

FORGET AND ROGERS HAVE A FALLING OUT

Sir Rodolphe Wants a Pretense Made at Carrying Out the Election Promises, But Minister Can't See It That Way Nationalist Amendment to Address.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—There is a smart row between Hon. Robt. Rogers and Sir Rodolphe Forget. It has arisen over the pledges which Sir Rodolphe gave the electors of Richelieu in the recent contest. Public works were promised in a good deal of profusion to the constituency. Hon. Mr. Rogers, it is understood, is not willing to deliver the goods now on the ground that the election is over, and the Government candidates defeated. Sir Rodolphe insists that there shall be at least some pretense of carrying out the pledges that he gave. He was especially definite in his promise of a marine railway, and he insists that there shall be a vote in the estimates to provide for surveys and some preliminary work for this enterprise.

Last night he stated that if the Minister of Public Works did not do this there would be trouble in the camp for him.

Nationalist Amendment.

It is understood that the Nationalist group in the House are framing up an amendment to the address. It will express regret that the Government has not seen fit to appeal to the people in a plebiscite before voting an emergency naval contribution. This is being done by the Nationalists for the purpose of saving their faces before their electors. It has been agreed among them that they will support the Government on all but this question. Having expressed their regret over the failure to give a plebiscite, it is certain that some of them will vote for the naval proposal when it is brought into the House.

MR. FORRISTAL FAVORS LEASE OF LINE TO COAL COMPANY

Although He Was Quoted as Being a Supporter of City Electrification Scheme.

Ex-Ald. John Forristal, head of the London and Port Stanley Railway, who was quoted in a local paper some days ago as being in favor of the electrification of the London and Port Stanley Railway by the city, this morning stated that the only scheme, according to his view, so far brought before the city was to allow the Lake Erie Coal Company to electrify the road.

"That is the only thing to do, according to my way of thinking," said Mr. Forristal. "I certainly think that the city should take advantage of the coal company's offer before it is too late. We would have at least $20,000 a year, and we would not have to pay a cent in experimenting. I do not see any other way for the city to act."

"What do you think of the offer of the C. N. R.?" he was asked.

"It is too early to discuss that at the present time," he replied.

CANADA SOUTHERN MIGHT HAVE COME HERE YEARS AGO

How London Missed Being on Main Line of Michigan Central.

SOME RAILWAY HISTORY RECALLED TO MIND

Ex-Mayor Spencer Points Out an Interesting Fact of the People of London.

The conference to be held on Friday next between the representatives of the C. N. R. and the London and Port Stanley board relative to the sale or lease of the London and Port Stanley Railway is attracting a great deal of interest, and forms one of the main topics of discussion on the streets today.

A similar situation arose in London some years ago, when the Canada Southern (now operated by the M. C. R.), desired to place London on the main line of their railway. Negotiations were carried on for some time, but the city refused to listen to the terms of the company, with the result that the Canada Southern went to St. Thomas, practically making that city.

"The situation then and now is analogous," said former Mayor Spencer. "The city made a mistake then, and lost the Canada Southern. See what it would have meant for London had that railway been brought to this city. It would have done incalculable good to London. Here is another opportunity, and it is to be hoped that London does not again miss it."

The London Electric Company. An interesting feature of the conference yesterday was the announcement that the C. N. R. had nothing whatever to do with the London Electric Company. The purchasers of this franchise, have kept themselves in the background ever since the transaction was consummated. It was supposed that the Mackenzie & Mann interests had purchased the franchise, and been in control of the whole power situation. The fact that the Mackenzie & Mann controlled this company, and so had practical control of the whole power situation, was a surprise to many.

That the C. N. R. are staking all on the London and Port Stanley is evidenced by the fact that the company have not a single option on any property in London at the present time, either on Bathurst street, Ridout street or any of the others. They have secured not a bit of land for a right-of-way into the city.

If the London and Port Stanley were not obtained, arrangements would have to be made for an entrance into London to handle freight, but this would be obtained with a branch line.

If St. Thomas were to be made the headquarters for the line, the freight from the various feeders would be diverted to that city.

"We have no options on any property in London," said Col. Davidson.

C. N. R. WILL COME WITH A DEFINITE OFFER ON FRIDAY

City and the Company Did Not Get Down to Terms on Offer for L. & P. S. R.

DATA SECURED ON WHICH TO BASE PROPOSITION

Hon. Adam Beck Is Home, But Refuses to Discuss the C. N. R. Plan.

The conference which was to have taken place yesterday afternoon between the London and Port Stanley Railway Board and the representatives of the C. N. R., relative to the purchase or lease of the London and Port Stanley Railway, did not materialize.

The sub-committee of the board did discuss the question for some time with the visitors, but no definite terms were agreed upon. It was decided to adjourn until Friday, when they will again meet and talk the matter over.

Judge Phippen was anxious to see the plans of the L. & P. S., showing what property was owned by the city both in London, and at other points along the line.

City and the G. T. R.

It was also necessary to obtain some information regarding the agreement between the city and the Grand Trunk Railway as to the running rights of the lessees of the road over Grand Trunk tracks. The opinion prevailed that the C. N. R., provided they did take over the London and Port Stanley, could only run their Port Stanley trains into the G. T. R. depot, their other trains being barred.

Mayor Graham, when questioned as to that stated that the Pere Marquette now run all their passenger trains into the Grand Trunk depot at the present time, no matter where the trains come from.

Judge Phippen stated that this might be true, but it was probably on account of an arrangement entered into between the two companies. It was his opinion that the Grand Trunk could bar out all passenger trains except those coming from Port Stanley, or going to the Port.

Other matters of importance were discussed, but nothing more definite was done. In the meantime, Judge Phippen will obtain the information he desires, and will come prepared to make a definite offer on Friday.

C. N. R. Are Anxious.

"We want to come to London," said Judge Phippen. "There is no question about that. But we want to impress upon the council that the coming of the C. N. R. will mean great things for London. The advantages of another transcontinental line, together with a new hotel, and other things would make the offer most attractive, in my view."

There was no mention of a possible rental or purchase price during the discussion yesterday. Once or twice during the debate figures were touched upon, but not in any way that would give the aldermen a real idea as to what the C. N. R. would offer either for rental or purchase.

However, these figures will be made public, and on Friday, at any rate.

Preliminary Work.

"The work done yesterday was preliminary," said Ald. Spittal. "It looked as if each side was feeling the other out, in order to discover if possible the basis upon which to make an offer that will be attractive to both parties. No money was mentioned whatever in the discussion. The nearest approach to it was when Judge Phippen stated that the city received from $15,000 to $19,000 a year from the road now, and his worship answered that Hon. Adam Beck promised greater returns than that. However, we shall then have something concrete to go by. The problem is a big one, and we shall have to give it our closest attention from now on."

Mr. Beck Returns.

Hon. Adam Beck returned last night from New York, where he has been attending the horse show. He was not surprised, he stated, to hear that the C. N. R. had made an offer for the London and Port Stanley. "I will not discuss the offer until I know what it is," said Mr. Beck. "I have nothing to say on the subject whatever just now. We might have something to say later on."

Regarding 30-cent fares to the lake-side, which, it is understood, will come to an end if the city electrifies and operates the L. & P. S. R., Mr. Beck would say nothing until he has consulted Engineer Gabey on the matter.

ONE SIDE OF A CITY STOREYARD

WHY THE PEOPLE COMPLAIN.

The storeyard is located on the corner of Waterloo and Horton streets, and there is no fence around it. The place is an eyesore, and is a disgrace to the city and a detriment to property. It should be put in proper shape, and a fence erected at once.

ELECTROCUTED BY A TUNGSTEN LAMP

Fort William, Nov. 27.—In the sight of a number of people, David Johnson, a young clerk, was electrocuted by a common Tungsten lamp in the show window of Henderson's men's furnishing store Tuesday night. The accident occurred while crowds of people were on their way home to supper. A lamp burned out and without turning off the current, Johnson mounted on a radiator to renew it. The socket is believed to have been defective.

Another clerk saw that Johnson was unable to release himself from the grip of the deadly current, and seizing his clothing endeavored to pull him away, but did not succeed in separating him from the fixture until it, with the wiring had been torn out. Three doctors worked over the deceased but, although only 110 volts had passed through his body, their efforts were futile. Johnson was aged 22, and came here from Minneapolis only a few weeks ago.

COUNTY NAMES ROADS TO BE TAKEN OVER AT ONCE

Special Committee Will Make a Very Important Report—The Change Will Mean Shorter Routes for Autoists in Many Cases.

At the meeting of the special committee of the county council on Monday, at which it was decided to assume certain roads in the county and extend them so that more direct communication could be had between the various municipalities, a number of suggestions were made as to the roads to be assumed, and County Engineer Talbot was instructed, while preparing the new bylaw which will amend present bylaw 601, to insert these proposed changes.

The roads which will be suggested to the council as the proper ones to be taken over are:

The "Proof Line" to Elginfield, thence northwesterly through Lucan, Clendenburg, West McGilvray, Leary, Moray, Corbett's Corners, and thence south to Parkhill.

Adelaide street, fifth concession, and graded sidewalk to Granton, and from there westerly on the Centre road to Lucan.

The Governor's road, east to Oxford County. The county at present has charge of this road as far as Wyton, but it is intended to assume all of the road as far as East Nissouri.

The Wyton road to Thorndale, and from there easterly on the Thorndale sidewalk to the East Nissouri town line, and from thence northerly between concessions 4 and 5, to the north town line of Nissouri township.

The Hamiton road to Nissouri, and from thence south to Belmont.

The Wellington road from the city limits to Glenworth.

The Wharfedale road from city limits, through Lambeth, Tye's Corners, to the town line between Delaware and Westminster Townships, thence southerly to the 18th sidroad of Delaware, along that sidroad to the Oneida Indian Reserve.

The Pipe Line road from the city limits, westerly through Westminster Township, thence following the present county road over Kilworth bridge to Kilworth, thence westerly through Lobo, Caradoc, Ekfrid and Moss, to west town line of Moss Township.

Sidroad number 12, from Strathroy south to the county road.

The Fourth line of Adelaide Township to the Currie road.

The Currie and Sarnia gravel roads to the line between concessions 3 and 4 of Metcalfe.

The townline between Metcalfe and Caradoc.

The Katesville road, through Metcalfe to Kerwood.

The Adelaide road, in Adelaide Township.

Part of sidroad number 12, in Ekfrid Township.

Part of townline between Ekfrid and Moss.

Sarnia gravel road, from London to Poplar Hill.

The Poplar Hill, Komoka and Delaware road, from Poplar Hill to Delaware.

The road from Melrose, northerly following a line between lots 16 and 17, Lobo, and through East Williams to Nalra, from Nalra north to Alisa Craig, and from thence northerly between concessions 18 and 19 to Parkhill.

In the Township of Dorchester the Shaw's road, from the Governor's road to 255 miles of roadway, which will be 40 miles more than at present controlled. Nearly all of the roads controlled at present will be still maintained if the new measure is adopted.

Majority From Pottersburg 28 That From Ealing Is About 40

Work of Scrutinizing the Annexation Petitions Has Been Concluded—Those For and Against the Scheme Were Excluded From Meeting Held Tuesday Night.

The work of scrutinizing the petitions to annex Ealing and Pottersburg to the city has been practically completed, City Clerk Baker being now engaged in preparing his report for the Ontario railway and municipal board.

A session was held Tuesday evening and it was interesting. A number of those favorable to the scheme were present, and Mr. W. R. Meredith, representing London Township, was also on hand. Objection was made to the presence of either party at the hearing, and Mr. Baker and Miss Grant carried out the work alone.

Mr. Baker reported to Ald. Spittal at noon today that the petitions were undoubtedly sufficiently signed. That from Pottersburg had 28 more names than were necessary, while Ealing had about 40. Miss Grant admitted that the number of names was sufficient, and she will also forward her report.

PEOPLE WILL RISE UP AGAINST SUCH PLACES AS EVANS HOUSE

Rev. Richard Whiting Speaks of the Case in Which a Girl, a Mere Child, Was Given Liquor in Company With Two Men at East End Roadhouse.

"This is certainly public opinion will not stand for such conditions as are alleged to exist. If there is nothing on the statute books to cover the situation and to wipe out this Evans House, that apparently is nothing better than a resort of ill-repute, the people will rise up and will demand that the law be made protective. There is no doubt but that this place ought to be closed up. When it becomes known that this Evans House is an hotel to which men may take girls the law ought to step in, and quickly."

Such is the opinion expressed by Rev. Richard Whiting, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and one of the most influential clergymen of London, who, with many others, has been aroused by the hearing of the sordid evidence aired in a case against Evans at the Carling street police station Tuesday.

Intolerable Conditions.

"Only a couple of days ago I saw two young men in a buggy pick up a couple of girls off Dundas street. They proceeded eastward through the city, and I suppose to some 'roadhouse,' there to fill the girls with beer or whiskey," continued Mr. Whiting. "Such conditions are intolerable. A hotelman may say that he cannot control his house, but such cases as these simply prove that he is either mighty weak or that he is willing to go to any extreme for the money. No well-conducted hotel need be over-run by that sort of truck, and the people will not tolerate it."

"Shocking," Says Mr. Bingham.

The sentiment of a very great number of people is thus voiced by Mr. Whiting, while other clergymen in the city expressed their views in a similar manner.

"This is a shocking and terrible condition," asserted Rev. H. H. Bingham, of Talbot Street Baptist Church. "I was in police court six months ago when two other girls who had been taken by men to the Evans Hotel in a taxicab, were brought before the magistrate. In my opinion the punishments are not sufficient. One week ago I preached on 'The City's Greatest Curse—Liquor,' and since then the newspaper reports of different incidents have all served to substantiate my statements. The liquor traffic is thus shown to be a foe to economic efficiency, an enemy to domestic happiness, depraving to moral life, and a breeder of crime and immorality. An example will have to be made of someone if this difficulty is to be met."

Cut Off by Annexation.

The Evans House, the Barnes Hotel, both on Dundas street, and the Homestead House on the Hamilton road, will automatically lose their licenses the first of next May, providing the annexation of Ealing and Pottersburg to the city is carried, as the number of hotel licenses in London is limited to twenty-six, and cannot be increased except by consent of the people.

But the temperance people of London Township are taking no chances, and intended to take a vote on local option in January, which practically means that annexation or no annexation the people will have the opportunity to make the Township of London dry. Three years ago local option was defeated, thanks to the three-fifths clause, by 62-5th votes.

C.N.R. WOULD NOT DENY STORY THAT OPTION WAS TAKEN UP

Col. Davidson and Judge Phippen Spoke of the Chatham, Wallaceburg and Lake Erie Railway—Col. Davidson on New Hotel for London.

Speaking yesterday of the report from Chatham, which stated that the Canadian Northern Railway had taken up an option to purchase the Chatham, Wallaceburg and Lake Erie Railway, Judge Phippen and Col. Davidson, of the C. N. R., said to The Advertiser:

"We have but little to say, but we will not deny the story."

On the question of bonding land in London for a right-of-way into the city, Col. Davidson made the plain statement that the C. N. R. has done nothing here as yet.

Especially did he deny the story that the company had bonded land on Bathurst street for a depot. Nothing was said, however, in regard to land that may have been bonded by Col. Davidson and others as a real estate speculation in case the C. N. R. comes to London shortly.

Coming to London.

That the company will come to London there is absolutely no room for doubt. Both Col. Davidson and Judge Phippen made this plain, but they also pointed out that unless they were able to secure the London and Port Stanley Railway, they would come to this city with a branch, and the main line would go through St. Thomas.

Col. Davidson, who, by the way, is an old Middlesex boy, is enthusiastic in regard to a new hotel for London.

"We have built several hotels in the Canadian West," he said to The Advertiser, "and aside from any business feeling, I would like to see London have a fine new hotel, built by the Canadian Northern. Of course, unless London is on the main line of the railway, it would be very improbable that the company would spend money on a hotel here."

Charged With Insanity.

A South London man appeared before Police Magistrate Judd at the Carling street police station this morning, and was charged by his wife with being insane. The prisoner, who is a retired farmer, from Westminster Township, while at the home of a friend during the night arose from a couch on which he was permitted to sleep, and proceeded to smash various articles of furniture before he was restrained and placed under arrest.

CARNEGIE UNLOADS TROUBLESOME MONEY

With the Exception of a Paltry Twenty-five Million, Vast Wealth Is Turned Over to Charities Organization for Distribution After Death.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Nov. 27.—Andrew Carnegie, in a statement last night, announced that all but $25,000,000 of his fortune, which will be disposed of under his will, will be left to the Carnegie Corporation of New York, which has been made his residuary legatee, and which will carry on his educational and charitable work. Mr. Carnegie's statement likewise explains his reasons for planning to pension ex-presidents of the United States, as he provided for recently through the Carnegie Corporation. In making his announcement telling how he had gone about putting his "gospel of wealth" into practice, Mr. Carnegie said:

"I resolved to fulfill the requirements of the 'gospel of wealth' by transferring funds and have done so except that I have found it desirable to retain for awhile personal distribution of my United States military telegraph corps pensions and Pennsylvania Railroad pensions to Pittsburgh division men and their widows, because my old boys would dislike the change, and so no doubt would others upon my pension list. To meet these payments and others under my will twenty-five millions of dollars in bonds on which the New York State tax has been paid, have been reserved. But the New York corporation has been made my residuary legatee, and all surplus left after meeting the provisions of my will goes to it.

"I am happy in getting all this off my mind. It is a gruesome business, but I find that this earth is rapidly becoming more and more heavenly, so many good men and women I know labor for others. Surely Luther, Franklin and their followers were right, who held that 'service to man is the highest worship of God.'"

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 27.

A SHAMEFUL CASE.

A Polish woman was fined $100 in the city police court for selling liquor to a number of her countrymen.

The keeper of a notorious road-house got off with the payment of $20 for selling liquor to a girl 14 years of age, and two young men, both minors. It was the second time he had been fined for allowing young girls to drink on his premises.

The city magistrate on the first occasion threatened to send the hotelman to jail if the offence were repeated, and would have done so of his own volition. On the second occasion he put the responsibility of finding the man on the county magistrate, before whom the information was laid. And upon the county magistrate the full responsibility must rest.

Irresponsible and dissolute girls of tender age are deplorably numerous in this city. Their parents usually are respectable persons, who suddenly awake to a horrible realization of their children's downfall. When a licensing system permits the plying of these girls with liquor at a place where, according to the proprietor, hundreds of them are in the habit of calling, a $20 fine is a mockery. What does this particular licenseeholder care for a penalty of $20, when tomorrow's hundred shall refill his cash register? Asked if the man would continue to hold his license, Inspector Duffin replied, "Certainly."

Mr. Duffin stood as apologist in a political campaign for a place where liquor was served to a boy during a drinking bout which ended in the boy's father killing a man. And the East Middlesex license commissioners renewed this license, as well as the license of the seller of liquor to girls.

This Evans resort has been a vicious influence at the very gates of the city. It stands in the shadow just beyond, and offers speedy transportation to the reformatory, or worse, for city girls. It will probably go on holding its license, if the license interests have their way. The proprietor claims he cannot keep "such people" out. But he can make no one believe that he, or his bartenders do not know that it is the worst offence they can commit to sell liquor to a girl of 14.

The case is a disgrace to the license administration.

SIR GEORGE ROSS ON THE NAVY.
The new-found admiration for Sir George Ross in the Conservative party will be cooled by his patriotic reference to the navy question in his first speech as Liberal leader of the Senate.

Sir George objects to the assumption underlying an "emergency" grant that the mother country is on her knees begging for doles from this country. "What is the matter with old England?" he asks. The opinion of Canadians who have no party emergency to bow to is that Britain was never more able to take care of herself. For this belief they have the word of the men who are at present controlling her destinies at Westminster. If the mother country has been overtaken by some new peril to her naval supremacy since the reassuring words of Mr. Asquith and Mr. Churchill in July and August, then by all means, as Sir George says, "let Canada out of her abundance give aid cheerfully and take a part of the burden from the weary Titan." But, Sir George adds, significantly, BEFORE PARLIAMENT GIVES IT MUST KNOW THE FACTS OF THE CASE.

Sir George is a believer in the self-respecting policy of a Canadian navy. To quote:

"A naval policy on the basis of a contribution was no policy at all, he said. It was like throwing a penny in a beggar's cup. There was a naval policy on the statute books now. It had been put there by the late Government. It provided for the construction of a Canadian navy which would have been built in Canada, and which would have enabled Canada to send ships to the aid of the British cause in the Mediterranean, in Australia, or anywhere in the world where aid was needed. Canada had the maritime people to man a navy, the steel with which to build and the spirit with which to maintain a navy."

This is the only policy worthy of the Canadian people and of their destiny. It is the only policy consistent with the imperial relationship and the genius of a British people. It is the policy to which the Borden Government must come at last. An emergency grant when there is no emergency is merely a subterfuge to postpone the inevitable, and to postpone also an appeal to the people.

WHY NOT AN INCREMENT TAX?
The report of Mr. Forman, the Toronto assessment commissioner, on the subject of taxation in the west, shows that he is open to conviction, but at the same time he is careful not to hurt the feelings of the Whitney Government. He says that the present method of taxation has not retarded Toronto's growth and prosperity, but admits that the west has much to teach the east in this matter of taxation. He personally favors a higher tax rate on improvements than on land, but he is not willing to recommend the change.

One good suggestion is made by Mr. Forman. Favoring an increment tax on land values, he suggested that an official record be kept of all sales, in order that such a tax could be collected. He would have the proceeds of the tax, however, entirely enjoyed by the municipality. This is not right. Toronto's growth, for instance, is not due to Toronto alone; the whole Province contributes to it. Railroads, steamship lines, express companies, etc., all help to make Toronto, as any other city. Toronto, of course, owes more to the country as a whole than any other municipality of Ontario. It is the capital, its university, which exists in the main for Toronto people, is supported by the Province, and so on. But all towns are more or less made by the country at least as much as by themselves. It is all wrong to allow a municipality to reap the whole of a tax on the increase of its property values.

There is the best case in the world for a province taking a good half of an increment tax. In England the Lloyd George budget of 1909. Such a tax would enable the Provincial Government to increase its grants to many objects which languish for adequate support, e. g., good roads, agricultural improvement, education, railways. Instead of thus irrigating the Province with benefit, millions of real estate increment have of late years gone, undiminished by just government claims, into the pockets of persons who in most cases did nothing to bring about the increased values which they were allowed to enjoy.

DISHONEST JOURNALISM.
The London Free Press accused The Advertiser of inventing the statement that London would be left off the main line of the Canadian Northern Railway Company if the company failed to lease or purchase the London and Port Stanley Railway.

The representatives of the Canadian Northern confirmed the statement when they appeared before the London and Port Stanley Railway Board yesterday. If the Free Press had any sense of fair play it would withdraw the charge of falsehood levelled at this journal. The Advertiser's information had been obtained from a Canadian Northern representative - another evidence of its superior news-getting facilities, of which citizens have proof every evening.

So far from making the amends honorable, the Free Press garbles the report of the proceedings of the L. and P. S. R. Board, so as to conceal the assertion of Judge Phippen that the trunk line of the C. N. R. from Toronto and Windsor would be built through St. Thomas, if the London and Port Stanley Railway could not be leased or purchased.

The report that Britain will not be dragged into war in the Balkans is disappointing to Canadian jingoists. They would welcome bloodshed to give color to the emergency pretext.

Judge Phippen, of the C. N. R., says that steam railway cars and electric cars cannot be run with safety over the same line. Yet Mr. Beck's whole scheme is built on the assumption that this can and will be done.

The ultimate control of the Pacific must be in the hands of Australia, Canada and New Zealand, says the Premier of New Zealand. It is a large contract, but how is it to be furthered by dropping millions into the North Sea?

The Free Press' report of the interview between the C. N. R. representatives and the L. and P. S. R. Board is a parody. Whatever a newspaper's opinions are, it owes to its readers the duty of fairly reporting the facts upon which they should base their judgment.

"Parliament must know the facts of the case before it gives a naval contribution," says Sir George Ross. Suppose the Government hasn't any facts to prove an emergency or refuses to disclose what it has? Will the Senate in that case reject the measure? The Premier has said he will go to the country if Parliament refuses to endorse his policy. Some interesting possibilities are looming up.

Mr. Lansbury, M. P., resigned his seat in Bow and Bromley, London, to run as a woman suffrage champion. His majority of 863 was converted into a minority of 751. The note is not decisive. Mr. Lansbury alienated many Liberals by shaking his fist in Mr. Asquith's face, and using violent language in the House. His conduct was so resented that he was advised to abstain from voting by his local executive. The women's cause is suffering from too great strenuousness in word and deed on the part of a faction.

So today, when the Free Press finds itself standing with Mr. Beck in a scheme that is but the enlargement of municipal control of electric power this newspaper is without a private interest to serve. Can our contemporary say as much? Are its hands free? Or is it the Man Friday, the mouthpiece of its president, Mr. Thos. H. Purdom, who is the secretary-treasurer of the London and Lake Erie Railway, owned by private capitalists, who have not hesitated to injure the London and Port Stanley?—London Free Press.

This is an insinuation—or more than an insinuation—that The Advertiser is opposed to the expending of nearly a million dollars on electrifying the L. and P. S. R. because one of its stockholders is interested in the traction company. The accusation is one of the falsehoods that the Free Press has substituted for argument in this whole discussion. This journal is not grinding private axes, nor political axes, either, in its treatment of a purely municipal problem. Why not discuss the subject on its merits without dragging a herring across the trail?

A well-known newspaper man was talking about the difficulties of a reporter's life.
"A king of intuition, a kind of mind reading," he said, "is essential to successful reporting."
"Two businessmen were talking at a club."

How Did the Ark Get Into Ireland?
[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

"The question is, How Did the Ark Get Into Ireland?" It is because you are always running across startling questions like this that Engineer Rawson's book is apt to give you the foggiest of ideas. As the British House of Commons is taking up the home rule issue, I feel that I cannot pass by such a timely subject as this, for as Rawson says in "Life Understood," "Interesting lights can be thrown upon the question of home rule in Ireland by scientific study of Scriptural prophecy." But to go back to the ark, I never imagined that it was in Ireland until Rawson spoke out loud and clear. He goes to an apocryphal book of the Old Testament, II. Maccabees II. 4-8, to show us that Jeremiah was the last custodian of the Ark and that he put it into a cave and stopped the door. Later on, however, the prophet emigrated to Ireland. "Mr. Rawson is quite sure of the fact," "The Irish chronicles," he says, "are full of references to Jeremiah. His bust is in a place of honor in Dublin, and his grave has been shown from time immemorial in the Isle of Davenish, Loch Erne. There were several Irish kings named after him, and the name Jeremiah is peculiar to the country, and the most common name there. I always fancied that Patrick and Michael were the commonest names in Ireland; but let that pass. When Jeremiah made the journey to Ireland he took with him one Brug, no doubt Baruch, and a "princess from the east." Her name was Tophi, purely a Hebrew word, a proof in itself that she must have been of eastern extraction, and she was accompanied by a guardian known as the Ollam Fola, another Hebrew word, showing eastern origin, and which means a Revealer, which is the same as a prophet." This was, of course, the aforementioned Jeremiah. The party landed in the north of Ireland. "From this time many new things were introduced into that part of Ireland of a clear Hebrew origin; thus the name of the place, Loughair Groffinn, was changed to Tara (Terah), a Hebrew word signifying "The Law of the Two Tables." After this it was the sensible and the romantic thing for the king of Ireland then reigning, one Eochaid, to fall in love with the princess from the east, to marry her, and to allow Jeremiah to establish the Hebrew religion in the country. These events happened at Tara at the very period of the Babylonian captivity, 580 B. C.

So we see how the ark got into Ireland. It came on the same ship with Jeremiah, and the pretty princess and Baruch. But where is it now? Rawson is not quite certain of the exact location, but he knows that it will be discovered one of these years—"Just before the end of the world." How he got these facts (?) I do not know, but listen to this amazing story: "In a most interesting way, and in a way that can be relied upon, the details have come to my knowledge of the landing of the ark on the northeast coast of Ireland; its transmission southwards, when the cortege knelt every mile, whilst a prayer was offered up and a stone erected; its burial in a damp place, protected by a granite sarcophagus, with the neighboring landmark of a large white cross, in the central eastern portion of Ireland." When the seventh angel (see Rev. xi, 19) sounds the trumpet, the long-buried ark will come to light.

Moreover, Rawson has come to the conclusion that the tribe of Benjamin is now in Ireland. Needless to say he believes that the English-speaking peoples of the world comprise the ten lost tribes. Americans will be glad to know that they are Manasseh. They will, perhaps, not feel quite so easy over the fact that thirteen is the prominent number, in all the emblems and heraldry of their country. On their ensign, for instance, is the emblem of Dan, an eagle holding in his beak a scroll, and on the thirteen stars, "The Star of Union." According to Rawson, the number thirteen signifies rebellion, for the first time it appears in the Bible (see with reference to rebellion, (Gen. xiv, 4).

Now, I have set forth these things not only to amuse my readers, but also for their education. To any common-sense reader the name of Rawson will henceforth be a synonym for Credulity. The man who quotes modern scientists one minute and Irish chroniclers the next as equally trustworthy is utterly lacking in judgment. And all writers who apply Old Testament texts to modern events, and who find any significance in the numbers of years, or any other numbers in the Bible, or who make any assertions as to when the world will come to an end, are hopelessly ignorant of all the principles of historical criticism and are simply wasting their time and energy. Besides they often cause other simple readers to entertain their own silly theories and delusions.

TRIOLED WITH KIDNEYS COULD NOT SWEEP FLOOR.
It is hard for a woman to look after her household duties when she is suffering from a weak and aching back, for no woman can be strong and well when the kidneys are out of order.

The weak, lame and aching back comes from sick kidneys and should be attended to at once so as to avoid years of suffering from the kidney trouble which is sure to follow if the back is neglected.

On the first sign of a pain in the back, Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go right to the seat of the trouble.

Mrs. Joseph Throop, Upper Point De Butte, N.B., writes:—"I cannot speak too well of Doan's Kidney Pills. For two years I was so tired, life was a burden and I got up more tired than when I went to bed, and my back was so lame I could hardly straighten up. I took different kinds of medicine, but none of them did me any good until a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so, and to-day I don't know what it is to be tired and my lame back is all gone. I can recommend them to any person suffering with lame back and that terrible tired feeling."

A SEMI-PRIVATE HOME FOR LADIES
Women's Christian Association Opens a New Department in London.

AGED PEOPLE'S HOME
Splendid Work Begun Thirty-Eight Years Ago Is Being Carried On in Noble Manner.

The expansion of the work of the Women's Christian Association in caring for the aged and infirm, was a matter of interest to a large number of citizens who attended a social at the Thomas McCormick Home for Aged People, on Richmond street north, last evening.

The home, which had a very small beginning in London, is now one of the finest institutions of the kind in Canada, and with the new heating equipment, painting and alterations recently provided, the greatest degree of comfort is afforded the ninety inmates.

The First Work.
The first work of the kind was undertaken in London over 38 years ago, when a home for aged women was provided on King street. A few years later the case of an old soldier, found homeless and destitute, attracted attention, and a cottage was rented for him by Miss Corneil, of this city, and Mrs. H. Taylor, formerly of London, and now of Windsor. Although the rental amounted to but $2 a month, the old gentleman was provided with a comfortable home, others assisting in furnishing his maintenance. Later other old gentlemen were found in need of assistance, and removal to larger quarters on Kent street was necessitated. This was again crowded beyond its capacity, and a John street location was chosen.

The work of the Women's Christian Association was given an impetus when the late Thomas McCormick provided the present spacious building on Richmond street north. Both the men's and women's branches were then brought under one roof for the first time.

A New Department.
A new department is now coming into existence, and a cottage has been rented opposite to the home, in which five aged ladies who have some means are furnished with board at cost in a building in which they have every care and attention, and a degree of privacy.

It is said that there are very many aged women in London, who have funds, but who find it difficult on account of infirmities to secure accommodation in the regular boarding-houses. This is a matter that will require attention within a short time, the ladies in charge of the work declare.

How Did the Ark Get Into Ireland?

"The question is, How Did the Ark Get Into Ireland?" It is because you are always running across startling questions like this that Engineer Rawson's book is apt to give you the foggiest of ideas. As the British House of Commons is taking up the home rule issue, I feel that I cannot pass by such a timely subject as this, for as Rawson says in "Life Understood," "Interesting lights can be thrown upon the question of home rule in Ireland by scientific study of Scriptural prophecy." But to go back to the ark, I never imagined that it was in Ireland until Rawson spoke out loud and clear. He goes to an apocryphal book of the Old Testament, II. Maccabees II. 4-8, to show us that Jeremiah was the last custodian of the Ark and that he put it into a cave and stopped the door. Later on, however, the prophet emigrated to Ireland. "Mr. Rawson is quite sure of the fact," "The Irish chronicles," he says, "are full of references to Jeremiah. His bust is in a place of honor in Dublin, and his grave has been shown from time immemorial in the Isle of Davenish, Loch Erne. There were several Irish kings named after him, and the name Jeremiah is peculiar to the country, and the most common name there. I always fancied that Patrick and Michael were the commonest names in Ireland; but let that pass. When Jeremiah made the journey to Ireland he took with him one Brug, no doubt Baruch, and a "princess from the east." Her name was Tophi, purely a Hebrew word, a proof in itself that she must have been of eastern extraction, and she was accompanied by a guardian known as the Ollam Fola, another Hebrew word, showing eastern origin, and which means a Revealer, which is the same as a prophet." This was, of course, the aforementioned Jeremiah. The party landed in the north of Ireland. "From this time many new things were introduced into that part of Ireland of a clear Hebrew origin; thus the name of the place, Loughair Groffinn, was changed to Tara (Terah), a Hebrew word signifying "The Law of the Two Tables." After this it was the sensible and the romantic thing for the king of Ireland then reigning, one Eochaid, to fall in love with the princess from the east, to marry her, and to allow Jeremiah to establish the Hebrew religion in the country. These events happened at Tara at the very period of the Babylonian captivity, 580 B. C.

So we see how the ark got into Ireland. It came on the same ship with Jeremiah, and the pretty princess and Baruch. But where is it now? Rawson is not quite certain of the exact location, but he knows that it will be discovered one of these years—"Just before the end of the world." How he got these facts (?) I do not know, but listen to this amazing story: "In a most interesting way, and in a way that can be relied upon, the details have come to my knowledge of the landing of the ark on the northeast coast of Ireland; its transmission southwards, when the cortege knelt every mile, whilst a prayer was offered up and a stone erected; its burial in a damp place, protected by a granite sarcophagus, with the neighboring landmark of a large white cross, in the central eastern portion of Ireland." When the seventh angel (see Rev. xi, 19) sounds the trumpet, the long-buried ark will come to light.

Moreover, Rawson has come to the conclusion that the tribe of Benjamin is now in Ireland. Needless to say he believes that the English-speaking peoples of the world comprise the ten lost tribes. Americans will be glad to know that they are Manasseh. They will, perhaps, not feel quite so easy over the fact that thirteen is the prominent number, in all the emblems and heraldry of their country. On their ensign, for instance, is the emblem of Dan, an eagle holding in his beak a scroll, and on the thirteen stars, "The Star of Union." According to Rawson, the number thirteen signifies rebellion, for the first time it appears in the Bible (see with reference to rebellion, (Gen. xiv, 4).

Now, I have set forth these things not only to amuse my readers, but also for their education. To any common-sense reader the name of Rawson will henceforth be a synonym for Credulity. The man who quotes modern scientists one minute and Irish chroniclers the next as equally trustworthy is utterly lacking in judgment. And all writers who apply Old Testament texts to modern events, and who find any significance in the numbers of years, or any other numbers in the Bible, or who make any assertions as to when the world will come to an end, are hopelessly ignorant of all the principles of historical criticism and are simply wasting their time and energy. Besides they often cause other simple readers to entertain their own silly theories and delusions.

MAKING NEW CLOTHES FOR LAD AND LASSIE

NEW IDEAS FOR BUSY MOTHER IN FITTING OUT HER LITTLE FOLKS.

Now for the children's wardrobe! What sort of wraps shall the little folks wear when the sun is hidden behind a cloud and Jack Frost nips hard? There are all sorts of little fashions which a clever eye and a handy needle may work into the material available for the small folks' wardrobe. And there are a number of small pieces of suitable coatings; odds and ends of fur and velvet, silk and other real-winter goods which may be used to keep your boys and girls warm and happy while they breathe in the crisp, cold air.

Cunning Little Cap.
A little piece of black velvet, a narrow strip of white fur, a few scraps of white silk, which can be joined and then shirred to look like one continuous piece with a couple of tassel ornaments will make the rich-looking boys cap shown in the upper part of the picture. It's practically something out of nothing when the last touches have been put on.

This cap will suit almost any child. It is warm, it is dressy, and it is serviceable. To keep it securely on the head, the simplest way is to fasten broad, white ribbon, strings one at either side, and tie them beneath the chin. This plan keeps the ears warm, too. An elastic may be substituted if the child feels "too grown-up" to wear the strings and bow. This little headwear will look particularly well with a velvet or velveteen coat which may be simply trimmed with broad braid and large buttons made out of twisted braid.

Directly below the cap is a warm, snug little coat which can be put together at comparatively small expense. It may be made out of a remnant of broadcloth or from any smooth coating which will keep out the cold.

And to please the heart of the small wearer let it be distinctly understood that the real name of this outdoor over-all is "ulster."

The material is brown broadcloth with collar and cuffs of astrachan. Three big buttons to fasten it are the only other ornament.

With a soft felt hat a warm pair of gloves and the closely-buttoned coat what does this little cherub care for weather?

On the right of this group of child fashions is a stylish child's coat of black corduroy with large, deep white collar and cuffs. The black and white is carried out still further in the round hat of white shirred silk and marabou.

Black and White.

Sometimes objections are made to dressing children in any black material. But any suggestion of sombreness is entirely relieved by the big, pure white trimmings.

This whole outfit may be made at home. The coat is cut on the simplest lines and is lined with white. Three big white buttons fasten it down the front.

The collar and turn-back cuffs may be made out of strips of fine tuckered satin alternating with rows of insertion. An edge of lace or embroidery, which ever is used for insertion, finishes both pieces.

The beauty of this sort of trimming is that it can be removed when it gets dirty, be laundered with little trouble and then replaced. Two or three sets of collars and cuffs, worn interchangeably will make the coat seem new each time.

Many mothers believe it is far wiser to dress their children in wash clothes, rather than heavier material, even in cold weather, because it is more clean-ly and gives opportunity for a greater variety and number of dresses.

Gingham for School.

There's nothing more serviceable for a school dress than gingham. It always looks so fresh and new when crisp and clean. And if a good piece of material is purchased the colors hold well. The goods withstand lots of wear and tear.

The striped gingham dress worn by the girl on the left of the group is made in the Norfolk sailor style with black patent leather belt. The fashion is a particularly suitable one for children because it gives them plenty of room in which to exercise and grow.

Plain goods is used for the collar and cuffs, and a chemistise with standing collar, comes of the garment. The bands down the front of the coat are cut on the bias.

tive when garnished with a sprig of parsley.

A delicious dish of creamed oysters may be made somewhat after this order: Put oyster liquor, milk and chicken stock into a saucepan and thicken it with cornstarch or flour. Add the oysters and cook until the edges curl, about two minutes. This is particularly appetizing when served in hot pattypans.

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

She Is Grateful.

Dear Miss Grey: I wrote you a little while ago to know how to cook split peas. You answered my letter. Now I am writing to thank you for your advice. I cooked them the way you told me and they are really lovely. So, again thanking you for the trouble you took in answering. Yours truly, F. L. G.

OLIVE.
A.—Such a kind letter makes me feel quite happy. I am so glad my suggestion was helpful. Do not be afraid to come again if you have more perplexities along this line.

Would Be Proper.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you advise a girl to go alone to matinees in the Grand Opera House on Saturday afternoons? I have missed several splendid things that I wanted to go to because I had no one to go with since I came to the city. I did not suppose it was customary for ladies to go alone. Thank you for your opinion. F. L. G.

A.—You seem to be a sensible sort of girl, and it does seem too bad that you miss some worthy plays for lack of company. I have no doubt that there would be no harm in going alone in the afternoon, in fact, I feel that it is just what I should do occasionally were I in your place. Before long, though, you will probably make a number of girl friends, one or two of whom you could ask to accompany you, each, of course, paying for her own seat.

Not Too Young.

Dear Cynthia: Will you kindly answer the following questions as soon as possible:

1. I am 25 years old. Do you think I am too young to be married?
2. I am very fair. What colors do you think would be most becoming to me?
3. I am 5 feet 8 inches tall. What should I weigh?
4. No.
5. Most of the blue shades, tea green and amber.
6. For your height I should think that from 140 to 150 pounds would be fairly proportionate.

Who Shall Say?

Dear Miss Grey: How often should a lover write to a girl? Is once a month too seldom?

DORREEN.
A.—This is rather a poser. I should think he might write as often as he had anything new saying. Seems to me a very ardent lover would find time twice a month to pen a line to his sweetheart.

Dressing For Fowl.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please give me receipts for dressing for roast chicken, etc. Also birthday calendar for Sept. 23 and 30. Thanking you in advance.

A.—A variety of dressings are given below:

Plain.—Take slices of stale bread, dip them in cold water and chop in the tray; season with salt and pepper, and for half loaf bread soften a teaspoon of butter and stir in well; add a beaten egg and an onion chopped fine, a little sage and parsley and a dash of taste.

Oyster Stuffing.—Take a small loaf of baker's bread, remove the crust and crumb the bread very fine; pour on hot water enough to moisten it, and cover it tight. Chop one large onion, and a quart of oysters, take half cup melted butter, one teaspoon powdered sage, and salt to taste. Mix all together, and if the oyster liquor does not make it moist enough add a little more hot water.

Chestnut Stuffing.—Blanch, boil, and mash twelve large chestnuts. Cook the yolks of two eggs, mince it fine, and add the yolks of two eggs, mince it fine, and add each of salt and minced onion, one tablespoon chopped ham, two tablespoons grated bread, a little lemon juice, and white pepper and mix all with the mashed chestnuts and use for stuffing.

The calendar for September 23, I locate. Here is the one for September 23. It is a prospect of a pleasant journey or some change in your affairs which you will like, and in general your year will be a fortunate one. Be careful in managing the affairs of others which may come under your care.

"Those born today will be of good character and by their own industry and reasonable conduct will attain high positions."

How to Return Gifts.

Dear Miss Grey: While going with a young man for a couple of years among the presents I accepted were a few of jewelry. We have not been more than friends for some time and presently I should give the jewelry, which is all I have left of the presents, back. I have no desire to make him angry, so please tell me what to say when returning them. I will send them by mail. Thanking you in anticipation of your answer, I remain, JEWELL.

A.—This is rather a delicate matter in which you have sought my aid, but I shall do my best. Send a simple note stating that you feel that now you have no right to retain the gifts and are thus returning them to him. Say that you trust he will always consider you as a friend, and sign yourself "Yours Sincerely."

A few more smiles of silent sympathy, a few more tender words, a little more restraint in temper, may make all the difference between happiness and half-happiness to those I live with. —Stopford Brooke.

Bits of Embroidery

Now is the time to purchase odd bits of fine embroidery at the "end of the season" sales in all the large shops. They can be had for a mere song, and can be made up into the most attractive collar-and-cuff sets or used for trimming blouses and entire gowns.

Motifs of Irish lace, embroidered baste and Richelieu embroidery are to be had for very little money. Perhaps they will be a bit soiled. That will not matter. They can be laundered either before they are incorporated in the garment or afterwards.

Five embroidered motifs, surrounded by narrow Irish insertion, were used to trim a handsome blouse or handkerchief linen that a young woman made for herself. The blouse was cut perfectly plain, having three small tucks each side of the front to give the necessary fullness, then was fitted to the figure and the shoulder seams stitched. The underarm seams and the seams in the short sleeves were then opened, the material laid out flat on the lapboard and the lace pinned in place, so that the most artistic effect was obtained.

The motifs were then basted on, one in the centre front, one on each side and one in the centre of each sleeve. Around these, laid on in squares, was the insertion, and it was also used to trim the collar-neck and the edge of the sleeves. Two strips of it were used each side of the back, where the blouse buttoned with small crocheted buttons. The material and trimming were all remnants, costing only a fraction of what was the real value of the blouse when finished.

A lovely sailor collar was made from a yard and a quarter of eight-inch wide embroidery that was in the remnant box. The embroidery was laid on the pattern with its edge to the edge of the pattern, the corners mitered so it would fit the pattern perfectly and the points in front turned in and stitched down flat. A narrow bias binding was then stitched to the inside edge and the collar was ready to wear.

A short length, five-eighths of a yard, of all-over embroidery made the front and back of another lovely blouse. The elbow sleeves are lace-trimmed (another remnant), and the girl is made of a piece of open embroidered insertion with ribbon run under it so that just a little of the color shows through.

Oh, there are so many, many ways in which these short lengths of embroidery and laces can be used by the woman who can wield a needle. It is quite impossible to describe them all; but these few will give you an idea of what can be done, and it is for you to decide what use you will make of the knowledge.

There are three parts in truth. First, the inquiry, which is the willing of it; secondly, the knowledge of it, which is the presence of it; and thirdly, the belief, which is the enjoyment of it. —Bacon.

SELF-CONTROL IN CHILDREN

An excellent address on this subject was delivered recently before the Mothers' Club of St. George's school. Unfortunately, space does not permit reproducing it in full, but the following extracts will prove full of interest to all mothers.

"Parents, teachers, and all in charge of little ones do not rule their own lives, how can they take care of the child-life, which is indeed a most sacred trust and a charge of immense importance? We read in the Scriptures: 'Train up a child in the way he should go, etc.' In other words, give the child such nurture that it will be a realized possibility for him to continue in this way all his life, advancing indefinitely towards perfect self-mastery as he grows older."

Right and Wrong.
"There are times when intervention must be with absolute rigor it is necessary to hinder, and little by little suppress all those things which the child must not do. He will come to discern what should be considered right, what is absolutely wrong. Doubtless the majority of children have somehow been led to think 'being good' is being quiet, and 'being naughty' is being noisy. Dr. Montessori says that children are all growing toward independence. From the moment a baby is weaned he is making his way along this highway of life, she says. 'Any system of education that must be efficacious in the training of little children must tend to help the children to advance upon the attainment of self-control. We must give such help as shall make it possible for children to achieve control over their aims and desires. Our duty toward the child, in every case, is that of helping him to make a conquest of self."

Let Him Act.
"Just here lie difficulties. It is often easier to do a thing yourself than to teach the child how. But this is the work of an educator, be she mother or teacher—the other is the easy and inferior way. Just as muscles grow weak through disuse and finally lose their natural capacity, so the child, who is governed (or ruled) by others loses the power of mind to control himself when called upon to act. Needless help is an actual hindrance, for mastery of self is our aim, and in the child world, as in the adult, this is experienced in the ability to do things."

"Obstacles," Froebel said, 'are not appointed by Providence with the design of repelling newly uprising life, but with the purpose of strengthening it at once upon its first appearance and of making evident the meaning of that appearance."

"If your child must grapple with moral problems you must help him develop moral energy. Even in early childhood incite your child to control those tendencies which, if left to assert themselves, will steal from him that invaluable power in life which will make life worth while. Help him to grow accustomed to strife and victory that he may know just what he may venture to attempt; is not that control?"

One of the German legends relates that the Christ-Child presented to a dreaming child various noble characters as ideals. Great warriors, kingly rulers, noble statesmen, were thus brought before the little one, but only to his discouragement.

"Can be none of these," sadly thought the child; 'they are all so mighty and wise.'"

At last the Christ-Child assumed the form of a gentle, loving, obedient child. To such a child the dreamer eagerly responded. 'I can be like that! I must be that!'

Will may be paralyzed as well as dissipated, and through the failures born of attempts to grapple with overwhelming difficulties the child may become abjectly discouraged with himself. Let the mother, or teacher, expect the child to do what he can; let us be sure to ever make possible to the child the joy which is the fine flower of successful achievement."

Give the child such nurture that it will be a realization for him to continue in this way all his life, advancing indefinitely toward perfect self-mastery."

Oyster Recipes You Will Like

During the next few months oyster lovers may legitimately enjoy their favorite shellfish with safety.

Oyster soup, or stew, as it is often called, is universally liked. Did you ever try making it this way? Chop equal quantities of oysters and chicken stock. Cook the oysters in half their own liquor for about five minutes, adding a little salt and paprika. Let the chicken stock come to a boil and then put all in a large dish with enough hot milk to make the requisite amount of soup. Cook just long enough to be sure that the oysters are thoroughly done, then serve with crackers.

Oyster pie is a delicious dish and not difficult to make. Line a pudding dish with pastry made of one pint of flour, sifted, one teaspoonful baking powder, a piece of lard the size of an egg mixed with a little cold water. It should be stiff enough to roll. Use one quart of oysters and cover the bottom of the dish. Sprinkle over with salt, pepper, bits of parsley and thyme, pieces of butter and one hard boiled egg cut in thin slices. Repeat this, then add enough of the oyster liquor and milk almost to cover it and put on the upper crust. Bake one hour in a moderate oven.

Did you ever combine oysters and bacon except as "pigs in blankets"? Try cutting bacon thin into narrow strips and lay them across oysters on the half shell. Put in the oven under the gas flame for about ten minutes or so. You will have a most delicious dainty.

Here's a perfectly good recipe for an oyster loaf: Allow one-half cupful of mashed potatoes for each person to be served, also six or eight oysters for each. Cook the oysters in their own liquor with salt and pepper for about five minutes. Drain and add to them a rather thick cream sauce. Chop some mushrooms, a bay leaf and a dozen small mushrooms and fry in butter. Remove the bay leaf and add some chopped chicken, one tablespoonful being allowed for each person. Put this mixture into the cream sauce with the oysters. Mash the potatoes very smooth, using a little milk. It is a good idea to add a well-beaten egg. But this is not a necessity. Fill a buttered pan with the potato, following out the centre, and then put in the oysters. Cover them with potato and bake until the top is brown and crisp. Individual loaves baked in buttered muffin pans are very attractive.

The Birthday Calendar

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY.
Some domestic difficulty threatens you, either sickness or disappointment. You will be tempted to turn to social pleasures, but your material welfare will need your serious attention. These born today will not be successful or likeable, unless they overcome a natural carelessness in dress and deportment. They can, if they will, become capable of filling high positions of trust and will succeed best under the directions of others.

circles need be embroidered; the other may have a simple monogram.

Raffia workers should make a solid strip eighteen inches long and ten wide. This is folded to make a nine-inch bag. To each end is sewed a pouch of silk or velvet that hangs several inches below the straw pocket. Rings are sewed to outside of bag and velvet ribbon to match pouches is run through to draw it together. A good effect is had with natural colored raffia with black velvet, or in a yellow raffia with golden brown velvet.

The Tailored Waist

The woman who goes in for the severest of tailored effects orders her shirts built on the same lines as those of her brother or husband. To be sure, the wise haberdasher makes the necessary changes for the feminine figure, but the results are so nearly identical that the customer is satisfied. These shirts will be developed in a heavy white silk, a flannel or one of the wash silks. For those who do not repeat year after year the same order there are slight changes which distinguish the shirt this fall from that of the spring. The principal distinction lies in the collar, for the rolling, comfortable Robespierre collar has been adopted with success for the tailored shirt. The deep cuffs are another point of difference. Some of the so-called tailored waists boast cuffs with turnovers of black silk, generally taffeta, to match the high stock of the same material.

One trig little blouse made from fall silk is another example of the semi-tailored blouse of which there are innumerable plays among the shirtwaists of the hour. On this blouse the revers are of the material edged with lace, and the plainness is broken by the buttons and buttonholes. There is the same pointed Robespierre, or Directorate, collar of the material. The collar note may be sounded by the stitching in a contrasting shade. The epaulettes which lend the much desired long shoulder line, are likewise lightened by the colored stitching.

SPLENDID HORSES FOR GUELPH FAIR

Entries for Big Winter Show
Are More Numerous Than Ever.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Guelph, Nov. 26.—Secretary Westervelt was here today, and says the entries for the winter fair are practically all in, Monday being the closing day for entries. There will be a great exhibit of horses this year, the entries for the new show, Percherons, exceeding all expectations. The other entries for horses are larger than ever. Regarding the cattle exhibit, Mr. Westervelt was doubtful if it would come quite up to last year's show. This was mainly because of the Union Stock Yards show at Toronto the same week. This show, however, will not affect any other classes of the winter fair. The winter fair will open the Victoria Hotel on Monday morning, Dec. 2, and will last five days. An effort will be made to have all the exhibits with the exception of the live stock in place Saturday night. The stock will have until noon on Monday to get in. A great many of the sheep and swine will come direct from the International Show at Chicago.

It is an unwarranted intrusion on a busy man's time and patience.

CHURCH LEAGUES
MAY ASSOCIATEMatter Was Brought Up
at Presbyterian League
Meeting.MEETING WILL BE CALLED NEXT WEEKBoth Methodists and Presbyterians
Are Much in Favor of the Plan.

The amalgamation of the Methodist and Presbyterian Church Hockey Leagues was discussed at the organization meeting of the Presbyterian League held in the Y. M. C. A. last evening. The matter was brought up for discussion, and the representatives present were much in favor of the plan, providing a suitable agreement can be made with the Methodist League. A committee composed of the officers of the league was named to consult the Methodist League officials in the matter, and try to arrange an amalgamation that would be suitable to both organizations.

Players Discussed.

The question of players playing on more than one team was also given a great deal of discussion. Last year many players in the Presbyterian League played on Methodist League teams, and as a result both leagues were weakened in several respects. The Methodist League constitution permits a player to play for any team in the Methodist League as long as he attends the Sunday school of the church he represents two Sundays in succession. By this means the Methodist teams were able to secure players from all over the city, and by bringing them to Sunday school a couple of Sundays made them bonafide members of the club.

Will Prevent Doubling Up.

If the two leagues amalgamate they will be run as one organization, and no player can play on two teams. It is also the intention to try to arrange a united association, which will control all athletic events in the two denominations.

The Officers.

The new officers of the Presbyterian League were elected last evening as follows:

Hon. President—Rev. J. G. Inkster.
President—Kenneth Casselman.
Vice-President—W. H. Rhodes.
Secretary—H. A. Greenly.
Treasurer—H. A. Greenly.

An executive committee composed of the officers and representatives from each club will be arranged later on.

In the meantime Secretary Harold Gray will communicate with the various churches and find out what teams will enter. The schedule and rink arrangements will come up at a meeting to be held next month.

What Methodists Think.

The Methodist League officials are heartily in favor of union. They proposed the matter in the first place, and are now only waiting to hear from the Presbyterians.

Mr. J. H. Childs, of the Methodist Athletic Association, stated to The Advertiser today that just as soon as the Presbyterians made known their wishes in the matter, a meeting will be called to form the organization. This meeting will likely be held next Tuesday evening.

IS HOCKEY WAR
ONLY A BLUFF

Montreal, Nov. 26.—Quebec has their revenge on the Patriks. After signing a $2,000 contract with the Patriks on Saturday, signed another contract with the Quebec club.

It is not yet known what action the Patriks will take about the matter, but it is expected that it will embroil them and George Kennedy, because it is understood that between them they had an arrangement to effect that Lalonde should go to Kennedy, if he would send them Pitre in return. To tell the truth, the juggling with players is taking on such strange shape that the people are becoming suspicious that this supposed fighting between Patriks and the N. H. A. is all a bluff, and that on the quiet they are arranging things most amicably any way they like.

[Canadian Press.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 27.—Although Joe Mandot is a favorite in the betting at 10 to 7 over Jose Rivers in the Thanksgiving Day fight here, it was predicted that there would be little choice between the two lightweights tomorrow. Those who have watched Rivers in his preliminary work assert that he is in better condition and faster than ever, but that he is a bit out of distance. Those in Mandot's camp seem confident of his success.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 27.—"Knockout" Brown, of New York, and Pully Brock, of Cleveland, fought twelve rounds to a draw here last night, according to a newspaper decision.

The bout was the roughest ever seen here, and when the going rang at the finish the uproar was so great that the clubmen kept running each other and had to be separated.

Brown fought continually to get close to Brock, and the better at the fighting. At long range, Brock scored often with his left. The men were weighed in at 132 pounds.

FOGEL INQUIRY
RESUMED TODAYMurphy Is Now the Man the League
Is Trying to Get—Forman Will Testify Today.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Nov. 27.—Although the resignation of Horace Fogel, president of the Philadelphia National League Baseball Club, is a thing of the past, magnates of the National League continued their investigation into the charges that Fogel had made remarks questioning the integrity of National League umpires in declaring that games were "fixed." In view of the statements and testimony of W. S. Forman, a Chicago newspaperman, that President Murphy, of the Chicago club, supplied him with Fogel's article, the controversy had shifted ground somewhat and had resolved into a double-barrelled inquiry.

In resuming the hearing today, the magnates were concerned not only in proving or disproving the charges against Fogel, but in sifting Forman's statement that Murphy was the intermediary through which Fogel's article gained publication. Forman testified late yesterday that he got his authority to publish the article from Murphy.

Mr. Murphy admitted that he had received the article from Fogel, but added that he had given it only a perfunctory glance. Forman was ready to resume his testimony today.

HOCKEY PLAYERS
STILL GOING WEST

Montreal, Nov. 26.—The exodus of eastern hockey players to the west continues and tonight Jimmie Gardner, who will again manage the New Westminster team, last year's champions, leaves for the coast. Along with him will go "Sibby" Nicol, the former Shamrock player, who made a big reputation on the coast last year. Although Pitre is said to have signed with the Quebec club, the westerners have not yet given up hope of the French-Canadian crack going west.

ANGLICANS WILL FORM A HOCKEY LEAGUE ALSO

Another church hockey league is in the process of formation. The Anglican Athletic Association was formed in the summer for the purpose of organizing a baseball league, is seriously considering the formation of a hockey league, and a meeting will be held shortly for the purpose of discussing the matter.

Many of the Anglican churches possess young men's clubs, and the success of the baseball league has so encouraged the association that they believe that a hockey league would be just as popular or even more so.

A six-team league composed of teams from St. Paul's, St. James', St. George's, St. James' of South London, Christ Church and Memorial Church, is proposed.

It is not unlikely that the Anglican people can be persuaded to amalgamate with the Methodists and Presbyterians in the formation of one big organization to control hockey in all the churches. Such an organization would prove a splendid success, and would do much to bring the young men into contact with the churches.

Just when the meeting was held to organize the league is not decided upon yet. Perhaps a representative from the Anglican Association will attend the organization meeting of the Presbyterian and Methodist Leagues.

It is also stated that the Baptists will enter a couple of teams in the league if amalgamation results.

MURPHY TO BE PLACED
IN SAME FIX AS FOGELSerious Charges Will Be Laid Against Cubs' Owner as Soon as Fogel Case Is Completed—Both Men May Be Ousted From National League.

New York, Nov. 26.—Evidence was produced during the secret trial of Horace S. Fogel, of the Philadelphia club, by the National League at the Waldorf Astoria, tonight, which will probably involve Charles W. Murphy, owner of the Chicago club, in serious trouble.

Several influential club owners made the statement that after the case of Fogel had been disposed of, formal charges would be brought against Murphy for the part he is said to have played in Fogel's alleged attempt to discredit the honesty of the Giants' victory in the pennant race this year. Documentary proof of the collusion between Murphy and Fogel was submitted to the league.

W. S. Forman, sporting editor of a Chicago newspaper, which published a long article by Fogel last September, which is the chief reason for the investigation, Mr. Forman put in evidence the original copy of the article in question, which is written in Fogel's handwriting and has the Philadelphia magnate's signature attached.

Produces the Letter.

Mr. Forman also produced a letter from Fogel asking Forman to suppress the copy of the article so that it could not fall into the hands of the press. Mr. Forman also kept mum if asked how the Chicago newspaper secured the story. In this letter from Fogel to Forman, it is plainly stated over Fogel's signature that the writer did not "cause" the publication of the alleged attack on baseball in the Chicago paper, setting forth that he, Fogel, had written it at the request of C. W. Murphy, to whom it was sent to be handed over by Murphy to Forman.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The professional hockey situation was touched up with additional complications and possibilities this evening, when it was announced that several of the Ottawa boys, already claimed by the Toronto clubs, had decided to go back to the Maritime Provinces League to play this winter.

Scouts for the Moncton, New Glasgow and Halifax clubs arrived this morning and made offers to all the loose men in sight, including Tommie and Harry Smith and Horace Gaul, who had been booked for the Tecumsehs. They signed "Ras" Murphy and Billy Hague and have practically closed with Gaul. Tommie also received an offer from the Quebec club, which wants him to fill Eddie Oatman's place. He says that the Maritime Province club are offering more money than the National Hockey Association clubs, and intimates that he will go there. Moncton had six Ottawa boys on their team last year and won the championship, being defeated by Quebec in the Stanley Cup series at the Ancient Capital.

It is understood that the Tecumsehs have agreed to waive claim to Tommie Smith, providing Quebec can land him, but Smith prefers the Maritime League. The majority of local players are fighting shy of the Queen City.

A Petrola correspondent states that the Central Y. M. C. A. team did not score a touchdown when Gleeson dropped the ball, as stated in The Advertiser's account of the game at Petrola on Saturday. The ball was being run out by Yerks, who received a hard double tackle just on the goal line, the ball being knocked from under his arm, and Central Y. punting upon it.

TWO FAST O. H. A. TEAMS

Been Organized For Coming Season.

Brantford, Nov. 26.—The building of a new rink here, with two floors exclusively given to hockey and skating, will furnish a great impetus to Brantford junior and intermediate O. H. A. teams this year. Without a rink last winter, local hockeyists were enthusiastic enough to capture the Wood-Burnley trophy for the first time from Paris in the post-season play-off, although the local players were handicapped by having only open-air rinks to play on. This year Brantford is regarded as a strong contender in the series with London, Woodstock, Paris and Ingersoll.

With one floor of the new arena devoted exclusively to O. H. A. and City League hockey, it is anticipated that this city is due for the development of real strength. The new rink is being built by John Teneh, formerly of Teeswater. It is of concrete and reinforced steel construction. The entrance will lead into the hockey arena, where seating arrangements will be provided for 1,500 people. Below will be the skating arena, this being made possible by the location of the arena on the steep bank overlooking the canal basin.

POSITIVELY THE LARGEST SALE IN CANADA

The Silent Barrier

(BY LOUIS TRACY.)

"It would be a kind thing if someone told her that there are other places in Switzerland where she will command the general admiration she has here. I am inclined to believe that there is a man in the hotel who can put that notion before her delicately."

Spencer possessed the unchanging gravity of expression that the whole American race seems to have inherited from the Red Indian. Mrs. de la Vere's eyes twinkled as she gazed at him.

"You didn't hear what I said last night," she murmured. "Where Millicent Jacques is concerned, delicacy is absent from Mr. Bower's make-up—it is good New York."

"It would be understood," Mrs. de la Vere smiled. Mrs. de la Vere wished to be a friend to Helen. Whatever her motive, the wish was excellent. "You are severe," she pouted. "Of course, I ought not to mislead you."

"Tray do. I had no idea I spoke so nicely."

"Thank you. But I am serious. I have espoused Miss Wynton's cause, and there will be nothing but unhappiness for her while that other girl remains here. I hope you are mistaken," he said slowly, meeting her quizzing glance without flinching.

"That is precisely where a woman's point of view differs from a man's," she countered. "In our lives, we are swayed by things that men despise. We dread the finger of scorn. When you have a wife, Mr. Spencer, you will begin to realize the limitations of the feminine horizon."

"Are you asking me to take this demonstrative young lady in hand?"

"I believe you would succeed."

Spencer smiled again. He had not credited Mrs. de la Vere with such fine perceptiveness. If her words meant anything, they implied an alliance, offensive and defensive, for Helen's benefit and his own.

"Guess we'll leave it right there till I've had a few words with Miss Wynton," he said, dropping suddenly into colloquial phrase.

"A heart-to-heart talk, in fact?" She laughed pleasantly, and opened her cigarette case.

"Tell you what, Mrs. de la Vere," he said. "I ever you come to Colorado I shall have you as a real cousin."

Then a silence fell between them. Bower was walking out of the hotel. He passed close in front of the glass partition, and might have been seen by the eyes of the man who had just spoken. But he was looking at Stamps, and frowning in deep thought. The guide heard his slow, heavy tread, and turned to meet him. They exchanged no word, but went away together, the lame peasant hobbling along by the side of the tall, well-dressed plutocrat.

"How odd!" said Mrs. de la Vere. "How exceedingly odd!"

CHAPTER XIII.

The Compact.

"Now, what have you to say?" We are here from mediocrity here."

Bower spoke. He was Stamps and he was half way across the narrow strip of undulating meadowland which shut off the hotel from the village. They had followed the footpath, a busy thoroughfare bombarded with golf balls on the mornings, but lately, to the unfrequented till the snow melted. Receiving no answer, Bower glanced sharply at his companion; but the old guide might be unaware of his presence, so steadily did he trudge onward, with downcast, introspective eyes. Resolved, Bower followed him at a distance of a few feet, and when he halted, then, for the first time, Stamps opened his lips.

"Why not? We are alone."

"You must come with me, Herr Baron."

"That is not my title."

"It used to be. It will serve as well as any other."

"I refuse to stir a yard further."

"Then," said Stamps, "I will kill you where you stand!"

Neither in voice nor feature did he exhibit any emotion. He merely put forward an all-sufficing reason, and left it at that.

Bower was no coward. Though the curiously repressed manner of the threat sent a wave of blood from his face to his head, he strode forward, and met the eager to grapple with his adversary before a weapon could be drawn, he peered into the peasant's eye, and said:

"So that is your plan, is it?" he said thickly. "You would entice me to some lonely place, where you could treat me at your own good pleasure. Fool! can overpower you instantly, and have you sent me to a jail or lunatic asylum for the rest of your life?"

"I carry no knife, nor can I use a pistol," Herr Baron said, with an unshrinking answer. "I do not need them. My hands are enough. You are a man, a big strong man, with a man's most passions. Have you never felt that you could treat your enemy with your nails, choke him till the bones of his neck cracked, and his tongue lolled out like a panting dog's? That is how I, too, may feel if you deny my request. And I will kill you, Marcus Bauer. As sure as God is in Heaven, I will kill you!"

Fear now lent its blind fury to the instinct of self-preservation. Bower leaped at Stamps, determined to master him at the first onslaught. But he was heavy and slow, inert as a bear, and his only advantage because of his crippled leg, swung himself clear of Bower's grip, and sprang out of reach.

"If there be any who look 'tis you who risk imprisonment," he said calmly, with a touch of humor that assuredly he did not intend.

Bower knew then how greatly he had erred. It was a mistake ever to have agreed to meet Stamps alone—a much greater one not to have waited to be attacked. As Stamps said truly, if anyone

Skin Peeling Nature's Aid to New Complexion

(From Woman's Tribune)

Mercerized wax is a natural beautifier. By flaking off the devitalized surface skin, it merely hastens Nature's work. The second skin layer brought gradually to view, exhibits the healthy youthful color produced by capillary circulation. This because the capillaries are thus brought nearer the surface; also because the new skin is unsoiled by dust and dirt. This wax, to be had at any drug store (an ounce will do), is put on nightly like cold cream, washed off mornings with warm water. Its work usually is completed in from seven to ten days, long enough not to show too marked results from day to day, or cause pain or detention indoors.

A face bath to remove wrinkles, made by dissolving an ounce of sassafras in a half pint witch hazel, is another natural beautifier, since its astringent and tonic effects smooth out the wrinkles in accordance with Nature's own process.

FIRE, FAMINE, FLOOD AND ANARCHY AT ADRIANOPLE

Refugees Tell of Terrible Conditions Within the Besieged Fortress.

Mustapha Pasha, Turkey, Nov. 27.—Fire, famine, flood and anarchy have besieged the Turkish fortress of Adrianople, according to reports brought here by fugitives from that city.

Those refugees who have managed to escape through the lines of investment, which are being drawn closer daily around the Turkish stronghold, declare that many buildings in the vicinity of the Selim Mosque are on fire. Other districts of the city are deeply inundated with the waters of the Rivers Mariza, Tunga and Arda, which have overflowed their banks.

The civilian population is declared to be short of food and among some classes a state approaching anarchy exists.

MISSING YOUTH MAY BE ON LAKE BOAT

David Lane Was Seen at Fort William Quite Recently.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Nov. 27.—Chief Fysh is hopeful of soon getting in touch with David Heber Lane, for whom he has been searching for some time at the request of the young man's father, who resides near Mossley, Heber Lane, who formerly attended the Collegiate Institute here, left his home eight years ago.

For a time he wrote regularly, but latterly not a letter has bridged the gulf between his family and himself, and it has been his father's constant desire to see him. Some weeks ago he instructed Chief Fysh to take up work on his behalf, and information has been received to the effect that the young man is working on a lake vessel, and known as "George Lawson." It is also said he was in Fort William the early part of this month. The chief expects further developments in the course of a few days.

Fill the Vacancy.

The board of education has chosen Mr. John Lee, superintendent of the Ingersoll Nut Works to fill the unexpired term of Mr. R. T. Agar, who resigned several weeks ago to accept a position in the West. Mr. Lee is a young man who, since coming to Ingersoll, has taken a keen interest in all public affairs.

A very large-attended congregational social was held in St. Paul's Church last evening. The event was conceived with the idea of promoting sociability and getting the congregation better acquainted. The ladies provided an excellent assortment of refreshments, and in every respect the occasion was a pronounced success.

DR. WORKMAN'S APPEAL

Counsel Says Educated Men Do Not Believe in Literal Hell.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Nov. 26.—"Educated men today don't believe in hell," argued C. H. Stephens, K. C., lawyer for Dr. Workman, this morning, in the course of his reply to the speeches made by counsel for the Wesleyan Theological College. The governors of this institution are seeking to quash the judgment rendered by Mr. Justice Weir, giving Dr. Workman, who was dismissed from his professorship in the college, on account of his views on the Old Testament, $1,000 damages for his dismissal and $2,000 for libel. Counsel for the college authorities argued that the trial judges magnified irrelevant essentials in the case.

Mr. Stephens also stated that if St. Paul were alive today in modern Montreal, he would be considered as a heretic.

An interesting feature of the hearing is the fact that four of the five judges hearing the appeal are Roman Catholics, who try hard not to appear bored at the wealth of arguments about "literal hell," "higher criticism," and "orthodoxy" which figure in the case.

UNCLAIMED BALANCES

Two-Thirds of a Million Left by Canadian Depositors.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—A blue book tabled in the Commons today, giving a list of unclaimed balances in Canadian banks, shows that some thousands of depositors throughout Canada have for some reason or other left with the banks a total of $677,147, to which no one has laid claim for years. The unclaimed balances run from a few cents up to several thousand dollars, over a score being over two thousand, and several of five thousand dollars.

"RARE" BOOK SWINDLE

Said to Have Yielded $50,000,000 in Profits to Operators.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Nov. 27.—A "rare" book swindle perpetrated on book lovers throughout the country at a profit of $50,000,000 to operators is alleged by the federal authorities who secured the indictment yesterday of James J. Farmer and eleven other persons on a charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

The case of Mrs. Emma Bird, of Salt Lake City, who recently secured judgment for the recovery of $42,000, as the amount of excess payment, which she made for books advertised as "rare" resulted in the action which the Government has taken. Farmer, the alleged head of the Kellar-Farmer Company and the Anglo-American Authors' Association, in which the frauds are alleged to have been perpetrated, was arrested in court last Nov. 15.

Glenn Farmer, Col. Wm. J. Hartley and William H. Scott, three others of those indicted, are already in custody; the others are said to be salesmen, who induced wealthy booklovers to buy almost valueless books at stupendous prices.

Third Letter: On the Mistaken Theory of Starvation to Reduce Weight.

Dear Sis—I've just finished dinner, and if I had time would tell you of all the good things I ate—you'd be horrified. Remember that doctor who told me to take the fat off by starving me? What a patient, trusting fellow! I was put up with it. I was hair-finished, and weak, and actually sick from lack of food—and he cracked a day—I felt like a parrot.

You know I always said that system was a failure—that there must be a simple, easy, natural method to take off superfluous flesh. Well, I found it, found the simple, harmless method of Prescriptions. It took time of course. But I had been carrying that load of fat for years, and I was mighty well satisfied to get rid of it in a few months.

The way I did it was this: At the drug store I got 1 ounce powdered Marmolade, 1 ounce Cascara Aromatic and 4 1/2 ounces Peppermint Water. I mixed these at home, and began taking a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. There wasn't any change at first, but I kept right on, and pretty soon I noticed a gradual reduction in weight—slow at first, but greater as weeks went by—until now I'm as slim as a reed, and my skin is smooth, complexion clear, and feeling fine. I'd kept on starving till I'd have died—fat, lovingly.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save Your Hair! Danderine Destroys Dandruff and Stops Falling Hair at Once—Grows Hair, We Prove It.

If you care for heavy hair, that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just on application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength, and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy, or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25-cent bottle will truly amaze you.

FINANCE MINISTER ON CEMENT DUTIES

'Explains' How They Were Reduced at Moment of Saskatchewan Elections—Liberal Worker Tells of the Roblin Government's Methods During the Macdonald Campaign.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The debate upon the address made some progress today and will be resumed tomorrow, probably by Hon. Mr. Rogers.

The Macdonald by-election was again to the front, being discussed interestingly and at some length by Mr. L. J. Gauthier, M. P. for St. Hyacinthe, and G. Boyer, M. P. for Verdun. They spent some time in the district campaigning for Mr. Richardson.

Mr. Burnham, West Peterboro, created a mild sensation by his reference to an alleged conspiracy in Canada to deprive French-Canadians of their language.

The principal speech of the day was delivered by Finance Minister White, who denied the charge that the cut in the cement duty made last summer had been made for the purpose of influencing the elections in Saskatchewan. He demonstrated that the suspension of the duty had been declared by the people and press of Western Canada, irrespective of party. The Government of the day, he said, had not hesitated to deal effectively with the cement combine when it failed to serve the people.

Hon. Mr. White resented the charge of the Liberal leader that the members of the Ministry had been experiencing the squalls of currents and cross-currents in the consideration of their naval policy. "What about Sir George Ross and the recent election in the Senate?" he asked, while the Conservatives pounded their desks and cheered for several minutes. "If there was friction in the Government, what about the right honorable gentleman's own political family? Where did they stand on reciprocity?"

Read Declaration.
Mr. White read the declaration of Sir George Ross in a speech to the Canadian Club against reciprocity, an extract from a recent speech by Sir Wilfrid Laurier stating that the problem of larger markets for Canadian farmers still remained and must be solved, and an editorial in a Liberal paper, under the caption, "Free Trade in Farm Products," which he declared to be "an out-and-out declaration in favor of reciprocity."

"Isn't that a kettle of political fish?" commented the Finance Minister amid renewed Conservative plaudits. "What a scene a caucus of those elements would produce! It would be a political Feast of Pentecost, all speaking different tongues."

The Cement Duties.
Immediately on commencing his address Mr. White proceeded to deal with the charge that the reduction of duty on cement had been designed solely by political exigencies in Saskatchewan, and prompted by a desire to influence the election in that province. He complained that the printed correspondence of a cement manufacturer with the Premier, "published in an obscure journal," had been taken in evidence, while no demand had been served upon him to show the correspondence he had received asking for the change. He had been accused of undue friendliness to the mergers, trusts and combines, but he had taken occasion to serve in unmistakable terms notice on the cement merger that if it desired to retain the market it must take care of it; if not, then others would." He was surprised that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Oliver would champion the cause of the cement manufacturers.

"The objection to the action of the Government was solely that it was taken with the purpose of influencing a provincial election," put in Mr. Oliver.

"Does the member for Edmonton object to the Government's action in reducing the duty on cement?" parried Mr. White.

"I do not object to the Government restoring the duty in October after election," retorted Mr. Oliver, amid Liberal cheers.

Mr. White maintained that a certain situation existed in June which did not exist in October. (Ironical Liberal laughter, and "hear, hear.") The minister explained that October was the end of the building season.

"What about the imputation of the minister's own political friend in Owen Sound?" queried Mr. Macdonald.

"It's sometimes hard to tell who your own friend," commented Mr. White, amid laughter. The order in council, he proceeded, "just chanced to synchronize with the elections in Saskatchewan."

He concluded by declaring that reciprocity was dead, and that the country had benefited by rejecting it. This year he anticipated that Canada's trade would reach the high water mark of nine hundred and fifty millions.

"The bulk of it with whom?" queried Dr. Michael Clark.

"The bulk of it with the United States, of course," replied Mr. White. "How about the slogan, 'No truck or trade with the Yankees'?" inquired Mr. Oliver.

"I never said anything of the kind," put in Premier Borden. "I said it was the slogan of the right honorable gentleman's party," persisted Mr. Oliver.

Mr. White declared he had no objection to buying or selling to the United States, but the reciprocity agreement made Canada's tariff subservient to the United States Congress.

The Flag Wavers.
Mr. Gauthier, Liberal member for St. Hyacinthe, after briefly referring to the resignation of Hon. Mr. Monk from the cabinet, and noting the anomalous position in which Hon. Messrs. Pelletier and Nantel found themselves, deprecated the flag-waving propensities of the Conservative party and their much-vaunted loyalty.

"Loyalty," he said, "is not the sole patronage of the Conservatives. We in Quebec, and we on this side of the House, are as loyal as they, and we have proved it. We do not boast as much, but our deeds are written on the statute books of the country."

Roblin's Methods.
Then turning to the Macdonald and Richelleu by-elections, he gave the House some of his personal experience of the methods employed on behalf of the Government. Although a member of the House of Commons, and presumably a free man in a free country, and merely discussing public issues before the electors in a fair way, he had been shadowed by hirelings of the Roblin Government for eleven days. "I have had," he said,

"the key taken from my room, my grip searched, my papers and personal belongings ransacked. A salaried detective in the employ of the Provincial Government was given money and liquor to induce him to bribe him, but he did not have the courage to make the formal charge."

(Conservative laughter.)
"It may be funny," continued Mr. Gauthier, "for certain members of this House, but there are honest men in the Conservative party to whom these crimes and outrages are serious, and who will disassociate themselves from such proceedings. The leader of the Government, when in Opposition, had repeatedly pleaded for the purity of elections; now his only reply to the charges was, 'You have done the same thing.'"

In Richelleu Mr. Gauthier said eight days after the election eighty-three workmen who were supposed to have cast their votes against the Government candidate were summarily dismissed. Apparently one must be a Tory in this country or else be liable to be sent to jail or dismissed from the Government service. When all the details of both elections were known all honest men in the country would be shocked. The people were patient because they were strong, but in the end they would crush those who think they are their masters, but who had been elected to be their servants.

Burnham's Apology.
Mr. Burnham, of West Peterboro, followed with a long and almost ludicrous combination of apology and defence for the Macdonald misdeeds. He opened on a lofty plane of high political morality, declaring that the charges of wrongdoing were "no joke," and deserved the most serious consideration of the House. If the liberty of the subject were not guarded life would not be worth living. If a prima facie case of electoral misconduct had been made out, the House would not fail to take notice of it, but he did not think Hon. Mr. Oliver had made out a case at all.

He had the Presbyterian Synod of Brandon specifically charged the Conservatives with the wrongdoing. The resolution of the synod, however, was a most serious thing. He regretted that a fuller case had not been made out and specific charges made by the synod. As the resolution stood it might apply to the Liberals. One of the Liberals suggested in Macdonald's defence that he was arrested. This surely was a suspicious circumstance. Why did not the synod laugh also? Imported election workers were always under suspicion, and a rough-and-ready justice was usually necessary in dealing with them.

Mr. Burnham concluded with the somewhat unexpected charge that a "conspiracy is on foot to deprive French-Canadians of their language." Waving his arm and raising his voice, he declared that having in mind the loyalty of the French-Canadians in the past and in the present he never consented to any sacrifice of their constitutional rights. "So far as I am concerned," he cried, "to the amusement of the House, I would sooner never speak a word of English for the rest of my life rather than consent to deprive them of any of their rights to the use of their own language."

The evening sitting was comparatively short. After Messrs. Turgeon (Gloucester) and Boyer (Verdun) had spoken in French, Mr. Borden (Victoria) moved adjournment for the night. The debate continues tomorrow, when it is anticipated that Hon. Robert Rogers will speak.

EDUCATION MEASURE NOT LIKELY TO PASS

Catholic Members of Quebec House May Oppose Compulsory Schooling For Protestants.

[Canadian Press.]
Quebec, Nov. 26.—The debate in the Legislature on the compulsory education bill of Dr. Finnie, member of the St. Lawrence division of Montreal, began this afternoon. The bill, which provides for compulsory education of Protestant children in Quebec, has caused a great deal of interest throughout the province. It is not thought the bill has much of a chance of passing, as Catholic members of the Legislature will oppose it. They argue that there is a danger of the principles of the bill being extended to French-Canadian schools.

FORMER LONDONER WANTED TO SUICIDE

Reginald Ald Is Under Arrest in Hamilton on Insanity Charge.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Hamilton, Nov. 27.—Reginald Ald, formerly of London, is under arrest here on a charge of insanity. Ald, a young Englishman, came from Malton, went into the office of an east end doctor last evening and told a tale of how he had been fitted by the gift of his choice, and that it was his intention to commit suicide. He asked the doctor to give him poison that he might do the deed. The physician notified the police of the man's actions, and Detective Bleakley and Sayer went down and placed him under arrest. At the central police station, where he was searched, clippings from Guelph papers proved that he had been under arrest at that place, also Brantford and London, because he had alarmed the authorities with his threats of self-destruction.

At all these cities he had been liberated on promise that he would not attempt his life. A letter addressed to his parents in England was found in his possession. It concluded with the statement that he would "end all at Hamilton." He was charged with insanity, and will be arraigned in the morning. After he was placed in the cell he tried to hang himself, and the police had to take away his handkerchief, his suspenders and other articles which he might use to his injury.

STROKE WAS FATAL.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Waterloo, Nov. 26.—A well-known resident, Henry Schaus, passed away at the age of 46 years. He suffered a paralytic stroke. He had resided in Waterloo for six years. He is survived by his wife and seven children.

Such as is printed on another page of this issue, together with the necessary EXPENSE items, which include clerk hire, cost of packing, checking, express from factory, etc.

Heretofore the word "illustrated," as applied to a Bible, meant merely a few allegorical "pictures" of Biblical events taken from any part of the book, merely as embellishment inserts, but not directly alongside and explanatory of the verse it is intended to typify or make plain; but our publishers, at an outlay of $50,000, prepared accurate illustrations DESCRIPTIVE of the VERSE which they accompany, and placed directly next to the verse of the scene described—the only place it can be looked for or found quickly, the only place the illustration is a help to you—making this the FIRST and ONLY complete ILLUSTRATED Bible.

Nothing will interest a child so quickly as a picture. Pictures speak a universal language, intelligible to young and old alike, with no embarrassment of moods and tenses. Accurate pictures, intelligently conceived and artistically executed, appeal to the intellect through the "windows of the soul," whose portals let in a flood of light to the child-mind no less than to the man or woman of ripe learning.

$50,000 Worth of Illustrations IN COLOR AND MONOTONE

More than 600 monotones by the world's greatest artists are printed with the type matter, where they at once explain the subjects which they accompany. These magnificent illustrations alone cost $50,000. In addition thereto are full-page plates of the world-famed Tissot collection in colors. These beautiful color engravings are also carefully selected with the object of further making plain obscure passages in this great Book of Books. It can truthfully be said that never before have illustrations so vividly portrayed their subjects and embodied in them the spirit of living reality.

Brother of Henry Arthur Jones, the Dramatic Author, Commits Suicide.

London, Nov. 26.—William Jones, a well-known theatrical manager and writer of plays under the pseudonym of Silvanus Dauncey, who was a brother of Henry Arthur Jones, the dramatic author, was found dead in his rooms from oxalic poisoning on Sunday. At the coroner's inquest today a long statement left by the dead man was read in which he said that he had been suffering incessant torture for four years. Evidence produced before the coroner showed that Mr. Jones was highly neurotic for years. A veritable suicide while suffering from temporary insanity was rendered. Mr. Jones was 48 years of age.

ELEVATOR BURNED

[Canadian Press.] Edmonton, Nov. 27.—A large elevator at Brenner, 14 miles east of here, the property of the Alberta Grain Company, was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. Over eleven thousand bushels of grain were consumed. There is no fire brigade at Brenner, so the fire burned itself out. The Edmonton brigade was appealed to, but as there was no water supply at the scene, and the chemical engines would be useless in such a conflagration, refused to make the trip.

EUROPE STARTLED BY BIG ROBBERY OF CASH IN GOLD

Fifty-Thousand Dollars Disappears En Route From London to Alexandria.

BANK OF ENGLAND SEALS WERE INTACT

Bold Steal Is Believed To Be Work of Band of International Thieves.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Nov. 27.—A London cable says: A remarkable theft of £10,000 in gold coin from a consignment of £200,000, dispatched from the Bank of England to the offices of the Credit Lyonnais at Alexandria, is being investigated by the police not only of England and Egypt, but those throughout the continent.

The crime is one of the most daring of recent times, and is believed to have been carried out by a gang of professional thieves, to whom information of the intended consignment of the money leaked out by some unknown means. The exceptional care with which the robbers laid their plans is revealed by the fact that although some twelve days have elapsed since the dispatch of the gold from England, it is not yet known at what point en route the money was stolen.

Seals Were Intact.

The most unusual feature of the robbery is that when the cases containing the gold were opened at Alexandria the heavy seals put on at London were apparently intact. This shows that the dispatch of the consignment of money must have come to the knowledge of the thieves some considerable time ago, for the work of making duplicate seals could not have been done readily.

The whole £200,000 was first packed in strong bags, each containing £1,000, and five bags were placed in each case. There were, therefore, forty cases, and eight seals were placed on each case. The entire work was carefully superintended by representatives of the bank and the cases were finally handed over to the representatives of the Credit Lyonnais, who gave a receipt for the money to the Bank of England.

The specie was dispatched from the Bank of England on Nov. 12. When the two boxes were opened, instead of the gold, the officers found lead. Police inquiries led to the belief that the substitution of the lead for the gold took place on the train journey between Bremen and Trieste.

SASKATCHEWAN TO HAVE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS

Progressive Educational Policy Launched By the Scott Government.

[Canadian Press.] Regina, Nov. 27.—At the session of the Legislature Tuesday afternoon, Premier Scott outlined the provisions embodied in a bill to amend the school act which received its second reading. The bill has for its object the organization of consolidated school districts, such districts to comprise not less than 100 square miles, and not more than 50 square miles. The bill provides for the convenience of children living in such school districts. The bill also contains provisions for carrying on industrial education in the schools of the province.

The estimates include a grant of $25,000 made by the Government to aid in the relief of districts stricken by the Regina cyclone, and a loan of $500,000 to the city of Regina to assist the citizens in rebuilding the destroyed property.

ELEVATOR MEN FORM ASSOCIATION

Say Strike of C. P. R. Clerks at Fort William Hit Them Hard.

[Canadian Press.] Fort William, Ont., Nov. 27.—Elevator men of the twin cities at an informal meeting held Tuesday evening decided to form a grain shippers' association to protect their interests, which they claim have been jeopardized by the strike of C. P. R. clerks. When the association takes concrete form it is probable complaints will be made to the grain commission and the railway board. Mr. R. Smith stated at the meeting that the strike had caused a deficit of 75 per cent in the net earnings of local elevator houses. The grain elevators were tied up an average of six hours a day. It was stated, because cars are not being delivered to their destinations as ordered by the purchasers, and grain men are losing thousands of dollars a day, they state, through the fact that the company handles their business in this manner.

KYOSHK TO BE FREED; BAIL FIXED AT $500

First Time That Convicted Man Has Been Released in Canada.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Nov. 27.—Steven Kyosk will be let out on bail, according to the latest report received here today, and which was not denied by the governor of the jail in which he is confined.

The authorities at Ottawa have decided to allow the prisoner his liberty until his trial for the murder of Johns, and have fixed the bail at $500.

Rev. Walter Rigby, to whom the prisoner owes his life, if he owes it to anyone, will go on his bond, together with Rev. John Morrison.

This latest move of the department of justice adds another sensational feature to the numerous others that have appeared in this peculiar case, for it is believed never before has a person convicted of murder and not yet legally cleared of that charge, been allowed to go on bail, especially at the sum mentioned.

OFFICERS DID NOT MALTREAT PRISONERS

Provincial Superintendent Investigates Charges Made by Convict.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Nov. 27.—Superintendent Rogers of the provincial police held a court of inquiry at Sarnia yesterday to investigate the charges made against Police-men Dawson and Crosbie and provincial Detective Action of mistreating Frank Malton, alias Kalamanski, when they arrested him last summer.

Malton was the Pole who escaped from Immigration Officer (O'Brien) at the tunnel station after Marshall, the Grand Trunk policeman, had arrested him. He was located by the three officers not far from Blackwell, and taken prisoner after a fierce battle, that included an interesting pistol fight.

The prisoner was one of the huskiest men that the officers ever had to deal with, and this necessitated a certain amount of rough handling to get the cuffs on him.

At his trial last September, when he was sentenced to one year in Central Prison, the judges intimated that he would ask for an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the arrest, and Mr. Rogers' visit was the result.

It was found at the inquiry that the officers were not in any way to blame, and had acted well within their authority. The superintendent will make his report to the attorney-general, after which it will likely be made public. The investigation was strictly private, and only the officers and three immigration men were present.

ARE YOUR HANDS CHAPPED?

Zam-Buk Will Cure Them.

The particular danger of chapped hands and cold cracks (apart altogether from the pain) is that the cold is likely to penetrate and set up inflammation, festering, or blood poisoning. Directly the skin is broken by a cut, graze or scratch, or chafed or cracked by the action of the cold winds and water, the one necessary precaution is to apply Zam-Buk freely.

The pure herbal juices from which Zam-Buk is prepared are so perfectly combined and refined that the immediate effect of these Zam-Buk dressings is soothing, antiseptic and healing. Pain and inflammation are allayed, disease germs expelled from the wound or sore, and the latter is quickly healed.

Zam-Buk is not only a powerful healer and skin purifier; it is strongly antiseptic and germicidal, and so forms the ideal protection for the skin against disease germs.

It quickly heals cold cracks, chaps, chilblains, cold sores, etc.

Mrs. O. M. Phoen, Neuchatel, Alta., writes: "I must tell you how pleased I am with Zam-Buk. My husband had an old frostbite on his foot for many years, and had tried almost every known remedy without any effect, but the first application of Zam-Buk seemed to help him so much that he persevered and the sore was now cured. We would not be without Zam-Buk in the house."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for piles, eczema, ulcers, abscesses, scalds, burns, blood poison, leg eruptions, etc. Its purely herbal composition makes it the ideal balm for babies and young children. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk 20c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Try also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

MANY SAILORS ARE HOME FOR THE WINTER

Sarnia, Nov. 27.—The fall of snow makes it very disagreeable for vessels bound up and down the lake, although there is no sea to amount to anything.

A number of the sailors have arrived home for the season, and the club rooms in Port Huron, which are maintained by the Lake Carriers' Association are being fitted out to receive the mariners.

Fully as many of the Sarnia boys as those across the river are members, and anyone interested in lake stories has only to drop into the rooms any wintry night and listen to yarns without number of the inland seas.

Sailors, as a general rule, are bilious enthusiasts, and the pool rooms will do an increased business. Checker and cribbage boards are a favorite pastime of the mariners, and it is a common sight from now on to see a group of nautical men engrossed in either game.

CASE WAS ADJOURNED.

Wake Up! You Lazy Stomach!

Make Your Stomach Cheerfully Do Its Work. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Digest Your Food and Assist the Stomach.

People who complain they are worn to a frazzle are nearly always dyspeptic and are recommended to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The stomach gets lazy, food ferments and sours, gas belches up, there are symptoms of bloating, the blood becomes thick and sluggish, the liver is blamed, the head is heavy, the mind a blank, and the dining-room is a chamber of horrors. One of the greatest evils of our modern life is the quick lunch. To this evil, as much or more, than any other, may be traced the preponderance of the stomach troubles of our times. Instead of taking time to thoroughly masticate the food before swallowing it, the average person rushes through the meal, bolting the food, deglutition taking place while it is only partially mixed with saliva, and only half masticated, thus leaving the stomach to do the work the teeth should have done. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain digestive elements, a single grain being capable of digesting 3,000 grains of food, including meats, eggs, grain, vegetables, starches and mineral matters. They prepare every article of food by thorough digestion for ready absorption and assimilation by the lacteal glands, which pass it into the blood, whence it is conducted to all parts of the system, rebuilding and vitalizing it.

Every druggist has Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in stock, and sells them at 50 cents a box.

ST. THOMAS LOSES BIGEST MERCHANT

Joseph Mickleborough Had Lived There For Thirty-five Years.

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Thomas, Nov. 27.—Joseph Mickleborough, founder of the big drygoods store here, died last evening. Some months ago he was stricken with paralysis, and never rallied. Mr. Mickleborough had been a resident here for 35 years. He started in business in St. Thomas in 1847, and later moved to St. Thomas in 1877. Mr. Mickleborough looked for many years after the buying and selling of big business, and had crossed the Atlantic more than 60 times.

NOVEMBER PERMITS TOTAL OVER $100,000

Building in London Is Going Ahead at a Very Rapid Rate at Present.

The building permits for the month of November will total more than $100,000, an excellent figure for this time of year.

Already they amount to $93,850. This will make the total permits for the eleven months of 1912 just $1,091,091, as compared with $849,327 for the same period of 1911.

The whole amount issued for 1911 was $1,036,880, so it can readily be seen that the present year will be greatly in excess of last year.

"The demand for permits is growing," said Building Inspector Piper. "There will be many issued before the end of December."

Suffered From Boils Constipation And Sick Headache.

There is no more frequent source of illness than that arising from bad blood.

When the blood becomes impure the whole system is impure; boils and pimples break out, the bowels become constipated, and the head aches more or less.

Do not neglect to purify the blood on the first appearance of a pimple or boil. Cleanse it thoroughly by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters and thus prevent untold suffering.

Mr. D. M. McBlaine, Niagara Falls, Ont., writes:—"It is with pleasure I testify to the sterling qualities of your Burdock Blood Bitters. After the Boer War, through which I served in the 11th I.L.I., I suffered from boils, constipation, and sick headaches, and tried many preparations, but got relief from none till an old comrade of mine got me to try the Burdock Blood Bitters. To say I got relief is to put it mildly. It made me myself again, viz., a man who knows not what it is to be sick, and who has been, and is still, an athlete."

"To anyone in want of purified blood and the resultant all round vigorous health I can conscientiously recommend B.B.B."

A $500 FIRE

North End Residence Was Damaged Yesterday Morning.

The brick residence of Mr. James Stark, at the corner of Regent and Christie streets, North London, was damaged by fire yesterday morning to the extent of nearly $500.

Defective electric wiring between the ceiling and floor of the second story was responsible for the blaze. The fire spread both ways from this point and made considerable headway. Most of the furniture was saved from the house, while some was damaged by the water.

The auto fire truck did effective work and made a fine run over the bad roads in the north end.
