

11 UNIONISTS AND 4 LIBERALS ELECTED BY ACCLAMINATION

All Were Members of the Last House and There Is No Transfer of Seats.

ONE UNIONIST WAS TOO LATE

P. E. Glazebrook Was Not in Time to File His Nomination Papers This Morning.

[Associated Press.]

London, Dec. 2.—The nucleus of the new House of Commons was formed today by the unopposed nomination and consequent return of eleven Unionists and four Liberals. All were members of the last House, so there has been no transfer of seats from one party to the other.

The Unionists elected include Joseph Chamberlain, Birmingham; A. J. Balfour, city of London; George Wyndham, Dover, and J. S. Harcourt, Banbury, Liverpool; while Thomas Burt, long the representative of the miners in Morpeth, came back on the Liberal slate.

A Liberal Walk-Over. A. A. Haworth had an expected walk-over in South Manchester, the Unionist candidate, P. K. Glazebrook, turning up six minutes after the time for filing nominations had expired.

Mr. Glazebrook explained that he had thought that the hours for filing nominations were from 12 to 2 o'clock but his protest was disallowed, and Haworth declared elected.

Tomorrow will see 70 polls. The constituencies are so scattered throughout the United Kingdom that the results should furnish a fair index of the feeling of the country.

Thirty-six of these seats formerly were held by Conservatives, 26 by Unionists, and 8 by Liberals.

In many cases the majorities were so small that the verdict of January last may easily be reversed.

One Unionist forecast is a net gain of 30 seats, and Unionist optimists see the possibility of anti-government landslide. However, the confidence of the Liberals in a return to power with an undiminished coalition majority, is unshaken.

Here's Another Guess. There has been a steady decline in the stock exchange price of coalition stocks since the opening of the electoral campaign. Starting at 120 as the probable majority for the coalition of parties, the figure gradually has dropped until it now ranges in the neighborhood of 60.

If the brokers are well inspired the chances that the present struggle will settle the great constitutional questions now before the country seem remote.

Should Premier Asquith and his Nationalist and Labor allies be returned to power with anything like so reduced a majority as here indicated it is freely predicted that the premier will resign. In that case A. J. Balfour, Opposition leader, and prime minister in 1902-05, presumably would be invited by King George to form a new cabinet, and everything would be again thrown into the melting pot as the only course open to Balfour would be another appeal to the country.

Old campaigners think that a sudden push, such as would be made by a turn-over in seats at tomorrow's elections, might easily start a landslide, and if this occurs the indications are that it is more likely to be in favor of unionism than radicalism.

WORKER TELLS OF WINNIPEG CONDITIONS

A Salvation Army Man Gives Sensational Account of His Work.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—The feature of today's inquiry into conditions in Winnipeg was the story of Adjutant McIlheney, of the Salvation Army. For fifteen months Adjutant McIlheney said he and Mrs. McIlheney had been doing work in the segregated district, and found it absolutely impossible in the great majority of cases to get girls away. If any girls wanted to come they were won over to stay in various ways. Very often they were made drunk so as to prevent them leaving. Many had been taught the use of drugs, and took dope constantly. Some of the girls were threatened with exposure and arrest if they left. Adjutant McIlheney said he had taken one girl to his own home and offered to have her come and give evidence at the investigation.

The inquiry adjourned until Saturday, when Dr. Shearer will be heard.

RAILROAD RATE WAR HAS BEEN AVERTED

Michigan Central and Pan Handle Forced to Raise By Less Favored Routes.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—First-class passenger fares between Chicago and New York over both the Michigan Central and the Pan Handle will be $20 after Jan. 15, according to advances received here late today, subsequent to a secret meeting in New York between representatives of those roads and of the Erie, Washash and Grand Trunk. This lays to rest the profitable competition.

This action by the two routes, which heretofore have enjoyed a differential rate of $19 for the Michigan Central and $18 for the Pan Handle, followed open threats of another cut instigated by the Erie, Washash and Grand Trunk, such as the Erie used two years ago to straighten out the complicated emigrant rate situation.

ONE DEATH FROM FIRE AT WESTON

Excitement Attending Removal Was Too Much for Charles Gormoun.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Dec. 2.—It transpires that the fire at Weston Sanatorium yesterday was partially responsible for the death of Charles Gormoun. The patient was excited by the excitement of removal caused his death a few hours later.

TO SAVE ANIMALS

Government Passes Stringent Order to Prevent Spread of Disease.

[Associated Press.] Washington, Dec. 2.—A special order has been issued by the United States secretary of agriculture prohibiting the landing at any of the ports of the United States of any territories or dependencies of horses, asses, mules, sheep, goats and swine from any of the countries of Asia and Africa.

The order is the most sweeping of the kind ever promulgated. It was issued because of the prevalence in Africa and Asia of contagious diseases dangerous and communicable to live stock. The diseases named in the order are foot and mouth disease, affecting horses, sheep, goats and swine; and rinder pest, affecting cattle and swine.

By the terms of the order the prohibition becomes effective at once.

THE LADY, A SLIP AND THE SABLE MUFF

An Adventure That Befell a Young Lady On Blackfriars Bridge.

To the slippery condition of the sidewalks are due many falls these days, although no serious injuries have been reported as yet. In some cases the sudden tumbles have produced a humorous side, and a case of this kind was witnessed on the Blackfriars bridge last evening. A young lady was hurrying across carrying a large sable muff, about half way over her foot suddenly shot from beneath her and she landed heavily on the sidewalk. In falling she had thrown up her hands in an effort to grab the bridge railing, but missed it and losing her hold the muff it fell into the river and set sail for Saunby's dam.

Market Clerk Maker, who lives nearby, was notified and this morning he called on the lady near the bridge and soon restored to its owner, to her unbounded delight.

NEW REFERENCE ROOM OPENED IN LIBRARY

Comfortable and Roomy Quarters For Those Who Would Consult Books.

The new reference room at the public library was opened last evening, and the improvement is quite noticeable, as for the first time those who consult any of the 5,000 volumes have a comfortable, well-lighted, perfectly-ventilated hall.

The floor space totals over 2,000 square feet, the room being the apartment formerly known as the reading-room. This department has now been removed to the second floor. Every book in the library is available in the reference section, a special system having been adopted. All fragmentary material, such as government reports, Hansards, and the like, will be filed and indexed under a new method a special printed index for all magazines is revised each month.

Greater efforts are being taken to care for matters of interest to mechanics, and a special draughting table has been provided. The public and Western schools, the Collegiate and the University, and the well known after, all matters of educational interest being carefully tabulated.

Another feature is the inauguration of a department relating to municipal affairs. Charters and all important documents of the most prominent cities will be supplied.

The furniture is very suitable, eight large double bookcases, five oak tables, and the draughting table being included in the new equipment. Each table has four green shaded electric lamps, and the entire room is illuminated by large gas arc lights.

Librarian Carson and his staff have the department very well arranged.

The librarian's report presented at the regular meeting of the library board last evening contains some interesting figures relative to the circulation of the month.

There are now a total of 6,062 readers, 1,070 of whom hold second cards. During November 2,361 books were issued, the classification being as follows: Miscellaneous, 231; philosophy, 81; religion, 151; psychology, 24; natural science, 239; useful arts, 260; fine arts, 154; literature, 526; history, 275; travel, 415; biography, 231; reference, 2,361; juvenile literature, 1,199; and fiction, 5,593.

The committee's recommendation that the librarian be given power to furnish the McClary Company's library with lists of books for the collection of books that he be given permission to loan in quantities, the books selected from the lists by the board, and the books to be charged to the McClary library, and returned at the expiration of the regular term of two years.

Accounts totalling $1,659.90 were passed but unless extraordinary expenditures are made in the future the board will have a surplus of $500.

THE CITY LIGHTING IMPROVED LAST NIGHT

Two Hundred Candle Power Lamps May Not Be Used as First Intended.

There was some improvement in the lighting of the city last night as compared with the night before.

Wednesday, when Niagara power was first turned on, the Tungsten lamps made a poor showing, and there were many complaints in consequence. Last night another test was made, and the result was much more satisfactory.

The downtown district was well illumined. The temporary system was in operation, and the efficiency of the Tungsten lamps increased twofold.

The water commissioners were seriously considering replacing the 60-candlepower lamps with those of 100-candlepower as the result of Wednesday night's trial, but since last night's test it is likely that the present system will be left intact until such a time as it is declared inadequate.

Mr. Beck, when seen by The Advertiser, stated that while he had no desire to criticize the present lighting system, he was of the opinion that it could be improved.

He considered it very much superior to the service given to the citizens by the London Electric Company.

It is Mr. Beck's opinion that a light on every pole with the increase in candlepower to be made gradually by the commissioners would be a move in the right direction. Toronto, it is said, will be the best-lighted city in America, and the member for London thinks that this city should rival the Queen City in this respect. He thought it a good investment and a good advertisement for London.

NEW TYPEWRITING RECORD.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 2.—H. O. Blaisdell, the world's champion typist, established a new world's ten-minute record last night. He wrote 1,144 words in that time and made only eleven errors.

SIDE OF A DITCH CAVES IN BURYING A MAN AT WORK

Alfred Edwards, a Sewer Digger, Painfully Injured When Ton of Loose Earth Topped Upon Him On Wellington Street.

While engaged in digging a sewer leading into the new apartment house on Wellington street, this afternoon about 2 o'clock, Alfred Edwards, of 541 Quebec street, was badly injured through one side of the bank caving in on top of him. Edwards was working in a trench about 10 feet deep, and had reached a depth of about ten feet when without warning the right bank toppled in. The other men escaped but Edwards' was directly underneath, and was pinned to the bottom with over a ton of loose dirt. He was quickly released, and carried into the basement of the Alexandria apartment house, and Dr. Moorhouse summoned. It was found that the injured man was suffering from a badly strained back and several bruises about the legs. He was unable to walk, and was later removed to his home.

CITY'S OFFER TO BE REFUSED IS STRONG RUMOR OF STREET

London Electric Directors Reported as Taking View That Citizens Will Not Pass Bylaw Sanctioning Purchase of Plant.

It was stated to The Advertiser today that the London Electric Company will not accept the offer made by the city for its poles, plant and wires. The directors came from a friends of the company in London.

According to the story the company believes that now that Niagara power has been used to light the streets, the city will not vote to buy out the company, and that any bylaw that is submitted will be defeated.

Toronto Directors Object. Again, it is said that the city's cheapskaping methods have angered the Toronto directors, who feel that there is still a chance to fight the municipality and get a better price.

If the company is able to show that it can remain in the field for some years it is argued that both the city and the voters will be more inclined to grant better terms to the London Electric.

A feature that is manifesting itself in the city is the growing tendency of the city to buy out the company and thereby wiping out competition.

Businessmen who now have motors in use are beginning to realize that in order to use Niagara current they must change their equipment, and this will, of course, mean a large expenditure in many instances.

What the city tries to buy motors so as to sell them at cost, but it is understood the manufacturers would give no reduction, and only two bids were received, both being for the same figure.

Thus any concern in London could buy a motor for the same price that the city could purchase a thousand of them.

"What the company will do with the $100,000 offer," said Manager Hunt, "is a matter for the majority of the shareholders to decide. Personally I may say I will go with the majority. I do not know what the majority will do."

Today Mr. Hunt received a letter from President Matthews, of Toronto, in which he stated that the directors are not in favor of the city's proposal to buy out the company, and that he will be able to submit the city's proposition to them until Saturday.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING IS ON LOOKS LIKE RECORD BREAKER

An Army of Gift-Buyers Invading the Stores Big and Little—Local Shops Surpassing All Previous Records For Beauty and Variety of Stock

Shop, shop, shop. Christmas time is with us once more, and an army of shoppers has invaded the gaily-decorated stores that light up with color and beauty the crowded thoroughfares of the city. The London retail stores were never more attractively decorated.

The windows are veritable fairylands in miniature. "How is the Christmas trade?" a well-known merchant was asked this morning.

"Never was better," was the response. "The season has opened with a rush that promises to take us nearly on our feet. We thought we had all the stock needed for the holiday trade, but some of our lines are nearly exhausted already. People are buying a better class of goods than ever, and a surprising demand for fancy dress goods that we can scarcely account for."

Many Pretty Windows. Some of the windows are arranged with remarkable artistic effect. Many of London's stores employ expert dressers who give their entire time to this work, and one cannot fail to note the local improvement in window trimming in the last few years. Even the smaller stores have reached a high mark in this kind of advertising.

It has come to be one of the fine arts and why should it not be? Here for instance is "My lady's parlor," particularly inviting, enchanting and beautiful, with its soft drapings of shell pink, with here and there faint touches of lavender. On the bonnet table are arranged the latest things in jewel boxes, pin-trays, trinket holders, dainty fans, manicure sets, and other little accessories that appeal to the feminine fancy. In another window is shown the very latest in Paris gowns, bewitching creations, that make mere man feel like a creature of a baser order.

"Yes," said a salesman in the toy department of a large store, "people are shopping early this year. The newspapers have succeeded in educating the people to the advantages of doing one's Christmas shopping early. Goods are always more or less damaged the last week before Christmas, and there is not the same variety to select from."

A striking feature of the "toytowns" and "toylands," are the aviation toys. There are flying tops, balloons which glide along invisible wires, monoplane that unaided shoot up into the air, and about when suspended from the ceiling.

"Business," said a leading jeweller, "is fairly humming this year," and he pointed to a room in the rear which was filled with small parcels of goods, which have already been purchased and laid away for Christmas gifts.

"People are buying a better class of books," said a bookseller, "and they are buying more than in previous years. There is a particularly strong demand for fine sets of standard authors. Light fiction is no longer the only thing wanted."

"Christmas and Christmas gifts" are the subjects which everyone is discussing, on the street cars, on the streets, in the shops, and cafes, everywhere in fact.

London and the district of which London is the centre, have enjoyed an unusually prosperous year, and as a result the Christmas shopping of this Yuletide promises to easily eclipse in its size and activity all previous years in London.

LAURIER WINS ON NAVAL POLICY

Majority of Conservatives Voted For Mr. Monk's Amendment.

LIBERAL MAJ. IS INTACT

End of the Nine-Days' Debate on the Great Question Took Place at an Early Hour This Morning.

After a debate lasting nine days, the first division of the present parliamentary session took place about 2 o'clock this morning.

The first cast was submitted was Mr. Borden's amendment to that of Mr. Monk, regretting that the Government had given no indication of its intention of submitting the naval question to the people.

Six Nationalists voted for the Government.

The vote was: LIBERALS, 126. CONSERVATIVES, 70.

The second division occurred immediately afterwards, on Monk's amendment to refer the whole question of participation in imperial armament to a plebiscite. The Conservatives voted for the Monk amendment, with the exception of Mr. Foster, who voted with the Liberals.

Col. Sam Hughes also voted with the Government on the Monk amendment. The vote: CONSERVATIVES and NATIONALISTS, 126. LIBERALS, 120.

Those who did not vote included: Chisholm (Huron), Sharpe (Lisgar), Macdonell, Foster, Bristol, Wallace, Claire.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—The debate on the address, which has produced nine days of oratory, and which has in the main centred around the Opposition's attempt to draw some political comfort and party capital from the result of the Nationalist anti-navy and anti-imperial victory in Drummond-Arthurs, came to a close at an early hour this morning. The result of the vote was an emphatic and unqualified Liberal majority against the two Opposition amendments—that of Mr. Monk and his little band of Quebec Nationalists urging a plebiscite of the electors on the navy question, and that of Mr. Borden and his followers in the English-speaking provinces urging the same thing to the accomplishment of imperialistic frills and pretensions of loyalty.

The Closing Speeches. Of the concluding speeches today, that of Mr. Foster, the original champion of a large navy, was the most illuminating and instructive of all the preceding Opposition attempts to justify their boxing of the corner on the naval question. For nearly three hours the member for North Toronto labored with all the force of language and casuistry at his command to revivify his attitude today with that he adopted in February and March, 1909. It was, as Mr. E. M. Macdonald put it, the most remarkable piece of political gymnastics seen in many years, and it ended as it could only end, in grotesque failure. The father of the Canadian naval defence movement finding that with all his skill as a politician he was unable to swat the Liberal majority, he turned to the task of swallowing himself, and uttering beyond him, Mr. Foster started out badly, and the longer he spoke the more he floundered. Prompted by his new Nationalist allies and supplied with material which suggested that it had come from a Nationalist source, he set out to arraign Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden. (Continued on Page Eight.)

DRUNKS WERE NUMEROUS

Seven Up This Morning. One of Them a Young Woman.

In the police court this morning Edward Cookson, Indian lister, was fined $10 or 21 days for being intoxicated. Thomas Davidson, also intoxicated, was given the option of $2 or five days.

Jerry Brown, arrested two weeks ago for drunkenness, was given an additional 15 days in jail.

Samuel Goldstein, charged with ill-treating and assaulting his wife, while intoxicated, was allowed to go on the petition of his spouse. He was advised to take the pledge.

John Robinson was charged by John Robinson with assault. The two men it appears got into an altercation at a dance. Baldwin was fined $1, with $3 costs or 21 days, and was bound over to keep the peace.

Florence Gourin, a young woman arrested for being drunk, was released on promising to return to her parents in Strathroy.

MURDER TRIAL

Man Accused of Killing Little Girl Very Nervous in Box.

[By Associated Press.] Louisville, Ky., Dec. 2.—Joseph Wendling, charged with the murder of eight-year-old Anna Keller, went on the stand today for cross-examination. He seemed nervous, and for a time it appeared he would be unable even to reply to the questions asked by the prosecution. He repeatedly gulped down a drink of water.

Wendling was unable to explain why he had left Louisville. He admitted that the position he had held at St. John's Church was better than he had after he suddenly departed from the city and confessed his wife's statement that their relationship was a happy one while he was working here.

"Are these yours?" asked Commonweal's Attorney Huffaker, holding up a bloodstained shirt. Wendling replied: "They are," stammered Wendling in reply. He said he had worn them years ago, when he was a truck driver, and former in France, but declared he could not account for the blood stains.

The trial was found in the cellar with the body of the Keller child.

South London Liberal. The weekly match will be held in the rooms, corner of Craig street and the Wortley road, this evening. All invited. Excellent prizes will be given.

DOCTORS PUZZLED BY THESE CASES

Infantile Paralysis Patients in Hospital No Better.

THOUGH LONG TREATED

Physicians Say the Cases Are the Most Peculiar They Have Ever Handled.

The case of the eight patients, who are in Victoria Hospital suffering from infantile paralysis, is creating an unusual amount of interest among physicians of the city. Although most of the patients have been in for nearly two months, a physician in attendance stated to The Advertiser that there is practically no change to be noted in their condition.

"The cases are most peculiar," said the physician to The Advertiser this afternoon. "The disease is a very difficult one to treat. We have been doing everything we can for the patients, and yet they do not respond to the treatment. We cannot say that they are worse, but they are not any better. We haven't an idea how long they will remain paralyzed."

Among the patients are a South London man and his wife. These are the only adult cases, all the others being children. The cases are kept strictly isolated.

ISMAILIANS ENTERTAINED THE ARAB PATROL

MANY PERPLEXING PROBLEMS FOR TAFT

Congress Opens On Monday and the Political Situation is Confused.

14 REGULAR BILLS IN ALL

Appropriations Involving More Than a Billion Dollars Must Be Passed to Avoid Special Session.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1. — When Congress meets on Monday it will have just three months in which to perform whatever may be the demands of a Republican Administration. After that the fate of the Taft legislative programme will depend upon the will of a Democratic House and a Republican Senate, a condition which will continue until the end of President Taft's present term of office.

Confronted with a situation full of confusion, the success or the failure of the approaching short session of the sixty-first Congress is believed to rest with the character of the executive message to be sent to the legislative bodies, according to Republican party leaders who are now in the city. This means that the President has a task offering difficulties far more complex than any that have been presented to an executive within a score of years.

President Not Decided.
Realizing that he will be criticised if he fails to demand of Congress further revision of the tariff—especially of the wool and silk duties—and fully cognizant of the fact that the prospects would be all against the success of such a programme, the President, it is said, has not made up his mind definitely what his course will be. The chances are that he will not insist upon action during the approaching session, but that he will offer to the Democratic House and the Republican Senate, a year hence, a programme for tariff revision, which will be bolstered up with facts and figures gathered in the meantime by the tariff board.

The President has made it clear to his callers that he does not purpose to withdraw any part of his programme, although compelled to alter his plans somewhat, just because the Democrats are about to come into control of the House of Representatives. The short time that remains of Republican majorities in both branches of Congress is used by the President in an argument in favor of pressing forward. Many of his callers concede the point he makes, but being more familiar than he with filibustering methods, they are not so sanguine as to the feasibility of the administration's ambitions.

Much Work To Do.
The short session must pass fourteen regular appropriation bills, carrying an aggregate of a billion dollars or more. Otherwise there would be necessity for an extra session next spring, and such a session would bring the Democrats face to face with the necessity to doing something nine months in advance of the time they would ordinarily be called upon to assume responsibility.

For many reasons neither Democrats nor Republicans want to precipitate this situation and it will be avoided if possible. The Democrats are disposed to take the broad position that legislation of a general character should be postponed until they came into the degree of power that has been conferred upon them. Contending that the last election was an expression of the popular will, they urge that it should be heeded to the extent of permitting the Democracy to take the initiative in whatever new action is to be considered.

Reapportionment Is Worrying.
Among the measures to be pressed are those providing for the fortification of the Panama Canal; the amendment of the postal laws to provide for a parcels post along rural delivery routes; and for increased postage on the advertising portions of magazines; the granting of ship subsidies; the pensioning of superannuated employees of the civil service; the creation of a public land court, and the establishment of forest reservations in the White and the Appalachian Mountains. Opposition to the naval programme for the annual addition of two battleships to the navy may be expected, but it probably will not be effective in the approaching session. The forest reservation bill will probably become a law. The ship subsidy bill is the unfinished business in the Senate, but some of the Democrats are ready to talk it to death. This bill is also expected to be presented to the House for a vote during the session and the chances there are doubtful.

The present Congress will be asked to provide for a reapportionment of the House of Representatives to conform to the developments of the thirteenth census and any measure with that end in view is liable to become the subject of shop controversy. Actually there is not much chance for party advantage in the reapportionment, but it always is assumed that there is, and the Democrats will contend for the postponement of this legislation until the beginning of the 62nd Congress.

AIRSHIPS DEVELOP NEW TYPE OF MEN

Doctor Forecasts Big Change in Circulatory System of the Future Aviator.

London, Dec. 1.—A being with tiny, shrivelled-up legs, a huge elastic heart, a colorless, keen, ferret face, and heady, birdlike eyes, which can see sideways, or even, perhaps, nearly backwards, is the picture of the man of the future, this is to be the man of the future, when flying becomes general.

Such is his portrait, pictured yesterday by an eminent doctor, who was discussing a statement in the Lancet that flying men, being exposed to new stresses, when rising or falling to different altitudes, which increase the blood pressure, must have circulatory systems which will adapt themselves to these constant changes of pressure.

"With the human heart and vessels at present constituted," he said, "constant high blood pressure hardens the arteries in two or three years, and anyone with hardened arteries is liable to death from heart trouble or apoplexy."

"Obviously, then, the human machine of the future, when every one flies as a matter of course, will have

ANOTHER GREAT DAY FOR MEN

There is just one thing to do tomorrow: When you wake up get up, for there are some things here which go on sale at 8 o'clock that will go as quickly as they can be bundled. We just draw your attention to another 30 dozen shipment of Seconds in Men's Underwear, which arrived from the mill today—higher-grade garments than the last lot, but will be sold at same price. Next we have just 17 Fur Collar Coats left out of 70 samples; every Coat will go Saturday at $12.95, worth up to $25.00. Also two great specials in Overcoats, broken ranges, and special purchase of 115 Coats at $8.25 and $11.95. Also 360 pairs Men's Lined Winter Gloves, at $1.00 pair. Such are the inducements in our Men's Store tomorrow, of which we will give you a mere outline, but COME EARLY.

A $25 Fur Collar Overcoat Saturday for $12.95

360 Odds and Seconds 59c

From One of Canada's Largest Makers of Men's Underwear

A few weeks ago we secured 500 garments (Odds and Seconds, so-called) from the mill, but for the life of you, you could not tell what was wrong with most of them—but it didn't take a second to see what was wrong with the price. Every garment was sold in the forenoon the Saturday they were offered. Well, the lot we have for tomorrow are better still, as there are many more higher-priced garments amongst them, and we had after the last sale so many inquiries for them that we are particularly fortunate in securing these. They consist of fine worsted, ribbed and heavy all-wool ribbed Underwear. Odds are No. 1, not Seconds, and the Seconds are to the wearer just as good, as any drop in the stitch or other slight imperfections have been carefully caught up and neatly finished. Don't miss these, as it will possibly be the last chance at Seconds this winter. There are garments in this lot worth $1.50 and $2 each; all will go tomorrow, early too, in the morning, at 59c
Richmond Street Section.

MILLIONS FOR TIE

Seventy-Year Old Inventor to Sell His Claim for $17,000,000.

San Francisco, Dec. 1. — The first payment of a total of $17,000,000, to be turned over to George Gates, a 70-year-old G. A. R. veteran of San Jose, who invented the concrete railroad tie, is now in escrow in the Crocker National Bank.

A syndicate of eastern railroads has been formed to buy Gates' patent rights and $500,000 will be given to him tomorrow, when the contract is signed, and by Jan. 2, 1911, the total of $17,000,000 will be placed to his account.

Capitalists, whose names are known throughout the world, are delighted to have been able to buy the patent rights "at such a bargain." A few months ago they looked upon the plan of the veteran as a harmless vagary of senility and would not have contributed a dime toward buying his patent. The sudden change came when a California electric road studied the concrete ties of Gates and put them into use.

to be of a very different character from that of the present.

"Fortunately, the human machine is the most adaptable ever invented. See, for instance, how well it has gradually adapted itself to life in cities.

"So will it adapt itself to the altered conditions of the aerial future in the way I have shortly sketched for you. Let me elaborate further.

"First, the aerial man of the future will have a large elastic heart and fuller arteries, so as to stand the strain of continual high-blood pressure.

"Now limbs, not used, gradually become smaller or disappear altogether.

"The future man's legs will therefore, from lack of use, become small and atrophied.

"The necessity for a smaller supply of blood to them, coupled with the larger heart necessary will make for the development of larger and heavier chest and shoulders. The man of the future, therefore, will tend to become rather top-heavy, but not more muscular.

"His face will be of the ferret cockney type, for it is the man with this type of face who always shows his superiority over the country-bred man in his powers of standing intense mental strain. His upper jaw will be greatly developed, and his expression keen, restless, and eternally strained.

"Probably the greatest alteration will take place in his eyes. They may become beady and birdlike, with the power to gaze not only before him, but horizontally outward without movement of the head like a bird.

"Of course, this type of bird-man will take many generations to develop."

DROP IN RATS.
Washington, Dec. 1.—Rats, puffs, switches, and other such prevalent devices to reinforce nature may become so cheap as to cease to be a distinction.

guishing mark of the up-to-date woman." This is the comment made by United States Consul E. Carleton Baker at Antung, China, on the fact that 200,000 Koreans "have amputated their topknots since the annexation of Korea by Japan."

In consequence of this increased supply of human hair the price has fallen considerably.

Modern fashions' impetus to the false hair business is also remarked upon by Vice-Consul D. P. De Young at Amsterdam, Holland, who writes that an order for hair in that city is as promptly and accurately filled as an order for groceries or drygoods.

FASHIONS

A touch of purple in the apparel is a fad of the season.

Chiffons in yellow tones—changing from the deepest gold to faintest buttercup yellow—are extremely pretty.

There is a continued favor of the kimono sleeve—not only on corsage, but on quite a number of the new jackets.

Pretty frocks are of nets and marquisettes, stencilled in a simple design in soft colors, and the design outlined in beads.

Plain white net, pin-dotted net, flax lace and Venetian lace are popular for the round or square yoke and high collar.

Fringe wrought of fur and heavy cord is a finish for fur wraps, muffs and neck-pieces.

Corded silks, moires and satins are the leaders among the materials for tailored costumes.

The high girle now in fashion must have the appearance of swathing the waist loosely.

Old fashions of multi-colored embroidery and conspicuous notes of the new embroidery.

All street skirts are at least four inches from the ground.

THE DAUGHTER OF A PRODIGAL

By Bertha M. Clay, Author of "The Ironmaster's Daughter," Etc.

For a full minute Tredcroft stood as still and silent as a man of stone, save for the burning, triumphant eyes that shone from his forehead, untroubled self again, and spoke almost softly.

"You may go, Tacey," Julian Tredcroft said to the maid. "He is my mother's son. You are the daughter of a prodigal."

JELLY ROLL.—One cup of white sugar, one cup of flour, one teaspoon of baking powder, one tablespoon of cold water, one teaspoon of lemon juice, put in roasting pan lined with buttered paper, and bake.

As soon as it is done turn upside down on a clean cloth, peel off the paper, cover with jelly and roll quickly, immediately rolling in the cloth. Lay on a pillow until cool.

Cleaning With Milk.

It seems cruel irony to clean house with milk when it is so high even for those who wish to drink it; but sour and skim milk and buttermilk are just as good for this purpose, so it is not so expensive as it sounds.

Buttermilk is the best possible thing to clean linoleum and waxed wood with. It is used with a soft cloth, and watch the dirt taken off by the application. About once a week is often enough for the cleaning.

Either skin or sour milk will make rubber plants grow. Wash the leaves with a soft cloth in milk and water, sponge each off carefully inside and out, and pouring the remainder of your basin into the ground of the tub. The plant grows and thrives on it.

Milk, well rubbed into the wood, makes a good furniture polish also, keeping the shiny surface in good order. You do not need frequent treatments—at house-cleaning time is often enough.

There are three ways at least, of using the left-over and spoiled contents of the milk pail.

Women and Wireless.

The first woman to enter the field of wireless telegraphy is Miss G. Parker, of Jacksonville, U. S.

She has been in charge of a telegraph office for some two years, and on Tuesday last entered her new duties as wireless operator on the steamer Mohawk, upon its regular trip from New York harbor.

Miss Parker is very enthusiastic over her new work, but feels the responsibility of her position very keenly. She is confident, however, that her own accident she will be able to "stick to her post" to the very last.

This is another example of a woman "making good" in places formerly occupied by men alone.

"So you have actually engaged some person to hang about my skirts without consulting me in the matter?" she cried, facing her son. Then she turned the full battery of her glances upon Miss Hope, and surveyed her with suspicion and scorn.

"You may go, Tacey," Julian Tredcroft said to the maid. "He is my mother's son. You are the daughter of a prodigal."

Her Face and Body Were

Litterly Covered With

"BOILS."

Burdock Blood Bitters

Cured Them.

Mrs. John H. King, Johnston, N.B., writes:—"Last summer I was very much troubled with boils, and my face and body were literally covered with them. A friend advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. I got three bottles, and before I had taken all the first one my boils began to go away. I had just taken a few doses out of the last one when they all disappeared. My husband has also used Burdock Blood Bitters with much benefit."

Boils in themselves are not a dangerous trouble, but still, at the same time, are very painful. They are caused entirely by bad blood, and to get rid of them it is necessary to put the blood in good condition, and for this purpose there is nothing to equal that old and tried remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

laid a caressing hand upon his mother's shoulder.

"I have explained to Miss Hope how I came to take the name of my uncle."

"Lie—all lies. My son never had your smooth features. Don't you listen to his plausible tongue, Miss Hope."

"Silence," Tredcroft commanded sternly, "or I may forget my duty toward you. Your face was not good to look upon, and his mother shrank from before the baleful glare in his eyes like a frightened child."

"Take me away—this man is terrible. He reminds me of a great cat—purring one moment, and snarling the next."

Julian Tredcroft burst out laughing. "Silly old mother!" he said. "Here is my car at the door. I have a busy day in front of me, and shall not be back until five or six o'clock." He spoke in an undertone to Miss Hope. "You see what my burden is, and with all my other worries, can you wonder that I get irritable?"

My poor mother will weary of your attentions in an hour or so, and go back to her room. The day is then your own to reflect upon one or two matters."

He smiled meaningfully, lightly kissed his mother upon the cheek, and was gone. (To be Continued.)

Useful Hints For Housewives

Keep tacks in bottles. It saves opening many boxes to find a particular kind.

When cleaning house use plenty of turpentine in the scrub water. It means extra death to moths.

Left-over cereals need not be wasted. They are excellent for fried mush and eaten with syrup or honey.

Vegetables, like beans and green corn, that contain sugar do not keep well, and that should be eaten as soon as possible after they are picked.

Ammonia should not be used in the evening or near a fire, nor should the arms and hands be kept near it. It is inflammable, and its fumes are not specially healthful.

If you are doubtful about your cream keeping sweet, heat it to almost boiling, put in tightly-corked glass bottles and set on the ice to cool. In this way it will not sour nearly so soon.

Never put hot water on japanned trays, or their surface will crack and peel off. The right plan is to wash them with a turpentine solution, and dry with a cloth and polish with a little dry flour.

Save nut shells in an old paper bag until some time when you want something to burn very quickly in the oven. Then throw them on the fire and get the full benefit of the quick, intense heat.

If your furniture has grown dull and streaked, rub it with a flannel dipped in equal parts of turpentine and coal oil. It polishes quickly and much more cheaply than expensive polishes.

The dishwasher who would get through quickly invests in a soap shaker and a chain for hanging up the dishes. She also has on hand over the sink a box of borax and a bottle of ammonia for cutting grease.

Iron holders made from a piece of asbestos, the desired size and covered with brass, or heavy leaded muslin are light and keep out heat. There should be spring or loop sewed to one corner to hang the holder.

"Red" meats are less liable to contamination than chicken. The latter should not be eaten if there is the least suspicion of odor about them. Beef slightly tainted with rancidity, when not produced from diseased animals, will not produce ptomaine poisoning.

A loaf of bread will keep fresh much longer if packed in a covered stone crock. Wrap in a large cloth to exclude air, keep the crock in a cool place. It is nicer in tin vessel and much better than keeping the bread in the refrigerator.

subject of special interest at this juncture, when the British elections are in progress. Says the Detroit Free Press: "Talented, beautiful and womanly, this fair daughter of Great Britain made a deep impression on the minds of the men, women and children who heard her speak tonight."

The Toronto World says: "As a speaker Mrs. Snowden probably has no equal among women. She possesses in an extraordinary degree the gift of genuine oratory. No one who has heard her will ever forget the rich, round tones of her voice. Listening to the words as the volume swells and Jessie MacLachlan Tonight.

Miss Jessie MacLachlan, the Scottish prima donna, is always sure of a warm welcome to London. The appearance of the Jessie MacLachlan Company at the Grand Opera House tonight should attract a full house.

The programme will be one of the best ever presented here, and popular prices will prevail. Additional interest centres in the MacLachlan Company this season from the fact that Mr. Craighall Sherry, an entertainer from Scotland, is a very popular member of the company.

"The Little Damsel" Tomorrow.

Cyril Leighton, the young leading man who will be seen at the Grand tomorrow, Saturday, matinee and evening, in the leading male character of "The Little Damsel," is an Australian by birth, but the most of his histrionic successes have been won in London.

In the Antiques he rose to the distinction of being a star, but becoming dissatisfied, went to England, where he quickly achieved a commanding position among the younger school. Successively he has played leading parts in the companies of practically all the great stars of the British stage.

Grace Van Studdford.

It is predicted that there will be no mistaking the genuineness of the warmth in the reception that will be accorded Miss Grace Van Studdford, the London favorite, when she appears at the head of the Grace Van Studdford Opera Company at the Grand on Monday evening in the Parisian comic opera, "A Bridal Trip." This splendid exponent of the best traditions in the American light opera field is doing more than yeoman's service in bringing back to the right musical channels the taste of the public which has been perverted too long.

Miss Van Studdford is appearing at the Royal Alexandra, Toronto, this week, and exceedingly favorable criticisms are given by the Toronto papers.

10 MILLIONS FOR WEST IN 10 YEARS

American, After Going Over the Ground, Makes Great Prophecies.

IT WILL GROW RAPIDLY

In Few Years Will Be World's Chief Food Source—Population Is Following Railroads.

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—A special correspondent of the New York Commercial, who has been going through the Canadian West, makes the following interesting prophecies regarding the future of this country:

Before 1920 the four provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia will have a population of at least 10,000,000. Having personally visited these most important districts of these provinces and carefully studied the changes and developments that are in progress, I make this prediction boldly. It is not a vagary of an optimist, but is based upon astonishing facts that confront the investigator wherever he turns. It is impossible to consider the everyday occurrences in this region without reaching the conclusion, logical and practically, that this prediction is entirely within the range of attainment.

What are some of the facts that justify this prophecy? Upon the present time one railroad, the Canadian Pacific, between the Great Lakes and the Pacific coast, has been the sole dependence of Western Canada in bringing in and locating the settlers, moving the crops and supplying the business needs. How well that railroad has performed its service as a courier of progress is shown by its matchless record and the almost unparalleled growth that has followed its course: in 1901 Manitoba had a population of 255,211 and in 1909, 466,263—at this same rate and without any additional facilities it would have more than 1,500,000 in 1920—Winnipeg will have nearly half that number; in 1901 Saskatchewan had a population of 200,000 and in 1909, 241,521—the same measure of growth without any added stimulus would give it more than 1,000,000 in 1920; in 1901 Alberta had a population of 150,000, and in 1909, 300,000—the same multiplication would make nearly a million in 1920; in 1909 British Columbia had a population of 235,000—without a single fresh advantage this would exceed 1,000,000 before 1920—Vancouver will have half that number. But, mind you, the means and influences of growth that have produced these figures were primitive and abortive compared to those at work today, and that will increase the growth a hundred fold in the next decade.

Population Follows Railroads.
The present population has followed the operations of one transcontinental railroad; it carried the farmers out to the plains and into the valleys and showed them the way to independence and prosperity; it staked out the townships that are now the bustling cities; it showed the settlers how to farm successfully on the dry prairies, it gave them irrigation in some districts and all with such effect that in 1901 the average value of farm crops in Western Canada was $10.33 per acre as against $9.41 in the United States.

In less than five years from now there will be two additional railroads spanning the continent across Canada to share the burdens and the responsibilities of development with the Canadian Pacific. The completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific will be followed in the first year by the distribution of a million settlers along the line from Winnipeg to Prince Rupert and two years of operation will see three millions more located and prospering on its main line and branches. Proportionately similar results will follow the completion of the Canadian Northern and the trunk line to Hudson Bay will create a channel of prodigious traffic and from Europe by a new, shorter and reliable route. The Hudson Bay Railroad will also open an immense fertile region in Greater Manitoba and adjoining, that will some day be populated by hundreds of thousands of hardy settlers and contribute an enormous additional sum to commerce every year. North and south railroads will in less than five years traverse the western provinces adding greatly to population and production. The Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul will soon be up to Winnipeg and all have ambitious plans to extend their lines from this point. These same railroads are planning to cross the international border and enter Saskatchewan and Alberta at desirable points. On the west the Southern Pacific, Hill and

HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE.

COULD NOT CROSS THE FLOOR PAIN WAS SO GREAT.

Miss Hazel Hess, Winchester Springs, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad, at times, I could not cross the floor for the pain. The doctor could not do me any good and a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought six boxes and now I have been cured for over four years. I will recommend them to every sufferer."

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a purely vegetable medicine, realising quick, permanent relief, without any after ill effects. A medicine that will absolutely cure backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

Harriman systems are working their way into Vancouver, British Columbia, and will permeate the rich mining, timber and fruit districts.

To Extend Hill Roads.
I have reliable information that instead of disposing of any of his lines in Western Canada, as has been rumored, James J. Hill will extend them into Northern Manitoba and into Saskatchewan and Alberta. Soon we will see also the materialization of his proposed Canadian line from British Columbia to Winnipeg. Mr. Hill recognizes the importance of the Hudson Bay route to Europe and he will lose no time in effecting a connection with the Government line from the Saskatchewan River to the Hudson Bay.

The Canadian transcontinental railroads have arranged to expend immediately in the western provinces $500,000,000 and this is a demonstration of faith in the future that puts to rest all questions of doubt as to the rapid progress to be made upon the land, in the factories and works, in trade and commerce and transportation, for these railroads are the most conservatively managed of any in America. The fact that the astonishingly large net earnings of the Canadian Pacific the previous year, approximately $34,000,000, were increased by over $11,000,000 in the last fiscal year is some evidence of the railroad energy of the Canadian West, as it was largely the overland traffic that produced this result.

The income of the Canadian West for 1909 was $20,000,000. This year it exceeds this amount by $100,000,000. The building operations of twelve prairie cities in the past three years have exceeded $50,000,000. During 1909 there was laid in Western Canada by the three railroads a mileage of 1,057 miles, representing an expenditure of $80,000,000. There are now 11,472 miles of railroad in the four provinces.

Granary of the Empire.
Twenty-five years ago Milwaukee was the leading wheat market of the world; then, as the grain areas extended farther west and north, Minneapolis took the lead, and in the present year, owing to the marvellous advancement of wheat growing in the prairie provinces, Winnipeg wrested the pennant from her Minnesota rival, and will hold it for a long time. The figures for the past year are Winnipeg $3,269,330 bushels, Minneapolis $1,111,419 bushels and Winnipeg made a startling increase in the year of 50 per cent, and now exceeds Minneapolis by over 7,000,000 bushels.

The grain crop recently harvested after a season of drought that induced the pessimists to predict less than half a crop, yielded over 200,000,000 bushels in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and gave the farmers $165,000,000 in cash. The rush of farmers from over the border and from European countries continues, and 21,000,000 additional acres of fertile land have just been opened to settlers in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. In the next five years 100,000,000 more acres will be available for newcomers. Hon. Sydney Fisher, minister of agriculture, says that in another ten years the four provinces of Canada west will produce 1,000,000,000 bushels of wheat annually or one and a half times more than the whole United States produced in 1909. This is the prediction of a man who knows, and another 1,000,000,000 bushels may be added for oats, barley, flax and maize. The grain area of the prairie province is greater than the seven states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, the two Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

Agricultural Returns.
Out of about seven hundred thousand returns to the Alberta department of agriculture for the season just closed, 55 reported yields of spring and winter wheat of over 40 bushels to the acre, fourteen of over 50 bushels, and six of over 60 bushels. For oats the reports ranged from 30 to 90 bushels. In Alberta last year 20,000 acres of land were settled upon every day; one new school was opened every school day; and every week two new towns were located, and four miles of new railroads were built.

The difference between Canada and the United States in the matter of grain production is this: while the available areas are about all occupied and production has practically reached the maximum in the States, Canada, with 50 per cent greater productive capacity, will be a long way off from her maximum yield in 20 years to come. And it is largely a question of land conditions. Take a map of the United States west of the Missouri River and draw a line from the northern centre of Oregon to the southeastern boundary of Texas; draw another line from the first point to the southwestern boundary of California and you will find in the triangle that on the Southern Pacific Railroad there are over 1,500 miles of land laid out in the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe there are 1,000 miles, on the Union Pacific 600 miles, on the Northern Pacific 500 miles, on the Great Northern 300 miles, and by the time you reach the Canadian border there is practically no bad land at all, and where the prairies in Canada are treeless and dry, with a few scattered trees, they produce like a Belgian truck garden. The long sunlight of the far north grows wheat that makes whiter flour and better bread than any other wheat in the world.

World's Chief Food Source.
Canada's wheat-growing belt is four times greater than that of the United States and only five per cent of Canada's western agricultural area is under cultivation. There are 171,000,000 acres of wheat lands which will make these western provinces richer, more populous, more dependable for food supplies than the Western States can ever become. The centre of food supremacy will change to Canada, and 25 years more will give this country 10,000,000 people west of Ontario.

Canada west of the Great Lakes is today in the position of the United States, west of the Missouri River in 1850 and the growth here will be greater in the next ten years than it was there between that date and 1890, in which decade the population of the Western States and the then territories increased about 11,000,000. The same conditions exist here now in greater ratio, precisely the same forces are at work on a larger scale and history will repeat itself. Alberta will supply more coal than there is in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wyoming and Colorado; the vast interests of mines and mining throughout the Western States will be repeated in British Columbia and Alberta; the timber interests of Oregon and Washington will be surpassed; Colorado and Washington will lose their prestige in the production of apples and hardy fruits; the greatest fisheries in the world will be here; Manitoba and Saskatchewan will produce vegetables enough to feed half the people of the continent. In 10 years Saskatchewan will produce more wheat than the entire United States.

Superior Wheat Grown.
Quite recently the department of trade and commerce at Ottawa received a report from Manchester that during the past three years the export of flour from the United States to Great Britain has decreased by 120 per cent, while the export from Canada has, during the same period increased 100 per cent. This is a result of Canada's growing harder wheat that weighs much heavier to the bushel than that grown in the States and to the low rates of milling in transit given by the Canadian railroads that take the grain from the farm and deliver straight through in flour at the seaboard. Better wheat and cheaper rates are producing immense flour mills all over Western Canada and making it

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes in pure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this. At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy." Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

difficult if not impossible for the American mills to compete for the export trade.

British Columbia contributed 69 per cent of Canada's total mineral production in 1909, including gold, copper, coal, silver and lead. Its total mineral production was $365,000,000. Alberta produced more than 2,000,000 tons of coal in 1909 and its coal fields are apparently as exhaustless as those of Pennsylvania. Alberta has 500 miles of irrigation canals, and 5,000,000 acres of ranching lands on which are now 250,000 horses and more than 1,000,000 cattle. But why multiply facts that are of endless variety and of staggering significance? Canada west is a domain with a limited past, but a radiant and immeasurable future. There is land and wealth enough here to feed every mouth in Europe. With so much in its favor it cannot be kept back, and my prediction of 10,000,000 population for the favored western provinces in 1920 is just as safe to wager on, or invest in as the value of consols or United States bonds the same year.

MACE NEVER DREW BIG PURSE IN BOAT

Famous English Heavyweight Fought First Battles For $50 to $100.

BATTLED IN CANADA

Struggle With Coburn for $2,000 Purse—Ended in Unsatisfactory Draw—His Record.

Jem Mace, former champion heavyweight of England, who died Wednesday in 1921 at Swaffham, near Norwich, Eng., in a fight with a man named King, was born in 1821 at Swaffham, near Norwich, Eng. He stood 5 feet 9 inches tall, and in his first ring battle took place in 1850, when he defeated Jack Slack, of Norwich, in nine rounds for a $50 purse. At that time Mace attracted attention in England by defeating with bare knuckles a man named King, who was born in 1821 at Swaffham, near Norwich, Eng. Mace was stopped by Bob Brettell, of Birmingham, after three hours and two minutes of fighting. This affair took place in 1853, but it did not discourage Mace, who soon got another match with Brettell and beat him in eleven rounds. On June 19, 1856, Mace fought Sam Hurst, holder of the English champion belt, and though the latter was 6 feet 2 inches tall, he was knocked out in eight rounds, lasting forty minutes.

Beat King in 43 Rounds. Tom King challenged Mace then, and they came together on January 28, 1862. The battle consumed 144 rounds and 8 minutes, and Mace won in the forty-third round. King was not satisfied with the result of this encounter and sought another match. Mace agreed, and they clashed at Thames Haven for $200 a side only the following November. For sixteen rounds Mace had the better of the argument, but in the eighteenth round King landed a terrific cross counter on Mace's jaw and sent him in a helpless condition to the turf. After two more rounds had been fought Mace's seconds threw up the sponge and King was hailed as England's champion.

Mace challenged King to another battle, but the latter refused and forfeited his title. It was in 1863 that Mace defeated Joe Goss in nineteen rounds, consuming 1 hour and 53 minutes. The next year Mace fought a battle with Coburn to fight in Ireland for $500 a side, but as they could not agree on a referee the stakes were raised to $1,000 a side. Mace, because of an injured arm, forfeited to Mace, who then met Goss for the second time. The fight took place on Aug. 6, 1865, and the men stood 65 minutes—one round—and the men stood 65 minutes when it was over. They were matched to battle in a summer ring for $1,000 a side, and the fight took place on Aug. 6, 1865. It took 31 minutes for Mace to win in twenty-one rounds.

Arrested Before Bout. Ned O'Neil, a big Irishman, challenged Mace for the title, and they were matched to fight in Oct. 15, 1867, for $1,000 a side. The authorities, however, interfered by arresting Mace the night before and the latter, finding that English law was dead in England, sailed for America in 1868. Mace toured the leading American cities and gave exhibitions with John C. Heenan, after which he decided to resume fighting and met Tom Allen at New Orleans, June 19, 1870. They fought for $5,000, and after forty-five minutes Mace threw Allen heavily, dislocating the latter's shoulder. Mace was easily the master and his display of science was a sensation.

Went to Australia in 1872, where he discovered Herbert Slade, the Maori, and brought him to this country in 1882 at the instance of Richard K. Mitchell, who wanted to find a suitable opponent for John L. Sullivan. The proposed Mace-Sullivan match did not materialize, but Sullivan took on Slade and beat him in Madison Square Gardens, New York. Drifting out of America, Mace visited South Africa and other countries before settling down at his home near London. But he kept on boxing as a form of healthful exercise and appeared in numerous exhibitions. He secured engagements at some of the London concert halls, where he played the violin, his pet instrument. Mace at one time was said to be worth nearly $100,000, but he lost practically all of his fortune, and in more recent years was cared for by friends, including Charles Mitchell.

NEW YORKERS PICK PAT POWERS FOR PRESIDENT

Declare That League Backers Know Present Boss's Worth, and Will Re-elect Him.

New York, Dec. 2.—When the Eastern League convenes here a week from next Monday it will be quickly learned what the reported opposition to the re-election of President P. T. Powers amounts to. Under the surface there are rumors that some of the club owners favor either Edward Barrow, of Toronto, or Joseph M. Cummings, of Baltimore, for the presidency. Powers refused to discuss the situation yesterday, but his friends said that he was allowing these reports to worry him. Powers has been associated with the Eastern League's fortunes for more than twenty years. If he could be induced to delve into his private accounts, it is said, he could show that he has spent much more on his annual salary to keep the league above water. The Eastern League has always been a project that Powers has never neglected. His loyalty to it is a matter of baseball history. Under his leadership, the Eastern League has gradually developed from a rickety organization into the most powerful minor circuit in the country. In fact it has rapidly increased in strength until now it possesses major league quality, entitled to more consideration from the majors than ever before. Results count in baseball as much as in any other business venture, and as Powers has helped to achieve them baseball men say they do not believe when the showdown comes he will be forced to resign from office.

HIGHLANDERS TO HAVE NEW PARK

President Farrell on Return From Hot Springs, Will Have Work Commenced.

New York, Dec. 2.—When President Frank J. Farrell, of the Highlanders, returns from Hot Springs, Va., in about two weeks, he will approve the architects' plans and award the contracts for building the new $500,000 stadium at Kingsbridge. It was originally Mr. Farrell's idea to open the new park in time to begin next season's campaign in April, but there has been some hitch over the transfer of the property, it is said, which has caused a delay in beginning work. Fourth, therefore, has been practically fixed for the opening and dedication of the New York American League Club's magnificent arena, which when completed will have a large playing surface than the Polo grounds, and seats for more than 40,000 spectators.

BURKE WILL MEET MANTELL TONIGHT

Sailor Says He Will Disprove Charges of Quitting in Bout.

New York, Dec. 2.—Sailor Burke, who has been accused of quitting in some of his battles, says he will disprove these charges when he meets Frank Mantell, of the Rhode Island midweight, in a ten-round bout at the National Sporting Club of America tonight. Mantell is a game fellow who knows how to box and hit hard. He aspires to be middleweight champion some day and has been steadily fighting his way to the top. Burke is under the management of Tom O'Rourke and has shown some improvement under the latter's mentorship.

WEST ISSUES CHALLENGE TO BOWLERS OF OTTAWA

Londoner Did Not Hear From Team in That City So He Will Try It Alone.

At the same time West issued a defi to any man in Ottawa for a home and home series, but he is under the management of Archibald and Foley in particular. McKay stands high in the five-pin series on the National tour this far this season, his score being 484. White leads in the ten-pin series, with 593.

BIG LEAGUE HEADS FRAME SCHEDULES

Johnson and Lynch to Arrange Dates For 1911 in American and National.

BARS DOWN FOR CHAMPS

Officials to Prohibit the World's Series Victors From Barnstorming.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Harmony will rule at the forthcoming schedule of the two major ball circuits, according to President B. B. Johnson of the American League. No more of the verbal clashes among magnates over the number of games to prevail. As in the past there will be 154 battles in the American League and from present indications the same number will be selected by the National owners and the schedule will be outlined by President Johnson and Lynch, just by way of setting a precedent for the years to come. "The American League session will be called at the Hotel Wolcott, New York, Dec. 14," said President Johnson yesterday. "I have just received the call issued by President Lynch of the National for the meeting of the latter organization to be held Dec. 15 at the Brossin, New York. There isn't going to be any strife at our meeting."

To Elect Four Directors. "Save for the election of four directors—two from the eastern clubs and two from the west there won't be a great deal of business to occupy the attention of our officials. During the course of the two league sessions I hope to confer with Mr. Lynch relative to the arrangement of playing dates for 1911. Then, at a later meeting, the schedules will be drafted and acted upon."

In addition to the schedule matter, Mr. Lynch and I will urge the passage of a new rule prohibiting the world's champions of any year to participate in barnstorming games following the close of the season. To have a band of champions troop off to other countries, out of condition, and play with opposing teams in the highest stage of perfect condition, and perchance suffer defeats cheaply. These exhibitions trips will have to stop."

President Johnson is gradually rounding into form for the big seasons by working daily at a downtown physical culture school, and hopes to make regulation fighting weight before departing Dec. 11 for the east. He will probably be accompanied by President Comiskey of the White Sox.

COAST FANS ARE WRATHY OVER NELSON'S KNOCKOUT

Declare That Referee Selig Should Have Stopped Bout When Bat Became Helpless.

The fact that Referee Selig permitted Moran to beat Nelson by a deliberate knockout has caused much adverse criticism on the coast. In the eyes of the critics of ringside spectators and Moran himself, Selig refused to stop last week's fight when Nelson was in a helpless condition. Selig, it is maintained, could have intervened before Moran delivered the knockout blow without depriving the Englishman of his well-earned victory, and at the same time have made the charge of brutality impossible. Knockouts sometimes come so suddenly that they cannot be prevented, but when a man is helpless and unable to defend himself it is the duty of well-balanced referees to prevent needless punishment.

AN OTTAWA RIVAL FOR H. GRIFFITHS

Ottawa Paper Tells of the Grand Work of Father Stanton in 1908.

WITH OTTAWA PAPER

Players Met With Many Accidents, But Only Lost One Game That Season.

Ottawa Journal: Varsity's wonderful succession of victories, together with the praise that has been sung on the abilities of the team, and also the marvelous brain of Coach Griffiths, only serves to remind one of the fact that open work in Canadian Rugby and the introduction of trick plays into the intercollegiate.

When College decided to dispose of her age-veterans of the Quebec Rugby Football Union along about 1905, the university entered the intercollegiate football union, the intention of the faculty being to give their resident students a better chance to make the varsity fourteen.

The first year College made a poor showing, and with many criticisms of his youthful team ringing in his ears, Rev. Father Stanton went through the Ottawa Varsity about 1906, the year in which the Ottawa Varsity was developed, and a protégé of the present Father Stanton, who took hold of the game and gave it a new lease of life, and turned out one of the finest teams that has ever graced the intercollegiate.

John L. Dodge, of Middletown, N. Y., who has been at Lexington, Ky., since the opening of the fall trotting meeting there, left for Macon, Ga., Nov. 23, and his horses were shipped to that point a few days later.

THE BANTAMWEIGHT TITLE. When Monte Attell recently outpointed Jimmy Walsh, recognized bantam champion, at Kansas City, he proceeded to lay claim to the title because he weighed 116 pounds several hours before the bout. But there was no basis for the claim, as Walsh, who refused to get on the scales, carried more than 120 pounds. Walsh, however, is unable to reduce to 116 pounds any more and is forced to relinquish his title.

Attell was knocked out by Danny Webster on the coast a year ago and Webster later succumbed to Frankie Conley.

WATCHING AUTO SPEEDING. In Michigan the secretary of state has evolved an idea for stopping speeding automobiles. He has sent out blanks to all townships and cities with a request for the names and addresses and other data about all persons who have been arrested for speeding in the last year. It is the intention to make a black list of this and have a copy sent out to all authorities, so if a person is arrested for speeding it will be possible to find out at once if he has been arrested before for that offence. In this way the judges will know what fines to inflict, taking in consideration the record of the person arrested.

If a man pays a dollar on an account of two hundred he thinks his creditor is a greedy hog not to mark it all off.

WOLGAST PICKS BROWN AS HIS NEXT OPPONENT

"KNOCKOUT" BROWN.

Although Lightweight Champion Wolgast says he will not fight Owen Moran until next May, if then, he has expressed a willingness to meet K. O. Brown in a ten-round bout at Milwaukee some time in January. Wolgast declares that he will have recovered the use of the arm which he said he broke recently by that time, and will take Brown on as an "exercise gallop." Abe Attell, by the way, says Moran can beat Wolgast and easily presses the opinion that the latter will avoid the Englishman as long as possible. "Moran and I are enemies," says Attell, "but I am willing to admit he is a first-class pugilist. He is too clever and can hit too hard for Wolgast, who is a poor apology for a champion."

MORAN SAYS IT PAYS TO BE A SUCCESSFUL "PUG"

Englishman Has a Contract for $1,000 a Week For Ten Weeks in Burlesque Company.

New York American: Does it pay to be a successful boxer? That's what you individual idea of what the word means. Owen Moran has been signed by a burlesque company for ten weeks at a salary of $1,000 per week, since beating Nelson in San Francisco. Jimmy Johnson conducted the negotiations at this end, acting under advice from Manager Charlie Harvey, who is speeding east with the little Britisher. A thousand dollars a week sounds like a lot of money—and it is. That's what Johnson thought when he gave his terms to the first applicant, Sam Scribner. His idea on the subject got serious consideration in the showman's reply: "Are you crazy? I asked his terms by the week, not for a year."

But the bidding soon grew brisk, and Moran gets the amount asked for. A tidy sum, $10,000, for boxing a few rounds with big gloves twice a day for ten weeks.

COFFROTH OFFERS BIG PURSE FOR GO

Puts Up $15,000 for Wolgast-Moran Mill.

New York, Dec. 1.—Jimmy Coffroth, the California fight promoter, who staged the Nelson-Moran contest in San Francisco, has just announced that he will give a purse of $15,000 for Ad Wolgast and Moran to battle in a 20-round bout for the lightweight championship of the world, at any date which is suitable to Wolgast. Charley Harvey, manager of Moran, has already accepted the offer, and has also informed Coffroth to try his utmost to induce Wolgast to agree to the match.

"If there is one fighter that is more 'beat,' said Harvey, 'it is Wolgast. Moran fought him in New York and bested him, and he will surely do the trick again.'"

TWELVE-ROUND BOUT HAS BEEN POSTPONED

New York, Dec. 1.—The twelve-round battle between Sam Langford and Jeannette has been postponed by a week from tonight to give Jeannette more time to recover from an injured hand.

JAKE STAHL MAY BE TRADED TO CHICAGO

Taylor Believes He Would Play if Given Job With White Sox.

Boston, Dec. 1.—Jake Stahl may be traded to the White Sox. Owner Taylor believes Stahl, who says he has given up baseball to work in a Chicago bank, in which he is interested, would play for his home city. Boston will ask for a pitcher or two if Stahl will play with the White Sox. The Red Sox players are slow to sign. The players under contract are Wagner, Purtell, Speaker, Hooper, Lewis, Hunt and Hall.

PETROLEA'S COACH. Percy Kilaly, one of the cleverest young coaches in Canada, is out with Petrolea, helping them get into shape to wallop Hamilton Alerts.

Farewell Ode to Football

Kick 'em, bite 'em, hiss! boom! bah! Send the doctor bill to pa. 'Leven, forty, eighty-two. Look out, Bill, he's coming through.

Bust his ribs and break his neck; Gee, kid, I'm a lovely wreck; Blow the whistle, call the doc. The quarterback has lost his sock.

Buck the tackle; five to gain; Gosh! my collarbone does pain; Fourteen, ninety, twenty-four. Kick 'em in the nose once more.

Honest, Buck, now ain't this great? Caved his elms with all your weight. Kick 'em, bite 'em, hiss! boom! bah! Ship my coffin back to me. —Rocky Mountain News.

Practical Demonstration

"Presto"—you have heard of it. The new convertible collar that can be changed from "fair and warm weather" conditions to meet "cold and stormy weather" almost as quickly as you can say it. Do you want to see it in use? Grafton & Co., the well-known manufacturers of high grade, union-made clothing, will have a demonstration in their window tonight. They have brought him from New York because that is the home of "Presto" collars. See him and be convinced of "Presto's" usefulness, in Grafton's window at 158 Dundas street.

WIRELESS MESSAGES FOR AEROPLANES

Mr. Marconi Now Working On a New and Great Problem.

London, Dec. 2.—Mr. Marconi is interesting himself in aviation, and he is endeavoring to solve two problems: the construction of an aeroplane which will rise directly from any spot and the adaptation of wireless telegraphy to flying machines.

Mr. Marconi explained his plans in detail, emphasizing the value of the adaptation of wireless to the aeroplane in peace and war alike, and intimating that he will very possibly fly machines himself in connection with his new experiments.

"I am now working on an aeroplane for a syndicate in which I am interested," he said. "Important experiments have been made already with the machine, which at present is housed near London.

"It is a monoplane and in general design does not differ materially from existing types. When completed, however, it will combine what we consider to be the best points of all the present makes, in addition to several new features.

"Not the least of these, I hope, will be one whereby the machine will be able to rise from any position. In this connection I can only say that we are making an interesting series of experiments with propellers, and other parts designed to give a sharp upward thrust or lift, and that I am very hopeful of the result.

"The installation of an effective wireless apparatus does not prevent any very grave difficulties with the right type of machine.

In existing types of aeroplanes the whole of the pilot's attention has to be concentrated on the machine itself. Unless and until this is adjusted it will be necessary to carry an additional passenger to operate the wireless instruments installed on any machine.

Mr. Marconi drew a striking picture of the value of the aeroplane equipped with wireless in time of war, especially for reconnaissance work.

"Imagine," he said, "the pilot poised in his machine in view of the enemy's position.

"The pilot would be enabled to transmit his observations immediately to headquarters, but without leaving his post.

"In fact, I am confident that the value of the aeroplane in war for the work mentioned would be at least equalled by the use of wireless apparatus. It would be difficult indeed, to overstate its advantages.

A New Problem.
It was suggested to Mr. Marconi that wireless might be so adapted to the aeroplane that pilots would be able to learn, even automatically, of the presence of other pilots in the vicinity, and also of the exact position of the other pilots, thereby minimizing the dangers of collision between machines.

There is very likely something in the suggestion, said Mr. Marconi. "But the adaptation of wireless to the aeroplane is fraught with a host of interesting possibilities."

Mr. Marconi has the true scientist's disdain for danger, if necessary, to his work.

"Provided I can evolve a suitable machine," he said, "provided also that time permits, I shall not hesitate to take to the air myself. I consider that the toll the air has already taken merely emphasizes the need for taking every possible precaution against accidents."

My future action will depend, however, on the result of experiments that are either impending or are being made already."

As he stood on the stage, transmitting with every fibre of his being, power to an aeroplane by wireless, but at present he has no reason to believe that the idea is practicable.

WILL PROBE BILLS

Expenditures at Ottawa During Gouldthrite Regime To Be Investigated.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—That it is the intention of the Opposition to probe fully into the conditions which prevail at the printing bureau before Mr. Murphy undertook his investigation was made plain at the organization meeting of the public accounts committee yesterday.

After Mr. A. B. Warburton (Prince Edward Island) had been re-elected chairman, the proceedings, through Dr. J. D. Reed, but in thirty-six motions for papers and figures. Among them were the following payments in connection with the Gouldthrite regime: Brown Bros., Toronto, $15,818.06; Bowyer, Toronto, $27,629; M. G. Bristow, Ottawa, $14,982; Barber & Ellis, Toronto, $7,289; the Beauchemin Librairie, Montreal, 7,656.

More Information Sought.
Among other subjects as to which details are desired are payments in connection with the Clemon and Seybold blocks in this city of $155,440 in connection with the purchase of the ice-breaking steamer Earl Grey, and $89,018 in connection with the House of Commons, which will bring under review all the disbursements in connection with that chamber, including the Sacred Heart bazar purchases and other incidents. The old friend, the Richbuckto wharf, also bulked large, and there is every indication that there will be the usual probing into the dredging operations of the public works department.

Chairmen Re-Elected.
All the chairmen of the Commons committees were re-elected as follows: Railways, canals and telegraphs, Hugh Guthrie; banking and commerce, H. H. Miller; public accounts, A. B. Warburton; marine and fisheries, J. H. Bennett; agriculture, J. H. Bennett; German; private bills, G. A. C. Ethier; standing orders, G. E. McCarty; debates, Honore Gervais; mines and minerals, J. H. Bennett; agriculture and colonization, M. R. Schell; forests, waterways and water powers, Hon. Clifford Sifton.

TERRIBLY BURNED.
Smith's Falls, Dec. 1.—Doris Sloan, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. Thos. Sloan, of the Arlington Hotel, reached up to a shelf in a room at her home for a bottle which she thought contained perfume. It contained carbolic acid instead, and in taking down the bottle it was overturned, the contents falling over her face, burning it terribly. Some of it went into her eyes, and it is thought her sight will be permanently injured.

NAVIGATION CLOSED
Both Montreal and Lake Ports Shut for the Winter.

As the gas buoys have been taken down for the winter, the Government steamer Lady Grey will convey the Boru some distance down the river. The winter has been so open so far that some of the local ferry and river market boats are still running.

Lake Traffic.
Toronto, Dec. 1.—At midnight last night the navigation season of 1910 came to an official close; the big, slow-moving freighters are making their last trips up and down the lakes, and vessels are now busy figuring out whether the season's business should cause them to look pleased or disappointed.

The grain-carrying trade during the past season was the most disappointing that vessel-owners have experienced in recent years. It was not that shipments ran behind the schedule so much as the low rates that ruled for the greater part of the season. Local vessel-owners declare that the rate on wheat ranged fully a cent a bushel below last season, and cargoes are instances where freighters facing the alternative of running down light or piling up expenses by waiting for a better rate.

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 1.—Robert, alias Roy Scott, for whom a warrant has been out for the past eight months for kidnapping his four-year-old son in this city early last spring, was arrested in Memphis, Tenn., today, in company with his second wife, a bride of three days.

Scott had not been heard of since he carried off his son in an automobile, and all trace of him had long been lost. Last Saturday he was given a decree of divorce in a Memphis court, and the custody of his child. On Monday he married Miss Mabel Claire Bennett, a Brooklyn, N. Y., girl, who was arrested with him.

Scott's arrest and identification was brought about by circulars issued by Chief of Police Wills, of this city.

INSURGENTS ARE HOLDING MANY TOWNS

The Reports From Mexico Show That Trouble Is Not Ended Yet.

[Associated Press.]

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 1.—Passengers arriving here today direct from Mexico, Chihuahua, on the first train that has come out of there since Nov. 22, declared every town along the line of the Chihuahua and Pacific Railroad between Chihuahua and Madero, except one, was held by insurgents, and that there has been considerable fighting in the mountains, and many wounded federal troops have been brought into the towns. Travellers said Government soldiers had taken Guerrero, Chihuahua, but that another band of insurgents was marching against the town.

The following dispatch was received today from the Associated Press staff correspondent at Chihuahua City:

"A serious clash took place yesterday between 150 Government troops and a somewhat larger body of insurgents. The soldiers are said to have been fired upon from roofs and windows while marching through the streets."

"Passengers arriving by train tonight declare that those of the Government force who were killed or wounded were taken prisoners."

"These rumors are also current among the soldiers at the barracks, but Gen. Plata, in command of the military zone, stated that his reports showed nine Government soldiers killed, and that 27 insurgents were slain."

LAURIER WINS

dear for the Liberal campaigning methods in Quebec in 1896, 1900 and 1904. Flourishing a French pamphlet, circulated in 1900, he made it a text for a tirade against appeals to race and creed, but never did a speaker use a weapon with more deadly boomerang effect. Quietly procuring a copy of the same pamphlet, Mr. Brodeur pointed out that what it really contained was extracts from editorial articles in the Toronto Mail and Empire, the Toronto News and other Conservative newspapers, so that while attempting to show that what he termed "damnable appeals to racial passion and prejudice" had been made by Liberals in 1900, what he did prove was that the real sinners had been his own party press.

Answered Mr. Foster.

Mr. Foster's speech, which by reason of his boomerang logic got far more applause from the Liberal members than from the Conservative benches, answered itself. Mr. E. M. Macdonald, who followed, however, took occasion in a from effective and logical address to emphasize the anomalies of the Conservative position. He noted the absurdity of the Opposition charge that the Liberal party was the fount of racial and religious appeals in Quebec, when the records of the campaigns of 1896, 1900, 1904 and 1908 showed conclusively that it was the Conservatives who had in Quebec charged Sir Wilfrid Laurier with being a traitor to his race and his religion. He pointed out the moral of Mr. Eorden's recitation of his imperialism last session and his assumption of the role of "vicar of Bourassa" as a supporter of the Nationalist policy of inciting the people to the creation of a Canadian navy. Other speakers of the day were Mr. Monk, who pleaded that the Nationalist doctrines were misrepresented; Mr. Eorden's amendment, he pointed out, though tending in the same direction as his own, proposed to submit the Government's naval policy to the people. His own proposal was that the people be consulted as to whether they desired any form of naval policy, and was, therefore, in his opinion, preferable.

Mr. LaFontaine (Montreal), followed in French and paid his compliments to Mr. Bourassa as an ambitious and unprincipled politician, whose chief doctrine was expediency and sectionalism.

Mr. Monk Protests.
Mr. Monk protested that the position and views of the Nationalist party had been misrepresented in the Conservative press, and expressed his intolerance of the Liberal party. The Government's naval policy, he said, had begun in a panic and had been carried on secretly and clandestinely. Mr. Eorden's amendment, he pointed out, though tending in the same direction as his own, proposed to submit the Government's naval policy to the people. His own proposal was that the people be consulted as to whether they desired any form of naval policy, and was, therefore, in his opinion, preferable.

Mr. LaFontaine's Maiden Effort.
Mr. Arthur Gilbert, the Nationalist member from Drummond-Arthabaska, rose at midnight to make his maiden speech and declaration of policy. He is a lone cheer from Messrs. Monk and Nantel. He spoke but briefly. He insisted that he had been elected solely on the naval issue, and in opposition to the Government's policy thereon. "I am a Liberal," he said, "and will vote for the Liberal Government on all questions except the navy."

Hon. Sydney Fisher.
Hon. Mr. Fisher, speaking from his knowledge of the French-Canadian, believed he was proof against appeals to prejudice when properly informed as to the issues. He believed that the electors of Drummond-Arthabaska had voted want of confidence in the Government because they were misled by untruthful representations of what the naval scheme of the Government was.

Mr. Glen Campbell wound up the debate.

Co-Operation Societies Bill.
Mr. Martin (Regina) has given notice of a bill respecting co-operative societies. The bill is practically the same as that introduced last session by Mr. Lloyd Harris, providing for the federal incorporation of co-operative companies. It was strenuously opposed then by the Retail Merchants' Association.

Would Save Time.
Mr. Gordon (Kent), has given notice of a resolution calling for the appointment of a select standing committee on supply, with a view to expediting business and preventing the present waste of time in dealing with every item of the House.

This is in accordance with the practice in the British House.

SHOT THE SHERIFF

Terrible Act Believed to Have Been Done by Boy and His Mother.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Dec. 1.—Sheriff Joseph Matthews was fatally shot today when he went to the farm of August Govere, near here, to arrest him on a charge of ill-using some of his animals. With every item of his mother, he is under arrest, charged with the killing. Complaints had been very numerous of late regarding the ill-treatment of animals being used at Govere's, and the sheriff went out to investigate. As he stood on the porch, a shotgun was discharged through the window, the charge entered his right lung. Terrified, he fled, and his mother, who climbed back into his buggy and raced to the city, where he told what had happened.

Former Champion Defeats Keogh in Sensational Pool Match at New York.

New York, Dec. 1.—Alfred De Oro wrested the world's pool championship from Jerome Keogh by a score of 600 to 470 last night at Doyle's Academy, after the most sensational match ever played for the title.

In addition to capturing the coveted honor, De Oro established a new world's record of running eighty-one balls. This breaks the old figures of seventy-nine made by De Oro years ago. De Oro also dazzled the spectators by clicking off 122 points without a miss.

Toronto, Dec. 1.—At midnight last night the navigation season of 1910 came to an official close; the big, slow-moving freighters are making their last trips up and down the lakes, and vessels are now busy figuring out whether the season's business should cause them to look pleased or disappointed.

The grain-carrying trade during the past season was the most disappointing that vessel-owners have experienced in recent years. It was not that shipments ran behind the schedule so much as the low rates that ruled for the greater part of the season. Local vessel-owners declare that the rate on wheat ranged fully a cent a bushel below last season, and cargoes are instances where freighters facing the alternative of running down light or piling up expenses by waiting for a better rate.

RELAND ENJOYING SPECTACULAR FIGHT

Three Cornered Struggle Going On in Present Elections.

REAL WAR THREATENED

If Home Rule Wins—Lord Dunraven Makes Strong Appeal Against Redmond—Predicts Ruin If His Policy Wins.

New York, Dec. 2.—Ireland is enjoying a spectacular three-cornered fight, in which physical arguments are as common as oratorical appeals, says a dispatch to the Herald. With this delightful condition confronting them the members of the Royal Irish Constabulary realize to the full that the policeman's lot is not a happy one during a parliamentary election.

All hands, Mr. John E. Redmond's Nationalists, Mr. William O'Brien's "All for Ireland" party, and the men of the north, who threaten real war if the Home Rulers win, are engaged in the constabulary have interfered with electors ready to fight for pure love of the diversion. You have read of the outbreak in the north, when more than eighty persons were conveyed to the infirmary to have scalp wounds and other injuries treated.

Police Were Attacked. It is true that few combatants were seriously injured, but this was due to the effective work of one hundred policemen, who dissuaded the followers of Mr. Redmond from invading the section where Mr. O'Brien's supporters are strong. The police were badly battered during the fighting, which continued intermittently for 24 hours, but after being targets for house-top stone-throwers and bombardments from windows and other points of vantage, they finally conquered.

There has been fighting galore, too, in other parts of Ireland, where Mr. O'Brien's candidates have been assailed by the Nationalists, and vice versa.

Mr. William O'Brien is carrying the war into the enemy's counties, and 20 "All for Ireland" candidates are contesting elections with Mr. Redmond's men. Mr. O'Brien is supported by Irishmen who have hitherto been identified with the Unionist cause, but who are tired of the interminable conflict between north and south in what was once termed "the most distressful country."

Appeal by Lord Dunraven. As an instance of the support that is being given to Mr. O'Brien, there are some extracts from an appeal by Lord Dunraven:

"Just when the final triumph of conciliation and peace seemed assured, when a settlement by the consent of both British parties was in sight, the suicidal policy of the official Irish party snatched that hope from the grasp of Ireland, and tossed our country into the field, a mere football in the party struggle. Here the same spirit that killed the land purchase and forced additional taxation upon us has now ruined for a time the fairest political prospect Ireland ever had."

"A more disastrous error cannot be imagined. And for what has it been committed? Once the cry was 'Ireland first.' By this mad method of handing Ireland over to the immediate purposes of Mr. Redmond's socialist scheme, Ireland will find herself disappointed, duped and betrayed."

Predicts Ruinous Result. "The policy of sacrificing all Irish interests to socialist and radical necessities can only produce ruinous results. Settlement by conciliation is the only possible settlement. The situation can be saved only by the efforts of the 'All for Ireland League,' fighting manfully under the banner inscribed 'All for Ireland—Ireland first of all.'"

"Mr. Redmond stands for virtual separation. That is impossible, and if possible would be fatal. England is our market. The position of Ireland without representation in the Imperial Parliament would be intolerable. Even if separation were beneficial to Ireland it is unattainable. England has the right to safeguard herself. To strive for the impossible is a waste of energy."

"What the immediate result of the election will be is impossible to say, but one thing is certain, the policy of the All for Ireland League has raised the question of home rule, whether for Ireland alone or as part of an arrangement along federal lines embracing the whole United Kingdom, to a position from which it cannot be dislodged."

"If that policy be pursued, Ireland will, when the time comes, as surely as the sun, make her voice effectively heard and make good her case. A reasonable settlement with the assent of all moderate men in Ireland and the consent of all moderate men in Great Britain will be within her grasp if only Ireland to herself be true."

Mr. O'Brien's speeches are all along the lines of Lord Dunraven's appeal, and the latest word from Ireland is that many merchants and sober-minded workmen are rallying to the standard of what Mr. Timothy Healy terms the "peace with honor" party.

Redmond's Boast. On the other hand, Mr. Redmond is continually boasting of contributions of foreign dollars to the cause. Of course that, according to English and Irish newspapers, is driving into the Unionist ranks many Englishmen who would favor home rule for Ireland based on lines that would not endanger the prestige of England or set up a hostile independent government at her very door.

What the outcome of this internecine struggle will be the future alone can tell, but thousands of Irishmen who have followed the fortunes of the home rule party for years are uniting with Mr. O'Brien in his "All for Ireland" movement, which is based purely on home support, and which, its founders declare, aims to wipe out the spirit of intolerance which has kept fellow countrymen at each other's throats for a hundred years.

Ulster on Qui Vive. What of Ulster? It is watching keenly the struggle in the south. If the O'Brien party gains a stronger foothold the belief is prevalent in Ireland that thousands of the Old Guard of the North, convinced that the new movement is really non-sectarian and sincerely working for the interests of all Irishmen, will aid the demand for Irish self-government upon lines that will protect the great industrial interests of the north and under conditions that can be accepted by England without surrendering her self respect or endangering her national and commercial supremacy.

Mr. Redmond's campaign has, however, stirred Ulster to the depths, and Unionist electors have contributed $50,000 to the war chest in an endeavor to wrest two seats from the Nationalists. This is the answer of the north to what it terms the "American dollar propaganda." The Unionists expect to win at least two seats in Ulster, while Mr. O'Brien's followers predict that they will wrest control of ten seats now held by the Nationalists for the "All for Ireland" party.

In a week or ten days figures will verify or contradict these statements.

DANDURAND PLANS SENATE REFORM

Would Provide Upper House With More Work—Seals, Without Voter, For All Ministers.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—The problem of Senate reform may be solved by the Senate itself. Today in the upper chamber, Senator Dandurand suggested the appointment of a joint committee of the two houses to consider a plan for a better division of parliamentary business, in order that the Senate might be provided with more work.

Canada and Britain were the only places where ministers were not allowed to appear before both houses of Parliament. In Canada a majority of ministers were in the Commons, and the greater part of the business originated there. Business in the Commons was often blocked for weeks by political discussions.

In his opinion all ministers should be allowed to have seats in the Senate, without votes. If this were done, he thought they would frequently introduce important measures in the Senate and advance them, while the Commons were talking politics. This would have the effect of increasing the interest of the public in the upper house, and he pointed out that there was no need for Senate to sit as long as the Commons, for the lower house gave about two months to the consideration of supplies, while the Senate was required to pass the supply bill at a single sitting.

Sir Richard Cartwright said he would call the attention of the Government to the suggestion, and recalled the fact that he had previously made representations for the purpose of getting more business for the Senate.

Senator G. W. Ross thought that, instead of giving ministers the right to appear in both the Senate and Commons, it would be better to follow the English plan, and assign more members of the Government to the upper house. It was resolved that when the Senate adjourned tomorrow it would stand adjourned until Jan. 11.

CHOLERA VICTIM IS FROM QUEBEC

Wisconsin Authorities Up in Arms Over Case of Jenschke.

Cumberland, Wis., Dec. 1.—Gottlieb Jenschke, a Russian emigrant, who is in quarantine in the Russian settlement in the township of Almena, twelve miles south of this city, is thought to be afflicted with Asiatic cholera.

Considerable alarm is manifested on account of the many persons who have been exposed. Jenschke sailed from Taganrog, Russia, and originally came from the cholera-infected district of Southern Russia. He landed at Quebec, and was taken into the United States at Sault Ste. Marie, arriving here Monday afternoon.

Jenschke is at the home of a relative. Several Russians, who travelled with him also are under quarantine.

It is probable Jenschke was a steerage passenger on one of the liners reaching Quebec some weeks ago, on which a case of cholera was found. The steerage passengers were all held at Grosse Island, the quarantine station, until Saturday or Sunday last, and no free cases having developed, they were let go. Apparently the disease was slow in developing, or else the inspection of the immigrants was not as thorough as it should have been, but the fact that Dr. Moroz, a Canadian authority will have to be on their guard against the possible spread of infection.

As the Russian passed through Canada from Quebec to Sault Ste. Marie, the Canadian authorities will have to be on their guard against the possible spread of infection.

KILKENNY CONFERS HONOR ON WOMAN

Unique Distinction for Widow Whose Husband Had Never Been Boycotted.

Dublin, Dec. 1.—The honorary freedom of the city of Kilkenny was conferred a few days ago on Ellen, Countess of Desart, the widow of the fourth Earl of Desart. This is the first time that the freedom of an Irish city has been conferred on a woman, and it is the first time that any city in the world has conferred such an honor on a Jewess.

Lady Desart is the daughter of the late Henry L. Bischoffsheim, a famous London philanthropist, and her good works on the Irish estate of her husband have made her the idol of every-

CORONER SEEKS MORE WITNESSES

Several Said to Have Seen Harris Killed at Crossing.

THE INQUEST ADJOURNED

Shunting Engine Crew Give Evidence as to Finding of Body.

The inquest into the death of Ira B. Harris, who was killed at the Grand Trunk crossing on Wellington street, on Saturday evening, was further adjourned last night until Thursday, Dec. 8. Coroner MacLaren, in view of the inconclusive nature of the evidence submitted, deemed an adjournment advisable, in order that additional witnesses may be obtained. It was reported on Saturday night that two women who had seen Harris attempt to cross in front of an approaching train had caught him by the arm in an endeavor to hold him back. It has since been reported that two other persons had also seen the deceased just before he attempted to cross the tracks. Detective Nickle, who is working on the case, expects to be able to learn the names of these witnesses before the inquest is again reopened.

Mrs. Caroline Harris, wife of the deceased, was the first witness called, and stated that her husband spent Saturday at home, with the exception of an hour and a half between 2 and 4:30 p.m. He went out that evening about 6:50 o'clock, telling her that he was going to Knox's store. The deceased was slightly over 53 years of age, and his hearing was fairly good. He was in the habit of spending his evenings at home.

Found the Body.
Robert Allaster, yard foreman on the Grand Trunk, was working on Saturday evening between Wellington and Clarence streets, and found the body of the deceased about three feet from the planking on the roadway over the Wellington street tracks. The body was found on the westbound line about 7:10 o'clock. The last move the yard engine made across Wellington street was about 7 p.m., and two cars were carried the engine going east and not returning for about 45 minutes. While the engine was shunting the bell was ringing continuously, as is customary. Both the head and rear lights were burning brightly. He (the witness) was hanging on the end of a car on the westbound main line when the engine crossed Wellington for the last time. After backing the cars into the siding, he sent the engine to the freighthouse.

and while crossing Wellington street found a shoe on the planking, and going further found the body in the position described. No trace of blood was found on any part of the engine after the witness went to the freighthouse. The engine crossed Wellington street at a speed not exceeding four or five miles per hour, and the gates and wings were also down. The cars were then backed across Wellington again, into Dodge's siding, and the engine went east. The witness also examined the cars which were dropped, but could find no trace of the accident.

Dr. P. P. Drake, who performed the post-mortem on the body of the deceased, testified that all the bones of the apex of the skull were crushed into small fragments, that part of the brain underneath being crushed to a pulp. The bones of the left forearm were broken, the left foot was crushed, and the sixth and seventh ribs were broken, and forced into the lung. The cause of death was found to be the stated injuries, and the shock and hemorrhage resulting.

William L. Templeton, G. T. R. engineer, was told of the fatality at 7:19 p.m., which was about 12 minutes after they crossed Wellington street for the last time. He examined the engine, but could find no trace of accident on wheels or any part of the engine. While crossing Wellington street he did not see any one on the street. The watchman was at his post. The witness corroborated the evidence of the yard foreman in regard to the bell ringing, the gates being down, and the speed of engine.

Norman P. Devine, fireman on the yard engine, remembered crossing Wellington on the westbound main line about 7 o'clock, but saw no one crossing the track from either side at that time. He did not hear of the accident until the engine had returned to the freighthouse.

William Everett, gate tender at Wellington street crossing, testified that the bars were down while the yard engine was crossing with the cars. He did not recall anyone crossing or attempting to cross the tracks at the time. The crossing is not well-lighted, and it would be possible for persons to be on the roadway without noticing them. The witness had been employed as watchman for about six months. The body was found about 15 feet from his position, but he did not notice it before the yard foreman discovered it. The body appeared to have been dragged from about 2 feet east of the west sidewalk to the position where it was found.

John Spencer, yard switchman, stated that he assisted in cutting off the cars from the yard engine on the west side of Wellington street. He then went east on the engine, and did not know of the accident until informed of it by Yard Foreman Allaster. While crossing east with the cars he noticed people standing on the north side of gates. When recrossing on the siding he was not looking at the gates.

George Scott, switch tender, was working on east side of Wellington street before 7 p.m. His attention was called to the body on tracks by Yard Foreman Allaster, and he was unable to give any new testimony.

The members of the jury are: James Ryan (foreman), William Bowman, Edward Marshall, William Chamberlain, James Dean, William Riddle, John Burrows, Charles Maker, Wm. McKough, Elmer Lortie, George Grisman, James B. Hussey, Joseph McLeod, Charles Le Clair, and Walter Cunningham.

Under a retaining fee they would be always ready to advise the crown, and its appointees

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING IS IN FULL SWING

Local Stores Beautifully Decorated and Filled With Purchasers.

The Christmas shopping season is once more with us, and activity and bustle and cheerfulness are evident in the throngs that animate the streets, crowds the shops, and hurry homeward laden with mysterious-looking parcels. Nowhere can one turn but he is lost in the crowd of holiday shoppers. On the street cars one hears bright, rosy-cheeked maidens blithely discussing what Christmas gifts they are buying for Tom and Mamie and Nell. This is the season when that patient and forbearing young lady, Miss Cynthia Grey is literally lost in an avalanche of letters asking what would be a suitable Christmas gift for a young man, or a girl friend of a certain age. Christmas and Christmas presents are always thought of together.

London stores were never more beautifully decorated, and Londoners were never more eager purchasers. The holiday shopping season has opened with a rush, and already the clerks are asking what will it be like two or three weeks from now. A general air of prosperity seems to be linked with the opening Christmas season of 1910.

CHARGE OF TRESPASS

Several Grand Trunk Men Placed Under Arrest at Orillia.

Orillia, Dec. 1.—Several employees of the Grand Trunk Railway were arrested this morning on the charge of trespassing on property belonging to the town, while warrants were issued by Superintendent Lynch at Alkandale, and two others in the connection. The railway three years ago, when the late Mr. Tiffin was in charge, endeavored to get control of a strip of land owned by the town lying between the old Northern Railway and the main line, but the town authorities refused to agree, and ordered the railway to keep off the land.

Mr. P. J. Lynch, Mr. Tiffin's successor, has made every effort since his appointment to gain control of the land in question, and three times recently, it is alleged, the line fence has been torn down and moved in on the town's property, the authorities promptly moving it out to the original line. This morning it was again moved, with the result that arrests were made and warrants issued.

NEW PASSENGER AGENT.

Montreal, Dec. 1.—The Delaware and Hudson Railway has appointed a Canadian passenger agent in the person of Mr. F. B. Murray, formerly its travelling passenger agent, and Mr. W. H. Henry has been named city passenger agent. Mr. Henry occupied this position some years ago, but the local office was closed, and the G. T. R. office handled all the local ticket business.

TORONTO'S GROWTH.

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Some idea of the enormous growth of Toronto this year may be obtained from the fact that up to the end of November the approximate value of the buildings for which the city architect issued permits was $19,774,518, an increase of $3,228,638 over the amount in the corresponding eleven months of last year. The number of new buildings erected in the first eleven months of this year was 8,092, an increase of 1,394 over cost of construction to the number in the first eleven months of 1909.

Intense Suffering

From Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble

Instantly Relieved and Permanently Cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A New Discovery, But Not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable case of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia, by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered, to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach. He had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of sleep. He had been affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night."

"I gave him the powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment I finally bought a 50-cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store, and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given, and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances fully cured."

"There was no more acidity or sour, watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh."

"Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's office, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invalids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal."

"Without any question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, flatulency, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe."

EXPRESS STRIKE HAS BEEN SETTLED

The Final Arrangements in New York Trouble Completed

[Associated Press.] New York, Dec. 1.—Final settlement of the strike among express company employees, which tied up the express business of the big transcontinental companies in this city for several weeks recently, was effected early today, when a meeting of the drivers and helpers voted to accept the terms offered by the employers. The men returned to work some time ago on the understanding that an adjustment as to wages and hours would be reached by Dec. 1. The agreement now reached goes into effect today.

An advance of from 5 to 8 per cent in wages was agreed to by the majority of the companies. It was understood that there will be further negotiations with the Adams Express Company officials, the men of that company not being entirely satisfied with the terms offered, but accepting the new schedule tentatively.

The eleven-hour day will rule for all the men, and work on Sundays and holidays will not be required. The new agreement establishes the open-shop. The dragging of the negotiations through the past several days had caused fears of a possible Christmas tie-up of express matter, but these were dissipated by the agreement reached today.

URGE POLITENESS ON THE GERMANS

New Club Formed for Promotion of Amiability Among People.

Berlin, Dec. 1.—The Lyceum Club, of Berlin, which, like its prototype in London, is for women only, has called a meeting to discuss the establishment of a society to promote politeness and amiability among the people of the German empire. The official name of the society has not yet been chosen. Some of the promoters want to call it the Gentilezza, after a flourishing Italian society which has added to the amenity of life in Italy.

The impulse, in fact, came from that country, for the leading spirit of the movement in Berlin is Signorina Cecilia Meyerini, of Rome. This lady lectured to her German sisters on the prompt success of the Italian movement in the cause of popular courtesy and told them that there was nowhere in the world so crying a need for a similar institution as in the German empire.

As a matter of fact, no topic is more common among foreigners in Berlin than the boorish manners of its inhabitants. No unaccompanied woman is safe there from molestation in public places. A recent issue of a local Anglo-American paper contained a letter from an angry American describing how, on a score of occasions, his wife had been persecuted and insulted by German men. The movement she was left alone by her husband.

A TANGLED CASE

Suit in Connection With Mersea Farm Very Much Involved.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]

Sandwich, Dec. 1.—An interesting suit between father and son has been decided by Judge Clute. The father, John W. Thompson, owned some forty acres of land in Mersea Township. In 1903 his wife died, and he induced his son Frank, then employed on a railway, to come back on the farm, the son receiving a life lease of the farm. In 1905 a board of arbitration composed of neighbors, set the life lease aside, and decided the father should receive $1 annually from the son as his share of the profits of the farm. Later the son decided he was paying too much for his privileges, and refused to pay the $175 annually. The father in 1908 brought an action against the son for possession of the farm. The son would not defend himself, but moved on the farm. The father then brought an action to set aside the sale of the mortgage. The judge decided in favor of the father, but also that Miss Irwin was entitled to the full amount of the mortgage interest. The son was left in the cold, no costs being allowed.

METHODIST UNION

Conference is Being Held to Bring About Union of Branches.

Baltimore, Dec. 1.—The joint meeting of the three commissions on Methodist Union is being held here today. The conference will last two days, and is the first step toward the consummation of a movement which has been agitated for years.

The commission is composed of 27 eminent divines, each branch of the Methodist Church being represented by nine men. The Methodist Protestant, Methodist Episcopal and Methodist Church south.

The session today is largely preliminary. Bishop Earl Cranston, of Washington, D. C., chairman of the commission, in the chair.

One of the obstacles to an ultimate union of the three branches of Methodism is the presence of the negro in the Methodist Episcopal division, according to a statement made today by a prominent delegate at the conference before the meeting.

IS THIS MCINTOSH?

Kingsport, Dec. 1.—It is said Edward E. McIntosh, the G. T. brakeman, wanted for stealing Traders' Bank notes from the Dominion Express Company, was here early this week, and asked for bail at the Hotel Randolph. The clerk identified him by the photos published in Toronto.

WINDSOR'S BOOM.

Windsor, Dec. 1.—Windsor's building boom showed a very decided increase in November. The month closed as the biggest of the year for the building values, permits for new buildings valued in the aggregate at $34,200 being issued. November last year was an unusually big month for building values. The value for the month just ended, however, is more than $18,000 in excess of those for the same period of 1909.

BEAR SHOT IN TORONTO.

Toronto, Dec. 1.—A big black bear was shot at 6:30 o'clock this morning, within 100 feet of Toronto's busiest corner, Yonge and Queen street. The bear, however, was in the cellar of William Davies & Co.'s store. It had been brought down from the Magnetawan district by one of the Davies Company's employees, who hoped that someone would buy it. As it found no market alive Policeman Ernie Hobson was called in to kill it.

STEALING A RIDE

Railways Are Responsible for Accidents to Tramp Passengers.

Brantford, Dec. 1.—Railway companies in dealing with the tramp problem have a nice question on their hands. As the result of an action before Justice Teezel here today, Lloyd Brown, of Grandview, was awarded $1,000 damages by a jury for injuries sustained in jumping off a train before Justice Teezel here today. Brown admitted that he was stealing a ride, and on being ordered off by the conductor jumped, with the result that he lost an arm.

In answer to certain questions submitted by the court, the jury held that the conductor of the train was not reasonable or proper, and that the accident was due to his negligence. The proper course, was held, was for the conductor to stop the train and put the man off or place him under arrest. The case was a retrial, which was ordered by the court of appeal. At the first trial the plaintiff was awarded $2,000. L. F. Heyd, Toronto, for plaintiff; Geo. Lynch Staunton, Hamilton, for defendants.

JOHNSON TO FIGHT BARNSTORMING TRIPS

Says That They Cheapen the Great Game of Baseball.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Harmony will come at the forthcoming meeting of the two major leagues Dec. 13 in New York, according to E. B. Johnston, president of the American League. There will be 154 games in the American League, and from present indications the same number will be selected by the National owners.

"Save for the election of four electors—two from the eastern clubs and two from the west—there won't be a great deal of business to occupy the attention of our officials," said President Johnson yesterday.

"During the course of the two leagues sessions, I hope to confer with Mr. Lynch relative to the arrangement of playing dates for 1911. Then, at a later meeting the schedules will be drafted and acted upon."

"In addition to the schedule matter, Mr. Lynch and I will urge the passage of a new rule, prohibiting the world's champions of any year to participate in barnstorming games following the close of the title series. To have a band of champions out of condition troop off to other countries."

TARIFF REFORM CAUSES SPLIT

The Liberals Have Had Another Effective Argument Placed in Their Hands.

ASQUITH SAYS THE FLOP IS INDECENT

Leader Balfour Is Forced to Explain His Position—Unlooked For Result.

[Associated Press.] London, Dec. 2.—There is a possibility of an unlooked-for result in the attempt by A. J. Balfour, the Opposition leader, to remove tariff reform from the immediate field of politics.

The question looms larger than ever in the campaign tonight, inasmuch as that Mr. Balfour himself, in a speech at Reading, was fain to explain that his party had not altered its views on this subject, and that tariff reform was still a chief plank in the party's constructive policy, but, he explained, the Unionists needed to obtain the formal and explicit consent of the people thereto.

The policy of referendum, he said, was consistent with the true idea of popular government.

The fact is, Mr. Balfour's pronouncement on Nov. 29, that he was willing to submit tariff reform to a referendum, has rather sundered than knit his party, and supplied the Liberals with another very effective argument against tariff reform, namely, that Mr. Balfour has been compelled to side-track it.

Premier Roasts Balfour.

The interest in the speeches tonight centered in Premier Asquith's reply to the Opposition leader. This was delivered at a great meeting at Wolverhampton. The Premier said: "We are living in times of rapid movement, when it is a relief to wake any morning, and not find some fresh part of the constitution reconstructed."

He described Mr. Balfour's "turn-about-face" on the questions of the reform of the House of Lords and tariff reform as unique—almost indecent. He said that he could not imagine a greater caricature of the referendum than putting a few abstract questions to the people without concrete embodiment of their proposals. If anyone but a sane and responsible statesman had contemplated such a scheme, he would be called a madman.

After a study of the working of the referendum in foreign countries, the Premier continued, he had arrived at the conclusion that it had proved a most unsatisfactory and disappointing method of ascertaining public opinion.

Home Secretary Is Busy.

Winston Churchill, the home secretary, displays untiring energy. He addressed several meetings at Dundee tonight, and will deliver two speeches at Chesham tomorrow. From there he will go by special train to Grimsby, where he will speak at midnight, replying to a speech which Mr. Balfour will make earlier in the evening. In order to ascertain the nature of Mr. Balfour's address special relays of motor cars will convey a verbatim report of this to the home secretary at Sheffield, enabling him to study the address on the train.

After his speech at Grimsby, Mr. Churchill will return to Manchester, where he will speak on Saturday afternoon. He will go from there to Chester for another Liberal demonstration on Saturday night—a heavy 24 hours' programme. The home secretary will have a special guard of detectives against suffragist attention.

GOES TO ENGLAND TO GET SETTLERS

Western Official of C. P. R. Will Boost Vancouver.

Montreal, Que., Dec. 1.—Mr. Robert Marpole, general executive assistant of the Canadian Pacific at Vancouver, was in the city yesterday on his way to England. Mr. Marpole speaks most enthusiastically of progress along the Pacific coast, not only on the mainland, but on Vancouver Island. The Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, he said, was making splendid progress on its extension to Alberni, on Vancouver Island, and would probably be completed by next fall. This, he said, would bring Victoria and Vancouver into close connection with the west coast of the island.

Not only would it make a through connection, said Mr. Marpole, but the road would open the way for a much more extensive settlement of Vancouver Island, along the course of the railroads. This had already been taken up by the Salvation Army in England, which had sent out some 20 families to the cleared farms, while preparations were being made for a much more extensive settlement by the army next year. Mr. Marpole stated that while his trip was primarily for a holiday, he would while in England see the authorities of the Salvation Army, as well as other emigration societies, and make arrangements for sending out settlers to Vancouver Island. This, said Mr. Marpole, would not be difficult, since British Columbia had resources and climatic advantages enjoyed by no other section of the Dominion. The wild-cat mining days had passed everywhere, and the province was settling down to a period of steady prosperity, both in agriculture and fruit growing, as well as mining, which offered great inducements to settlers from Great Britain. The only thing Vancouver Island needed, said Mr. Marpole, was railway connections, and these were gradually being given. And as fast as the steel roads went ahead settlement followed, and even preceded it.

FOREST STUDENT DIES IN TORONTO

After the operation he progressed very favorably until two days ago, when complications developed, which resulted in his death. The remains were sent to Forest today.

LE BLANC TRIAL

Past Life of Mrs. Glover Was Very Extensively Probed.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 2.—When the trial of Hattie LeBlanc, the young Cape Breton girl, charged with the murder of Clarence F. Glover, at Waltham, was resumed in the superior court here today, the cross-examination of Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, widow of the murdered man, was practically completed, although Melvin M. Johnson, chief counsel for the prisoner, may recall Mrs. Glover later. Mrs. Glover was called as a witness for the prosecution, but the chief interest in her testimony came when she was cross-examined by Mr. Johnson, who had previously characterized her as a "vampire," and "one who had the motive, the opportunity, and the physical and mental capacity to accomplish Glover's death."

Mrs. Glover stood the ordeal of the cross-examination well and for a time her encounter with Mr. Johnson was a battle of wits. The past life of the witness was probed extensively and pitilessly.

Although some slight discrepancies from evidence given at the police court hearings, the inquest, and the hearing on the contest over Glover's will, developed, Mrs. Glover's story in its essential features was unshaken. The Government's witnesses for today included a number of police officers and other investigators, who were expected to give testimony showing that there had been a struggle at Glover's laundry on the night of the murder.

NEW BRUNSWICK COLONIZATION PLAN

Company Asks Government for a Big Grant of Crown Land.

Paris, Dec. 1.—M. Venizelos, the Cretan who was recently made leader of the Greek Chamber, is the idol of the people, partly because he has had the courage to risk his reputation as a statesman in order to obey his country's call, and partly because he is not only a man, but the personification of an idea. "If for years Greeks have home with misgovernment, mismanagement and corruption, it is because they lacked a leader to put their aspirations into action," said a Greek deputy.

"The leader was found, a man of iron will, magnetic force. He is possessed of immense will power, but he is sensitive, and it is a grief to his friends to see how he has suffered since he left Crete from the revelations of corruption and immorality in Greek political life."

"It is our fear that he will succumb, and that, with his energies sapped by annoyances and anxieties of every kind, he will neither have the force and physical energy to kill for ever the weeds of faction and corruption which smother the true life of Greece, nor the power and endurance to inaugurate the new era of liberty. For he is not a man to us; he is an incarnate idea. Should he fall, with him falls the spirit of reform and the hopes of Greece as a nation."

"The period which will follow this will be a terrible one. The regeneration of Hellas will be put back for a hundred years. His enemies have every interest in crushing him, for with the reforms instituted by M. Venizelos their sources of power and income will alike vanish. They care for nothing but their own selfish ends. They willfully ignore the fact that the outcome of this political chaos and national degradation will be the crushing of Greece by some foreign enemy or the subjecting of this country to the control of the powers. His first aim is the strengthening of the army and navy, his second is the purification of our national life. Should God grant to Venizelos the years of life Greece will have entered on a new and glorious era of power and prosperity.

"A war with Turkey is inevitable, not perhaps immediately, but certainly within the year," added the deputy. "The situation of Greece is more critical at the present moment than at any period in the last fifty years, because the influences of corruption and immorality stand savagely at bay, and will not be crushed without a ferocious resistance. If they are triumphant, a civil war will probably result."

FIRE IN DETROIT

Big Stores Were Damaged to Extent $150,000 in Bad Blaze.

[Associated Press.] Detroit, Dec. 2.—One of the worst fires in the last eight months here, causing a loss estimated at $150,000, partially wrecked the stores of David

Wallace & Sons, grocers, and L. B. King & Co., chinaware, and damaged the paper stock of Gregory, Mayor & Thom last night. The blaze had practically been under way for an hour when discovered, and was fought by almost all the downtown fire department for two hours, under conditions which made the work exceptionally dangerous and difficult.

Two firemen, Ray Berg and Robert Downey, were injured by falling glass as they were fighting the fire near the top of the extension ladder, and narrowly escaped falling to the street. They were taken to Harper Hospital. The water, freezing as it fell upon the pavements and rungs of the ladder, coated the hose, and many firemen who were not seriously injured were badly bruised by falls.

AGED MURDERER
WILL NOT BE HANGED*Robert Parker Was Granted a
Reprieve By Governor General.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—His Excellency the Governor-General this afternoon signed an order-in-council commuting to life imprisonment the death sentence passed upon Robert Parker, of Belleville, who was to have been hanged on Saturday next, for murder.

Parker was, at the fall, assizes in Belleville, found guilty of the murder of William Masters, a neighbor. It was proven to the satisfaction of the jury that Parker shot Masters. The evidence was wholly circumstantial. On the day of the tragedy Parker was seen, with a gun, going in the direction of the scene of the murder. He had made threats against the dead man, and the bullet which killed Masters was believed to have been cast in a mold used by Parker. The condemned man is more than 70 years of age.

Remember, the results of fifty years of labor in the interests of the ruptured are at your command. Does this not mean something to you? Also consider my common sense arguments, and compare them with the wild and empty claims of others that have disappointed you. Do they not ring true? Consult me and be convinced, as so others have done and are doing. You can't afford to give up; you must get cured if you want to live and enjoy life. WONDER-SHINE

Cleans more silver in half-an-hour than pastes or powders in half-a-day—and cleans it better.

Madam! That's the reason why you should use WONDER-SHINE—it saves time and toil. Just figure out what this means—how WONDER-SHINE reduces that old, dusty, tiresome job of cleaning silver to a few minutes' pleasant work.

Your silver and gold may be costly heirlooms and gifts money could not replace. The rubbing and scouring of pastes and powders is pretty harsh treatment—eventually wears through the plating and spoils its brilliant lustre.

WONDER-SHINE is easy to use—no rubbing—no scrubbing—no scouring. Just dip your silver, gold or plated-ware, several articles at a time, in WONDER-SHINE, then rinse and dry with a soft cloth or chamois. That's all.

The beautiful lustre of your favorites will surprise you. If used occasionally, WONDER-SHINE will keep them as bright as new coinage from the mint.

Try it—one package will convince you. WONDER-SHINE is guaranteed non-injurious to gold and silver, hands and clothing.

At all dealers, 25¢, in yellow packages.

CROWD OUT ENGLISH.
Sherbrooke, Que., Dec. 1.—The French-speaking population is increasing and the English-speaking decreasing in the Eastern Townships. This was shown very conclusively at Bedford, when the school commissioners of the townships sold three buildings, that had formerly been used as English-speaking schools.
The reason for disposing of them was that there were no scholars. The English-speaking farmers are selling out to the French and going west. The section of the township referred to was formerly wholly occupied by English-speaking people.

PLANS AERIAL LINE BETWEEN U. S. CITIES
President Glidden of the Aerial Navigation Co. Orders Plans For "Zeppelin."

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 1.—According to plans announced here, the United States is to have its first inter-city air liner service, probably within the next half year. President Charles J. Glidden, of the Aerial Navigation Company, of Boston, has invited Melvin Vaniman, chief engineer of the Walter Wellman expedition, to submit plans for a big dirigible suiter for carrying twenty passengers from Boston to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. If the plans meet with the approval of the company's engineers, construction on the dirigible will begin in the winter or spring.
The aerial route scheduled by the company now covers 458 miles. The greatest single stretch is from Boston to New York, 233 miles, which is to be made without stops. The run from New York to Washington will be interrupted by two stops, one in Philadelphia and another at Baltimore, the distance being 225 miles.
The proposed aerial liner will be nearly the same size as the Zeppelin type. As to speed it is likely there will be an attempt to improve on that of the Zeppelin, which makes forty to fifty miles an hour. The famous German dirigible is 472 feet long, has a capacity for 10,000 cubic feet of gas

For some time, it is expected that passage on the aerial lines will be in the nature of a luxury. Tickets will not be sold on the mileage basis. On some of the short trips made by the Zeppelin passenger carrying dirigible none could get a ride for less than $50 a head, but many paid a great deal more for a single trip.
The time it takes to travel between Boston and Washington by train is ten and a half hours. If the Glidden-Vaniman proposed aerial liner comes up to expectations, this time will be lessened considerably.
MINISTERIAL CARPENTERS.
Cleveland, O., Dec. 1.—In order to have a new tabernacle big enough to seat 5,000 people for union revival services to be held early next year, 150 ministers of the city today announced their intention of donning jumpers and doing the carpenter work necessary themselves.

CHIEF EDITOR RESIGNS.
Quebec, Dec. 1.—Mr. Jean Dumont, chief editor of L'Evenement, the Conservative organ of the district of Quebec, and the only French Conservative daily paper of the Province of Quebec, has resigned his position, and will leave next week for Montreal, where he will join the editorial staff of Le Devoir. His position will be filled at L'Evenement by Mr. Jos. Barnard, lately of the Le Devoir. Mr. Dumont has been for some years chief editor of Le Journal, of Montreal, a Conservative paper, which has ceased publication. There is no truth in the rumor saying that Mr. d'Hellecourt, chief editor of Le Soleil of Quebec, has been appointed a translator of the Hansard staff.
DIED SUDDENLY.
Whitby, Dec. 1.—Jos. Alexander, a painter by trade, and about 35 years of age, died suddenly here last night as the result of hemorrhage. Alexander was about to enter the Queen's-year.

Hotel when the attack came on. He was dead when the hastily summoned doctor arrived. Alexander lived near Pickering Village, and was unmarried, and as far as can be learned had no relatives in Canada.
OPIMUM TRAFFIC.
Melbourne, Dec. 1.—Like Canada, the Australian Commonwealth has its trouble with the opium evil. The prohibition of the traffic has resulted in a formation of syndicates, which, by means of bribery of officials, sell the drug for seven pounds sterling, which costs eighteen shillings in China.
It has now come to light that very large quantities of the drug are run through the customs. The authorities are striving to put an end to the traffic, but up to the present without much success.
The official estimate of the Victorian harvest is 32,000,000 bushels, an increase of 6,000,000 bushels over last year.
