Eventually, however, it is as likely as not to prove an unmitigated blunder, the consequences of which will become manifest in the course of time. Abdul Hamid is evidently just now in a frame of mind calcuted to inspire serious concern. His easy victory over the Greeks, together with the indulgence he was accustomed to expect from Germany until lately, completely turned his head. The Ruthergien, after leaving New York, encountered a series of gales, which raised mountainous seas. The steamer labored so heavily that her cargo shifted, but the crew was able to right her for a time until she was thrown on her beam ends. and she listed to much that her sails, set to steady her, were sometimes submerged. Matters went from bad to worse, until on Tuesday the steamer was filling with water, when she was sighted by the Hermanos, which vessel immediately headed towards her. It was decided to abandon the Rutherglen, and Capt. English tried to lower away a lifeboat. Two -lifeboats were smashed against the steamer's side and washed away before any success attended his efforts. The third lifeboat succeeded in getting away from the steamer, but was stove in and sank just as it ran alongside the bark. Happily all the struggling men were respect. hauled on board the Hermanos. The London, Nov. 17 .- At the preliminary boats of the Hermanos made five trips before all the members of the Rutherglen's crew were rescued. Some idea of the difficulty of this task may be gathered from the fact that it took nine hours to rescue all the crew of the British steamer. The latter numbered 28 men in all. Captain English reports that on the Wednesday after leaving New York an eastbound Hamburg steamer, with a green, white and green funnel, was asked to take off the crew of the Rutherglen, but refused even to stop. The Hermanos was outward bound to Martinique, but she was obliged to put into Crookhaven in order to land

The Assembly Pass Resolutions Oppos ing an Arbitration Treaty

With Britain Louisville, Ky., Nov. 17.-At the afternoon session of the K. of L. yesterday, the assembly passed resolutions, expressing a strong sentiment against the formulation of an arbitration treaty between the United States and England. A prominent delegate to the assembly said that he thought the action of the body was prompted in a measure by the general report of the tendency of European countries to adopt the single gold standard as their financial systems. It is known that the great majority of the delegates are silver men. The K. of L. general assembly selected Chicago as the next place, and the first Tuesday in November, 1898, as the time for their next meeting. Little else was done at the morning session. Grand Master Workman Hicks said that the assembly would not complete its business before Saturday.

THE WASHINGTON CONFERENCE.

Satisfactory Settlement of Interna tional Difficulties Hoped For. Washington, Nov. 17 .- The representatives of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, who have been discussing the sealing question at Washington the last few days, have reached an understanding, by which they hope later on to effect a final adjustment, not only of the Bering Sea question, but of other pending border controversies. No final action was taken as to the suspension of pelagic sealing, the tation of Turkish troops during the Canadians urging that others questions be embraced in any plan of settlement, and suggesting an international commission to accomplish this end. The outlook is considered favorable to a satisfactory settlement. SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S STAND. The Washington correspondent of the New York Sun says: The statement is made authoritatively that the discussions between Sir Wilfrid and the state department of the subject of tariff reciprocity have never progressed fur-ther than a mere exchange of views as to whether it would not be for the mutual advantage of the United States and the Dominion to make a reciprocal tariff arrangement. Sir Wilfrid has not been any more anxious to make such an arrangment than were the representatives of the United States, unless advantageous concessions the German naval commander was in- could be obtained. He indicated clearly that Canada would expect to receive quite as much as she gave.

> THE LATEST. Washington, Nov. 17 .- The negotiations between the United States and Canada for the settlement of pending questions are still in progress, notwithstadig published reports that the meeting of diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, Canada, and the United States had resulted in complete failure. The interesting fact was made known today for the first time that the Canadians had taken the United States proposition under advisement, and had given assurances that it would be submitted to the privy council of Canada, and a definite answer then given.

Yesterday was a field day for North Middlesex Liberals. The campaign was opened by a rousing convention at Ailsa Craig in the afternoon, at which delegates from all parts of the riding were present. Their specific purpose was the nomination of a candidate for the Ontario Legislature, and their choice fell unanimously upon the present popular member, Mr. W. H. Taylor, whose parliamentary record has confirmed the wisdom of the good old riding in indorsing him at the last election. Interest was heightened by the presence of Hon. George W. Ross, who was in his happiest mood, and spoke for two hours with a fire and energy which he himself has never excelled. His address, which was peculiarly witty and pungent, covered the whole area of provincial politics, and worked the audience into an unusual pitch of en-thusiasm. He could give the same support to Hon. Mr. Hardy as to Sir Oliver. (Applause.) A more capable pair than Hon. A. S. Hardy and Hon. George W. Ross to lead the administration was not to be found. Mr. Taylor refuted the charge that the present government had squandered the public funds. His atcalled the delegates by municipalities, tendance at the public accounts committe had convinced him that not a dollar had been misappropriated. (Applause.) The complaints of Mr. Whitney and others that the surplus had been expended did not require much comment. be in the interest of the province to pay off its debt with its assets. It drew 5 per cent interest on its trust funds, and borrowed money at 31/2 per cent, thus effecting a saving to the province of between $29,000 and $30,000 a year. The government had not put a man with a shotgun on the surplus left by Sandfield Macdonald, but a larger surplus had taken its place. If the government had not provided for the maintenance of asylums and institutions for the blind, dumb, sick and afflicted, who would have had to furnish the means? The people would have had to put their hands directly in their pockets for it. The new parliament buildings at Toronto were a lasting credit to the Ontario government. They were the cheapest of the kind built on the continent of America today. (Aplause.) Mr. Taylor referred to the opposition attacks on the Agricultural College at say. (Laughter and applause.) The annual expenditure on the college was about $58,000, and this included the traveling dairy, experimental plots, creamery, and other appendages. He had been glad to see the people of the province take such an interest in that college, which was largely due to the Farmers' Institutes. The speaker said he had voted to do with the maintenance of the lieutenant-governor's residence, but he found that a great deal of valuable property had been given the province for the purpose of this residence. The question was settled satisfactorily to all parties by devoting part of the revenue of this property to the maintenance of a new and less expensive government house. The chief cry of the opposition seemed to be the piggery. (Laughter.) Mr. Taylor showed that the piggery yielded a profit of $300 per annum, after paying $200 for feed. The cholera broke out and the hogs were removed, and when Mr. St. John went there perhaps there was only one hog there. (Laughter.) The quarantine was now raised, and plenty of hogs could be found at the piggery.

If the friends of good government would stand at his back, concluded Mr. Taylor, the election in North Middlesex would be won. (Applause.)

Mr. Ross referred to the agitation for the abolition of government house, showing that the institution had been established by Mr. Sandfield Macdonald, and that by abolishing it the present government would lose $400,000 in Toronto real estate. It was agreed that a smaller house should be built in a less expensive quarter, and that the revenue of the former property should maintain the new government house without a charge of one cent on the

Mr. Ross instanced the immense growth in the output of Ontario dairy products as compared with the stationary exports of the United States, He did not claim the entire credit of this for the government, but it should have credit for its superintendence and stimulation of dairy production, which had resulted in the superiority of Canadian cheese. Mr. Whitney's charge that righ schools were favored at the expense of public schools was not borne out by the facts. For every $1 granted the high schools, $4 or $5 was given to the public schools. The Liberals believed that the educational development of the people was the foundation of all national prosperity, and determined that no citizen should be too poor to give his children its advantages. (Applause.) Mr. Whitney complained that the public school where Mr. Whitney proposed the least course was too narrow, but he did not encouragement to agriculture. AT PARKHILL.

Another Splendid Meeting in the Evening-Addresses by Mr. Ross and Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Ross and Mr. Taylor, accompanied by a number of their friends, left immediately after the convention for Parkhill, where a public meeting was held in the evening. The pretty town hall was so crowded that scores stood near the entrance throughout the addresses. The ladies of the town took possession of the balcony. Their attendance and deep attention was gratefully noted by Mr. Ross. The platform was profusely and prettily decorated with flowers, foliage and rugs, and further graced by the presence of Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Lindsay, Miss Ross, Miss Monroe and others. Mr. Thomas O'Brien, barrister, Parkhill, was in the chair, and gracefully introduced the speakers.

THE CANDIDATE. Mr. Taylor, M.P.P., was warmly received on rising to speak. He said he had continued to give an independent support to Hon. A. S. Hardy, as he had given to Sir Oliver Mowat. He had on one or two occasions given a vote against the government. Alluding to Sandfield Macdonald's surplus, Mr. Taylor said it was expended justly, and the town of Parkhill, the township of East Williams, and all the municipalities, had received the benefit. In McGillivray good use of it had been made in wiping out the debt to Huron county, in building a town hall and in making gravel roads. Mr. Taylor referred to the beneficent outlay of money on asylums and other philanthropic institutions. The farmers were beginning to see the advantages of the agricultural college, and in time it would be shown that the institution had done much to improve the methods of agriculture. It gave the students a theoretical and practical training. The opposition charged that there were too many teachers there. But an insufficient staff would impair the proficiency of any educational institution. The Parkhill high school was an instance. It was thought that the school could be run as well with two as with three teachers, but when the reduction was made the grade of the school went down. The staff was restored to its former size, and as a result the standing of the school had greatly advanced. (Applause.) The administration of Hon. A. S. Hardy was worthy of all confidence. It could not be proved that it had dishonestly spent one dollar of the public money. (Applause.) Mr. Taylor warmly eulogized the loyalty of Sir Oliver Mowat to Ontario's interests by which so much of the valuable land of the province had been retained for it, against the efforts of Sir John A. Macdonald and his government. He concluded by convincing references to other public questions. HON GEORGE W. ROSS. Hon. Mr. Ross, whose greeting was most cordial, said that as a native of the county, he was delighted to see such a large gathering of his old fellow-citizens. It was 25 or 26 years since he had last addressed a meeting in ternoons, and some are for bedtime. Parkhill. He remembered Parkhill These stories of Mr. Kipling's are when there was no Parkhill, if that meant to be told "just-so," and one wasn't paradoxical. Mr. Whitney had appeared recently in this hall, and had said some naughty things about him (Mr. Ross). The people of Parkhill had also been visited by Mr. St. John-not the St. John who wrote the Book of Revelations-(laughter)-although Mr. St. John had revelations also. (Laughter.) Mr. St. John prophesied that the Ontario government would be defeated, but the Bible spoke of false prophets. (Laughter.) Mr. Ross defended the financial administration of the government, upon which the opposition could fix not a single charge of extravagance or dishonesty. He instanced the case of the 5,000 insane people of the province. The asylum management of the province had never been disgraced by one scandal. These institutions for the insane, the blind, the deaf and dumb, were the noblest monuments of the philanthropy of Ontario, and so long as he lived he would never consent to weakening their support. (Applause.) The policy of the governtelling of the fortunes and adventures ment has been to live within their means. St. John's great theme-the piggery, Cholera was no respecter of hogs, consequently the government hogs did not escape its attack. (Laughter.) This was the fault of the Conservative government in not properly quarantining cholera-stricken hogs. (Laughter.) But for that cholera the government piggery would have yielded a substantial revenue, above expenditure. It was necessary to dispose in some way of the refuse of public institutions in Toronto and Mimico, and it was fed to these hogs. The health officer would not allow it to be buried. The cholera made it necessary to burn down the hoping that they might long be spared old piggery and a new one had to be erected with concrete floors. It was here that Mr. St. John found the pig. Mr. McDermott, of Lucan, moved a vote of thanks to Hon. George W. Ross asked the electors to throw the government to the dogs—or rather to the It was because of this that Mr. St. John ernment to the dogs-or rather to the hogs-(laughter)-and Mr. St. John noped to ride into power on that pig. (Laughter.)

Mr. Ross then turned to his own department, and defended his action in adding drawing, temperance and Canadian history to the public school course. The insertion of Canadian history had done much to inculcate that Canadian patriotic sentiment which was so well exemplified by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Queen's jubilee. (Applause.) There had been agricultural text books in the schools for 30 years, and at present 2,000 teachers of this province were receiving instruction as to how agriculture should be taught. Referring to the success of farmers' sons in other pursuits of life, Mr. Ross incidentally stated that every member of the Ontario government, except one, had been born on a farm. He himself was a farmer's son, but commenced teaching school in 1857. The tirades of the opposition about the multiplicity and expense of text books and the number of examinations, were shown to be groundless, and Mr. Ross drew a round of applause by a reference to Ontario's educational triumph at the World's Fair. They had a system of education against which no substantial ground of complaint had been formulated, and a Liberal government in power for 25 years against which no substantial charge could be laid. He had no doubt that Mr. Taylor would be re-elected by a large majority, and that the Liberal party would be triumphant throughout the province. (Cheers.)

Cheers for the Ontario government, Mr. Ross, Mr. Taylor and the ladies closed the meeting.

PRESENTED WITH A MEDAL. Port Dalhousie, Nov. 17.-The Humane Society's medal has been presented to John Howe, of this village. Mr. Wm. Gibson, M.P., accompanied by Adam Brown, of Hamilton, and Mr. Robert Thompson, were present, and the hall was pretty well filled. While Mr. Gibson presented a bronze medal to John Howe for rescuing a young lad 10 years old, by name Steve O'Hearn, from drowning in the old lock here last April, Mr. Adam Brown delivered an address and was listened to attentively.

People Talk Back. Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back, accompanied by general delibity, and tried various remedies for the same, but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine, and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

The great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain, or soreness of the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in con-

Fallacies About School Books. An Opposition orator, who spoke in this city some time ago, made many misstatements as to the price of school books. Almost every mail has brought as corrections of his figuring from parents and teachers.

One is astonished to find that a political agitator who was so badly worsted when he espoused the cause of Mr. Essery for his Conservative brethren, has not profited by his then

We need give but one or two instances to show the unreliability of his figures. He quotes the Second Reader as selling for 25 cents: its price is 20 cents. The Third Reader he quotes as selling at 35 cents; its price is 30 cents. The Fourth Reader he quotes as selling at 45 cents; its price is 40 cents. Nor is it true, as has been asserted, that each pupil uses one book in each subject per annum. Experience is against such a contention.

Here is another point, which Opposition declaimers take good care not to mention: When Hon. Mr. Ross took charge of the Education Department, drawing books were sold at 15 cents; now they are sold at 5 cents, and there is no monopoly. Writing books were sold at 10 cents; now they are sold at 7 cents.

The circulation of misrepresentations intended to injure the standing of the Minister and of the Department is, of course, irritating, but as time goes on, and the facts are brought home to all the electors, the Opposition, and not the Administration, will be the Experiments in Boston show that cooking by coal costs but 19 per cent of that by electricity. Thus cooking by electricity is not a live question to most of us. We have not money to burn for cooking or any other purpose. We do not despair that electricity may yet be cheapened to an extent that will make it the best heating as well as lighting agent for rich and poor. But the invention has yet to be made that will secure that desir-

North Middlesex.

Mr. W. H. Taylor, who has ably represented North Middlesex in the On tario Legislature for the term soon to close, has been again nominated to Fifty yards wide the platform stretchcontest the constituency. Mr. Taylor has proved an ideal representative, and today he has many more friends in the riding than when he was elected in With furious fire, the passage close! June, 1894, so that with reasonable zeal his friends will certainly elect him by a good majority. The supporters of the Government in the riding, too, never were so determined to maintain their cause by every legitimate means as they are today, as was evident by the large and representative convention, which defied the weather and bad roads, and assembled to bring out the man of their choice. Similar evidence was supplied by the crowded audience at Parkhill, which cheered the choice of the convention, when announced, and gave Hon. George W Ross a reception that for warmth could not be excelled. The Minister of Edueation was at his best. He spoke at And pride and pluck, this foe shall see both gatherings, and his remarks are well worthy of perusal.

Paying Experiments.

One of the most important of the many services performed for the community by the Ontario Government is Then from gray hollows where they the persistent instruction which has been given as to the benefits of spraying fruit trees. For several years an officer of the Agricultural Department | The Gordon Highlanders Ian In-Pipers and all-hell's bridge to win. has visited every section of the Province, giving effective demonstration of the best methods for saving the fruit trees, and the results are evident on all hands. Mr. Albert Pay, a prominent grower in the Niagara Peninsula, provides the latest illustration of the benefits of the system. He has sent a consignment of apples, including Baldwins, Russets, Spys, Greenings, Snows, Pippins and King of Tomkins, to the Department of Agriculture. They show When Gordons to the battle bound! the difference caused by spraying fruit trees, the apples from sprayed trees being much larger, and free from To lightsome, homely, Highland lilt, blemishes, rust spots, etc. Mr. Pay says that he considers spraying is no longer an experiment. He asserts that on sprayed trees there is a good crop of Spys and Greenings that are 80 per cent good apples, while on trees that were not sprayed the crop did not amount to half as much, and only about 40 per cent of it was of good quality.

The Liberals gained a seat in the local election for Yamaska, Que., yesterday. The constituency was carried at the general election by a Conservative. He had a majority of one, and was unseated for corrupt practices. Now the Liberal candidate is elected by enough snow to make sleighing during a majority of several hundreds.

The Evangelical Churchman, the oldestablished Anglican weekly, now in the 21st year of its publication, renews its youth with the current issue, and dons a new typographical dress, which improves its appearance greatly and puts it in the first rank of Canadian religious weeklies. Flippant Titles for Sermons. regular reader writes: "I agree with Rev. Mr. Hill, that ministers need be careful in avoiding flippant titles to forthcoming sermons. The permanent loss in public respect is greater than the temporary gain in attendance." Moss Instead of Cold Storage.

Vhen I was in Ottawa in 1893, I met the late Edward Jack, of Fredericton, N. B. He was an enthusiastic forester, and a perfect mine of information with regard to the trees of the Maritime Provinces. It is too bad that he died before his information was systematized and printed for public reference. He has left one important discovery, however, which may be put to practical use. When I met him he insisted that this country could market all its products to the old country in perfectly fresh condition if it used peat moss for packing, instead of cold storage. He pointed out the results in Germany, where fish packed in peat moss for a fortnight had lost none of their freshness, and delicate and perishable fruits were found to retain all their qualities. I advised him to make a statement to the Government of Ontario. He did so, and his views were embodied in a paper contained in the annual report of the Bureau of Mines for that year. This report has now borne fruit. The Bureau of Mines has received word of a shipment of perishable fruits sent to England from Canada by Alexander Jardine, which showed the immense utility of peat moss. Its tremendous abserbent qualities render it a great antidote to atmospheric yeasts and bacteria which bring about decay. The supply throughout the Province is estimated as sufficient to last for very many years, even though it should be very widely used, and if results continue to be good, the shipment of Canadian fruit to England will be put on a much firmer

THE SCHOOLMASTER ABROAD.

[Hamilton Times.] The London Free Press, in one of its hysterical outbursts on the school question, declares that within recent years "the cost of paper and other printing material has been lessened by from 100 to 200 per cent, and that the market for school books is a thousand fold larger than it was 30 years ago." Isn't that rash? Some of us have been taught that when 100 per cent of any Wanted for Indian Work," are 1,000 pupils today, and that pupils by one of them. A joint deputation from the city and township of Chatham waited on the provincial secretary at Toronto for the purpose of laying before him a difficulty which has arisen over the proposed annexation of thirteen acres lying along the River Thames, north of the city limits. The city owns waterworks outside the city limits, and wishes to annex the property. The town-ship of Chatham objects to losing the taxes on the land, and the residents object if their taxes are to be increased. Hon, E. J. Davis suggested that some special arrangement be made as to taxation, and that the proposed annexation take place.

FRIENDS PREVAILED

A Nervous Toronto Woman Walkes the Floor During the Night for Hours at a Time-She Makes a Statement. TORONTO. ONT .- "I was troubled with nervousness. It was impossible for me to keep still and if the spells came over me during the night I had to get up and walk the floor for hours at a time. My blood was very poor and I was subject to bilious attacks. My feet would swell and I was not able to do my own housework. I treated with two of the best physicians here but only received relief for a time. I became discouraged. One day a friend called and advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I laughed at the advice but I was prevailed upon and procured one bottle. Before I used it all I began to feel better. I took several bottles and also several boxes of Hood's Pills. Now I can eas and drink heartily and sleep soundly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has entirely cured me and also strengthened me so that I now do all my own work. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all sufferers from nervousness, weakness or general debility." Mrs. H. F. PARM, Degrassi Street.

WEEKLY REVIEW. In looking over the values of all kinds of produce, etc., we find only a few changes since a week ago, and a slight increase in the volume of trade. But even then, the week was very and when the weather is considered, it | Corn—Spot steady; American mixed, spot. quiet, owing chiefly to small receipts, is not to be wondered at that few peopie undertook attending market. Wheat mied the principal kind of grain offered. Oats follow in second place, but came far short of contributing the usual proportion. There was no alteration in the value of wheat; 31 38 was the general price Oats were higher, bringing 70c at Tuesday's and today's session. Peas brought 75c to 77c, and were in good demand. Very little of any other kind of grain was marketed.

Butter shows a decline of 1c to 2c per pound, and eggs an advance of 1c to 2c -demand in the latter case was quite Poultry was much the same. The supply was moderate. In the meat list, the only change we see is a more decided feeling as to dressed hogs, for which $5 50 was the closing price for nice light stock during the first part of the week. Some little advance in this price was made, steers, $3 85 to $4 50 for common to but at every session it seemed as if the majority of buyers considered $5 50 the value at present, as anything above beeves; choice droves rather scarce; this price was soon discounted. Potatoes were the only kind of vegetables that have been watched with any degree of anxiety. The influence of outside markets is all the leading factor in regulating the price here, and no change can be seen. The only kinds of fruit offered are quinces, apples and some poor grapes. $3 40 to $3 50; pigs, $3 10 to $3 45. The price of all three ruled steady and much the same as last quoted. Hay fluctuated between $6 and $7 50, according to receipts and quality. Young pigs were quiet at $4.

Beef cattle of export grade are worth 4c in Toronto. Quotations:

acters who figured in the early hissons thus called to mind were the chief forces in the development of the little settlement in the woods, and to their vigorous, progressive spirit, we of the present day owe much. It is fitting that the memory of them should be publicly preserved in some way. Yet the lapse of time has to some extent destroyed the efficacy of these monuments, such as they are, and now in some cases their origin can only be surmised. There can be no doubt, however, as to the persons, in memory of whom Talbot, Ridout, Dundas, Simcoe, Colborne, Maitland and others of the older streets were named.

Col. Thomas Talbot was one of the most unique figures in the world's history. A remarkably brilliant young Irishman, the descendant of a noble family, he came to Canada, when his prospects for a famous career in the old land were particularly bright, and for 50 years lived the life of a military hermit in his Castle Malahide at Port Talbot, on Lake Erie. Under conbetrothed, were overtaken by a storm tract with the government to receive 200 acres of land for every settler he could induce to come to the country and take up 50 acres, he obtained nearly 700,000 acres of land in this district. The settlement, which included London, was known as the Talbot setbodies were interred in the same grave | tlement, and Col. Talbot's position was much like that of a Norman baron under the feudal system. It is said that it was at his suggestion the London jail was built to resemble a Norman castle. Col. Talbot was the boyhood companion of Arthur Wellesley, and when the latter became the Duke of Wellington the close friendship continued by means of correspondence up to the time of Col. Talbot's death in this city. He had the welfare of the community at heart, and did much to bring about many improvements throughout the settlement. For a num> nually held in London and St. Thomas To Col. John Graves Simcoe, London owes not only the name of a principal street, but the name of the city itself. Col. Simcoe became the first lieutenantgovernor of Upper Canada in 1792, one year after the infant colony first stood by itself. The first parliament was held at Niagara, but being too near the frontier, the governor selected the site of the present city of London, which he named, as the permanent capital. Lord Dorchester, the governor-general opposed this, however, and the site where Toronto now is, was eventually chosen.

Hon. Thomas Ridout was appointed surveyor-general of Upper Canada in 1810, and in other ways was closely associated with the early history of the colony

Sir Peregrine Maitland was Meuten-ant-governor of Upper Canada from 1818 till 1827, when he was succeeded Richmond street doubtless was named after the Duke of Richmond, who became governor-general of Canada in 1818, but after one year's rule died from the bite of a tame fox. In Sydenham one is reminded of the Hon. Charles P. Thompson, who was sent out in 1839 to unite the two Canadas, and was rewarded for his success by being raised to the peerage, getting the title of Baron Sydenham. Bathurst street was probably called after the Earl of Bathurst, who in 1826 was appealed to by Col. Talbot for assistance, and secured for him a settlement of $2,000 per annum. In Dundas street, which is but the terminus of the Governor's road, the name of Governor Dundas is suggestbot and the hero of Waterloo, has an added association, and that Waterloo

Grey street suggests the name of Lord Grey, who in 1831 became the leader of the Whigs in the British parliament. Among the earliest settlers of the city, whose names are to be found in a list of the streets, are Col. John The vote was one of the largest and How London's Throughfares Askin, Thos. Craig, Noble English (grandfather of the present Dr. English), Col. Burwell, Thos. Peters, John Fullarton. When Mr. English had his farm east of Adelaide street surveyed into lots, he named one street after himself and two after his children, Elias and Elizabeth. The names of many of the settlers of later years are also to be found. There are streets. too, which serve to remind us of landmarks that no longer exist. Mill is one of these. It was so called because of the old sawmill by the river at the As a reminder of the principal char- end of the street. Rectory is another; the rectory land fronted on it near tory of Upper Canada, and more par- Dundas street, and from it the street received its name. Market street, beticularly of this district, a perusal of fore its name was changed to Albert, the names of London's streets will be also belonged to this class. It was found interesting. Many of the per- called Market street because a market square was laid out between it and Kent street, but the intention of using > it was never carried out. Other streets with interesting associations have had them obscured, as the years rolled on, by the changing of their names. For example, the present Queen's avenue was originally called North street, it being then the street furthest north in the village. At the time the corner of Ridout and Dundas streets was the principal corner it was thought the settlement would extend south to the south branch of the river, so the town was blocked out between North street and the river, from where South street was surveyed. The main portion of North street at that time, and for years afterwards, was what is now known as Carling street. Later, that fortion of Queen's avenue between Richmond and Talbot streets was opened, and for a time called William street. In the fifties, the earlier part of North street was changed to Carling, in honor of Sir John Carling, then a rising young citizen.

The first survey of the city, now on file at the registry office, was prepared by J. Papineau in 1847, and so many of the streets are named differently than at present, the younger generation would hardly recognize it as a map of their own city. From Dundas street north the first four streets, on the east side of Richmond were North, Duke, Bond, and Great Market. Richmond street had four names, it being called Mark Lane from the bend at Fullarton street to the Gore; Church street for a couple of blocks, and Burlington street further north. The map shows a large tract of land between William and Colborne, near Dundas, which was unsurveyed, and several blocks in the northern part of the city, including our present Victoria Park, is marked 'Military Barracks."

A large proportion of the streets of the city, particularly those of the north end, have been named from Old London thoroughfares, and in this way we have Pall Mall, Piccadilly, Oxford, St. James, Grosvenor, Cheapside, Regent, and other names of streets that were famous before the first house was built in the New London.

GIRAFFE HUNTING

Some Lively Sport in the South African Wilds.

The pleasure of a giraffe hunt is indisputable, but it is one that no real sportsman will repeat more than twice. A hard spur and stambok gallop through bush and thorn, with more than an even chance of your nag putting his foot in a jackal's earth, a gradual overhauling of the giant mammals that are sailing without apparent exertion in front of you, a hasty dismount unless you are lucky enough to be able to shoot from horseback, a bullet planted just above the tail and penetrating through the tough skin into the heart and lungs, and with a crash your game comes to earth, and you are standing, dripping with perspiraover the body of what is surely the strangest animal that even South Africa can produce. The trouble is that beyond the chance of being thrown or of coming in contact with a tree, there is not much danger in the pursuit of the giraffe. No animal could be more gentle or defenseless. You have the thrilling excitement of a twenty minutes' burst, but you miss what should be the spice of big game hunting—the risk. All that you need in giraffe hunting is a good nag; if possible, one that has been used to the business. It is hard to keep an inexperienced horse from boring to one side when the disagreeable smell of an old giraffe bull comes down the wind. With that and a solid Martini-Henry bullet—the hollow express ones are not firm enough to get far beyond the inch or inch and a half of brazen hide that encases these monsters—success is almost certain.

the first two miles they stand a good chance of getting clean away. When going their hardest they change their gait into an extraordinary sort of gallop, their hind legs being well straddled out and brought forward, one on each side, in front of the fore-legs. It is a erky, convulsive, awkward movement, but wonderfully effective as a means

We had ridden for nearly four hours eastward from the Botletti across the desert, with nothing more cheering to look upon than the brown and shrivdejected. But the Masarwa Bushmen, unequaled as spoorers even in South Africa, knew their business and led us at length to woodlands of camel-thorn, with open park-like glades of yellow grass, interspersed with dense thickets herd of five. They caught sight of us when we were 300 yards away, and headed at once for the forest. Giraffes are remarkable for picking out a straight line and keeping to it. A grand old bull of an almost mahogany color led the way, with the cows of dark orange hue close behind. Some very dense and thorny thickets had to be taken first, through which their heavy weight and iron skins cleared an easy path. I never expect to see anything more extraordinary than the way in which they dodged the branches, bending their necks so low at times that you all but lost sight of them from be-capable. Then we used our spurs and whips freely. By galloping hard at right angles to their line we managed to turn the herd towards the open veldt, and a short, heart-bursting race resulted in two cows dropping behind the rest, reeling for 150 yards, and final-crash. The bull we purposely let alone, as his flesh is rank and uneatable by of getting over the ground.

THE CIGARETTE LICENSE. "It is only fair that the public should know the facts about the cigarette license question, recently before the council," said an alderman today, "an incorrect view of which was given by a speaker at a recent meeting of the Methodist Epworth League. I feel quite sure that he does not fully understand the matter, or he would not have spoken as he did. By his remarks it would appear that those aldermen who voted against the $100 license on cigarettes were opposed to doing away with the evil. Such was not the case, for at the outstart the city council were unanimous for that amount, hoping by placing that as a license it would bar the sale of their completely out of the city. ANSWERING A SNOB. When Poole, the famous English tailor, was an old man, he was at Brighton on a vacation, and one afternoon went out to walk upon the pier. There he was publicly insulted, with what result to himself, and the second man, is told by the Weekly Telegraph. A young man, who did not know perhaps, that he was a snob-a snob being one kind of a fool-was also on the pier with a couple of ladies, to whom he said, as he saw Poole coming: "Now, you wouldn't take that goodlooking man for a tailor, but he is, He's an impostor. Just listen while I take him down a notch or two. I'll tell him my coat, which I have just had from him, doesn't fit." As he spoke, Poole approached, and politely acknowledged the salutation of his customer, who, walking up to him, said, "Here, Poole, now do take a look at me. Does this coat fit?" Poole took in the situation, for he was a good physiognomist, and the countenances of the ladies betrayed the plot to him.

"It certainly does not fit," said he, and pulling out a bit of French chalk, he proceeded liberally to mark and cross the coat of his would-be queller all over, and then observed, with the utmost sangfroid and urbanity: "Now If you will kindly send that coat to my shop the alterations shall be attended

The protest of Osgoode Hall against the senior championship being awarded to Hamilton will be settled tonight. The principal causes for complaint are: Crowds on the grounds and around keeping and darkness—unusual objections truly—and it is hardly likely that this effort to bring about another match will be successful. The Hamilton Spectator suggests that Osgoode Hall should amend its grounds of protest as follows: 1. The it is unlawful for Hamilton sports to win money from law students. 2. That Hamilton made too many

3. That it is unconstitutional for any championship to go outside Toronto. 4. That because the better team won, it is no reason that it should be awarded the championship. 5. That Capt. Counsell should not have played when he had a sore leg. 6. That it is going to be a hard winter, and the law students may need the money they lost.

7. That the Tigers should have brought a posse of policemen with them to keep the grounds clear. 8. That the Legalites feel badly over their defeat, and "humbly pray for such relief as the court may in its wisdom grant. 9. That the Tiger play too good football, and should be ruled out. 10. That there is nothing in the conto play at a match in Toronto. 11. That there were too many yellow chrysanthemums in the audience. 12. That the wind refused to blow halves. 13 (lucky number). That the Tigers must be professionals, for they play that way. 14. That according to R. S. O., chap. 28,623, "The championship should be awarded to the losing team." 15. That Biles on Bills, a noted authority, says: "Law students are not compelled to pay debts of honor."

But to walk apart with Phoebe, as Honore evidently had intended to do, was an alternative which Lawrence Haughton did not for an instant entertain; he sauntered up to Honore's right, as Hervey staunchly kept his position on her left, and walked so, dropping now and then a crumb of conversation to Phoebe at his right hand, but chiefly watching surreptitiously the race upon his left, until the rector overtook them, and with frank diplomacy soon established himself at Lawrence Haughton's place beside his favorite. Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.-In the agricultural department monthly review of the foreign crop situation, much attention is devoted to the grain crop of Russia, especially wheat, on account of its magnitude as a factor in the European supply. The review says that all accounts agree in representing the wheat crop as deficient, but as to the extent of the deficiency much difference of opinion exists. Atter quoting many dispatches, painting the crop situation in various provinces in very black colors, and the statements of the United States consul at Odessa that this year's crop had proved a failure, the review calls attention to the fact that since harvest The newspaper is the open court, where Russia has exported grain very freely. These very large exports have led commercial papers to withhold their credence from the more pessimistic of the reports which have been published. That the crop was deficient was admitted, but that the failure was so serious as such reports implied few of the grain dealers of Western Europe would believe. Recently, however, some change of attitude is becoming apparent. Stocks in the ports are not increasing in the manner usual for this time of year, and the opinion is freely expressed that after this month Russia can be relied upon for only a very moderate shipment.

The government cutter Petrel will put up for the winter at Windsor. She left here on Saturday for that point. The schooner St. Lawrence, of Port Huron, was towed into the harbor on Saturday afternoon by the A. V. Crawford. The schooner's jibs, foresail and mizzen were in ribbons, and she lost 102 tons of coal off her deck. The crew were compelled to cut away the bulwarks to allow the water and coal to escape, otherwise there is no doubt the schooner would have foundered. The rew during the three days' gale suffered severe hardships, all within sight of the harbor. The admiralty court at Windsor has disposed of numerous claims against the Flora, which last summer plied between this port and Cleveland. The claim of Lyman B. Brown, purser's wages to the amount of $119 05, was allowed; Lillian Densmore, cabin maid, was allowed $40 for wages; Hiram L. Brown, wages as manager, and his son Hiram, wages as cabin watch, disallowed; Mattle Comer the Marion Lodge of Elks, in order to and Walter W. Brown, wages, reserved. E. S. Williams and the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway Company claimed $2,000 for repairs and equipment; judgment reserved. J. T. Wing claimed $500 for material supplied, and judgment was reserved.

ENFORCE THE BYLAW.

Commissioners Give Fair Warning to People Who Try to Get the City Water Free.

At the regular meeting of the water commissioners yesterday, it was decided to send the following letter to the nineteen plumbers and six tinsmiths of the city:

"I beg to advise you that the board of water commissioners have had numerous cases brought to their attention who boarded the Wabash express at where the connections with the waterworks system have sen made without reporting the same at the office, as provided for in the waterworks bylaws. The commissioners intend in future to have the bylaws strictly adhered to, and require all plumbing work in connection with the waterworks system to be registered with the secretary. Each plumber is required to report any connections or repairs made at least once a week, and after this notice action will be taken in regard to any violation of the rules, in accordance with the bylaws.

"In making any connections or repairs whatever where the water has been turned off by the department, the water must be left off unless by written order from the office."

Mr. Brockenshire asked a reduction in the water rates for the premises at 201 Dundas street, because for a time since he had taken possession he had not used them as a photograph gallery, for which a specific rate is charged.

Not allowed. Mr. Kelley, the driver of a street watering cart, objected to being charged for the breakage of a spindle on a hydrant. As the charge was made on the strength of the street watering inspector's report, the commissioners will hear what he has to say before anything is done. H. Beam asked an allowance on his rates, owing to a leakage in his pipes. In the month in which the leakage occurred, the meter on his premises showed a much larger consumption of water than ordinarily.

At the request of the council a rebate of $120 was allowed on the Hellmuth College water rates. An application for a main on the Wellington road was referred to the engineer to report. There were present Commissioner Judd (chairman), the mayor, Engineer Moore and Secretary LONDON HOCKEYISTS ORGANIZE. In response to an invitation to all hockeyists to attend the annual meeting of the London Hockey Club at the Tecumseh House last night, the meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in London. Mr. Campbell Becher presided, in the unavoidable absence of Mr. Walter Smith, the first vice-president. He was a man whose place will never be filled. His death is a great loss to the hockey club, as well as to many other organizations in the city."

The secretary's report showed the finances to be in good condition.

The following officers were elected: Honorary president, George C. Gibbons, Q.C.; honorary vice-president, W. J. Reid; president, Walter Smith; vicepresident, H. C. Becher; secretary, W. B. Laidlaw; treasurer, H. C. Screaton; executive committee, J. Brown, B. W. Glover and Fred Beltz.
