6 FOREST BLAZES ARE REPORTED TO DEPARTMENT

Two Largest Outbreaks Cover About Fifty Acres Each

RAIN IS TIMELY

All Fires Got Under Control But Situation Still Considered Serious

By Canadian Press. FREDERICTON, April 23.—Yesterday was the most serious day which has been experienced this season, from the standpoint of the forest fire hazard. Six outbreaks were reported to the Department of Lands and Mines, the two largest covering an area of approximately 50 acres each, occurring at Fredericton Junction, at the rear of the Canadian Pacific Railway farm, on Crown Land and on Westside Brook, Sunbury county, also on Crown Land.

Officials of the Department of Lands and Mines stated that the conditions yesterday were the worst they had ever experienced during the month of April and that rarely had such a day been experienced in May.

TIMELY RAIN HELPS

Last night's rain brought relief but unless further rainfall is experienced the province will revert once again to conditions of extreme dryness.

Fires were reported yesterday from as far North as the Tobique district, as well as from Central New Brunswick.

The largest outbreak on the Tobique was located on an old cutting and burnt land near the Indian Reserve. Another fire was reported from Shogomoc on private land, which was controlled by the fire department before getting under way. All fires were reported to be under control today but the fire at Fredericton Junction was still being controlled.

GOVERNOR TODD IN CITY WITH CHEERY WORD

Says Prospects for Business
Have Become Much
Brighter

SUPPORTS PLAN FOR ABATTOIR HERE

Likes Idea of Great Railroad
Systems of Country in Merger.

Prospects for business, not only in the Maritime Provinces but throughout Canada, are much brighter now, said Hon. W. F. Todd, Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, who arrived here at noon today from Fredericton to attend the dinner of St. George's Society here tonight.

MUCH TO ENCOURAGE.

His Honor said there was much to encourage the people of the province at the present time. There was talk of new industries, and the farmers were beginning to realize that mixed farming was better than specialization. He thought that an abattoir established in Saint John would be a great success, providing the farmers and the people generally got behind the scheme. In former times, he said, there had been packing plants established here, but they had gone down because the farmers did not supply the necessary amount of raw materials. He suggested that there should be a working arrangement between the farmers and the pork packers so that the cheapest way of producing pork could be learned. New Brunswick, he thought, the country was particularly adapted for pig raising, and he believed "hogs" could be raised here cheaper than in any other place. For the location of an abattoir he thought Saint John was an ideal place, especially in view of its wonderful shipping advantages.

TALKS TO RAILROADS.

Speaking of freight, His Honor said there was a great problem facing Canada. The country was over-railroaded and he thought that a plan for the merger of the two great systems would, if carried out, result in a great saving to the people, for he said, after all, when there was a deficit in either railroad the people of the other must make it up in some manner.

He thought Sir Henry Thornton had the right idea in regard to the transportation system and that a merger would work out for the benefit of the whole of Canada. Whether the country should take over the roads or that companies run them was a matter for discussion, but he was sure that benefit would come from the joining up of the two systems in Canada.

TO TAKE UP STREET CAR MATTER FRIDAY

Board of Utilities Sets Date For East Saint John Extension Hearing.

The Board of Public Utilities yesterday set Friday, April 24, at 2:30 in the afternoon as the time they would take up the application of the property owners of East Saint John for the extension of the street railway tracks to Leo's Corner.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the afternoon session the application of Charles W. Lewis for an order from the Board compelling the Electric Commissioners of Perth and Andover to supply him with current was taken up. M. W. Hayward, K. C., appeared for Lewis and Dr. F. R. Taylor, K. C., for the commissioners. C. L. Olmstead, J. W. Niles, G. G. Porter, and Dr. R. W. Earle, members of the board of commissioners, and G. W. Wright, secretary, were also present.

Mr. Lewis was placed on the stand by Mr. Hayward and said that he had been forced to supply his own transformer when he wanted power for his mill and he contended this was unfair. He had always paid his bill under protest and in December 1922 the current had been cut off because he refused to pay a bill of $165.70 which he contended was not due as the interest on the amount he had invested in the transformer amounted to more than that sum.

TO BE CONSIDERED.

At first the rate for power was 2-1/2 cents per kilowatt hour but later it was increased to four cents. He had applied at different times for current since it was shut off but had been refused until he paid $165.70, which he contended was not due. Mr. Taylor, for the commissioners, said they were quite willing to give Mr. Lewis current just as soon as he paid the bill owing. They would buy Mr. Lewis' transformer at the price it could be bought for today or they would buy a new transformer to give him service and he argued that there was no need for an order from the Board at all.

suggested that an agreement be reached between the parties whereby the board would issue an order that current be supplied to Mr. Lewis, subject to the rules and regulations of the commissioners for the district.

This did not meet with the approval of Mr. Hayward who contended that his client was entitled to a plain order for service or no order should issue at all. The chairman said the matter would be taken under consideration. J. S. Leighton, for the Woodstock Electric Light and Power Company, asked that the fixing of rates for the Town of Woodstock be deferred for three months as the town had secured legislation enabling it to buy out the company. It was decided to defer this matter until the regular meeting of the Commission in July.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., APRIL 23, 1925.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY.

All over the Empire to-day, and wherever else a few Englishmen are to be found—where are they not to be found?—flags are flying in honor of St. George's Day.

It is an anniversary that stirs the heart with pride, recalling as it does that spirit of England which is undying and which has been of priceless value to the world.

St. George typifies high ideals, chivalry, honor, courage and sacrifice in the pursuit of worthy enterprises, the defence of the weak, the sustaining of the right.

It is an anniversary that revives all the shining glory of the English race, the accomplishment of a thousand years and more, marked by glorious achievements in every worthy field of human endeavor. And England's work, mighty in the past, a priceless heritage, is not done. It will be carried on. The England of today—Mother of Empire—is strong of heart and dauntless of spirit, confidently fronting a future the character of which may be predicted with full confidence from that which has gone before.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Mr. Alexander Thompson, who has been acting postmaster of Saint John for a little more than a year, has at last received his appointment as postmaster. The announcement is one which will be received with general commendation.

Mr. Thompson, after nearly half a century of service, during which time he has given his best to the public, receives this promotion by merit and not by favor. He knows every branch of post office work inside and out. He has been consistently devoted to the work, and never has been content with mere routine duty. He is a man of sterling character and an excellent citizen who commands respect both as an official and in his private life.

HIS WORK LIVES.

The work done by the late Walter Hines Page when he was American Ambassador to Great Britain during the most trying period of the war was not fully understood until the publication of his Life and Letters. With that publication an immense circle of people in the United States, in Great Britain, and indeed throughout the Empire, began to realize how valuable his services had been. Furthermore the reading of the book did much to further Mr. Page's previous efforts in promoting better understanding and lasting co-operation between British and Americans.

Mr. Page's work has lived after him, and now there is on foot a project to continue and to expand it through the establishment of a school of International Relations at Johns Hopkins University. During the early part of the war there were a great many Americans who misunderstood Great Britain. Mr. Page's letters have done a great deal and will still continue to do much to correct that misunderstanding. It is significant that his own countrymen think so highly of the character of his work that they are proposing to found the school in his name.

"One million dollars" was asked to found the Page School, which is designed to achieve three things: First, develop a science of international relations. Second, ascertain the facts, so far as they can be found, on any particular problem. Third, produce a continually growing body of men trained in that science, and available for service in the fields of education, government and business. The most self-complacent American must confess that his country needs a wider international outlook—as do other countries as well—and that its contacts with other nations, intellectual, social and economic, are bound to multiply. Page's book was a revelation to many of his countrymen, to whom it gave their first glimpse and conception of the delicacy and difficulty of the situation which the American Ambassador at London had to handle immediately before the entrance of the United States into the war. Neither the people of the British Empire nor of the United States had realized the debt they owed this shrewd, courageous mediator, who combined an almost ebullient Americanism with the sympathetic insight which enabled him to discern and appreciate the qualities of the British race and the issues at stake. Remembering his lamented, courageous blindness of his official superior, it is probable that he would have asked no greater memorial than an agency directed to building up in his own country a body of opinion instrumental in foreign affairs and international relations. The undertaking will appeal to sentiment throughout the English-speaking world."

Getting Suspicious.
Wife—"The cook is talking of leaving."
Husband—"Why?"
Wife—"She says that every time she has an afternoon off our car is in the repair shop, and it's beginning to look to her like a put-up job."

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wayfarer."

Mr. Baldwin Jests

Some Americans resent the "Anglo-Saxon tradition" and find more differences than resemblances between the two great English-speaking peoples. In the matter of humor in statesmen the gulf between the two nations does yawn wide. No one in this country seriously challenges the accepted creed that public humor is a public men's fatal. The American mind rejects the picture of a President telling a funny story publicly. But British Prime Ministers are continually doing it. Mr. Baldwin discussed the cross-word puzzle before the London Press Club in the presence of the French Ambassador.

"I as Prime Minister, and you as journalists, are engaged in the common work of trying to elevate the people of this country, and you are doing it to-day through the columns of the press. The cross-word puzzle. There is now hardly a man, woman or child in this country who is not familiar with the name of the puzzle. It is a puzzle before all puzzles. I should think 90 per cent of the people believe that there is but one Roman Emperor and that his name was Nero. They have learned that 'I' has a mysterious bird in a far country of three letters. They have learned the Latin word for the sun, and, Mr. Ambassador, they have learned the French for 'and'."

Presumably the President of the United States unbends at the dinners of the London Press Club. But it is an unbroken law that on such occasions reporters are never present. Just as there are no reporters at the press tables up in Albany where Governor Smith may choose to make a few remarks. At any rate, the Americans have never seen their President in the papers with a letter like the one Mr. Baldwin read before his London audience. It was an epistle written eighty years ago by the Earl of Mountbatten to Sir Henry Layard in response to the latter's request for information concerning the population of the city of Mosul. The Earl wrote and Mr. Baldwin read:

"My illustrious friend and joy of my liver: The thing you ask me of is both difficult and useless. Although I have passed all my days in this place, I have neither counted the people nor have I inquired into the number of its inhabitants. And as to 'what one persons leads on the other'—that is no business of mine. But, above all, I do not know the number of the people. 'No, a quarter of this time—her father and mother insisted on living with them.'"

Much have I travelled in the realms of gold,
And many goodly states and kingdoms seen;
Round many western islands have I been

That deep-brow'd Homer ruled as his demesne:
Yet did I never breathe his pure serene
Ill I heard Chapman speak out loud and bold:

Then I felt like some watcher
Of the skies
When a new planet swims into his ken;
Or like stout Cortez when with eagle eyes
He stared at the Pacific—and all his men
Look'd at each other with a wild surmise—

FLAGS FLYING TODAY IN HONOR OF ST. GEORGE

Local Society Will Observe Day at Banquet This Evening

EXPECT HUNDRED TO BE AT TABLE

Bishop Richardson Speaker, Governor and Mayor to Be Guests

Englishmen, the whole world over, are today celebrating St. George's Day. Not only within the Empire but under all flags the day is being observed by those who have English blood flowing in their veins.

The dinner will be featured by the triumphal entry of the beef, borne into the room in ceremony while buglers herald the approach of the chief item of every real English dinner.

STORY OF ST. GEORGE

An article by Howard Huff, honorary secretary of the Royal Society of St. George, London, on the English race says: The identity of St. George, the special patron of chivalry, has been clearly established. Briefly, he was of Greek origin and Christian parentage, and born at Lydda in Palestine, in the beautiful vale of Sharon (famous for its roses) on April 23, A. D. 270.

It is surmised that St. George was sent on a mission to Britain, where at that time Constantine, the joint emperor with Diocletian held his court at his capital city of York (Eboracum).

Constantine had married Helena, a British princess, soon at Colchester and the borough seal (over 500 years old) bears in Latin the inscription: "Colchester is the birthplace of Helena whom the cross makes glorious."

Without reason, it is surmised that St. George converted to Christianity, Helena, who, in turn caused her son Constantine—born at York—to embrace that faith. He, as Constantine the Great, founded Constantinople, and became the first Christian emperor of Rome, an Englishman, or, shall we say a southern Briton.

DIED IN ASIA MINOR

As already stated, St. George was martyred at Nicomedia, in Asia Minor, whence after some years his body was brought to Lydda, his place of birth, and interred with great pomp and ceremony. Now if we look at the map of Asia Minor we can easily follow the course of the vessel bearing the remains of St. George.

Starting from Nicomedia, at the eastern extremity of what is now the Sea of Marmora, the vessel would sail through the Dardanelles, afterwards through the Aegean Sea, past the island of Thessalonica, where a church was dedicated to St. George, it would sail along the Aegean Sea, past the southeastern point of Thessaly, known to this day as St. George's Cape, thence by the Isle Syros, where is situated the town of St. George, skirting the southern shore of St. George's Bay to the beautiful city of Beirut, whose in- habitants were, and still are, mostly Christians, and where, and in the district many churches were built in honor of our saint. Arriving at Joppa, there are but nine miles inland to Lydda in the vale of Sharon, where in one of the most beautiful spots in all Palestine, repose the remains of the Patron Saint of England, Sharon, as recorded in Holy Writ, was captured for its roses and may we not from this fact reasonably infer that the rose—the lovely queen of flowers—has happily associated with our patron saint, because, as it ever will remain, the national emblem of England?

DRAGON LEGEND

This is the story of St. George, from which has been eliminated the captivating and beautiful legend of the combat with the dragon, which symbolizes the dual triumph of Christianity over paganism and of good over evil. Should the evidence adduced be deemed inconclusive it follows that much of ancient history must be regarded as unintelligible and fabulous. Gibbon, the great historian of the Roman empire, was, of course, confused St. George with the fraudulent army contractor, who by devious ways ultimately became the Arian Archbishop of Alexandria, where his infamous conduct caused him to be slain by his own people nearly six years after the death of our patron.

Those who have adopted the careless and sneering assertions of Gibbon, have, I fancy, done so because they found him a good writer whose position and general accuracy were unchallenged, and whose opinions upon so vexed a subject coincided with their own childish desire to belittle, with sullen envy, the tutelary saint of England.

The English flag "Saint George for Merrie England" was the stirring battle cry which called our ancient Fathers forth to conquer or to die.

It ran above the serried ranks On many a field of yore,

Dies Same Day As Her Sister

LONDON, April 22—Lady Frederick Cavendish, widow of Lord Frederick Cavendish, died at 10 o'clock tonight at her home in Tunbridge.

She was 84 years of age. By a strange coincidence her sister, the Hon. Mrs. Talbot, died at 8:15 o'clock this evening at Edenbridge, near Tunbridge.

Lord Frederick Cavendish, husband of Lady Cavendish, was assassinated in Phoenix Park, in May, 1882, at the time he was chief secretary for Ireland.

At Crey and at Politiers. And glorious Agincourt.

It fired the hearts and served the hands of men in days of old. When the cloth yard shafts of the And the tide of battle rolled.

The Banner of our good St. George Which streamed upon the breeze, Led gallant Drake and Raleigh forth To unknown tropic seas.

Beneath its fold—the single cross— And to that proud refrain, The mariners of England And Defied the might of Spain.

We glory in our Empire Flag. With its blended crosses three; We grasp the hand of Scot and Celt Beneath that Banner of the free.

But the base of the Empire's greatness Was laid in the days of old, Beneath the Banner of good Saint George, With its blazon broad and bold.

Dramatic Tale of Battle Between Hi-Jackers and Bootleggers Recited.

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., April 22.—A dramatic recital of a night battle between alleged bootleggers and hi-jackers, with liquor valued at $250,000 as the prize, and how five men, two of them wounded, knelt before their captors after the fight and begged for their lives, was told at the opening of an investigation into prohibition enforcement conditions on Long Island at the Suffolk county courthouse.

William Delmadge, former State police rookie, still suffering from a bullet wound he received in the battle between the alleged bootlegger-hi-jackers at Montauk, April 11, testified concerning the liquor-seeking expedition of which he was a member. He admitted that he had gone along to protect the trucks by his presence in uniform.

The five men surrounded the home of Frank Dickerson, at Montauk, where the liquor valued at $250,000 subsequently was found, and were loading some of it aboard their truck when 10 men opened fire upon them, Delmadge said. He and Tom Smith dropped with bullets in their bodies. As they crawled away, they were joined by their three companions only to face the liquor guardians led by a man called "Captain Walker," Delmadge said. Forced to their knees the five pleaded for mercy while Delmadge was stripped of his shield, revolver and hat. Then they were permitted to escape in an old automobile.

Cantata Sung By Choir of St. James'

The sacred cantata "Christ and His Soldiers," by John Farmer, was effectively rendered last night by the augmented choir of St. James' church, which numbered about 40 voices.

James P. Browne was the director and to his skilled training much of the credit of the fine rendition was due. The soloists were in fine voice and the choruses showed most effective blending of the voices. The soloists were: Contralto, Mrs. W. S. Harrison and Mrs. A. E. Ellis; soprano, Mrs. J. J. Duce and Miss M. D. Kee; baritone, E. C. Grivin, Gordon Holder and A. Kee and tenor, Chester Bourne. The brief opening devotions were conducted by Rev. H. A. Cody.

IN CASE OF SNAKEBITE
LIVING in a small town, Mrs. Mann's children know little about poisonous snakes. But as soon as school is out they plan to spend several weeks in the woods. So Mrs. Mann dug into her library to find out what to do in case of snakebite.

Here's what she learned:
Keep the poison from circulating through the body. This is done by tying a cord, rope, or necktie a short distance from the bitten spot, and between the latter and the heart.

If there are no sores in the mouth or on the lips, suck the wound, being careful to spit out the poison blood.

A drop of pure carbolic acid may be applied to the wound, or a strong solution of permanganate of potassium.

If a person has the nerve, a red-hot iron or live coal of fire should be placed on the wound. This helps to cauterize the wound.

LITTLE JOE

WITH SPRING BONNET BILLS COMING IN DAD KNOWS WHAT OVERHEAD EXPENSE IS—

Most of the common variety of snakes are non-poisonous. Mrs. Mann learned. She planned to get a list and description of the poisonous kind so her children would know them on sight.

Adventures of the Twins

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON.
MISTER BUN TRIES TO OBLIGE.

A minute after, along came a man from St. Ives.

"Hi there, Mister Bun," he shouted. "Come out and get my sack of buckwheat flour and please make it go as far as you can."

"That'll do, sir!" said the miller taking the buckwheat and setting it down on the floor.

The man from St. Ives went away and pretty soon along came a farmer from down Norwich way.

"Good mornin', Mister Miller," said

he. "I've brought a sack of corn to be ground into meal. Times are hard and corn is scarce so please make it go as far as you can."

"Aye, aye, sir!" said Mister Bun, taking the corn and setting it down on the floor.

When the last man had gone the miller started his mill wheel to turning.

Inside the mill the great millstones started grinding together with a great clatter.

"Business is getting good," quoth Mister Bun. "Out of every sackful I keep a measure for my pay. I'll have Johnny cake and buckwheat flapjacks and popovers for rays to come."

Then he emptied out the wheat into one pile, and the buckwheat into another pile.

At that very instant a grain of the magic snuff settled right on the end of his nose.

And the next instant he had breathed it in.

And the next instant he had breathed Achoo! Achoo!" so hard that every grain of wheat and corn and buckwheat flew out of the mill windows and showed the country for miles round.

"Now I've done everybody a good turn," grinned he. "I made them all go as far as ever I could. I hope everybody is satisfied."

I don't know what he told the Tattered Man and the Man from St. Ives and the one from Norwich way. The truth, I hope, but they would never believe it.

PYTHIANS PROTEST

Chancellor Bayard Stilwell Explains Objection Taken to Bill at Ottawa.

An Ottawa despatch yesterday stated that Supreme Chancellor Bayard Stilwell, of Boston, on behalf of the Knights of Pythias of the United States, had entered a protest against the bill in Parliament to incorporate the Knights of Pythias of Canada.

Bayard Stilwell, grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of the Maritime Province domain, stated last night that this despatch was misleading, as it had been at the request of the Knights of Pythias of the Dominion and, largely through the interest of the knights of the Maritime domain, that the supreme chancellor was making his protest.

The Knights of Pythias of Canada seeking incorporation, Chancellor Stilwell said, was a different body from the Knights of Pythias which he represented and he believed was composed of colored people, but the objection to the incorporation was being raised because of the similarity of names which it was felt would make for confusion.

BEATTY'S TERM AS FIRST SEA LORD 'NEARS END'

Is Spoken of as Possible Governor-General of Australia

YOUNG BARONET IN RANKS OF LABOR

Politics and Other Topics of London in News Letter

Special Correspondence
LONDON, April 22.—Earl Beatty's term as First Sea Lord draws to its close, and when he leaves the Admiralty the London gossip expects to see the gallant earl offered some big imperial post. A job that would suit Earl Beatty, and in which his dashing sporting personality would exercise undoubted popular appeal, is that of Governor-General in Australia. And this is the post commonly reported to be in contemplation for the hero of the Bight and Jutland. His ample means, as well as his title and personal command, would make him a most spectacular Indian Viceroy, but the difficulty in determining Lord Beatty's successor at Simla is unlikely to be solved thus. The Indian situation demands at the moment another type of personality, and one more expert in state-craft.

"YOUNG BALFOUR"
In a private letter written from Jerusalem the veteran Earl of Balfour is mentioned as "young Balfour," and described as reveling in his new experience, regardless of his own 77 years, the climate, or Mohammedan hostility. Few men nearing the octogenarian dignity would emulate Earl Balfour's vivacity, which is perhaps explained by his invincible zest of life. Jerusalem has immensely delighted him, and his interest in all its historic memories is keen. His latest achievement, thoroughly enjoyed, was listening-in from the Guardhouse on the Mount of Olives to the London Savoy band playing dance tunes. All this is just typical of the veteran philosopher who, first of all famous people, ventured up in one of the earliest aeroplanes.

LABOR'S BARONET RECRUIT.
Yet another youthful baronet has joined the Labor Party—Sir Richard Bess, aged 24, whose father, Sir John Daryl, was the sturdy Unionist M. P. for East Nottingham for nearly 40 years. Sir Richard hopes some day to stand for Parliament and is proposing to nurse one of the North London constituencies, for which purpose he is moving into a flat in a somewhat depressing part of St. Pancras, in order that he may live among his embryonic constituents. He takes politics very seriously, and it is expected at the moment on research work for party headquarters.

"UNCLE MARK"
All his old friends are grieved to hear of Lord Lamborne's serious illness. The House of Commons has never seemed quite the same place since Sir Mark Lockwood left it to lose himself under an unfamiliar title in the House of Lords. Chairman for some year of the Commons Kitchener Committee, he sometimes dined off gold plates in his own ancestral home, but this did not prevent him giving a grateful, if somewhat critical legislative assembly the benefit of a shilling tablecloth. Something of a dandy, with a heavy cavalry moustache, he used to affect massive buttonholes which were to Mr. Chamberlain's archaic what a sunflower is to a humble daisy. He has always been intensely patriotic and thrilled the House with stories of German spies in Epping Forest long before anyone thought of the Great War.

ROSEBERY'S SQUELCHER.
Lord Rosebery, now within two birthdays of 80, is still a bright mentality, though he looks a feeble old gentleman in a black skull cap. The tracing air of his Pausanias mansion suits him best, and the townfolk love to see his coach drive out with the handsome liveried footmen he alone now affects. Twenty years ago late revellers at the West End, passing through Berkeley Square, used often to see him, a rather tragic figure with hands clasped behind, monotonously walking round and round the Square. He was then, as now, a victim to insomnia. Lord Rosebery once went North to deliver an address. The local chairman, an inoffensive bore, introduced His Lordship in a 40-minute speech. He concluded: "I now call on Lord Rosebery to give us his address." His Lordship rose, bowed with a wan smile, and, with the words: "My address is The Durdans, Epping," sat down again!

PROMISING DEBUT.
Veterans of the House of Commons, except for a few less sagacious old fogies, eagerly look for promising new recruits, with sincerity and originality of political vision, to carry on the Parliamentary tradition. One real tragedy of the war is that it robbed us of so many young men who might otherwise have played conspicuous parts in public life. But the present House of Commons is not without its notable recruits, and an admirable maiden speech, displaying real breadth of industrial outlook, introduced one of them. This is R. J. G. Boothby, M. P. for Aberdeenshire, a good-looking bachelor of 25, with promising debating powers. He is the son of a Bank of Scotland director, educated at Eton and Oxford, and writes for the Spectator. He was one of J. H. Thomas' West Indian party, and is now going with Oswald Mosley and St. Low Strachey's son on a Russian tour.

LONDON'S FIRE FIGHTERS.
An L. C. C. brochure telling Londoners about their fire brigade recalls that four times before the great fire in Charles II's reign London was burnt down. It happened every two centuries—in 798, in 992, in 1066, and in 1212. A million damage was done, and 630 houses burned out, by a fire in 1794, and the fire chief lost his life, and two millions' damage was done by another in 1861. The London Fire Brigade now numbers nearly 2,000 men, and its 55 miles of fire hose is pumped by 87 motor engines. Yet such is the growth of London through the years, despite miracles of mechanical equipment and speed of action, London's total fire losses keep steadily mounting. It was King James the First who seriously determined to stop London's recurrent conquest by flames.

FOUR ADMIRALS
It is many years since a member of the Admiralty Board died in office—half a century probably—and the death of Vice-Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, Second Sea Lord, causes widespread regret. The Seymours have often been called a lucky family in the navy, but their luck has rested on hard work and gallant service. Sir Michael was the holder of a baronetcy created in 1869 for his great-grand-uncle, the first Sir Michael, who, although he had lost an arm in Lord Howe's action of June 1, 1794, afterwards commanded the frigate Amethyst and captured two French frigates, the Thetis and La Niemen. His third son became Admiral Sir Michael Seymour the second, famous for service in the China War of 1859-60. A nephew of the latter was Admiral Sir Michael Caines Seymour, who died in 1920, and was the father of the late Second Sea Lord. Thus within a century there have been four admirals in successive generations, not only from the same family, but bearing the same name, which is a record. The tradition is carried on by the son of the late Vice-Admiral, Naval Cadet Michael Seymour, now at Dartmouth.

WELLS AND JULES VERNE
It is altogether surprising that visitors from abroad show most appreciation of H. G. Wells among our authors. The French apparently like his earlier books best, in which they recognize a kindred spirit to their own Jules Verne. But Central Europe, according to Hungarian testimony, is ready to swallow the whole gospel, and passes a test in his latest "Dream." Curiously, men we set even greater store by are less sought after. Hardy, for instance, seems to leave the average foreigner cold—Wells perhaps denoting little that is translatable—and Barrie's whimsicality is too delicate a plan to bear uprooting from its native soil. Galworthy is the coming man on the continent—when the difficulties of his name have been overcome. No doubt Wells' cosmopolitanism is the cause of his popularity in Europe; but as a corrective to this there is a distinct Kipling taint in France. Otherwise, Wilde, Shaw, and Wells must give a queer idea of ordinary English thought.

CLEANING SOMERSET HOUSE
Somerset House, the lair of the income-tax collector and the super-assessor, is being repainted—a much more astonishing circumstance than it sounds to the uninitiated. Other Government buildings may be painted once in every four or five years—but not Somerset House. That dismal building, once a royal palace, has not been painted for 25 years, and the dingy walls in the endless passages still carry the dim-colored paint put upon them before Queen Victoria died. Indeed, until this month no paint had been put on the walls since the day when electric light was installed. Now the whole building is being re-wired, and the passages are being decorated in a frivolous shade of palest green.

Australia's Position Is Much More Hopeful
MELBOURNE, Aus., April 22.—(Via Reuters)—Speaking here last evening Premier Stanley M. Bruce declared that the position of the commonwealth government was not at all desperate. In connection with the election pact between the Nationalists and the Country party he said that a united policy would be determined upon and supported by each member of the present government.

W. Hunt, Central City, Ky., engineer said early tonight.

PASSENGERS DISAGREE WITH SKIPPER'S TALE

Some Say They Saw Men Alive and Thought They Might Have Been Saved

ABSOLUTION GIVEN DROWNING SEAMEN

Priest Prays for Doomed Men as Ship Sinks—Says Rescue Impossible

By Canadian Press.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Passengers who arrived on the liner Homeric, after seeing the Japanese freighter Raifuku Maru sink with its 33 officers and men, expressed widely divergent views as to whether every possible effort had been made by the Homeric's officers to save the Japanese seamen.

The Homeric docked last night after its race with death failed on Tuesday.

The division among the passengers was about equal, some saying that everything humanly possible had been done, and that it would have been suicide to launch the Homeric's lifeboats; others stating that they believed some lives might have been saved had the boats been launched or rafts set adrift towards the sinking vessel.

Captain John Roberts was given a testimonial signed by 123 of the 238 first-cabin passengers.

PASSENGERS WEEP.

All the persons interviewed spoke of the tragedy of the spectacle at which men as well as women wept unashamedly.

Captain Roberts said that in his 40 years at sea he had never seen so terrible a marine disaster, except during the world war.

Paul E. Alberti, grain and marine insurance man, said:

"If rafts had been launched from the Homeric, even without seamen on them, I believe that the men would have been saved."

Another passenger said Captain Roberts "would have been a murderer if he had sent the boats out."

Captain Roberts was an officer aboard the Baltic, which effected the rescue of 1,700 persons when the steamer Republic and Florida collided off New York harbor in 1909.

CAPTAIN'S STATEMENT.

Captain Roberts in a statement to reporters said:

"At 10:55 a.m., we sighted the Raifuku Maru ahead, distant about two miles, visibility being low with sleet and driving spray. Speed was reduced, and oil pumped outboard, while approaching the Raifuku Maru close to windward. The ship apparently had a list to starboard of about 60 degrees. Men were seen clinging to the rail."

"As the Homeric got abreast of the Raifuku Maru's stern, efforts were made to turn so as to approach the Raifuku Maru's lee side. These failed, and the ship was backed toward the Raifuku Maru's stern. When close to windward of wreck, her keel could be seen when she lurched, and when nearing the lee quarter, much small wreckage, but no life or boats was seen."

VESSEL CAPSIZES.

"At 11:18 a.m., the Raifuku Maru capsized, or settled down, while on her beam ends, the sea entering top of funnel, while great seas broke over the

Expected Hostile Demonstration Against Caillaux Fails To Happen

Asks Cut In Commons Size

OTTAWA, April 22.—Reduction in the membership of the House of Commons is sought in a petition to His Majesty, of which notice was given in the Senate today by Senator Lynch Sturton.

He suggests that the representation from Quebec, which is a fixed factor on which Dominion representation from the rest of the country is based, be reduced from 65 to 50, so that the unit, or representation could be reduced all over the country.

end of the ship. The Homeric continued to pump oil outboard with lifeboats ready for lowering, and stood by without seeing men or boats, until the Raifuku Maru sank at 11:56 a.m.

The Homeric again closed on the floating wreckage, but no life, or anything to support life, in that terrific sea, remained. The gale increased in force, and the Homeric secured boats and proceeded on the voyage."

All passengers were eager to tell of the disaster. Some expressed anger, while others spoke highly of the manner in which Captain Roberts handled the situation.

PASSENGER SAW LIFE.

L. L. Lewis, an attorney of New York, a passenger, expressed anger over the manner in which the attempt to rescue was handled.

"I was not impressed that the Homeric upheld the tradition of English sailors," he said. "I saw several men struggling in the water for some time after the Japanese ship capsized."

Mr. Lewis also expressed regret that the Homeric had not remained in the vicinity of the foundered vessel after it turned over, and sank. He admitted that he refused to sign the petition, giving his above statement as being a "good enough reason for declining to do so."

Raymond E. Wolf, a member of the University of Pennsylvania relay team, returning after a meeting of Cambridge and Oxford University teams in London, said he saw the Japanese boat until the last. Its crew were huddled on the high side of the bridge, which was the highest point out of water.

COLLISION FEARED.

"The Homeric stood between the Japanese boat and the wind, but the wind blew so hard that the Homeric was being driven on top of the Japanese boat, and a collision was imminent. I think we were about 200 yards away at that time."

"A lifeboat was made ready to drop over the Homeric, but there wasn't a chance to launch it," Mr. Wolf said.

All of the passengers were on the decks of the liner, most of them peering through binoculars as the vessel foundered. Men and women wept as the vessel turned over and went down.

GIVEN ABSOLUTION.

During the hour that the huge liner lay alongside the sinking freighter, the Rev. James J. Talbot, pastor of the Old St. Patrick's Cathedral, in Mulberry street, stood in the stern of the Homeric with bared head, praying for those aboard the freighter. When the ship foundered, he gave general absolution for the drowning seamen.

"Standing in the stern of the Homeric, I could see the heads and shoulders of the Japanese seamen hunkered against the sky," said Father Talbot. "They were apparently trying to climb to the highest point on the wreckage as their vessel was listing about 60 degrees. I counted about 20 seamen."

"I have frequently seen death, but that was the most tragic disaster I have witnessed."

Father Talbot was among those who declared that the "loss of the 98 lives was unavoidable."

WANTS VOICE IN GRAND FALLS HYDRO MATTER

Maine Governor Asks Coolidge for Representation on Commission

IMMEDIATE ACTION SOUGHT IN SCHEME

Interest is Keen Over Issue in Eastern States, Brewster Declares

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Pending hearing by the International Joint Waterways Commission of the New Brunswick Power Company's application for leave to harness Grand Falls, on the Saint John River, New England interests have started a movement to have a representative of that section sit with the international body.

Governor Brewster of Maine, in conference with President Coolidge today, urged that action be taken immediately to have a New England representative appointed to the commission. He pointed out that considerable interest prevails in New England over the settlement of the Grand Falls project and declared the choice of a man from that section would meet with general approval.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 23.—Samuel Goldwyn, film producer, who has persistently declined to confirm reports of his engagement to Frances Howard, a pretty and talented actress, made application for a marriage license in the office of City Clerk Edward Holland here.

Accompanied by his fiancée, Goldwyn in making the application contemplated in vain to keep his marital intentions secret.

In his second venture into matrimony the film producer has selected a woman half his age, according to figures recorded on the application. Goldwyn gave his age as 44 and his address as the Hotel Ambassador, New York.

Frances Howard—her stage name—gave her real name as Frances Howard McLaughlin, 17, age 21 and her address as 425 West End avenue, New York.

Belgrade Ministry Issues Note Protesting Yarns by Bulgarians.

BELGRADE, April 22.—The Jugo-Slav government has issued a note protesting against reports regarding Jugo Slavia which, it claims, have been disseminated from Bulgarian centres.

The note says these reports are to the effect that a terrorist campaign is being carried on in Bulgaria, with a view to provoking disorders and civil war, "so as to permit the army of our western neighbor, that is, France, to pass the frontier and occupy Bulgaria."

The note affirms that Jugo Slavia always has maintained the best relations with Bulgaria.

HAVANA WELL BUILT

Fire Risk Avoided; Wooden Buildings Are Ordered Torn Down.

HAVANA, April 22.—Carrying out an established policy of the city of Havana, orders have been issued by the mayor for demolition of many wooden buildings within the city limits.

Doors, window frames and furniture are generally the only wood to be seen in the majority of Havana's homes and public buildings. Floors are tile.

Visiting firemen have said that Havana is the best constructed city they have ever seen, when fire risk is considered. The Spanish style of architecture is generally pleasing to the eye and residences with ceilings 10 or 12 feet from the floor are the rule.

Sought Since 1915, Is Jailed

BOSTON, April 23.—Sought since 1915, Harry J. Marshall, alias Elwyn T. Jackson and known as "The Denver Hop," stepped off a train at the Lexington depot and walked into the arms of inspectors who were on the watch for pickpockets.

Marshall with his two companions were arrested at Revere Beach for attempted larceny from the person and after pleading guilty were held in $1,000 for sentence. All three jumped their bail.

SEEK RECOMPENSE FOR HIS INVENTIONS

Widow of Cousin of King in Reduced Circumstances—Claim Before Commission.

LONDON, April 23.—An invention by the late Admiral of the Fleet, the Marquis of Milford Haven, a cousin of the King, and formerly Prince Louis of Battenberg, was the subject of a claim before the Royal Commission on Awards to Inventors.

The claim was made by Rear-Admiral Mark Kerr, an executor to the marquis. He explained that owing to the war most of the marquis' money was lost. It was only owing to the "very reduced circumstances" in which the widow was left that he felt it his duty to put forward a claim.

The marquis, formerly Princess Victoria of Hesse, is a grand-daughter of Queen Victoria, being the daughter of Princess Alice.

Admiral Mark Kerr claimed that by the invention—which was perfected in the "twenties"—the country had been saved many hundreds of thousands of pounds. The number of collisions which it has averted must be considered in the nature of the invention.

Mr. Justice Tomlin, who presided, said that, while the commission were in sympathy with much that Admiral Kerr had said, he did not think the commission ought to entertain anything in the nature of a claim called without effect a "stale" claim.

Mr. Justice Tomlin said that the reasons for the application, but they were governed by certain principles, those principles they could not act. The commission would consider the matter.

The price will give the province an interest rate of 4 1/2.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., April 22.—Relief measures for more than 2,000 persons made homeless and destitute by the fire which yesterday destroyed a large part of the mining town of Cananea, fifty miles south of the International border, were under way today under the direction of the Red Cross.

More than 200 homes were wiped out by the flames, which destroyed the business district. A Chinese merchant lost his life. The property damage is estimated at $200,000.

GOLD ON HER TOES.

LONDON, April 23.—When a London woman, aged 80, was undressed to be bathed on being admitted to a mental institution, 20 gold sovereigns, ($100) her life's savings, were found tied to one of her big toes. The guardians have taken half and banked the other half in the woman's name.

MONTREAL ENDS LIFE.

Montreal, April 23.—A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned this afternoon in the case of James Barnett, 25, who was found dead in a room of a local hotel here this morning, shot with a revolver.

GIVEN FAREWELL PARTY.

The Young People's Society of St. Paul's church held a farewell party last night in the school room in honor of Miss Florence Young, who is leaving shortly for her home in Nova Scotia.

The evening was passed enjoyably with games and dancing, and a presentation of a pin was made to Miss Young by her fellow members in the girls' branch of the W. A. She also received as a much appreciated personal gift a painting by an artist member, Miss Ruby Spinney. Refreshments were served. The convicers for the party were Mrs. C. C. Kirby, Mrs. Gordon Sinden and Miss Margaret Saunders. Between 40 and 50 were present.

MENTAL SPECIALIST ADMITS GHOSTS

Explains His Belief in Activities of Visitors From The Spirit World.

LONDON, April 23.—Dr. Bernard Hollander, the mental specialist, at a meeting in the London College of Physiology, admitted his belief in ghosts.

"The emotions attending a death by violence are intense. The desire to acquaint the world with the circumstances attending the tragedy is overwhelming. A ghost does not travel, but confines its operations to the locality, and generally to the room, in which the death occurred. A ghost was never known to possess more than one idea or purpose."

"It is said castles the walls were thick there were few windows, and hardly any ventilation, hence energy that was created by such a circumstance would be retained in the room."

"Then it becomes known that the room is 'haunted.' A man says he will sleep in the room and slay the ghost, should he meet him. He waits sword in hand, but no ghost appears. Then he tries, and just as he is on the point of falling asleep his brain receives an impression and the ghost stands before him."

"This theory would explain the peculiarity of ghosts that they invariably disappear when the building which was the scene of their visitations has been destroyed."

Disguise Spirits With "Holy Earth"

LONDON, April 23.—Bottles of spirit smuggled under "holy earth" imported from Jerusalem, cost Ruben Diamondstein, 2250, at Old street police court recently.

He was summoned for knowingly harboring certain uncustomed goods, 101 gallons of spirits.

It was stated that Diamondstein had been importing holy earth from Jerusalem. Five bottles of spirits had been found under earth in a previous engagement, on which he had paid the duty demanded.

ENTERS HOUSE ON ANNIVERSARY OF BANISHMENT

New French Finance Minister Was Condemned Five Years Ago Today

PUBLIC FEELS EASIER ON LEVY PROPOSALS

Look With Reassured Feeling on Pronouncement of Two Years Ago

PARIS, April 23.—On the fifth anniversary of the day the Senate, sitting as a high court, deprived him of his civic rights, and banished him from Paris for wartime commerce with the enemy, Joseph Caillaux made his re-entry into the Senate chamber today, as Minister of Finance, to follow the discussion of the budget.

The anticipated hostile demonstration from the Conservative and Moderate benches entirely failed to materialize.

Discussion of interpellations of the new cabinet, which it was supposed would come up today, was postponed until after the budget should have been acted upon.

The opposition showed no inclination to force an issue with the government. The leading group of Moderate Republicans decided last evening to adopt a waiting attitude and to reserve final judgment until the new ministry showed by its acts just what line it was going to take on the leading questions.

The man in the street is beginning to recover from the stunning surprise of the return to power of Caillaux, and is now trying to figure out what the new Minister of Finance is likely to call upon "the average Frenchman" to do in the way of tax paying.

Most Frenchmen feared a capital levy under Premier Herriot. Now they are somewhat reassured, counting upon the most significant statement Caillaux ever made concerning a levy. This appeared in his book, written two years ago, as follows:

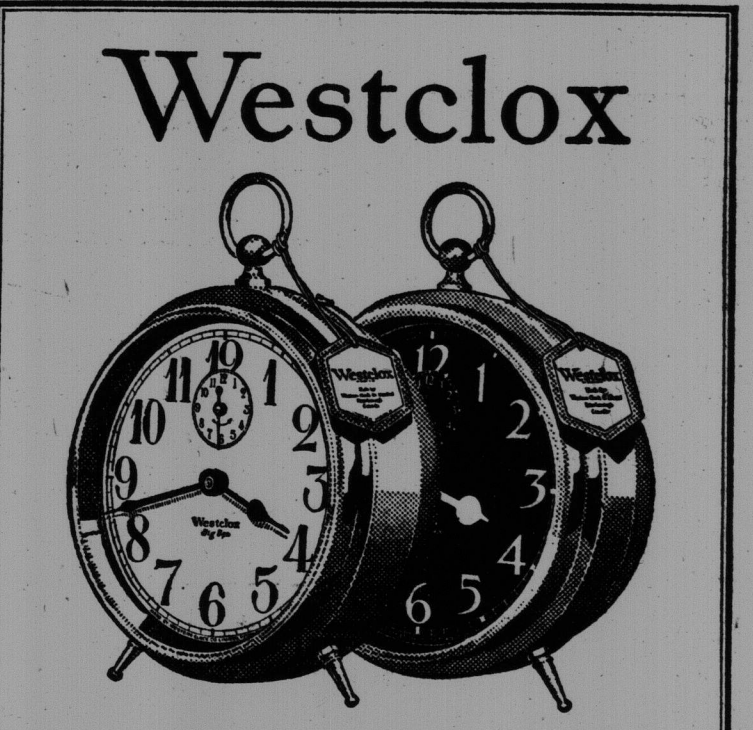

"Nothing is less absolute, nothing is more uncertain, than that which is called capital. Land, houses, businesses, bonds and shares have only conventional value. They rise and fall according to events.

To think that each property, as transient, so perpetually in a state of fluctuation, can be seized without the risk of melting it away to imagine it is possible to offset such property with other property which is equally subject to change, is, in truth, to accept a magic lantern picture as a reality."

CUTS HAND IN FALL.

G. N. McVaine, 228 Prince Edward street, had the misfortune to fall on a knife used for scraping paper from walls, while working at renovating in the Ritchie Building yesterday afternoon and had to go to the General Public Hospital for treatment. The surgeon of the outdoor department put three stitches in his left hand. The wound was not serious.

The people who gather at factory or school are roused by alarm clocks. Most of them are called by Westclox because they have found

Correspondence Between Premiers Is Given Out By Quebec Leader

REFERENCE TO PARTY WHIP WAS ERRONEOUS

N. B. House Chief Explains Statement, Declaring Press Report Wrong

QUEBEC, April 22—The following correspondence between Premier Taschereau, of Quebec and Premier Veniot, of New Brunswick took place concerning the report of a recent speech by the latter in which the use of the "party whip" was referred to regarding Quebec's part in the hydro development project.

On hearing of the statement attributed to Premier Veniot, Premier Taschereau forwarded the following telegram to him:

TELEGRAM SENT VENIOT.
"A press despatch from Fredericton published in Quebec papers credit you with the following statement: Premier Taschereau has given life—Veniot—the assurance that Quebec will stand by New Brunswick, even if we have to lash the party whip on the last member of the supporters of the Government. You have evidently been misquoted, as I did not see you in regard to this matter, nor did I make such a statement. Please have correction made. Our Liberal members willingly supported your bill, but know of no whip."

PREMIER MISQUOTED.
In reply the Prime Minister received the following letter from Premier Veniot:
"Your telegram received and I hasten to assure you that I have been misquoted or misunderstood in what I said touching your attitude in connection with our hydro bill before the legislature of Quebec. In speaking of this matter, I thanked you in behalf of the Province for what you and your government had done for us. I also stated that the whole Conservative party in the Quebec House was opposed to our request, and that I did not feel uneasy because I had assurance that you would stand by New Brunswick in this matter.

CONVINCED OF SINCERITY.

"I further said that I was convinced that you and your government were so sincere in wanting to help us that I thought if necessary the party whip would be used to put the matter through. I never said that you informed me that you would use the party whip if necessary, nor did I try to leave such an impression."

PORK PLANT TALKED AT GOVT. CAUCUS

Saint John Project Said to be Under Consideration at Capital.

FREDERICTON, April 22—When the House adjourned shortly after 10 o'clock tonight the Government supporters held their second caucus of the session.

Reid MacManus, of Westmorland, chief Government whip, presided. It is understood that one of the subjects discussed by the Government supporters was the proposed abattoir and pork packing plant for Saint John. W. I. Fenton, Capt. P. M. Starley and G. C. P. MacIntyre, the promoters of the company which is urging the Government to guarantee $125,000 bonds for the abattoir, have been here lobbying for this project.

Action is expected by the Government on the proposal before the end of the session.

FISTIC ENCOUNTER IN FRENCH CHAMBER

Conflict Starts When Members Are Accused of Voting Twice —Session Suspended.

PARIS, April 22—Fistic fighting is no novelty in the French Lower House, but today the presiding officer expressed the greatest indignation that the deputies should carry their rioting in the rostrum itself, even upsetting the chair of the president, who immediately donned his silk hat as a signal that the session was suspended.

This conflict ensued during the debating, when Deputy Belanout charged that ten deputies had voted twice. Two Socialist deputies attacked him, and the fight became general.

SANTORIUM TO BENEFIT FROM JORDAN ESTATE

$100,000 to $150,000 Coming to River Glade, Says Hon. Dr. Roberts

CHIEF INSPECTOR'S REPORT PRESENTED

447 Convicts Obtained During 1924, Says Hawthorne in Annual Resume

Staff correspondent of The Times-Star FREDERICTON, April 22.—Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, minister of health, during a discussion on the estimates in the House this afternoon announced that a request of between $100,000 and $150,000 would be made to the Jordan Memorial Sanatorium at River Glade, from the Jordan Estate.

Two Items Stand Over Today the House passed all of the 1925 estimates, with the exception of two items, one for $30,000 covering salaries and wages at the Provincial Hospital, and the other of $9,990, being grants to various exhibitions in the province. The House did not have sufficient information as to the details of the vote for the Provincial Hospital, while Premier Veniot decided to lay over the exhibits vote to enable the members to debate the question at another sitting of the House.

FEW QUERIES FIRED

As was the case yesterday the various items in the estimates passed the House today with little or no acrimonious discussion. There was a brief debate on the vote for road patrol services and during the afternoon various members of the Opposition, as well as supporters of the Progressives in the House fired queries at the Premier, as to the results which have accrued from this service.

S. J. Murlock, M.L.A. for Carleton, and member of the Farmers' group, was perhaps the most persistent critic during the afternoon, his greatest complaint being that too much attention is being paid to the trunk roads, while the branch roads, those mostly used by the farmers were not being given the consideration due to them.

CENSURES SUPERVISOR

Mr. Stekart, of Restigouche, criticized the work of one of the supervisors in that county and claimed the patrol men had not spent any appreciable length of time on the secondary roads.

CALLS N. B. COSTS LOWEST

Premier Veniot made a lengthy reply to these criticisms and quoted figures to show that whereas the cost of patrol services in New Brunswick was $160 per mile, in Quebec the cost was $280, in Nova Scotia $225 and in Maine $220. He pointed out that the farmers did use the main trunk roads to a great extent and quoted further figures to show the expenditures on the branch roads were $374,000 from the automobile tax fund, and $201,000 out of ordinary revenue, in addition to $98,000 in road taxes. A total of $673,000, while on the main trunk roads the expenditure had been $440,000. The Premier pointed out that the people of

CHANGE IN TEXT BOOK

During the discussion of the Education Department estimates Premier Veniot, reply to Mr. Richards, said a change in the geography text book was now being considered, but he could make no statement with regard to any proposed change in school readers.

LIQUOR REPORT

Premier Veniot tonight tabled the annual report of John B. Hawthorne, chief inspector under the intoxicating liquor act, showing that during 1924

BODY FOUND IN N. S.

James Miller Drowned Within Fifty Yards of His Own Home, Jury Says.

HALIFAX, April 23.—But a scant 50 yards distant from his own home, concealed in a small incline surrounded by boulders, the body of James Miller, of Beechville, Halifax county, who has been missing since last Friday, was located by a searching party this morning.

ARRESTS FOR DRUNKENNESS

The chief inspector calls attention to the fact that arrests for drunkenness have decreased in many sections of the province and he cites the City of Saint John as an example, adding that arrests for drunkenness there in 1924 were 64 less than in the preceding year.

Chief Inspector Hawthorne also refers to the prevalence of smuggling and declares that liquor is landed on the coast and eventually finds its way to the bootlegger. He characterizes the bootlegger as a tremendous problem, but adds that the men on his staff are doing their utmost to cope with the smugglers and, in many instances, have been most successful.

TAKEN BY DOMINION

During the past year contraband goods, totalling many thousands of dollars in value, had been captured by his men. However, these goods were in turn taken from them by the federal officers "after we had gone to the expense and work of making the seizures. In the future all such seizures are to go to the New Brunswick Liquor Commission on the payment of the duties to the federal government. This will doubtless be more of an incentive for my men to keep everlastingly after the smuggler," he says.

NOT TRUTHFUL, HE SAYS

In closing the report the chief inspector says that much of the criticism of the licenses of the province are not based upon truth. "I frankly admit," he says, "that there are some holders of retail licenses who have not adhered strictly to the conditions under which their licenses were granted. In these cases, when I have been able to secure the proof, information was laid against the offender and punishment meted out in large doses. I have frequently been criticized for not cancelling the licenses of such offenders. I most assuredly would have done so had it been in my power to do so."

The fact is, and but few know it, the chief inspector has no authority to cancel a retail license. That power lies with the magistrate hearing the case and, in my own defence, I must report to you that in a few cases where I requested the license be cancelled the magistrate refused to act on that request."

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, April 23.—Fluctuations yesterday were almost wholly due to professional operations. On Tuesday short selling had been somewhat overdone and as the liquidation brought about by the savage attacks yesterday was not considerable, the bearish view frightened. They were rather badly punished in the morning, but the market is operating very intelligently. The break in Union Pacific was due to poor earnings statement. Some unsteadiness was felt in regard to rail earnings in spite of heavy loadings. In February the car loadings were heavy, but earnings were not very encouraging. There was revival of activity in the oil industry from reliable sources. Reports indicate that whereas the supply of heavy oil is still in excess of demand, this is not the case with the light oils. The companies which are supposed to be most benefited by improvement of light oils are Pacific Oil and General Petroleum. Trade reports are mixed, but on the whole not very encouraging. There is no doubt that in the steel industry there has been a falling off in orders and shading of prices.

TRAVEL MOVEMENT

WELL SUSTAINED

C. P. R. Comment on Winter Ocean Passenger Business at Saint John.

Relative to the closing of the winter ocean passenger service here with the sailing of the steamship Montreal yesterday, the Montreal Gazette says:

"The winter season has witnessed a total of 34 round trips by Canadian Pacific ships between Saint John and the ports of Europe since the initial sailing on December 5, including a number of special calls to meet the varying demands of traffic during the season."

"Canadian Pacific officials report that the movement of travel has been fairly evenly sustained throughout the season, and on several occasions was much increased in volume, when special attractions lent added stimulus, as at Christmas and Easter, when many Canadians took advantage of a holiday to visit abroad and large numbers of settlers revisited their original homes. They also stated that many distinguished travelers from Europe and America arrived at and departed from Saint John during the season, while the Orient-to-Europe service of the company enlisted many prominent personalities from the Orient and the Antipodes."

RELIEVED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of relief was an operation. I tried for months but finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely relieved me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned. I thought I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about my relief. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 4681 Marcellus Avenue, Mansfield, N. B. Better cut out this notice and show it to any other who are ruptured—you may save a year or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

SERMON ON TREES
GIVEN IN CAPITAL

Makes Appeal for United Decision to Protect the Forests.

Before the I. O. O. E. in Fredericton yesterday Rev. James Dunlop, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, Saint John, spoke on forest conservation in connection with fire prevention week. He said in part:

"I wish, if possible, to lift this question beyond the atmosphere of government statistics, and express it, not in terms of wood, pulp and paper, but in terms of our Christian ethics and our religion. The forest fire is rapidly wasting the nation's resources. It is, therefore, economically wrong, but morally right. A thing that saps the economic strength of a nation is immoral. Still further anything that is against the will of a people is offensive to God. The thing, therefore, is religious. We cannot be had citizens and good Christians. From this higher viewpoint, as a minister of Christ, I wish to speak to you of the forest fire. It is a sermon on trees."

THE FRIEND OF MAN.

"Universally, and for all time, the tree is the friend of man. It is God's great gift to the race. The tree came on the scene before man. It prepared the old world for human habitation. It has been the pioneer of civilization. The history of the tree is the history of the race."

"The history of the tree is the history of the human race. The early pioneers of civilization pushed their way through the primeval forests, and built their log-cabins for protection and comfort. The log-cabin is the starting point and basis of society. It indicates the place of the tree in our social progress."

Always Tired
in the Mornings

Miss M. Becker, 113 David St., Kitchener, Ont., writes:—"My system became generally run down. I was nervous, tired and subject to headaches. After using nine boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I felt like a new person, could sleep and eat well and was relieved of all the old symptoms."

"NERVOUS bankruptcy is being courted by the young women of today," says Dr. Mosher, widely known authority on women's health.

"In her desire to not miss anything she burns the candle at both ends, cutting short her sleep, hurrying or omitting meals."

"This disregard of periods of rest and sleep must necessarily lead to a breakdown of the nervous system, a condition which is the despair of the physician."

Among the early indications of trouble are irritability, restlessness, indigestion, headaches and sleeplessness.

The rational treatment is DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD to revitalize the wasted nerve cells. This medicine is so natural and gentle in action and so wonderfully potent as a restorative that you will soon see the benefits derived from its use.

ALL the world despises an anonymous letter. We like a man to sign his name to what he writes.

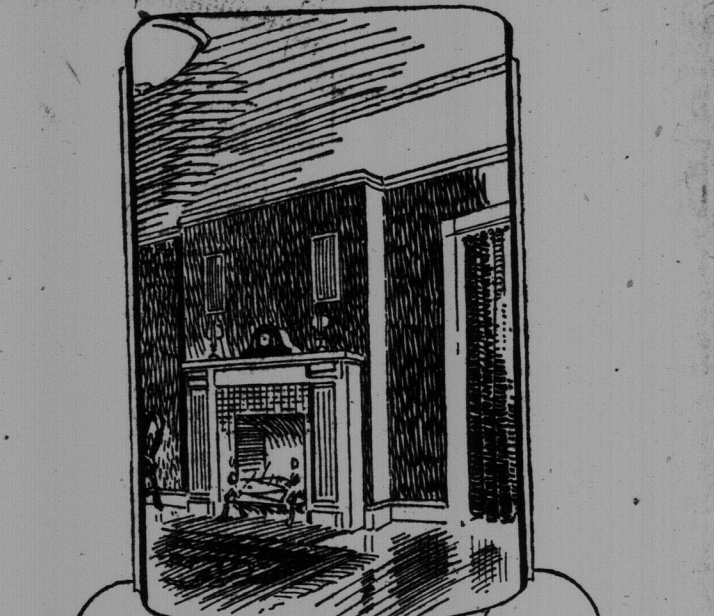

But did you ever think that unknown merchandise is anonymous? Nobody to vouch for it. No name signed.

Notice the advertisements in this paper. There in bold print are the names of those who stake their reputations—stake your good-will towards them on the truth of what they have written.

The maker of advertised goods realizes that he might fool you once—but never the second time. His success is dependent upon your continued confidence in what he says in the advertisements.

Read the advertisements with confidence. They tell truths that you should know.

The measure of satisfaction is larger in advertised products

Scientists say that well-chosen colors in our homes make for happiness. Paint and varnish accomplish this miracle.

A fashionable and practical development in decorating is the use of enamels, both in old and new houses. Dark stained panels and moldings are often done over in ivory, pale grey or other light colors with added beauty. Many pieces of furniture, especially wickerwork, are made more attractive by this process.

There is something of magic in doing over an old, dark room with a modern enamel finish. The effect is almost like the sudden appearance of another window.

In redecorating artistically it is pleasing to know that we are at the same time protecting and preserving our homes.

Do This After Severe Illness

How to Speedily Gain Strength and Put On Needed Weight.

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamins in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

But no body wants to take the ill-smelling, horrible tasting, stomach upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy. Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days.

As a matter of fact, your druggist will return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days. Great for weak, skinny, backward, run-down children, too, and gives them a hearty appetite.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cts.

Ask Watsons (two stores), Ross Drug Co., Wm. Hawker & Sons or any regular druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

SOLDIER LADS GIVE FINE PERFORMANCE

"Stepping Out" at Imperial-Rich in Comedy and Music Are Greatly Enjoyed.

Gene Pearson and Bob Anderson, supported by an excellent company, many of them original members of the Dumbells during the war days in France and Belgium, appeared at the Imperial Theatre last evening and entertained a capacity audience in a highly satisfactory manner.

As was fitting for a soldier production several of the scenes were placed in France with the legitimate estimate featured as the social centre for the troops.

The choruses brought out latent talent that was greatly enjoyed. Every number was nicely sung and the voices blended in a grand opera baritone featuring the Banana song, which will not be forgotten for many days.

SOME OF FEATUERS: The satire entitled Heroes was good in spots but it hardly "put over" the idea that was desired.

Alan Murray and Thomas Dunn appeared in their original number "I'll take you back to Italy" and were as successful as ever.

Norman A. Blaine was well received in "I'm on the Staff" an old time favorite which was not appreciated by certain officials at the War Office during the war period.

Lionel Broadway attracted special attention with his singing and his solo numbers were of the pleasing variety.

Arthur Morrison, Arthur Thalasso and Anton Vaverka.

That the efforts of all concerned to make the production an enjoyable vehicle of entertainment were successful, is evidenced by the reception given.

"Secrets of the Night" was adapted from "The Nightingale" which was accorded enthusiastic recognition on the speaking stage in one of Broadway's greatest theatres.

The screen picture really has the appearance of a stage production with transparent, sound-proof material between the spectators and the stage so that the voices of the actors cannot be heard.

FAVORS SELLING LANDS BY CITY

Com. Bullock Considers Recommending This Action re Lancaster Property.

Commissioner Bullock said this morning that he had been giving considerable thought to the matter of the city lands in Lancaster and intended to ask the council for an expression of opinion on the advisability of disposing of them. He was prepared to recommend that all of the city lands in Lancaster, with the exception of the Park Place area, be disposed of at prices considerably less than the value placed on them by the assessors of the parish. He thought it would be good business for the city to get rid of these lands as soon as possible as the taxes on them exceeded the revenue and instead of an asset they were a liability.
