Hon. W. D. Hoard of Wisconsin, who the agricultural conference here a few Truro gathering of a similar nature, and nis speech there was as bright if not brighter there than in Fredericton. the farm. (Hear, hear.) We want to organize thought. We were talking today of organizing cheese factories and creameries; we are coming together in a manner which has never been known in the civilization of agriculture. (Applause) The farmer has lived an insolated life within the bounds of his own line fences. He has thought that all the world was to be measured; that it is wrong to stand by his neighbor like soldiers in a line touching elbows. He cannot escape the unity that belongs to the latter day civilization. He must touch elbows along the line. The farmers of Nova Scotia have been peopling other provinces. They have been going over into the United States. We are glad to see a blue nose over there, but it would be a wrong thing to counsel you to come The man replied "Great Heaven, because to the United States until you had made a Paradise of Nova Scotia. I do not think much of running away. I remember what Tom Allen, of the confederate army told me once. He said that at the battle of Corinth he halted a fellow who was running away, and asked why he was running. I cannot fly." (Laughter.) In my own state men came there fifty years ago, settled down and went to farming and wasted their farms and then moved into Minnesota and the western states to repeat the same process. They did not seem to be able Now this was wrong. I have travelled somewhat in the past through this country and I can see the promise of better things and I am glad of it You are organizing thought today. You must organize thought before you organize action. You all know those two words of such mighty military mport "fall in,"—the two mightiest words which belong to the English language-"fall in." I remember hundreds of times as a soldier when they brought me out of sweet, sound sleep on to my feet as they came ringing down through the columns, through the tents-" fall in," "fall in." Behind those two words lie all the acquistions of English and American thought. There never was a nation, people, state or a community of farmers or an individual that obeyed the injunction "fall out," that ever did anything. (Laughter and applause.) It is "fall in," get together; rub up against one another. Now we need this constantly. I have seen in my own state progress which has been marvellous. I have seen it starting in 1870 an impoverished state, and I will give you a few Dally, by mall - - $6 a year practical thoughts in this line, drawn Dally and Sunday, by mail $8 a year from my observation. Take my own county, Jefferson county, Wisconsin, which had been so badly depleted by wasteful wheat farming, just like your oat farming, that the average production of wheat was only seven bushels per acre. A magnificent soil, but it had been farmed wastefully We commenced the agitation of dairy, and I went into school houses and pleaded with the farmers. I was a trained butter and cheese maker, trained in New York, and I thought I SAW THE PROMISE OF SALVATION. Those people finally commenced their operations. I may sum it up in a word to you. The assessed valuation of Jefferson county was (0 per cent. under mortgage; 60 per cent, of the assessed valuation of mortgage. Today only 7 per cent. of that value is represented by mortgage, and the average production of wheat in that country has risen to 19 bushels per acre. (Applause.) The average valuation of farms was $16 per acre. Last year the the valu-For Sale Low, Wholesale and Retail. ation was over $60 per acre. The farms of that county have in the banks of their bim instantly county a million and a quarter of dollars on deposit, as was reported to me last year. How does this come? BIL Through a Misplaced Switch. A serious and fatal accident occurrd in the ballast pit at Millinockett, last Saturday orning, the details are as follows: About seven o'clock Friday night a special train loaded with railway ties left for Houlton, to return during the night. About eight the same evening the two ballasting engines, Nos. 17 and 18, were turned over to John Milton, watchman, who also had charge of the cleaning of the engines, and were put on a siding in the ballast pit. Sometime after putting these engines in, Milton became uneasy about the switch and gave one of the cleaners his switch key, telling him to go to the switch and make sure minutes past two Saturday morning the occupants of the boarding cars were awakened by a crash, and found that engine No. 10 rethat county was in debt represented by of No. 17 was practically demolished. 500 People Dead and Many Injured.

Only the horrors which accompanied the historic Chicago fire can be compared with the terrible scenes and experience Friday of last week in the flame-swept pine region of Pine, Kennebec and Carleton counties, of Minnesota, and Burnett county, Wis., At least four hundred settlers' families and others were burned to death or suffocated before the flames reached them, and the death list may rise another hundred or more. The people of Hinckley, which was a prosperous town in Pine country, sixty-seven miles south of Duluth, are now dead or homeless and destitute. At conservative estimate two hundred and fifty men. * women and children of this doomed town were unable to escape from the merciless, swiftly advancing flames. They fell on railroad tracks or on the old Territorial road, either to be cremated or die the

The number of corpses already recovered from the blackened waste at and around Hinckley is 150, the majorty being women and children who had not the strength to fight the destroyer, or flee to a place of safety. FREDERICTON, SEPTEMBER 8, 1894.

A TRIUMPHAL TOUR.

Mr. Laurier is receiving a cordial reception in the West. Wherever he speaks. thousands flock to hear him, and his message of tariff reform finds a responsive echo in the popular heart. His journeyings are like the triumphal procession of a great conqueror. His striking personality, his wonderful gifts as an orator, his common sense, practical platform, all commend him to the admiration and esteem of the people. Hitherto, the Liberal party has scarcely been organized in Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia, and Toryism has held pretty general sway, but it will be different when the next general election is called. The Opposition leader is inspiring his Western supporters with the utmost enthusiasm; he is arousing them as they have never before been aroused, by his denunciation of the government policy of robbing the masses to build up monopolies in Canada. With its immense patronage, and the powerful influence of a great railway corporation, the government have been able to hold almost an undivided support from the West, but that time has passed. The great victory won in Winnipeg a few months ago by Mr. Martin, was a striking evidence of the change in political sentiment in that part of the Dominion, and this will be followed up by even greater triumphs, water whenever the electors are given an opportunity to express at the polls their condemnation of the vexatious taxation polcommunication in the Northwest,in '91 the population would increase in like ratio, government policy

CARDWELL.

The next test of strength between the has been vacated by the resignation of R. minister, and who expects to be appointed collector of customs at Montreal.

Mr. White and the Conservative wire-pullers endeavored to bring about the nomination of a Mr. Allen, a Conservative Patron of Industry, and thus unite two import- a bride with him on his return. ant elements in the constituency on a dead sure thing, but young Mr. Willoughby, a native of the county, but practising law in Toronto, captured the convention and is in the field. The Patrons, of course, are very much annoyed that their man was defeated in the convention, and it is possible they will nominate another candate. No regular nominee of the Liberal party has yet been put up, but the strength of their organization may be placed on the McCarthyite, who practically, is in straight opposition to the government. One thing is already clear in Cardwell, namely that it can no longer be counted on to register the will of the federal government in the nomination of a candidate, and the approaching contest will likely show that the constituency has at last resolved to free itself from the fetters of Toryism.

A NOVEL EXPERIMENT.

The government of New Zealand is engaged in a new experiment for encouragng immigration and the settlement of the public lands, and no doubt other colonies, particularly Canada will watch the novel plan with considerable interest. The government does not sell the land to the settler on easy terms nor does it make him a present of it. It divides large tracts into small farms and leases these farms to the settlers. The rent is very low at first, but it increases as the land is enhanced in value by the labor of the settler and his neighbors. The government also lends the settler a small sum of money at a low rate of interest to give him a start. The interest of the loan is added to the rent. The government has borrowed about sixteen millions of dollars, partly in Great Britain and partly in the colony, to carry out the scheme. It was started six or seven years ago, and it has in that time leased 22,677 acres to 900 settlers. The rent paid is 5 per cent. on the capitalized value of the land, revaluations being made at stated periods. The sum of $123,000 has been advanced to those 900 settlers and now the government is getting about $60,000 a year as rent and interest. The experiment looks like a good one for the government but how it will be for the farmers it is yet to early to tell. Certainly it is encouraging a gigantic system of government landlordism, which would scarcely be relished in Canada.

THE Sun is still worried that an election has not been called in Carleton county, but it furnishes no explanation for the delay in the issue of the writ for Quebec west. Hon. John Hearn, the representative of the latter constituency, died early last winter, and yet there is no evidence that the government intend issuing the writ for a new election.

Along the wayside and up the hills, The goldenrod flames in the sun ; The blue eved gentian nods good-bye To the sad little brooks that run. And so the Summer's done, said I, Summer's done!

In yellowing woods the chestnut drops; The squirrel gets galore; Though bright-eyed lads and little maids Rob him of half his store . And so summer's done, said I, Summer's done!

The maple in the swamp begins To flaunt in gold and red. And in the elm the fire bird's nest Swings empty overhead; And so Summer's done, said I, Summer's done!

The barberry hangs her jewels out, And guards them with a thorn; The merry farmer boys cut down The poor old dried-up corn; And so Summer's done, said I, Summer's done!

The swallows and the bobolink, Are gone this many a day; But in the morning still you hear The scolding, swaggering jay! And so Summer's done, said I, Summer's done!

A wonderful glory fills the air, And big and bright is the sun; A loving hand for the whole brown earth, A garment of beauty has spun; But for all that, Summer's done, said I, Summer's done!
