"The alliance made by the government has now become an alliance of the hearts of the people," continued M. Sazonoff.

TRENCH-RAIDING A FORM OF SPORT WHICH IS CARRIED OUT BY SOLDIERS OF BOTH SIDES ON THE FRONT LINES

All the Element of Boxing, Wrestling, Fencing, Mob Tactics, the Stealth of the Indian, the Teamwork of Baseball are Needed - Monotony of Trench Life Varied by These Excursions.

British Headquarters, France, May 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Between the British and German modern machine warfare wherein every man was supposed to have become a pawn without initiative of his own has been developing perhaps the deadliest form of sport imagination can conceive—where every combatant places his cunning, his strength and his skill in hand-to-hand fighting against those of his adversary.

TRENCH RAIDS

Hardly a day passes that there is not a trench "raid" by one side or the other, and sometimes several such sallies. No subject is more taboed in its details by the censor. Commanders do not want to let the enemy know why their raids succeed or fail, or why the enemy's success or fall. Invention fights invention; secrecy fights secrecy.

ATHLETES NEEDED

All the elements of boxing, wrestling, fencing and mob tactics, plus the stealth of the Indian who crept up on a camp on the plains and the teamwork of a professional baseball nine are valuable to the player. The weapon that is least needed is a rifle. A club or sandbag or an Indian battle axe or spiked club is better. A good slugger without any weapon at all may take an adversary's loaded rifle away from him and knock him down and then kick him to death.

PREPARING RAIDS

The monotony of trench existence these days is broken by preparing for raids and against them. Battalion commanders work out schemes of strategy which would have won them fame in smaller wars. Fifty men or a thousand may be engaged in a raid. It may be on a front of fifty yards or a thousand. Its object is to take as many prisoners and kill as possible in a few minutes; and then to get back to their own trench. The assaulters try to hold the piece of trench they have taken, the guns are turned on them, the bombers close up on either side, and machine guns and rifles are prepared to sweep the zone of retirement.

TO GET AT HIM

An uncanny curiosity gives the soldiers incentive for the raids. Ordinarily they never see their enemy hidden in his burrows across "No Man's Land" from their own burrows. Unseen bullets from unseen snipers crack overhead. Unseen guns suddenly concentrate in a deluge of shells. For months this sort of thing goes on and the trenches of the adversaries remain always in the same place; the grim monotony of casualties and watching continues. This arouses the desire to "get at" the enemy which the trench raid satisfies. It means springing over the parapet and rushing across "No Man's Land" into the very houses of the enemy and man to man on his door step proving which is a better fighter.

ARTILLERY PREPARATION

To go over the parapet ordinarily means death. In order to make any such rush there must be "interference" as they say in football, and the barbwire in front of the enemy's trench must be cut. This is usually done by the guns, which become more and more deadly in their ability to turn accurate sprays of destruction on given points. They cover the rush and they cover the return of the raiders with their prisoners.

AT CLOSE QUARTERS

But the guns are not all; there is all kinds of organized trickery in order to enable a body of soldiers to get into the enemy's trenches for a few minutes of activity, when the occupants throw themselves on their invaders at such close quarters that it is a question if even a revolver is now a practical weapon. It cannot be thrown over a traverse and a bomb can be thrown into a German around the corner of a traverse a blow may be better than a shot.

BECOMING A SCIENCE

There have been trench raids where every man who went out was responsible for a casualty or prisoner, while the invaders' own loss might not have been one in ten to the enemy's. There are also failures. Success requires that every detail should work out right. The British inaugurated trench raiding which the Germans promptly adopted. Where its development will end no one dares venture to say.

One advantage of any raid is that those who return are bound to bring back some information of value to the intelligence corps.

Officers in the trenches as well as officers in other military units, usually wear steel corselets as a protection against spent bullets.

STEEL CORSELETS

"Score one for the breastplate," said an officer who had been doubled over by a shell fragment which hit him in the abdomen. Instead of a flow of blood crimsoning his blouse all that was visible through the rent in the cloth was an abrasion on a steel surface.

"But for your new corset, you would have been dead by now," the surgeon told him.

Early in the war an officer who wore protection of this kind would have been frowned on by his fellows as unsoldierly. A type of corselet of small plates of highly tempered steel joined together by steel wires is being more and more worn by officers. Its structures adapts itself to the movements of the body, it weighs only a few pounds and, fitting snugly as a vest, it is not cumbersome. If the son of Lord Shaughnessy, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who was killed recently, had been wearing one, his life might have been saved, according to his comrades. Since then Canadian commanders have strongly urged all their officers to buy corselets.

BULLETS GO THROUGH STEEL

The corselet is worse than no protection against bullets unless the latter are spent. Such is their power of penetration that they go through the thin steel, "marooning" and making a larger wound than if nothing had been in their way. But in the trenches, unless one shows his head above the parapet and is moving about in the shell zone in the rear of the trenches, one is rarely exposed to bullets. When an officer goes into a charge in face of machine gun and rifle he takes off his corselet.

On average days in the trenches the main danger is from shrapnel bullets and fragments from shell explosions which may inflict ugly and fatal wounds preventable by comparatively thin protection to such vulnerable substance as human flesh. Together, a corselet and a steel helmet pretty effectively shield vital parts against missiles of low velocity.

SOLDIERS GET HELMETS

The use of the corselet is limited virtually to officers who pay for them out of their own pockets. The expense and labor of supplying all ranks of a great army with them would seem out of the question. But gradually all the British soldiers are being supplied with the steel helmets after their successful use by the French, who first introduced them. The French pattern is quite graceful beside the British, which is round and something the shape of a toadstool. The British is heavier than the French and there is method in its grotesqueness. Thanks to its form a bullet which strikes it in front, instead of going through the head as is the case with the French helmet, glances and follows the inside of the helmet, passing out at the rear.

PTE. W. J. DEAN LAID AT REST

Impressive Military Funeral in His Honor This Morning.

With solemn and impressive funeral rites, another of Brant County's sons who has given his life for his country was laid to rest in the cemetery at Harley this morning, in the person of the late Pte. W. J. Dean, who passed away in the Brantford General Hospital on Friday.

To the strains of the "Dead March in Saul," as played by the 125th Battalion band, the funeral cortege proceeded slowly and solemnly from the late home of the deceased on Marlboro street, where service had previously been conducted, to the Colborne street station. Leading the sad procession came a firing party of 14 men from the 125th battalion, with rifles reversed, who were followed by the band. The coffin, containing the remains of the dead soldier and covered with a Union Jack, which bore Pte. Dean's cap and belt, was drawn by a number of returned soldiers, old comrades of the deceased, six of whom acted as pallbearers. A company of the 125th, with Rev. Capt. Lavelle and Lieut. Preston brought up the rear of the procession, being followed by a large number of mourners. Large crowds assembled along the route taken by the solemn cortege, and a very large gathering was present at the Colborne street station by the time that spot was reached. Here the coffin was taken aboard the train accompanied by the mourners and the firing party, which performed the last sad military rite, of discharging a volley over the grave of the dead soldier at the burial ground in Harley.

PATHMASTERS' MEETING

A very successful meeting of the pathmasters of Brantford Township was held on Saturday, some 65 pathmasters being present as well as all the members of the Township Council. Reeve Harris expressed his surprise and pleasure of so many present in the farmers' busy season and declared himself ready to hear any suggestion from the pathmasters they might have to offer. He emphasized the fact that they must help in "keeping expenditures down, and thus help to prevent the tax rate, which is struck now, from going higher than in previous years.

Drowned Up North.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Port Arthur, Ont., May 29.—S. W. A. Phillips, prospector of Toronto, aged thirty, was drowned by the overturning of a canoe in one of the rivers of the Keweenaw gold district north-east of Lake Nipigon. The body was recovered and taken to Toronto.

The Situation.

Matters in the Balkans which for some time have been in a quiescent state, have again assumed serious proportions. Without doubt, backed and incited by Germany, the Bulgarians have crossed the Greek frontier at more than one point, and King Constantine has thus far had his troops fall back and has contented himself with a protest.

In all probability we should know nothing about it until the next night-fall came, when we should say: 'How light the evenings are become!' The cost of this great gift would be very much less than nothing. Everybody would have one hour less of artificial light daily to pay for, and every tramway company, every railway company, every mill, every shop would save money.

Mr. Peto, who seconded the motion, quoted the following figures of estimated savings by three firms:—Hitchcock, Williams, £347; D. H. Evans (Oxford-street), £200; Harrods, £800 to £700.

Mr. George Barnes, the Labour member, supported the motion. In his own household the saving would be 6d. a week on gas and electric light, and there were some 4,000,000 other homes like his.

Many countries have now adopted the plan and that all will finally get into line in the matter does not seem to admit of any question.

GREAT GATHERING OF PAPER BY THE I. O. D. E., PARIS

Unique Event Took Place Last Friday, and Was a Success.

Paris, May 29.—The finish of the great paper chase by the Daughters of the Empire took place on Friday. For weeks they had been planning the same and are deserving of praise for the great success that attended their efforts.

BRANTFORD TO SIMCOE. The Courier has always regarded the construction of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway as one of the most important enterprises ever recorded in connection with the interests of Brantford, Galt, Paris, Simcoe, Port Dover and the intervening country.

For this reason the opening of the line to Simcoe must be regarded as an event far more than ordinary importance. The place named is the capital of the adjoining county of Norfolk, and it is a most progressive town, with a live industrial life, and splendid future prospects.

In a few weeks now the railway will be opened as far as Port Dover and thus residents and communities along the road will be afforded a splendid and easy access to the lake at a point where the bathing facilities are unsurpassed.

The L. E. and N. has cost some three millions to construct, and roadbed and equipment cannot be surpassed anywhere. Mr. Martin Todd is the energetic manager and represents the C. P. R. interest.

It is well known that over and above local passenger and freight traffic it is the intention of the Company to utilize the Port Dover harbor and to run car ferries across to Erie in order to get a short route to the coal fields. The Dominion Government is already pledged to harbor improvements, and when these are accomplished, such a service will prove of inestimable value to the manufacturers and inhabitants of the entire district.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

The above plan on the basis of common sense, and for economical, and other reasons, has everything to recommend it, and should have been adopted long ago. The late Mr. William Willett, a member of the British House of Commons was the first to conceive the idea and year after year he presented the matter to his fellow members, only to have the measure voted down. When it finally passed recently, his son sat in the strangers' gallery and had the satisfaction of hearing speaker after speaker eulogize the pioneer work of his dead father.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICE AT ST. BASILS CHURCH

The month of May, devoted to the Catholic church throughout the world to the Blessed-Virgin Mary, is productive of many beautiful and tender ceremonies, none more so than that which was last evening observed in St. Basil's church, when the crowning of the image of the Mother of God took place, with the church thronged to the doors with devout and rapt worshippers.

Amid the strains of "Ave, Maria Stella," the school children marched into the church and once around it, before taking their seats, while Miss Deborah Batty, bearing the crown of flowers, and accompanied by a score of tiny maidens garbed as angels, advanced to the sanctuary where, amid a forest of blossoms stood the statue of the Blessed Virgin. While the children's chorus then rendered "O Mary, we Crown Thee With Blossoms To-day," the ceremony of placing the wreath upon the Virgin's head was performed.

Following the crowning, Rev. Dean Brady preached briefly and with his usual eloquence, taking his text from Apocalypse, XII, 1, and speaking upon the life of the Blessed Virgin. Benediction was afterward solemnized by Rev. Father Dogorski.

COLLISION ON THE G. T. R. EARLY YESTERDAY MORNING

East Bound Freight Train Crashed Into Rear of Train in the Yards—No Person Was Hurt, but Several Cars Were Smashed, There Was a Fire, and Traffic Delayed For Several Hours

Caused by a heavy down grade and slippery rails, a collision which might have had much more serious results took place yesterday morning at 4 o'clock on the G.T.R. near the Albion street subway. East bound freight train 559 in charge of Conductor Ward, was standing in the yards, when another East bound freight train, No. 488, an important manifest train, drawn by engine No. 568, came down the grade from the toll gate, in charge of Engineer Fife of Fort Erie and Conductor Emery of Sarnia. The incoming train could not be stopped in time and crashed into the standing train, crushing the van to pieces and smashing some cars filled with sand, and buckling up a coal car. The engineer and fireman jumped, and were unhurt, and none of the crew of No. 488 were on board when collision occurred. The engine of the moving train was derailed, blocking both East and West bound lines. Train No. 177, extra West, which was pulling by at the time, also had three cars injured by the wreck. All traffic was delayed for hours, although auxiliaries were rushed from Hamilton and Stratford. Trains proceeded by way of Harrisburg. About noon the west bound track was cleared, and the whole line by six o'clock last night. Immediately after the collision a small fire broke out in the wrecked caboose and the fire department was summoned and extinguished the blaze. Quite a large crowd gathered early on the scene, and hundreds of spectators followed with interest all day the work of clearing away the tracks. Trainmaster Fish is desirous of thanking the Chief and members of the Central Fire department for the prompt aid which they rendered. He desires also to thank Chief Slemmin for the assistance rendered during the day by members of the police force.

Paris Officer Drops Out of 125th—Other Appointments Confirmed.

Military orders issued to-day from headquarters contain many items affecting Brantford units. Lieut. Douglas James MacDonald is appointed officially to the 125th battalion and Capt. William Waite Pat-

The nomination of Louis D. Brandeis as Justice of the Supreme Court probably will be confirmed soon. M. A. Carter, a Vanville, Va., business man, slew his wife and committed suicide in the kitchen of their home.

Nasal and Throat CATARRH

Every fourth person you meet has catarrh. It begins with running at the nose, the result of catching cold. If neglected it soon becomes chronic. Then it passes to the throat, the stomach, the bowels. It causes asthma, deafness, huskiness, hoarseness; it sets up dyspepsia and bowel troubles—there is no end to the dangers of catarrh. Veno's won the Grand Prix and Gold Medal, International Health Exhibition, Paris, 1910. You can cure a cold in the head in one night with Veno's Lightning Cough Cure; you can cure catarrh with it. For old-standing chronic catarrh use Veno's Nasal Tablets along with Veno's Lightning Cough Cure. These two in combination work miracles. Thousands have proved it. ANOTHER GOOD PROGRAM GIVEN BY THE 215TH

Concert at Headquarters on Saturday Night Exceptionally Good.

In the matter of presenting successful entertainments to the public, the 125th Battalion has won an enviable and deserved reputation, but it is doubtful if ever before more favor was won by any similar event than that which was unanimously accorded Saturday evening's concert at the battalion headquarters. A programme of vocal and instrumental music was presented before one of the largest audiences yet assembled for any of these concerts, and loud and deserved applause greeted every individual number, including the ever popular moving picture.

A delightful piano solo, "Air De Ballet," was rendered by Mr. Clifford Higgin in his best style; the pupils of Miss Jessie Whitney performed an attractive and intricate drill with faultless ability, while Miss Neva Smith delighted all with two recitations. A vocal number, then followed, the Misses Laura Wilson and Wilma Jones she assisted in the singing of "O Memory." Messrs. Elmer Davies and Hubert Higley also gave an admirable duet, while the remainder of the programme was composed of moving pictures.

EASY WORK TO GET THIS ONE

"Ever Thought of Signing Up?" Asked Recruiter, and He Did So.

Recruiting in Brantford and Brant county has picked up wonderfully during the past few weeks, as evidenced by the steady stream of recruits which have been pouring in daily to the recruiting offices, just when Brantford was considered a played out field. Witness to the fact that recruiting is not yet difficult in all cases, the following incident actually occurred on the Market Square Saturday morning. A soldier accosted a civilian clad in a raincoat and standing on the corner. "Wet morning, eh?" was the reply. "Ever thought of signing up?" "Well, yes, I have thought of it a little." "Good. Come on across." The man went across the street, and was promptly attested. Certain it is that recruiting in Brantford is not yet played out.

HINDOO OFFICERS SEEING LONDON

Farewell Yesterday at Brant Avenue Church to Rev. A. E. Lavell

The military and the military spirit were both in evidence yesterday, at the Brant Avenue Methodist Church. It was the last Sunday for Chaplain Lavell, of the 125th, as the regular pastor, and the proceedings in general were in appropriate recognition of that fact. At the morning service Dr. Watson read two resolutions, passed by the Quarterly Board and the Brotherhood, both expressive of the good work of Mr. Lavell, and voicing high appreciation of his worth. Under his ministry, it was shown that all departments of the congregation had made a great advance. He was assured of the earnest prayers of his people in connection with the new duties which he had assumed on behalf of the Empire. The Sunday School in the afternoon proceedings also partook of the nature of a farewell to Rev. Mr. Lavell, and the officers and men of the 125th who are members of the church. Major T. H. Jones and Capt. Jordan made addresses, and Capt. Jordan sang the song of which he composed the words and music, "The King Needs You." There was also a solo by Sergt. Needham. Prior to the evening service, Capt. Jordan rendered a delightful organ recital and Miss Marjorie Jones a violin solo with her characteristic skill and artistry. There were large attendances at both services and Rev. Mr. Lavell preached two most eloquent discourses.

FINE WEATHER FOR SERVICE

125th Paraded Yesterday to the O.S.B.—Notes of the Brants.

Perfect weather again favored the 125th open air service yesterday morning when the battalion paraded to the O. S. B. grounds where Rev. Capt. Lavell officiated, delivering an inspiring address with his usual eloquence. The Roman Catholics of the Battalion, under Lieut. Seago, attended mass at St. Basil's church at 9 a. m. A class of two n.c.o.s. and 21 men left this morning for a week's bombing course at the Hamilton ranges.

Platoons 5 and 6 received instruction in first aid at the Conservatory of Music this morning, as did also 7 and 8 in the afternoon. A lecture will be delivered to the officers of the battalion in the officers' mess this evening.

The base detail, scouts, bombing section and brass and bugle bands are at the Mohawk ranges to-day. They will complete the work of filling in the trenches dug by the battalion. A syllabus of training for the present week may be secured at the orderly room.

A firing party of 14 n.c.o.s. and men of the 125th accompanied the remains of the late Pte. Dean to the burial place at Harley this morning. A company of the battalion also paraded with the funeral to the station.

Music and Drama

CREATORS' BAND

One of the most enjoyable numbers of Sig. Creator's concert is his version of the Carmen overtures. A noted critic expressed his opinion of this selection as follows:

"There was an episode in last night's program that was like to sweep one off his feet. It was the Carmen. Beginning with the sensuous rhythm of the southern dance, when the Castilian pulses catch the fervor and the castanets tinkle, the leading themes gradually creep into the tone body. By and by, in a graduation, that is passionate and yet logical, they dominate. Then, swept along into the very atmosphere—into actual belief, the auditor forgets the leader's intense physical effort, ceases to wonder at it, for the message of the music grows ponderously into eloquence, and one is taken before he realizes it into the very tragedy of the close. It power, it is no trick, still less affectation. It is real—it is tragedy. It means something awesome, fearsome. It seems like an inspired vitality. The critical sense, even of him who knows every bar of that music, ceases to act, he is lost in the power of it. It is as if the leader feels each character in the music. His baton seems charged with electric energy—and direful understanding. And the dash and crash of those closing measures of 'Carmen' rising like a torrent, telling such a story—the story of the tragedy of life and death—carries one into complete sympathy, compels him to hear and to feel and to thrill. The effect is not like any other musical experience of the sort I can remember. It is unique in its power and its eloquence. It makes one wish for more—much more of the same sort."

Sig. Creator will most likely include this number on his program here this afternoon and to-night in the Grand Opera House.

TALENT TEA BY THE K. OF K. CLUB

The K. of K. Club consists of 12 little girls of East Ward and the president, Miss M. Gamble. The girls are: Mary Frank, Annie Fair, Bertha Fair, Dorothy Raymond, Helen Bartle, Hazel Cole, Phyllis Cockshutt, Isabel Adams, Meta Duncan, Margaret Reid, Margaret Loring, Louise Bixel.

Saturday afternoon this club held a talent tea at the Conservatory of Music, and the function was a splendid success, a considerable sum of money being raised to help swell the fund for aiding returned wounded soldiers.

Capt. Lavell gave an interesting talk while Miss Hilda Hurley, Marjorie Swain and Helen Oldham, favored with solos. Mrs. W. Fair acted as accompanist. Miss Reeling also helped out in the programme and to these, as well as to Capt. and Mrs. Andrews for allowing the use of the hall, the club extends its thanks.

CUBS WON OUT FROM THE STARS IN THE LAST INNING

Put Over Three Runs and Beat Their Opponents at the City League Ball Game Saturday Afternoon.

The threatening weather of Saturday was certainly not the kind to coax people to a ball game, and as a result there was not very great crowd present at Agricultural Park to see the city league games on Saturday afternoon. The grounds also were in bad shape, and consequently real fast ball was out of the question. Nevertheless the article of baseball put up was very good, considering the lack of practice of the various teams, and the heavy condition of the diamond. Mud was so thick about the home plate and the pitchers' box that liberal quantities of sawdust had to be sprinkled over these places, as well as clearing the aftermath of the rain away from the first base line.

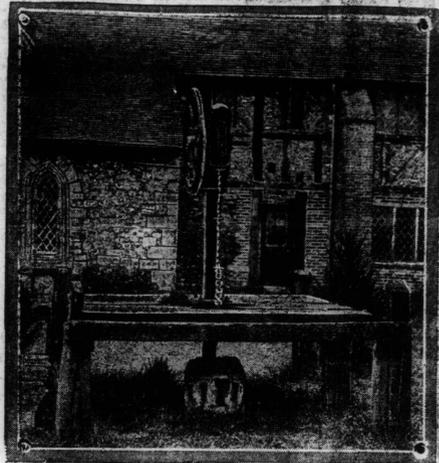

The contesting teams were in the first game the 215th and the Alerts, and in the second fixture the Stars and the Cubs. The first game was rather a runaway for the Soldiers, they winning the contest by a score of seven to three. Incidentally the 215th fulfilled the promise they gave on the holiday of being a pretty nifty team. They played with plenty of vim and snap. The second game was featured chiefly by a thrilling finish, the Cubs coming from the short end of a 4-2 score, and winning out by 5 to 4. The first half of the game was played in the rain, and because of the bad condition of the grounds, only went five innings.

THE FIRST GAME.

The 215th went to bat first. Wood walked and stole second and third. Wooden walked and so did O'Riley. Matthews was then brought in from right field, Atfield retiring to that secluded pasture. Matthews hit Slemmin with the first ball he pitched, forcing in Wood. After that he settled down. Wood was caught off 3rd, and Armitage and Bender struck out. The Alerts tied the game up in their half. Kaufman and McKay singled, the former scoring on Armitage's bad peg to second. The next three were easy outs. Neither team did anything in the second, but in the third the Soldiers put over another. Wooden got to second on T. Maloney's error. O'Riley sacrificed him, and Slemmin's single counted for him. A missed grounder by Wooden, and three singles gave the Alerts two in their half of the innings and put them in the lead.

The 215th walked away in the 4th. Three errors and three hits, one of which was a double netted four runs and one man was cut off at the plate. Another run was added in the sixth, just to make the game sure. The Alerts really never looked dangerous after the third.

AN ANCIENT ABBEY FOR AN HOSPITAL

Exactly 650 years after its foundation, the ancient abbey at Burnham, Buckinghamshire, England, was reopened for use as a military hospital by the Community of St. Augustine, a very old Catholic order. Apparently many of the conveniences about the place will have to be modernized. The picture shows an old chain well, which probably was a real modern convenience in the Abbey's early days.

THE SECOND GAME. The excitement in the second game apart from the rain, was the finish. The Alerts really never looked dangerous when the Cubs went to bat in the last half of this spasm, the score was 4 to 2 against them. Peirce walked and F. Sears was brought in from right field to pitch. E. Sears fumbled Beckett's grounder and Peirce took third, Beckett going to second. Gleason grounded to Humble who tossed to third to catch Peirce, but he was too late and everybody was safe. F. Sears then uncorked a wild pitch, and the base runners moved up one. Peirce scoring. Slattery singled and Beckett came home, and Gleason should have scored also, but he only made third. Slattery stole second, and when Humble fumbled Hay's grounder, Gleason came across the pan with the winning run.

Two double plays featured the game. Hays and Littler for the Cubs and Johnson and Symons for the Stars, pulling them off. Currie of the Cubs, when running between second and third in the fourth inning was struck by a batted ball and declared out, thereby spoiling a good rally. Humble batted a ball into himself in the fifth inning and was called out, much to his disgust.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT The Un-moral and the Im-moral

Winifred Black

THE un-moral woman is in the papers again. Not the im-moral woman—goodness, no! How can you be so crude? You mustn't say people are immoral any more—that's old and, besides, it sounds bigoted and narrow minded. If they're immoral, you don't approve of them, and you think somebody ought to make a law about it, or something. But if they're un-moral—oh, that's different, entirely different.

The immoral woman isn't invited—you'd never think of leaving the immoral woman out. The immoral woman is a "leper"—the un-moral woman is a "type."

You shudder at the very name of the immoral woman. When you hear that the un-moral woman is going to be asked to the same week-end, you hurry and pack your suitcase and catch the first train you can to get there and begin to "study her."

She seems to do about the same things as the immoral woman, but she doesn't do them for the same reason, and that makes all the difference. She breaks up families and runs away with married men and takes little boys away from their mamma and teaches young girls to drink too much champagne—oh, it really keeps you quite busy to study the too much immoral woman, but no matter what she does, or how she does it, you must never forget the difference between those first two syllables. That's the whole story.

Why Are They "Mysterious"?

I'm getting just the least little bit in the world tired of the un-moral woman—and the un-moral man—honestly, now, aren't you?

I can stand the immoral people well enough—I suppose they have their place in the world or they wouldn't be here—and then you always have a sort of liking for the people who are what they are—take it or leave it. You pay your money—and they take their choice.

I never can see anything so very mysterious or so very alluring about these un-moral persons. What's the secret?

I used to like mysteries and hints and whispers. I wish I could remember how many times I've thought that I'd fall in love with some dark-eyed stranger, just because he was a stranger and his eyes were mysteriously dark. And when I started to do it he always turned out to be as commonplace as a spool of thread, and about as mysterious as a pair of scissors or an old-fashioned thimble.

I've found out by this time that the man who looks queer is queer, and you've got to argue with me for a year to convince me that there isn't something queer about a woman who keeps on acting as if there were. The woman with advanced ideas—how interesting that sounds and how disappointing it is to find out that she has the old, old-fashioned ideas that made Delilah famous.

Honesty Needs No Explanation.

Honest people, decent people, well meaning people, normal people—these require and want no explanations.

When a woman acts like a thief, ten chances to one she is a thief, and when she's around I'm just mean enough to lock up my purse—and I hope when she's around I'll happen to have. When a man tells me that nobody likes him because he's different, I make up my mind to stop trying to like him, then and there.

"Different" people are very interesting—at first. They always turn out to be a good deal more than different before you get through with them.

I do wish we'd get through talking about the psychology of the situation when a woman marries a man for his money and kills him. What is there psychological about that?

I do wish we wouldn't begin to speak of the reaction of this and the reaction of that when a young fellow murders his father-in-law to get his father-in-law's money.

What a relief it will be when we go back to the good old-fashioned way of calling a spade a spade, and let it go at that.

When that day comes I shall kiss my hand to the un-moral woman and say, "Good-by, you baggage, good riddance to bad rubbish!"

How to Preserve and Improve Your Beauty By Keeping Your Nerves Well Under Control

By LUCREZIA BORI
Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

EVERY normal woman is interested in the world-famed beauties of the past and present. Their "beauty secrets" are valued by thousands who desire to improve their personal appearance. Each woman whose good looks raises her to a plane above the average has her own "pet" secret, and I am glad when I can discover to what particular preparation or course of treatment some particularly lovely acquaintance owes her loveliness.

It was my pleasure to meet, a very short time ago, a woman whose exquisite beauty has been a marvel for 40 years. I was astounded at the freshness of her complexion and the youthful expression of her face and could not refrain from saying "How do you do it?" She smiled radiantly and answered, "I forgot many, many years ago that I have nerves."

Nervousness is one of the greatest enemies to feminine beauty. Nervous prostration, neurasthenia, neuritis and hysteria all collect their toll. After every nervous attack ugly, new lines have been etched in your face, about the temples and eyes and from nose to lips. Old age, in the form of nervousness, stalks like a spectre in the path of beauty. If you are prone to nervous attacks look yourself full in the face and be shocked at the vision of the sort of old woman you will become unless you immediately take yourself in hand. To retain your youth exert your will power to discourage every attack of "nerves." The minute you feel that your emotions are getting the better of you or that your nerves are "raw," retire to your bedroom and lie down on the bed, flat upon your back. Then close your eyes and relax every muscle and nerve in your body. If you prefer it, a brisk walk in the open air will be equally soothing to your nerves, particularly if you take it in the midst of gramma and stress.

I firmly believe that the root of the evil—nervousness—is worry. This happy snatches away happiness, health and beauty and causes hundreds of breakdowns. Worry is an unfailing symptom of loss of nerve control. Throw off

WHERE FASHION HAS CHANGED MOST

Sleeves That Show the Way

THOSE who are interested in the chameleon-like characteristics of fashion are watching the changes that are daily taking place in sleeve forms. It is to be remarked that only in this feature of dress has there been a decided departure from old lines.

Sleeves continue to flare about the ankles or spread wide at the hip line, but the figure closely and coats still ripple full below the waist, but sleeves are no longer skin-tight and without fullness at the top.

Never before has there been such a varied collection of sleeves. Each frock seems to boast of its individual pair—no two are exactly alike.

Here is a quintet of sleeve forms sketched at a recent fashion show.

The first appeared in an evening gown of black. The upper portion was a tiny "Empire" puff of the net gathered into a band of black velvet. From this hang a full "wing" sleeve which fell in graceful points about the arm. Sleeves of this type promise to sound the knell of the sleeveless evening gown.

A smart sleeve suitable for a coat or coat-dress is made of lightweight worsted material. It is joined to the shoulder seam with a few gathers and fits the upper arm rather closely. At the elbow it begins to flare forming a modification of the medieval angling sleeve, and terminates in a snugly-fitted cuff.

The full bishop sleeve, like the proverbial bad penny, always turns up again. Here we find it fashioned of dark blue chiffon with three overlapping caps of blue taffeta at the top. A wrist frill falls well over the hand.

Somewhat similar to the "Marguerite" sleeve is the one of striped black and white taffeta. In the short puff the stripes run in vertical lines, while in the tight lower portion they are horizontal. This sleeve is buttoned half way to the elbow.

Between and between the "magnolia" and the "Leg-o-mutton" sleeves is the last of this assortment. The full upper sleeve is of midnight blue chiffon, while the deep cuff is of taffeta. Observe the new sleeves as they change from this phase to that, for they are now passing through the incubator stage.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: We are two girls, twins, aged 15 and 16. We have seen two boys, with whom we have fallen deeply in love. We do not know their names and do not know how to find out who they are. They notice us very much and seem to be interested in us. Please advise us what to do as we are very bashful and have never had any love affairs to amount to much. Would it be proper for us to speak to them first? We often meet them on the streets and they seem to want to speak, but do not.

Please, Miss Laurie, give us your best advice, as we are anxious to meet these boys.

TWO ANXIOUS CHIMES.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: There is a nice young girl that lives in our street. She is a nice girl, but she is too free with the boys and thrusts herself upon me. I do not care for her, but for politeness I speak to her. The boys would like her better if she could keep her tongue still, but she can't. The boys have taken her to shows and tell her things, and she tells it all over town. She will not take the hint that she is dropped that she is not wanted. I am 15 and she is only 14. What can I do in this case?

WORRIED BOY.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a young girl, 14 years old, and I am receiving a lot of attention from a young gentleman my age. My father thinks I am entirely too young to have a regular engagement on Sunday nights. I do not think so. What shall I do?

REBELLIOUS.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: Of course you are too young, my dear, to do anything that your parents do not care to have you do. At 14 you have many years for sweethearts and good friends before you.

The Home Memorandum

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

By ISOBEL BRANDS

THREE is more time with many homes, trying to remember some little item than is lost in most other ways. "What did I use so badly at the hardware store?" the homemaker pauses, puzzled, trying to remember while she is out marketing.

"Did you say that the butcher calls Mondays or Tuesdays, mum?" the maid asks the suburban housewife half a dozen times.

One homemaker prides herself on the fact that she doesn't belong to these new fangled styles of women who can't keep a thing in their heads, but must write down every recipe and keep a "dippy shopping list" in the grocery closet. But she does not realize how much mental energy it costs her to maintain her memory—nor how much time she wastes running twice on errands that she could have completed in one trip just because she "didn't remember" that she needed eggs or butter.

One housekeeper has the habit of keeping in one of her capacious apron pockets a small memorandum book, with a little pencil attached to it with a cord. In this she jots down any item that is needed whenever she discovers the need, and she would no more think of going out on a shopping or marketing trip without her little memo book, than she would go out without her purse. And she's not an absent-minded type either. She has a memory—she "forgets"—but she conserves her memory for the more lasting, important interests of her home.

In the first place, there should be a large, generous calendar hung in every kitchen. Of course, that kitchen has some pretty little calendar donated at the holiday season by the butcher or the baker or the grocer. But that isn't always a practical calendar—it's usually too small, short, shabby, or carries too many advertisements. The kind that has the month on each page, but each day is marked in a square, is a very handy one. Buy a calendar for this memorandum. Mark on the calendar for one or two months ahead just what items of groceries are needed for household needs.

What days do the butcher or the grocer deliver call for groceries? What day do you intend to devote to household shopping? Do you plan to have the plumber or painter or carpenter do some work in the house? Put it down on the calendar. Then you won't have to rack your brain some weeks hence when you are considering what day you can give a tea, whether it is the day before or the day after you had engaged the painter to come, which is what happened to one young housekeeper.

These are all changing, temporary events in the home. Don't expect your memory to hold everything. Put your "dates" down on paper, and consult your kitchen calendar just as you would consult your engagement book before accepting definitely a social invitation.

There are other memoranda which the housekeeper will find a great relief. Every kitchen can have within easy reach one of the "want lists" that are sometimes supplied by manufacturers as premiums. These are exceedingly useful, and should be kept near the pantry or grocery supply shelves, or in the kitchen cabinet. Then you don't jerk your head over a forgotten item, or find just at the time that you want to try a new recipe that although you'd brought home everything you could remember you needed, you did forget the Worcestershire sauce, or that you want flat tin the thing you're out of at the minute you find you need it. Otherwise the fact's lost.

Why Cold and Fear Make Your Teeth Chatter

By DR. L. K. HIRSCHBERG

A. B. M. A. M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

THE very next time the north wind doth blow and the rhythm of the chilling breeze is in harmony with the chatter of your teeth, notice yourself very closely and see exactly what it is that happens. You may have the opportunity to find out what is really the same thing in other parts of your body, but for some reason or other the jaw is especially liable to quiver spasmodically when the teeth chatter. When they contract the jaw rises. After the contraction it falls by its own weight. Then the next contraction comes, and so makes the chattering, which is sometimes plainly audible to the bystander when the teeth are in spasm. Cold, however, is the general cause of this unpleasant state.

There are two kinds of the so-called spasm or chattering. Either the muscles contract and the teeth chatter when the jaw is locked in lockjaw, or the spasm is in a series of little contractions, as when the jaw chatters. These are really independent of the will.

The causes of spasm and cramp—which is one kind of spasm—are very many. The only point common to them all is that they are spasms, and they will, upon muscles which really have no business to contract at all except when the will commands them.

Various kinds of emotions, such as intense fright, may cause a spasm. Cold, if not extreme, appears to excite the ends of the nerves in muscles, making them vibrate in tune with the will.

A large number of poisons, such as strychnine and the poison of lockjaw, have the power to cause a spasm. But there is nothing so common as the "wind from the north" to demonstrate the ability of the muscles to move independently of the will.

WILL LOOK AFTER CANADIAN DEFENCE

Training This Summer Include Attack and Defence.

Ottawa, May 29.—Announced the bringing over from England the front of a large number of Canadian officers to assist in the training of the Canadian units now being organized was made by the Minister of Militia last night. The services of best available wounded officers already being secured by Gen. H. G. Stewart, of the 214th Battalion, who is a firm believer in the plan. Among those mentioned are Clegg, of Peterboro; Preston, of Hope; D. D. Cameron, of Picton; McPherson and Snider, of Port Frasier; A. McDonald, British Columbia; A. L. Young, Brandon; C. G. Nett, Kingston; J. C. Hodson, Sherbrooke; B. B. Morrill, Brantford; Porter, Toronto; D. G. Macdonald, of the Maritime Provinces; Law, Canadian Regiment; Gough, of the 21st Battalion; G. A. R. Arthur, Calgary; and Stewart, of the 214th Battalion. These officers have not had much experience at the front, yet with assistance of men of such expert of Picton; Ponton, of Belleville; McQuinn, of Montreal; Captain M. Scott, of Ottawa, and several others who may be classed as experts, it is believed they will be able to train the new force into first class. With these men and the capable officers already in Canada Gen. H. G. Stewart, of the 214th Battalion, believes the different camps will well looked after. It is expected that attention will be paid to warfare, yet it is not anticipated that this Summer will be so full of nature, but with complete instruction in attack and defence.

Three Minute Gourmets

WHERE MEN WEAR HATS LIKE ENORMOUS FEATHER DUSTERS

CAN you picture in your "mind's eye" far-polling, steeple-like peaks in the dim, blue distance? If you can, fill in the foreground with hats made of mull, baked hard in the sun and roofed with reeds and grasses. Then add half a hundred dirty, almost naked children of all ages running round the houses, and men and women in gaudy blankets that seem like personal rain-bows, while joggings bare feet and to cap it all, add seemingly "mysterious" head-dresses the men wear, that look like nothing else in the world but huge feather dusters. You will now have the picture that greeted me as I rode up a small hill into the town of Tiahuanaco, Peru, on the day of fiesta.

While it is quite true that many of the towns and cities of Peru have more hats of mull, but the children, who are well enumerated in a small space, you must not imagine that all these feather dusters have a religious significance. Many of them seem to be holiday simply because the natives feel the need of having a holiday. At least every other day in the year would be a holiday. For it is on their holidays that they have their "fun."

This particular fiesta that I witnessed in Tiahuanaco seemed to be simply devoted to a "good time." There was nothing religious about it. But every one—save the children—was dressed up in his best. I say "his" best because the women were not particularly striking in attire. It was the men who seemed a lot of color.

Hardly without exception the men were gay with multi-colored blankets and tinsel that glittered in the sun. Nearly every one of them had a reel pipe or a drum—these like one own small lass drums in size and shape on which they played more with a will than with skill. From one end of the village to the other they marched and counter-marched, followed by the children, who the world over always follow a band, and by innumerable barking dogs, leaping at their masters and as savage as wild beasts.

A Tiahuanaco Feather Hat. But it was the hats that attracted and held my attention. They were huge affairs of mull, or cashmere, set in a wicker head-dress—that fitted snugly on the head, and from which a great array of wicker, bending to every breeze, and adding to the almost soulful sense of lightness that far-rolling peaks and steeple-like peaks of the sky. Even their gay blankets, Nonpareil, were "hats" just like these. Thick of the mill that is destined to wear one of these animated feather dusters in a full scale of wild!

GERMANS AGAIN ATTACKS AGAIN FRENCH GAVE

Weak Point of the Front
be in the Neighboring —Bulgar Active Front.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London.—Fresh troops in masses are being thrown by the Germans against the French lines in west of Verdun and twice within last 24 hours General Nivelle's forces have been compelled to give ground. The weakest point in the French line appears to be in the neighborhood of Cumieres between the village and Dead Man Hill, to the west. This line was denuded by the Germans for a distance of more than 300 yards in the third of a series of violent assaults yesterday afternoon. Last night the Germans returned to the attack at a fresh division and Paris admitted in the face of this drive French were forced to retire slightly along the Bethincourt-Cumieres line. The German attacks appear equally violent along other sectors of the front west of the Meuse.

Townshend Until

Whole Garrison Would Up Their Defeat

New York, May 30.—The Evening World to-day publishes the following: "Bombay, India, May 30.—Some of the terrible suffering of the British and Indian soldiers and the inhabitants of Kut-el-Amara before General Townshend gave up his gallant defense of the place, have been here by wounded and diseased prisoners who were exchanged for Turkish prisoners. They were frightfully acclimated. The whole garrison had perished if Townshend had not held out a few days longer. When capitulation was signed, only six weeks were left to feed the army and of the civil population. When Townshend tried to send the Turkish lines out into the Turkish lines, Turks hanged forty of them warning to the remainder to starve to consume the British food. Before the surrender, every ca
