MEDICAL INSPECTION IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Paper Read by Dr. Roberts
Before the Medical Society
— Facts and Figures Showing the Need for Such a System.

The following paper was read recently by Dr. William P. Roberts at a meeting of the Medical Society. Two of the most important corner stones on which we build our successful career are health and education, they seem to be inseparable when considered from this particular standpoint. A man is crippled physically without the one, and intellectually without the other. In order to insure ourselves that everything is being done that can be done to have this important part of the foundation of the lives of the generation which is just entering upon the threshold of life, and of those that are to come arranged for, it will be necessary that our public schools be thrown open to a most thorough and rigid medical inspection.

When mustering an army of men to go out to do battle for the nation, is it not required of the volunteers to undergo a rigid physical examination, and for what reason? Is it not that they may be the better able to withstand the rigors of a campaign, and as a result have a larger percentage ready for service when called upon? The same is true of the citizenry of our country, is it not even of greater need that the youth of our land, entering themselves in that great army of "the Citizens of Tomorrow" should be freed from any physical ailment that would in any way militate against the success of their educational career?

The constitution of the man is determined in childhood, when tendencies to disease can be recognized, and offset by suitable treatment.

A great deal of influence during the first year or two, has been brought to bear, and rightly so, upon the introduction of manual training in our public school system. I have read, too, during the last few days in our daily newspapers of those advocating the teaching of music in our public schools. All of these, and the numerous other studies in the curriculum of today are good, and no doubt of service, but of what value are they to the child who is permitted by the board of education to neglect his physical health, and who is even death itself may step in and suddenly put an end to his career? Through neglect of his physical health, the child may eventually become maimed by the total or partial loss of sight or hearing, or the development of some bodily deformity, or even death itself may step in and suddenly put an end to his career? Through neglect of his physical health, the child may eventually become maimed by the total or partial loss of sight or hearing, or the development of some bodily deformity, or even death itself may step in and suddenly put an end to his career?

Since the twelfth century physicians have visited schools from time to time as sanitary inspectors, but little progress was made in medical inspection until the nineteenth century.

In France as early as 1838 laws were passed relating to school physicians and at present there are in Paris 123 school doctors.

In 1874 weekly inspection of schools was instituted in Brussels, which has now 25 school doctors. Within the next twenty years Austria, Germany, Hungary, Holland, Belgium, Sweden, Switzerland, Russia, Portugal, Spain, Servia and Roumania all directed efforts in the same direction.

Since 1883 Japan has had medical inspection, and has now 8,424 school doctors, 86 and Hungary, 86. In Great Britain medical inspectors have been appointed by 85 educational authorities representing in the vicinity of 2,000,000 children, while in the New World medical inspection obtains in the Argentine Republic, and in most of the large cities of the United States, and successful efforts have been and are being put forth in his direction in quite a number of the cities of Canada.

In speaking of the need of medical inspection, the British Medical Journal of September, 1904, has the following: "The organization committee of the British Medical Association, decided to ask Mr. Birrell, president of the board of education bill systematic provision for the medical inspection of school children. At noon on Monday July 18th 1906, Mr. Birrell received a deputation from the British Medical Association to ask him to make medical inspection of elementary schools compulsory. The bill as it then stood gave local education authorities power, with the sanction of the Local Board, to make such provision as they thought fit for the purpose of preventing the spread of disease among school children."

IS NEW YORK TO BE DESTROYED?

"Uncle Horace" Johnson Makes Prediction of a Great Earthquake to Occur Some Time in August.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 1.—Horace Johnson of Middle Haddam, known throughout New England as an accurate weather prophet, has announced that all Manhattan Island and much of the adjoining territory will be destroyed by a great earthquake sometime in August. He says that one-half of New York city will sink into the East river and the other half in the North river, and the disturbance will entail a loss of thousands of lives. The damage to property will be incalculable.

"Uncle Horace," as he is familiarly known, is about 80 years old and is a prosperous farmer. He has made a life-long study of astronomy and changes in the atmosphere. He predicted the great blizzard of 1888 and many other catastrophes, such as the recent earthquake in San Francisco and Porto Rico.

He says that the coming earthquake has to do with the constant change in the equilibrium of the earth and that he has known of the coming catastrophe for many years, but has not announced it until he has made absolutely certain that it will take place.

STILL TWO VAGANCIES ON THE HAYWOOD JURY

BOISE, Idaho, May 31.—There remain only two vacancies in the jury that will try Wm. D. Haywood for alleged participation in the assassination of former Governor Steuneger and there is reason for hoping that they will be filled by tomorrow afternoon.

The state today exhausted its arbitrary rights as to the personnel of the jury by using its tenth peremptory challenge.

In all probability the defense must use its tenth challenge tomorrow. After that was exhausted the twelfth juror must be left to factual chances for the first time since the jury was organized. The requirements of legal qualification must be chosen. There may still be dismissed by mutual agreement, but it is unusual.

The new special venire of 51 takers, which was presented when the trial was resumed this morning, proved fruitful in men qualified to act as jurors. There was the usual offering of assorted excuses, but only five of them moved the heart of the court.

MRS. DOWIE OBJECTS TO THE SALE OF ZION

CHICAGO, Ill., May 31.—Over objections made by Mrs. Jane Dowie and her son, A. Gladstone Dowie, Judge Landis in the federal court this afternoon entered an order granting authority to John C. Hatch, receiver of Zion City, to sell the property immediately. As soon as the contents of John Alexander Dowie's widow and son are overcome, the trust estate of Dowie will be disposed of to the creditors of the Evening Times, which was the property of the late Mrs. Dowie.

Today's order by Judge Landis is expected to result in the complete reorganization of Zion City.

Archibald C. E. Tapley, business manager of the Evening Times, was married at 6 o'clock this morning to Miss Grace Estabrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Estabrook. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride, Elliott Row, and was performed by Rev. W. W. McMaster in the presence of relatives and immediate friends of the happy couple. Miss Frances Dickson was bridesmaid, and Miss Margaret Crandall acted as flower girl. The groom was supported by his brother, G. Harvey Tapley. After the ceremony luncheon was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Tapley left on the Prince Rupert on a wedding trip to Nova Scotia.

In the Times office yesterday afternoon A. M. Belding, editor of the Times, read an address to Mr. Tapley and presented him with a buffet.

On returning to the city Mr. and Mrs. Tapley will reside on Douglas Avenue.

PHIL RICHFORD ARRESTED TODAY

Charged With Breaking Window in Victoria Hotel.

Entered Yard and Threatened to Kill
Employs in Kitchen—One Was Going to Scald Him.

Philip Richford, a former clerk of the Victoria Hotel, was arrested about eleven o'clock this morning on a warrant issued at the instance of D. W. McCormick on the charge of breaking a window in the Victoria Hotel. Richford was dismissed from the hotel employ a couple of years ago and since then has been lodging in a boarding house next door to the Victoria Hotel. From his room there is a view of the hotel yard and on numerous occasions the ex-clerk has informed the police and liquor inspector that the hotel was selling liquor after hours. He has given Mr. McCormick a great deal of trouble and this morning while in the adjoining yard to the hotel he claims that some person from the hotel threw a potato at him. He procured an axe and entering the hotel yard threatened to kill the employer in the hotel kitchen. He tried to get up the kitchen stairs, saying he was going to kill, he was halted by one of the female employes who threatened to scald him with a pot of hot water.

THE CASE AGAINST GOLDING AND LONDON NOW GOING ON

Several Witnesses Examined This Morning—Detective Killed on the Stand.

The case of The King vs. Wm. Golding and Joseph London, charged with having stolen a purse from Mrs. Hambleton on Good Friday night, was continued before Judge Forbes in the county court this morning.

Wm. Golding was the first witness called. He stated that he found a purse in an alley off Waterloo street a few days after the robbery. He identified the purse in court as the one he had found. After he found the purse witness said he gave it to his employer, James Gooding, who handed it over to Detective Killen.

Detective Killen was the next witness. He stated that James Gooding had handed him a satchel, and he identified the purse in court as the one he had been working on the case for some days before the robbery. He went and saw Mrs. Wood who gave him a description of her assailant. He had suspicion that Golding was one of the men and he went to his (Golding's) house on St. David street. Officer Crawford's evidence was not continued as two other witnesses were to be examined who had to leave court early.

Samuel Cook, witness, musician, was sworn. He lives in the same house as Golding. On Good Friday night he heard talking in Golding's flat. He heard Golding about for London, but he did not hear London answer. Later on he heard steps in hall going towards the door which opens into the street.

Clifford Garnet called, said that the prisoner came to his saloon on Good Friday night. He went and saw Mrs. Wood who gave him a description of her assailant. He had suspicion that Golding was one of the men and he went to his (Golding's) house on St. David street. Officer Crawford's evidence was not continued as two other witnesses were to be examined who had to leave court early.

James McCarthy was the next witness called. About 9 o'clock on Good Friday night he saw two men standing at the corner of Prince and Sydney streets. They walked up towards Lochter street. After these men had him, he heard someone shout "Murder." He turned and went back to Lochter street where he met Mrs. Wood who was very much excited. He saw one man running.

James Gallivan, driver in the fire department, stated that at about nine o'clock on Good Friday night he was standing at the Court House corner. He heard a woman scream and then saw a man running down Sydney street hill towards him.

At the time of going to press, Gallivan was being examined.

INTERESTED IN FRICTION BETWEEN JAPAN AND U. S.

MRS. BARBOUR HAS SECURED A DIVORCE

Wife of Former St. John Man Charged Him With Desertion—Local People Were Interested

St. John people will hear with interest of a divorce case which has just ended in the Boston courts. The parties concerned in the case were Hedley Barbour and his wife. The latter applied for a divorce on the grounds of desertion. Mr. Barbour is very well known here. He resided in St. John for many years. Mrs. Barbour was formerly Miss Morris and her home was in this city. She was married to Mr. Barbour eight years ago and for two years lived with her husband. Six years ago the two left for the Buffalo exposition and it was in that city that the husband disappeared.

Mrs. Barbour remained in Buffalo for some time, hoping that her husband would soon return to her. She waited in vain, however, and at last decided to return here. Mr. Barbour has not been seen by his wife since, and his whereabouts are unknown. For the past two years Mrs. Barbour has been living in Boston, where she has relatives. She applied for divorce last fall. The witnesses in the case all belonged to the United States.

Mrs. Barbour was twice married. Her first wife died after several years of married life. He is about 44 years of age.

Mrs. Barbour's desertion six years ago, created quite a sensation in this city. Although her husband had many and intimate friends here, no one can be found who has learned of his whereabouts.

European Policy in the Far East Engaging the Attention of London Journals— How They View Situation.

LONDON, June 1.—The European policy in the Far East and the friction between the United States and Japan is engaging the attention of the weekly reviews of London. The Spectator this week comments upon the absence of alliances now embracing Great Britain, France, Russia and Japan, and after dealing with various reasons that animate America and Germany in holding aloof, the paper says one object of these alliances is to enable Europe plus Japan to press its advice on China with irresistible weight. This, however, as a means of preserving peace in the Far East, will not be possible unless Europe is united and the Spectator therefore urges that Germany should be courted to Washington asking whether America intends to await events of Europe and Japan in a scheme for securing in the Far East, a long period of opportunity for peaceful and fruitful advance. The Saturday Review, in an editorial article dealing with the relations between the United States and Japan, draws attention to the great sympathy of Latin America towards Japan as indicated by the welcoming of the Japanese immigrants to South America and the fostering of trade and commerce with the island empire. This review then dwells upon the assumed identical origin of the Japanese and the Indians of Latin America, and says that perhaps among the surprises of the future will be the development of a widespread Japanese influence on the Latin American continent, based on unsuspected ethnic grounds which may upset "that manifest destiny" of supremacy over the American continent which American statesmen have been proclaiming since the early days of the Republic.

MANY THREATENING LETTERS RECEIVED

Carl Duncanson's Arrest Brings Warnings to Mayor of Boise—Carried Concealed Weapons.

BOISE, Idaho, June 1.—Carl Duncanson, who was arrested on Tuesday as a suspicious character at the instance of a Socialist writer in attendance at the Haywood trial yesterday, was sentenced to sixty days in jail on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He pleaded not guilty, declined to answer and conducted his own defense. The evidence showed that he carried a revolver and a dagger in his satchel. Duncanson's defense was that he came to Boise expecting to work on a ranch as a cattleman and it was customary to carry weapons. Many threatening letters have been received by the Mayor since Duncanson's arrest. Not much attention is paid to them however and none of the Socialists in Boise appear in court to espouse Duncanson's cause. All of them say that he has no connection with the Socialist cause, although it is known that he has at different times been connected with a number of organizations.

St. John Tennis Club Have Arranged for Several Tournaments—New Members Elected Yesterday

A meeting of the St. John Tennis Club was held yesterday afternoon in the club house on the grounds. Nine gentlemen were on the membership waiting list and the three vacancies were filled by the election of Ernest Alward, Bernard Miller and Noel Lee. Out of a large ladies' waiting list, Miss Florence Harding was elected for the one vacancy.

After some discussion it was decided that the tournament committee should consist of two ladies and three gentlemen, instead of two ladies, as formerly. Wm. Puggler, Jr., was elected the additional member of the committee.

Several tournaments have been arranged. Cups have been offered by Mrs. L. W. Barker, Mrs. W. A. Harrison, Misses Clara Schofield, Katie Hasen and Nan Barnaby. This month a ladies' singles handicap will be played; in July, ladies' doubles and beginners' singles; and in August, ladies' singles. A competition will take place among the men for the cup offered by the president, Dr. Stewart Skinner.

PORTLAND Y. M. A. ROAD RACE

The first half holiday of the season will be marked with an athletic event of considerable importance, viz: the distance race under the auspices of the Portland Y. M. A. The course will be from Spruce Lake to the foot of Port Howe, the winners after arriving in the city to proceed along Douglas avenue and down Main street.

The North End Salvage Corps have consented to act for the club in keeping the course clear, and they will have their work cut out for them.

The public are requested to give the runners a chance and all persons driving carriages over the course are especially asked to keep either ahead or behind all the contestants.

At the last distance race held last fall under the auspices of the Marathon Athletic Association, it will be remembered that the teams and automobiles crowded in among the runners, in some cases forcing them off the road. This was unfair to the runners and shows poor sport on the part of the drivers of vehicles, who would enjoy the race much better were they to give the men a clear field.

The backdrop containing the contestants and others will leave the Portland Y. M. A. rooms at 2 o'clock sharp, for Spruce Lake.

The chief interest in the race centres round Stubbs, champion of the city, who was second in the Marathon road race, and Stirling, who has improved vastly since his first appearance last fall. These are the best known of those entered, but there are a number of others who are said to be very speedy.

RECENT DEATHS

PATRICK KELEHER.

Twice this week, and three times in as many months, death has invaded the home of Mrs. Timothy Keleher, Market Place, Carleton, and claimed one of her stalwart sons. On Tuesday the death took place of Patrick Keleher, aged 48 years, and yesterday afternoon his younger brother, John Joseph Keleher, died, aged 51 years. The deceased was a widower, but had no family. His mother, seven brothers and three sisters survive. The sisters are Mrs. Luke Foley, Mrs. James Lynch and Mrs. C. G. Mason, all resident in Carleton. The brothers surviving are Hugh, Jeremiah, Thomas, Denis, Carleton, Daniel, Beverly, Miss Corneilus, two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Hutchins. The deceased was a well known and popular man, with a host of friends, who will regret to hear of his death. He had worked in several of the mills, holding responsible positions. His death and that of his brother Patrick was due to an alarming cold contracted, it is believed, while working at the steamships in the winter weather.

cluding the band about two hundred and fifty men turned out. The companies fell in at eight o'clock, their respective headquarters, and marched to Market Square. Thence the corps, headed by the band, marched up King street, out Charlotte to Union, out Union to Sydney and then to King street east. Here the regiment was put through maneuvers for some time while the band played selections. The route was again taken up and the regiment marched to Princess street, and past the home of Lt. Col. G. R. White, D. O. C. The march was continued to Market Square, where a low square was formed and Major Baxter, O. C. parade, addressed the regiment. The various companies then went to their headquarters and the band to its rooms in the Market building.

It is understood that Sergt. Major Fred Walker of No. 7 Co., C. A. S. C., will not accompany his corps to this year. Sergt. Major Walker recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

High Mortality in Glasgow Accounted For by City Medical Officer.

GLASGOW, May 31—Dr. Chalmers, the medical officer of the city, has issued an elaborate investigation of the recent high rate of mortality by spotted fever, and as a result, deplains the fact that there is death in kissing. He condemns the prevailing habit of kissing infants, which he says is an unmistakable carrier of disease. None of the medical or nursing staff of the City Hospital have contracted the disease, however. For weeks they have never had fewer than 100 patients under their care.

A GREAT CIRCUS.
Hargreaves Big Show Comes on June 5th.

The great Hargreaves' Railroad Show, a prominent feature of which is one of the finest and most remarkable menageries ever put under canvas, will give afternoon and evening performances in St. John on Wednesday, June 5th.

"What those who have charge of wild animals in captivity, and especially carnivores, dread most among the large carnivores, is that inexplicable change of temperament on the part of the animal known in the parlance of the menagerie as 'going bad,'" says Frank C. Bostock, one of the world's greatest animal trainers, in his little book, "The Training of Wild Animals."

Continuing, Mr. Bostock writes: "Lions are likely to go bad about the tenth year of life; tigers, two or three years earlier. The male tiger is the dread of the profession because he reaches this condition, because he is more likely to go into a frenzy without warning and, once gone bad, nothing will satisfy him but murder. He will leap for any man within reach, and when once he has on a bone, nothing but fire will make him relinquish it, and not always that."

"This going bad," may come in the nature of a sudden attack, or it may develop slowly and be counteracted if taken in time. An old trainer can usually detect the symptoms of this condition. It seems to be in the nature of a disease, and other animals recognize it and shun the affected one. When the progress is apparent the danger is not great; all that is required then is a level head, and the wisdom to refrain from further interference with the animal.

"A good trainer never dreams of interfering with animals in this condition. If attacked, his one aim is to escape himself, until he has a chance to escape from the cage and to separate the animal from his fellows as soon as possible. Sometimes this bad temper will become a permanent condition of the animal. In that case he is sent to the lonely cage to spend the rest of his life in comparative obscurity, disturbed merely by the passing crowd and his daily meals."

NO GERMAN PERIL.
Kaiser Not Threatening the Peace of the World.

BERLIN, May 31.—Speaking tonight at a public banquet given in honor of the visiting British journalist, Herr Muehlberg, Under Secretary of State, referred to the mistaken impressions of Germany's intentions conveyed by many of the foreign newspapers, which he deplored. Regarding "the talk that Germany is threatening or impelling the peace of the world," he said: "The German army is viewed abroad with a suspicious eye, as a war engine destined one day to be let loose and spread disturbance and terror over the world. It is true that Germany has a great and gallant army of which we are justly proud, but can anyone prove that this army, since the establishment of the empire, has been misused—that we have frivolously risked the lives of our sons?"

Regarding the German navy, Herr Muehlberg remarked:—"I read statements, especially from your country, that we conceal our programme—cast a veil over our ultimate aims. I am at a loss to understand this. Our programme is open to the world. The terms of our naval law of 1906 cannot be violated by Executive. It gives definitely and clearly the programme of the intended strength of our navy. When compared with that of the British navy, there cannot be any doubt left in the mind of an unprejudiced observer that our navy is intended only for the protection of our shores and seaboard trade. We strive for nothing else, but for this we will strive with all the rights of every great, progressive and honor-loving nation."

GREATEST ALTITUDE
Dr. Workman Camped at Highest Point Attempted by Man

Over Twenty-one Thousand Feet Up on One of the Himalayan Peaks—Mrs. Workman Climbed Two Thousand Feet Farther.

PARIS, May 30.—After having explored the mysteries of the Himalayan Mountains and ascended to heights hitherto unknown to man, Dr. and Mrs. William H. Workman, the veteran American explorers, have arrived in Paris from India.

"This last summer," said Dr. Workman, "we camped at the highest altitude ever attempted by man—21,200 feet. This was in the unexplored Himalayan range of mountains, in the province of Szechwan, China. From this snow plain, surrounded by seven peaks, we ascended to the altitude of 22,720 feet, where I stopped to take photographs, as the mist was rapidly increasing, while Mrs. Workman climbed on to the top, which was 23,200 feet. Only once has this record been broken, and that was in 1903, when I climbed on the Congo Lungha glacier to the height of 22,200 feet."

"Few know what this means. To climb in these altitudes is a science and a task years of training. During the last five days of climbing the air was so rare we could not sleep, and the last two nights the thermometer registered four degrees and six degrees below zero, Fahrenheit (about twenty degrees centigrade). As we went alone between the clear sky and the snow and rocks there was danger of being frozen to death. The only warmth came from petroleum stoves such as we could carry."

"At the height of 19,000 feet we still found people, probably of Mongolian descent, raising rice, wheat, oats and buckwheat, and even at 12,000 feet, above the timber line, we actually discovered a small village where human beings were living under the same roof with goats, chickens, marmots and other strange animals. While these people acted like animals, they showed some intelligence, as they understood scientific methods in a crude way."

"Why do people live in such forsaken places?" was asked.

"For ages," said Dr. Workman, "the human races have been driving their kind as near off the earth as possible; it is the survival of the fittest."

"Above 14,000 feet we saw only a chior, or species of partridge, and a pair of chough, birds like crows, except thinner and with red beaks and feet. I have heard of snow leopards being found at great altitudes, but we saw none. Above 16,000 feet there was practically no life."

THE ENGLISH CHANNEL TUNNEL

To run a grave national risk for the sake of protecting some thousands of tourists from the fever of the transient discomforts of seasickness would indeed be the climax of dementia. For through goods traffic the tunnel might be of advantage to the continental farmer and manufacturer. In view of the prohibitive foreign tariffs it would be of little use to British trade. We cannot abandon British industry because some distinguished soldier has asserted that the channel tunnel could be easily defended against 200,000 by fifty. On military grounds a bridge across the channel would be preferable from every point of view to a tunnel under the water. No coup de main could secure a bridge against the action of the British navy. Modern engineering skill is certainly equal to the construction of such a bridge—ignominious in National Review.

STANLEY THE EXPLORER.

Although the fever of African exploration did not seize upon Henry M. Stanley until after he found Livingstone, when the example set by the latter freed the Welshman's ambitions, there can be little doubt that Stanley was a born explorer. Otherwise he would scarcely have been able to accomplish those arduous journeys which enabled him to fill up an enormous blank in the map of Africa. Stanley's discoveries were of the greatest political importance and led to the founding, among other things, of what is now the Congo Free State. His ultimate discovery of Emin Pasha furnished a magnificent illustration of Stanley's indomitable courage and perseverance—London Mail.

CLAIMANTS IN GRAVES, PENSION ROLLS SHRINK

No New Names Take Places of Thousands Scratched Off.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—After many years of steady increase, the pension rolls have begun to shrink. A sign that the armies of men who fought and bled, from Bull Run to Appomattox, are now dwindling away and being rapidly.

The veterans have been passing to the grave in huge numbers, and it is not until now that the effect of the pension lists. Now, however, when a name is scratched off none takes its place, and the rolls are not added to for months, for in the month of April 3815 pensioners died, and in the same month only 852 new names were added to the roll. This makes a net decrease of 2977.

A pathetic note sounded in the voice when he said today: "I fear that a large part of that $15,000,000 appropriation has been used to pay the pension law will find its way back to the treasury, many of the men for whom it was intended have died."

"I do not believe that the service pension will make it necessary to increase the appropriation for pensions above what it has been for the last few years."

"Further than that, I believe that from now on I will ask annually for a smaller amount of money. This was occasioned by the passing away of Civil War veterans, they making the great mass of the pensioners."

"The maximum number of pensioners reached on January 31, 1906, the number being 4,000,138. There was a decrease of only 18,000 in the eighteen months that followed. In the last eleven months, however, the decrease has been 14,000, and the figures for the month of April are appalling."

"This leads me to believe that I will be called on to ask for no more money because of the new law, and, further, that there will be very material decreases occasioned by the passing away of the service pension law provided that any person who had served ninety days in the army or navy in the Civil War and had received an honorable discharge, should receive a pension of $12 a month after reaching the age of 62 years, $15 after 70 years and $20 after 75 years."

Immediately after its passage the law became effective and 328,000 applications for an increase have been sent in to the bureau. Of these, 381-2 per cent. are from veterans who were already drawing pensions at a lower rate for disability incurred in the service.

It was estimated at the time the law was passed that it would entail an increase of $15,000,000 a year in the expense of the bureau, but it is believed that most of the applications have already been received and a certain number of them which will be rejected will more than make up for that to come, in the opinion of the commissioner.

Cuban Leader Wants Export Tax on Tobacco—Bad Decline in Industry.

HAVANA, May 31.—Gen. Carlos Garcia Ycaza, a prominent politician, proposes to ask Governor Magoon to place an export tax on raw tobacco. He declared in an interview with the correspondent of The Sun today that Cuba's tobacco manufacturing industry was being rapidly destroyed. Where 100,000,000 cigars were made in 1930 only about 26,000,000 are being made now. He added:

"For the preservation of this most important industry something must be done. The falling off in the number of cigars manufactured is enormous. It not only takes money away from Cuba, but the best tobacco is sent abroad, where it is blended with inferior tobacco and the combination is put on the market as the genuine Havana product."

"If an export tax is placed on the raw material the factories which have moved to Key West, Tampa and elsewhere will gradually return to Cuba. Cuba used to purchase 2,000,000 cigars annually from Cuba, but it now buys the leaf tobacco, which is blended with inferior tobacco in Chile, and the cigars made from this combination are sold as genuine Havanas. I intend to lay my proposition before Governor Magoon soon."

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

The paper prepared by Dr. William P. Roberts on Medical Inspection in Schools, which the Star publishes today is worthy of careful reading by all. Dr. Roberts has gone exhaustively into certain phases of this very important subject, and while he has not perhaps said enough along other lines, the information set forth is amply sufficient to demonstrate that great good may be accomplished by such inspection. There is no reason to believe that school children in St. John are any better off, physically or otherwise, than those of other cities; no argument which can show that we are in a position to do without inspection such as has been adopted by more advanced communities against this proposal, as there are against all such suggestions. Dr. Roberts' idea will be called a fad, it is a fad, in the truest sense of the term, but where would the world be today were it not for the faddists, the men and women who get out of the rut of everyday life and originate or develop something new? Without so-called fads there could be no progress.

From the extensive statistics gathered together, Dr. Roberts has given us some information as to the prevalence of various forms of weakness among school children, and has pointed out the dangers which exist at the present time through ignorance and carelessness. While the Star is not qualified to advance any suggestion as to proper carrying out of the proposal which has been made, this paper is thoroughly in accord with Dr. Roberts' idea, expressed it is true in a somewhat different manner, that the chairman of the board of health should be a physician of high standing, who would devote his whole time to the welfare of the city, and who would in return receive a proper salary.

IT TAKES TIME.

When an earthquake or any other calamity strikes a city, only a few days elapse before the sufferers send abroad to the world stories of the great determination to overcome the misfortune, to rise above what has almost ruined them and to build bigger and better than before. Then come tales of wonderful activity, frequently coupled with disquieting rumors of local troubles and other incidental disturbances, but these of course never interfere with the great work of re-construction. So it happens that a month or two after the catastrophe the outside world gives little thought to the stricken city, and the fleeting visions which do chance to pass always show streets filled with new and substantial structures, and all traces of destruction obliterated. This has been the case with San Francisco and Kingston. It has probably been equally true of Santiago, but the latter district is somewhat out of the circle of our casual observation. Yet nothing could be more erroneous than these impressions. It is considerably over a year since the San Francisco earthquake and almost a year since Kingston was wrecked. We have an idea that practically normal conditions have been restored in these places, for the world moves so rapidly these days that a year is often a lifetime. Yet San Francisco has not been rebuilt indeed so little has been done that the new buildings are scarcely noticeable, an odd structure here and there among acres of ruins. Even the streets have not yet been cleared of the debris; the main thoroughfares are of course fit for traffic but the less frequented ones are still littered with piles of wreckage, and will be in this condition for some time. The people who by the destruction of their homes were compelled to seek shelter in shacks on the streets or in tents in the public parks, are not yet all under roofs. There are still tents and shacks and families living in the open air. The city indeed looks as though the earthquake might have occurred a week instead of a year ago. True the work of rebuilding is being carried on very generally, but such was the magnitude of the disaster that its effects will scarcely be overcome in a generation.

At Kingston similar conditions prevail. Some effort towards rebuilding is noticeable, but there are a good many corrugated iron sheds doing duty in place of stone and brick structures; streets have not all been repaired, nor have the ordinary people resumed their ordinary occupations. Rome was not built in a day; nor is San Francisco to be rebuilt in a decade.

"Haven't you and your friend got through that argument yet?" asked a parent of his youngest son. "It isn't any argument," answered the boy. "I am merely telling Jimmie the facts in the case, and he is so headstall stubborn that he won't understand."

CASTOR OIL.

How well do I remember the bottle fat and tall That stood above the cake-box against the pantry wall! A scented it exhorted there to warn the youthful sinner Away from tempting baked things reserved for Sunday dinner. A nibbled cake or cruller, a pilfered macaroon, And out would come the bottle and a mighty cooking-spoon, And some one's shocked asphyxiated would shudder and recoil, For half a day thereafter from that dose of castor oil.

The days when I was cruel and beat my baby brother, Or chased the neighbors' chickens, or acted mean to mother, Or figured out some devilment to set my father wild, Those days were days of bitterness for one defenceless child, Mother would seize a large young ear and firmly lead the way To the grim, remorseless bottle, that waited for its prey— But suits had changed to jollity and sullen looks to laughter, In the castor oil "hangover," that I had the morning after.

Now, when a railway magnate from his eminence looks down And says he has no use for a certain Christian town, Or when a trolley person with barrels yet to fill Condemns as confiscation a gentle people's will, Or when a Standard-Oily prof in angry zeal declares That folks are moved by envy when they seek the millionaires— When people choose such morbid views, such naughty views as these, I wonder why they never try the old home remedies.

DUST LAYING.

The Duke of Westminster has begun an experiment in dust laying, on six miles of drives in Eaton Park. The process adopted is known as Transp, which has for its basis pure tar. The tar is sprayed in the form of a flimsy vapor at a steam pressure of 170 pounds, which derives it two inches deep into the road formation, and will, it is believed, not only hold down dust in dry weather, but make the road waterproof in wet weather.

OFF WITH HIS HEAD.

"What's the trouble?" asked the Madrid citizen. "We've been obliged to arrest this man for lese majesty," answered the policeman. "But he's a very peaceful and inoffensive person."

"Yes. But he inadvertently dropped a remark that he thought had the smartest small boy on earth,"—Washington Star.

Harry Laughlin told at an exhibition game in Toledo a billiard story, says The Chicago Chronicle. "Once when I had my own parlor in Columbus," he said, "I was a good deal disturbed by the loss of chalk. Chalk disappeared at a tremendous rate, and I said to my helper: 'Keep a better eye on the chalk, Jim. I'm no millionaire.' 'I know the game's not pockets the chalk, Mr. Laughlin,' Jim said, 'but they're regular customers. I guess you wouldn't want me to offend 'em, would you?'"

"Yes. Why?" the patron asked. "I thought so," said Jim, "from the amount of chalk you carry away. The boss likes enterprise, and he told me to tell you that if you wanted a bucket of water now and then you could have one and welcome."

A young girl recently went to her aunt on a momentous occasion. She explained that a gentleman was coming to see her. "I am sure he likes me," she added, "and—and I think he means to propose. I don't like to ask mother how I should act under the circumstances, but—"

"Do you like him?" interrupted aunt, sternly. "Very much," answered her niece. "Enough to marry him?" "The girl blushed and replied in the affirmative."

"Then," said aunt, with an air of authority, "don't let there be any when-shall-it. When he comes, don't turn red and look down to the carpet. Just throw your arms around his neck, look him full in the face, and begin talking about the furniture."

SATURDAY SERMONETTE

HABITS. There are only two kinds of habits and they are enough, good and bad. I wonder if we ever get a bad habit completely conquered? We may conquer it, but I question if we can get over the associations connected with it. A minister told me that he smoked in his unregenerate days but had not done so for thirty years, but there were times when the smell of a good cigar would make his mouth water. I know a railroad man to whom religion came late in life. He had been a great swearer, and he told us in prayer meeting one night that when he bumped his head against the car he swore a "little damn."

A man who had been a hard drinker but had not drunk for twenty years, would cross the street, and sometimes go around a block to avoid a saloon for the fumes of drink, he said, would awaken the old appetite. Manners and etiquettes soon become habits. They cling to you long after you know about them and try to break away from them. If you associate with people who do not speak correctly, you will speak incorrectly after a while, no matter how well you know the rules. I know an educated man who always spoke to you as if you were dead; he got into the habit when a boy working in a mill. I heard a cultured man whose manners were easy and graceful, say that a minister had the habit of putting his hands in his pockets when speaking. He knew better; but he never broke away from the habit until his wife sewed up his pockets.

Watch a lawyer when speaking on a platform. If he has the habit of making a gesture every minute as if his gown were slipping from his shoulders and he has caught the habit of putting it back.

I knew a speaker who knew how to speak and pronounce his words correctly, but he had gotten into the habit when young of putting his hand on his hip, and he never broke away from it until his wife sewed up his pockets.

Not liking a man for no better reason than the man who did not like Dr. Tell. "The reason why I can't love you is because you are a habit of dislike and I grow stronger all the time. Love may, and often does, become a habit and we love a person. The reason why we cannot tell no more than we can tell why we dislike another person is that we love a person who we never saw anything beautiful or heard sweet music or read a strong book or it is a habit of dislike and I grow stronger all the time. I thought our love was like that of David and Jonathan, but I came to know that he was not a friend of mine and that he could hear me traduced and that he would intervene with my life. I thought our love was like that of David and Jonathan, but I came to know that he was not a friend of mine and that he could hear me traduced and that he would intervene with my life. I thought our love was like that of David and Jonathan, but I came to know that he was not a friend of mine and that he could hear me traduced and that he would intervene with my life."

FEWER BRITISH LAWSUITS

LONDON, May 30.—The latest British civil judicial statistics, those for 1906, have just been laid before the first decrease since 1889 in legal proceedings, the decline being from 1,318,857 cases in 1904 to 1,273,224. Another feature of the statistics is the steady growth of imprisonment for debt, 11,487 debtors having been committed, the highest number for ten years.

ASK MINNEAPOLIS MILLERS TO LOCATE IN MANITOBA

The Pillsbury, Washburn and Washburn-Crosby Companies Approached by Winnipeg Interests.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 31.—Largest flour-milling companies of Minneapolis including the Pillsbury, Washburn and Washburn-Crosby, have been approached by Canadians in efforts to induce them to establish mills in Manitoba. These Canadians who represent financial and real estate interest north of the border have gone so far as to offer free milling sites and water power, with these favorable inducements. However, there is no sign as yet that these tempting offers will be accepted by Minneapolis millers. President James S. Bell, of the Washburn-Crosby Company, said today his company has no intention of entering the Canadian field, and he hardly thought it likely it would do so. Henry L. Little, manager of the Pillsbury Washburn Company, said offers had been made to his company, but nothing had been done towards accepting them, and he did not know that anything would be done. The matter is of special interest because it again raises the question of the final effect of the import duty against a wheat supply tending to diminish on this side of the boundary and to increase in Western Canada where the Minneapolis mills are barred from free access. The belief is expressed that the Ogilvie and Lake mills now do most of the milling in Canada, would welcome the advent of the big Minneapolis concern, who account for the great help to the development of the country, which this would mean. The business interests of Western Canada have seen American tobacco, sewing machine, agricultural implement and other large companies build branches in Canada on account of the tariff and think it would be well if possible to secure also investments by Minneapolis millers. Canadian millers view this with the apparently certain prospect of a permanent decrease in wheat production in the States, and other towns made similar overtures to Minneapolis millers in 1904 but they were not accepted.

"I'm afraid that if I wait any longer something may happen to make me lose my nerve."—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE ST. JOURNAL STAR

BUSTER BROWN AND TIGE

By Arthur W. Marchmont.

She soon began to meet the early workers, and many of them had her a cheery "Good morning," and this was almost as good to her as a meal. She had not for many days set eyes on a fellow creature—except the young secretary, whom she now thought of with a smile—who had not been an enemy, and the ring in her voice and the light in her eyes, as she returned those greetings, made more than one of those who passed turn and look back at her.

Presently she came to a farmhouse, where a woman was busy in the yard. She went up and asked her for some food. But the woman turned with a scornful look, and said: "You didn't want any trolloping beggars there." But as she was moving away, the farm-gate opened, and overheard the rebuff. He spoke sharply to his wife, and called Olive back, and offered her some copper.

"I don't want money, thank you," she replied. "I asked for food." "Well," he said, and fetched her a loaf of milk. "You can rest in the barn, if you've a mind to, and eat it there," and he himself led the way to it, and made her a comfortable heap of hay. Olive thanked him, and asked his name, saying she would repay him. He told her his name with a laugh, and said she needn't mind, as a bit of bread and cheese were of no account to anyone. He just wished her well out of her troubles.

After a little delay, she made another attempt, and this time fought with her fright and conquered. It was dark then, and the darkness was once more a friend. For a few minutes she quivered and trembled threateningly; but gradually it strengthened, and the light moss-squid and water came out clear and beautiful, drawing the people to her, and compelling them to listen. First one, and then another, came forward and put something into her hand; and then an incident occurred which turned the tide all in her favor. One of a number of men who had stopped to listen uttered a coarse, jeering remark about her; and some others called to him to hold his tongue. Irritated at this, he went toward her, and standing in front of the rest, invited her to follow him, and tried to put his arm about her waist, as if to kiss her. The next moment he lay on his back from the blow of a branny fist dashed into his face, and the man who had struck the blow, a powerful giant of about forty years of age, stood over him, obviously ready to repeat it.

"All right, my girl, I'll stand by 'ee. They know me, you see away," he said in a low voice. "I'll be worse for next time. You get away, and I'll take the hat round." A little cheer went up for him, and when he brought Olive back what he had collected, she was astonished to find herself in possession of two or three shillings. The man was as shrewd as she was kindhearted. "You're new to this, I can see," he said, when she had finished. "Ah, but thank him, 'as he has been a fool behind, or John Polforth is a fool. Let me stand by 'ee while you sing next time. I'll see 'ee through." He was as good as his word; and when Olive was too tired to sing any more that evening, she had collected a few shillings more.

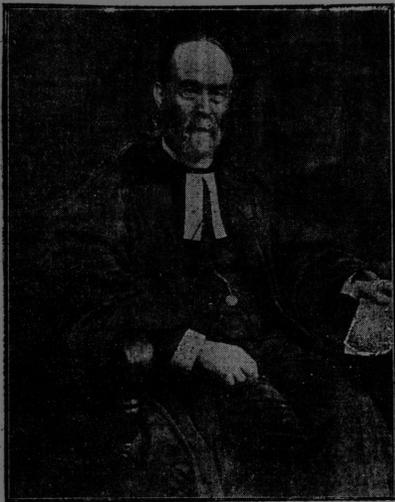

"Nor was that all. When he heard that she had no place to sleep, he insisted on her going with him to his wife. And the wife was as kind as her husband. "I hope you hit 'em hard, Jack," she said, when she heard of the fellow's blackguardism; and would take no denial when she declared that Olive must stay right under their roof. After supper, Olive sang to them both, and as the woman sat listening, the man, of course, slipped a shawl over her and ceased her futile attempts to wipe them away, and wept openly and loudly.

Then Olive told them something of the journey before her, and the good and bad of it, as if she had been her own daughter, and put her to bed with a care which could not have been more thoughtful had Olive been a little child. In the morning she counted over her earnings, and then found among the coins two sovereigns. This she saw was the result of the night's visit to the room. The tears would not then be denied, and she was weeping happily at the thought of this fresh act of kindness, when she was told that a sum meant so much, when Mrs. Polforth came into the room. "My man would like to see 'ee before he goes to work. Will 'ee hurry?" Olive held up the sovereigns, and looked at her with a smile. "Eh, but that's a rare bit o' luck," she exclaimed. "You don't know me, and yet you are so kind to me. I'll be glad to see you, if you will." "My dear, good friend," cried Olive, kissing her. "But I'll come down and speak to you both about it."

She hurriedly finished her dressing and went down. But the man was gone. The wife received her with a half-shamefaced smile. "Jack's a rare coward, and that's true. He wouldn't face 'ee, when I said it was your visit to 'ee, was his doing, and he swears that if I take a penny of it back he'll thrash me. And he has a terrible fit, my dear. We see, of course, you were in trouble, an' that—oh, my dear, you must take it. It's just to get 'ee home."

ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1907.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF CANADA TO MEET IN MONTREAL'S HISTORIC OLD CHURCH

REV. ALEX. FALCONER, D. D., of Pictou, N. S., the retiring Moderator.

The thirty-third General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the high court of that important branch of the Christian Church in the Dominion, will commence its deliberations in Montreal next week, the first sedentary being set for Wednesday eve-but the assembly is by no means bound to follow that action up by the selection of any of the nominees and may proceed to select one entirely of their own choice. In fact a presbyterial nomination is getting to have less weight with the assembly as time goes Dominion. Roman Catholics come first, Methodists second, and Presbyterians third. According to the official census of the year mentioned there were 82,442 Presbyterians, but in the six intervening years that number has doubtless considerably increased, as in the decade from 1891 to 1901, Presbyterians show a larger percentage of increase than any other religious body. The increase as figured out by a mathematical device are:

Table showing percentage of increase for various denominations: Presbyterian (11.93), Roman Catholics (11.39), Methodists (8.15), Anglicans (5.34), Baptists (4.59), Congregationalists (less than 1 per cent).

Of all the religions or denominations of the Dominion, Presbyterians in 1901 constituted six per cent.

Presbyterial Census.

All but three provinces showed good increases in the number of Presbyterians from 1891 to 1901, the three showing declines being the three Maritime Provinces, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island. It would seem, however, that what those provinces lost went largely to swell the population of the new provinces in the Northwest. The following table shows the number of Presbyterians in the different provinces at the time of the two last censuses:

of the first synod in Canada. It was on the third of July 1817, when the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia was formed by the union of the Presbyteries of Truro and Pictou. The Truro Presbytery was organized in undertaken to Canada by the Secession Church in Scotland and several ministers were sent out shortly afterwards. These became "The Missionary Presbytery of Canada in connection with the United Associate Synod of the Secession Church in Scotland." Another stream of Presbyterianism was known as the Free Church. This was also an offshoot of the Scotch Church. It had its beginning in Canada in 1844. There were several amalgamations of Presbyterian bodies down to 1861 when the Presbyterian Church of Canada and the United Presbyterian Church of Canada, united under the name of the Canada Presbyterian Church. In 1875 came the union of other bodies which constitute the Presbyterian Church in Canada as it now exists. This body is now about to hold its thirty-third general assembly. Such is briefly sketched, the story of the upbuilding of that important body.

Growth Since Union.

Another important section of an article of this character must be one to show how the church has grown since the union in 1875. In the first year of the history of the united body, the total income was $862,676. It has grown steadily until in 1906 it was $2,000,000. The yearly increased income ranged all the way from $3,000 to $500,000, the smaller amount being in the second year of the union's history and the larger one in 1901. There were only four decreases in all that time, the smallest being $10,000 in 1893 and the largest $50,000 in 1902, quite a contrast to the preceding year with its increase of $300,000.

The Church officers keep a careful record of the various purposes for which the income is subscribed. They can tell just exactly the average which each communicant and each family of a congregation contributes towards the minister's stipend, to the ordinary expenditure and the schemes of the Church.

REV. PROF. SCRIMGER, of Montreal.

The amount paid for stipends alone exceeds $1,300,000. For ordinary purposes the payments exceed $2,000,000 and for schemes of the Church half a million is paid in. For all purposes the amounts collected total over $3,000,000.

French Evangelization.

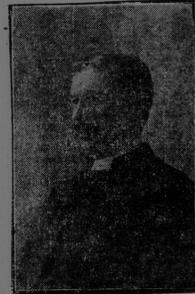

Another feature of work in home field by which the Presbyterian church sets much store is French evangelization. In ring, the fifth of June, at Erskine Church. According to the time-honored custom, the retiring moderator, the presiding officer of the preceding assembly, held last year at London, Ont., will preach the sermon which is the initial event of the gathering. After the Rev. Alexander Falconer, D. D., of Pictou, N. S., has fulfilled that function the next step is the presentation of the roll of delegates and then the new moderator is selected. That with some routine business is usually all that is done at the first meeting and the next morning the assembly gets down to the regular business set out for it.

The different presbyteries throughout the country have the privilege of nominating men for the moderatorship, on. However, according to custom, there are several leaders of the church in nomination, among whom are Rev. Dr. Mowatt of the Montreal Erskine Church; Rev. Dr. Duval of Winnipeg; and Rev. Dr. Gracey of Gananoque. It is some years since the honor has fallen to the lot of a Montreal divine, so that it would not be a matter of great surprise if Rev. Dr. Mowatt were to be elected to the moderator's chair. He is a man of high standing in the educational work of the church, and is widely known and respected for his piety and learning.

Its Composition.

The General Assembly is composed of 500 members, of whom 250 are ministerial and the other half lay delegates. As a general rule only about 250 of the whole attend, of whom 250 are ministers and 100 lay members. These come from the six Synods of the church, which for territorial purposes are grouped as follows: Maritime Provinces, Montreal and Ottawa, Toronto and Kingston, Hamilton and London, Manitoba, and the Northwest, British Columbia and Alberta. These Synods in turn are sub-divided into sixty presbyteries. The bulk of the time of the assembly is occupied in hearing reports from different departments of the church's work as a whole, but from time to time there are sectional appeals which the presbyteries and synods have been unable to settle to the satisfaction of all, and these may be appealed to the highest court for settlement.

In an article of this character it is not necessary to dilate on the importance of the Presbyterian Church as a body, or on its standing in the religious life of the community. Its record is so well known that it needs no championship at this stage of its career. Suffice it to say that the official census of 1901, the latest authoritative figures on the subject, rank Presbyterianism as the third strongest denomination in the 1786 and the Pictou Presbytery in 1785. The first named was a "Burgher" and the other "Anti-Burgher." As that famous split in the old country church had no real place in the colonies, being strictly peculiar to Scottish conditions, it was deemed fitting after those years that the two bodies should come to gather, hence the formation of the first synod ninety years ago. On its roll were the names of nineteen ministers, the most of whom had been connected with the secession churches. At that time the whole number of ministers in the eastern provinces was twenty-six and the Presbyterian population was estimated at 4,000. The first meeting of a Presbytery goes much farther back than that. The earliest record is of a meeting on July third, 1776, when the ordination of a minister took place at Halifax in the Protestant Dissenters Church which was organized in 1749. Its members were partly belonging sometimes to one and sometimes to the other denomination. This organization rose out of the 1500 people, mostly Calvinists, who came from Holland, Germany and Switzerland and England, most of whom settled in the vicinity of Lunenburg. As far back as 1831 a mission had been

Dividing this up among the different Presbyterian families throughout the Dominion, the amount contributed by each per year averages $23.58 and for the individual communicant an average of $12.75.

Missionary Work.

For its missionary zeal, both at home and abroad, the Church is famous. In Canada the Church spends over $150,000 a year in looking after the sections which are unable to support regular church and in taking care of the newly opened sections of the country. Success has invariably attended the ministrations among our new arrivals in the country, a matter of no small importance considering the way the country is growing at the present time. Work among the Mormons has been one of the few disappointments. The non-Mormon population in the Mormon belt, so called, in the northwest is so small, the influence of the Mormon Church is so tremendously overshadowing, the organization of the system is so complete and the power of the Priesthood so absolute, that the missionaries, if they are not to grow weary in well doing, must be men of great faith. New Ontario, where the mining regions are becoming important is now receiving the attention of the Home Mission branch of the Church work. This work is ably supplemented by the Women's Home Mission Society. Closely allied the Home Mission work is that of the Augmentation Fund, which helps out small congregations where they are not strong enough financially to support a minister. In such cases the Church comes to the assistance of these struggling congregations by augmenting the minister's stipend to a point where it is possible to live. The aim of the Church is not to allow no minister to work on less than $800 per annum, steps having been taken not long since to raise the amount to that basis from a lower level. The Church raises about $50,000 per annum this there are between fifty and sixty earnest workers engaged. In this field there is an annual expenditure of about $25,000. The Pointe Aux Trembles School is the chief seat of effort in that connection and so satisfied is the board, of which Rev. Dr. Mowatt, of Montreal, is the chairman, that strenuous efforts are being made to extend the scope of operation. In the report of the board to the last assembly this significant statement is made: "It is unquestionable that the awakening of Quebec from the intellectual torpor, the social and industrial stagnation, which characterizes all

FOR A SMALL GIRL. 2372-Sailor blouse and the variations of this most excellent mode are always pretty upon small girls and a design a bit out of the ordinary is sketched. The long rolling collar is a very becoming feature, as it lends breadth to the shoulders and sturdiness to the figure. The skirt is fitted and flares widely at the hem. For serge, cheviot or mohair the style is excellent as well as for washing fabrics. The medium size calls for 4 1/2 yards of 23-inch material. The blouse is separate while the skirt is joined to an underbody. 2372-size, 4 to 12 years. The price of this pattern is 10 cents.

TWO DISEASES WHICH ARE GREATLY ON THE INCREASE

(Mall and Empire). Hon. J. W. St. John, Drummond, the habilitant, poet; George T. Marks, of Port Arthur; Dr. Ross, of Dundas; and Dr. Lewis, of Dufferin, are a few names that occur in strong, vigorous men, in the very prime of life, suddenly cut off by heart failure or kidney disease in some of its forms. Heart and kidney disease has not figured as one of the most prolific cause of death, and heart failure, according to popular conception, has been reserved for either the weakling or the gross-fed, inactive man, who piles on fat, and at last falls a victim of his clogging flesh. But these men come into neither of the classes mentioned. Dr. Drummond was famed for his strength; St. John was a man of tremendous physique, Dr. Lewis and Mr. Marks were stalwart specimens of manhood. HEART AND KIDNEY DISEASES. The fact of the matter is that heart and kidney ailments are increasing at an alarming rate, and threaten to preserve the present ratio of deaths per thousand in the face of medical triumphs that conquer one disease after another. If we add pneumonia to heart disease and kidney disease we have named the three maladies that show the most alarming growth. The man-in-the-street forms the idea that these diseases are increasing from the notices he reads in the newspapers and the medical statisticians for once endorse the popular view, and announce the increasing dangers of these diseases. Dr. Thomas Darlington, New York's Commissioner of Health, and president of the American Climatological Association, in a recent address declared that the mortality from heart and kidney troubles has almost doubled in New York, Chicago, and Boston in the past twenty-five years. AN ALARMING INCREASE. The increase is marked in all parts of the country, but is especially alarming in the cities. Here are some of the figures: Heart Bright's Combined Disease. Death rate. Boston, 1880, 11.71, 8.23, 17.84; 1905, 18.17, 9.54, 27.71. New York, 1880, 9.54, 8.51, 18.00; 1905, 13.30, 13.37, 27.71. Chicago, 1880, 6.20, 3.55, 9.75; 1905, 10.60, 10.13, 20.73. New Orleans, 1881, 16.48, 5.21, 21.69; 1905, 21.35, 17.30, 33.25. Washington, 1885, 14.50, 6.63, 20.38; 1904, 18.26, 11.91, 30.17. Philadelphia, 1885, 11.24, 8.30, 19.58; 1905, 13.59, 13.73, 27.32.

heart, for drunkenness is less common, but stimulation is on the increase. How shall it profit a man if gives up hard drinking, but seeks and obtains a greater stimulus in every waking hour of his life? Then the stimulation is not an incident to the day's work; it is the day's work. Dr. Darlington: "The quiet and calm of sylvan life is within the grasp of a few of us, but rational living, hygienic precepts, and the law of physical and mental repose are doctrines which must be forcibly brought home in order to cope with this menace." GET A HOBBY. Gladstone once said that medicine must become more a philosophy and less an art; and the Grand Old Man knew what he was talking about, for if the end of medical treatment is to prolong life, Mr. Gladstone was a successful practitioner. "The falling of trees was his nostrum; and in the old 'sawdust pills' there resides a world of curative value. But a man may be strengthening his body with exercise, while at the same time he is wearing out his mind with worry. For this excited mental condition a hobby has often been recommended; and there can be little doubt that the pursuit of some little recreation that may be classed as a hobby has lengthened and sweetened the days of many a hard-working man. There is no benefit as a means of prolonging life, and a refuge from worry, a hobby is an escape valve for folly; and there is hardly any prophetic physician who will not prescribe it.

NEWS OF REXTON.

REXTON, N. B., May 30--Rev. Fr. Martineau of Richibucto Village and Rev. Fr. Lapointe of St. Anne left Tuesday for Cape Breton to be present at the ordination of the priesthood of Rev. Philippe Hebert, which ceremony was performed Thursday at that place by His Lordship Bishop Casey of St. John. Mrs. Harry McDonald went to Sheldale, Tuesday, to spend two weeks at her old home. Miss Loretta Burns is quite recovered from her recent illness. A large number of schooners arrived in port this week, but no square-rigged vessels yet. A heavy northeast gale, with rain, which has lasted nearly three days. The mills had to suspend operations for two days. Farring has also been retarded on account of the weather. Hay, oats and potatoes have been very scarce, but a good supply has been brought in from Prince Edward Island.

2500 MEN IDLE IN THE COLLIERIES

SYDNEY, May 31--Twenty-five hundred men who have been idle in collieries of Nova Scotia Steel Company will probably return to work Monday morning. This is the fifth day since Thursday week that the mines have been closed down, which will seriously affect the output for May. It is understood that the Dominion Coal Company has struck the Emery seam at No. 6 and that it is 41-2 feet in thickness. Boring for the Emery at number 6 has been going on for some time. The company will in all probability work the Emery seam there, which will mean a greater output and a greater number of men employed at No. 6. The company was boring for the Emery at Bridgport some time ago, but the drills were lost and no work has been done there since.

FRENCH PORTS ARE PARALYZED BY STRIKE

PARIS, May 31--An admirably organized universal strike by all branches of the shipworkers of France has paralyzed life in the ports of the republic. Unlike an ordinary strike, this movement is not attended with bitterness against the employers or revolutionary feelings. The manifestations are made with the object of drawing the attention of the country to the strikers' cause. The naval reservists claim, in a manifesto issued today, in which they ask the support of all classes, that it is impossible for the widows of seamen to support themselves and raise children on the pensions granted by the government. The cabinet will hold a special meeting tomorrow in an effort to find a way to bring the strike to an ending. The leading steamship lines are much embarrassed, and have appealed to the government to take rapid steps to remove the cause of a state of affairs by which they alone suffer, although they are in no way responsible for the strike.

STREAM DRIVERS RAISE LIVELY FUN AT CAMPBELLTON. CAMPBELLTON, N. B., May 30--A large number of stream drivers have been in town during the past few days. On Monday night some who were under the influence of liquor began to fight. Officer Savoie, who arrested the "drifters," was tackled by several of the man's friends. Police-man Duncan came to his assistance, and after four arrests had been made the crowd dispersed. The next day Magistrate Matheson fined each of the four five dollars and costs. Dr. Skinner of St. John is spending ten days at the famous salmon pools at Flatlands, ten miles above Campbellton. It is rather early for salmon as yet, but last night a big catch of sea trout was made at Tide Head. Great strings of trout are being taken every day at Parker's Lake. A very heavy rain began falling Tuesday noon and continued until late Wednesday night. The river is rising rapidly and as a consequence very few drives will be hung up this season. The tug Christina was slightly injured by fire on Sunday morning. The building boom still continues Campbellton is to have a new hotel, which is to be known as the King Edward. The contract has been awarded to Mann and Baxter, and building operations will be begun immediately. A number of dwelling houses are in process of erection and others will be erected during the summer. The Waverly Hotel is to have a new stone foundation. The I. C. E. are erecting a new fence from Mowat's Corner to Andrew street. The Harquail concern are building a large spring race to facilitate the shipping of lumber.

PERSONALS

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Mary Innes, daughter of Dr. P. R. Innes, and Harold Schofield of the Robert Innes Co. The marriage will take place on the 12th of June. Rev. G. M. Campbell, district secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, has arrived home from Newfoundland, where he has spent a couple of months. Miss Edith Carter has returned home after spending the winter in California and the Canadian West. Cards of invitation have been received in St. John from William Wainwright of Montreal for the marriage of his daughter, Miss Rosabelle Hill, to Arthur Reginald Chipman, eldest son of Col. and Mrs. John D. Chipman of St. Stephen. The marriage is to take place at the church of St. James the Apostle, Montreal, Wednesday, June 12, to be followed by a reception at the home of the bride, Metcalf street. Today is the first of the Saturday half holidays, and will be observed by the hardware men and others. The probabilities for the day, says the weather prophet, are for fair weather, although no greater degree of warmth is promised. The various parks will probably be thronged and many will take advantage of the day to have an outing in the country. ing tomorrow in an effort to find a way to bring the strike to an ending. The leading steamship lines are much embarrassed, and have appealed to the government to take rapid steps to remove the cause of a state of affairs by which they alone suffer, although they are in no way responsible for the strike.

MEDICAL INSPECTION IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The Board of Education to make arrangements for attending to the health and physical condition of the children educated in public elementary schools. Mr. Tennant's amendment was as follows: It shall be the duty of every local education authority to make arrangements in accordance with a scheme to be made by the board of education, for attending to the health and physical condition of the children educated in public elementary schools. The sequel was a surprise. It would seem as if every man had already been persuaded in his heart of the value of, and necessity for, this reform, but every man was not sure of his neighbor's opinion either in the house or out of it, but that every day in the afternoon, when the debate came on it was evident that the proposal had the support of both political parties, and practically of the whole house. It was supported by Mr. Balfour, Sir W. Collins, Sir H. Craik, Sir W. Anson, Sir Gilbert Parker and Mr. Masterman, and Dr. MacNamara said that medical inspection were made compulsory that would be worth all the other provisions of the bill put together. At seven o'clock Mr. Balfour agreed to insert for the report stage of the bill the following sub-clause:

It shall be the duty of every local authority to provide for medical inspection of every child on its application for admission to a public elementary school, and on such other occasions as the board of education may direct, or the local education authority may think fit.

This step marks progress. It is the opinion of the medical profession, repeated by this association, that there should be a board of education medical department, that medical inspection of elementary school children should be compulsory, and that this inspection should be made on admission, recorded, and repeated during the child's school career.

Whatever be the final fate of this education bill of 1907, now before the house of lords, there can be no doubt that either in this bill or in its immediate successor, medical inspection of school children will become law. As a result of enquiries by parliamentary commissions appointed by various cities in Europe, it has been ascertained that mortality among school children is found to be twenty-nine per cent. in boys, and forty-two per cent. in girls; measles, neuritis, headache and influenza seem to be the chief causes. Compulsory education many times means compulsory infection, because the child on the one hand, under the existing law of compulsory education, is compelled to attend school, and on the other, should there be any case of any contagious disease such as diphtheria or scarlet fever he is necessarily exposed to infection. And further, it is possible for a child to be unrecognized case of either of the above diseases to have the same carried into the home of thirty or more children in that one day. This being a fact, it is of importance for those citizens, who feel that medical inspection is unnecessary because they are quite capable of having their children inspected medically and kept in a healthy condition, to note that their child or children may leave home in the morning in perfect health, and on account of being commore scholars who are in the possession of an unrecognized virulent case of contagion, he may return home bearing with him the germs of a disease, which may mean a serious illness, and in some instances, his death.

The medical inspector should look after:

First—The school building, that is: Condition, ventilation, lighting, heating, seating, etc.

Second—Inspection of candidates for the principles of preventative medicine and school hygiene, diffusion of knowledge among the general public and popular lectures.

Third—Physical and mental condition of the child.

(a.) The simple measurements, height, weight, chest measurement, question of development as affected by up-bringing, under feeding, malnutrition, housing and environment.

(b.) Eyes, ears, and teeth. If necessary provide notification to the parents, with advice to consult the family physician.

(c.) Signs of over pressure or school hours, sleep.

(d.) Infectious and other diseases. Scouting is important. The difference in the heights of children of the same age may vary from 6 in. to 11 in., and the seats should be adjustable to the bodies, not the bodies to the seats. The hygienic Swiss desks may be adjusted easily for height and slope. These desks and seats are regarded by good authorities as comfortable, constructed on correct principles, and generally satisfactory.

Next to the question of body measurements comes the examination of the eyes, ears and teeth of the child, because there is nothing that falls the best efforts of parents and teacher so completely as imperfect sight and hearing, and nothing that more frequently causes physical degeneration than defective teeth.

In connection with some statistics given by Helen MacMurtry, M. D., in her report on this subject I quote the following:

EYESIGHT OF SCHOOL CHILDREN.

"First of all it was necessary to make a rapid examination of a large number of children in order to convince educational authorities of the large percentage of school children who cannot learn because they do not see well, and to force the public into doing something by drawing attention to the crying need. Accordingly, we have now reports in the literature of the subject of perhaps 1,000,000 children. A few examples may be given:

London: 600,000 children examined by eight physicians, 10 per cent. found to have less than one-third of normal vision.

Standard I, 54 per cent.; Standard VIII, 80 per cent. have normal vision.

Cohn has collected the statistics published by German observers:

Lower classes, 22 per cent. near sighted.

Upper classes, 23 per cent. near sighted.

New York, 1904: 7,166 children examined—17 per cent. suffering from defective eyesight.

DEFECTIVE HEARING.

In London Dr. Cheate examined 1,000 of the Highwell District School with the following results:

Normal hearing . . . . . 482

Middle ear disease . . . . . 618

Adenoids . . . . . 424

Enlarged tonsils . . . . . 231

In Stuttgart, Germany, 5,000 were examined and 30 per cent. had defective hearing.

In Glasgow, Scotland, 600 were examined and 23 per cent. had defective hearing.

In Chicago about one-sixth of the school children are so defective in hearing as to interfere with school work.

When we remember that some of the causes of deafness are removable, especially childhood deafness, and that in the case of adenoid growths, other great evils, such as mouth breathing, may at the same time be removed, it will permit us to first try to do some good work for the school medical officer to direct.

THE TEETH.

The condition of the teeth is closely connected with the question of physical degeneracy. Dr. Osler in present the prizes to successful students at the Royal Dental Hospital of London last October, told them he thought they should be a dental surgeon attached to every public elementary school.

INFECTIOUS AND OTHER DISEASES.

Finally, there is the question of transmissible diseases. No argument is needed here. There is no quicker and surer way to spread disease and death than to let light, implicit, or unrecognized cases of diphtheria, measles or scarlet fever attend school. House epidemics of children's diseases are usually traced to a child who has been infected at school, and fatalities under three years of age are often the result of infection from an older child going to school.

From another table of statistics representing 806 children examined, only 218 were without defect of any kind. The remaining 588 had one or other morbid condition.

The principal causes were as follows:

Rickets . . . . . 110

Affections of the skin . . . . . 319

Hand enlargement of school work . . . . . 165

Eye disease or refractive error . . . . . 261

Affections of the nose and throat . . . . . 42

Spinal curvature . . . . . 61

Long diseases . . . . . 47

Suppuration . . . . . 47

Ear diseases or deafness . . . . . 105

In Berlin of 2,902 children examined on their first entry into school 3,056 were put back, that is, not allowed to come to school for a certain period of time. The causes were anaemia, and general debility, scrofula, rickets, nervous trouble and defective intelligence. Of the children admitted, 7,335 required continuous supervision because of their eyes or ears or general weakness or slight tuberculous trouble.

ADVANTAGES OF MEDICAL INSPECTION.

Investigations conducted by well trained experts have demonstrated again and again that many children attend school suffering from contagious diseases. In the first month of medical school inspection in Boston 477 sick children were found at school, 37 being ill with diphtheria and 104 with scarlet fever. Such children are capable of infecting the things with which they come in contact as if they were suffering from severe attacks. Medical inspection would at once exclude these children from the school and have the rooms disinfected.

Investigations regarding the eyesight and hearing of the children show that there are many in the schools who are handicapped in their progress by defective sight, or hearing, or both. The strongest and hearty stages of these ill often escape the unskilled observation of the teacher—a thing not to be wondered at when it requires special skill on the part of the physician to discover the defect. In the majority of cases of defective hearing neither parent, teacher, nor child, is aware of the defect. When it is understood that defective eyesight, imperfect hearing, and growths in the vault of the nasopharynx are all too often the causes of abnormal stupidity and go hand in hand with poor talents, surely parents and school boards will see to it that these causes of imperfect work, wasted effort and failure to have adequate results in the education expenditure, to say nothing of the effect upon the further progress of the country, will as far as possible be removed.

The following table shows that these defects are not imaginary:

Table of Physical Record of Children in New York City from March 27th to December 23rd, 1905.

Number of children examined . . . . . 53,322

Number of cases of bad nutrition . . . . . 2,225

Children are frequently troublesome and inattentive owing to overpressure and nervousness, and owing to the approach of some nervous trouble, as hysteria, St. Vitus' dance, or epilepsy. Needless to say that children have neither the knowledge nor experience to enable them to deal wisely with such cases. They are in great need of the pathological progress of the child, and view him from that standpoint alone. It often requires the wise counsel of a specialist medical expert, who views schools and school work from an entirely different outlook, to keep the teacher from doing much permanent injury to such pupils. A thorough medical inspection dealing with the physical nature of the child and the conditions of his childhood, it will tend to arrest and remove the evils of excessive brain work and long continued sitting at a desk improperly selected, poorly prepared, and inadequate to the nutritive needs of the child. It may be added that where medical inspection has been introduced, the well-to-do parents not only welcome the progress of the health inspector, but show their gratitude by writing letters of thanks as well.

THE METHODS OF EXAMINATION.

The child undergoes a physical examination when making application for admission to school. The visitation is made on the part of the medical inspector at regular intervals and especially when called upon by the teacher.

The inspector sometimes gives a series of lectures to the teachers on signs and symptoms of the more serious and occurring diseases among school children and in this way keeps a close watch of pathological conditions existing among the children.

It is the duty of the medical inspector on finding a child in possession of one of the diseases of condition requiring treatment to notify the parents and have the family physician look into the matter and advise the proper professional friction.

If this system has proved so much service in other cities, why is it not practicable to have the same adopted by the City of Saint John. We certainly ought to appreciate the fact that the generation of children entering school today should be a strong, hearty and well educated one, and if you would pardon me I would make bold to offer a suggestion as to how this matter might be carried out in our city. There are many cities throughout Canada and the United States who have what is known as a city physician. The exact duties of such an official I am not particularly familiar with, but I imagine might be the medical inspection of public schools. There could be added a number of other duties, such as coroner's physician, police and jail surgeon, sanitary inspector of school buildings and other properties of the city, and no doubt such an official could attend to some of the city's poor, thus relieving the city of a burden, and doing the charity work which they are of necessity called upon to do.

The salary of such an official should be a generous one, thus warranting the selection of the best man procurable. I sincerely trust it would be more wisely invested on the part of our city and municipality.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The following resolutions touching the subject discussed in Dr. Roberts' paper were unanimously adopted by the Medical Society at its annual meeting, held on Wednesday evening last.

Whereas the question of "Medical Inspection of Public Schools" has been much discussed in the press of almost every country in Europe, and in many of the states of the American Union, the Argentine Republic and now also a number of the cities throughout Canada.

And whereas the object of all school education is to develop the best type of the individual citizen—the best mentally, the best morally and the best physically.

And whereas the medical inspection such a type of citizen without the strongest physical basis, namely: a strong, hearty body.

And whereas statistics prove positively that of the multitude of children applying for permits for admission to public schools each year, there are between fifty and seventy-five per cent. of some who have certain abnormal or disease conditions, which if neglected cripple the child for the successful prosecution of his school work to say nothing of the impairment of his future career and in many instances result in premature death.

And whereas a careful medical inspection of such children will see to it that the greater percentage of them might have been rescued from such conditions and developed into strong, robust and hearty children, the better capable of gaining for themselves an education, and for the country or nation, a stronger and harder race.

And whereas the medical inspection of school children when physically they are not in condition to obey without permanent injury to themselves, and in many cases endangering the lives of others, we feel that it is not only logical, but almost unjust to have in operation the law of compulsory education without medical inspection of public schools being carried out.

And whereas the medical inspection of school children is a method by which the prevention of disease can be successfully carried out, and the health of the community promoted.

Therefore, Be it Resolved that we, the St. John Medical Society, in view of the above facts feel it our duty as guardians of the public health of this city to state that it would be in the best interests of the citizens of Saint John to have compulsory medical inspection of schools.

And Be it Further resolved that we petition the board of education of the province to appoint a commission to look into this matter, weigh the facts carefully, and if found to be as above stated, to recommend the province to have the same law in the city of Saint John.

On behalf of the Saint John Medical Society,
O. J. McCULLY,
J. H. GRAY,
WILLIAM F. ROBERTS,
Committee.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES MUST PAY COSTS

The case of Mason R. Benn v. the school trustees of district No. 6, in the parish of Newcastle, was heard yesterday in chambers. A writ was issued against the trustees, compelling them to pay the costs of the plaintiff's legal expenses. The plaintiff alleged that the trustees had failed to provide for the maintenance of the school building, and that the schoolmaster had been obliged to incur expenses for the repair of the building. The trustees pleaded that they were not liable for the costs, as the schoolmaster was not a party to the proceedings. The judge found in favor of the plaintiff, and ordered the trustees to pay the costs.

When Harry McCluskey Comes

The concert to be given by the Artillery Band in the Opera House on Tuesday, June 11th, promises to be the best of the season. The band consists of thirty-nine men and as they have been practicing for some time, they will surprise even their friends. Too much credit cannot be given to Sergeant T. W. Horan, the conductor, and to the bandmaster, F. W. McNeill, for the faithful attendance to all the details of their respective positions.

In bringing Harry McCluskey the band feel that the public will appreciate their efforts to furnish only the highest class of entertainment.

Big Crowds at the Nickel

This will be a banner day for the Nickel Saturday as always big days at this popular playhouse, particularly because of the large number of children who attend. The pictures this week are excellent. They depict the tracking of a murderer by the police, and the capture of the criminal. The pictures are well acted, and the music is excellent.

City Cornet Band Fair

One of the largest crowds yet attended the City Cornet Band's fair last night. The prizes and their winners were as follows: Barrel of flour, $24; silver set, 212; Mrs. W. J. Sullivan, 565; St. Patrick street; fruit basket, 212; Miss Coughlin, Clifton street; pocket watch, 212; Miss O. Monahan, Elliott row; fancy vase, 225; ladies' bean tose, 1st, Miss O'Donnell; 2nd, Miss Murphy; gentlemen's bean tose, 1st, J. L. Connolly; 2nd, M. McNeally. The Carlton Cornet Band played an excellent programme of music, and vocal solos were sung by G. R. Keen, J. Hogan, and Miss Alcorn. This evening the City Cornet Band will play, and the door prizes will be valuable. J. P. Gleason, of 95 Hazen street, won a barrel of flour on the 29th of May.

VARNISHED FURNITURE.

If the varnished surface of a piece of furniture has become cracked and faded by exposure to sun or other heat rub it once a week with boiled linseed oil, using a woolen cloth and rubbing off the surplus with a soft cloth. The surface will be smooth and of a good color. Ordinary stains on varnished surfaces will yield to a brisk rubbing with a little kerosene. Spots caused by heat from a dish can be removed by the application of powdered rotten stone and oil, or a still simpler method is to spread a paste of salad oil and salt over the spot.

MR. ALLISON'S NEW PROFESSOR

Dr. R. K. McClung, who is to occupy the chair in physics at McGill University, has been born at Elmira, Ont., and is the son of Rev. John McClung, who is at present in charge of the Presbyterian Church at Elmira, Ont. Dr. McClung entered McGill University in the autumn of 1893 and pursued a course in honor in mathematics and natural philosophy, winning the Macdonald prize at the end of his third year and the Anson prize at the end of his fourth year. Upon his graduation in arts as first class honor man, he was granted the Anne Molson gold medal in mathematics and sciences. During the two succeeding years he held the position of demonstrator in physics and began his original research work under the direction of Prof. Rutherford. Two years later he took his M. A. degree and was elected to an exhibition science research scholarship, whereupon he proceeded to Cambridge University, England, where under Prof. J. J. Thomson he carried on his research work in the inspiring atmosphere of a laboratory where some of the most advanced physical research in the world is being carried on. At the end of the second year he won his Cambridge degree and the commissioner renewed the research scholarship and he was able to remain at Cambridge for another year. Since then he has held the position of senior demonstrator in physics at McGill University, which has given him in its acknowledgment of his valuable research work a doctorate in science. The following are the titles of some of his published researches: Energy of Roentgen and Becquerel Rays and Energy Required to Produce an Ion in Gases—Two papers, Radiation of Energy from Becquerel Rays, Efficiency of Fluorescent Screens, Distance Apart of Ions in a Molecule, Heating Effect of Roentgen Rays, Absorption of Alpha Rays, Effects of Temperature on the Ionization of Gases by Roentgen Rays, Relation Between Rate of Recombination of Ions in Air and the Temperature of the Air, Absorption of Roentgen Rays by Aqueous Solutions, Rate of Recombination of Ions in Gases Under Different Pressures and Ionization Produced in Gases by Roentgen Rays of Different Types. Dr. McClung has been active in the Y. M. C. A. work of McGill University and comes to Mt. Allison with the highest recommendations as to his character as a scholar and a man.

CITY ROAD DWELLING BADLY GUTTED BY FIRE LAST NIGHT

The substantial wooden residence at the corner of City Road and Brimley street, the property of Mrs. Susan Case, was badly damaged by fire last night.

The fire started in the kitchen and spread rapidly. The fire department soon responded.

The entire damage to the building and household effects of the occupants will be in the vicinity of $2,000.

The building was considerably damaged by water. That it had been very substantially constructed was shown by the fact that notwithstanding the great amount of water poured into the building none of the ceilings fell.

BRUSSELS ST. CHURCH GREATLY BEAUTIFIED

Will be Re-opened Tomorrow With Special Services—Rev. Mr. Cohoe Will Preach.

Tomorrow at both services, Rev. A. B. Cohoe, pastor of Brussels street church will preach specially prepared sermons in view of the re-opening of the edifice after some radical renovations and improvements. The choir will have a special programme, assisted by Miss Annie Edwards, Mr. Geo. Brown and others.

The modern old Baptist church is now resplendent in new also linoleum of a cork composition, a new shaped pew seats, which obviates the use of upholstery; and has been thoroughly cleaned and renovated. The lobbies and stairways have been covered with linoleum as well, and the gallery stairways painted.

Only a few years ago the whole interior, walls and ceiling, was most beautifully sheathed in pressed steel of a unique design, tinted in wedgewood colors and effect. Above the altar, massive and elaborate electrolitters were installed, the handsomest in town, and now with these latest improvements the big auditorium is truly a handsome interior.

The energetic women of Rev. A. B. Cohoe's church will be largely responsible for the pleasing changes in their church-home, for with monies raised by Talent Fun schemes they made the renovations possible. The Chinese department of the Sunday school of their own suggestion supplied the cork linoleum for the aisles, lobbies, etc.

R. K. Y. C. YACHTS OUT IN FORCE

Season Has Been Unusually Backward But a Good Summer's Sport is Looked For.

The yachting season on the river usually commences during the first week in May but on account of the cold weather the yachts of the R. K. Y. C. squadron will be out in force for almost the first time today, though a goodly number were on the river on May 24th. The half-holiday season commencing today will afford most of the members a chance to have a sail on the river. The yachts have all been taken from their winter quarters during the past few weeks but few ventured far up river as the cold weather marred the pleasure of a sail. On arriving at Millidgeville on Wednesday several R. K. Y. C. members found that the gale which blew on Tuesday had done considerable damage to some of the yachts. One boat had been driven to within a few feet from the shore.

THE HALF HOLIDAY

The half holiday season commences in most of the factories today. The dry goods stores will not close until July. The boot and shoe dealers will not observe the half holiday this year. The factories which closed at noon today are: St. John Iron Works, James Pender, Campbell Bros., The Josiah Fowler Co., Ltd., James Elliott, and J. Stephenson.

The hardware establishments also commence the half holiday season today. The firms closing are: Emerson & Fisher, W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd., Hayward Co., and F. A. Young.

ROBERT PEAKE GETS PRESENTATION

Honored by Western Union Staff on His Departure for North Bay—Goes With C. P. R.

Robert Peake, who leaves the city today to accept an important position with the C. P. Telegraph Co. at North Bay, is one of the best known telegraph men in Eastern Canada, having been in the service of the Western Union Telegraph Co. for the last 23 years, and has been connected with the St. John office where he has had charge of the electrical equipment and to whose untiring efforts and ability is largely due the efficient service rendered by the Western Union Co. throughout this section of the country.

Before leaving Mr. Peake was waited on by the staff here and presented with the following address and a handsome travelling bag:

Dear Friend:
Your fellow-workers feel that they cannot allow this opportunity to pass without giving expression, in some tangible form, to their good wishes on your behalf.

You are about to take your departure from amongst us after spending a long time, yes, a very long time, in the St. John office. It is nearly twenty-five years since you joined the staff here and in that quarter of a century the equipment of this office has increased and improved from what we would describe at this later day as very crude, until at the present time, as very important and successful repeater station.

The circuits which this office is called upon to repeat are, as we all know, the most important in the whole Western Union system, and the degree of success attained in managing this department of the office is a lasting memorial to your ability.

That you may continue rising in the esteem of those to whom the financial reward may increase correspondingly, is the earnest desire of your co-workers in this office.

They would like you to accept this travelling bag as a slight token of their esteem. May it recall to you in the years to come the pleasant associations of the past.

Signed:
C. M. Robertson, Mgr., F. M. Bailey, C. A. Shampier, Geo. S. Dodge, Jarvis M. Wilson, Arthur S. Connor, Helen L. Eggers, A. M. Thomas, Florence Currie, F. J. O'Rourke, A. B. McIntosh, Frederic Green, A. D. McMillan, Stephen C. Matthews, D. Westmore, H. E. Hoyt, H. Flaherty, Oscar Stanton, W. J. B. Bingham, Stella M. Estabrook, A. L. McIntyre, J. M. Powers, A. P. Bailey.

Mr. Peake's wife and family will remain in St. John for the present.

HORSE STOLEN WHILE OWNER WAS IN STORE

Samuel Rubins, the Mill street merchant, left his horse standing in front of the London House Wholesale yesterday morning about nine o'clock and a few minutes afterwards the animal wandered away. Up till two o'clock Mr. Rubins was unable to locate his steed and reported the matter to the police. About 9 o'clock in the afternoon Sergeant Baxter found a boy named Roy Winters driving the rig along Union street. The boy said that a man had given him 25 cents to look after the horse. He then said he found the horse on Carleton street. Mr. Rubins did not want to give the boy in charge and he was allowed to go.

CHILD HAS CLOSE CALL

A small child had a close call from being killed on Brussels street yesterday. The baby was being drawn in an express wagon by a little girl, the wagon was overturned and fell off the sidewalk, and between the wheels of a heavy sledge. The cry of the little girl attracted Policeman McCollom, who hastened to the child's assistance and extricated it from danger just before the horse moved.

BOYS ALLOWED TO GO WITH A WARNING

The police court session was opened at 8:30 o'clock this morning and there was one drunk on the sheet; he had to be carted from Hazen street. The magistrate told him it was not drinking of the new supply of water that caused his arrest and besides having to pay 25 cents cartage he was sent to jail for thirty days in default of paying an eight dollar fine.

John McGowan, Joseph Rogers, Goyer Bennett and Frank Sullivan, boys, were in court charged with disorderly conduct on Sunday last. They were given a lengthy lecture on how to conduct themselves properly on the street and were allowed to go with a warning.

John Bentley who assaulted Dr. Bishop, was brought from jail and remanded again.

Wm. Costello who was arrested early Friday morning for not giving a satisfactory account of himself was allowed to go home with his mother, after being given some sound advice on the danger of keeping bad company.

READY-TO-WEAR CLOTHING AGAIN! REDUCED—FINAL PRICE-CUT.

LADIES OF ST. JOHN, WE CONFIDENTLY ASSURE YOU OF MOST REMARKABLE VALUES in these new, stylish garments. The situation is a unique one in the history of our business—two phenomenally cold and backward spring months, a raw, blustery, almost wintry approach to summer, which naturally has had a serious effect on the sale of made-up wearables. The conditions—as is universally conceded—are without parallel in modern years and, along with other branches of trade, our business has, of course, felt the influence of this unseasonableness. Therefore, in order to arrange sales, so as to clear out our stock at once, we offer Costumes, Jackets, Coats, etc., at such striking reductions that no lady in need of such will hesitate to make a quick selection. No fear of dissatisfaction, it's our exquisite spring and summer goods we offer; nothing passe or defective.
