young Lynch conceived the idea of concealing his erime by committing another. Having seduced or frightened the crew into becoming participators, the youth was seized and thrown overboard. The father and friends of Lynch received the voyager with j.y; and the murderer in a short time became himself a proper us merchant. Security had fulled every sense of danger, and he proposed for a very beautiful girl, the daughter of a wealthy neighbor, in marriage. The proposal was so

The Parishioners of St. Miehael's Church presented the Rev. A. J. M. Lityre with the following address and a well filled purse on his departure for St. Columbia Parish, Bast Point.

ADDRESS.

Rev. and Dare Father,—As the time of your departure from amongst us is at hand we deem it opportune the kind and zealous manner in which you have labored in our behalf while amongst us and the sorrow we feel for the loss of one whose name is charished in the bearts and homes of every family throughout the parish.

During the five years that you have performed your sacred daties in our midst we have not failed to not your zeal for the spiritual welfare of your flook, and the firmness of purpose which has marked your spiritual care of us; burdened as you were with the manifold duties of two other large parishes. It is our wish that you should remain with us as our permanent Pastor, but as God has ordered otherwise we bow our heads with you in selection to His Divine Will, and endeavor to bear in a becoming manner, the loss of so kind and worthy a Pastor. And now Dear Father we ank you to accept this most faithfull Ministers, many years to continue in the good work which you have so faithfully performed in the past and we confidently hope that when you are colebrating the Divine Sacrifice of the Mass you will be ever mindful of the Parishioners of St. Michael's.

Oh, yes, John. I never thought of such a thing; it never could be.

'Mo; never!

The ribbo and May kept the idea of John's love in her heart until it grew to be part of her nature, and affected every thought and action. To be with him all her lite, to have him continually at her side, to be able to see him, to speak to him, to hold the first place in his regard, to have all his thoughts, his jors, his sortows; to be one with him in all hims, and to be of some service or comfort to him—oh, delicious dream!

What dream had girl ever dreamed when it is considered.
