FORTY-FOURTH YEAR

BRANTFORD, CANADA, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1913

Man Killed Had Been Working In Brantford

(Canadian Press Despatch) HAMILTON, Nov. 29.—As the result of being thrown at the side of a train at the Hunter street station about five o'clock yesterday afternoon Abraham Young, an Englishman, about 60 years of age, died at the City Hospital early this morning.

Forester was standing close by and seizing Young, pulled him from underneath the train. He was conscious but had suffered a crushed foot and a broken collar bone, and the police ambulance was called. He was removed to the City Hospital, where his injuries were dressed but not considered serious.

PRISON FARM FOR BRANT, WATERLOO, OXFORD AND NORFOLK COUNTY

Representatives Held Conference at Woodstock on Friday—Brantford Representatives Favor Proposal—"Self Sustaining in Five Years," Says Dr. B. Smith.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 29.—Important matters concerning the proposed industrial farm for the counties of Central Western Ontario were discussed at a meeting of the general committee having the matter in charge, held in the court house yesterday afternoon.

The cost of maintenance Dr. Smith divided as follows: Superintendent per year $1,000; 1st assistant 600; 2nd assistant 600.

He also pointed out that help should be kept in proportion to one man to 12 prisoners, rations, including board and clothes will average 50c. a day per man.

The government will continue pay their share of an acre of the farm in proportion to the number of prisoners who are government wards as at present it is paid at county jails.

In addition to municipal prisoners and such provincial prisoners as are at present held, the Dominion Government will enact law at the next session which will make petty thefts punishable under the same provisions as the above mentioned offences.

With a view to securing some definite information regarding probable sites for the proposed farm several of those present told of sites which they had visited and which in their opinion would be suitable for the purpose.

RINGING MESSAGE BY NEW YORK SPEAKER

Mr. E. M. Robinson, Senior Boys Work Secretary, Addresses Delegates at Opening of Conference Last Night.

A ringing message from a man having a full knowledge of what he spoke, was the address delivered by E. M. Robinson, New York City, Senior Boys Work Secretary International Committee Young Men's Christian Association on the subject "The Busy Asset" at the opening meeting held last night of the eighth annual Boys Work Conference, Central and Western Ontario. The large auditorium was all but filled to capacity.

which, when presented, recommended that the conference officers be the following: President, Clayton Moyr; First Vice-President, Fred Presant; Guelph; 2nd Vice President, Morley Bennett, Dunnville; Secretary, Gordon Gallaway, Toronto.

Rev. R. D. Hamilton, pastor of the church, called the gathering to order. Led by the church choir, the hundreds of voices joined with zeal in singing "Stand Up for Jesus."

When addressing such a meeting, he reminded of the story told of the New York office boy who had asked to be allowed to get off to go to the ball game. His manner of making the request did not at all meet with the approval of the employer, and he proceeded to show how such a request should be made.

The prayer concluded, the choir rendered "Come, Let Us Worship the King." Mr. Frank Yeigh, Toronto, who needs no introduction, took charge previous to the number of the chair. He called for the report of the nominating committee.

The speaker felt there was not a boy assembled, who could not tell something of benefit.

The committee appointed to interview the government regarding the cost of such a farm, submitted a lengthy report of an interview with Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisons. In the report it was pointed out that Dr. Bruce Smith suggested inexpensive buildings, preferably one story high, and designed as the Port William buildings are. For such buildings the government is ready to furnish plans. The probable cost of the main buildings, including all furniture, and having a capacity of 600 men, completely, would be approximately $5,000. Barns, pig pens, chicken houses and all outbuildings $3,000. Cost of stock not less than to cows six pigs three teams chickens, including harness, wagons, implements, etc., $3,000 to $4,000. Total $14,000.

Self Sustaining. The superintendent should be a bachelor and no woman should be allowed upon or about the farm as an employer. The man for manager is most important.

Under the Jail Act for 1913, the turnkeys of the various county jails would at once be dispensed with this affecting an immediate saving to the counties.

Direct Vote Returns in Saskatchewan Show That Interest Was Lacking.

(Canadian Press Despatch) REGINA, Sask., Nov. 29.—The result of the election on direct legislation has not been completely reported. Premier Scott stated last night: "The government is not in a position to give a definite decision. It is the duty of the supporters of the bill to say whether they will continue their efforts in bringing this measure before the present or another session of the legislature."

CHURCHILL AGAIN IN THE LIMELIGHT

LONDON, Nov. 29.—It is not long since Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, was constantly in the limelight. "But for Winston there would be nothing in the newspapers," wrote Premier Asquith to Sir Rufus Isaacs in a letter quoted during the airing of the Marconi scandal, written before that parliamentary investigation into the wireless scheme was ordered.

BECKER'S APPEAL WILL BE HEARD

(Canadian Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Twenty-five reasons why former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker should not be executed for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, will be presented next week to the state court of appeals. Becker is now in Sing Sing prison under sentence of execution. His attorneys said to-day that the court probably would devote four or five days to hearing arguments on his appeal from conviction.

MASONIC HALL THE SCENE OF BRIGHT GATHERING OF BOYS

Opening Banquet to Section A of Boys Work Conference—Subject Propounded, "What We Have Come For."

Opening banquet to section A of the Eight Annual Boys Work Conference of Central and Western Ontario was held in the Masonic hall last evening at 6.15 and proved a lively affair.

The boys were certainly not bashful in regards eating or anything else. The evening, cheers and eats being the order of the hour. The way the boys went after the good things served by the Ladies Aid Societies was wonderful to behold. Food disappeared as if by magic. The yells of the different societies and towns represented were given loud and lustily, and added to the liveliness of the occasion.

In the absence of Mr. F. Yeigh of Toronto, the presiding officer of the conference, who did not arrive until late, Rev. E. W. Halpeny of Toronto, general secretary of Ontario Sunday School Association acted in the capacity of chairman. Mr. T. L. Wood, the president of the local Y. M. C. A., welcomed the boys to this city, hoping that their visit here would be a pleasant and profitable one. The Y. M. C. A. is open to the boys during their stay here, and they are invited to use it whenever required. Mr. Wood strongly urged the boys to consider the serious side of their visit, as they are not here primarily to have a good time but to get good ideas to take back with them which will prove a help to the society from which they are sent.

Mr. Wood's speech was humorous in parts and the boys listened to it with great interest. The response to Mr. Woods' address, "What we have come for," was first responded to by Mr. J. H. A. Stoneman of Toronto, who stated the first reason he came was that he was sent, but that was not the only reason he came to the conference to get new ideas for Christian work to take back to Toronto, to prove a help there. He stated it was all right for the boys while here to have a good time, but he hoped that they would, and he was satisfied they will conduct themselves as gentlemen while here.

Dr. Montague Is Having a Stiff Fight in Manitoba Today.

(Canadian Press Despatch) WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 29.—After a hard fought campaign there promises to be a heavy vote polled to-day in Kildonan and St. Andrews, where Hon. Dr. Montague is seeking election to the legislature. Though the roads are very bad and weather is mild, neither side appears over confident, and the result probably will be close, as Dr. Grain, former member, last election had a majority of only 88 over Bredin, the present Liberal candidate.

SCOTT'S OLD SHIP

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—T cable from London to The New York American says: Captain Scott's old ship "Discovery," used in the first antarctic expedition, was acquired yesterday from the Hudson Bay Company by Foster Shackhouse, leader of the British antarctic expedition in 1904. The Discovery on her former voyage was frozen in the ice field for three years.

Mystery Still Surrounds C. Lavell's Disappearance

HAMILTON, Nov. 29.—In an effort to locate Professor Cecil F. Lavell, who was last seen in a rowboat on the waterfront on Monday, day afternoon, had circulars printed explaining his description and also containing his photograph. They will be sent all over the country in the hope that he may be located.

Monsignor Mahoney and that he was a Roman Catholic, which bears out the theory of mental derangement as Mr. Lavell was not employed by Monsignor Mahoney nor was he a Roman Catholic. Mr. Baddeau is sure the man was the missing professor. He wore a long coat and peaked cap.

Strange Request. This morning a man who is supposed to be the missing professor called at a home on Fairholt road and asked if he could play the piano in the home. The lady of the house was so taken back by the request and noticing that the man talked in proportion with the missing man, she granted the request. He played portions of Suppe's Post and Peasant and all of Rubenstein's Melody in F, and left the house. Mrs. Lavell heard it and the lady in question will interview her this afternoon.

There is no immediate likelihood of work on the new railway at Lorne bridge being abandoned by the contractors. This information was secured by the civic authorities yesterday, who were concerned over the developments which had arisen in the connection with the construction of the railway. If there happens to be a cessation of the work at the bridge last night, most of whom have been steadily engaged in camp all summer, and who have accumulated considerable savings. In fact, a lot of the men have money on deposit in local banks, as they have spent very little during the summer.

While it is somewhat indefinite as to when work will be resumed, it is considered at present as only a case of marking time. It is estimated that both in the north and south end of the line, almost three hundred men are out of work. Many came flocking into the city last night, most of whom have been steadily engaged in camp all summer, and who have accumulated considerable savings. In fact, a lot of the men have money on deposit in local banks, as they have spent very little during the summer.

That there will be a resumption of work all along the line within a few days is the expectation of the directors. The cause for the present tie-up, as announced by President Muir, is a likely one any time in a big undertaking. The sale of the bonds has not kept pace with the construction, consequently the outlay had to be curtailed, and the sub-contractors were the first to feel it.

A despatch from Galt says: It was learned to-day that the trouble on Wednesday evening between C. P. R. employes and construction men of Johnson Brothers, the contractors, was not due over money matters, it is said, but that the C. P. R. required its engines and the contractors weren't through with them. In the tearing up of the tracks and conflict between the two gangs of men the engines were detailed and the situation was tied up for 24 hours, but was cleared when word was received from the contractors to allow the engines to be taken away.

BANQUET AT THE Y.M.C.A. WAS MOST BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Delegates at Supper—Object of The Big Conference Are Duly Set Forth In Clever Addresses.

The Eighth Annual Boys Work Conference received a splendid send-off so far as the B section was concerned in the Dining Hall of the Y. M. C. A. A grand banquet was served and it was enjoyed right merrily. The after time the great hall resounded with party cries, those of Toronto being particularly well rendered. They were right up to date those boys from Toronto and even the city tram-cars were assailed, it being sung they would be bought if they were put up for sale. This allusion was heartily received and applauded.

Then came the speaker of the evening, Rev. H. A. Brown of Chicago. He was in a humorous vein, and his discourse was profusely littered with stories and anecdotes. Many times the banqueters were smiling credulously as his references to Pong-Pong. "Curious," he remarked "how everybody smiles when I mention that name." He related his famous watermelon story and here it is briefly: "Way down south there is a local rivalry as to who can grow the biggest melon. One farmer's melons was away ahead of the rest and competition was given up and all efforts were centered upon this one monster. In due time it was ready for the market and a dray was hired and the melon taken away."

Mr. A. G. Browning, K. C., acted as chairman, in a pleasant style and introduced the various speakers. The Rev. R. D. Hamilton, president of the Brantford Sunday School Association extended a hearty welcome to all delegates present. He added that the city of Brantford, the Manchester City of Canada, extended to them its welcome. He invited you to our tables. It has taken me a long time to find out what we need at the present time," he said, "and it is leadership." He had come to that conclusion and this was where to find it.

Mr. Vernon Neil, a delegate from Woodstock, said there was a great promise in the Y. M. C. A. there. Under his wing there were some 250 juniors.

Mad and Drunken. The Bacon reproves him for running ahead of the Cabinet. The Daily News declares he is "running the Rake's Progress," and adds: "Earnest Liberals of the rank and file can see no justification for the ruinous size of the navy estimates. In an editorial headed, "Mad and Drunken," the same newspaper says: "Important social reforms have been either postponed or mutilated, education starved and the fruits of the greatest budget of modern times dissipated."

Strong Plea Is Made by Bishop Fallon For Imperial Federation. LONDON, Ont., Nov. 29.—The feature of the annual banquet of the St. Andrew's Society held here last night was the appearance of Bishop Fallon and Mr. Henri Bourassa, the leader of the Quebec Nationalists, as principal speakers. Because of their contrasting views on bilingualism, preceding the dinner, there was an air of suspense. However, there was nothing in the nature of a verbal clash. Replying to the toast of "The Empire," Bishop Fallon and Mr. Bourassa took decidedly different views. Bishop Fallon made a powerful and eloquent plea for an Imperial federation, while the Nationalist leader was equally strong in his contention that the way to keep the Empire intact was to develop the spirit of nationalism in the colonies.

Ransom Wilkes Wins Distinction

It is the cut of a collar, the pose of a hat, the addition of a jewel, the color of a stocking, that distinguishes one woman from another, and gives precedence of individuality. Madame Panquin of Paris is all things to all women in the matter of dress, and has the art of the single touch. If all women could be convinced of the Frenchwoman's point of view in dress business would be bad. The Frenchwoman is far from a liberal buyer of clothes. She is liberal rather in the accessories. The little touch that makes the toilet complete, she is mistress of the secret—and she says, the secret American women have yet to learn.

The elegant Parisienne knows that it is not the amount of money spent, and the number of clothes purchased, that constitute a well-dressed woman.

self in fine style. The crew with which Mr. Wilkes was associated finished six yards ahead after a fine race. Each member, received a miniature silver car, while Mr. Wilkes, as stroke oar, had placed in his possession, to be retained for one year, a magnificent cup, bearing the names of all the winners of the famous race at Oxford since 1867. This is an honor of which any young man breaking into such a historic old institution as Oxford might well be proud.

RINGING MESSAGE BY N. J. SPEAKER

(Continued from Page 1) The commercial value of a boy who had reached maturity, had been put by one at $2,000. The speaker asked: "How much of an asset are you to God?"

Some say that a boy becomes a man when he puts on long trousers, but he knew men who were overgrown babies. The children play which "it" means the game in tennis, should play the team game, which is a man's game. "The speaker continuing said: "The boy who is beginning to be a man drops the childish 'games' where he wins and begins to play the team game for the lifetime. The political game, the boy who listens to improper stories, the tenement owner who leases places unfit for habitation, were all classes, as those not playing the man's game. The man or boy who, in order to gratify individual passions, is impatient and indulges in vice and immorality, was declared by the speaker to be an overgrown child.

Must Have a Grip. Without character there was no salvation from sin; weakness and wickedness. To develop character, self-control was required, and self-control will be the trained muscle," said the speaker, "the organ of the will." The controlled muscles control the individual actions. Mr. J. Howard Crocker, formerly secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., was cited as an instance of a man who had a grip on himself. They had been associated together when boys, living in New Brunswick. The boys used to go down to the race track early in the morning when getting into training for Victoria Day sports. Crocker was always first on the track, thus demonstrating the mastery he had over himself. He had followed the movements of Crocker, who is now in China, and throughout his life he had demonstrated that he had a grip on himself. Speaking further of the grip a man should have on himself, he said men in houses of refuge and jails were flabby in muscle and in will-power. The committing of sin was believed by some boys to be an evidence of manliness, but this was a mistake.

Must Sacrifice. For the boy who was willing to sacrifice many were ready to re- quiring their services. The temperance question was not yet settled, the child labor question, the capital and labor question, and the white slave traffic. Several instances in which boys had made a stand for what was right were cited. In a certain high school the entire school had written the examinations over again because it was thought that some had had access to the questions previous to the examination. A boy had exposed a man who was selling obscene literature. Still another boy had exposed a man who was teaching his mates violence. The last-mentioned boy had said: "I don't care if it kills me. For the sake of the other fellows I will do it."

Two Laws. There were two laws of life—the law of the beast and the law of God. If the law of the beast is followed, there is deterioration; but if the law of God is followed, there is expansion. The boy should ask himself: "How much of an asset am I to God?" The speaker in his concluding remarks bidden "Wanted that every boy could catch a vision of Christ, who came to minister, and not to be ministered unto."

Mr. Forgie announced that there were eight conferences now in progress in the Provinces and the States. A telegram conveying greetings was read and approved of by the conference. Mr. Taylor Stanton, at present in the West, will also receive the message. The meeting was concluded by singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

OUT OF KINDNESS

The annual appeals for early Christmas shopping are often addressed to the self-interest of shoppers. ...

"We are trying to emphasize the fact that late-in-the-season buying not only brings a miserable instead of a merry Christmas to the clerks and salesmen and women, but also entails great and unnecessary hardship upon cash clerks, bundle wrappers, express men and delivery boys; whose work continues long after the doors of the stores are closed."

Christmas is the season of kindness and it is appropriate to observe the law of kindness in making preparations for it.

TAKE NOTICE

CITY OF BRANTFORD SANITARY SEWERS

The Council of the Corporation of the City of Brantford intends to construct as Local Improvements the Sanitary Sewers recommended by the Board of Health contained in the following schedule, and intends to assess part of the cost on the lands directly abutting on the work.

STREET	FROM	TO	Est. Cost	City's Share
Abigail Ave.	Lawrence	Margaretta	$2,260	$1,170
Brook	Grey	Marlboro	594	266
Drummond	Arthur	Mary	594	266
Roberts Ave.	Dufferin Ave.	200 ft. Southerly	400	132

The estimated special rate per foot frontage per annum is 6 cents, the special assessments to be paid in 40 annual instalments.

Petition against the works will not avail to prevent their construction.

A By-Law for the above purpose will be introduced at the Council on Monday, December 8th, 1913.

T. HARRY JONES,
City Engineer.

Dated Nov. 27th, 1913

Local News

Police Court

This morning's session of the police court was not a very pretentious affair. Three drunks were disposed of and a disorderly, Joseph Jacobs, by name, was fined $5.

Will Ship Lungmotor. The Life Saving Devices Co., of Chicago, have acknowledged the receipt of the city's order for a lungmotor. The shipment will be made in a few days.

In New Church. Rapid progress is being made by Contractor Johnson on his new Marlboro street Methodist church, and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy by the second week in December.

Holmedale Tigers. Holmedale Tigers Football club are holding a general meeting at St. Paul's church on Monday night. All the men in Holmedale are requested to attend this meeting as there will be a number of important business matters to be transacted.

Carpetball Note. Last evening the Borden No. 1 team captained by Mr. L. Wingard won from the W. I. W. on the latter's floor. Mr. F. Brooks was captain of the W.O.O. team. Score 35-33. Mr. Fred Brett was referee.

A Great Success. The Pansy Club Bazaar held at the S. M. Thomson's Children's Home on Chatham street yesterday proved a great success. About $175.00 was realized, which will all go to help the home. The young ladies of the Club are delighted with the result.

Went to Ingersoll. The officers of Mount Horeb Chapter No. 20 R.A.M., G.R.C., went to Ingersoll last evening and put on the Royal Arch degree there. About 20 went from here, and others were present from Woodstock, Paris and Simcoe.

Will be Buried in Hamilton. The police department have been unable to secure further information concerning Abraham Young, the Brantford man who died in Hamilton on Thursday night as the result of being struck by a fast moving train. The deceased will likely be buried in Hamilton.

Must be Stopped. It has been reported to the police that men and boys in passing the house occupied by Kate Gaffery, 43 Alfred street, have greatly annoyed her by breaking all the windows and doors. Chief Slembic declares that this practice must stop and anyone found doing it will be prosecuted.

Dufferin Rifles Sports. On Wednesday night B Company of the Dufferin Rifles will meet at the Armories to make arrangements for the regimental sports. Each Wednesday and Friday evening C Co. meets in the armories to train for the regimental sports to be held Dec. 10 and 12.

Account Rendered. Mr. A. E. Watts, K.C., has rendered an account to the city for $25.00 for legal services. Ten dollars of this amount was for services in the arbitration of A. J. Wilkes and the G. T. R. and $15 for advising as to the city's liability under the Holmedale switch agreement with the Grand Trunk.

Perils of the City. "Peril points in our city life pointed out," will be the sermon subject to-morrow evening at the First Baptist. The music includes "The sinner and the Song," solo and chorus, "Saviour Thy Children Keep," and a closing solo by Miss Hutchinson, "Saviour I come to Thee."

Poultry Show Closes. The Poultry Show closed last evening after the most successful show ever held by the local association. To say the officers are pleased with the result of the show is putting it mildly. This morning almost all the exhibits have been taken away. In Thursday's issue of the paper under White Wyandottes 22 prizes were given. The last 16 should have been under the heading of Columbian Wyandottes.

Struck by Vehicle. Last evening when coming from the G. T. R. depot some of the Toronto delegates to the Boys' Convention, scorned the use of the sidewalks, walking down the middle of the street, with the result that one young man was knocked down by a rig, when getting out of the way of a street car. He was not injured to any extent, although a wheel of the vehicle ran over his leg.

Echo Place Hockey. At a meeting of the Echo Place Silk Sox Hockey Club, held at the residence of Mr. F. T. Morrow, Echo Place, last night, it was decided to have an open air rink at Echo Place this winter to give the people of Echo Place a chance to witness some fast games of hockey this year. Young men who have already signified their intention of playing are: Messrs. Jas. Hanley, F. C. Smith, Reg. Gillen, Norman Gillen, Emmerson Pettit, Charles Simmons, Alfred Brennan, M. Acres and George Davidson. The club requests all communications regarding games and dates to be addressed to W. M. Acres, secretary, Echo Place.

The women students of Victoria at Toronto, want a Board of control separate from the men.

Col. R. L. Nelles of Toronto, formerly G. T. R. agent in Brantford, was in town this week.

On Thursday evening at the regular meeting of the Royal Templers, Miss R. Young was presented with a mantel clock in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Albert Brown.

Among the guests at the luncheon given to Premier Borden yesterday at Washington was Mr. Bell, President of the American Trust and Guarantee Company. Mr. Bell was a former Brantfordite, having a position on the Bank of Commerce staff in this city. He now holds one of the foremost financial positions in Washington.

There is a lull in the social atmosphere this week. Santa Claus and his attendants are busy getting ready for him. We are so wonderfully human about Christmas, are pleased with all the simple things that please the children, the simple tales about simple folks, about little children and their hopes for Christmas. The stories of the poor, of happy people, of lonely people, of the little girl behind the counter who declared that Christmas was a terrible thing. Then there is the generous, wealthy head of the firm, who does kindly things; the clergyman with so many demands on him doing generous acts by stealth, and the physician always alleviating the poor. All flash their suburbs and shadows wildly on the Christmas picture that glows with joy and hope.

The Modern Girl. Is the modern girl allowed too much liberty? People had an idea two or three generations ago that women in general should be in a way all of the same mold, viz., universally meek, submissive, in their awe towards men. To-day we cannot imagine the shy, delicate, oft-times fainting girl of the early Victorian type. To-day we have the tall, frank, out-of-door girl. Without her freedom she would be like a poor little mouse in a vacuum, if the stony conventions of old would shut her in now that she has so gloriously outgrown them. The change has come about as gradually as the opening of a rose—the freedom that girls have deservedly won to think and act and dress according to the originality that is in them. The modern girl is everywhere—working with men, sunny of humor, fine of courage. She reads and thinks, she dreams, and achieves, which are some of her attributes to-day.

MAGUIRE—MILLER. The marriage took place on Thursday at the residence of Rev. Mr. Woodside, 83 Chatham street of Miss Vina Miller to Mr. William Thomas Maguire, both of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Maguire will take up their residence in the city.

BANQUET AT THE Y.M.C.A.

(Continued from Page 1.) on duly carted to the place of sale. Whilst here Sambo came and looked over the tasteful lump with both eyes and mouth watering. Asked if he could manage it, he replied: "Well, yes, massa, all but de rine." "Very well," said the proud owner, "if you manage it I'll stand for it; but if you don't you must pay for it." Sambo looked abashed and then slunk away. Three days later he appeared and was again challenged and this time he accepted gladly. He started in and the melon disappeared. "Well, Sam," said the late owner, "how did you manage that?" "Easy, Massa," was the reply. "I had one on my patch the same size and I knew if I could manage one, I could do the other."

"When I was way down in Pong Ponga," said Mr. Brown, amidst sniles, "I came across a young man who was named McGill McDowd. He was a distinguished scholar and I asked him what he intended to do. He replied that he was going to do good work among the natives of Pong Ponga. "Now, what," asked the speaker, "had given him that set to his life?" "It was his Sunday school teacher." He also gave an apt allusion to a famous quotation and substituted for the original "Tis the set of the soul that makes the goal," etc. And he there terminated amidst applause.

Preston G. Orwig gave a few definite instructions in an amusing little speech and it is hoped that the delegates will remember his points and "punches."

Asking the audience to attend the Wellington St. church for the first night's proceedings the banquet and speeches ended.

PRISON FARM FOR BRANT COUNTY

Brant, Elgin, Perth.

Committees appointed to interview the counties of Brant, Elgin and Perth in an endeavor to have them join in the scheme, reported, but no definite assurance was given that any of these would join. According to Warden Denton, who presided upon Elgin Council, the committee need not hold out very much hope that that county would come in. Elgin councillors, he said, had not received the proposition very enthusiastically and he thought it funny that the County of Elgin should have appointed as their delegate the warden, who is to retire at the end of this year. To him it looked like as if their idea was to shelve the matter.

Councillor Appell stated that he had interviewed some of the Perth councillors and the County of Elgin were not altogether pleased with the enthusiasm of their reception. The clerk of that county, he said, was very much against the scheme, and it looked to him as if the clerk just about ran the Council.

Alderman Pitcher, of Brantford, reported that Brant County Council had not yet held their final meeting, but he had every hope that Brant would come into the fold as soon as they met.

Some discussion arose as a result of the question regarding what would be done with the women prisoners, when the county jails were abolished.

Councillor Walley reported that the Government was planning for the keeping of female prisoners.

A lively discussion arose over the question regarding how prisoners on remand and prisoners awaiting trial are to be dealt with when county that the Government paid all expenses for a lady constable to wait upon Mrs. Beemer while in Oxford jail on a charge of murder and also paid all expenses while she was in the hospital. This, he thought, proved that she was a Government prisoner while on remand.

Councillor Whalley stated that Dr. Smith had led him to believe that this whole matter would be attended to by the Government.

This proved to be satisfactory and the question was dropped for the present.

On motion it was decided to adjourn to meet again, probably in Brantford early in December. In the meantime several sites may be inspected.

Mayor Is Better. His Worship Mayor Hartman is improving from his recent indisposition. He expects to be back in harness again soon and his friends are hopeful that he will be.

In Local Lock-ups.

Councillor Walley stated that prisoners committed to the central jail would be Government prisoners, and it would be up to the Government to arrange with the municipality, where the prisoners were to be tried, for his keep while there, in the city or town lockup, and also to arrange for the transfer of prisoners from the jail to the place of trial.

Alderman West thought a prisoner was not a Government prisoner until he was found guilty.

Clerk Birch of Oxford, thought that a prisoner belonged to the Government when committed, for trial. He illustrated his remarks by stating

AERIAL CONQUEST of the ATLANTIC

Probable Route of First Transatlantic Flight.

BY ALAN R. HAWLEY,
President of the Aero Club of America.
(Copyright, 1913, by the New York Herald Co. All rights reserved.)

CERTAINLY and speedily we are coming to the day when the aviator will cross the Atlantic Ocean in a heavier than air machine. How far away that day is can only be conjectured, but many of the most conservative persons interested in aircraft are firmly convinced that the crossing will be made in their day and generation.

We have arrived at that stage in aerial navigation that has recorded sustained flights of nearly fifteen hours. We have seen the crossing of the Alps and the St. Petersburg to Paris flight of about two thousand miles by one craft; we have gloried in the flights over the English Channel, and more recently have seen the crossing of the Mediterranean Sea. There have been performances of up-to-date aviators, who have demonstrated that they have more control over their aircraft than has a bird over its wings when suddenly tossed into the air. We have had aeroplanes making a speed of close under 150 miles an hour and have arrived at that point where the attainment of 200 miles an hour is no longer a theory. It is a matter of practical, reasonable construction.

It has been demonstrated that a machine of the racing type can fly 100 miles an hour easily and that it can stay in the air for practically a day. Two such flights and one shorter one of less than a day's duration would bring the aviator across the Atlantic Ocean. Roland P. Garros, most enthusiastic of aviators, has just crossed the Mediterranean and his journey was a miniature of what a flight over the Atlantic Ocean would be. But it is so infinitesimally small in comparison that it must be considered very carefully. He covered approximately 500 miles without a stop. True, he followed Corsica and Sardinia and had to travel only about 250 miles over open water, but he accomplished the long journey successfully. His machine was able to continue the flight if need be to show that it had not by any means exhausted its life in the one journey. A machine of twice or thrice the sustaining power, speed and endurance certainly would be able to cover more than twice or three times the distance over the Mediterranean, and that would be sufficient to encompass each leg on the voyage across the Atlantic.

Garros says he can cross the Atlantic. That, of course, is only theory, but many warmly believe that he or some other aviator equally confident soon will step forth with a well tested craft and make the effort. Members of the Aero Club of America and of the Royal Aero Club of London do not hesitate to express the belief that the aerial route across the Atlantic will be discovered within the next five years. And once the way is shown, it does not surprise those foremost in the aerial world.

Garros selects his route from the British Isles to Iceland, thence to Newfoundland and New York. This would make the first leg of his journey 1,000 miles long, the second 2,400 miles and the third 1,000 miles—a complete voyage of 4,400 miles. This would be more than twice as long as any flight recorded and counts only two relay points, Iceland and Newfoundland. He might alter the first leg of the flight and land at the Faroe Islands, approximately 500 miles from the British Isles, and thence fly to Iceland. But even this would not eliminate the grave disadvantages under which he would labor by selecting such a long route.

The initial stage of the journey is made when motor, man and mood are best. It might be accomplished without a mishap, Iceland possibly could be reached easily, but from Iceland to Newfoundland is a great gap over probably the worst section of the Atlantic Ocean the aviator could choose. This leg of the journey would be 2,500 miles long, about the same as from Ireland to Newfoundland. It would be over a part of the ocean which is little traversed by ships and where sudden blasts out of the Arctic Circle would bring great changes in the temperature that might be fatal to the motor.

No haven of safety would be open to the imperilled aerial mariner, for the only land within hundreds of miles would be the bleak and barren coasts of Greenland and Labrador. The former is perpetually a mountain of ice, with a plateau that might afford an excellent landing place, but a most dismal staying place if this emergency arose. The whole region is uninhabited except along strips of the east coast and west coast, and these habitations would be so far away that the aviators would be unable to reach them before their scant supply of food became exhausted. Hope of rescue would be more remote even than if the aviators dropped into the ocean, because in the latter extremity they would have a slight chance of being picked up by a straggling sealer or other fishing boat.

Labrador, which would be several hundred miles out of the course, would make the most perilous kind of a refuge, even worse than Greenland, because a landing place could not be found there with any more ease than in the Rocky Mountains. Where there are not vast virgin forests, with no open places that might offer a landing, the earth's contour is volcanic in its nature, dating back to prehistoric times, when it was molten, as scientists believe. Great hills of igneous formation, jagged, tumbled and cloven by abrupt chasms winding in all directions make the coast line formidable as a place for the best airman to land on.

Aside from these drawbacks to the Iceland route over the Atlantic, the aviators would have to traverse more than thirty degrees of northern latitude with the attendant atmospheric changes that would call for the utmost vigilance to keep the machine and men from freezing. Around Iceland and Davis Strait the most impenetrable and persistent fogs abound, so dense that the aviators would be seriously handicapped, even if they rose high enough to clear the fog. Then, again, the Arctic storm is so sudden it might overtake the aviator before they could make a landing. It is the belief of many that some such evil influence overtook Salomon Auguste Andrée and his daring companions, fifteen years ago, when they attempted to navigate the Arctic Circle and reach the North Pole by balloon. They flew from Spitzbergen, in what is now a most prominent position, but good weather, and after some seven hundred miles north were never heard from again. Few believe they came down in the Polar Sea or any other body of water, because their expedition was so equipped that in such an event parts of it would float out on the ice to the world know of the tragedy. Not a vestige of it ever has been found, and those most versed in polar lore believe the balloonists came to earth somewhere on Graceland's icy mountains and were unable to make their way to a habitation on either coast.

Just why such a route should be selected it is hard to imagine. Its longest leg is about the same distance as from the Irish coast to Newfoundland, with no apparent advantages over the latter.

A far more favorable route lies open. The navigator could leave the European coast along the shores of Spain, fly thence to the Azores Islands, to Newfoundland and to New York. The three legs of this journey would be very nearly the same length. From Spain to the Azores is approximately 1,000 miles; thence to Newfoundland, 1,500 miles, and to New York, 1,200 miles, or 3,700 miles in all.

Numberous advantages are offered by such a route. In the first place, the aviator would travel along the northern parallel of latitude, with a practically unvarying temperature all the way. This would insure for his motor increased efficiency under the long strain. The first thousand miles would be made when the motor is cleanest and in best working order. The second leg, heading for Newfoundland, would be not so long as the journey from St. Peterburg to Paris, but, of course, would have to be made without mishap serious enough to cause the machine to fall. Being supplied with pontoons for the purpose, it could glide to the ocean for temporary repairs. But the chief advantage of such a route would be that the worst part of the journey would be over a part of the ocean that is practically crowded with transatlantic steamships all during the flight, giving the aviator assurance that he would be near help when most likely to meet with fouling engines, diminishing fuel, diminishing sustaining power and diminishing vitality of the human machine.

the aviator would be over the New England States, with ample landing places.

A third route has been suggested—across the narrowest part of the Atlantic Ocean—from Sierra Leone, on the western coast of Africa, to Cape Saint Roque, Brazil, on the northeastern shoulder of South America. For the purpose merely of crossing the ocean this might be the most promising route because it is roundly 1,600 miles from continent to continent, half the distance of the Azores route and about one-third the Iceland route. Many apparent advantages lie in this locality. From Sierra Leone a flight of 900 miles in round figures would carry the aviator to the island of St. Paul, off the Brazilian coast. About 400 miles to the southwest lies the island of Fernando Noronha, with 500 miles between it and the Brazilian coast. The longest leg of this route would be very little longer than the longest continued flight yet officially recorded—700 miles. Two possible landing places in the 1,600 miles would give the aviator assurance, but he would be without the greater opportunities for assistance he would encounter from the numerous ships in the lanes of the North Atlantic. He would have a comparatively even temperature and the further aid of tropical calms.

Granting that an aeroplane will be built that can sustain a speed of a hundred miles an hour or more for fifteen hours, even the rankest pessimist—and there are few of them interested in aviation—can cite few things that would bring disaster to an across the ocean flyer. The collapse of a wing, the breaking of part of the framework or seizure of the operator or operators with some sudden ailment would easily cause the machine to tumble. But the proportion of such accidents in aerial navigation is very small.

Many things would cause him to glide to the surface of the ocean to make temporary repairs, such as the fouling of the motor, derangement of any part of the wings or guiding planes or some indisposition of the aviator. But pontoons will make it possible for the machine to descend to the ocean surface for repairs. These pontoons, of course, will be suspended far below the motor so that the seas would break through the open framework and not injure the machine. Rough weather, of course, will be guarded against and the aviator will not venture out without first learning what is the prospect of long continued storms. Temporary storms and squalls they do not fear because many aviators have been caught high in the air in a heavy gale and have gone against it safely or have risen and escaped it altogether.

Like the automobile, the aviation engine is becoming more reliable every day. In the earlier history of the automobile few persons cared to risk a tour of more than twenty-five miles into the country for fear the motor would foul or something happen to put the automobile out of commission. To-day a man would not own an automobile that could not make a journey of 150 miles or more in a day if necessary and be ready to start out again the next morning without a thing being done to it except to replenish its supply of fuel. Many an automobile motor to-day can run a week without stopping.

So the aeroplane motor will be perfected, and before many years we will see any number of craft that will be able to sustain themselves for twenty-five hours just as easily as for five hours.

Necessarily, the craft that discovers the aerial channel across the ocean will carry two pilots. While one man could sit at the wheel for fifteen, twenty or twenty-four hours at a time, being buoyed by the air and the enthusiasm that he was making history, it would increase the danger of the journey too much. Cramped position of his arms, hands or feet or slight drowsiness caused by the long strain on the eyes might easily result in disaster, but with two men each would act as a guard for the other. Many types of aeroplanes are in use to-day with two pilots, two steering wheels and a duplicate system of control throughout. By the merest adjustment the steering and control can be switched from one man to the other, thus relieving him at any time the strain becomes too great.

Gradually, every feature of air navigation is being brought toward perfection, and before long some one is going to cross the Atlantic Ocean and the pilots will receive a place in history and financial rewards that will make them independent for the rest of their lives.

A CANADIAN NATION BUILDER WHO IS DOING A GREAT PUBLIC WORK

The Honorable Frank Cochrane will never suffer himself to be the mere echo of the opinions of other men—he has ideas of his own in abundance which he conceives and expresses without hesitation or regard of political consequences. "Fearless Frank" is the name a friend and admirer once applied to him. Cochrane will live to the line every time, letting the chips fall where they will. He is remarkable for business sagacity and his judgment of men.

These are the qualities he has brought to bear upon the administration of the Canadian Government Railways. He found the men who are capable of making these railroads successful and then supported them to their work.

You give the public a good service and help to build up the country that feeds our railways," was his wise instruction, and these instructions were understood to be regardless of political fear or favor.

The Canadian Government Railways to him are a business institution which he insists must be operated upon business methods. Old systems die hard, and the revolution has taken place on the Canadian Government Railways. Sent capable employes to the junk heap and many political grafters clinging to cover. Old politicians in easy consciences regarding public affairs, slowly shake their heads, and sigh for the good old days, and bemoan their fate under this administration; while the employes quickly found out they must "make good" or "make way."

It's not "pull" but "work" that holds a man his job on the Canadian Government Railways today; merit is being rewarded, trains run on schedule, modern equipment installed, improved physical conditions of the tracks, terminals painted, extended and rebuilt, the natural resources of the country being brought to public attention, agriculture encouraged, manufacturers' openings advertised, and tourist attractions developed.

These things are not done in a day; miracles do not happen in this practical age; but a man like the Honorable Frank Cochrane, who puts his personality and will power into a problem even as complex as the management of Government railways, and has, in these latter days done wonders. He has refused to accept the verdict that has been commonly passed upon government ownership, of waste, extravagance and incapacity; a verdict that had its origin and was circulated by private and corporation greed.

He analyzed the situation, went over every part of the system and reached the conclusion that what the Canadian Government Railways really required was revitalization, strong, confident and sincere. He applied his own great energy for the betterment of conditions, and found in Mr. F. P. Cutcliffe a competent, strong railway administrator, whom he inspired with his own ideals and enthusiasm, with the result that to-day every employe of the Canadian Government Railways has a new vision of his importance in connection with the maintaining of a standard of service which must be second to none in America.

This change has not been accomplished by necromancy; it is the result of just plain every day directness of purpose and common business sense. First of all, Mr. Cochrane determined in his treatment of the government roads to clear his mind of all political predilection—he knew no man and he had no favorites. He realized that there was a great work for him to do, a great national railway which had cost Canada nearly $200,000,000, to be lifted out of the slough to be freed from the political trammels which had bound it. His was a task to which he bent all his energies. The paramount idea was to give the people a service that was creditable to Canada on a fair equitable basis, to redeem the roads from bankruptcy and mismanagement, and make them what they are intended to be, the great arteries of commerce which would play a commanding part in the development of the Dominion they serve.

"Yes," said the meek-looking man, "I've no doubt you've had some rough hunting experience in your travels abroad."

"I have indeed."

"Buffalo hunting?"

"Yes."

"And bear hunting?"

"Of course."

"Well, you just come around and let my wife take you house hunting and bear hunting with her." Then you'll begin to know what real excitement is."

The Chateauguay bye-election protest hearing of preliminary objections will likely be on December 13 at Valleyfield.

REVIEW OF REVIEWS
By A Passerby
Comment on Current Events of the Past Week As Seen By a Courier Representative.

An American by the name of Ned Wayburn recently left the land of his birth for the capital of England with the idea firmly fixed in his mind that he was leaving all the girls worth anything in the city of New York. This ambitious American had imagined that in all this great wide world, there were no girls to compare with the beauties of his native land. Ned Wayburn being a theatrical man thought he knew something about these things too, but his eyes were opened when he arrived at the metropolis. He saw girls, whom his adults are every bit as smart as those he had left. He noted, too, that they sang well and that their figures were perfect and he marvelled. Outside of New York he had thought it was an impossibility.

Wayburn went to England with the idea that he was going to show the English theatre managers how to do it. He was going to draw the British Public as a magnet draws the pins. Getting together a company he proceeded to stage an American comedy, "Are You There" which was bound to draw. But Ned found that the British taste was entirely different to that of Broadway. The audience wanted better singing, less figure display and a vastly superior show. The comedy failed and Wayburn had his first experience of the British. He realized that the taste of the Britisher was refined and more delicate than the American taste. They knew good stuff and refused to have poor. American theatre goes apparently forgot the voice when they look at the figure. When an English manager selects his chorus he goes by the figure, and they both endeavor to please the public. This points to the fact that the American taste is coarser than the British.

Ned Wayburn will have another try and will probably succeed, after the lesson he has learned.

There is some talk of a petition for the cessation of hostilities to the political prisoners of Russia. The prisoners are the advocates of freedom and progress. But it is a curious fact that in spite of every retarding influence Russia continues progressive. To the outer world there is something fascinating about this remarkable country with its romantic history and mysterious progress. For that the progress of Russia is mysterious. It felt no one by force, but also by kindness seems to thrive on disaster and misfortune. If we are to believe Russian writers about it, it has been misgoverned for centuries, and yet Russia is where it was hundreds of years ago as far as government is concerned. Its monarchs have been assassinated and its people tyrannized and still it has progressed. It is evident. It's population is stepped in misery and ignorance, and pugil by all the laws of politics and hygiene to have become exterminated many years ago. Every war undertaken has proved more or less a debacle and yet after each war the recuperative power of the country has reasserted itself and the nation has been placed in a better position than it was before the war. When Russia fought Japan, the Japs were much harder hit than the Russians, although they were the victors. One man to Japan meant more to them than as to Russia. Fifty years ago the population of Russia amounted to 60,000,000, and today it is over 150,000,000. In spite of war, pestilence and famine, and the country is still growing and expanding. The aristocracy of Russia is mixed and self-indulgent; it is in a parlous state; its intellect is despoiled. Yet the peasant progresses and with him Russia. In the vast interior of Russia there are millions of peasants whom politics and national crises never affect. They are the nations asset to definite fame. Many sparks have been shot out, but that is all, and until the Revolutionists come finally to a point, Russia is likely to continue as she has in the past—a tortured but progressive country.

Meanwhile the great smouldering fire of revolution has never burst into definite flame. Many sparks have been shot out, but that is all, and until the Revolutionists come finally to a point, Russia is likely to continue as she has in the past—a tortured but progressive country.

Did you ever think that the Tango is a good thing? It is a fashionable and London's leading medical physicians and physical culturists have approved of the Tango as an exercise for the masses. In the Tango there are many twists and turns and it is claimed that these antics bring every muscle of the human body into play, or rather work. Now, in the Tango there is a movement known as "charity bobbing." In this

KITCHENERS RIGHT-HAND MAN TO COMMAND INDIA

It is very evident that the British War Office intends strengthening the position of its representatives in India, for instead of appointing an officer of the British Army to the important position of Commander-in-Chief, in succession to Sir O. Moore Creagh, Sir Beauchamp Duff has been selected from the Indian Army.

This has caused a good deal of surprise in the Service, caused chiefly by the fact that the officer designated for the post belongs, like his predecessor, to the Indian Army, whereas there has long been a sort of unwritten rule in existence, that the appointment should go alternately to members of the British Army, and to the Indian Army, such as in the case of the Majorities of Montreal, a French-Canadian being chosen one time, and an English-speaking alderman the next.

The command in India was constituted a very different post from what it was before Lord Kitchener appeared on the scene and carried out his great measures of administrative reform, measures which, so far as the central control of the military forces is concerned, have been developed still further on the same lines since he quitted the country. The Commanders-in-Chief used to have a co-adjutor in the form of the military member of Council, who, speaking generally, was responsible for everything in connection with material as distinguished from personnel. Both were members of the Viceroy's Council, and although the military member figured less conspicuously in the military life of the country than his confreres, he in reality controlled the purse strings, and was in a sense, therefore, the predominant partner.

Lord Kitchener swept this system away (contrary to the wishes of the then Governor-General, Lord Curzon), and nowadays the Commander-in-Chief is virtually War Minister. At the same time, a great deal of the inspection work that used formerly to be undertaken by the Commander-in-Chief has now devolved upon his two principal subordinates, outside of the headquarters staff, the Commanders of the Northern and Southern Armies. The consequence of the transformation has been that of the soldier, who holds the highest position in the country requires to possess qualifications somewhat different from those which were primarily looked for when that position was about to fall vacant in the past.

If we look back over the holders of the post of Commander-in-Chief during the present generation, we find some very familiar names—H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, Canada's present Governor-General, Sir Donald Stewart and Lord Roberts, Sir G. White and Sir W. Lockhart—but all these eminent soldiers, although capable and experienced administrators, won the post rather in virtue of their being acknowledged and successful fighting men, than in recognition of peace and war, than in virtue of their being credited with exceptional gifts of organization.

General Duff was Lord Kitchener's right-hand man at the time when the victor of Omdurman was, while still more or less a stranger, engaged in carrying out vital reforms in a land lying still further on the same lines since he quitted the country. The Commanders-in-Chief used to have a co-adjutor in the form of the military member of Council, who, speaking generally, was responsible for everything in connection with material as distinguished from personnel. Both were members of the Viceroy's Council, and although the military member figured less conspicuously in the military life of the country than his confreres, he in reality controlled the purse strings, and was in a sense, therefore, the predominant partner.

Lord Kitchener swept this system away (contrary to the wishes of the then Governor-General, Lord Curzon), and nowadays the Commander-in-Chief is virtually War Minister. At the same time, a great deal of the inspection work that used formerly to be undertaken by the Commander-in-Chief has now devolved upon his two principal subordinates, out-

RESIDENTS PROTEST

They Don't Want Store in the Residential Section of Colborne Street.

Residents of Colborne street have already entered a protest against the building of a store in what is considered a residential section. The matter came up some weeks ago at the city council meeting and a permit was refused the applicant, Mr. Hiram Quinlan. In the letter of protest received last night by Acting Mayor Spence, it is claimed that Mr. Quinlan has commenced building operations, and has received no permit. However, as yet there is only a hole in the ground for which no permit is required. If building operations are really commenced, the civic authorities will not let the matter rest.

British Admiral

(Canadian Press Despatch) WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Although Rear-Admiral Craddock, commanding the British ships in Mexican waters, ranks Rear-Admiral Fletcher by virtue of seniority, the British commander has notified the American admiral that he wishes to subordinate himself in co-operating with the United States forces. This fresh evidence of friendly feeling and hearty co-operation between the two governments was received here to-day with manifest gratification.

Any developments in the Mexican situation seemed to be moving under the surface. There appeared to be no change in the diplomatic situation and no indication that the American government was deviating from its attitude of careful watching and patient waiting for the elimination of Huerta.

All officials by immediate charge of the situation were away from the capital. President Wilson and Secretaries Garrison and Daniels were in New York to attend the Army and Navy football game. Secretary of State Bryan was speaking in "Pottersville" Quebec.

THE NEW MILK DEPOT

We have established a Milk Depot in Brantford, where milk and cream are treated scientifically.

Where Our Milk is Produced

We start with the producer, and INSIST that we get milk from only those who will give proper attention to the matter of producing and caring for the milk until it arrives at our Depot.

How We Treat the Milk

Immediately the milk reaches us we clarify and pasteurize it; then it is put in sterilized glass bottles and placed in an Ice Chamber, where it is held at a low temperature until delivered to our many customers.

THE MACHINERY WE USE FOR THIS IS THE MOST MODERN THAT CAN BE BOUGHT, THE BEST THAT SCIENCE HAS DEVISED.

The Opinion of the Best Authorities

Milk thus handled is considered by the best authorities the SAFE milk to use, and is strongly recommended by the Medical Profession of all Cities. It is positively a safeguard against children contracting disease through the milk supply, all disease organisms being totally destroyed.

Is it not the only sensible thing to have our drivers deliver to you, daily, milk that you can absolutely rely upon as being safe for your children as well as yourselves?

The Practical Test

We shall be glad to demonstrate proof of the foregoing by supplying you with our milk. Kindly investigate what we say. It is no trouble for us to give you information.

Visitors will be made welcome at our plant each day after 3 p.m., when we shall be glad to fully discuss our proposition with you. Physicians specially welcome.

Boys Will Be Boys

No one can say that the Boys Work Conference delegates are not a real decent bunch of fellows. Of course the boys have to celebrate a little. Why not? If you were awakened from your slumbers last night by some one yelling you probably knew it was the conference boys, and turned over with a "God bless you."

Some of the Toronto fellows, it is reported, got a little funny last night and walked up the centre of Market street. A street car was held up, and the trolley pole pulled down from the wire. It is also said some of the conference bunch accidentally pushed a Market "bobby" off the sidewalk.

COBB GETS BACK IN NAVIN'S GRACES

Tyrus Writes His Boss Long Letter of Repentance.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 28.—For the first time in years there promises to be complete harmony among the members of the Detroit Club. Discord hitherto has hindered the efforts of the team a great deal. The most promising indications that things will be smoothed this season that in years past is the letter written to Tyrus Navin by Cobb, most warlike of the belligerents.

A whole lot of talk about refusing to sign, and holding out again, and enforcing demands of the Base Ball Fraternity and that sort of stuff has been choked in the first utterance by the diplomacy of Frank Navin. In some way which only Frank himself and Cobb know, probably, he so smoothed the irate peach that he came across with the most cordial letter in the world and asks Frank to give out to the papers. Just about the time that letter arrived, Manager Jennings dropped in from Buffalo for a flying visit for a few hours for a conference with Navin. That was on Saturday.

On Monday the letter was made public. This is the way it read: "Since our talk in New York where we came to understand each other so well, I have had only one thought in my mind and that was that I should write you and tell you how foolish I think that I have been ever to think of leaving Detroit and playing with some other team."

"I am entirely satisfied with the conditions under which I am playing at Detroit, due to your generous treatment, and I hope that I shall always be with the Tigers as long as I am able to play the game."

"I am absolutely satisfied with Detroit. I like the city, and the fans, and the management, and the ball club. My treatment by the team owners has been of the very best and I want the fans of Detroit to know that I am loyal to them and to the club."

"You have undoubtedly seen several stories in the papers recently about trouble between me and the club, but I don't know where they come from. I am wholly innocent in creating any talk against the club, in intention and in act."

"I offer on so generously to me in New York has pleased me greatly and I want to take this opportunity of thanking you. Please do not put this letter or any part of it you write to the papers. Go as strong as you like with it and I'll stand back every word."

Cobb Confirms Letter.

Following this letter Cobb confirmed the sentiments expressed in an interview given out in his hometown, Augusta, Ga. He added that he believed that the Tigers stood a better chance of taking a good year in the coming American League season. Cobb said that Dubuc, Willett and Hall ought to be a quartette of pitchers that it would be hard to beat.

Cobb is making golf his winter sport at the Augusta Country Club. He says that he has tried to quit the game but that he has gotten a firm grip on him that he finds that he cannot leave it alone no matter how many tries. After a continual course of discouragements he resolves that he will never again touch a golf club until he accomplishes something and feels himself growing in skill in the game and he forgets his resolutions to quit.

Frank Navin held up the Cobb letter for several days after he received it intending to wait until foot ball interest had died down enough so that it would get the publicity it deserved, but somebody let it leak enough so that the newspaper men went after it and Frank gave it out. It created quite a stir here as it was considered about the biggest baseball story that had broken for some time.

It is believed that the new method Cobb has taken will increase his value both to himself and to his team. In recent months Cobb has come to do a lot of things that have tended to make him unpopular. Last year was particularly unfortunate. In the first place he held out for so long that the public became tired of it and sentiment turned towards the club rather than towards the holdout, as they were then variously called. He conspired to increase the sentiment against him. But Cobb's ability with an ordinary good treatment of the fans can't help but make him the most popular player in the game.

Players Realize Cobb's Value. The players are undoubtedly pleased at his attitude, unless it interferes somewhat with the plans of the baseball fraternity. They all realize Cobb's immense value to the team. They realize that he has the punch, without which they would win less games and draw much smaller crowds. Whatever may be their personal ideas of him off the playing field they are for him hot and heavy on the diamond. When he is in good spirits and full of pep, almost always the remainder of the team is. When Cobb is slumping the rest of the team is very likely to slow up. Cobb acts pretty independently and it may be that he miffed some of the members of the Fraternity by the letter he sent to Navin. It may have been that they counted upon him to help them in their battles by making another spectacular hold-out campaign. But such a thing is impossible now after the out-and-out declaration of fidelity that Cobb has made. Cobb has signed his contract, however, evidently reserving the right to do that until the Fraternity's demands are completely settled. But he and Navin understand at what salary and terms he will sign at.

It is generally believed that Cobb received an increase over what he got last season. It is believed that what is what made him feel so good. It is certainly better for Navin to have him satisfied from the start as he is now, and admit that he is satisfied than to have these $15,000 hold-out stories going the rounds all the time. Frank believes that psychological effect of them was to influence other players to hold out for enormous salaries all during the spring. Navin had a lot of trouble with belligerents last year which he doesn't want and doesn't expect to repeat this season.

UNFINISHED STORY

The proprietors of the well known Holbrooks Sauce have put it up to the readers of Brantford papers only to discover the answer to the question "What did Grandpa Say," which forms the basis of their contest now being held in Brantford.

In reward for the clever suggestions given them they are offering several substantial cash prizes. The winner of any one of these prizes will undoubtedly be repaid for any time that they have put on it.

KINGSTON'S CHANCES APPEAR TO BE GOOD

Many Players For O. H. A. Senior and Junior Teams.

KINGSTON, Nov. 29.—From present indications it looks very much as if the Frontenac hockey teams would do well in the O. H. A. this season. Among those who were present at the annual meeting were: Brouse, Crawford, Vanhorne, Reid and Stanton of the seniors, and Millan, A. Cooke, W. Cooke, C. Stewart, Hiscock, Derry and H. Cooke, junior players. Of these the four latter are members of the K. C. I. team and it is altogether likely that they will stick with the school team again this season. It was reported some time ago that Charlie Stewart and Jim, his brother, would line up with the Frontenacs, but there is a very slight chance of them doing so. As far as an amalgamation of the K. C. I. and Frontenacs goes there is not the slightest possibility of the teams joining forces this season at least. There is no doubt but that it would make a great junior team and one that it would take some team to defeat. There will be a large number of players turn out with the Frontenacs this winter, among whom the following are mentioned: several others will also show up before long. With the seniors there will be Cooke, for goal, d'Estre, Stanton, Ferguson, L. Millan, Brouse, Crawford, Reid and others. The juniors will have T. Millan, Derry, R. Millan, Angroove and several others. At present it looks as if they lack a defence, but it is thought that they will have a likely looking back division when the season opens.

BEMIS MAY MAN-AGE PETERBORO.

PETERBORO, Nov. 29.—Three applications for the management of the local Canadian League baseball team have been received, and the application most favored is that of Harry Bemis, of the Toronto Baseball Club. Bill Crystal and Eddie Grogan of the Hamilton club, are the other applicants.

TINKER INTERVIEWS EVERS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Joe Tinker, deposed manager of the Cincinnati baseball team, called on Manager Evers, of the Chicago Nationals, yesterday, and after a conference, said he knew of no place where he would rather play than in Chicago. No terms were discussed and until President Murphy, of the Chicago Club, returns from Europe, no negotiations can be started between the local organization and the Cincinnati Club regarding the transfer of Tinker.

F. CARROLL LOST AND THEN RETIRED

Toronto Boxer Beaten at Hamilton—Good Bouts at Old Armories.

HAMILTON, Nov. 29.—The all-star bouts in the old armories last night, under the auspices of the Army Medical Corps, were easily the best of their kind ever held in Hamilton, and the large crowd was pleased with the entire show. Five rattling bouts were on the card, three of three rounds and two over the ten-round route.

Frank Carroll of Toronto, substituting Frank McCut, was beaten by Pete Scott, the local Indian wrestler-boxer, in seven rounds, and after he had decided that he had had enough he announced his retirement. Carroll stated that he was convinced that he was through, and he was given a great hand.

The Cayuga-Britton ten-round bout was a slashing affair, with honors about even. Jack Simpson and Art Brooks, two English lads, won their bouts of three rounds over Jack Maynard and Harry Jones, respectively. The curtain-raiser brought out two eleven-year-old boys Jack Gonkie, a son of the welterweight champion wrestler and Jack Hadon, and they put up a good argument.

Billy Carroll was third man in the ring.

Short Jabs.

The Montreal city championships will be held under the auspices of the Montreal A. A. A. early next spring. Johnny Dundee of New York led in nine rounds out of ten of his bout with Charlie White of Chicago in New Orleans.

QUEEN'S ARRANGES A TOUR.

KINGSTON, Nov. 29.—Patrick Kennedy, manager of Queen's senior hockey team, has completed arrangements for the proposed American trip during Christmas vacation. Yesterday he received a telegram confirming the places where the matches will be played. The team will visit New York, Cleveland and Detroit.

NATIONAL LEAGUE MEETING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—President Lynch, of the National League, yesterday sent notices to all presidents of league clubs that the annual meeting of the league would be held in this city on Tuesday, December 9, at 2 p.m. A meeting of the board of directors will be convened at noon of the same day.

Aunt Alma—So you took your first dancing lesson to-day. Was it difficult?

CURLING LADIES BECOMING NUMEROUS

Four Ladies' Clubs Now Affiliated With the Ontario Curling Association.

The ladies' curling clubs of the Province are taking a lively interest in the Ontario Curling Association for the coming season, no less than four clubs having joined under the new clause in the constitution permitting them to affiliate as associates. The clubs already affiliated are Peterboro, Toronto, Kingston, and Belleville, and the Secretary of the Ontario Association would be pleased to hear from any other ladies' curling clubs desiring to affiliate. A trophy has already been donated for competition among the ladies club members of the O. C. A.

A movement is on foot to organize a ladies' club in connection with the Queen City club of Toronto.

3 KINGS, BUT FAILS TO GET $1,272 POT

History of a Poker Game at Delmonico's is Revealed in Court.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—In a private dining room on the second floor of Delmonico's, Fifth Avenue and Forty-fourth street, a poker game was started on the night of May 15, 1911, the echo of which was heard the other day in City Court, when Justice McAvoy dismissed the action of John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, to recover $1,272 from John Bennett, race horse owner.

While the papers are mute excepting so far as a promissory note is concerned, it was learned that three kings and three queens started all the trouble. Mr. Bennett, who is something of a poker player, according to his own version believed that he had counted all the cards in the deck. He believed on this particular night McGraw held only two pairs, kings and queens, and a nut card. He knew he himself held three queens and believed he had discarded a king and an ace.

According to the papers, Mr. Bennett, who once had many of the leading race horses on the American turf, met Brandt Walker, a Wall Street broker, in a cafe down town in the afternoon of May 15, 1911, and they entered each others' health plentifully. It was after six o'clock that it was suggested that they go to Delmonico's for a dinner. According to affidavits a taxicab was called and soon they arrived at Delmonico's. After being conducted to a window table on the first floor Mr. Walker ordered. Things were rather dull. Horse racing was dead and they were talking about baseball and the wonderful start the Giants had made. This brought up the matter of McGraw, and as both men knew him Mr. Walker suggested that they call him up to have a bottle of wine. Mr. Walker called Mr. McGraw by telephone, said Mr. Bennett, and as there had been so much champagne, he was not certain about the hour of the manager's arrival.

"Some one suggested that we have a little game of poker," said Mr. Bennett. "I may have consented. Anyway, Mr. Walker and McGraw brought with them, who were introduced to me as ball players, and myself went into a little room upstairs, and we played poker—at least, they did.

"I think I was playing about even when I got three queens, a king and an ace. I discarded the king and the ace and drew two cards, but got nothing of value. McGraw, who was sitting at my left, had two kings, I thought and a small pair. He drew one card.

IS DEAD AGAINST MODERN WOMAN

BOSLTON, Nov.—"The modern woman?"

John L. Sullivan's enormous left fist crashed down on his knee with a force that made the little lady who sat looking at him in a sweater wonder jump—"I'm against 'em—dead against 'em."

And the one and only John L., once idol of the prize ring, spendthrift and all round good fellow, now developed into a gentleman, farmer and the philosopher, explained. "Too much society," he growled. "Too much thinking about what other men think about their looks and nates enough about what her husband thinks of her character. Half the time they haven't got any husbands at that. Bachelor girls! Huh! My idea of nothing to be!

"No, give me the old-fashioned girl. I used to know when I was a youngster. I'm not saying anything about morals, mind you. I'm just talking about the way they look at things—at life.

"The young men of to-day haven't got anything on the women folk, at that. I don't know whether the style of raisin' children has changed, or whether the change has been the ideas as to what's havin' a good time and all that sort of thing.

"All I know is that the young men of to-day aren't what they were in my time. They aren't as strong or as good.

"I can tell you one thing that's the matter at that. There's too blamed much education. A young chap likes off to high school and then to the university, and learns all about Greek roots, and calculus and how to parse Homer, and a lot more like it.

"And then what does he do? Why he gets out and gets himself a job clerkin' in some stores at about ten dollars a week, that's what. Take all these educated fellows here in Boston—or any other big city—I don't care where it is—and they ain't turnin' out an average of a thousand backs a year. That ain't no rap, that's facts. "I used to be a good fellow. Used

BASEBALL, PLAYED AROUND THE HOT STOVE CIRCUIT

A LADIES DAY POEM

A man was doing housework while his wife was at the game. When sharply rang the telephone and plain the message came: "Oh, hubby, dear, get on your things and join me right away. The Seals have two on bases; so they may not lose to-day."

"Nay, nay," the husband answered back, "I've lots of work to do; and as for that 'not losing' stuff, I'm not so green as you."

The man had washed the dishes, made the beds and swept the floor. When noisily the telephone rang out for him once more: "Oh, hubby, hubby," said the voice, "the second inning's done. Come out. We're all excited. For the Seals have made a run."

"Nay, nay," the husband answered back, "I'll stay at home and sew. For if the dear old Seals did score 'twas accident, I know."

The man did all his sewing and began the washing then, but soon was interrupted by the telephone again. "Oh, hubby, listen," said the voice, "I do not like to tease, but now the Seals are two ahead, so won't you come out, please."

"Nay, nay," the husband answered back, "I still must wash and bake, and wash and bake the victors our team will overtake."

The man was busy baking and the task was nearly over. When sharply rang the telephone, to call him, as before: "Oh, hubby, hubby," cried the voice, "the game, the game is done. And I'll have news for you—the Seals, the Seals have won!"

No more will hubby wash the clothes nor sew, nor bake the bread. For when he heard the joyful news he shrieked, and—dropped down dead.

British Football a Big Organized Business Plan

Half a century ago representatives from a dozen London clubs assembled for the purpose of considering the advisability of forming a society for the government of association football, and the outcome was the foundation of the Football Association.

This governing body of the soccer game has just celebrated its jubilee by a number banquet, the guests including representatives of football and kindred sporting organizations in the Old Country and from abroad, the presiding officer being the Right Hon. Lord Kinnaird, who is one of the Empire's greatest sportsmen and who has been president of the association since 1890.

Here in Canada we have heard a good deal of late of the Football Association and the playing of amateurs and professionals on the same team, a system which has proved most satisfactory throughout Great Britain.

The Football Association Cup—commonly known as the English Cup—competition was instituted in 1871, there being then but 15 entries. Since then football has made great strides, for in 1884 there were 100 entries in the Cup competition, while this season there were no less than 477. This year's matches in the four rounds of the competition proper produced a net gate of over $50,000, whilst a similar amount was obtained from the semi-final ties—$100,000 made up of half crowns, shillings and sixpenny bits.

The international matches were introduced in 1872, and to show that these contests have caught on, with the public, it may be said that at a match at Glasgow this year the crowd numbered 127,307. Professionalism was legalized in 1885 and this marked a new era in the history of the association. The football league was instituted in 1888 and it is interesting to note that Burnley, Accrington, Bolton, Warrers, Aston Villa, Everton, Blackburn, Rovers, Derby County, Wolverhampton Wanderers, West Bromwich Albion, Everton, Stoke, and Preston North End, were the twelve clubs which helped to form the first football league and the Prestonians had the distinction of winning the championship without losing a match, scoring forty points out of a possible forty-four.

It was in that memorable season that "Proud Preston" won the F. A. Cup without having had a goal scored against them. Bury equalled Preston's performance in the Association Cup in 1903, when they also won the trophy without losing a goal in the five rounds. The league system was an instantaneous success, and such to-day there is hardly a district in England that has not a competition run on these lines.

The Southern league was inaugurated in 1894; most of the clubs being amateur, but with the advent of Tottenham Hotspur in 1896 the competition, so far as its first division was concerned, completely changed its status and in the course of a year or there was not an amateur club left in the senior section.

But notwithstanding the fact that professionalism was completely revolutionizing the game, amateurism continued to flourish. New clubs sprang up in all directions, and the F. A. being unable to cope with the extra work led to the formation of county associations all over the country and with them came the reorganization of the parent body which hitherto had been managed by a committee of sixteen elected representatives.

Each county association of fifty or more affiliated clubs was allowed to send a delegate to the council, while in addition each of the ten districts into which England had been divided furnished a member.

That practice has continued from 1887 down to the present time. Including the officers, the Council of the Association to-day numbers sixty members, each of whom has to serve on at least one of the ten standing committees.

It is computed that there are 500,000 amateurs playing football as against 5,000 professionals, and the rules of the F. A. regarding reinstatements have been made so stringent that it is considered probable that in the near future there will be a considerable diminution in the ranks of the paid player. The London Football Association, numbering as it does, nearly 1,600 clubs, of whom only eleven are professional.

From that informal meeting fifty years ago sprang that gigantic concern known as the Football Association, Ltd., whose ramifications extend not only to Canada but to all of the overseas dominions. It boasts a bank balance of $75,000 to which some 15,000 clubs, 500,000 players, and 7,000 referees owe allegiance.

PANAMA AND THE CANAL IN PICTURE AND PROSE

This book first takes you in through the front door of Panama—through the islands along the way, describing the natives in picture and prose; thence you are taken to the isthmus and are shown the wonders of that unknown country—the people, their strange customs and more strange costumes, their religions and politics, their peculiar characteristics; how they live—how certain natives eat lizards and hugely enjoy them—how they fish and hunt; their sports and pastimes; marketing bananas, shooting alligators, burning charcoal; ALL there is to know about these queer people, and MORE than has ever been told of the great waterway—from the whys and wherefores of its inception to the ins and outs of its construction—and on through to its completion—in all a beautiful human interest story that will charm the reader to the very last page.

IN THE CER- ISSUE

OUR BRITISH LETTER

LONDON, Nov. 29.—King George VI. is making an especial point of being friendly with the late King Edward's friends. ... The shooting party given by Viscount Iveagh at Elveden for the King, for instance, Count Albert Mensdorff and the Marquis de Saxe, who were two of King Edward's closest friends, were among the guests. ... Norman Brookes, the great Australian tennis player, who has not appeared in first-class tennis since his defeat by James C. Parke in the last Davis Cup competition in Australia, has decided to return and will play in the tournaments on the Riviera this winter. ... While the Duke of Westminster and his influential committee of the raised something less than $50,000 for their half-million fund to train British athletes for the next Olympic games at Berlin, the trade unionists of the country have, without any great effort raised over a quarter of a million dollars for the wives and children of the Dublin strikers, besides sending them several ship loads of provisions and coal. ... The raising of the Dublin and Welsh funds, however, is taken as another evidence of the growing wealth and close co-operation of the trades unionists and their organizations, which had only just emerged from the shadows of the publication for three years at least of a daily paper, "The Citizen" which espouses the principles of trades unionism.

Since his return from his around the world trip Mr. Bryce has had not many days to himself. He did for a few weeks go into retirement at his modest country home, "Hindclap," Forest Row, Sussex, but his retirement was almost entirely taken up in writing for Mr. Bryce is certain to give the public something about the countries he visited after leaving America. His real work, henceforth, however, will doubtless be, as one writer has aptly put it, "to express the needs of the community upon the broader sides of life." Since his return home Mr. Bryce has delivered a number of addresses on a great variety of subjects. As popular as he was in America as a speaker, he is likely to become quite as popular in his own country. ... The former Ambassador to America is not alone in this practice of devoting his talents to the enlightenment and services of his country after his retirement from active work. Another of these is Sir Edward Fry, who a few days ago attained the age of 86, it is twenty-one years since Lord Edward resigned his seat of Lord Justice of the Court of Appeal, and in that time he has served in many useful capacities, not the least of which has been as one of England's representatives in the peace conferences at The Hague. ... They have concentrated in the hope of arranging the organization of suffrage electors in the constituencies before the general election. ... While the Duke of Westminster and his influential committee of the raised something less than $50,000 for their half-million fund to train British athletes for the next Olympic games at Berlin, the trade unionists of the country have, without any great effort raised over a quarter of a million dollars for the wives and children of the Dublin strikers, besides sending them several ship loads of provisions and coal. ... The raising of the Dublin and Welsh funds, however, is taken as another evidence of the growing wealth and close co-operation of the trades unionists and their organizations, which had only just emerged from the shadows of the publication for three years at least of a daily paper, "The Citizen" which espouses the principles of trades unionism.

GREAT BRITAIN'S NEW BATTLESHIP BURNS OIL

The new battleship, Queen Elizabeth, the largest and most costly warship yet built for the British navy, from two points of view, set an important landmark in the history of battleship development. In the first place, she is the first to dispense entirely with coal, and to use oil alone in her furnaces. In the second place, she is the first ship to be launched with a main armament to consist of 16-inch guns. ... This vessel, the thirtieth British ship of the all-big-gun era to go down, was laid down on October 21 last year, and so has been rather long on the stocks than is usual with British ships. But, when launched, she was heavier than the previous Portsmouth built ship, the launching stage, her weight being 10,000 tons, as compared with an average of 7,000 or 8,000. She is completed for sea by October 29th.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Through Faded, Lifeless Locks and They Become Dark, Glossy, youthful. ... That loses its color and lustre, and it fades, turns gray, dull and is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women, and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. ... Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, keeps scalp itching and falling hair, and just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the glossy new lustre, and gives it an appearance of abundance. Agent, T. George Bowles.

Pains Have Vanished

Neuralgia Completely Cured. The cure of Mrs. H. L. Barrett, Guthrie, P. Q., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in every case where others have utterly failed. Mrs. Barrett says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia in the head, face and shoulders. I can now get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold by all druggists everywhere."

side, 10 1/2 in., weight of broadside, 12,000 lbs. ... Austrian—Prinz Tugen, guns on broadside 12 1/2 in., weight of broadside, 11,900 lbs. ... Italian—Dulio, guns on broadside, 13 1/2 in., weight of broadside 11,000 lbs. ... German—Konig, guns on broadside 10 1/2 in., weight of broadside, 9,810 lb. ... The protection of the British vessel is equal to that of any of the above, and her designed speed is 25 knots, against their maximum of 21. ... The power concentrated in the Queen Elizabeth has not been obtained without paying a high price for it, as will be evident from the figure already quoted. Shipbuilding is less costly in England than in any other country; but ships are now costing over 50 per cent. more than the first class battleships of the King Edward type, completed only seven years ago. It is estimated that the weight of Nelson's fleet at Trafalgar, consisting of 27 ships, of the line, cost no more than $7,500,000. ... We are far, too, from having yet reached the limit in cost, for Mr. Churchill has stated that the five ships of this year's program are to cost $13,750,000 apiece. They will carry ten 15-inch guns and steam 21 knots, burning coal. ... Nearly One Hundred Dreadnoughts. The 15-inch gun, which now becomes—though for how long no one knows—the standard weapon of British battleship armaments, is the heaviest weapon now carried, or intended for carriage in modern fleets. It weighs 96 tons, and fires a shell of 1,500 lbs., with a muzzle velocity of 2,625 feet per second, and the projectile is capable of penetrating nearly six feet of wrought iron at the muzzle, and just over two feet of toughened steel at a range of two miles. ... Twenty-five years ago three battleships were built for the Navy (Sons of the Victoria and Benbow) armed with two 16.25-inch 110-ton guns, but these fired a shell of only 1,800 lbs., while the projectiles of the famous "Woodwich Infants"—16-inch 80-ton muzzle loaders mounted in the old battleship Infexible, launched in 1878—weighed 100 lbs. less. ... The two battleships which Germany is laying down this year will carry the same armament as the Queen Elizabeth—eight 15-inch and sixteen 16-inch. The Krupp 16-inch gun, however, fires a shell of only 1,575 lbs. and so the weight will be considerably inferior in weight of broadside to the British ships of the 1913 program. ... With the Queen Elizabeth there are now 98 Dreadnoughts in commission or completing afloat. The extent to which the craze has increased will be apparent from the fact that while the Dreadnoughts afloat at the end of 1906 numbered one, and at the end of 1907 they numbered seven, at the launch of Queen Elizabeth they numbered 93. ... The thirty British ships included in this aggregate may be put down as averaging each about $2,000,000 in cost; but for the world's whole the figure would be nearer $13,500,000 and the total cost of the 93 ships about $1,150,000,000.

Oil Between Inner and Outer Skins ... It is believed that the new ship will be able to carry at least 3,500 tons of oil fuel in her tanks, and between the inner and outer skins—the space known as the double bottom. Since the steaming value of oil is 60 per cent. greater than that of coal, it will be seen that this is equivalent to a coal capacity of 5,800 tons, which is just over twice the maximum capacity (2,700 tons) of coal-burning Dreadnoughts. ... There was something of a race between Great Britain and the United States to get the first oil-burning battleship afloat. The Queen Elizabeth was laid down, as stated, on Oct. 21 last year. Five days later the first American oil-fired battleship, the Oklahoma, was laid down, but there has been no statement as to when she is to be launched. ... One of the most remarkable results of the adoption of oil in the Queen Elizabeth class will be the reduction of the crew. On a given horse-power, an oil-burning ship requires only about two-fifths of the men in the engine-rooms and stokeholds that are needed by a coal-burning vessel, and it is estimated that the Queen Elizabeth will have a complement of about 650 or 700, as compared with the 1,000 of the coal-burning battle cruiser Queen Mary, which though of 73,000 horse-power, is much less powerful as a fighting unit.

Collision on Elevated ... NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Two Third Avenue elevated trains, northbound, collided this afternoon at the Chatham square junction of the Second and Third Avenue lines. Four persons were hurt, none seriously. One of the trains was forced upon the station platform by the impact and both trains caught fire after the impact. The trains were not crowded and passengers were quickly emptied upon the platform.

Fell From a Moving Train ... [Canadian Press Dispatch] ... While travelling from Toronto to St. Marys via C.P.R., H. L. Rice, of the latter town fell from the train just a mile west of this city at 7 o'clock last night and lay beside the tracks until picked up by a freight car from the west at 10.30 this morning. He was unconscious when found and said that he had been walking from the dining car to the next coach when he slipped on a banana skin, he thought, and was thrown from the train. He is badly bruised and shaken up, and also suffering from the night's exposure. It is feared he may be internally injured. He is now at the General Hospital here.

THE LAST DAY Monday, December 1st, is absolutely the last day on which you can send in your replies to this contest and have a chance of winning part of the prize money—only readers of Brantford papers are eligible. THIS ADVERTISEMENT WILL NOT APPEAR AGAIN. Cut it out and send in your answers at once. Illustration of a man and two children at a table with a bottle of sauce.

What Did Grandpa Say? FOX GRANDPA'S mischievous nephews are always on the lookout for a good joke. They suddenly remember Grandpa's fondness for Holbrook's Sauce, and that he never eats a meal without it, so they empty the bottle and put it on the table at dinner, thinking "Grandpa" would have to go without "Holbrooks" for that meal at least. But Foxy Grandpa, as usual, discovers their scheme—says nothing—and when they pass him the empty bottle at dinner quietly puts his hand down and pulls out of his pocket a new bottle of Holbrook's Worcestershire Sauce, winks at his nephews and says: NOW—WHAT DID GRANDPA SAY? The proprietor of Holbrook's Sauce will give Fifty Dollars cash to be divided among the first thirteen best answers received from readers of Brantford papers only. This contest is not being published anywhere except in the Brantford Courier and Expositor, and only readers of these papers are eligible to compete.

Remember, $50 in Cash Given Away Free 1st Prize, $15.00; 2nd Prize, $10.00; 3rd Prize, $5.00; then 10 Prizes of $2.00 each.

CONDITIONS: The completion of the story must not contain more than 15 words, and must fit in with the story in the words Grandpa would be likely to say; also must contain the words "Holbrook's Sauce". Every answer must be accompanied by an outside wrapper and label from a Holbrook's Sauce Bottle to be eligible. Contestants may send in as many answers as they like, providing each one is accompanied by an outside wrapper and label. Every grocer in Brantford sells "Holbrook's Worcestershire Sauce," and will be glad to supply you.

"Holbrook's Sauce" is made and bottled in England from pure malt vinegar brewed in our own breweries, combined with numerous spices gathered from all the corners of the earth. It is matured and aged like good wine—it is manufactured and preparation taking over two years before it is ready for market. It is made in the largest Worcestershire Sauce factory in the world. ## Labor Notes

English railroad employees' unions have a total membership exceeding 200,000.

The total sum paid in old-age pensions in the year 1912 in England and Wales was $39,000,000.

More than a million workers in the metal industry in Germany get a week's vacation annually with pay.

The trades union movement is growing in Austria, where 117 labor papers are now published.

Under a new state law theatrical companies are forbidden to employ women under 21 years of age.

San Francisco union waitresses have received an advance in wages of one dollar per week.

In New Zealand every man out of a job has the right to demand employment upon work of public improvement at the prevailing rate of wages.

The electrical workers in St. Louis, Mo., are elated over their latest success, having secured an increase of 25 cents per day from the Kinlock Telephone Company, without a strike.

The United Hatters of Los Angeles' Cal., have reached an agreement with the manufacturers, who are willing to recognize the union and grant a substantial wage increase.

Twelve hundred telegraphers on the Southern Pacific have secured a ten per cent increase in wages and a wage scale of 40 cents per hour. This is a higher rate than some of the unorganized skilled craftsmen enjoy.

The Akron, Ohio, Carpenters' District Council has decided to inaugurate the 8-hour workday commencing on December 1st, and a five per cent increase in wages will be demanded on April 1st, 1914, making a scale of $3.50 per day.

The representatives of the International Boot and Shoe Workers' Union have had a successful conference with the Cincinnati manufacturers and secured a substantial increase in wages for the local workers of the craft.

For working female employees more than nine hours per day, contrary to a newly enacted statute, several employers in St. Louis, Mo., were heavily fined by the court. The penalty in each individual case was $25, one firm paying a total of $375. The inspectors state that the law will be strictly enforced in every instance.

Laborites of Syracuse, N.Y., have incorporated a company and will undertake the construction of a one hundred thousand dollar Labor Temple.

A resolution of protest against the employment of children under sixteen years of age was unanimously adopted by the recent convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which met in New York City.

According to the report of the State Corporation Company, just issued, 2568 persons were killed or injured on steam and electric railways in Virginia during the year ended June 30th, 1913.

On the solicitation of the local Trades and Labor Council, the City Council of St. John, N.B., has passed a civic fair wage clause that insures all employees of the city and those engaged on municipal contracts jobs, the prevailing standard rate of wages.

Typographical Union No. 45, of Medicine Hat, Alta., has a live committee working on the preparation of a new wage scale. The present agreement has been in force for nearly three years, and expires at the end of December. The new scale will be a more elaborate affair than the one it will supersede.

Under the new moulders' sanitary law now in force in the State of Missouri, all foundries enjoying top or more hands must be provided with washrooms, lockers, hot and cold water, and other desirable improvements. Factory inspectors report that the employers are showing a disposition to comply with all the requirements of the act, which was secured after years of agitation by the labor unions.

Forty-six manufacturers of New York and their employees were brought before the justices of the special sessions recently, charged by agents of the Bureau of Fire Prevention with having violated the factory laws. Fines ranging from $20 to $75 were imposed, and the justice warned five manufacturers found guilty of locking the doors of their plants while operatives were at work that if they were convicted of the same offence a second time, they would be sent to prison.

After a lengthy delay the New York State Senate has confirmed the appointment of James Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union, as State Labor Commissioner. The Labor Department has lately been remodelled along lines recommended by Samuel Gompers of the A. F. of L. and other prominent labor advocates, and as at present constituted a man of the capacity of Mr. Lynch, it is felt, can be of inestimable benefit to the workers of the state. The appointment will necessarily call upon the president of the typos to devote his entire time to the work, and his place at the head of the organization over which he has so ably presided for the last thirteen years will be filled, doubtless by its vice-president. During the time he has been at the head of affairs, Mr. Lynch has witnessed its growth from a body of 32,105 members to 62,001, and since he assumed the incumbency the most stirring episodes in the history of the organization have been enacted. On all sides there is the universal belief that James M. will make good in his new sphere of action.

I OWE MY LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

They Did Me More Good Than All Other Treatments Combined

Mrs. H. S. WILLIAMS

PALMERSTON, ONT., June 20th, 1913 "I really believe that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. Ever since childhood, I have been under the care of physicians and have been paying doctors' bills. I was so sick and worn out that people on the street often asked me what I had. I could get along without help. The same old stomach trouble and distressing headaches nearly drove me wild. Some time ago I got a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. My husband was delighted and advised a continuation of their use. 'Fruit-a-tives' completely cured me. Today, I am feeling fine and a physician meeting me on the street, noticed my improved appearance and asked me the reason. I replied, 'I am taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. He said, 'Well, if 'Fruit-a-tives' are making you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can'.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Ninety-five per cent of the maintenance of way employees on the Grand Trunk system in the province of Ontario are members of the International organization.

October was a big month for the banking industries of Canada, no less than 28 branches having been opened up in various parts of the country. There is sure money coming from somewhere.

Winnipeg laborites are grappling with the problem of the erection of a new Labor Temple, the present one having become too contracted for the demands that are made upon it by the rapid growth of the trades union movement.

In all parts of Canada the people are protesting against the steadily increasing cost of milk, not only in Hamilton, but in Winnipeg and the far Western Prairie Provinces, the same protest is being voiced, and in most places it is claimed that the greater the cost the poorer the quality.

The Lazy Husbands

The state of Washington, another of these troublesome equal suffrage states recently passed a law for the disciplining of the frequent "lazy husband." A man convicted of desertion or non-support, will not, as of yore, be fined or shut up workless in prison. He will be sentenced to a term of work, with which the state undertakes to provide him his wages, $150 a day being handed over to his wife and family.

"Most of the work will be done on the public roads, and the laborer is hardly likely to be of a character for a second term. The beauty of the law is that it does not punish the innocent, but strikes directly at the guilty and may be reasonably expected to effect a cure."

Good Advice

Mr. Henry Clews, the famous banker, takes an immense interest in the welfare of young men, and the subject of this symposium, therefore, appeared very strongly to him.

"The attributes in a man which are essential to success," says Mr. Clews, "are honesty, fidelity, patience, judgment, and courage. The big men of today are now on the look-out for young fellows possessing these virtues, as the captains of industry have their hands and heads more than full of details and are seeking for lieutenants to whom they can delegate some of their work."

"It goes without saying that honesty and trustfulness are the main qualifications, but unless backed by judgment they will not qualify any man to become a leader. Patience is a virtue, and haste to better himself has often been the rock upon which a man has been wrecked. Every man should know himself, and with this knowledge should know for what he is best fitted, and should make himself by study a master of details and conditions. When his work has attracted the notice of his superiors, and he is entrusted with more important duties, courage comes into play. Without the courage to fight and to overcome difficulties, man is not the measure of self-confidence to ensure success."

"I made up my mind, when I attained my majority, that what other men could do I could do, and I courted opposition. By hard work I forced the respect of all of my competitors, and in all my dealings with my fellow men I sought to prove my honesty and fidelity, and I went out, day by day, to play hard and play fair while enjoying themselves, but work equally hard and play equally fair when once. Success may not come at once, but it will surely come if you are persistent and possess good judgment."

Most Encouraging

It is encouraging to realize how the powerful wave of organization which has swept over the largest cities is taking in others, one after another.

From Buffalo comes the cheering news that the huge strike among the employees of the department stores has had such good and lasting results. For instance, all night work and Saturday afternoon work has been abolished. Indeed, one store by agreement with the clerks, in consideration of keeping open Friday evening, closes all day on Saturday. The Retail Merchants' Association have pledged themselves not to keep open after 6 o'clock even in the winter.

The 5 and 10 cent stores are included in this. As to wages, we hear the average of the girls used to be three dollars a week, there is now established a minimum of five dollars. Other benefits are more respectful treatment, the free use of seats during working hours and generally much better arrangements for lunch and retiring rooms.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN

COLLEGE ST., TORONTO

Dear Mr. Editor:—Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province. Let me, however, in a few words, tell you of the progress of the work of the Hospital.

One nurse, six little white beds, a few dollars, a few friends—this was the Hospital as admitted within its walls 25 years ago. The beds have grown to 250, the dollars to thousands, the friends to hundreds. 1875, the first year, 44 in-patients, 67 out-patients; 1913, the year, 1,843 in-patients, 55,507 out-patients; 1875, 1 nurse; 1913, 70 nurses.

Since 1875, thirty-eight years ago, the Hospital has admitted within its walls 31,018 children as in-patients and 159,231 as out-patients, a total of 190,249, or an average of 4,743 per year. Of the 31,018 in-patients, 15,300 were from Toronto, and 5,818 from other parts of the Province; 10,150 of the total in-patients were cured, and 5,397 were improved.

In 1913 the Orthopaedic Department last year, the 1,843 in-patients, 278 were treated for deformities, 25 hip disease, 37 Pott's disease, 2 knock-knees, 25 bow-legs, 82 club foot, 8 lateral curvature of the spine, 44 infantile paralysis, 9 wry neck, and 75 tubercular disease of knee, hip and ankle. In 1912, the Surgical Apparatus Shop manufactured 127 appliances for in-patients and out-patients, including ankle braces, spinal trusses, hip splints, bowing splints, club-foot splints, plaster jackets, etc.

In this Department in 38 years nearly 800 boys and girls have been treated for Club Feet and 450 corrected. Half of these came from places outside of Toronto. Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Will you, the reader of this letter, help to give crippled children a fair start in life? Busy dollars are better than idle hands. The sympathy that helps is food, but the Hospital has to have the sympathy that works.

While Christmas Balls are ringing to the story of Hum "Who made the lame to walk and the blind to see," give, give, give, and help the Hospital to help God's little ones upon whom the heavy hand of Adversity has been laid.

Will you please send a dollar, or more, if you can spare it to Douglas Davidson, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Hospital, or J. ROSS ROBERTSON, Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto.

Thirteen Hour Fight Ended

CANTON, Ill., Nov. 28.—After fighting against several hundred men for 13 hours, Frank McAdams, who murdered his wife at a Thanksgiving dance last night at Cuba, killed himself today. Hundreds of shots were fired. The jaw of Policeman Hagar, who attempted to make the arrest, was shattered by a bullet. A four-year-old daughter of the McAdams escaped injury, although she was on her mother's lap when Mrs. McAdams was killed. Jealousy was given as the cause of the initial tragedy.

GOT FOUR YEARS

BERLIN, Ont., Nov. 28.—Judge Reade sentenced Samuel Bender, aged 35, married, and living in New Hamburg, to four years in the penitentiary, for "ten lashes," this morning. He pleaded guilty to a charge of having carnal knowledge.

CHAPTER XX.

ROLLINS looked at him while a slow flush came to his forehead. "Keltin, he very grave," "the first time I have heard of such things. One of my assistants in the drafting of the constitution of the United States and I. Several of them fought it. It is the most perfect institution, the broadest in humanity, the most complete in wisdom human document upon which was ever founded. If it is with in any way or if any of the sons of the men who and who died for it will rise and in a righteous war only to the rage of the Almighty the eternal God I will be among their number."

"You are far too logical a line, to speak in definite upon a problem until you full conditions," said Keltin contemplate a change and one in our type of government change can only be made by success by its being fostered held by men of tried and tested, ability and strength. And men I count you. I rely on support, and I want to tell if this change seems feasible in store for you a far higher than the one you hold now."

Rollins glanced about the contempt. "I do not want, cleared, nor do I wish to be further into your 'outrage system of government which be supported by force—else enormous standing army you accumulating—must result, sion, tyranny and ultimate know now that any change which your would propose be a retrogression, and for shall resist every such change to the minutest degree, watom of my will, with every in my body."

C. P. R. FARM SPECIAL

The C. P. R. better farming special which was run recently through the Maritime Provinces, the Province of Quebec and the Province of Ontario, in conjunction with the boards of agriculture, proved a gigantic success, and very beneficial results were derived by the farmers in the extensive district through which it passed, and the Canadian Pacific have received many letters of congratulation in respect to the trip made by the train. The better farming special was inaugurated a year or two ago, and has since been an annual affair, owing to the agricultural experts being able to reach the farming element in a way such as has never been known before. The college on wheels was visited by many thousands of people including many of the gentler sex, who were considerably interested in the poultry lectures and the demonstrations which were given by the experts who accompanied the train. Although the actual figures are not forthcoming as to how many visited the special throughout the whole of the provinces, an official statement from the Department of Agriculture at Quebec states that on its way east the train visited thirty-nine places, and no less than 10,800 farmers examined the exhibits on board and listened attentively to the lectures besides asking a great many questions. The Hon. James S. Duff, Minister of Agriculture in the Province of Ontario, in expressing his opinion of the "Canadian Pacific Railway" farming special, says: "The people of Ontario are anxious to see a new representation of any question, and they seem to appreciate this particular one. The train is not only interesting from a standpoint of instruction but doubly so because of the effectiveness from the standpoint of demonstration."

Mr. J. B. Daggett, secretary of Agriculture in New Brunswick, states: "There is a great demand in our province that a similar educational campaign be carried on in parts other than where the lines of the C. P. R. operate."

Dr. D. V. Landry, agricultural commissioner for New Brunswick, says: "If we can form any opinion of the value of the system of running the mixed farming special, to the large crowd that visited the train and the enthusiasm manifested, it has been a very great success in the province."

Mr. J. D. Caron, of the Department of Agriculture of the Province of Quebec, says that "Such an organization as the mixed farming special continues to the increase of the agricultural production of the province in causing the best methods of tilling the soil to become known, and it contributes to the improvement and development of our chief agricultural industries."

SUNDAY SERMON BY PASTOR RUSSELL

UNGRATEFUL ALL THE HUMAN RACE

"O Come, Let Us Give Thanks Unto the Lord; For He is Good!"

HIS DIVINE MERCY ENDURETH

Ingratitude a Sin and a Shame—All Should Render Praise—Though Not All May Pray—The Difference—Causes For Thankfulness—Why So Few Respond—Causes of Ingratitude and Discontent—Dumb Brutes More Grateful—The Remedy.

Indianapolis, Ind., November 23.—Pastor Russell gave two addresses here to-day. We report text, "O give thanks unto the Lord; for He is good; for His mercies endureth forever, but merely for the time we call the present life."

Ingratitude is one of the most excusable sins. But alas, it is everywhere manifested. Rich and poor, learned and ignorant, appear to be growing in the spirit of ingratitude, unthankfulness, discontent, murmuring. And all this is in the face of the greatest blessings that the world has ever known. With the dawning of the New Era God seems to be opening His hand and showering blessings everywhere. "He openeth His hand and satisfieth every living thing"—except rebellious man. The more blessings coming to man the more ungrateful he becomes, the less he seems to recognize the Fountain, the Source, of his favors. It seems paradoxical, but yet it is true, that the day of the greatest favors the world has ever known is the day of the greatest ingratitude and discontent.

The brute creation look up to man as their god—and properly so; for this is the only intelligence that we know to be the god to beasts, fish and fowl. Man is in the likeness of his Creator, who is the God of the Universe. In this way, man realizes that the ox knoweth his owner and the ass his master's crib, yet man ignores his Maker, and seems bent upon forgetting Him.

Research for all this time has shown that the human brain shows us that reverence and gratitude to God would be the natural disposition of humanity. The organs of the human brain, especially the brain at the apex of the human constitution. In nothing therefore could man, rightly guided, and so much pleasure, peace and satisfaction as in the recognition of his Maker and the acknowledgment of obligation to Him. Why, then, the aversion to God, the endeavor to forget Him, the ignoring of His favors, the refusal to become grateful, to account for them all as matters of chance, operations of nature? Why is it that the family dog exhibits more of the spirit of loyalty, reverence, obedience and confidence in his master than man, with a higher intellect and capability, exercises toward the God of all grace, the Father of Mercies?

Our Lord in the parable of the Wheat and the Tares declares that He sowed good seed—pure Truth, intended to bring forth true, loyal children of God, the Kingdom of Heaven. He tells us, also, that when the Apostles had fallen asleep in death the enemy, Satan, overtook the wheat-hold with tares, so that the wheat and the tares grew together. "Undoubtedly it is these doctrines of the Bible, and the Kingdom of Heaven, which have effected such a poisonous influence upon humanity as to drive the masses away from God—some in fear, some in disgust, some in total unbelief. Is it any wonder that intelligent people should try to convince themselves that there is no such God as the records have represented? It is not strange. It really is to their credit that they refuse to worship a being pictured in the creeds as far worse than the most depraved human being that ever was born."

It is no wonder that men try to disbelieve in a God who, they are told, had plotted the eternal torture of the race long before He created it, and has made every preparation for human torture to all eternity. Is it any wonder that the world repudiates the Bible, and the Kingdom of Heaven? The Bible is the authority for all the atrocious theories respecting the Almighty's purposes?

We need no wonder. We are merely reaping in the present unbelief and discontent the results of the false doctrines handed down to us. The Bible, as we have it, is the Word of God, without the proper exercise of our heads or hearts to prove these and to see that they are doctrines of devils, wholly separate from and contrary to the teaching of God's Word.

Notice how contrary our text is to everything we have been taught respecting the Heavenly Father. It gives us the true basis for thinking an appreciation of God's goodness: "O give thanks unto the Lord; for He is good!" Then follows the assurance that Divine mercy endureth forever. This is the merciful God, which our souls have hungered after! When St. Paul declared that the heathen were feeling after God that they might find Him, it was this true God whose mercy endureth forever that they were feeling after. And when we presented to them a horrible misrepresentation, showing Him to be the instigator of eternal torture for all our race, His goodness has served to turn their hearts from Him and from the Bible. It is high time that we realized the terrible mistake we made. It is high time that we began to teach the message of our text, "His mercy endureth forever." This expression respecting the endlessness of Divine Mercy is repeated twenty-five times in this Bible. It is the only expression which Christians have denied this statement, and have declared instead that God's mercy is only for the Elect; that the thousands and millions of heathendom and other hundreds of millions in Christendom will have no mercy.

Knowing that the majority of minds are darkened through ignorance and superstition; knowing that the Apostle declares that Satan has blinded the minds of all unbelievers; knowing that the Lord through His mercy has opened the eyes of the blind; knowing that the Lord shall cover the whole earth—in spite of all this, we have cried out to the world that there will be no mercy for them beyond the grave, and that God's mercy does not endure forever, but merely for the time we call the present life.

Why do we thus contradict the Almighty? What motive is there behind this? In seeking to restrict the grace of God to the present unfavorable time of blindness and darkness, we have had the encouragement of Satan, and the visions, messages and dreams caused by the fallen angels. St. Paul pictured our day exactly, saying, "Many shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of devils."

It is time for all who love the Lord and the Bible to get straight themselves and then to help others. It is time that the world realize that the real cause it has for gratitude to God and for contentment with the blessings now being enjoyed. It is time to tell them that the death of Jesus Christ was the full atonement of Adam, and that the death penalty of Adam's sin is to be fully lifted. It is time to tell them that during Messiah's Reign of a thousand years, will be the blessing of all the families of the earth—the non-elect.

It is time to tell the world that the Bible is the tomb, the Sheel, Hades, that from it, all will be redeemed and will have opportunity for resurrection to perfection of life everlasting; and that only the willful wicked will rise again into the Second Death, symbolically illustrated by Gehenna. It is time to tell them that all—both good and bad, rich and poor, have been going to the Bible hell, the tomb; and that the First Resurrection will be constituted only of the saintly, the Church, who are to be associated with Christ in His Kingdom, Revelation 20:6.

It is time to tell them that none except those begotten of the Holy Spirit since Pentecost will ever reach the Heavenly condition and share the Kingdom of God with Him. It is time to tell them that God's blessed provision for Adam and the remainder of his race is Resurrection—restoration to human perfection from which they fell. His footstool made glorious.

It is time to tell them that all the thorns, thistles, trials, difficulties, sorrow and weeping of the past millennium years are but part of the penalty, "Dying, thou shalt die." It is time to tell them that God during Messiah's Kingdom, by uplifting the dead, will give away the heirs from all faces. It is time to let them know that He is indeed a God whose mercy endureth forever; and that although His mercy is as yet extended only to the Church and to Natural Israel, eventually in the coming Age it shall extend to every member of the race for which Christ died.

On the basis of this knowledge of God, knowledge of who He really is, death prevail, the world would be ready to acknowledge the grace of God, His boundless mercy, the willing and glad to give thanks to Him. We make a sharp distinction between the privilege of prayer and thanksgiving. All who appreciate God's goodness may offer worship in the sense of thank, acknowledgment, wholly different matter. None have the privilege of prayer with the assurance it will be heard except those who approach God through the great Advocate whom He has appointed. And none can approach through the Advocate except on the Divine terms that they become His disciples, and take up their cross and follow Him.

Thus the number privileged to approach the Throne of Heavenly Grace and obtain help in time of need is limited to the Church of Christ. These have special guidance in all their affairs, because they have come into the family of God. But even those who are aliens and strangers may pay homage in the presence of the great King—just as only the citizens of a country may have the ballot or other privileges of citizenship, but the foreigner may uncover his head, hail the ruler and acknowledge blessings enjoyed, even though he has not become a citizen and does not enjoy the privileges of the ballot, etc.

A beautiful and appropriate custom prevails in the United States—the setting apart of the last Thursday in each November as a day of special thanksgiving to God for the harvest bounties and all the blessings of the year past. With the majority it has deteriorated into a mere formalism—a holiday. The cause of this is the growth of unbelief, and unbelief has grown with higher education; for the educated, repelled by the false picture of the God of the Bible and from any conception of a personal God, and are instructing the flower of the rising generation in infidelity, unbelief in the Bible—we might almost say, in atheism.

This is the key to the situation. The only way back to God, to faith, contentment, thanksgiving, is through the dissemination of the knowledge of the glory of God, that He is a God of Love, that His mercy endureth forever, that He has only begun His salvation in the gathering of the Church, and that eventually it shall extend to every creature, during Messiah's Thousand-Year Reign.

Let us not wait for denominational movement, which will never come. Let us each feel a personal responsibility. Let each one who receives the blessing "show forth the praises of Him who called us out of darkness into His marvelous light." Let each one who appreciates the true basis of thankfulness report the Message of the Kingdom to others, that they, too, may be blessed.

The Bible, however, does not lead us to hope for any such condition at the present time. On the contrary, it tells that the present unbelief and discontent will increase, and will involve the entire world in a Time of Trouble, the climax of which will be anarchical.

However, the Bible proceeds to tell that in man's extremity, when faith shall have largely fled from the world, when discontent shall have burst into anarchy, when the present social fabric shall have collapsed, then God will, nevertheless, be merciful; for His mercy endureth forever.

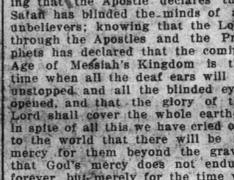

God's mercy will then be manifested in the prompt establishment of the Messianic Kingdom. Man's extremity will be God's opportunity for showing forth His great mercy and love; for He loved the world when they were yet sinners.—Romans 5:8.

If our hearts have not been overcome by the tidal waves of unbelief sweeping over the world, let us take a resolution that, by His grace, we will seek to know Him better, appreciate Him more, and increase our thankfulness. Let us have a faith that recognizes Divine providence, especially in the affairs of the Church, and also in the affairs of the world, let us be grateful for all that we see, and let faith be cultivated or can be dwarfed.

With the disciples of old let us pray, "Lord, increase our faith"; and let us use the means the Lord has provided for the increase of our faith. Let us note in God's Word the fulfillments of His promises and the application of the Scriptures to our own personal experiences. Let us have a growing appreciation of the truths of the Bible, in increased energy in the study of the Bible and in the application of its Message to our own hearts. Let us also grow in increased thankfulness and effort to show forth the praises of the Lord and to assist others out of darkness into the light, which we ourselves are more and more enjoying.

While we are not to think of God in the way we do of man, that He would be similarly hurt or pleased in His Kingdom, Revelation 20:10, nevertheless we know that man was made in God's image. We are justified, therefore, in assuming that as we would appreciate thankfulness, gratitude, in the hearts of those who are His servants—our children or our servants or our dumb animals—so God is surely pleased with those who are appreciative of His goodness, who think upon His favors and who make acknowledgment of them, who seek to show forth His praises to others and who by faith are trusting Him, even where they cannot trace Him.

My hope is that not only the audience I am now addressing will have a very happy and appreciative Thanksgiving Day on Thursday next, but that the same blessing may extend to all of the larger congregation which I address weekly through the public press. Even if but a few have been enabled to give thanks to God for His mercies, that few, I am sure, will be made more happy themselves, more pleasing to God. And if they do not already have His consciousness, I am sure that the gratitude arising from their hearts in sweet incense to our Maker will react upon themselves favorably and help them to that condition of heart and mind in which they might become holy and acceptable sacrifices to God through Jesus Christ.—Romans 12:1.

Downing Street, London.
The greatest street in the world is one of the smallest. This is Downing Street, a dark little alley in the west of London. Here is the residence of the British Empire, for it is at Downing Street that the Premier has his official residence. Ever since Robert Walpole was the Prime Minister, 200 years ago, the heads of the Government have made their homes in this "alley."

Increased in Canada.
Mr. Kenneth J. Dunstan of Toronto has settled decisively by producing writings of Alexander Graham Bell that the telephone was really invented in Brantford, Ont., instead of Boston as the American people are inclined to boast. Mr. Dunstan possesses the early history of the telephone, and has complete directories of one sheet each—the first to be used in Hamilton and Toronto.

"You—you are temperamentally impossible!" roared the first angry man.
"And you," replied the second setting red in the face, "are temperamentally inconceivable!"

"What Will Become of Those Too Good for Hell But Not Good Enough for Heaven?"

What is the future hope of the great mass of mankind who have never made any profession? Who have never belonged to any church? The heathen who have never heard the Gospel?

Many theologians think there is an intermediate state of preparation, where those who depart this life are perfected for the life beyond.

Are these questions made clear in the Scriptures?

Pastor Perrin says the Bible fully answers the questions, in a manner conclusive and satisfactory to head and heart. Bring your Bible.

Don't fail to hear him.

RHEUMATISM FOR THIRTY-FOUR YEARS

Cured By Two Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec Man Tells How He Found Quick Relief and Permanent Cure When He Got to the Root of the Disease.

ST. FAUSTIN STATION, Que., Nov. 24.—(Special)—I suffered from rheumatism for thirty-four years. Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. This is the statement of Joseph Boisjeau, Charrier of this place, and his neighbors are satisfied that the statement is a true one.

Pressed for further details of his cure Mr. Charrier said:

"I had rheumatism, sciatica and pains in my back. My memory was failing, and I was always tired and nervous. I peeped freely with the least exertion, and my perspiration had an unpleasant odor."

"I was also troubled with heart flutterings, my limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins."

These symptoms told just why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Charrier so quickly and completely. They are, every one of them, symptoms of kidney disease failing to remove the uric acid from the blood.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my kidneys; the cured kidneys strained the uric acid out of the blood and the rheumatism disappeared.
