TROUBLE AROSE OVER REMARK RELATIVE TO ENLISTING MATTER

An interesting case was heard in the police court this morning when George A. Blair and John Estabrooks appeared to answer a charge of fighting in King street. Both pleaded not guilty. Police-man Winter said he saw them at scuffle at the corner of Charlotte and King streets. Estabrooks was down and Blair was apparently leaning over him. When Estabrooks got up he again placed them under arrest. Cross-questioned by Blair, he said he did not know he was a constable. He saw no blows actually struck, but could see an attempt made. He considered them both fighting.

Soon after his arrival he proceeded to the departmental building and was closeted with Premier Clarke. He will go to St. John this evening.

MOTHER CALLED UPON TO GIVE EXPLANATION

Mrs. Alice Whitworth of Brussels street appeared in the police court this morning to answer a charge of neglecting her children. She has three little girls, ages ranging from two to four years, and the report read that she would lock them up in the house, while she attended amusements. She acknowledged that she frequently put them to bed and locked the door while she went out, but as the woman upstairs had the key she considered that it was all right. When asked if she was not afraid of them getting hold of matches, she said they could not do so as she had placed the matches in a cupboard. Magistrate Ritchie warned her that he might send her to jail and take the children away from her.

REPORT OF SINKING OF GERMAN SUBMARINE ON AUG. 19, CONFIRMED

New York, Sept. 10.—Confirmation of the London report that a German submarine was sunk on August 19, while shelling the British steamer Nicotian, was received here today with the arrival of the steamer Lapland. It was also learned that the British patrol boat which sank the submarine, flew an American flag, while approaching the vessel, but just before she was ready to open fire the British ensign was hoisted in its place. This German submarine was sunk on August 19, the day the Arabic was torpedoed, and not far from the site of that event. This gave rise to the belief in Great Britain that the Arabic's assailant had been sent to the sea bottom.

STREET RAILWAYS SIDE OF THE CASE GIVEN BY MANAGER

In reply to the letter of Com. Potts in the Times yesterday, H. M. Hopper, for the St. John Railway Company, said to the Times today:—"With reference to Commissioner Potts' communications to the Globe and Times yesterday afternoon, and the difficulty over Princess and Union streets arose from his requiring the company to replace its tracks there with grooved rails. While the court in the decision of the special case incidentally mentioned the matter of bringing the tracks up to grade from time to time as a matter of city engineering, it never intended to impose the burden upon the company of relaying its entire track system in the city at new grades established by the commissioner for the sole purpose of putting the company to the expense of providing a foundation for his new pavement, and we are sure the commissioner entirely misinterpreted the judgment. The judge in the special case held the commissioner to be in the wrong with reference to his contentions as to Union and Princess streets, and under the agreement upon which the case was decided, it is put to the expense of these places by the company at these places, the commissioner is held to be in the wrong in his contention that the company should be held to the expense of relaying its tracks there with grooved rails. LOCAL NEWS

Everyone can help $50,000 in a week for the patriotic fund.

A fire that came near having serious results started about 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the schooner W. B. & W. L. Tuck, loaded with lumber and lying at Gregory's wharf. A pot of tar upset on the forecastle and a blaze resulted. An alarm was promptly sounded from box 142 and the chemical responded. It took only a few minutes to extinguish the blaze.

A TIMELY PROTEST

The lack of business ability in the conduct of military affairs in Canada after more than a year of war is becoming the subject of much criticism throughout the country.

"I don't make any threats of what I am going to do. But I make this simple statement: I have a right to run my factory exactly as I am running it; I shall continue so to run it as long as I find it profitable or pleasant; and as long as I do run it, I am going to run it with perfect safety to every workman in it, to the family of every workman in it and to every stockholder in it.

been watching developments very closely, and has acted promptly in the case of Archibald and Dr. Dumba. There is a steadily growing feeling of irritation in the country over the interference of German sympathizers with the business of the country.

There is still the question of the Arab. If the German reply in regard to that matter is satisfactory to President Wilson the fact will not add to his reputation for discernment, and regard for the rights and the dignity of American citizenship.

THE RECALL OF DUMBA. The government of the United States has asked for the recall of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador at Washington.

For some time past the number of fires or explosions in munition plants in the United States has been cited by the press as entirely too great to be purely accidental, and many American manufacturers of munitions for the Allies have received letters threatening them with death or the destruction of their property.

"I don't know why we came in here," said Mrs. Bored, as she settled herself down in a restaurant. "I'm not a bit hungry."

HEROIC WOMEN. One cannot read the report of the women's meeting in the Opera House yesterday without experiencing a thrill of that same patriotic fervor which animated the mothers and wives who have encouraged their men to go to the front and strike a blow for the honor of women and the triumph of liberty and righteousness.

THE CONSERVATIVES. To the Southampton Railway scandal, the timber lease scandal, and the Valley Railway scandal has been added the Kent and Gloucester county scandal, winding up with the humiliating confession of Mr. A. J. H. Stewart, of which the St. John Globe says:—"Evidence given by Mr. Stewart, M. L. A., before Commissioner Chandler, should be sufficient in itself to end the public career of Mr. Stewart. No longer should the government of New Brunswick recognize in any way his official status, and if there is power to deal with his case in a broader way that power should be exercised. Manitoba is showing the way New Brunswick and every other province must follow if clean politics is to mean anything more than a catch phrase."

There are two other matters yet to be probed. They are the hold up of the liquor dealers and the affair of the patriotic potatoes. Mr. Carter has proved to the hilt what he set out to prove in other cases, and only awaits an opportunity to make further exposures quite as damaging in their effect upon the reputation of the provincial government.

The Standard holds up the members of the provincial government and their supporters, including Messrs Stewart and Robichaud, and not forgetting Mr. Fleming, as outstanding representatives of the great Conservative party in this province, who are the victims of vicious partisan attacks by the Times and Telegraph. Does the Conservative party accept these gentlemen as its leaders, and as typical of its political principles? From the purely party standpoint the Liberals could ask nothing better, but is it not a little hard on the Conservative party? What will the party do with Mr. Stewart and his associates?

MAGIC BAKING POWDER. LIGHTER VEIN. "Mister," said the small boy who was sitting on a rock by the roadside, "do you suppose there's any kidnapers going through the country this time of year in automobiles?"

COAL SAVED - IS MONEY SAVED. All housekeepers are quick to appreciate the all-round perfect service given by the Enterprise "Scorcher". One half more heat at two-thirds the usual cost.

The New Champion Steel Range. This Steel Range will give you satisfaction in baking, heating and quality, having a lift top, braised oven bottom, gas and smoke-consuming back, large water-front, roomy sah pan, and everything that is useful in a stove to make it one of the most desirable ranges on the market.

The Latest Fad REGIMENTAL BUTTONS. We have had made specially for us the buttons of a number of local regiments now at the front. The demand has far exceeded our expectation.

See Our Men's Window. We are showing a special value in Men's Boots at $5.50. It's a new Fall style, made of good quality calf leather with leather lining and heavy viscolized soles, which are "Goodyear Welt" sewn.

FOLEY'S STOVE LININGS. THAT LAST THAT YOU PUT INTO YOUR STOVE. This is What They Cost Put INTO YOUR STOVE. 8-18 Stoves with water front, $1.00. 8-18 Stoves without water front, $1.25. 8-20 Stoves with water front, $1.25. 8-20 Stoves without water front, $1.50.

THE SUBMARINE HARVEST

Map of the zone of submarine activity around the British Isles, where approximately 150 large ships and perhaps many more smaller craft have been sunk. The position of the Lusitania when she was torpedoed is indicated by the numeral 1, that of the Arabic by 2 and that of the Lusitania by 3. The solid black circles indicate where 111 ships were sunk by submarine blockade of the British coast, and June 1.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT TUBERCULOSIS

Issued by The Department of Public Health, Nova Scotia

Tuberculosis, a preventable disease and in its early stage a curable disease, is the cause of nearly one-eighth of the deaths in Nova Scotia.

Because of the long period of invalidism which it ordinarily entails, it is accountable for much economic loss. It is not improbable that the yearly economic loss to the people of Nova Scotia, attributable to this disease, is nearly $8,500,000.

A disease which is accountable for so many deaths, for so much suffering and sorrow and deprivation, and for such an enormous economic loss, should surely command our attention.

The disease is due to a germ which is very easily disseminated and is highly contagious. It is preventable and is shown by the experiences of many countries, which have greatly reduced its prevalence. In some places the death rate has been reduced fully fifty per cent.

That it is curable is shown by the results obtained in sanatoria everywhere. Our own provincial sanatorium has demonstrated this in a very striking manner. And who has not friends who have been cured in their own homes?

The disease is due to a germ which escapes from the bodies of consumptive patients in the expectoration and other discharges. If these discharges are properly disinfected, or destroyed by burning, the disease will not be communicated to others.

Infection by tuberculosis is the result of carelessness on the part of those who suffer from the disease. Many persons do not realize that they are tubercular, and quite innocently cause others to be infected. Remember that tuberculosis is much the commonest of diseases, and if you feel at all unwell it is possible that you may be developing this disease. Consult your doctor. Thus you may not only save your own life, but may prevent many others from becoming infected.

Three great factors in the cure of tuberculosis are sunlight, fresh air and good food. These are also the great factors in the prevention of the disease. The healthiest person cannot afford to neglect the sun and the air from his shop, office, workroom or dwelling.

If you are tubercular, do not take patent medicines. These nearly all contain alcohol, which may give a temporary sense of improvement, but which is nevertheless, usually, distinctly harmful to tubercular subjects.

A careful dealing with preventive measures in tuberculosis may be obtained free of charge by applying to the Provincial Health Officer, Halifax.

NOT ALLOWED TO HAVE LONG TROUSERS; BOY SUICIDES

Revere, Sept. 9.—Roger Bevilacqua, 17 son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Bevilacqua of 109 Vane street, committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas at his home. The boy was generally known by the name of Drinkwater, the English equivalent of his Italian name. Mr. Bevilacqua is a barber employed in Boston, and the family is highly respected in the neighborhood where general sympathy is expressed for the afflicted parents.

The boy's body was found by his sister who went to his room to call him. The police were notified and the pulmotor was used in an effort to revive the victim, but without success. Physicians said he had been dead about eight hours.

It is thought the boy grieved over a slight difference with his father. The boy wanted a new suit with long trousers, but the father had put him off.

The Headaches that so many women suffer from are often due to a congested state of the liver—the body's filter. What is needed is a gentle tonic—efficient, to produce a healthy and normal action of the digestive organs and rid the blood of impurities. In such cases nothing is so good as —the world's household remedy for more than forty years. Its action is gentle and natural, cleansing the system, banishing headaches and building up and purifying the blood.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

BRAVE RESCUE BY A SOCIETY WOMAN

In Silk Dress Jumps in After Drowning Man and Brings Him to Shore

New York, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Towbridge Callaway, whose husband is the business partner of Stuyvesant Fish, and son of the late E. R. Callaway, former president of the New York Central Railroad, is being acclaimed a heroine at Spring Lake, N. J., where the Callaways have a summer home. Every one who has seen Mrs. Callaway in her silk dress and white slippers was displayed by her in the rescue of a man who was drowning 100 feet offshore.

While 35 men in bathing suits along the beach hesitated to venture to the man's aid, Mrs. Callaway jumped in long enough to cast off a sweater, but otherwise dressed save that she wore slippers as she ran—plunged into the surf in her silk gown and went out after the imperiled bather.

He was Axel Benson, a butler in the summer home of Mrs. Bancroft Davis of Washington. Caught in a sea pass he had become exhausted in his efforts to fight his way out of it. He had too little breath to cry for help and too little strength to swim.

Mrs. Callaway was strolling along the boardwalk with her three small children when she saw the man's plight. She did not call upon any of the men in the beach to go out to help Benson but jumped down from the boardwalk and took to the water.

An expert swimmer from girlhood, she approached Benson with swift strokes. When she got about half way out to him he was so far gone that he went under. She came to the surface again but when she was close he sank again.

She dived for the drowning man and brought him to the surface with a firm hold on his hair. He was unconscious.

Knowing the strength of the current too well to exhaust herself in making a direct fight to reach shore Mrs. Callaway drifted on until she gradually worked her way out of the difficult situation. She and Benson were fully a quarter of a mile off shore before she turned and began to swim back with him.

By this time men on the beach had been aroused and swam to help Mrs. Callaway. But she was far from the end of her strength and ignored their proffers of assistance, bringing the unconscious man to shore unaided.

She followed the men to the Spring Lake Bathing and Tennis Club and directed the use of the pulmotor and in fifteen minutes had restored the butler to consciousness. An hour later Towbridge Callaway distinguished herself by performing a similar feat. He swam out and brought in a drowning man.

Hints for the Cook

Peach Marmalade.
Boil together 3 pounds of sugar and 3 cups of cold water 15 minutes. Add 24 peaches cut up small and boil 1 1/2 hours. Strain through a cloth. Put in a jar and seal with wax.

Peach Tart.
Line petty tins with puff paste, prick several times with a fork and bake in a moderate oven. Peel some large peaches, cut them in halves, remove the pits and place a blanched almond in each half. Boil the peaches for ten minutes in water and strain. Thicken each cup of juice with one teaspoon of arrowroot or cornstarch, add 1-2 cup of sugar and 1 teaspoon of lemon juice. Place half a peach in each shell of paste, pour in a little of the thickened juice and bake until the fruit is tender.

Peach Pudding.
Mix two tablespoons flour thoroughly with one cup sugar. Pare good ripe peaches, cut into halves, leaving in a few seeds. Put a layer in a deep earthen pudding dish and cover with half of the prepared sugar. Add a second layer of peaches. Cover with rest of the sugar. Dot with bits of butter. Pour in one cup of water. Cover with a rich biscuit dough. Make incisions in three or four places as the juices will not run out if the dish is deep enough. Bake in a quick oven. No sauce is needed, but cream may be used. Canned peaches may be used instead of the fresh fruit.

Ginger Apples.
Equal quantities of firm tart apples and brown sugar. Pare, core and cut into small pieces (about like dice) the apples. Make a syrup of the brown sugar, add carefully, add the grated peel and juice of two lemons and a few pieces of thinly sliced preserved dry ginger (or the ginger may be chopped not too finely). Add apples to the syrup and boil till the apples are clear and well cooked. Put into glass jars. Very delicious with meats.

Cautious.
He—"Why do you refuse Ethel's hand to Mr. Noyce?" Don't you want your daughter married off?"
He—"Yes; but I am trying to avoid her having a son-in-law married on."

EFFECTIVE PLAN TO MATCH THE "ROAD HOG"

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 9.—Automobiles who suffer from the activities of the "road hog" are recommended to Dr. A. L. Marks of Spokane, who by close study of the science of grenade throwing as practiced in Europe trench warfare, thinks he has evolved a sure way of having a non-in-law married on.

The Disease-Carrying Cat

(By John Huber, M. D.)

There is at least one society (its membership is made up in large part of elderly maiden ladies) for the preservation of cats against the onset of wicked small boys and against those cruel doctors who would vivisect cats under the base pretense of benefiting human-kind. There is here no desire to hurt anybody's feelings, but only to instruct all who, if the choice must be made, would prefer to be tenderly careful of child life, rather than to manifest a perverse sociophilia by pampering stray, ownerless, oftentimes infectious, many-cats-alibey, mewing, scratching cats—which would be far better off, from every rational and essentially humane point of view, in the lethal chamber. Many such cats are a serious menace to human health and life. Medical literature sets forth succinctly how the infections of diphtheria, grippa, the common cold, pneumonia, tuberculosis, mumps, measles, scarlet fever, ring worm, typhus, typhoid, and relapsing fever, cholera, dysentery, summer complaints, surgical infections, foot-and-mouth disease, tapeworm, tetanus, and rabies have been transmitted to human-kind by the agency of cats. Moreover nearly six per cent (5.9) of cats are reported to have cancer, and there is also a well-defined cat asthma, the paroxysm of difficult breathing, gray face, and blue lips being brought on by the inhalation of cat emanations, as hay fever or rose asthma is brought on by inhaling various dusts and pollens. A cousin of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, and one of the sanest and most normal of men, suffered greatly if a cat is inadvisable to him, were in an adjoining room. This phenomenon moved the great novelist to write a fine paper on Allorophobia (the fear of cats) the charm of which would entice any reader, and in which sufficient instances are given to convince any skeptic.

LOCAL NEWS

At a meeting of the local Association of Boy Scouts last evening plans for the winter season were discussed. Classes for scout masters will be held in Bond's restaurant on the third Tuesday of each month. Seven candidates were initiated at the meeting of the Pioneer Lodge, I.O.O.F., last evening. Next Tuesday all the city lodges will unite in West St. John in celebrating visiting members from Chelsea, Mass. Pictorial Review Magazine for October now on sale at Daniel's. It shows a lot of new advance styles in fall and winter garments, excellent short stories and other interesting reading matter. The October patterns are here also. A post-card containing his picture was received from Lieut. R. F. Steeves, from a prison-camp in Germany yesterday by his brother, C. McN. Steeves here. He said he was in good health.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Scott-Tayes. At Hillside, Kings Co., on Wednesday, September 1, Lillian Jean, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tayes, was united in marriage with James Robert Scott, of Upper Hammond. Stratton-Gibson. "Birchside Cottage," the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gibson, Moncton, was the scene of an interesting event at noon on Tuesday, when their daughter, Annie Olive Albee, became the bride of Lewellyn Philip Stratton, manager of the Magill Press, Ltd. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Stratton and daughter Frances of Sydney, N. S.; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Irvin of St. John, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lounsbury of New York, Cecil J. Havill of Halifax, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Gillman of Baddeck, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Jones of Salisbury, Miss Reta Urstman of New York, and others. The newest patriotic slogan—$50,000 in a week!

BEFORE AND AFTER

Royal Canadians Safe In England; Sailed From Halifax

(Halifax Chronicle, Tuesday) The Royal Canadian Regiment, 1100 strong, aboard the troopship Caldonia, which sailed from Halifax at ten minutes to eight o'clock, Thursday evening August 28, arrived at Plymouth, England, at ten o'clock yesterday morning, according to private advice given to the Morning Chronicle last evening. The regiment was immediately sent forward to Shorecliffe where it will go into training with the other Canadian forces now there. The regiment embarked at the terminals, Halifax, on the morning of August 24th and the ship drew out to the stream remaining there until she sailed on the following Thursday evening.

The Caldonia was thus approximately nine days on her trip over, which suggests that she made a good passage as the time is short considering the Caldonia was not a fast ship. First Permanent Corps The going forth to war of the Royal Canadian Regiment meant something new in Canada's military history—it was the first permanent regular troops to leave Canada for the active service abroad. The regiment, as its name conveys is thoroughly Canadian. Other battalions to go overseas have been provincial, but with the exception perhaps of the Princess Pals, going as units representing their provinces, but in the case of the Royal Canadians it stands for just what its name conveys, Canada royal in its treatment of dominion and people. To Halifax, however, it means more perhaps than to any other city of Canada, for since 1905 it constituted the only infantry regiment garrisoning the seaboard capital, the "Warden of the North."

Organization of Regiment The Royal Canadian Regiment had its inception several years before the dominion government took over the garrisoning of Canada from the Imperial authorities. It was organized for the special purpose of training the officers and men. There were five companies in the original regiment, each company stationed at different parts of Canada. Fredericton, Quebec, Toronto, London and Vancouver were the various points at which these companies were stationed as training depots. In 1905 the year the Imperial government withdrew their forces and the protection of the dominion was put into Canadian hands for keeping these various depots were brought together, welded into one regiment and stationed at Halifax for garrison of the eastern capital.

Many Changes in Corps From that date to the outbreak of the war they were the only infantry battalion in the Halifax garrison. Nine years saw many changes. The original companies contained mostly Canadians, but the re-formation of the battalion brought in a number of ex-Imperial men and several ex-Imperial officers. Nine years were also long enough to weld together the people of Halifax with kindest associations with the Royal Canadians. Not a few of the officers and a number of the men married in the Nova Scotian capital. Not a few of both had their homes in this city and were living here as permanent residents.

During this time through the wonderful ability for musical leadership displayed by Bandmaster Ryan (afterwards raised to the rank of lieutenant as a reward for his marked talent and his loyal efforts) the regiment became famous for its band. The arts of peace, instead of those of war had made the Royal Canadian Regiment one of the best known military aggregations not alone in Canada, but in America. Canadian cities bid for an opportunity to entertain it, the one or two American cities which had the distinction of having the band as its guests, remember the event as an epoch in their musical history.

Best in Canada Then came the war. Canada took stock of her military resources, and the Royal Canadian Regiment stood first. It was probably the best regular permanent body of troops in the dominion—but more, it garrisoned the most strategic place in all the empire outside of the British Isles. After the first weeks of the war had passed, confidence in the situation in Canada became stronger, and the need of relieving imperial troops for service at the front. This was in September of 1914, the second month of the war.

The Commanding Officers The first commanding officer of the Royal Canadian Regiment was Colonel Otter, now Major-General Sir W. D. Otter, directing the interim work throughout Canada. The next in command was Colonel Septimus Denison, now Quarter-Master-General. Succeeding him was Colonel Fagan, who is now on the 8th Divisional Staff, as A. A. G. at Quebec. The fourth, and present com-

MORNING WAR SUMMARY

London, Sept. 9, 10 p. m.—The German Crown Prince is making another determined attempt to break through the French lines in the Argonne, and, according to the Berlin official statement, has succeeded in taking trenches over a front of two kilometers (one and one-quarter miles) and to a depth of from 300 to 500 metres, capturing 2,000 prisoners, 48 machine guns and 64 mine-throwers. The French, both in their midnight report and again this afternoon, admit that the Germans had gained a partial success, but declare that in most instances they were thrown back with heavy losses.

This is the second effort of the German Emperor's heir to win a victory in this region within the last three months, and, although on each occasion he gained a small amount of ground, he is apparently as far from his objective this time as on the previous occasion. Fighting was in progress all yesterday and throughout the night, and was still going on when the last report was issued. This doubtless is the German reply to the artillery bombardment which the Allies kept up for fifteen days, but which seems to be dying down without any infantry attacks following it, as had been anticipated. Instead, except for heavy gun action south of Arras, bomb-throwing seems to have taken its place.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—A few glimpses of the glorious record of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry were given to you; correspondent this afternoon by Lieut. H. S. DeBay, of Caledonia Springs, who is home on sick leave with two shrapnel wounds in his arm. Lieut. DeBay, who is of Belgian ancestry was the last of the officers who went with the regiment from Ottawa twelve months ago to be wounded. Only one other officer and twelve men had up to May 5, when he was wounded, remained unscathed. Of the 1,100 men who went from Ottawa every one but those fifteen have appeared on their country's roll of honor, either as dead or wounded, or invalided. The army records show that upwards of 3,000 men have passed through the regiment since it first went under fire on January 6.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 9.—In its note to the United States on the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic, the German government says that "it most deeply regrets that lives were lost through the action of the commander; it particularly expresses its regret to the government of the United States on account of the death of American citizens," and adds: "The German government is unable, however, to acknowledge any obligation to grant indemnity in the matter, even if the commander should have been mistaken as to the aggressive intentions of the Arabic."

Ask For Recall of Dumba

Washington, Sept. 9.—Ambassador Penfield, at Vienna was instructed by cable tonight to inform the Austro-Hungarian government that Dr. Constantin Dumba no longer is acceptable as an envoy to the United States, and to ask for his recall. Secretary Lansing formally announced the action. It was the answer of the American government to Dr. Dumba's explanation of his intercepted letter to Vienna outlining plans for handicapping plants in this country making war supplies for the Allies.

DROWNED AT GAGETOWN

Gagetown, N. B., Sept. 8.—A drowning accident occurred at the Cosnar Farm, Lower Gagetown, on Tuesday evening, when a young Scotchman, William Dickson, was drowned, and a Scotch boy, who was with him, barely escaped the same fate. The two young men were crossing a river from the inter-valle to the farm in a canoe, about 8 o'clock in the evening, when a sudden storm on the part of one of them overturned the canoe. Neither could swim, and Dickson soon went down, but those who gathered at the spot were able to save his companion. Dickson was twenty-one years of age, and had worked in Sussex for a time. Not being well, he had returned to Cosnar Farm for the summer. He was very favorably known by all with whom he had been associated. This is the first fatality which has occurred at the Cosnar Farm, although it has been instituted for several years, and has had a large number of boys under its charge.

A SPLENDID EFFORT.

One of the brightest efforts yet in a patriotic sense in the province is perhaps that of a blind girl, Miss MacDonald, at Welsford. Feeling that she had been unable to do much in the way of making socks as others could, she conceived the idea of holding a pie social. This she carried out so finely that it was a marked success for pie socials in the district. Mrs. George McAvity spoke on the work of the Soldiers' Comfort Association and a total of $38 was taken.

LARGE SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

Up to yesterday, 1,001 permits had been issued at the office of the board of school trustees. At approximately the same date last year, 1,008 had been issued and in 1913 on the same date the number was 1,127. It is reported that the upper grades are all well crowded, an unusual number having entered grade IX, of the High schools. Previously a large dropping off was noticeable in the jump from grade VIII to the High schools, but this year there was a pronounced increase in attendance there.

CARING FOR CANADA'S WOUNDED SOLDIERS

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—That the Canadian army medical service at the front is splendidly organized under Surgeon-General Guy Carleton Jones, and that the women of Canada should not by any means relax their efforts to supply comforts and extra clothing for the men, and surgical supplies for the hospitals, is the word brought back from the front by Major C. E. Doherty, of New Westminister, assistant director of medical supplies for the Canadian overseas forces. Major Doherty reached Ottawa today from London, having been brought over by the government to organize the work of looking after the invalid Canadians who are returning to Canada either to convalesce before returning to the war, or to be discharged, on pension, after their cases have been passed upon by the medical boards. There are now about 8,000 of these in Great Britain, and most of them will be back in Canada before Christmas. A few hundred have already arrived and every boat from now on will bring most of them. Major Doherty will be attached to militia headquarters here after a trip through the west, on which he started tonight. He will visit Winnipeg and other militia districts, headquarters as far west as Victoria, before returning. Major Doherty is a brother of Manning W. Doherty of St. John.

WANTS PROTECTION FOR GERMAN SUBMARINES

German Paper in Dread of the "Teachorous Attacks of Passenger Steamer"

Berlin, Sept. 9.—The Hamburger Fremdenblatt, in an editorial on German-American relations written before the Heppner incident, claims for fresh proof of American neutrality. It says: "President Wilson will now have to declare himself. We offer before him the world proof that we are not war-mad ones who know no other pleasure than to offend all the world. President Wilson, therefore, must now speak out and give proof that he is not already in England's pay. He will have to show whether he is serious about the freedom of the seas, and whether he is emphatically neutral toward England as toward us. We know well that our enemy is not honorable, but is a robber and a pirate. Consequently there falls upon President Wilson a tremendous heavy responsibility for the behavior of English passenger ships. He alone can know whether he can bear this responsibility. If a single German submarine was sunk or even exposed to the danger of being sunk by the treacherous attack of an English passenger steamer, if summoned to stop, our present concession would, of course, immediately be null and void. But then the world will know who to blame and that not our enemies, but we maintain the spirit of true humanity, even in view of that most terrible crime perpetrated upon whole people were threatened, the starting of its women, old men and babies. The London Times says this morning: 'After the news had been broken by messages from England, the German newspapers were permitted on Friday to publish semi-officially the communications made last week by the German embassy to the United States government. According to the German text, the new instructions apply to passenger steamers. "The Cologne Gazette at once protested against the suggestion that Germany had been influenced by mysterious losses of German submarines. Other day's papers, but as might have been expected, Hamburg is furious. The Hamburger Nachrichten publishes a brief and acid note. "The little girl, climbed on the ice wagon that had stopped in the neighborhood and was caught in one of the wheels when the horses started. The weight of the wagon crushed the girl's body resulting in almost instant death. Officers or Nothing. Recruiting Sergeant Tells of The Work HIS VARIED EXPERIENCES

Well Dressed Young Men The Hardest to Convince—Wounded Soldiers The Best Agents

(Toronto Telegram) When the officers of the 10th Regiment on the advice of a British army veteran, decided to place beribboned recruiting sergeants in the streets of Toronto, they set an example which has been widely copied by units, not only in this city, but in numerous other large centres of population in Canada. The recruiting sergeant has justified his appointment according to most regimental officers, though opinion is still divided as to the best manner in which to induce the "lackers" to enlist and do his bit for King and Empire. Some think the open-air patriotic meetings are the best recruiting medium, others pin their faith to posters and newspaper appeals, while a few believe that regimental route marches, headed by bands playing stirring national tunes, bring the best results. Has Come to Stay. However, whichever theory may be right, the recruiting sergeant has come to stay—at any rate as long as our wars last—and thanks to his persuasive tongue considerable numbers of civilians have been induced to don the khaki and join in the fight for freedom. The Telegram had a chat with a member of the fraternity, a well set-up sergeant with the ribbons of two campaigns on his breast. "This is not exactly new work to me," said the sergeant, "for when I was serving in my old imperial regiment I was assigned to recruiting duty at the regimental depot. It is a different proposition in war time, though, for we now get men who would never dream of joining in the army in time of peace." How Recruiters Work. "Do you tackle every young fellow you meet?" inquired The Telegram. "The non-com, grinned broadly. 'I did not' he said, 'but I don't now. When I see a fellow looking for work, I engage them in conversation and sound their views on the war. It's funny how some men take your words. One young chap was looking at a big placard showing the Belgians being freed from Antwerp and explaining it to a fellow. 'Why would you like to go and help drive the Germans out of Belgium?' "Thought It An Insult. "He looked at me for a moment with a frown, and then he said something under his breath about being insulted. The young woman, however, was quite angry, and she moved off on her companion's arm she shot the remark over her shoulder. 'If you are so anxious to drive the Germans out of Belgium, why would you like to go and help drive the Germans out of Belgium?' "It was no use trying to continue the argument, though I might have told her that I was going to the front and that I had given up my home, family and a good job for that purpose. The Hardest Cases. "The young, well-dressed men are the hardest to tackle. You know the sort I mean—suit in the latest style, pants nicely creased, shoes polished so they can be seen for miles, and perhaps a cane to top their general appearance. If they carry a paper you can bet any odds that the outbreak has got the latest sporting news on it. Trying to persuade this type is like trying to bore holes in the sidewalk with a garden hose. They only laugh in your face, or try and turn the joke on you. I remember an officer recently returned from France talking to a group of this sort of young fellows and striving to point out the path of duty. Not Taking Chances. "This officer had his left arm in a sling, and one of the group a strapping young fellow, taken with a fit of the matter, 'I was hit by a shrapnel bullet,' he said, 'and the nerves are partially paralyzed.' "It is surprising, too, the young men can get a commission, but will not go in the ranks. Many of them have never had the slightest experience of soldiering and yet they think they are quite competent to lead men into action against the most highly trained troops in the world. Officers or Nothing. "It is no use telling these cocksure youngsters that an officer in this war has tremendous responsibilities and that his risks are proportionately as great. Not a bit of it. They mention some friend who has been appointed lieutenant or captain and say they would refuse to serve in a subordinate rank to him. "Do you think I would salute Bill Smith?" they ask, a chap who was my junior at school? No chance. If he is fit to be a lieutenant, then I am too. The Real Patriots. TO ALL MEN Rich, Poor, Good or Bad: GET INTO KHAKI!

Help Your Pals Win

Many Hands Make Light Work

Must have dropped about sixty, all in the space of about five minutes, and in that short time they visited three small towns, all inside a radius of three miles from where we were standing. The sound of the last explosion had hardly finished vibrating from the surrounding hills than the huge airship came racing toward us, this time flying very much higher, and her departure was hastened by a salvo of shots from anti-aircraft guns which had hastily been brought into action. Unfortunately, none of the shots seemed to be effective, and once more a Zeppelin had accomplished its mission of destruction upon innocent women and children, and got away in safety. We waited till some time after the Zeppelin's departure before setting off on our return journey, which, of course, had to be made without lights. It was a ghastly journey, groping our way through the dark country roads, quite in keeping with the nerve-racking experience we had just previously gone through. We arrived back at our camp about three o'clock in the morning thoroughly tired out. The next day we took another journey to the scene of the raid, visiting all three towns that had attracted the Zeppelin's attention the previous evening. At the first we found that they had dropped about thirty bombs, and the result was one sheep and three hens killed. About twenty of the bombs had not exploded; these the police had safely gathered in at the office of the chief constable of the town. The damage done at the other towns was much greater. Unfortunately about six women and children were killed and about twenty people injured, all civilians, whilst considerable damage had been done to property. I might add that these three towns have no military or naval significance whatsoever, but that one of them has a beautiful historic church which was probably the raiders' aim; fortunately they did not get anywhere near it. Since the night of the raid we have been very careful about lights, and none are allowed in the tents at all after eight o'clock. HON. WILL CROOKS AFTER VISIT TO THE FRONT After a fortnight at the front, Will Crooks, M. P., is back in Poplar—"a better Briton than ever I was before," he says. He visited twenty-six camps, told stories, gave and got, to twenty-two great gatherings of fighting men, talked privately to hundreds more, conferred with the authorities on all sorts of matters relating to the soldiers' comfort. Mr. Crooks is going on "the stump" now to tell the workers of England that "every hour of slackening is as good as turning your back on a fallen friend."

Halifax Man, in Midst Of Zeppelin Raid, Writes Of It

(Halifax Recorder.) F. H. Gardner, formerly teacher at the School for the Deaf, has received the rapid promotion since leaving Halifax, April 10th, now being Quarter-Master Sergeant at the Canadian Convalescent Hospital, England, where they have 1800 patients and which is likely to be increased. Gardner has twice volunteered to take off his stripes and go to France, but the authorities have decided his services are of more importance where he is. Mr. Gardner was recently in the midst of a Zeppelin raid, and thus writes:— One night during the past week we had all the thrill of actual warfare, although we are tucked away down in rural England. During the course of the evening we heard rumors that the famous Zeppelins were expected. I was afraid that with us it was the old old story of the boy and the wolf, we had heard such rumors so often that they made no difference whatsoever in our actions. Fortunately for us the county police insisted on as little light as possible being shown from the first moment of our arrival in these parts, otherwise there is very little doubt that I would have stood a poor chance of ever penning these lines. On the night of the raid I happened to be paying a business visit to a private house about ten miles from our camp. The people of the house have been kind enough to take care for a few of our worst convalescent patients, in fact they have practically turned their home into a fully equipped hospital at their own expense; they have everything that you can think of to make the men happy and comfortable, and to facilitate speedy recovery. On the afternoon of the air raid I had journeyed over by motor car to take a few personal belongings to the men stationed there. After attending to the business that had taken me over I was invited to stay to dinner and spend the evening. As soon as darkness set in all the windows of the house were heavily curtained so that all lights would be obscured from the outside world. By some good fortune this duty was well attended to on the night in question, and the house viewed from the outside looked as if it were uninhabited, whilst everything inside was bright and cheerful. We were all enjoying ourselves to the top of our bent with music and conversation, when suddenly from the outside we heard a loud whirring noise, something totally different to anything that we had ever heard before. Immediately all conversation and music ceased, and from everyone in a hushed whisper came the one word "Zeppelins," and I must certainly confess that all faces in the room suddenly assumed a particularly pale hue. After the first shock was over orders were promptly given for all lights in the house to be put out. When this was done we very cautiously opened the door and emerged into the garden, scarcely daring to breathe, for the throbb of the engine sounded very near. It did not take us long to become accustomed to the darkness, and as soon as we were, a wonderful and awe-inspiring sight met our gaze; immediately above our heads, not more than five hundred feet away, as it seemed, was one of the largest and newest of Germany's Zeppelins. She was perfectly stationary and their exact location. We all just stood gawped at the monster thing, wondering how long it would be before the beautiful home from which we had just emerged would be rased to the ground, and what our chances were of emerging with a whole skin. We waited and watched for nearly twenty minutes, then suddenly out of the darkness there shot a beam of light directly upon the great airship, illuminating her from stem to stern. Fortunately the light was kept in the air or else we would have stood revealed to the occupants of the swinging car and then our doom would have been sealed. The light came from one of the many searchlights that are fixed up all over the country, this particular one was on the top of a hill outside a small country town about three miles away. The light revealed to us the huge dimensions of the ship, and I am sure that there would be no exaggeration in saying that she was at least five hundred feet in length. Immediately the light located her the engines were set racing and away she darted to the westward. In the space of a minute there was a series of loud reports and bright flashes; it was the Zeppelin's incendiary bombs being sent on their mission of destruction. They

Smart Fashions for War-Limited Incomes

It is a duty one owes to the country as well as one's family to economize. Men realize this, and even in the beginning of the season they are inclined to curtail their purchases of new clothes. Semi-ready tailoring helps a lot in the present emergency. Not alone for the systematic saving, but for the fact that in that one can choose well and quickly and feel certain that the choice will be satisfactory—like a friend that wears well. War is a serious business, and after many months we are realizing this to the full. Not that we are doleful or long-faced, but we know that light-hearted gaiety is not serene. Sack cloth and ashes are not yet in order, and one can yet be interested in the rich and attractive new styles shown in the Semi-ready designs. The tailoring of these garments has reached a high point of perfection, and the value price in the pocket shows careful and clever buying in a difficult war market. Woolen prices are soaring beyond reason—yet Semi-ready styles today are the same as ever. John P. Condon is showing all the new styles and fabrics, the latter of sterling British weave. He meets the general trend of economy with a splendid assortment of tailored suits at $15, $18 and $20. His Semi-ready store is at 84 King street.

AMATEURS IN THE LATEST GOLD RUSH

But Old-timers Are Plentiful in Kowkash Country GOLF, LAUNDRY, PLANTED

Many Well-known Names Are "Among Those Present"—Hundreds of Claims—Yield is Reported Promising

Grand, Ont., Sept. 10.—About fifteen square miles of the new Kowkash gold discovery district has been staked up to Tuesday, and nearly 180 prospectors ranging from amateurs, whom the gold fever has seized, to hardened veterans of the Yukon-Comstock lode, and other famous gold strikes, have been busy staking anything in the line as near the original discovery of King Deeds as possible.

Sections of the original discovery vein which showed no free gold have been prospecting for about two years along the line of the Transcontinental at Hartman, Ontario, and other points.

MENNONITES NOW BUY AUTOMOBILES

At Least Some of Younger Generation Do

IN THE "GERMAN TRACT"

Waterloo, Sept. 8.—The Mennonites of the "German Tract" have clung to the traditions of their pioneer forefathers though there are today signs of change. Men speak of the "Old" Mennonites and the "New" Mennonites—and of the "Top Buggy" Mennonites, too.

Simple as they are in their dress (they eschew to wear black or sombre grey) they think it no sin to cater to the "inner man" and weddings, funerals and Sundays are the occasions of most elaborate meals.

Business men have the greatest respect for the integrity of the "old" Mennonites, though they are apt to hint that the younger generation is becoming more "civilized" as one said and are apt to "live upon their fathers' reputations."

The "old" Mennonites would not enter litigation and would not go to war. During the war of 1812 they refused to bear arms, but made no objection to the government called upon them to act as stevedores. They refuse also to take out any insurance. Should fire or any one of them, destroying cattle or barns or dwelling, in an amazingly great fire, they state their unfortunate brother, they take seriously the injunction to have "all things in common."

ST. JOHN RAILWAY COMPANY BRINGS SUIT AGAINST CITY

Action For $5,000 Because of Loss of Revenue During Princess and Union Street Troubles — The Bridge Service

The St. John Railway Company has entered suit against the city for $5,000 damages for loss of revenue, sustained at the time the rails were torn up by the street department in Princess and Union streets.

The company has forwarded to the board of railway commissioners of Canada plans for special work and appliances, including the diamond crossing for the C. P. R., at the new bridge, and asking for a hearing before that body. The curves for the west side approach to the bridge have been ordered, and the factory promises shipment in a week or ten days.

OTHER PROCEEDINGS

Mayor Frank and Commissioner Potts are now threatened with further proceedings on the part of the court for the neglect or refusal of the city to remove the obstructions from the street railway route in Main street.

An order of the supreme court, chancery division, was served at city hall this morning ordering the mayor, the commissioner of public works, and all other persons concerned to appear before the court, in chambers, on September 18, at eleven o'clock, for a hearing on the application of the Saint John Railway Company for an attachment against Mayor Frank and Commissioner Potts because of their refusal and failure to remove the obstructions from the street railway line in Main street.

This is another step towards breaking the deadlock between the city and company which exists on account of the differences over the methods of completing the street paving work. It is now about ten days since the commissioner ripped the rails up and laid in their place a solid concrete pavement.

An injunction was secured by the company restraining the city from removing the rails and ordering the city to remove the existing obstruction. No more rails were interfered with, but the concrete has not been removed and this later order of the court is said to indicate a desire on the part of the company to take action under proceedings for contempt of court.

A special meeting of the council was held at noon today to consider the city's position. After a long session in private, it was announced that the matter is being left in the hands of the city solicitor to take the proper steps.

WATERBURY & RISING LTD.

ENTERTAIN TRAVELING STAFF AT DINNER AT GLEN FALLS

Waterbury & Rising's traveling staff, covering every town and village in the maritime provinces, assemble once a year for the purpose of re-stocking their sample trunks, obtaining necessary information, and getting in touch with the many phases of ever changing designs and styles. Realizing the valuable information to be obtained from a general exchange of opinion, ideas, etc., the president, Edward Rising, cordially invites the men of the road and directors of the company to an informal dinner.

This year the event took place last evening at the Manor House, Glen Falls. The party, numbering about twenty, were conveyed to Glen Falls in automobiles and at seven o'clock sat down to a sumptuous feast. At the completion of the meal, the dining room was cleared and the "dinnering" with its speeches, regaled with valuable information, urged a closer personal intimacy between the "dinnering" and customer, citing many instances under his own observation that were of mutual advantage to both.

J. Leary, dominion secretary of the Credit Men's Association, who was present as a guest, spoke for some thirty minutes, imparting in a charming manner, interesting information in connection with the administration of the laws of the various provinces, governing business, assignments, tenements, bankruptcies, etc. His talk was most interesting and entertaining. Mr. Leary is a speaker of more than ordinary ability, and in his capacity as an official of an organization that has to do with the financial standing of all business establishments, coupled with an experience as a newspaper editor, pleasant personality and the happy faculty of treating an otherwise "dry" subject in a delightfully refreshing manner, gave an address well worth while.

Short speeches were delivered by Harold W. Rising, Percy W. Wilbur and Arthur J. Stillwell. A very pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem.

FAIRVILLE SOLDIER OF THE 26TH HAS BEEN CHOSEN AS SNIPER

Thomas Meehan is One of 24—"Bud" Tippett in Re-union With Lancaster Lads

A letter has just come to hand, dated Aug. 17, from "Bud" Meehan of the 26th Battalion, to his wife in Fairville. He stated that he and twenty-three others, making a company of twenty-four, had been picked for very dangerous work, namely as snipers. Being allotted to this particular section is a compliment not only to the marksmanship of Soldier Meehan, but also to his personal courage, as a sniper's job, while very important, is particularly dangerous.

Writing to Mrs. Meehan he mentions the hazardous nature of his new vocation, but says that he is proud in being selected. He wishes he "could only be privileged to give a head on the leader himself and put him out of business."

"Bud" Tippett of Fairville visited the boys a while ago and they had some celebration. The Fairville lads met in Robert Kennedy's room and had a jolly sing-song and generally had a real time. The chaps were all sorry when told to bring the little time to a close.

The Fairville men are all in good health. Mr. Meehan was of the opinion they would go to France in about three weeks.

TILL THE BOYS COMES HOME

The following song was written by Private William Gormley of 85 Sheriff street, now with the 26th Battalion on foreign service:

They were summoned from the hillside,
They were called from the glen,
And the country found them ready
At the stirring call for men.

At the hour add to their hands
As the soldiers pass along,
And although your heart is breaking
Make it sing this cheery song.

Chorus
Keep the home fires burning,
While your hearts are yearning,
Though your lads are far away
They dream of home.

There's a silver lining
Through the dark cloud shining
Till the boys come home.

Overseas there comes a pleading,
"Help a nation in distress!"
And we gave our glorious laddies,
Honor but we do no less,
For no gallant sons of Britain
To a foreign yoke shall bend
And no Englishman is silent
To the sacred call of friend.

J. A. MARVIN, LIMITED, NOT DAMAGED.

In a report published in Wednesday's Times the name of J. A. Marvin, Limited, was included in a list of insurance risks in connection with the Moncton fire. J. A. Marvin, Limited had no fire loss and were not in any way damaged, and their name was included in the list through an error. Messrs. Marvin, Limited, were greatly surprised at finding their firm receiving any mention in connection with the fire, as no such mention was justified by the facts.

SOLDIER HONORED

Third of the Totten Boys Goes to Fight For King and Country

A pleasant time was spent on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wallace, when relatives gathered and presented to Pte. Arthur Totten a handsome gold mounted pipe, in honor of his departure with the 55th battalion for overseas service. Geo. Wallace made the presentation. Private Totten has two brothers serving under the colors. Driver Percy Totten, with the first Canadian contingent in France, and Joseph E. Totten, with 4th company, C. A. S. C., now in England.

AT THE BRIDGE.

The mound supporting the cables on the western side of the old Suspension Bridge was removed several days ago, and there is now quite a stretch of roadway available for street railway construction purposes.

It would seem to the casual observer as though work should be commenced soon if cars are to be operating across the new bridge by October, as promised. The people feel that the fine days should be taken full advantage of.

The old bridge is being rapidly demolished and only one wooden arch at each end now remains.

KERR-HULME

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in All Saints Church, on Sept. 6 by Rev. C. W. Follett, when he united in marriage George T. Kerr and Jennie, daughter of James Hulme of Lakewood. The bride looked charming as she entered the church with her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Bessie Jordan. The bride was attended by her sister, while Mr. Lyons supported the groom. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, with potted plants and ferns. At the conclusion of the ceremony the choir of the church sang "O Perfect Love." A reception was held at the home of the bride, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. Mid showers of rice and best wishes Mr. and Mrs. Kerr left for their home on the Hickey road. Many costly and useful presents were received by the popular people from their friends, who wish them all happiness.
