SATURDAY EV'NG, NOV. 15, 1873
Town and County News

Mr. JOSEPH FRENCH, of Elora, did not sail, as reported, in the "Medway," which is supposed to be lost.

MIDDLEBORO' Literary Society is in a flourishing condition. The weekly debates are well patronized.

The Quarterly Board of the Wesleyan at Elora, Bradford, Mount Forest and Ingersoll, have voted "Yes" to all the questions regarding Union with the sister churches.

Mr. JOHN SIMMONS, of Elora, has been appointed teacher of the Bon Accord school, and Miss Annie Foote has received a similar position in the Harriston schools.

Mr. James Whitlaw, Pilkington, took last week from four and a half acres, 120 loads of turnips, or about 800 bushels per acre. We don't think many people took more. Who did?

Y. M. C. A.—Deputations from the Guelph and Fergus Associations will visit Elora on the evening of Friday next, with the intention of inducing a Y. M. C. A. organization at Elora that shall be permanent in its character.

SERVICES TO-MORROW.—The Rev. Mr. Wardrop will preach in the Wesleyan Church at 10.30 a.m., and Rev. E. B. Ryekman, B.A., of Dundas, at 6.30 p.m. The Rev. Mr. Howard will preach in Chalmers' Church at 11 a.m.

OLD FELLOWS.—Fergus Lodge is making arrangements to hold its third Annual Assembly in the drill shed on the 28th inst. In addition to that neighbourhood, parties are expected from Guelph, Georgetown, Brampton, Galt, Brantford, Berlin, Harriston, Orangeville, &c.

One of the men employed in covering Knox Church spire, Elora, with galvanized iron, was seized with a fainting fit while up on the scaffold lately, and, but for the powerful efforts of Mr. Watson, the boss, who is a strongly built man, would have fallen to the ground, and no doubt been instantly killed.

THE ELORA FIREMEN have been entertained at an evening supper by Mr. John Bain as an acknowledgment of service rendered by them at the fire which occurred there in August last, at the time Mundell's Furniture Factory and Gibbs' planing mill was burned. Bain & Son's Woodlawn Factory is in great danger.

THE ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY of Elora have elected the following officers for the ensuing year:—President, Mr. Alex. Outbent; Vice-President, Mr. David Boyle; Secretary, M. O. Macgregor; Treasurer, Mr. George Fraser; Chaplain, Rev. A. D. McDonald; Physician, Dr. Middleton; Committee, Messrs. J. F. Gordon, G. A. Draw, J. M. Fraser, T. Biggar, A. Stewart, and W. Kerr.

THE DANBURY NEWSMAN'S ALMAGAM for 1874 has reached us, sent by Mr. John Anderson. A curious fact is that it is printed in England—by George Routledge & Sons; but there is no doubt it is a genuine Danbury production—it is full of unmitigated Danburyism and well illustrated. One of our exchanges recommends it as good reading for Tories just now.

MISS HOSE.—The Berlin Telegraph says:—On late Wednesday, Mr. John Rose, so long and favorably known as the courteous and obliging host of the "Commercial" in this town, has leased the Wellington Hotel in Guelph. Mr. Rose is just the man to maintain the reputation of the "Old Wellington" for we speak by the book when we say that a more courteous, suave, and attentive host cannot be found in the Province, as it is well known by thousands who in bygone days enjoyed the real comforts of a home in the "Commercial" while under his management.

WHISKEY VS. NONE.—Only a few years ago it would have been thought beyond the limits of possibility to have a "whiskey" or a sale without lots of whiskey. Some time ago Mr. George Whitlaw, of Pilkington, raised a large stable on his farm on the total principle; when one or two ventured on the prediction that he wouldn't, for that reason, be able to get hands enough within a week again for a similar purpose. Well, last week he raised another large building for a dwelling-house, and to the credit of his neighbors, he said, not a man refused to help, and every one present declared they never saw things go on better, the whole of the work being over between two and three o'clock in the afternoon. We commend Mr. Whitlaw's example. Again, in the same same vicinity, Mr. W. Holloway held a sale of farm stock and implements a day or two afterwards, and not a drop of anything stronger than water was on the ground.—Elora News.

DARING ROBBERY.—On Friday afternoon a cash box said to have contained $700, was stolen from the office of the Mill, in a very daring manner. Two men entered the office and engaged the cashier in conversation. Whilst the cashier was attending to the men, a third man entered the office and stole the cash box off the counter without attracting the attention of the cashier; the principal ran to the box, and his two confederates shortly afterwards left the office. No one arrested yet.

PERSONAL.—Mr. A. H. Monast, who has resided in Berlin for many years, and during a good portion of this time acted as Deputy Clerk of the Peace in Mr. Bowley's office, has lately removed to Guelph, where he will occupy a similar position in Mr. Peterson's office. Mr. Monast is a gentleman deservedly esteemed and he carries with him to his new home the warmest wishes of all for his future success in life.—Berlin Telegraph.

The Grand Union Lodge, I.O.O.F., Berlin, is in a highly flourishing condition, although only in existence about 16 months.

The Mitchell Advocate comes out strongly against the bonus of $40,000 to the Port Dover & Lake Huron Railway Company, and the one of $80,000 to the Stratford & Huron Railway Company.

The Mitchell Advocate last week advocated a fair trial for the new Government, and aren't the Tory papers "going" for it now!

PASSING AWAY.

Spring, Summer, Autumn, now have fled,
And all their loveliness lies dead;
No single flower left to trace
Where grew such forms of finished grace.
I watched thy coming, gentle Spring,
With a low sigh you passed away,
Out to the longing, waiting sky,
—With feelings close to ecstasy.
I have these days thy mantle down,
For Summer flowers to rest upon;
Then, at the close of lengthening day,
With a low sigh you passed away.
And summer came in love and power,
Breathing on every tiniest flower,
Till, fragrant with that magic sense,
I flashed into a life intense.
And sent their glories far and wide,
O'er garden, vale, and mountain side;
And left them redolent of bliss.
And now that Autumn days are o'er,
I can see no leaf, nor flower,
I seem to stand on border land,
With a dead world on either hand.
Ah me! I were sad if I had not
Mingled so largely in our lot,
And in our ears prophetic ring
The promise of another Spring.

At the Town Hall Last Night.

Yesterday evening the Town Hall was bright with tasteful feminine costumes, relieved by a suitable proportion of masculine black and white exteriors. The audience was not numerous, but sufficiently large to supply the floor well with dancers and promenadeurs after the concert. Some prominent residents of the town were present. The programme opened with an instrumental duet well played by Mrs. and Mr. Heathfield; followed by a song, Miss Wiseman, and Mrs. Wolstenholme, of Galt, sang two fine duets, one of which—the "Singing Lesson," from Verdi's "Daughter of the Regiment"—was loudly encored. Two other pianoforte duets were on the programme, and the audience showed their appreciation of these by the loud applause which greeted the playing of the Misses Robertson and Beattie, and by the warm encores accorded to Miss Hogg and Mr. Heathfield. Miss Tiffany sang two ballads, accompanying herself on the pianoforte. A favorite Scotch song was well sung by Miss Wiseman; and the well-known solo "Angels ever bright and fair" was nicely rendered by Mrs. Wolstenholme, accompanied on the organ by Mr. Heathfield. The A. B. C. duet, serenade, was sung by Mrs. Wolstenholme and Mr. Tyson; and "God Save the Queen" brought the concert programme to a close. A posse of enthusiastic youths then made short work of clearing the floor, and the dance began to the music of Velle's band. A beautiful and well-appointed supper was provided in the front end of the Council Chamber. Dancing was kept up with spirit until the conclusion of the programme at about half-past twelve. It was an agreeable disappointment to find that the severe temperature of Thursday night had given place to a clear bracing air, making pleasant the journey homeward.

POLICE COURT.

(Before the Police Magistrate.) Nov. 15.

ASSAULT IN PULFICHE.

John Simpson, a young Pulfiche man living below Morrison, was charged by John Campbell, blacksmith, Pulfiche, with assault on Thursday. The case arose out of a quarrel in a singing-school, when out of playful missiles subsequent fighting arose. Simpson was fined $5 and costs, and bound over to keep the peace for twelve months, himself in $200 and two sureties in $100 each.

Tragedy at St. John.

One of the most shocking tragedies ever enacted in New Brunswick took place in St. John on a Sunday recently. A respectable dressed couple, man and wife, were passing towards Germain street, the lady having both hands on her husband's arm. Just as they reached Germain street corner the man suddenly levelled a revolver and fired. The bullet passed through his wife's brain, she sprang about two feet in the air, and fell dead at his feet. A moment the ruffian looked at his prostrate victim, then discharged the pistol in his own breast.

The shot did not take instant effect, and he settled down deliberately to the ground, where he attempted a second shot but the cap failed. He then placed the pistol at his ear and fired, the bullet lodging in the base of the brain, after which he lost consciousness and lay apparently dead. All this transpired in the course of a few seconds, and before any of the eye-witnesses had time to rush to the rescue.

The man's name is John N. Doyle, a native of River John, Nova Scotia; the deceased was his wife, and belonged to Napanea, Ont. They had been living at Oswego, N.Y., and were bound for Trent. The cause of the terrible deed is said to be jealousy on the part of the husband, who is evidently in culture and manners inferior to his wife, who seemed accomplished and handsome. She was about 28 years of age, Doyle is about 34. Papers found on the man show that the deed was premeditated.

Mr. Cartwright, the new Minister of Finance, has shown himself capable of criticising a budget; he will now have the opportunity of constructing one. In the selection of a Minister of Finance the choice seemed to lay between him and Mr. Holton, and we are not prepared to say that it has been unwisely exercised. An opposition critic is always tempted to undertake to show that the Minister of Finance is too sanguine; this ground was very strongly taken by Mr. Cartwright when the last budget was under discussion; he took a less hopeful view of the future resources of the country, and a more gloomy one of possible interruptions of prosperity, than Mr. Tilley. If he erred in this respect, he erred on the safe side.—Monetary Times.

The Monetary Times hears that American manufacturers and merchants in making frantic efforts to realize are beginning to utilize the Canadian markets, which they will most likely make a kind of slaughter house for their goods. They can afford to cut prices here as they would scarcely dare to do at home. This is one of the vicissitudes to which our traders are constantly being subjected, very much to their detriment.

Y. M. C. A. LECTURE.—Tickets for Rev. T. Guttery's lecture on Monday evening may be obtained at the bookstores, and also at Messrs. Wm. Anderson's, G. D. Pringle's, Geo. Jeffrey's, and at the door. Price 15 cents.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Starved to Death.

Cannonading Continued.

"City of Richmond" Safe.

Looking Worse at Versailles.

The "Virginus" Slaughter.

London, Nov. 14.—Intelligence has been received here that famine prevails in Greenland, caused by the failure of the fisheries. In one village alone 150 persons were starved to death.

Mr. Vernon Harcourt has been appointed Solicitor-General, vice Mr. Henry James, who has been appointed Attorney-General. Postmaster-General Monsell has resigned in favor of Dr. Playfair, who issued an address to his constituents to-night for re-election.

A despatch from Carthage reports that cannonading continued all day yesterday, notwithstanding a violent storm. The city has received fresh supplies of provisions and ammunition. The British Consul is the only representative of the foreign Governments who remains in the place.

Queenstown, Nov. 14.—Capt. Brooks, of the steamer City of Richmond, reports that her machinery was disabled by the breaking of her cylinder cover when the ship was four days out from New York. She proceeded under sail, but had contrary winds and heavy weather, which caused a further delay. The City of Montreal came up with her on Monday last, and took her in tow.

Paris, Nov. 14.—The situation at Versailles is again becoming complicated. The compromise between the Right and Left threatens to fall through. The Government and the Right have decided to insist on an unconditional prolongation of President MacMahon's term for ten years.

Three thousand Communists are still in prison awaiting trial.

Bayona, Nov. 14.—Don Carlos has struck a medal in commemoration of the victory claimed by the Carlists in the recent battle at Miranda.

Portsmouth, N.H., Nov. 12.—By an order from the Navy Department, all sailors on board United States receiving ships, sailing from this station, were despatched to New York for service on U.S. vessels in Cuban waters.

Washington, Nov. 14.—It can be stated on official authority that while the present naval preparations do not mean war against Spain or Cuba, there are symptoms of a determination on the part of this Government to protect the American interests at any hazard, and to prevent any such massacres as those which have taken place. Experience has shown that the Spanish Government cannot enforce its own decrees in the Island of Cuba, and therefore it becomes imperative on the United States to protect its citizens from Cuban ferocities.

Boston, Nov. 14.—Orders have been received at the navy yard here to fit out the United States frigate Brooklyn, so that she can sail on the 15th of December. It is stated that the Franklin is also to be got in readiness for sea; 200 sailors leave the receiving ship Ohio to-morrow for the Brooklyn navy yard.

New York, Nov. 14.—A despatch from Washington says that information has just been received that the balance of the "Virginus" crew has been shot, making 111 executions. Other reports are in circulation here to the same effect, but enquiries led to the belief that the statements are untrue.

The despatches from Washington reporting additional Cuban massacres are believed to have been sent here for jobbing operations.

Great joy is felt among the many anxious friends of the passengers in the City of Richmond, by the announcement of her safe arrival at Queenstown. The news is confirmed by private despatches.

A despatch just received here, via Jamaica, states that on the 9th inst. the remainder of the crew of the Virginus, one hundred and eleven in all, were shot at Santiago de Cuba. They were all marched to the slaughter-house wall, and placed before the firing party by tens, and as fast as one ten fell another ten were marched up, and their dead bodies fell on those already slain.

New York, Nov. 15.—Charles Howard, bookkeeper for the Sylvan Lake Mining Company, at Sylvan Lake, New York, has absconded with $4,300 of the company's money.

Extension has been granted by the creditors to the firm of McVey & Co., Pittsburg, Pa. Liabilities $452,000.

The German Bank of Louisville asks to have the Louisville, New Albany and St. Louis Railroad into bankruptcy.

The papers are decidedly beligerent in their tone this morning. The Herald says if the bombardment and destruction of Santiago follows, the atonement will not be too heavy.

The Sea says that the Spanish adherents in Cuba ignore the authority of the mother country, and it is the duty of the United States to go to the spot and make an answer for every crime which has been committed.

The World says if Spain prefers to have Cuba wrested from her rather than make reparation the fault will be her own.

The Tribune hopes our Government while hastening to demand reparation will not be deceived by senseless clamor into acts of lawless vengeance.

The Tribune's Washington despatch reports Secretary Fish as saying:—"The policy of the Government will not be developed before Congress meets, and the case will be so stated that the American people will be satisfied."

Manitoba.

The following letter from an old friend in this neighborhood will be read with interest by his acquaintances, and also by all who desire information respecting the Western Province:

EMORY LAKE, Sept. 27, 1873.
MY DEAR FRIEND,—We have had a wet summer here, scarcely a week passed without some rain. We have had two or three nights of white frost lately, we had not the least sign of frost previously. The crops were not certainly bad, but as soon as the insects got wings they made use of them, and all left for parts unknown.

I had considerable trouble to buy oxen, &c., for carrying on work on the farm—as you are aware, the farmers are not willing to part with them, although they have large droves. Cattle imported from Minnesota find ready sale in Winnipeg. I have now three yokes of working oxen, and I shall buy another yoke at McKenzie's sale, which will be all I require. My three horses are in pretty good condition now—they failed greatly from the effects of the journey from Moorhead, ploughing and mowing. We have a large quantity of hay, and we cut about 150 tons—about one-half is still to draw home. We left off hauling some weeks ago, so as to get on with ploughing. We shall have about 100 acres ploughed this fall, and our pasture field contains 150 acres.

I like this country better than ever I expected. The prospect for farming I think could not be better. We feel perfectly secure here, and have tools, chains, &c. lying round, and would not be afraid to sleep with the doors unlocked. Our neighbors are all French half-breeds. We are close to the Assiniboine River, and on the highway to the Saskatchewan. Hundreds of carts and wagons pass daily. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt and family, (Mr. Wilton's daughter) called on their way to Poplar Point. The Wiltons have good crops. They are getting in a nice stock, and are better off than they were in Peel.

There is not any Provincial Show held here this year, on account of the farmers in the neighborhood of Fort Garry not putting in crops. A county show will be held at the Portage on the 1st of October. I intend to be present.

Game was never so plentiful as it is this fall—prairie chickens being in great numbers. William Peter takes a gun out where he is ploughing, and sometimes brings home eight or ten. One half-breed killed six all last week within sixteen miles of this place. We buy all we want at 8 cents per lb. Groceries are moderately cheap here this summer, which are brought in flat boats from Breckenridge. Good tea 65c per lb.; crushed sugar 15c per lb. I pay from $3.50 to $3.75 per cwt. for fine flour.

If you intend coming here, I would advise you to come soon, but get some ploughing, &c. done before you bring out the family.

Dressed fur is dearer here than in Ontario, as small fur is not dressed in this country. With kind regards,
I am, yours truly,
JOHN SMITH.

The Minister of the Interior.

Mr. Laird, leader of the Liberals from P.E. Island, is the tallest man I ever met with. He is about the same figure as Dr. Pipe of Berlin, but nearly a head taller, with a loose, shambling gait, long legs, long arms, with a somewhat serious expression of countenance. His appearance and manner answer to some extent the portraits and descriptions given of old Abe Lincoln. He has a fine head, and a voice that can be clearly heard in the remotest corner of the gallery, and speaking with a deep Scotch accent. When speaking in the recent debate, he at once struck out clearly and boldly in a manner which indicated that he had a mind of his own, and would act upon his own judgment in drawing his conclusions from the evidence before him.—Correspondent Waterloo Chronicle.

Meaford has had two fires within a week, and the Monitor calls loudly for a fire engine.

They had a lively election time in Chicago last week. The contest was about the Sunday observance law, and the point was really whether it would be enforced or not. A coalition of the Irish Roman Catholics and the Germans carried the day for Sunday liquor by a majority of about 10,000, and Chicago is happy.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last two young lads named Glazier and Tauterdini went out shooting and by some misfortune young Tauterdini was shot in the abdomen by Glazier as the latter was about loading a very few minutes after the accident. Coroner Freeman held inquest on the body, and a verdict of "accidentally shot" was returned. Deceased was the only son of Mr. Abel Tauterdini, foreman of the Grand Trunk blacksmith establishment at Georgetown. The funeral on Monday was a very large one, being attended by all the school children.

My time, and what I have done with it, by Mr. Burnard, now appearing in Macmillan, and describing his own school days, is quite refreshing, because it brings back the British school-boy as old fogies remember him, not as a monitor dealing out moral reflections with every stroke of his cane, or as a small boy acknowledging the justice of his punishment with a piteous cry beyond his years.

"Was he ten feet high?" asks one of Mr. Burnard's small boys of another.

"Yes," is the reply.

"Will you take your oath of it?"

"Yes."

"Will you take your dying oath of it?" (This need to be a very favorite form of interrogation.)

"Yes."

"Will you bet sixpence?"

"No."

The New Appointments.

Referring to the large number of new appointments made by the Macdonald Ministry on the eve of their resignation, the New York Tribune says:

"The Ministry, however, seem to have been prepared for their final downfall. The appointment of about one hundred officials, just on the eve of the resignation of the Cabinet, was not only a piece of shrewdness, which our British cousins would call 'a sharp Yankee trick,' but was worthy of a dignified Government. Some of the appointees were members of the outgoing Cabinet; and others were members of Parliament who retained their seats after they had received their appointments. The whole proceeding was worthy of the very lowest grade of American politicians, which is saying a great deal."

What is Said About the New Ministry.

The Opposition journals have now told us pretty fully what are their objections to the new Reform Ministry. We will state these briefly, and shall endeavor to put the pith of them before our readers.

1. The Mail says: "What, after all that he has said in public, during the past two years, and his friends have said in private, are we to think of Mr. Blake, in the first place accepting office at all, and in the next place accepting office under the member for Lambton?"

2. At the time of Confederation, and afterwards, the Reform party strongly objected to there being thirteen salaried Ministers in the Cabinet; and Mr. Mackenzie is now taunted with inconsistency, because, in the first place, he has not reduced the number of cabinet officers; and because, in the second place, he has added two Ministers without portfolio or salary.

3. It is said that the Government is really a Coalition, despite the vigorous manner in which Reformers have lately denounced coalitions. The Mail at first alleged that five of the new Ministers—Messrs. A. T. Smith, Burpee, Ross, Coffin and Laird—had been elected to support Sir John A. Macdonald; that half of the new Cabinet were either Conservatives or followers of John A.—naming also Messrs. Cartwright and R. W. Scott. The Globe denied this, saying that only Mr. Cartwright and R. W. Scott had ever acknowledged Sir John as leader; whereupon the Mail virtually abandoned its case as regards the five gentlemen, and went on to argue that the Messrs. Cartwright and Scott were pronounced Conservatives, and that therefore the Reform Cabinet which included them was a Coalition.

4. It is said that Mr. Mackenzie treated Parliament "with the utmost possible contempt," by advising the Governor General to prorogue it before a declaration of the Ministerial policy had been made.

Now, these allegations can be shortly and conclusively answered.

Concerning Mr. Blake, the reasons for his action are pretty well understood. His health is not good, and he is overworked already. He is not the man to take up any responsibility unless prepared to fulfil it "well and truly." Whilst never sparing himself when Reform work was to be done, he has all along shown a strong reluctance to add the burden of a portfolio to his other duties. We only express a simple truth in a somewhat hackneyed phrase when we repeat that Mr. Blake was only induced to enter the Cabinet by the strongest pressure from his friends and many of his quondam opponents. Ordinary people will not be inclined to trouble themselves much with technicalities and precedent on this question; the general feeling will be one of satisfaction that a way has been found for Mr. Blake to enter the Cabinet. Now that there is a Reform Government, most people will wish it to be as good a one as may be; and no one would like to see a Reform Government minus Mr. Blake.

Then as to the number of Ministers. The John A. Government intended to increase this, therefore their organs can scarcely accuse Reformers of an incorrect policy; all they can do is to twist up with inconsistency between former professions and present actions; but even this charge cannot be sustained. Three Provinces have entered the Confederation since Reformers said there were too many Ministers; and apart from this, no practical man would contend that Mr. Mackenzie should upset an order of things to which a five years' usage has given the right of existence. If we remember correctly, the complaints of Reformers were chiefly of the needless cost to the country; and this cost Mr. Mackenzie has not increased, he has appointed two additional members without portfolio or salary; and for this course there are two English precedents—those of the Marquis of Lansdowne and Lord John Russell's appointments in 1854.

CHAPTER VII.
THE SOLDIERS AND THE CATERANS—A TERRIBLE STRUGGLE.

As Captain Winterton had said, he was "well placed"—that, was in a good position to meet the enemy who now came in such numbers against him. He was inside the large, square building, protected on three sides by high walls, which were practically impregnable, while immediately in front was a breast work formed of the ruined gable—the only weak points of which were the recess of a door and a low window.

"Now, men, be ready," he said, in a low whisper, when the Caterans had advanced to within about sixty yards of the ruin.

Then he cried out in a ringing voice—"Caterans of Ben-a-Chruil, in the name of King George, I call upon you to halt and surrender."

A wild, derisive yell of defiance was the only reply he received, and, tiger-like in their fury, the horde of savage, desperate mountaineers rushed forward to the attack.

But they received a check.

"Fire," cried Winterton. A momentary pause. Then followed a flash and a report. The soldiers had delivered their shower of death-hail, and wild yells of mortal agony, mingled with curses and terrible threats, filled the air from fallen and falling men, while the others rushed forward with redoubled fury.

"Now forward and meet them with the steel," was the command of Winterton, and the soldiers sprang forward just in time to meet the Caterans, who were already clambering over the wall.

With their teeth set and braced for the conflict, the soldiers met them firmly and unwaveringly, and several times was the wild yell of agony repeated as their bayonets pierced one and another of the attacking Highlanders; but despite their utmost efforts the opponents were able to force an entrance by the doorway and by the window, and now a dozen at least swarmed around them.

It was with considerable apprehension that Captain Winterton saw this, and realized that he was outnumbered and his position carried.

He was at the same moment personally attacked by two the bravest of the Caterans; but while he dealt them crashing blows, and met with cleverness and skill their combined attack, he did not for a moment forget the safety of the men under his command. For he at once, in a voice which was heard above the sound of conflict—the clashing of weapons, the oaths and curses of contending foes, the tramping of feet, and the shrieks and moans of wounded men—shouted out—"We are outnumbered! Turn back, and fight your way to the boats."

An answering cheer from the men followed his words; then with a desperate effort each man threw off his immediate opponent, and when again the outlaws closed around, they found opposed to them an impenetrable phalanx of glittering steel, with Captain Winterton safe in its centre. But at this moment a voice, which had not been before heard, shouted out—"Caterans, cut every man down; our safety depends upon it."

A wild loud shout of savage ferocity burst from the outlaws' throats as they heard this voice, and with redoubled efforts they dashed themselves against the little band of soldiers.

It was Donald Cameron who had spoken.

He and Ian had listened throughout the whole proceedings at the foot of the stair leading from the aperture which the stone covered, and had heard every word of the conversation between the soldiers and their commander. The discovery made by Captain Winterton that there was an opening of some sort beneath the stone did not particularly dismay Cameron, for he knew that the stone could not be raised, as the mechanism by which it was secured was workable only from the inside. His heart leaped for joy when he heard the shot fired and the sentinel proclaim that the Caterans had returned. He knew from the sounds he heard that the soldiers were not in great force, and that they would easily be defeated by the Caterans, if they were present in anything like their full strength. When he thought the struggle was at the hardest, he told Ian to follow him, and rapidly and noiselessly ascended the stair and moving the springs, he removed the stone from the mouth of the entrance, and they passed out, taking care to leave it open, and then rushing forward, the chieftain announced his presence as we have heard.

But although the Caterans, inspired as they doubtless were by the arrival of Cameron and Ian, did their very utmost, they could not break through the compact front presented to them on every side by the soldiers, who, if they lacked the savage fury of the Highlanders, possessed equally valuable requisites in their coolness, fine training, and quiet courage. Inch by inch they retreated to their boats. They were now out of the square, having by careful maneuvering been able to squeeze themselves in compact form through the large doorway.

In vain did the Caterans place themselves between the soldiers and the boats and attempt to cut off their retreat. They burst through them again and again, and at every step neared their goal. Cameron kept continually shouting to them—at one time praising and at another upbraiding and cursing them—but he could not cause them to fight harder than they were doing. At last a happy thought struck him. Gathering half a dozen of the Caterans around him, he cried in a muffled tone—"Off immediately to the chamber for the firearms and the ammunition; return within the minute."

But low as they were spoken, the words reached the ears of Sergeant Goodley, and that gallant soldier at once shouted out—"Captain, they are off for firearms and ammunition; if they get them to bear upon us, we are done for."

The half-dozen men who had left to perform this order, and those who had been killed and disabled in the melee, had considerably diminished the strength of the Caterans, and this Captain Winterton was not slow to notice. When, therefore, he heard the Sergeant shout that firearms were to be brought against him, his decision was at once taken, and he immediately called out—"Now, my lads, a dash for the boats, and we are safe."

With a loud hurrah, they obeyed his command.

They were within a few yards of where two boats lay, when a shout arose, and so suddenly was the movement made that the soldiers had gained them before the surprised Highlanders had time to pursue.

W. HEATHER,
Corner Woolwich-st. and Brantmore Ros. Guelph, 2nd April 1873. dw

Referring to the cry raised because there is no Irish Catholic in the new Cabinet, the London Advertiser says: We hold the opinion that these constant enquiries as to nationality are unpatriotic and unbecoming. This in Canada, not Ireland or England. If we are ever to become anything as a people it must be by merging all nationalities—English, French, Irish, Scotch, German—into the one nationality of Canada. Are we to be everlastingly kicking up a Donnybrook rumpus in Canada as to the respective merits of Dutchmen, Frenchmen, Irishmen, Englishmen and Scotchmen? It is flattering certainly to the great majority of our population, who are Canadian born, that the Mail should bring it against Mr. Scott that he is not a suitable representative of the Catholics of Canada because he was born in Canada, notwithstanding the fact that Canadian-born Catholics outnumber all others.

An indication of the course likely to be taken by the Maritime Provinces was given at the great John A. banquet. There is no doubt that the smaller members of the Confederation don't like the cold shades of opposition, and won't have them for a permanent residence if they can help it. Mr. Mitchell, in the exuberance of his oration, in his after-dinner speech said he might not merge himself in the future with this Conservative party, great as were its virtues, for his Province might not approve of it, but he should ever maintain that its policy for the last six years—that is, since Mr. Peter Mitchell came over to help them—was such as to deserve the approval of Conservatives and Liberals alike. Hon. Peter Mitchell holds Conservative principles in one hand and Reform in the other, and calls upon the people to pay their money and take their choice.

IMPROVE NUTRITION.—The central idea in the treatment of all Chronic Wasting Diseases, resulting in Nervous Prostration and General Debility, is to improve the Digestion and Assimilation of Food, and the Formation of Healthy Blood. Dr. Whistler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Cellulose contains the only agents known that act directly as excitants of nutrition, by imparting tone to the Stomach, Liver and Pancreas, the great triad that prepares nourishment for building up the organs and tissues of the body. The action of this remarkable preparation is extraordinary in strength and vitalizing the constitution, by the removal of the exhausted by excesses, bad habits, or run down by old complaints that have resisted all ordinary methods of treatment. Being a delicious cordial to take, and perfectly harmless under all circumstances, it is eminently adapted to prostrate anemic women and delicate children.

A BOOK FOR EVERY MAN.—The "SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION," a Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of Exhausted Vitality, Premature Decline in Man, Nervous and Physical Debility, Hypochondria, Impotency, Gonorrhoea, or Stricture, Weakness, and all other diseases arising from the errors of youth or the indiscretions or excesses of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Thousands have been taught by this work the true way to health and happiness. It is the cheapest and best medical work ever published, and the only one on this class of health-requiring subjects. Revised, much enlarged, illustrated, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $1. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Address: PEARSON MEDICAL INSTITUTION, No. 4, Bullfinch Street, Boston, Mass., or Dr. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician, N.B.—The author may be consulted on the above as well as all diseases requiring skillful experience. msw
