BIG RAILWAY PROJECT.

To Connect Hudson Bay and Buenos Ayres.

Guthrie, Ok., Aug. 25.-Plans for a gigantic railroad with a trunk line connecting Hudson Bay with British Columbia and Buenos Ayres, South America, and having a network of branches, was disclosed, when articles of incorporation of the Pan-American Railroad Company, with a capital stock placed at $250,000,000 were filed here with the Secretary of the Territory. The purpose of the corporation, it is said, is to build a line of railway extending from Port Nelson, Hudson Bay, in a southerly direction, crossing the line of the Canadian Pacific near Winnipeg, thence through the Dakotaa, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory to Galveston, through Mexico to the Isthmus of Panama, through Colombia to Ecuador, and finally through Peru to Buenos Ayres.

FIFTY BURNED TO DEATH

TERRIBLE RESULTS OF A FIRM AT BUDAPEST.

Sixteen Victims Jumped For the First Nets, Missed Them, and Word Instantly Killed.

Budapest, Aug. 25, I a.m.—Between and 50 persons were burned to death, according to reports at this hour, in a fire last night in a four-story building The lower floors of the building we occupied by a fancy goods firm and the upper floor as residential flats. There were 200 working people in the building, and the escape of many of them and of the residents on the third and fourth floors were cut off. The ware-house contained piles of flimsy material, and the flames spread with great ial, and the flames spread with great rapidity. Only the work people sear the doors below were able to escape. The residents above, seeing their escape cut off, clung desperately to the windows, screaming for help. Fifteen persons were saved by jumping into fire nets. Many in jumping missed the nets, thirteen being killed in this way. Sixteen others were mortally and nings seriously injured. Several buildings near by caught fire, but the firemen extinguished the flames in these before heavy damage had been done.

London, Aug. 25.—The decision of the Congregation of the Propagands to propose to the Pope the appointment of Bishop Bourne of Southwark to the Archbishopric of Westminster somewhat surprised the English Roman Catholics. He was the third choice of the Bishops, who nominated him by a majority of only one vote. Since he became Bishop of Southwark Monsignor Bourne had been energetic, but he was considered arbitrary, especike was considered arbitrary, especially in regard to the finances of the diocese. On one occasion he publicly declared that he was accountable therefor only to God and the Pope."

ADRIANOPLE MASSACRES

Many Christians Slain, Others in Flight.

Sofia, Aug. 25 .- Travellers who have been arriving since Monday from Adrianople state that a massacre of Christians took place in that town on Sunday morning. According to one account, the guns of the forts opened fire on an insurgent band which had attacked a military outpost in the neighborhood. A panic followed in the town. The Mahommedan population fell on the Christians and slaughtered them. Another version states that a Turkish officer endeavored to force an entrance into a Bulgariam house for the purpose of molesting one of the inmates. The latter resisted, whereupon the Mahommedans became excited, and, with bands of soldiers and Bashi Bazooks, attacked the Bulgarian quarter of the town. The foreignt Consuls, it is stated, energetically pro-tested to the Vali, who declared his in-ability to check the fanaticism of the Mussulmans.

& STEPHENSON - Proprietor.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 25. PASSING OF LORD SALISBURY

Although a year has elapsed since Lord Salisbury surrendered the reins of power, and he has, agreeably to his cratic vie wish, passed the sunset of his life in retirement, the death of the British statesman comes as a shock to us all, and figures as an event of wide Imperial significance. Public men are, as a rule, soon forgotten when they cease to play an active part on the stage of human affairs. Their place is taken by others, and they are relegated by the force of circumstances very quickly to the background. But Lord Salisbury was too prominent and too distinguished a figure to lose interest when he no longer had the leadership and direction of the Empire. He was the personification of a long chapter of British history, the last great statesman of the Victorian era, and a directing influence in the wider sphere of international politics.

Of such slow and imperceptible growth were the reputation and influence of Lord Salisbury that few of his contemporaries obtained a true measure of the stature of the man. It is the fortune of some leaders to spring at a bound into public favor, and at once to overshadow and overawe both friends and foes. By an outburst of brilliancy the public is dazzled and enslaved. Hence the great vogue that obtained and retained for so long a period. They were popular heroes, whose admirers might almost be classed as worshippers. Lord Salisbury was never a popular hero. His systematic self-effacement, the seclusion of his life, his avoidance of publicity, preclude hero worship, but gave a special piquancy to his career. We do not know whether history will place Salisbury in the same category as Beaconsfield and Gladstone. Many critics of to-day hold that in comparison with those leaders he was a lesser light. Yet when we consider the work and the achievements of the man we are bound to award him a high rank among the foremost statesmen of the Empire. In-length of public service Salisbury was equaled only by Walpole and Pitt. His greatest work has been the rehabilitation of the foreign prestige of his country. Beginning with the Peace of Berlin, we find him exercising a growing power for good during all the succeeding years over the affairs of the world. The hatred of England which Palmerston had inspired, and the somewhat contemptuous opinion of the British which Gladstone had invited, were gradually changed into a wettled respect by the firm and conciliatory attitude of Salisbury. Europe came to listen to him as to no other stactesman. In his earlier days Lord Salisbury had declared that the greatest defect of British diplomacy was that its negotiations were carried on in a glass hive. As a foreign Minister he consistently maintained whate he believed to be the necessary degree of reserve, and even secrecy. Farreaching settlements were quietly effected with rival powers. Possible causes of friction were silently negotiated away. Thus the Empire was placed in a position of greater security. War was sometimes averted by firmness, and sometimes by a judi-Bious yielding. Whatever differences of opinion may have existed from time tween the political camps in Great Britain, they united by commending the patriotism and the ability of Lord Salisbury whenever he had to deal with foreign questions. Hence, on his retirement from office recently, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman was able to say "that in his dealings with foreign affairs, and with international questions, he has again and again earned our applause and approval and confidence." This, too, from a keen and active political opponent. But Lord Salisbury was a national even more than a party leader. In his first political address, nearly fifty years ago, he declared that his aim was above "the more dim of party politics." Beyond the success of his party or of himself he always placed the welfare of his country. Lord Salisburg was a thorough Imperialist. His conception of the mission of Great Britain was lofty and ennobling. Yet he was intensely practical. He would have British diplomacy amply backed by ships and by guns. So he was mainly responsible for the reconstruction of the fleet and the restoration of British sea supremacy. To Salisbury these were greater than any domestic matters. He had seen Mr. Gladstone fall through the attempt to solve the Irish question. With that lesson in Irish question. With that lesson in view, and width his natural bent towards the mastery of world problems, he applied the undoubted power of his intellect towards the making of Britain great abroad. Too conservative to alter the traditional fiscal policy, there was still a founch of regret and prophecy in his remark that free trade had made it impossible for Great Britain to obtain commercial

The Revolution Predicted by The Times' Correspondent.

New York, Aug. 24.—The Sun the following from London:-The Times publishes a long, closely rea-soned article from Madrid discussing the political situation and the army of Spain, from which it is evident that the writer expects a revolution in that country at no very distant date. It must be admitted that the actual events and conditions described in this letter justify the most serious apprehensions. All classes of the people, peasants, bourgeoise and artisans, have lost respect for the Government, and owing to a variety of causes, notably the failure of the most recent speculations, are suffering from extreme economic depression. The Republican party, taking advantage of the spirit of discontent which is pervading the civil, military and naval classes, has drawn them into its movement, and the correspondent states that, showing audacity with which in modern Europe there is nothing to compare, the forces of the revolution, from Bilbao to Jerez and from Cadiz to Barcelona, are forming up in the open. Even Madrid is becoming a citadel of the revolutionary propaganda and intrigue. The Spanish Socialist party, which has heretofore been a bitter enemy of the Republican party, has at a general assembly voted to ally its forces with the Republicans in the coming elections. of Spain, from which it is evident that City of Grand Rapids advertised a Sunexcursion from Buffalo to Port Colborne and return Sunday, but the steamer was not allowed to land her steamer was not allowed to land her passengers owing to the boat being unable to obtain a clearance from the custom authorities here. A great many farmers had driven in to meet the boat, expecting to see their children and friends. One old lady in the garb of a Mennonite asked why the law was not changed, as surely there was no harm in people coming by boat on a Sunday to see their relatives and friends. She said she knew her daughter was on the boat and she wanted to see her. The steamer came as far as the new breakwater and turned to go back to Buffalo with a disappointed party on board.

Endeavorers at Stratford.

Stratford, Aug. 23.—The 1903 convention of the Ontario Christian Endeavor Union will assemble in Stratford on Tuesday, Wednesday and deavor Union will assemble in Stratford on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 29, 30 and October I. The convention of 1900 was held in Guelph, and not since that time has the convention been held in western Ontario, and a great deal of interest is centred with this meeting. Father Endeavorer Clark, the man that Canada gave to Christian Endeavor, is expected to be present, as is also the new General Secretary, Von Vogt, and these men, coming as they do direct from the firing line, and with new enthusiasm gained at the great Denvet international, the convention promises to be very inspiring and helpful to all who attend. Reduced rates have been secured on the convention plan and tickets will be good to go on September 25th and 'eturn October 5th, and if 300 or more attend (which is more than likely) the rates will be single fare for the round trip from all Ontario points to Stratford.

Russian Soldiers Fire Upon Crowds of Strikers.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.-A general strike began at Ekaterinoslav. The troops, who were summoned to restore order, met with a hostile reception, but dispersed the crowd after firing a few shots. Next day the tramway and railroad traffic was stopped; the newspapers did not appear, and the factories were surrounded by troops. Thousands of strikers gathered in the market place, and a collision with the military place, and a consion with the initial occurred. Eleven strikers were killed and twelve wounded before order was restored. The Governor has announced that work will be generally resumed to-morrow. A law legalizing strikes is in preparation.

When they are it is generally due to biliousness or indigestion. But women have headaches which seem peculiar to their sex, frequent nervous throbbing headaches. Does it not seem as if such headaches peculiar to women must be at once related to womanly disease? Women who suffer with diseases peculiar to the sex do not realize the drain of vital strength and nerve force they undergo as a consequence of disease. It is this which causes the familiar headaches of sick women. ige, tired of long inaction, comes forth from his izba and looks abroad. Strange thoughts have been stirring in him for several months, recollections of a vow that he once made that, if heav en willed, he would one day worship in certain monastery and there venerate the relics of its saints. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures such headaches by curing the cause—irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness. "Favorite Prescription" invigorates and tones up the entire system, encourages the appetite, quiets the nerves and gives refreshing sleep.

Innumerable are the sacred places in Russia and out of Russia which the pilgrims visit. On the sterile tundras that end in the lonely strand where the waves of the White sea fling their foam upon the walls of the Solovetsky monastery; on the quays of Odessa, awaiting the steamer that will carry them to Jaffa, or on the monotonous straight roads that for verst upon verst lead by forests of white stemmed birch or so ber pine to the resting place of St. Serge, near Moscow, or of the saints serge, near Moscow, or of the saints who sleep in the catacombs of Petchersk at Kiev, there may be seen bands of pilgrims, staff in hand, journeying on foot, through poverty or in accordance with a vow, to their far-off goal. The men often wear clumsy but comfortable shoes of plaited bark stockings fastened round the leg with string, breeches reaching to the knees and wide, baggy, flowing coats attached to the weitt with a colored belt.

At night they sleep where they can, in a monastery or perhaps in sheds that have been erected for them by the road, and when they wish to drink they stop and ask for water at a peasant's hut, where they are respectfully received. If they are short of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire visited Ottawa and were entertained read the poor moujik will give them some, if he has any, for the charitable instinct of the people in Russia is inextinguishable. And perhaps, too, they will render some service to the homes that they visit. Tolstof has described a pilgrim to the Holy Land who found a whole family dving of starvation and set them up again. And when Saturday arrives, and all good people are bound by their religion to take a bath, then men and women will plunge into the river regardless of the want of bathing machines and careless of all bathing regulations.

Glad, after this interminable march of many weeks, is the Russian pilgrim when he sees far off, flashing against the azure sky, the domes of the churches of the holy places where he is to worship, and be a town, like Kiev, that stands on a range of wooded hills, breaking the monotony of the endless plain. Singing a more joyous hymn, he approach es eagerly, for he knows that there are food and lodging assured him at his destination. At Jerusalem there is an immense convent built, supported by the Russian government, which is well aware of what the pilgrims do to in-crease Russian influence and her reputation in the Holy Land. At Solovet-sky there is a hotel with sloping counters that serve as a resting place. At the lavra of Petchersk, the oldest of the Russian monasteries, there has been a house for the poor since the eleventh century. Some of the pilgrims are accommodated in rooms that resemble well kept haylofts, and each one has a locker, where he may sit during the day and sleep at night. There is a hospital there, too, with eighty beds, and a special wing for those whose ailments are not of a serious description.
And for three days pilgrims are lodged and boarded free, and many are allow ed to come and go just as they will.

Lang's Literary Output.

Andrew Lang held at one time what must have been very nearly a world's record in literary output. His regular weekly work was six leaders for a morning newspaper, two humorous sketches for an evening journal, two long articles, two book reviews and a tribution to a weekly illustrated pa In addition to this he devoted four hours every day to what may be four hours every day to what may be called pure literature. He turned out books at the rate of three a year or even more. In 1890, for instance, there appeared from his pen the "Red Fairy Tale Book." "Life, Letters and Diaries of Sir Stafford Northcote," "How to Fail In Literature" and "Old Friends." For weeks together his work would everage 25,000 words a week. Keep Minard's Limment in the

GRAID TRUNK MEETING. Increase of Four Per Cent. Stock

Voted. Londo, Aug. 25.—A special meeting of the shreholders of the Grand Trunk Railway | Company of Canada was held at the Canno Street Hotel the Presidency of Sir under Charles Rivers Wilson, to secure the assent of the shareholders to the acceptance of the provisions of the act passed a the present session of the Dominica Parliament, and the passage of a resolution to authorize the direc-tors to create an issue of 4 per cent. guaranted stock under the powers of the act. Sir Charles Rivers Wilson outlined by reasons for these tables. outlined he reasons for the act, which provides for an increase of the 4 per cent. guaranteed stock from the present authorized amount £5,200,000, to £10,000,00. The directors recommended the acceptance of the proposal, mended the acceptance of the proposal, to enable he capital expenditure of the company o be provided as was found necessary, without having recourse to the issue of perpetual 4 per cent. debenture at the sack, as heretofore, thereby obviating dditions to the fixed interest charge of the company. The directors fel that it was not desirable, Sir Charle explained, to create more fixed charges, and the new issue would strengthen the junior securities.

The rescution was adopted with but one dissentient voice.

RELIANCE BY MERE EYELASH

Beats Shamrock To-Day by 41 Seconds in Magnificent Race.

rish Boat Led on Second Leg-Bad Start Apparent Cause of Defeat.

New York, Aug. 25.-The local weather bureau officials are in receipt of the following from Washington :- "To observer, New York-The winds Tuesday over the international yacht race day over the international yacht race course will be light to fresh and variable, though mostly from some easterly point. Unsettled weather, possibly showers. (Signed) Frankenfield."

After having removed 1,100 pounds of ballast and taken on board a cable and anchor weighing that much, the Shamrock III. was measured in a dry dock in the Erie Basin. The net result was that there was no change in the time allowance of 1 minute and 57 seconds. The challenger was just three one-hundredths of a foot shorter than before the change, and that difference was not sufficient tomake a second's increase or decrease in the time allowance. Her load water line length is now 89,78 feet and her racing length 104,375. A new main boom, measured to-day, was no longer than the old oge.

The following bulletins are from the special wine of F. B. Proctor, the enterprising King street stock and commission broker. Planet readers will appreciate Mr. Proctor's ers will appreciate Mr. courtesy in supplying them:

TO-DAY'S STOCKS

New York, Aug. 25-3.00 p. m.-The stoc kmarket continued dull and rather narrow to-day. The specialties attracted the bulk of the attention, New York Central, Pennsylvania and St. Paul being quiet conspicuous in this degree.

There was some mixture of opinion with regard to these stocks and in some instances there were bearish arguments, while in others there were bullish comments. The yacht races kept a good many people away from the street, and professional business was less prominent. The London market was strong and foreign interests were credited with being bullish on American stock. The purchases through arbitrary houses was quite fair at times.

The domestile news generally was favorable, especially as far as the with the exception of moderate movements in the specialties. The general market in the latter part of the day was slow, but the more active issues showed a disposition to follow the tendency of the high class specialties. The late news was given but little attention, discussions for the most part hinging on the yacht races. Outside stocks were slow and dill, with a small demand, while bonds were generally irregular and quiet.

IMAGINATIVE GIRLS

Last night, about ten o'clock, while a couple of Maple City young ladies were going home on Queen street mear the C. P. R. track they were startled to hear two shots fired just across the street. One man was apparently chasing another and fired at him. The first man eluded his pursuer in the darkness. He crossed the street at the corner of Queen and Harvey streets and got away. The electric light was out at the corner. The man who had done the shooting walked back on the south side of the road and passed the girls quite close. It was so dark that they couldn't distinguish his features but could see that he was hatless and breathing hard. This morning P. C. Dodson went to investigate. Mrs. Dineen, who lives in the double house next the C. P. R. track, said that there were no shoots fired but that two cannon crackers were fired off. The girls, however, say that they know the difference between fire-crackers and pistol shots. Mr. Dodson found no evidence of fire-crackers having been fired.

MR. TREADGOLD CALLED Mr. Treadgold, called by Dr. Catto,

proceeded at yesterday's sitting of the commission inquiry. Counsel tor the Board of Trade, which is presenting the case against the concessions, distinctly repudiating calling him, and saying that his calling was not in accordance with their wishes. The opponents of the concessions are much disgusted with the actions of Dr. Catto and Mr. with the actions of Dr. Catto and Mr. Clarke, which are, they say, greatly damaging the cause of the people. Mr. Treadgold proved an admirable witness in his own behalf. At the request of Commissioner Judge Britton he outlined his water scheme for the first time. It is, indeed, an enormous affair, involving an initial expenditure of quite two millions of dollars, with possibly as much more later. The scheme consists of a gravity system to divert four thousand inches from Rock Creek, divided between Hunker and Bonanza, divided between Hunker and Bonanza, as far as the forks, and covering all hills and benches from the latter forks to the mouth, also a pumping scheme to take eighty thousand inches from the to take eighty thousand inches from the Klondike at the mouth of Bear Creek and carry it in four miles of flume at a cost of a hundred thousand dollars initial cost; to generate three thousand horsepower and deliver by pump an additional three thousand inches on Bonanza. Mr. Treadgold said he has already spent upwards of one hundred thousand dollars to have surveys made by Sir Thomas Tancrede.

A KNIGOT EMBANT.

Du Chaillu's High Autol of Womanhoed and the Obligations It Imposed on the Great Traveler.

Perhaps the finest thing about the ate Paul du Chaillu was his high ideal of womanhood and the obliga-tions it imposed upon him. His con-victions were chivalrous enough for the days of knight errantry, says a Paris letter.

He would stand bareheaded in the He would stand bareheaded in the winter winds if conversing with a woman on the street, and he was constantly protesting against the breaking down of the old time standards of manners. His refined instincts and habitual deference kept him to the end very much of a beau in the best sense. There was nothing he enjoyed more than escorting a party of young girls to a matinee. "Tis just like being in a flower garden," he would explain. His weakest trait was bound up den." he would explain.

His weakest trait was bound up with his strongest. He was morbid-ly sensitive on the subject of his age. The short road to his good will was to compliment him upon his youthful appearance. One could count upon receiving a bit of candy a moment later, slyly drawn from his waistcoat pocket. There is no doubt that he was born much earlier than 1835, the year he assigned; but, as Helen Everston Smith, who met him in 1853, when, in her opinion, he was nearly thirty, has well sug-gested, his misstatements arose from nisapprehension and not intention.

With his whimsical chivalry and anity it is astonishing he never narried. But he used to quote the ellow who said, "I would not marry a woman unless I respected her and I would not respect a woman who would marry me." Once he re-marked that, so far as women were concerned, his heart was like the Paris india rubber omnibus, in which there was always room for one more.

Delhi's Famous Iron Pillar

The famous iron pillar of Delhi dealt with in Cassier's Magazine.

The pillar is a solid shaft of wrought iron, 16 inches in diameter, and of a length that is variously reported. The total length is from 48 to 60 feet underground and above, including a capital of 3½ feet. The pillar contains about 80 cubic feet of metal, and weighs about seventeen tons. The metal is, of course, char-coal iron, made directly from ore in small billets, but how it was welded up no one can tell, as no record exists of any early method of dealing with great masses of wrought iron. An inscription roughly cut or punched upon the column states that Rajah Dhara subdued a people in the Surdhu, named Vahlikos, and ob-tained with his own arm an undivid-ed sovereignty on the earth for a long period. The date of the inlong period. The date of the in-scription has been referred to the third or fourth century after Christ, but on this authorities are at variance.

Elements of the Atmosphere.

Lord Rayleigh and Sir William Ramsay's discovery of argon in the atmosphere led to the finding of the still more clusive elements, krypton and xenon. Sir William has follow-ed up that classic piece of work by an attempt to estimate the quantity of these substances existing in the air. Omitting the detail of pro-cesses that demanded the utmost skill and nicety, the outcome was .000014 per cent. by weight of kryp-ton and .0000026 per cent. by weight of xenon. Or, in words, one part by weight of the former in seven mil-lions of air and one part of the latlions of air, and one part of the latthe set are still less conspicuous; for, so calculated, we have only one part of the latter in forty millions of air. But these elements, measured by volume as constituent gases of our atmosphere, are still less conspicuous; for, so calculated, we have only one part in twenty millions of krypton and one in 170 millions of xenon. No wonder that chemists and physicists were a long time in capturing such Joys of Authorship.

What are the chances (asks the London Morning Post), in favor of the acceptance of a manuscript by an author with an as yet unestab-lished reputation? A writer in The American Critic thinks he has thrown some light on the question by certain statistics compiled from by certain statistics compiled from such records kept by such an one. An "inquisitive friend" took from the manuscript book containing them the entries relating to fifty-three articles and stories (not selected), that had got safe into harbor. The average, he found, worked out at rather more than five trials for each manuscript disposed of. No less than forty-four were rejected and only nine accepted when sent in for the first. accepted when sent in for the first time. One was successful at the thirtieth attempt!

Millions of Bibles.

During the first year's work of the British and Foreign Bible Society 100 years ago they spent £69, and thought they had done a big thing. So they had, but they were to do more. Last year they spent £241,—143, and since the foundation of the society they have expended £13,000,—000. These are big figures, but when translated into numbers of books they are bigger still. The society last year issued over 5,000,000 copies of the Scriptures, and since its commencement a total of 180,000,000. Seven thousand volumes are sent out mencement a total of 180,000,000. Seven thousand volumes are sent out from London alone every day of the year. The output from all the society's depots, including London, averages 16,000 copies per day.

THE HUMBERTS GUILTY. Close of One of the Greatest Trials in France.

Paris, Aug. 24.—One of the greatest criminal trials in the tory of France culminated on Saturday when the jury in the Court of Assizes rendered a verdict of guilty against Therese and Frederic Humbert and Romaine and Emile Daurignac. After a brief deliberation the court sentenced Therese and Frederic Humbert each to five years and a fine of 100 francs; Emile Daurignae to three years, and Romaine Daurignac to two years' imprisonment. Frederic Hum-bert acted as though dazed by the shock of conviction, his thin face assuming a ghastly pallor. Romaine and Emile Daurignac preserved an air of stolid indifference. Therese thanked her lawyers, and then calmly announced that she was ready to go to prison. The chief event preceding the verdict was the dramatic revelations which Therese Humbert had so long promised, in the making of which she disclosed the same genius which has marked her entire career, as indicated by her selection of the mysterious name of Regnier as the real Crawford. The leterr was the name the Humberts used to designate name the Humberts used to designate an alleged American family, whose vast fortune, in the shape of bonds, was securely locked up in a safe in their residence. The story they told was that Madame Therese Humbert had an interest in the bonds, and, pending the outcome of the litigation with the Crawfords, the court had designated her as custodian of the bonds, upon her as custodian of the bonds, upon which, of course, she could not realize while the proceedings were progressing. Under pretence of fighting their side of the case the Humberts succeeded in borrowing large sums of money from various people. The bonds, of course, are fictitious.

The Worm Turns. They were almost ready to start, and, like a good husband, Mr. Smoker waited patiently for his wife to put the fin ishing touches to her toilet. She was adjusting her hat and took a hat pin from a big cushion. Suddenly she exclaimed:

"I think it's a shame!"

"Yes, my dear," nervously assented Mr. Smoker.
"I mean the way these writers say that women sharpen lead pencils and open cans with their husbands' razors." "Yes, my dear."

"Yes. Now, I never do such things with your razor, and I don't believe any woman does as the writers allege. I looked at your razor once when I had a box of sardines to open, but it was so sharp and so wabbly in the handle that was afraid to use it. Besides, when want to sharpen a pencil and have no knife I nibble a point on it."
"Yes, my dear."

"But if the writers wish to put some thing true in the papers why don't they go for the men who use their wives' hat pins for pipe cleaners? Ugh, you nasty brutes!"

Mr. Smoker forgot to say "Yes, my

John Wesley's Shrewish Wife. One of his biographers declares that if he had searched the whole kingdom the evangelist John Wesley would hardly have found a woman more un-suitable than she whom he married. She did not even confine herself to her tongue in her attacks. More than once she laid violent hands on him. "Jack," said John Hampson to his son, "I was once on the point of committing murder. It was when I was in the north of Ireland and I went into a room and found Mrs. Wesley foaming with fury. Her husband was on the floor, where she had been trailing him by the hair of his head, and she her self was still holding in her hand ven erable locks which she had plucked out by the roots. I felt," continued Hampson, who was a giant of a man, though not one of Wesley's warmest friends-"I felt as though I could have knocked the soul out of her."-Everybody's Magazine.

In Spain, while the Moors were in the ascendency, luxurious hot baths were established. They were used in connection with the religious rites of Is-lam. The Islamites were required to bathe frequently. The manner of bathing was as follows:

After undressing, the bather is wrap-ped in a woolen coat, sandals are put on and he walks to the hot bath. After a thorough hot bath all parts of the body are rubbed. The soles of the feet are rubbed with pumice stone, then body is anointed with oil and sprinkled with perfumed powders.

When the Moors were driven out of Spain the first thing the people did was to destroy the Moorish bath houses. This was done because of religious prejudice against the Moors.

Three Curious Epitaphs.
In a cemetery near Dublin the fol-owing words appear on a tombstone: "Here lies John Hurley, whose father and mother died while on their way home from America. If they had lived they would have been buried here." The following epitaph adorns the tomb of a gravedigger in the Taibach cemetery in the south of Wales: "Hurrah, comrades, parson is dead!

If he had lived he would have buried all of us." Here is another curious epitaph which was recently discovered; it marks the grave of an indefatigable smoker and centains only the following four words:

"My pipe is out."

Grant's Estimate of His Generals. In Grant's estimate of the abilities of the generals of the armies, says an officer of Grant's staff in the National Magazine, I think it is safe to say that Sherman stood first. For John A. La gan he perhaps entertained the warmest personal feelings. His friendship for this brilliant soldier was very pro nounced. General Thomas he considered a safe man and an indomitable fighter. Sheridan was one of his especial favorites. He considered this dashing soldier almost invincible.

Good Sense.
Good sense is a fund slowly and painfully accumulated by the labor of centuries. It is a jewel of the first water, whose value he alone understands who has lost it, or who observes the lives of others who have lost it. For my part, I think no price too great to pay for gaining it and keeping it, for the possession of eyes that see and a judgment that discerns.

Making Allowances. Bronson-I don't see why you should be so angry at your son for marrying. We have to make allowances for the young, you know.

ABBEY'S GLASS OF MILK.

In Amusing Story of the Famous In the days when Edwin A. Abbey, the distinguished illustrator and painter was a small boy he had the habit of critically scrutinizing every dish that was set before him at the table, much to the embarrassment of his family. His frequent dismissals from the table were but ineffective reproofs, and something had to be done to work a cure.

"Eddie," said his mother one day, "I heard thee speak about going to Cousin Martha's for dinner next Sunday, and I am afraid we will have to make thee stay at home until thee learns politeness at the table. Thy picking at food would mortify me."

This threatened deprivation reduced the boy to tears, and after he had solemply promised not to look at every-thing according to his habit he was told that he might go.

The day came, and a large and merry family gathered to do justice to a tempting meal. Each of the little folks had a glass of delicious rich country milk at his place.

Noticing that Edwin was surreptitiously glancing at his glass, Mrs. Ab-bey observed, with a well understood meaning, "Edwin, why art thou not drinking thy milk?"

With a determined air the boy hastily picked up the glass and, shutting his eyes as tight as possible, gulped its contents down. This sudden procedure attracted the attention of all the guests, and, fearing at least a severe scolding, the boy exclaimed, "I did it, mother; I—I swallowed it." "Swallowed what?" hurriedly asked

Mrs. Abbey, now more alarmed than amused. "Those two flies that got in my milk But I swallowed them, mother; I swallowed them!"-Isadore Hedges in Ladies' Home Companion.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Laying hens must have meat or milk. Always feed some whole grain at night. Early hatched chickens usually make the best breeding fowls. Feeding a little at a time and often is better than overfeeding at any time. A liberal use of ground bone will correct the tendency to laying soft shelled eggs. Keeping fowls on hard floors will frequently cause swollen feet and legs. They must have some loose ground to scratch over.

Turkeys must have a good range to be profitable. They are insect eaters by nature and need a good range in order to thrive well and grow economically. After the ducks and geese are through laying the feathers should be picked regularly. The time to pick them is when the feathers are ripe and before the fowls begin to lose them.

What a True Scholar Is. The scholar in the true sense is the man or woman for whom the schools have done their best. The scholar knows some one thing thoroughly and can carry his knowledge into action. With this he must have such knowledge of related subjects and of human life as will throw this special knowledge into proper perspective. Anything less than this is not scholarship. The man with knowledge and no perspec-tive is a crank, a disturber of the peace, who needs a guardian to make his knowledge useful. The man who has common sense, but no special training. may be a fair citizen, but he can exert little influence that makes for progress. There may be a wisdom net of books, but it can be won by no easy To gain wisdom or school or out, is education. To do anything well requires special knowledge, and this is scholarship, whether attained in the university or in the school of life. It is the man who knows that has the right to speak .- President David Starr Jordan in Atlantic.

Epitaph Toe Suggestive. A man whose cheerful occupation is that of making tombstones is telling his friends about a woman who vis ited his place last week and said she wanted a nice tombstone put over her husband's grave, with some short, simple inscription on it.

He asked how she would like the word "Resurgam." She inquired as to its meaning, and when he translated it as "I shall rise again," she said, in a panic, "No. no, mister; make it 'Rest In Peace!"

A Hard Road. "The vay of the transgressor is hard," quiet the earnest citizen.
"It is unquestionably," answered Senator Sorghum. "The way people have to employ lawyers and stand investigations is calculated to cut down profits terribly."—Washington Star. "Maria," demanded Mr. Billus in a loud voice, "what have you been doing to my razor?"

"Nothing," said Mrs. Billus, "except sharpening it again after shaving Fi-do's tail with it. It's all right, isn't it?"

Beginning to Realize It.
"I never heard Dinsmore acknowledge that he was growing old before today."

"How did he acknowledge it?" "He announced that he felt just as young as he ever did."

Covers For Comforters. Comforters are easier kept clean with double cover. The first one needs to be only strong enough to hold the batting, such as loosely woven cheese cloth. The outer cover may be finer and firmer and wash goods. The tucking is mostly done through the first cover. The last cover is more like a sack and caught only near the corners and once or twice through the center each way, so that removing for laundry, purposes may be an easy task.

In order to appreciate youth one must get on the shady side of forty. The popular view of the relation of

The popular view of the relation of the blood to human character and corduct is marked in many a familiar expression. We speak of there being "had blood" between people at enmity, of "blue blood" as indicating ancestry, of "black blood" as describing a treacherous nature, and in many ar other phrase mark our belief that in the mental, moral and physical man, "the blood is the life." The one basis of a healthful, happy and useful life is pure blood. With the blood pure, disease has no permanent lodging place in the system. For this reason the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery rids the body of diseases which have their origin in impurity of the blood. It absolutely purifies the blood, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter, increasing the action of the blood making glands, and building up the body by glands, and building up the body by supplying the blood in quantity such as is essential to a condition of health. It cures ninety-eight people out of every hundred who give it a fair trial.

THE CEDARS OF LEBANON. Only a Few of These Historic Trees

Now Remain.
There are only about 400 cedars of Lebanon now remaining high up on the rocky slopes. Hadrian sculptured his imperial anathema against all who should cut these sacred trees; the Maronite peasants almost worship them and call them the "cedars of the Lord," and a recent governor of the Lebanon has surrounded them by a great wall so that the young shoots may not be injured by roving animals. Yet, century by century, their number grows less. But if the cedars are few in number these few are of royal blood.

are not the largest of trees, though some of the trunks measure over forty feet around. Their beauty lies in the wide spreading limbs, which often cover a circle 200 or 300 feet in circumfer ence. Some are tall and symmetrical. with beautiful horizontal branches; others are gnarled and knotted, with inviting seats in the great forks and charming beds on the thick foliage of the swinging boughs.

The wood has a sweet odor, is very hard and seldom decays. The vitality of the cedar is remarkable. A dead tree is never seen, except where lightning or the ax has been at work. Often a great bough of one tree has grown into a neighbor, and the two are so bound together that it is impos sible to say which is the parent trunk. Perhaps the unusual strength and vi tality of the cedars are due to their slow growth. When a little sprout hardly waist high is said to be ten or fifteen or twenty years old one canno help asking. What must be the age of the great patriarchs of the grove? It is hard to tell exactly. By the aid of a microscope I have counted more than 700 rings on a bough only thirty inches in diameter. Those who have studied the matter more deeply think that some of these trees must be more than a thousand years old. Indeed, there is nothing wildly improbable in the thought that perhaps the Guardian, for instance, may have been a young tree when Hiram began cutting for the temple at Jerusalem.—Lewis Gaston Leary in Scribner's.

Some Formal Correspondence A matter of fact sacristyn of the Cathedral of Berlin once wrote the king of Prussia this brief note: of Prussia this brief note:

The reply of the king was not that of a "gracious majesty." Its stiff formality in imitating the style of the sacristan probably was not taken by the receiver as complimentary to him:

Third, I acquaint Herr Sacrist Schmidt that I shall not trust any longer to the balustrade next the river. And I acquaint Herr Sacrist Schmidt, fourth, that I will not have any more correspondence with him. FREDERICK.

Absent Minded Lord Derby. Lord Derby could be very absent minded, and once on a time he walked with Lord Clarendon, his opponent, and told him all the secrets of the cabinet. Lord Clarendon listened amazed, but thought it too large an order when he was asked for his advice. It was not for him to counsel his political foes. At this intimation Lord Derby woke up, saying, "Really, I thought all the time I was talking to a colleague!" He had continued, hardly recognizing the fact, a controversy he had been having with other ministers at the foreign office. Of course Lord Clarendon honorably pre-served the cabinet secrets, but he told his story against Lord Derby and made a laugh.

TURKS COMMIT EXCESSES.

CONSULS CONFIRM THE STORIES OF CRUELTY.

tion in Vilayet of Monastir Hope less-Insurgents Said to be Over Twenty Thousand Strong and Well Armed.

Sofis, Aug. 25.-With the rumors of massacres, atrocities and the murder of prisoners in Monastir now authenticat ed, the general situation is considered here as fast becoming intolerable. Official and diplomatic circles are alike concerned, fearing that many horrors enacted have yet to come to light. The revolutionary committees are doing their utmost to force the hands of the Bulgarian Government, and the immediate outlook is exceedingly serious. It appears that the Turks have obtained the upper hand in the vilayet of Monastir, and the insurgents are planning to remove the centre of their activity to near the Bulgadan frontiers. Despatches to-day from the disturbed area are exceedingly gloomy. From Advianople comes the news of a Turkish defeat, and the extension of the revolu-tionary outbreak; from Monastir, the news of the Turkish victories are ac-news of the Turkish victories are accompanied by barbarous excesses.

According to The Sofia Dnevnik, the Turks committed unspeakable atrocities at Krushevo. The mutilated corpses of 90 women and children were found in one building. Fifteen of the principal merchants of the town were killed and their heads exhibited on poles at Monastir. The churches were demolished, the houses sacked, and the town is now a heap of ashes. The remainder of the populace fled to the hills, where they are in a starving condition. The Dnevnik also asserts that a general massacre has occurred in the whole vilayet of Monastir, and that nearly all the villages have been destroyed. The treacherous murder of 80 insurgent prisoners by their guards near Monastir has made an especially bad impression here.

Insurgent bands, have occupied the strategic points around Malkoternovo.

Anarchy exists at Losengrade, Eight willages in the north of Losengrade have been burned by bashi-bazouks, while the insurgents attacked two Turkish posts in the vicinity of the same town and killed their entire, gardens consisting of sixty soldiers and risons, consisting of sixty soldiers and one officer. The town of Bunar, Hissar has been burned, and a part of the Bulgarian population was massacred At Burgas Majura, after, eighteen theurs' fighting, the garrison was, killed by rebels, who also destroyed, the garrisons of Silklihor and Kelovo, At Karacinovo the insurgents killed 57 Turks, while another fifteen were de-stroyed at Kurkolibi. New outbreaks are reported near Kresna. The Macedonian leaders admit that the insurrection in the vilayet of Monastir is practically at an end, and they appear to pin their hopes to the trans-fer of active operations to the territory near the Bulgarian frontier. Within cedonia will be in full revolt, and then the Bulgarian Government will be corced to take action.

TOUR THROUGH CANADA Empire's Merchant Princes at Toron to Last Night

Toronto, Aug. 25. - The special Grand Trunk train bearing delegates to the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, with, in many instances, their families, to the number of two hundred and fifty arrived in the city last, evening promptly at 7 o'clock, the time scheduled. There was no attempt at any formal reception, the civic reception beformal reception, the civir reception being reserved for Friday might, when the delegates return from their tour through western Ontario. A number of the members of the Toronto Board of Trade were, however, on hand, to welcome the delegates, and they accompanied them to the King Edward Hotel, which is the headquarters of the delegates during their stay here. Dinner was served the delegates immediately upon their arrival at the hotel, under some slight difficulty, it must be admitted, owing to a disarrangement of the engines which supply the electrical power. For a while candles had to be brought into requisition, and the delegates ate their dinner by candle instead of eletric light. The lights were all right later in the evening, however, and none of the delegates, under the circumstances; were disposed to make any complaint. After dinner the delegates amused themselves according to their individual taste, and some of them started for a drive around the city. The rain, however, kept most of the delegates within the hotel.
