Measured Service For Business Phones And Increases For Others

MAY NOT PUT A CHECK UPON EVERY SALES SLIP

Casual Method in Tax Enforcement Possible Refunds When Impost Is Wiped Out But Not So Certain in Matter of Reductions—Some Phases of the Situation.

(Special to Times)—Ottawa, June 10—Officials of the finance department, paying no attention to the suggested modifications proposed by Sir Henry Drayton on the new taxes...

Through nothing official has been said, the department of finance has taken seriously the criticism that an army of officials would be needed to collect the tax. The number of men employed in being strictly held within limits...

Whatever modifications of the new taxes are made—and it may be said that the government is prepared to accept any thing which gains a reasonable support from a majority of the house in addition to the suggestions made by Sir Henry himself—the question of refunds becomes an important problem.

All these questions will have to be decided in the course of the session. The government has come to no decision on the point except as stated and except increase will not be retroactive, nor will the new taxes accepted be retroactive.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court yesterday afternoon a case against William H. Sharpe, charged with obstructing the course of justice, was resumed. The arguments of the counsel for the prosecution and defence were heard and the accused remanded. The magistrate refused to dismiss the case and also refused bail. W. M. Ryan appeared for the prosecution and W. R. Scott for the defence.

F. L. O'Brien, charged with supplying liquor without a license was again before the court. George Hughes, the informant, was put on the stand, but he said he had received no liquor in the accused's saloon. W. Dalton and Inspector McAlinh both testified that Hughes had made a statement that he had received whiskey from the accused. The case was postponed until this afternoon. W. M. Fevers and Other Prostrating Diseases that Exhaust the Blood.

There is often that extreme tired feeling, loss of appetite, tendency to anemia, nerve exhaustion, insect bowels, constipation and great danger of still further prostration and serious illness.

Hood's Sarsaparilla first works upon the blood. It is remarkable how promptly its purifying, vitalizing effect is noticed. It makes food taste good, promotes assimilation so as to help secure the greatest nourishment possible from the blood. Nerve strength and cheery health inevitably follow, further danger is avoided and the glad-to-alive feeling again prevails. To realize this is well, to realize it yourself is better.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today, and for a cathartic, nothing better than Hood's Pills. In small doses a great laxative; larger, an active cathartic.

FALSE TEETH BARRED BY FRANCE AS LUXURY

Paris, June 7—The 10,000,000 false teeth exported yearly from the United States, which have been classed here as luxuries and subject to importation prohibitions, will add at least 100 per cent. to the cost of Parisian dentistry.

French dentists are dismayed at their inability to meet the demands and are protesting to the Chamber of Deputies, demanding the abrogation of the decree. They point out that the French output of false teeth is less than a million a year, and that the British are able to supply only 10 per cent. of the number required to prevent France from becoming a nation of lactarians.

Did you ever hear a trombone laugh? Well! Harry Raderman has the only one in captivity and it's a wonder. You just simply have to laugh when you hear it. This is certainly one of the greatest dance numbers ever issued and is bound to be a success.

TIME FOR ACTION.

If the federal government has four million dollars invested in St. John harbor and the harbor commission act provides that three and a half per cent of that amount out of harbor revenue, how will the money be raised without making the rates prohibitive? For there would also have to be added the interest on all new expenditures. The city council should reject harbor commission forthwith and call upon the government to provide the port terminals needed to connect its own railway and steamship lines. Today's despatches tell us that the contract for bringing the McGivney branch up to the transcontinental standard has just been awarded. When this work is done and the bridge built at Fredericton there will be a great increase in winter traffic over the Canadian National Railway to this port. Yesterday's despatches told of four new government steamers to be ready for use within the next few weeks. The only Canadian winter ports for the large and growing fleet of the Canadian merchant marine are St. John and Halifax. With more railway and steamship traffic must come the facilities to ensure quick despatch from ship to train and from train to ship. St. John has not these facilities at present. Last winter wintered the reconstructed McGivney branch and Fredericton bridge will bring, and with a much smaller number of government steamers, the latter had to lie in the stream awaiting berths. Such waits involve heavy loss. No treatment can stand such delays. The government, therefore, must provide more berths as well as increased trackage at St. John, and there is no need of harbor commission to emphasize the fact. The government must as a simple business proposition expedite its own traffic. If the failure here to do something about harbor commission is made an excuse for delay, the city council can settle the matter by a simple vote rejecting the proposition. Then the way would be clear to put the question of additional berths for government steamers squarely up to the government. There should be no more delay. Parliament will soon be prorogued.

ENGLAND AND FREE TRADE.

In the course of his speech on the budget, Hon. Mr. Meighen, denouncing free trade, said: "Free trade has depopulated England; it has filled the emigrant ships with fugitives from her shores; it has scattered the manhood of Great Britain through the fields and workshops of the United States; it has starved and repressed and dwarfed the nascent industries of Ireland; it has reversed the supremacy that Britain held through centuries in the industrial life of the world; and caused her to concede the place to other great competing nations that adopted a different policy. Such is the history of free trade."

In contrast to Mr. Meighen's gloomy picture is a copy of a recent special number of the Leicester. England, Mail, whose editor, Mr. Alfred Gordon Sprigg, will be one of the English press delegates to Canada next month. This issue contains a trade supplement under the official authority of the Leicester Chamber of Commerce, and deals exhaustively with the industries of the city and their outlook. These include boots and shoes and auxiliary branches, blouse manufacture, wholesale clothing manufacture, hosiery and hosiery needs, elastic webs, engineering and allied trades. All of them are described as flourishing, and there is not one line in the whole issue to indicate that there is any desire for tariff protection. "Take the footwear industry," says the supplement. "A great modern hotel is a pressing need in St. John. Tourist traffic in summer and European travel in winter both call for greatly enlarged accommodation for a traffic that must grow rapidly from year to year. The assurance of such accommodation is very often the determining factor in the mind of tourist and traveler."

The lady in kilts who have won credit corps honors have put some of their leisure time to good use. The training they have received will be of lasting benefit. Nothing is more profitable than such discipline and training as will keep the boys of the community interested in games and healthy exercises in their leisure hours.

The citizens have learned with sincere regret of the grave illness of Sir Eschek McLeod, so long a distinguished jurist and familiar figure in this city and province.

The Glee Club in the North End schools might well be duplicated in other parts of the city. The influence of music is all too little regarded in St. John.

Halifax Shipyards are making a fight for the open shop. The progress of the struggle will be watched with interest.

THE DOCTOR.

The doctor felt my throbbing wrist, whose pulsebeats seemed to leap; he said, "You have the fever, I wist, and I'll prescribe some dope." And when I got the doctor's bill, a painful hour was mine; a sort of raw and clammy chill went sliding down my spine. I said, "It is a sin and shame, to tax me such a sum, and I shall climb that sawbouse frame, when next I see him come." And when I thought of all the toll it took to make him wince, I studied by the midnight oil until he sprained his eyes. He had to pay old misfit bones, and listen, by the day, to lecturers, whose musty tones would make a corpse gasp. He had to physic pauper gents to get his hand in right, and if they paid him fifty cents he wept from pure delight. He had to travel muddy roads in midnight rain and storm, while I was writing, when came his Christmas day; and if he's now often lacked a goose to eat, when came his Christmas day; and if he's now in Easy Street, he surely fought his way. "He's charging for the skill," he said, "that long hard years have brooded, and so I will not punch his head, or spall his some o' thout."

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Domestic Happenings of Other Days

STONEY CREEK.

On June 5, 1918, the United States army that was lying in Canada in the war of 1918-19-19-19 met with a severe defeat at Stoney Creek, Ontario and sustained great losses including the capture of Generals Chandler and Winter. The success in the hands of Colonel Haverstick, who had led an army from New Brunswick, offered to lead a night attack against the Americans as to throw the enemy on the defensive. The result was a complete surprise at Stoney Creek where the unprepared Americans were surrounded and routed in about an hour and a half. The small British force retired at daybreak in good order with the enemy in flight and with 100 prisoners including the two generals. They had also captured several guns of good type. The British army that they destroyed their baggage and munitions and fled to what is now known as Grimsby. The battle was a great stimulus for the British, for they had been met with with reverses and the fact that with a handful of men, they had put such an army to flight was the first of the reinforcements to a disappointed force. The Americans decided they would retire to their fortifications and the British to the Beaver Dam but the latter without Laura Secord for six or seven days of the officers talking of the plans of the enemy and making a terrible trip through the woods, she warned the British of the impending attack. The result was that when the enemy appeared they met another severe defeat.

SO FARES THE WORLD.

(Evolve from "A Sonnet-Sequence on Cities," by Maxwell Nixey Hays) Behold the throng in Earth's tense, sounding seats, The stern, swift stage whereon the pulsing race Reports itself in color, greed and grief Of Manhood with Maya, at its best. The world-wide wars, worn yet viewless of the feats, Wherein tragic cypress or the bays which face Each unit soul, yet seldom leaves her trace. In mart or highway of the fate he meets, In London or in Gotham boldly new, In Milan's capital or in the East. The throng, though tongue and custom change, again The mark of night presents, which seals from view The soul's strange struggle at the Fleish's face. So fares the world within the ways of men.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

Katie was evidently feeling embarrassed about something and she blushed prettily as she told the sister of her fiancé that she would like to buy a birth-day present for him.

"You know him better than I do," she said, "so I came to you to ask your advice."

"Yes," said her future sister-in-law inquiringly.

"What," went on the blushing Katie, "would you advise me to get?"

"Oh, I don't know," replied the other girl carelessly. "I could only advise you in general terms. From what I know of him, he should like something that he could pawn easily."

THE "MATTER WITH AMERICA."

What's the matter with America these days? Too many diamonds and not enough alarm clocks. Too many silk shirts and not enough overalls. Too many pointed-toe shoes and not enough square-toed ones. Too many serge suits and not enough overalls. Too much decollete and not enough aprons. Too many satin upholstered limousines and not enough cows. Too many consumers and not enough producers. Too much oil stock and not enough saving accounts—Fargo Forum.

LOCAL BOYS IN MCGILL PASS LISTS

In results of their year seasonal examinations in medicine, announced by McGill University yesterday, the following New Brunswick students are mentioned in the pass list: Edward Joseph Basen, Joseph Murray Baxter, Russell Henry Donnelly, of St. John, and Harold Hayes Sharp of Sussex. The following New Brunswick students are given in the pass list of second year medicine: Otty Blair Evans, Samuel Leslie Mitchell, Herbert Gordon Smith, of St. John; Frederick Douglas Ackman, of Moncton; Francis Joseph Buckley, of Gloucester Junction; Stanley Kilian Clark, of Lunenburg; Donald Smith MacIntosh, of West River, Pictou county; and Wallace Bertram Somerville, of Bristol.

At the monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society last night, with the president, A. M. Belding, in the chair, a letter was read from the Massachusetts society asking that this organization co-operate with them in investigating the facts of a little girl now in Boston, but supposed to have been adopted here. Rev. George Scott, in his report, said at present there were twenty-one inmates in the home and that last month was quiet as far as new cases were concerned.

EXPENSES MORE THAN THE INCOME

Old Ladies' Home Subscribers in Annual Session—Mrs. W. W. White New Director.

The subscribers of the Old Ladies' Home held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon with the president, W. S. Fisher, in the chair. Mr. Fisher was re-elected president and B. R. Armstrong secretary-treasurer for the ensuing year. Mrs. A. H. Hanington, who has been an active member of the board of directors for some years, tendered her resignation, which was accepted with regret. Mrs. W. W. White was appointed to the vacancy. In his report the president said that although the amount of the collections last year was $1600 more than the previous year the expenses were $1600 more than the income. He said that there had been a deficit for three years. The subscribers decided that something would have to be done to wipe out the deficit and a committee was appointed to send out circular letters in an effort to clear up the amount of the over-expenditure and provide for a possible deficit next year. Other matters of routine were attended to.

New York, June 11.—Motor trucks manned by former service men began yesterday to clear up the freight congestion at the piers of coastwise steamship lines, resulting from the longshoremen's strike. SCHOOL SHOULD BE HAPPY PLACE

So Says Julia Wade Abbott—
 Children Not "Disembodied Intellectuals" — The Kindergarten Element and Real Life.

(By Julia Wade Abbott.)
 Why should not schools change and grow better as well as other things in this modern world? We have waked up to the fact that "the whole boy comes to school." Long ago children were expected to become disembodied intellects once they had stepped over the solemn threshold. But the children remained the same children, and they did not shed their interests in the cloak room as they did their hats and coats. Long before manual training and nature study were recognized parts of the school curriculum, they were introduced surreptitiously by the small boy on the back seat.

 Jack-knives operated upon woodwork, as many a deep-scarred desk can testify.
 Nature study was also introduced unofficially; and June bugs, turtles and hoptoads played their part in the drama of teacher versus boy. We are beginning to realize that children learn many valuable things outside of school through their work and play and social intercourse, and we are beginning to realize that we may well use some of these interests in school.

No Child Can Be Educated Alone.
 The way a little child gains knowledge of the big world is through the lively and energetic way in which he plays out the life around him. At the age of five or six, if he is thinking he is "in action" at the same time. A large part of kindergarten education consists in furnishing the right kind of play material and the boys and girls to play with. The ability to work and play with other people, respecting their rights and enjoying their companionship, is one of the most valuable lessons any one can learn. No child can be educated alone.

 We are judged by the relationship we establish with our peers, not by our relationship to our inferiors or to our superiors. In many families the younger child must either defer to his older brother or sister because they are older, or else he is babied and indulged because he is younger. Adjustment to an entirely different situation. It is most interesting to watch how children of different temperaments and with different home training find themselves in the social life of the kindergarten.

"Playing House" in the Kindergarten.
 Through their play kindergarten children are not only learning the give-and-take of social life, but what they play around them and they begin to understand it better. Little mothers from time immemorial have gone round the mallberry bush, and ambitious small boys have played out what they wanted to be when they grew up. Spectacular callings make their appearance in the dash of the fire engine, the clang of the street car or the silent note of the hopper wagon! Firemen and the professions are too subtle for an intelligence only five years old,
 though in one kindergarten, prize lighter, garbage man and millionaire were suggested in connection with future callings. "Playing house" leads to a series of delightful plays through the year.
 The doll-babies are cared for, washed and dressed and taken for walks; but by and by the play grows bigger, and father is given his breakfast in the morning and goes to his work. Mother must shop at the store, and street cars are made of kindergarten chairs, and after work
 the family must be entertained, and small actors on a mimic stage develop their art. Then the circus comes to town and its glories are lived over again in the kindergarten. This dramatic play, with all its wealth of interest, is illustrated in song and picture and story. On the low bulletin boards in the kindergarten room are pictures of mothers and babies and different kinds of workmen and animals on the farm; pictures in bright and pretty colors that all children love.
 When good pictures to a child's attention
 leap into consciousness as the trolley car bears the children away from the city for one happy day in the country. After one such excursion the kindergarten children the next day heard some of the older children in the school assembly sing a song which had a line "Hear the happy children singing in the fields."
 When the kindergarten children had come back to their own room and were sitting rather awed and quiet on their small chairs, after the "big" experience of being with the whole school, one little maiden said with a sigh, "We were

 is more assimilable than olive oil

happy and we were singing in the fields!"
 The poet said, "Things we have passed perhaps a hundred times nor cared to see," we learn to love because a picture of these common things opens our eyes to their beauty; so Archie's eyes were opened. Jessie Wilcox Smith's picture of "Tinkle, tinkle, little star" had been placed on the low bulletin board in the kindergarten room, and the next day while Archie was looking at it he said to the teacher, "Last night I went to the corner to get a paper for my father, and a bunch of stars followed me back!" If you had met the little street Arab with the pennies held tight in his grubby little hand you might have seen only the commercial instinct that the city fosters in its children, but the kindergarten had opened the child's eyes to the sky above him whose beauties have to compensate the city child for the lack of trees and books and flowers.
 Happy experiences in school, enjoyed with so many little boys and girls, open the door to a new world.
 The family plays develop into an interest in all mother's work, and in father's work. Mothers shop at many kinds of stores, and fathers have to do many kinds of work. Excursions to grocery store and blacksmith shop give suggestion for new and richer expression in plays and games and hand-work. Every teacher who has had the satisfaction of taking thirty or forty eager little boys and girls out into the world to see things knows how much such an expedition means. They chatter joyously on the way, they skip and run races, and when they are "there," be it park, or store, or blacksmith's shop, "it" all exists for them. The walk home is more sedate, hands and pockets are filled with trophies, and dandelions from the field or rusty nails from the shop are equally interesting, and must be brought back to school and talked about and played with.

SCHOOL GRADING
 PLAN 3 YEARS OLD

Public Education Association
 Reviews Experimental Work — Eight Types of Classes.
 Eight separate types of classes for varying kinds of children have developed out of the experiment in grading children conducted for the last three years at Public School 64, Manhattan, New York. The Public Education Association, in reviewing the work, points out that the original plan was to test psychologically and physically every child who entered the school, and on the basis of these findings to classify the children in tentative groups for purposes of teaching to the end that "no talent, no denoted."
 "Term" Classes for Gifted Children.
 The eight types of classes that have developed are as follows, according to Elizabeth A. Irwin, psychologist of the Public Education Association:
 (1) Term classes, for very superior and gifted children. A specially enriched curriculum is provided which obvi-ates the skipping of grades by bright children. These comprise four classes with registers of twenty-five each.
 (2) Slightly above the average classes,
 for children able to do about the same work but a little more intensively than the average and occasionally to make an extra term. These comprise seven classes with registers of from thirty to forty each.
 (3) Average classes, for children mentally and physically normal. These comprise seven classes with registers of about forty each.
 (4) Slightly below the average classes,
 for slower children, who are not defectively backward. These classes exist only where the grades are large enough in number for three regular groups. Not all grades have them; therefore there are at present but two classes, with registers of forty each.
 (5) Opportunity classes for the backward. These classes exist only where the grades are large enough in number for three regular groups. Not all grades have them; therefore there
 are at present but two classes, with registers of forty each.
 (6) Opportunity classes, for children definitely backward but not mental defectives. This group is most in need of

Half a Pineapple
 For One Dessert

In Jiffy-Jell desserts the fruit flavors are abundant. For instance, half a pineapple is crushed to make the flavor for one pint dessert. This is done in Hawaii from fruit too ripe to ship.
 All Jiffy-Jell fruit flavors are made from condensed fruit juice. They come in liquid form—in whole—a bottle in each package. That is true of no other quick gelatine dessert.
 A few cents will serve a real-fruit dessert for six people. No artificial flavor, no saccharine. It is the most delicious fruit dessert available, and it comes in ten choice flavors.
 A special curriculum. A beginning has already been made in handling them. The registers are smaller than in the average classes. The register does not exceed thirty, and especially patent teachers have been assigned. There are at present three classes of this character.
 (7) Observation ungraded classes, for children much below the average in mentality or in response to school demands. Some of these are actually mental defectives. Others return to the regular grades after a term or so of observation, special care, medical attention and individual teaching. There are now five classes with registers of fifteen each.
 (8) Nutrition classes, for children who are underweight and need special physical attention. Health is made the centre of the curriculum. Home visits and mothers' classes are used to get necessary attention to construct health habits.
 There is now but one class with a register of forty.
 (9) Neurotic classes, for children who are not mental defectives, but behavior problems, temperamentally peculiar, o.
 in need of a period of study and adjustment. There is now but one class with a register of ten or twelve.

TERCENTENARY OF BERMUDA

Joint Celebration with Prince of Wales' Visit Planned

Colony Was Founded by Shipwrecked Crew — No Divorce Law — Innovations Viewed with Suspicion.

Hamilton, Bermuda, May 27—(Associated Press correspondence)—Bermuda, the oldest remaining British "plantation," is preparing to celebrate its tercentenary this autumn, for which purpose the sum of £2,000 has been appropriated. Since the Prince of Wales announced the other day that he meant to pay a call on his loyal subjects, they hit on the scheme of combining two festive occasions and having one grand affair on October 7, when the Remon, with the help to the throne aboard, is to cast anchor here.

It was August 1, 1620, that the colonial parliament held its first sitting, but as the royal engagements cannot very well be altered, it was thought wise to set back the gala date.

For nearly 300 years the business of governing this little outpost of the empire has gone on under the same forms without material change. It is but natural that the 20,000 inhabitants of this twenty square miles of coral rock should wish to honor their aged constitution.

Originally founded by a shipwrecked company under Sir George Somers, destined for Virginia in 1609, the islands have remained continuously under British rule.

Revenues are raised chiefly from tariff duties. No land taxes are levied by the colony. There is a very light tax on realty in the parishes and the proceeds are used for maintenance of the poor. There are no divorce laws in Bermuda and only one breach-of-promise case was

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH
By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.

TO REBUILD THE BANK OF ENGLAND

Oldest National Bank in Europe to Be Demolished

Modern Structure Will Replace Building Erected in 1732 — Its Interesting History.

London, May 26—(Associated Press Correspondence)—The Bank of England is to be rebuilt. The governors and court of directors of the institution for the past twenty-five years have considered the advisability of replacing the black one-story "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" with a more modern and commodious structure. The inadequacy of the venerable pile to meet present day needs has necessitated the establishment, since the beginning of the war, of six outside branch offices in various parts of London to house the bank's growing army of clerks and newly created departments.

Established in 1691, the Bank of England is the oldest national bank in Europe. Millions of people throughout the world know the outside of the low, black building which for more than two centuries has been the Empire's financial centre. Its central part was erected in 1732, but the outer part, which one sees from adjacent streets, dates from 1788.

The present building spreads over four acres of what is perhaps the most valuable real estate in the world, in the heart of London's world training centre. At least once, in December, 1920, it saved the country from bankruptcy. During the Lord George Gordon riots of June 1780 it withstood a two days attack by a mob which was driven off by soldiers stationed outside and clerks and bank officials who mounted the walls.

Since that date the bank has been guarded every night by a detachment of thirty-six soldiers who, commanded by an officer, march down from London Tower and take up their positions on the walls at sundown.

A number of windows, which broke the blank solidarity of the bank's outer walls, were closed with huge blocks of granite after the rioting, but their outline is traced by the remaining sills.

THE PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY ENDS ITS DELIBERATIONS

(Canadian Press Despatch).
Ottawa, June 10—The Presbyterian general assembly in a resolution today warmly commended movements now on foot in many industries toward "giving the workers an equitable share in the wealth jointly produced."

Rev. Dr. Shearer, Toronto, moved that the assembly regret to learn the prime minister fears that parliament would not support the complete suppression of race track gambling and that the assembly recommend that the social service committee undertake a campaign throughout Canada so that public feeling would demand the clearing out of the disgrace of expressly legalizing what are in fact common gambling houses.

The motion was passed without discussion.

The question of increasing salaries of secretaries, superintendents of missions, etc., described as officials, from $3,500 to $4,000 was discussed at length. At the previous session the finance committee recommended the increases be made, but amendment was proposed that the question be tabled until the next general assembly.

The amendment on a vote won by a large majority, but immediately after when the salaries were discussed individually all the increases were granted.

The assembly concluded at 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Eight names were added to the membership roll of the Civic Employees Union at the regular meeting in the Oddfellows' Hall, Union street, last night. John McCarty, the president was in the chair. Only routine business was discussed.

THE FORTY HOURS.

Today in the Cathedral the Feast of the Sacred Heart was celebrated and the closing services in connection with the novena in honor of the feast carried out. Large congregations were present at the masses this morning which were celebrated at 6, 7, and 8 o'clock. Today also marked the opening of the Forty Hours' Devotion in the Cathedral, to close on Sunday evening. At the eight o'clock mass the Blessed Sacrament was exposed for public veneration, so to remain all day.

THE TOTTEN CHILDREN.

Touching the matter of the surviving Totten child, there appears in the morning papers a reference which would convey the impression that the Wright street Memorial Home had gained a victory over the Children's Aid Society. The truth is that Chief Justice McKewen refused the application to have the child committed to the Wright street home. The Children's Aid Society contended that under the law the child could only be committed to the care of that society. His honor did not give any decision on this point, but let the child choose for itself. As it had been in the Wright street home it naturally chose to go back there. The great point raised by the Children's Aid Society, which was taking action in the matter of the two Totten children here, the Wright street home intervened, has not yet been decided.

ROBERT EDWIN RAY.

The death of Robert Edwin Ray occurred at his home 1145 Main Street Sunday evening, June 6, after an illness of six weeks, which he bore with great patience. Mr. Ray was seventy-five years of age. He had held the office of postmaster at Titusville for some years and will be greatly missed by this community that he had served so faithfully. He leaves his sorrowing wife, three sons, Charles and Albert, Providence, R. I., and Robert at home; one brother, James, of Providence, and one sister, Rebecca, of Michigan.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from his late home, Rev. A. V. McLaren of Upland conducted services. The hymns, "Blessed Assurance," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "A Few More Years Shall Roll" were sung. The first was a favorite of deceased. Interment was made in the Titusville cemetery.

SOME HUNDREDS OF BOTTLES OF LEMON EXTRACT

Seizure in Smythe Street Last Night Following Meeting of Man on Long Wharf by Inspectors.

A "lemon raid" in a store in Smythe street last night by Inspectors Merryfield, Saunders and Moore occupied the attention of the police court this morning. Inspector Saunders described the mixture as intoxicating liquor under the prohibition act and Mrs. Ellen Travis was charged with selling liquor within the meaning of the prohibition act, on June 10.

Inspector Saunders told of walking on Long Wharf last night about eleven o'clock with Inspectors Merryfield and Moore, and of meeting Russell Kierstead, who he said, seemed to be under the influence of liquor. Inspector Merryfield stopped him and took a bottle of lemon extract from him and asked him where he got it. Kierstead took the inspectors to the store of Mrs. Travis. They went into the store and the witness said he asked a man there if he had any lemon extract for sale and he answered that he had not, but when told of the recent great and the information received, he said he might have sold the man a bottle. The inspector said he went behind the counter and he asked Kierstead to let him into the cellar, but he did not consent at first and then he told the inspector that there was a man in the cellar, but it was in a large box and they could not carry it out. On investigation in the cellar the witness said he found a lot of lemon extract, the entire quantity found in the store and cellar amounting to about 600 bottles of various sizes. They loaded the seizure into the patrol wagon, and took it to the police station.

Jack Decker was arrested last night by Inspector McAlmish and Inspector James Dickinson of Chatham and a bottle of liquor found in his possession. He pleaded guilty to having liquor in his possession other than his private dwelling, and was fined $20.

One man charged with drunkenness pleaded guilty and was remanded.

The Charm of a Beautiful Bedroom

A comfortable bed to insure refreshing rest is a very important essential in the bedroom, but comfort is no more essential than is beauty and pleasing harmony.

The bedroom is essentially a room of repose but repose involves more than bodily comfort. It involves that degree of subtle harmony and restful simplicity which at once creates a condition of mental relaxation.

The correct furnishing of the bedroom is an art. Even the least expensive bedroom may be made to appeal to every sense of culture and refinement if its execution is the work of an artist. The furnishings themselves must be correct, but above all they must harmonize with the room, and the correct atmosphere or setting must be created.

This store shows very interesting furniture for the bedroom, personally and critically selected—the newest and most unusual bedroom furnishings modern ingenuity have created.

You may always feel free to bring your home beautifying problems here, however modest or pretentious your home, and you may always feel free to come and compare values and to spend a leisure hour enjoying the many beautiful things which are constantly presented here.

Information was incomplete in many particulars and the government has not availed itself of all evidence that was given to get after profiteers through willing to share excessive profits where ever possible.

Furniture Tax.
No stated cost beyond which taxes would be charged will be taxed for furniture by the government, so your correspondent was informed. The tax will apply on all antique furniture made of costly woods like walnut, mahogany, rosewood, ebony, primavera or oak, on all carved ebony or oakwood and lacquered furniture, all furniture finished in gold leaf or hand painted decorations; all tablets made especially for games, and all liquor cabinets and in fact, everything except the cheap forms of furniture. Expensive veneer furniture will fall under the tax, but auction sales will not be included.

The government contention that the imposition of the taxes on clothing had resulted in great decrease in prices must now be modified somewhat. It was said that it was the exception to see a suit of clothes above $45 offered for sale or a pair of boots above $9. Yet the government has changed the incidence of the taxation to fifteen per cent on the amount in excess of the exempted amount instead of ten per cent on the whole amount. As things stood, one buying a $50 suit would have to pay $5 in taxes. By the new modification a man buying a $80 suit would have to pay only $7 in taxes. The modification encourages a rise in prices if the original contention of the government be accepted. The change will not bring blessings upon its head from the man who bought the $80 suit on last Tuesday or before that and threw away his sales slip as so many do. "We must expect hardships," said an official concerned with the collection last night. "No new taxes are ever imposed without some hardship being entailed at first."

Not a great deal of money has been obtained by the tax on furs as yet. Therefore the increase of the exemption from $100 to $200, and the reduction of part of the taxes on various fur articles will make little difference. People do not buy furs at this time of year as a rule, therefore the government is saved some trouble here.

The inconsistency of exempting typewriters and taxing typewriter ribbons as in the first proposal, was brought to the government's attention by the opposition, and that discrepancy has been removed. The fur, jewelry and other departments are pleased wherever they find some modifications particularly urged by themselves. But it must be understood that any of these may yet be changed, although the finance minister's own proposals are naturally expected to pass. He claims to be open to conviction on any one of them. In the meantime there is evidence that speculation in antique furniture and expensive china and crockery is beginning on account of the minister's statement that taxes would not be retroactive, but start only when the measures are accepted.

More trouble is expected by the department in organizing to take care of sales tax collections than in collecting the luxury taxes. They think in the end these taxes will be the easiest collected, but it is hardest to cover the country thoroughly and ascertain the turnover in taxable articles of all companies and business men taxable. These returns come in once a month, which will be some help.

HALIFAX MAY SEND SOME

Speaking of the sports in St. John on June 26 the Halifax Chronicle says: "This event (the 12 mile race) should be in line for Martin, Rogers, and other local winners who are at present going to the States. The event looks to be pretty hard, but Halifax has at present no field performers and this branch seems very slow in getting up."

This event (the 12 mile race) should be in line for Martin, Rogers, and other local winners who are at present going to the States. NEW HOTEL FOR ST. JOHN

The Question Is Regarded as a Very Important One by the Best Local Interests—A Few Years Ago It Would Have Been Considered an Impossibility.

The fact that our citizens are alive to the prospect of a huge hotel being built in St. John is a reminder of the failure of many large hotels to become profitable when liquor represented an important part of the business. A man a few years ago who would predict that hotels would make more money without liquor than with it, particularly in St. John, might have been regarded as insane, but in the Canadian provinces, where prohibition has become a reality, there are probably few instances where the hotels have not become more profitable than ever, indicating that business interests are benefited rather than otherwise by the change. The King Edward Hotel, Toronto, is probably one of the most interesting examples of this. The hotel interests are ready to furnish a St. John illustration. It all seems another argument in favor of supporting prohibition July 10.

Matter of Newspaper Companies and Hard Hit Newspapers.
Ottawa, June 11.—While the stocks of Canadian newspaper companies are soaring as much as ten points in a day, reflecting the unprecedented prosperity of the Canadian newspaper industry, a group of Canadian publishers is still in Ottawa struggling to present the exacting terms of their newspaper properties through inability to get newspaper supplies in a country where the cost of printing is so high.

Toronto, June 11.—Seventeen dollars a ton is the highway mark which Fuel Controller Harrington predicts for coal in Ontario next winter. Freight rates, he said today, would bring the price of coal up $1 a ton, but he thought $17 would be the top price. He did not think coal would go to $20, as had been said in some quarters.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN EDITED BY MANSFIELD F. HOUSE

Little Leaks Lead to Large Losses, Says Miller. In order to obtain the full profit from the sale of merchandise, price changes must be put into effect promptly.

That is the policy recommended to druggists and other retailers by Robert E. Miller, president of the Owl Drug Company, who told the managers of his organization at their convention here recently of a number of ways by which gross profits may be increased.

Gross profit is one of the principal things that absorb us throughout the year, said Miller. We want to know, of course, the things that increase it and, incidentally, the items that have the effect of depreciating or lowering it.

See that price changes are put into effect promptly. It is the only way you can understand if you are selling an article for fifty cents if the price has been advanced to fifty-five or sixty cents. I figure that if you don't get that price into effect right away you lose that additional profit.

"Dead stock is another big item that many suffer from—items that probably are slow sellers or may be discontinued. I believe it is better to take a loss on the merchandise—a partial loss, rather than a total loss—by disposing of it at a price, if necessary.

The prescription business is another source of lost money. I think it is a good plan to get after that business by keeping in touch with the doctors and seeing that your prescription man does so. The gross profit on drugs is also affected by a loss of prescriptions uncalled for. I believe that the majority of prescriptions—and every one of us has in his store a lot of prescriptions uncalled for—that are uncalled for are the result of disappointments due to the prescription man not filling them in time.

Another loss is the habit of salespeople in demonstrating a powder, taking a sharp instrument and perforating the top to dust some of it into the customer's hands to show color and shade; while taking the wrapper off soap to permit a customer to inspect its results.

"I HAVE PROVED"

Zam-Buk invaluable for eczema, both in the case of my baby and myself, says Mrs. L. Bonta of West Arichat, N.S. She adds: "Baby's skin was badly broken out, but repeated applications of Zam-Buk entirely cured it."

"In my own case, I had eczema on my hands, which made it very inconvenient for me to do my housework. Particularly was this so, as it aggravated the trouble so much that I was unable to put my hands in water. By using Zam-Buk, however, I soon got relief, and it was not very long before every trace of the trouble had disappeared. I really think no home should be without Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk is equally good for all skin injuries. All dealers O.S. box.

Polite Burglars Sent Back Checks. "Please acknowledge receipt."

With that ungracious note the proprietor of the Epworth View grocery, Oklahoma City, recently received in the mail $238 in checks taken from his store when robbers blew his safe.

The robbers were not good enough, however, to return $150 in cash which they also made away with. At the time of the robbery they overlooked several hundred dollars' worth of checks.

"I should like to acknowledge receipt of the checks and to thank the robbers, but they forgot to give their names and addresses," said the ungrateful proprietor.

Washington, June 11—Investigation of the Japanese immigration question will be made on the Pacific coast during the summer by members of the House Immigration Committee.

Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the committee, announced late today that at least five members of the committee would conduct the inquiry, which will cover all Pacific Coast States and concentrate in California.

The decision was reached at a conference today between Chairman Johnson and Senator Phelan, Democrat, California. The latter asked that the committee investigate the situation, with a view to renewing efforts to pass legislation which would bar all Japanese immigrants from the Pacific Coast, and also prohibiting Japanese children born in this country, from acquiring citizenship.

This information was given in the house yesterday afternoon.

SOME 5,000 WORKERS ON STRIKE AT PORT SUNLIGHT. London, June 11—(Canadian Associated Press)—Nearly 5,000 workers at Lord Leverhulme's Port Sunlight soap works are on strike through a dispute between rival unions concerning which shop represent the workers in wage negotiations. The strike is being conducted with good temper, a large number of the strikers going away on holidays.

MEN WHO CAPTURED $25,000 WORTH OF WHISKEY ARRESTED. Newark, N. J., June 11—Three men, who the police say posed as government agents and seized two trucks transporting $25,000 worth of whiskey on Wednesday night, were arrested here yesterday on charges of larceny.

TRIUMPHED OVER ILLNESS

Literary Cripples—Physical Handicaps Over Which Famous Poets and Novelists Have Fought Successfully.

It is one of the curiosities of literature, as well as one of the finest instances of the triumph of the spirit over the flesh, that Frank Smalley, the out-of-doors novelist, who wrote "Lewis Arundel" and "Frank Patleigh," never set foot to ground during the whole course of his life, says Smalley.

To the tens of thousands of his readers in Mid-Victorian days, Smalley must have appeared as a man who was either a gentleman jockey or an enthusiastic rider to hounds, for his knowledge of horsemanship, and, indeed, of every spot on the calendar, is almost uncanny.

Yet he wrote all his novels "on his back." He had an immense vogue in his day, and his success brought much cheer to one of the most delightful and optimistic of men.

But optimism and good spirits have not always been associated with crippled people. Sometimes, as in the case of that literary giant, Alexander Pope, physical infirmity embittered both the temper and the pen. Certainly his best work, but it is, none the less, biting and acrid for that.

Pope was a sad cripple, his spine being so weak that he had always to wear stays to support it. In his later years he spent much of his time in his groat at Twickenham, and when he did stir abroad sought the protection of a sedan chair with drawn blinds.

Byron is the most romantic of literary cripples. The malformation of his physical defects as for his learning, conversation, and writings. His unweary form, his half-blind eyes, his scrupulous face, his St. Vitus' dance, are as familiar to his homopop and his ungarreted stockings. He was not a cripple in the sense that Scott and Byron were crippled, but his deformities had a profound influence upon his mind and temperament, making him subject to deep depression at times.

Elizabeth Barrett, before she married Browning, spent long years on her couch. At the age of fifteen she met with an injury to her spine, which kept her in a recumbent position for several years, and from the effects of which she never recovered. It was during these years that she wrote those sonnets which are her greatest claim to immortality.

PRESENTATION. In honor of her birthday, friends of Mrs. A. F. Webb, 93 Britain street, gathered at her home last evening and rendered her a handsome gift. A dainty luncheon was served and music enjoyed, after which the gathering broke up with best wishes for Mrs. Webb's future happiness.

MRS. WHITE WANTS THE TRUTH MADE PUBLIC

Halifax Woman Believes It Her Duty to Tell Others How Tania Restored Her Health.

"It is really wonderful how different Tania is from all the other medicines I have ever taken," said Mrs. E. A. White, of 55 Gerish street, Halifax, N. S., recently when telling of her remarkable recovery of health.

"Tania has helped me so much that I feel like going out and telling everybody about it," continued Mrs. White, "because it was through the recommendations of others that I was led to try the medicine and an awfully happy woman today."

"I was in a terribly run-down condition and could find nothing to build me up. My nerves were so bad that I couldn't sit still long enough to do anything like needle work, and my sudden noise would make me jump and tremble like a leaf. Scarcely a week went by without my feeling a bilious headache and it was no uncommon thing for me to be laid up in bed for two or three days at a time. I slept so poorly at night that I always got up feeling tired out. I lost fifteen pounds in weight and my friends all remarked it would help me. I have taken five bottles of it in all and I can honestly say that I am like a different woman."

"I am no longer bothered with those dreadful bilious headaches, my nerves are as steady as a clock and I get such restful sleep at night that I get up in the morning feeling full of life and energy. I have regained all my lost weight. My wonderful improvement has been remarked on by many and my friends are telling me that it is due to Tania."

Tania is sold in St. John by the Ross Drug Company and F. W. Munro; by G. W. McKay, Beaver Harbor; Willard J. Colwell, Evans; C. V. Pearson, Highland, and by the leading druggists in every town.—(Advt.)

STATE OF TRADE IN UNITED STATES. Bradstreet's says: Trade and industry are still highly irregular—perhaps the word disturbed would be more accurate—and the volume of business doing is lighter than at any time for over a year past.

Existing differences of opinion regarding the probable future trend of prices do not obscure the fact that current tendencies continue mainly downward and that many buyers are still holding off for further concessions.

The difficulty of impracticability of securing prompt deliveries of raw materials and manufactured articles embarrasses both producers and dealers, and some machinery at mills and factories is idle because essential supplies are not readily procurable, or because labor conditions are such as to prevent full operations.

Not all of the present curtailment of output in various industries, however, is due to these drawbacks, for some plants are reducing running schedules for no other reason than that old orders are being worked off and new contracts of volume are lacking, and the increasing imports from abroad are coming into sharper competition with some domestic production. While surplus holdings of merchandise are yet the conspicuous exception, accumulations are reported in some lines, and depletion of stocks, where it is being successfully effected, is chiefly resulting from the offering of fine inducements by sellers.

I. O. D. E. NEVER MORE UNITED

Prominent Montreal Officials Claim False Impression Spread Abroad.

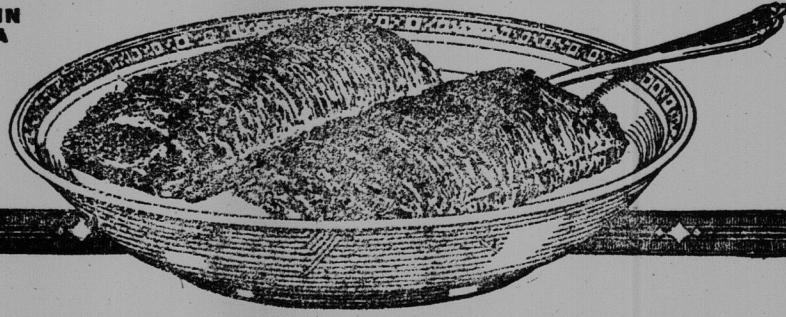

(Montreal Star.)
A false impression with regard to the Empire has been spread abroad, the opinions of Mrs. W. C. Hodgson, president of the Montreal Municipal Chapter, and of Mrs. Wellington Dixon, one of the four delegates from Montreal to the convention. "The public has got an idea that the I. O. D. E. is threatened with disunion," the two ladies told the Star this morning. "As a matter of fact, it has never been united."

"The fact that there are now over 1000 women in the ranks of the I. O. D. E. was pointed out by Mrs. Hodgson, and she expressed her firm conviction that all were working wholeheartedly for the aims of the Order." "A large gathering," said Mrs. Hodgson, "matters have to be discussed and that was merely discussion on points which interested all delegates whether from the East of the West, has been given by the public to mean disagreement and division among the members, is not so. There are naturally different points of view among the delegates who came from the different parts of the Dominion, but the object for which they are all working is the same." Mrs. Dixon confirmed this opinion and referred to the official statement made by a councillor of the Order to one of the Calgary papers, which reads as follows:

"The new board of officers of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire is strong and substantial, and so far as personal politics are concerned, there will be no more war within the ranks. The secret session of the councilors who elected Miss Joan Arnoldi as the new president, and the other officers, revealed an admirable spirit of co-operation and good fellowship." Mrs. Dixon emphasized particularly that the order had pledged itself to work for "the new Canadian" and that it had no intention of falling in its plans. Referring again to the strength of the new executive Mrs. Dixon pointed to the speech made by Miss Arnoldi as she took the chair as newly elected president.

If we can stand steadfast and unwavering as they stood, we shall prove ourselves worthy of the sacrifices they made for the Empire we love. . . . All one body, we. . . . That is what we must strive to be. Working side by side, and hand in hand, we shall be able to complete and make possible what our men fought for."

THESSALY. Sun-stepped translucent marble and beyond Pale marble hills of amythest and rose Above the shadowy olive grove that shows A sea-green shimmer like a tide-let pond Of brackish waters, under the pale blue sky Of the unclouded noon of Thessaly; And over that pallid sky and pallid sea Obviously the sultry hazy drift by— Drift by in sun-stepped and translucent dream, Till suddenly a seagull's strident scream Slabs through my senses, and once again I ride In a little cobbie the dark teasing tide Of glancing, shivering northern seas, a boy Chanting to that dark sky the tale of Troy. —W. W. Gibson in Fortnightly Review.

MOTOR THIEVES WILL BE SPANKED. Judge Costworth Thinks Punishment Will Have Deterrent Effect.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.) Satisfied that the spankings he has prescribed pretty frequently of late are being administered with good effect, Judge Costworth in the sessions yesterday marked two young auto thieves for the "strap." Louis Gentle, who stole two autos, and several boys, was sentenced to eighteen months at the jail farm and to three spankings of five slaps each. The lad had previously served one year for a similar offence. Samuel Gerbabe, associated with Gentle on one of the charge sheets, denied that he had anything to do with stealing S. J. Wells' auto. He accepted Gentle's offer to give him a "lift" home. Gerbabe was convicted under the "joy-riding" section of the act and paid a fine of $100 for using an auto without authority. The two lads were caught in a lane with the car, but Gentle escaped, although two shots were fired after him. Gerald Shearer was sentenced to one year and Lloyd Decker to one year and a spanking for the theft of W. E. Corman's auto.

and Spain, but not to Canada, upon which the Star remarks: "Canada advanced interesting proof of her contention. For instance, as regards area, Canada ranks first, as she does in regard to railway and telegraph mileage per 10,000 inhabitants; in respect to water power, potential and developed, she is second only to the United States; only two countries in the list head her in total railway mileage, and only four in total exports; even in coal production she would rank seventh on the list, while her total foreign trade exceeds that of either Spain, Switzerland or Spain. Similarly, both Australia and India are ahead of Switzerland and Spain in total exports and imports, and might reasonably claim to be of greater industrial importance. Nominally dependencies of Great Britain, the great dominions are rapidly becoming rich and powerful nations."

In conclusion the Star says, "If wealth, area, population, trade, count for anything, then the great dominions are fully entitled to be represented as nations both in the International Labor Office and in the League of Nations. They are intimately concerned in all that affects the Far East, Africa, Asia and the United States. They can rightly claim to be heard on questions both of foreign policy and trade, and they will more and more insist on having their rightful status as among the great nations of the world."

Soviet Has Grip On Russian Trade Unions

Labor Organizations Operated by Communist Party for Revolutionary Purposes.

(BY G. ZINOVIEV)

(Translated from Petrograd Pravda by David A. Modell.)

The Bolshevik party has never considered trade unions as organizations whose object is only to fight for reforms, for specific improvements within the limits of capitalist society. On the contrary, the Bolshevik party, in full accord with the teachings of Karl Marx, has always regarded trade unions as one of the principal forms of labor organization called upon, together with the party, to fight for Socialism and hence also for the dictatorship of the proletariat.

But since 1918 a great change has taken place in Russia. The ruling class has secured control of the government. The bourgeoisie are expropriated. The proletariat must no longer sell its labor power to private enterprising exploiters. Along with this, it is needless to say, the problems of trade unions in Russia have considerably changed. The trade unions at the present time do not have to consider themselves first and foremost as the protectors of the wage-workers in the sale of their labor power to the employer. The old employer, the purchaser of labor power, is no more. Under existing conditions in Russia the trade unions do not have to accumulate any strike funds, organize economic strikes, etc.

What, then, are the actual problems of trade unions in Russia at the present juncture?

"The centre of gravity in the work of trade unions at the present time should be transferred to the field of organization," says the resolution of the first All-Russian Trade Union Congress, which I introduced.

The question, what are trade unions in Russia at this time, we would answer as follows: "The industrial labor union in Russia in the present era is a permanent organization of all the workers engaged in a given industry and forming one of the bulwarks of the proletarian dictatorship."

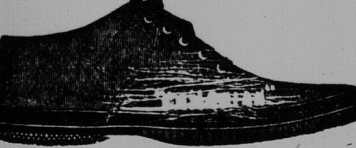

Taking for its aim the energetic participation under the direction of the Communist party, in the whole struggle of the proletariat for a Communist construction of society and the abolition of classes, the modern trade union shifts the centre of gravity of its activity towards economic organization: (1) general participation in the organization of industry on a Communist basis through the Soviets; (2) the rehabilitation of the country's productive forces, which were impaired by the war and the present crisis; (3) the enumeration and distribution of the country's labor strength; (4) the organization of a system of exchange between city and country; (5) the introduction of universal labor conscription; (6) assisting the government's boards of food control; (7) rendering similar aid to the commission trying to solve the fuel crisis, etc.; (8) general support in the work of creating the proletarian "red army"; (9) along with the defence of the workers' economic interests, combating the narrowly selfish group tendencies of such workers as, owing to their backwardness, still look upon the proletarian government as upon an ordinary adventure.

As a school of Communism for the great mass of proletarians and semi-proletarians, the modern trade union enters into the general machinery of government administration, becoming one of the organs of the proletarian state, subservient to the Soviets as the present historic form of proletarian dictatorship.

The trade unions exist side by side with the Communist party and the Soviets. The work of these three organizations overlaps. In order to get a correct idea of the interrelation existing between trade unions and the labor party, we must bear in mind in present-day Russia the Soviets are still more representative of the masses than the trade unions, and that the Soviets include some of the functions of the latter.

The eighth general congress of the Russian Communist party gave the following definition of the party and the Soviets: "The Soviets are the governing organizations of the working class and the poorer peasantry that are putting into effect a proletarian dictatorship pending the establishment of some (more unions is subservient to the Communist central committee. The distribution of labor, its mobilization for the needs of the "red" army, belongs in every given town or city exclusively to the local party organization, working under the general direction of the party's central committee.

and was not paying its way, Mr. Caldwell said. He was confident that if the connecting link were constructed there would be a different story to tell. He wondered what pressure was brought to bear or what reason there was for the road not being built when it was so urgently needed.

AMBASSADOR PLEADS FOR POLITICAL AND EDUCATIONAL STATESMANSHIP

Sir Auckland Geddes Says History Teaching in the Schools Makes Future Policies of Nations—Explains Progress Made by England.

Washington, June 4.—Pleading for both political and educational statesmanship that would make history teaching in the schools of all lands "fair and true and sympathetic to the real virtues of every great nation," Sir Auckland Geddes told the international session of the National Citizens' Conference that the "heart of the British public" made wonderfully sympathetic by the war, and shining through its department of education, is the organ which will protect and nourish the millions of young British "sons" and will provide the axle upon which the great educational machine of its own creating will revolve at it shapes the future, not only of the people entrusted to its care, but also of the nation which it is my high privilege to represent here among you.

The Ambassador reviewed recent English developments in education in some detail, characterizing them as deeply significant for British democracy. He said: "The war showed us Britons many things in a new light and one of the most important things that we saw or thought we saw was that the old social order which has stood the test of time was not going to stand much longer, and that in order to make the transition from the old to the new possible without catastrophe we had to get busy first to bring every adult female as well as male into the circle of responsible citizens, next to do our utmost as speedily as possible to equip those citizens, or at all events the recruits to their numbers, with educated minds."

How System Was Changed.
"It was this thought that made Mr. Fisher, British Minister for Education, say in February, 1917: 'The Proclamation of Peace and Victory will summon us not to complacent repose, but to greater efforts for a more enduring victory. The future welfare of the nation depends upon its schools.'"

The Ambassador told how he and others in Parliament had set to work to modify the education laws to give the following results:
(1) To extend the age of compulsory attendance without exemption to fourteen, or to fifteen or sixteen, by local by-law.
(2) To provide for medical inspection and treatment and physical welfare before, through and after school to the age of eighteen.
(3) To establish nursery schools for children between two and five or six.
(4) To establish a system of compulsory continuation (part time) school attendance ultimately to eighteen.
(5) To arrange for the promotion of poor but able pupils by a system of scholarships and maintenance grants past the higher rungs of the educational ladder in the hope that in the future the nation may have the best mental capacity of all its sons and daughters to draw on for its service, instead of having to content itself with such brains but in countless ways in countless places facilities are being provided. Soon the situation will begin to clarify itself and as it clarifies will come a coherence that is still lacking."

Policies and Education.
"After asserting that 'Britain is thoroughly democratized and its government is in fact more immediately and directly under the control of the people' than of your country," Ambassador Geddes pointed out that the general and constant interest in politics colored all English educational practice.
"Education with us is tending to become less and less directed toward the conscious end of simply fitting a man to earn his daily bread," he said. "Man does not live for or by bread alone. He is a member of a family, a trade union, a club, a city, a nation, a church, a human personality, with something more than a pair of hands condemned to toil at the will of another. He has intellectual and aesthetic taste (only too often cramped and undeveloped) and moral principles. He believes in liberty, justice and public right and has shown himself prepared to give his life for these things. Each is a citizen and every citizen, regardless of his social position or wealth, has claims which are prior to all economic claims on him—claims of opportunities to enable him to fulfill his manifold responsibilities as a member of widening social groups from the family to the community. His responsibilities are no less if he be a ship's riveter than if he were a naval architect. The locomotive fireman is no less a citizen than the railway director or the most wealthy railway shareholder."

The Spirit of Education.
"There is, of course, a danger which has to be avoided through the spirit in which education is given. We all know (who does not?) the type of half-baked, half-educated puppy, male and female, who from the pinnacle of doleful experience obtained between the age of twenty and twenty-five, looks down with pitying contempt on all the grown and hearty men who have dared to say a good word for life since the beginning of the world. Young prophets—and who that is young is no something of a prophet—tend to be prophets of woe, which they tell us can only be escaped by what we call revolution. Young thinkers, speakers and writers are apt to suffer most uncomfortably from possession by 'the devil' which in bad cases they assure us can only be exercised by blood. This is no new phenomenon."

"The cultured mind is like a richly filled dye vat, and the object of education is to select the dyes. A moment's thought, and we can name four of them—courage, cheerfulness, sympathy and some humility. These are spiritual dyes; there are also historical pigments which are so different that they are really of a different kind and should be thought of separately. To make any meaning plainer let me take an example from my own experience. Twenty and more years ago there were two brothers, one largely educated in England, the other in Scotland. The English one, as a boy, hated and despised the French; the Scottish educated, at the same time, admired and sentimentally loved them. Both minds were approximately equally cultured, but they were differently charged with color. This explanation is simple; for centuries England and France were enemies, Scotland and France allies. The school histories of England and Scotland reflected this, and the result was as I have said. So you can pass through the whole range of the results of education, and you will find the same sort of thing true."

The "Color" of Education.
"Anyhow, beyond the machinery of education and the spiritual aspect of education stands the color of education. As a matter of fact the most vitally interesting thing to foreigners in connection with any national education is this thing I call its color. It ultimately matters more to your state department than any other thing in the whole range of their manifold duties to know the color of the education being given in the British Empire, in France, in Germany, in all the countries of South America; yes, in all the countries of the world, for if your secretary of state knows, let us say the French color of education he will know well how that nation will be thinking ten years hence."

"Now, the present British educational color I can tell you something about. It is strangely anti-militarist, and is, as it has always been, intensely friendly to you. As a matter of fact it is almost too sentimental about you. It presents you so favorably as to misrepresent you slightly, and the result is the common people of England are apt to be surprised, perhaps even a little disappointed, when you are most yourselves, but at any rate it is a most friendly and appreciative color. I trust that nothing will ever happen to change its tint, but I would be less than candid if I did not say this:

Fair and True Perspective.
"The teachers of England are in the main young men whose minds have been ploughed and harrowed by the war. Their eyes see things less through a veil of tradition and custom, and if there ever were a time that could be fairly called anxious in this particular respect it is this time."
"Now is the day both for political and educational statesmanship so to think and so to act that the color of the historical education given in the schools of all lands is fair and true and sympathetic to the real virtues that every great nation possesses, and when it has to deal with their vices and backslidings, as it must (for every nation has black pages in its history), it should see that the perspective is kept true and fair and the extenuating circumstances honestly presented."

"There is still one thing more. Beyond the machinery of education, beyond its avowed purpose, beyond its spiritual, beyond its color, stands last, greatest and most precious of all, the God of the 'sons.' I used to tell my assistants to remember that these ten words of Walt Whitman's, 'Nothing, not God, is greater to one than oneself is,' contained, if they would only dip deep enough into them, all the law and the prophets for them to remember in relation to their pupils."
