, Mrs. A. Sadowski, H. Pierce, H. Macdonald, and W. Snow. All dwelling-houses, entirely consumed. The loss is roughly estimated at $5,000, with very little insurance. It is not known precisely how the fire originated.

BIG PRICES FOR ANIMALS.

A Small Blood Fortune Needed to Buy a Giraffe.

Because of the difficulty of getting it to America and of keeping it alive after it arrives a good giraffe is quoted at $7,000.

Next to the giraffe in the aristocracy of cost come the rhinoceros and the hippopotamus, worth from $4,000 to $5,000 each. If a dealer could breed these animals, he could get rich, but the big mammals rarely breed in captivity. About the only place in America where hippopotami have been known to raise their young is in the menagerie in Central park, New York.

A chimpanzee of size is worth $5,000, and when one reaches the intelligence of the late Mr. Crowley, Chico or Johnny he is beyond a fixed price. The monkey kind are most uncertain property. The animal man says they are certain to die. But the ordinary ones can be bought very cheaply.

One can buy a nice young baby elephant for $1,000 at times, but a really good animal is worth from $1,800 to $3,000. An elephant does not command the maximum price because of the beauty of his figure, his intellectual endowments or his size, but because of a sweet, sunny disposition. A mean elephant is about the most evil of living things. Sooner or later he has to be killed, usually after he has slain two or three keepers and done more damage than he is worth. Of two animals of equally good disposition the larger and finer commands the higher price, of course, but the most magnificent beast with an inclination for murder isn't worth as much as a very common one that is trustworthy and is, ordinarily so, for the sweetest tempered have days when they seem inspired of Satan.

The female red grouse is said to vary its dress according to surroundings. It is a fact worth remembering that the red grouse occurs in no other part of the world but the British isles. No one has been able to give a satisfactory reason for the formation adopted by the wild duck or mallard in flight. The birds arrange themselves in two converging lines, like a huge V, the leader occupying the point.

The ostrich is a descendant of a genus of bird which in prehistoric times attained an enormous size. In the aluvial deposits of Madagascar evidence has recently been found to show that ostriches 14 and 15 feet in height once lived on the island.

Stevenson's Cup of Misery.

R. L. Stevenson, writing in 1893 to George Meredith, in an epistle quoted in a new edition of his "Letters," says, with heart touching pathos: "For 14 years I have not had a day's real health. I have wakened sick and gone to bed weary, and I have done my work unflinchingly. I have written in bed and written out of it, written in hemorrhages, written in sickness, written torn by coughing, written when my head swam for weakness, and for so long, it seems to me, I have won my wagger and recovered my glove. I am better now—have been, rightly speaking, since first I came to the Pacific, and still few are the days when I am not in some physical distress. And the battle goes on—ill or well is a trifle so that it goes. I was made for a contest, and the powers have so willed that my battlefield should be this dingy, inglorious one of the bed and the physio bottle. At least, I have not failed, but I would have preferred a place of trumpetings and the open air over my head."

The Life Line in One's Hand.

There are three prominent lines in the palm—the line of life, that of the head and the heart line. The line of life begins on the inner boundary of the palm, about midway between the thumb and the forefinger. If we imagine the left hand to be a map, with the fingers pointing north, this line runs toward the southeast, then curves toward the south and in some hands curves finally toward the southwest. It thus skirts the base or "uprise" of the thumb, known as the uprise of Venus. If it is deep, broad, of good color and extends nearly or quite to the wrist and if the rest of the hand indicates vitality and cheerfulness, the subject may be expected to live to a green old age; he has a good disposition and the qualities which good health and good temper usually create.

Crane Island.

In Lake Minnetonka, Minnesota, there is a picturesque island which takes its name from the fact that it is uninhabited by man and given over to the cranes. Generations back these birds decided upon this spot for a summer resort. As times went on and the surrounding islands populated no man had the heart to disturb them, until now Crane Island is pointed out from passing boats as one of the curiosities of the northwest.

Shaves and Colds.

It is not generally known among men that close shaving is apt to bring on a cold. Barbers, however, are acquainted with this fact, and it is rather on account of it than through any desire to bring their patrons back soon again that they do not, unless ordered to, administer close shaves.

Some colleges place in positions twice as many students as they have in attendance each year. We have not yet learned how to do that. Thoroughness is the keynote in this school, and, as a result, our graduates, who are to be found in nearly every town and city of Canada, and the United States, have been thoroughly prepared for their work, and are giving perfect satisfaction to their employers. Another of our graduates has just entered upon his duties as principal of the shorthand department of a large commercial school in Wisconsin at a salary of $900. We still have five requests for teachers on file that we cannot fill. Young people should not delay to prepare for these positions.

Fall term begins Sept. 3rd. H. T. GOUGH, Principal, St. Thomas, Ont.

If interested, write for the handsome catalogue issued by any business College on the continent, and for a list of where these 300 pupils were placed.

Within the past few days we have received three calls to supply commercial teachers for other colleges, besides several calls from business houses for office help.

The graduates of this school are not to be found anywhere seeking positions in vain. IT WILL PAY THE STUDENT to keep this point in view.

We pay the tuition rate up to $50 to students from a distance. Good board at $2.50 per week for girls and $3.50 for ladies.

MAIDENS MIX IN UGLY ROW

Resume Their Favorite Pastime in a Railroad Coach with Large Audience.

Fists Flew Hither and Thither, Accompanied by Screams and Hair-pulling Antics.

Some little time ago a very realistic affair—the pugilistic and hair-pulling order—centred at the precincts of the reported disreputable domicile on Queen street. It was within the jurisdiction of the city police and they took an official hand in the proceedings.

As a result Judge Houston handed out several large-sized assessments against the principals in the highly-colored police court case which followed.

The "recreation" was, however, continued on Monday evening with a judicious change of venue. The scene was this time laid in the passenger coach on the Lake Erie excursion train returning from Port Lambton, on Monday evening. A careful calculation showed that it was many miles from the corporation limits of Chatham at the time.

The tug started after the train left Port Lambton. It happened in this way. Two young men, both from Chatham, were sitting in a double seat in company with a couple of girls of alleged unsavory character. Fun and frolic ran high until they were abruptly interrupted by other youths upon whom the green-eyed monster of jealousy had thrown its spell.

In other words they wanted to share the fun.

This did not meet the entire approbation of the exclusive original quartet who hinted this in powerful eloquence and by unique Delsarte movements.

During the warm discussion which naturally followed, several quarts of gore were spilled, finger nails were used to exceptional advantage and hair dressing proved to be a lost art.

A number of disgusted passengers were forced to witness this disgusting scene and hear the language which fortunately is not a characteristic of respectable citizens.

SCHOLASTIC SENSATION

Miss Dawson Springs One by Turning in her Resignation Unexpectedly To-day.

Was Dissatisfied With the Position Allotted to her by the Recent Re-arrangement of Classes.

There is trouble in the Public School educational camp and it reached a climax this morning.

It is said to have originated in the reconstruction of the South Chatham classes, which had just been consummated by the Board, and will, unfortunately, cause more or less bitterness on both sides.

It seems that Miss Dawson, the late principal of the Queen street school, is dissatisfied with her present position and handed in the keys to the managers this morning.

Mr. Fleves, principal of the South Chatham school, when questioned on the matter by The Planet, said, "Miss Dawson handed in the keys this morning without reason, as far as I know. She taught the same class for the class she is now teaching before any change was thought of in the Queen street school. Miss Dawson, as far as I know, had no objection at that time."

Miss Mackaberry has been appointed by the Principal, Inspector and managers of the school to take Miss Dawson's place permanently and the work of the school will go on without any interruption whatever.

Miss Dawson, when interviewed by The Planet as to the reason for her action, said, "I was principal of a three room school. Mr. Fleves was given the principalship of both the schools. Miss Mounteer, who was the principal of a few room school and who was teaching a class higher than mine, is given a class higher than mine and I consider my position was taken from me. I sent a communication to the School Board last evening and no redress was given, hence my action this morning."

Miss Dawson has been upon the Public School teaching staff of this city for many years and her unexpected and sudden resignation came as a regrettable surprise.

Liberals of South Bruce will meet in convention at Formosa on Tuesday, Sept. 10, to nominate a candidate for the Legislative Assembly.

East Algoma Liberals will meet in convention at Sault Ste. Marie on Friday, Sept. 13th, to nominate a candidate for the Legislative Assembly.

The Village of Boucherville, Quebec, has celebrated the 100th anniversary of the erection of its church and the 200th anniversary of the foundation of the convent.

J. C. Brown, M.P.P. of New Westminster, has been sworn in as a member of the Dunsuir Cabinet, and Mr. McBride, Minister of Mines, who opposed Mr. Brown's selection, has resigned.

United States Still Adding to its Negro Burning Attrocities.

Troy, Ala., Sept. 3.—Bill Fournery, alias Bill Hillyard, a negro, charged with assaulting Miss Wilson, at Chestnut Grove, was shot and his body burned by a mob near the scene of his crimes to-day.

Miss Wilson, who is 16 or 17 years of age, and the little daughter of Dr. Carroll, about 12 years of age, were seized by a mob on Monday, Sept. 3, just across the line, in Coffee County, when they were overtaken by the negro. He seized Miss Wilson and the little girl ran off. As she did not the negro fired his pistol at her, but missed her.

The little girl raised the alarm, and a posse was in pursuit of the negro. When they reached the scene of the crime they found Miss Wilson unconscious and terribly bruised in the face and about the head.

The posse tracked the negro to his home, where he was found in bed, saying he was sick. The little girl identified him and he was then taken out and shot and his body burned.

Miss Wilson is in a precarious condition. The sheriff with three deputies, left to-night for the scene of the crime.

It is reported that King Edward will confer a dukedom on Lord Salisbury at the coronation.

Proof of Ventilation.

With every pair of Resilia Soled Shoes is provided a test whistle, attached to a tag, bearing printed instructions.

Insert this whistle into the heel valve, and when foot is lifted, the whistle sounds out sharp and clear, as if blown through.

When foot is borne upon, the whistle is mute, because the valve will not permit the air to go out where it comes in, and so compels it to circulate up around the stocking, and out at boot top.

This is an absolute proof that as much fresh air enters the shoe as could be blown through the whistle.

MISSION OF GOOD LADIES

The Hospital Assisting Society is Engaged in One of Labor and Love.

The Nurses Home to be Opened on Sept. 12—An Opportunity for Citizens to Assist.

The poor "child in Dickens' story who thought the "hospital was 'heavenly' has had many companions in the years that have elapsed, who have experienced the same impressions and with increasing reason.

The hospital, though even then a blessing, is now a paradise in comparison. Chathamites can well realize this with their two splendid buildings, perfectly equipped and magnificently managed, and it should prove a privilege and a pleasure to exhibit practical encouragement to the good ladies, whose devotion and energy have contributed so much to the present prosperity of the institutions and to the great good work they are enabled to accomplish.

The Ladies' Assisting Society held their regular monthly meeting yesterday at the residence of Mrs. T. K. Holmes, a large number of members being present. In the absence of the president Mrs. G. G. Taylor presided. Mesdames Rennie and Morley reported that during July 36 patients were admitted, 33 discharged, 1 death, average for month 27; in August 30 patients were admitted, 22 discharged and 3 births; in at present 38.

The nurses' home, which has been undergoing extensive improvements, will be opened on Sept. 12th, and the ladies intend giving a lawn social and tea, thus giving all a chance of inspecting the home and seeing for themselves the splendid work being done by the above named society. The addition to this home has cost considerable besides the extra expense of furnishing, and if any friend of the hospital would like to donate furniture, bedding or anything that would be used the same would be very thankfully received.

After refreshments the meeting adjourned to meet the last Monday of this month at Mrs. Phillimore's.

A DRAW.

The local lacrosse team visited Thamesville Monday and played with the team there. The game resulted in a score of 2-2. The boys have no reason to complain of the hospitality extended to them by the Thamesville boys and report having had an exceedingly enjoyable time.

The following players represented Chatham:—McNab, Elliott, McLeod, Williston, Brundage, Summers, Patterson, Wrigley, Coupland, Newman and Wilson.

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid damp feet, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Polson's Nerviline as an absolute reliever of rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than other remedies, its power over pain is simply beyond belief. Buy a large 25 cent bottle to test it, and see if this is not so. Polson's Nerviline always cures rheumatism.

HARVEST HOME.

The annual Harvest Home services of the Zion Methodist Church, at Tupperville, were held last Sunday and Monday. The Rev. T. T. George, of this city, officiated during the Sunday services and gave two eloquent and instructive discourses.

On Monday evening the regular tea meeting was held. On Sunday the congregations were large, but on Monday the church would not hold the number who sought admittance. An excellent program was given. Rev. Mr. George and Rev. Dr. Cook, of Wallaceburg, gave addresses, which were greatly appreciated. The officers who took part in the program were, J. B. Dundas, a reading; Mr. Shaw and Mrs. Dundas, two duets; Miss Dolson, Bridge End, a solo; and Miss Johnson, of Dravna, Miss Mrs. Thornton, of Dresden, and Miss M. Johnson, of Tupperville, solos.

The church at Tupperville is in a very flourishing condition and well served the prosperity it is enjoying under Rev. Knowles, the present pastor.
