Baccalaureate Sermon Approves the Reform Movement.

The world needs the fighting optimist. Every time we compromise with wrong, everytime we bow before unjust success, everytime we love prosperity more than we love honor, everytime we are swept into a popular movement despite our conscience, everytime we join political forces that strive to defeat an enemy by dishonest means, we betray our country and deny our God.

There was never a time when the call was louder for men, for men who will strive, and resist, and stand for the right and the true, in the belief that we shall yet see the Goodness of the Lord in the Land of the Living.

Acadia's Anniversary.

The closing exercises of Acadia College and affiliated schools, which took place during the present week, have been attended by exceptionally favorable weather conditions. With bright, cool days and under cloudless skies the country has been at its prettiest, and visitors have had an opportunity of seeing "the garden of Nova Scotia" under most favorable conditions.

The program opened on Friday evening of last week when the graduating recital by pupils of the Seminary took place in College Hall. There was a good attendance of the friends of the school and a very artistic and well arranged program was rendered in a manner that reflected great credit upon all.

On Saturday evening a concert was given by the Bontonia Sextette Club, assisted by Madame Claudius. This was a very delightful affair and was well attended.

The baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning was preached by Rev. George Hooper Ferris, D. D., of Philadelphia. The subject was "The fighting optimist," based on the text: "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." The discourse was an able one and greatly appreciated. Solos by Miss Martha Claudius, of Boston, were a very pleasing feature of the service.

The evening service was under the auspices of the college Y. M. C. A. Rev. William Wallace, of First Baptist church, Brooklyn, N. Y., who was the speaker, had for his subject "The Life of the Explorer." The text was, "So Abraham departed as Jehovah had spoken unto him." The sermon was divided into three parts: (1) The explorer's call, (2) the explorer's field and forces, (3) the explorer's benediction. The preacher is a forceful speaker. Dr. Wallace left a lasting impression on the congregation.

The annual inter-class track meet on Monday afternoon was attended by a large gathering of people. The events were keenly contested and all passed off very satisfactorily. At the close of the program Dr. Catten presented the prizes to the successful competitors.

The closing exercises of Horton Collegiate Academy were held on Monday evening, when an interesting program was rendered. The class history was given by F. H. Gullison and L. H. Barnaby and the class prophecy by W. S. Ryder, of Moncton. C. A. S. Howe was the valedictorian. The address to the graduating class was given by Rev. W. M. Smallman, M. A., of New Glasgow, his subject being: "The cultivation of altruism."

The class day exercises on Tuesday morning were of the usual interesting character. The president of the class, Mr. James A. MacLeod, made a very appropriate and clever opening address. The class history was given by Mr. F. S. Roy and was very interesting. Then followed the class prophecy by Mr. Hadly B. Fitch, which was thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed.

The closing exercises of Acadia Seminary, always the most popular event of anniversary week, took place on Tuesday evening. The Seminary faculty occupied the platform with reserved seats on either side for the alumni and governors. Rev. Dr. DeWolfe presided, and after a very attractive program had been rendered, presented the diplomas and addressed the graduates. The graduating class this year numbered thirty-eight accomplished young ladies.

The formal exercises of Acadia University, the most important and auspicious of the week's program, took place on Wednesday morning. The graduating class is a large one, there being twenty-two graduates in arts and nine in science. Five students received certificates in engineering. Of the thirty-four graduates nine are ladies. Names were read as follows: Paul M. Bishop, Modern Agriculture; A. S. Kainer, The Peace Movement and the Outlook; J. D. MacLeod, "I will be there"; Miss Helen Bancroft, "The Faith of the Poets."

Is That Doing Well?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ACADIAN.

The Government has done so well it is not wise to press the Prohibition matter further at present. It is what nearly all the 'good Temperance men' and even some of the Prohibitionists are saying these days. Let the record be examined. The Government has been in power, to use a common term, for twenty nine years. For about twenty-five years it practically stood still, occasionally putting a patch on the old License law, sometimes for the better, sometimes for the worse. It has been twenty years, or nearly since it was made clear that the local Governments were empowered to prohibit the sale of liquor, so for all this time up till 1910 they refused to exercise the power the Constitution gave them. Is that doing well? It is say twenty-five years since the Government asked the people of Nova Scotia whether they wanted the liquor traffic stopped or continued. They voted with an overwhelming majority that they wanted it stopped. Is that doing well? About thirteen years ago the people voted again to have it stopped. The Government did not heed them. Is that doing well? For the last eight or ten years particularly large delegations have been going to the Government yearly to plead for the cessation of granting licenses—the Churches have been voting their declarations yearly—petitions have poured in from every corner of the province. The Government turned the delegations down, they disregarded the declarations of the Churches, they refused the prayer of thousands of petitioners—men and women the very flower of the land. Is that doing well?

When the constitutions began to vote against them and not till then the Premier changed his mind. All other influences were counted nothing. The prospect of loss of power only moved the Government. Is that doing well? Alex. McKenzie held on to his principles, but lost his position. It looks now as if nearly every one will soon say, 'McKenzie did well.' The Government found about one hundred licensed dram shops in Nova Scotia in 1910, every one of them in defiance of the people's demand. They passed a bill that put only about one-quarter of them out of business. Is that doing well? If the census shows the population of Halifax to be under 70,000 a few will go out, but the centre and stronghold of the traffic in Halifax remains. Is that doing well? As for the unlicensed traffic, a general inspector has been appointed to assist in enforcing the law. At the last session of the Legislature an enquiry was made for his report. None was forthcoming. Nothing to report it would appear. No doubt he draws a fair salary. Is that doing well? Now no one but a partizan can write these things except in pain. We would much prefer to speak well of the Government of our province, and we can in truth speak well concerning many things, but when we press the matter of securing the legislation against the liquor traffic, the Government can give us everywhere met with this report about the Government's record. In view of this it becomes necessary to give the facts. The Nova Scotia Temperance Alliance alone has spent between $15,000 and $20,000 in the struggle to induce the Government to do what they should have done ten years or more ago. The Government gives no guarantee as to when they will attack the headquarters of the liquor trade. Is this doing well? On the contrary, the Premier, the Attorney General and the late Speaker of the House scold at the idea of any man seeking election giving any pledge or assurance to his constituents that he will vote against the licensed bar-rooms in Halifax. Is this doing well? Refusing to close these saloons and denouncing the idea of any one else promising to do it—a "dog in the manger" policy. Rushing to the nominating conventions to gag men and adjuring them not to commit themselves against the bar-rooms. Is this doing well?

The leading Government organ is out with fiery denunciations against giving pledges. What a pity it had not discerned the iniquity of giving pledges long ago, before a provincial Premier pledged himself to repeal, before another Premier pledged over and over again the building of a railway to Guysboro, before a candidate for the Dominion Premiership pledged himself to prohibition and to destroy protection before the day later on, when he came to the Ottawa elections with a pledge of increased salary for civil servants.

This outcry against pledging can be easily understood. The Halifax saloons want to make sure of four more years of business. They want no man to come to the Legislature pledged against them. They are far-sighted. This time they are working in advance and the leading members of the Government are joining in the cry—'No pledges gentlemen.' Come with open mind. It is much easier to handle a man in the caucus (if he is not pledged). Is this doing well? To promise that representatives should please themselves regardless of their constituents' wishes is a doctrine of which Tories of a century ago should be ashamed, let alone so-called Liberals. Acting on this principle explains the continuance of the licensed traffic for twenty-five years after the people condemned it. It is not the work of the Alliance to turn one party out and put another party in, but to insist on electing enough prohibitionists to control the Legislature so that the party in power, whoever it may be, must act. A beginning has been made in electing such men. Let the good work continue.

That Aboiteau.

We wish to protest and express our contempt for that class of political hustler who goes about canvassing for any candidate upon the plea that to vote for such will promote the construction of the aboiteau and that to vote for any other candidate will do otherwise. The Morning Chronicle proclaims it immoral to pledge a candidate and claims that no candidate is a free man who is pledged.

Mr. Wickwire has no more power to secure the aboiteau for Wolfville than has any other candidate. He has never announced that he is pledged to the aboiteau being opposite the town of Wolfville. If he wants to pledge himself that the aboiteau will be built between Wolfville and Tava Plot, crossing the river just north of this town, let him do so—let him make his promise public.

We are not to be trifled by, any of Mr. Wickwire's promises, and any respectable citizen of Wolfville will do well to treat with contempt that particular type of corrupt politician who, though ashamed of his conduct, asks people to vote for him because of some fancied gain to himself personally.

When the aboiteau comes it will not be through Mr. Wickwire, and the very men who advocate such are aware of the fact.

After the federal government have done their part in creating an aboiteau, the final touches will be easy. We say, and we challenge contradiction, that Mr. Wickwire is as important in procuring the aboiteau for Wolfville as a man in the moon and he knows it. And further, his indifference will be very much less after the 19th than he imagines it is to day.

Why not give your body a spring house cleaning? It is reasonable. You stay indoors too much all winter—you breathe foul air—you sleep in close rooms—you eat too much. In fact your winter life is pretty much artificial and unnatural.

Then why not renovate your whole system this Spring?

Take a short-cut to youth and energy. Nyal's Spring Tonic is the thing. Sulphur and molasses was grandmother's way. She also scrubbed her fingernails off every Spring. ## A Sad Death.

In the death of Mr. Norman M. Sinclair, which occurred on Friday last under peculiarly sad circumstances, Wolfville loses a citizen who was highly esteemed by all who knew him. Mr. Sinclair was a native of Halifax, and came to Wolfville from Liverpool some years ago and engaged in the boot and shoe business here. His business dealings were marked by strict integrity and his gentlemanly and courteous demeanor won for him a large place in the confidence and regard of citizens generally. A few years ago he sold out to Mr. Mitchell, and since has lived quietly here. During the past year or two he has been in poor health and subject to depression. He leaves a widow, who has the deep sympathy of all. The funeral took place at his late residence, Locust avenue, on Sunday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. G. W. Miller, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. J. W. Prestwood assisting. In his address Rev. Mr. Miller spoke earnestly to those present of the need of a wider appreciation of and sympathy for the sorrows and troubles of others. The remains were taken to Halifax on Monday morning for interment, Rev. Mr. Miller accompanying them.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Harry Newcomb was in town this week. Mr. Newcomb has just been graduated from Dalhousie Law School with a remarkably high standing. An Appreciation.

GRAND WORTHY PATRIARCH OF THE SONS OF TEMPERANCE OF NOVA SCOTIA COMMENDS MR. CAMPBELL.

I am writing to express on behalf of the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance, of Nova Scotia, the great obligations the temperance people owe to Mr. Campbell, who stood so faithfully for advanced temperance legislation in the Legislature, while so worthily representing Kings county.

Mr. Campbell is the kind of man our county needs in her Legislature, having good business abilities, integrity, courage and a fixed purpose to stand by the right and commanding the respect of all parties.

In electing Mr. Campbell five years ago, Kings county did good service for the temperance cause and the best welfare of our country, and there is urgent need that the electors of Kings should again send Mr. Campbell to represent it for another term. He well deserves the support of all friends of temperance, and they throughout the province are expecting Kings county to stand by Mr. Campbell now, and place him again in the position where he will be able to render further needed service to the temperance cause and to the country.

Hutchinson, Marysville, B. C., writes—'Your Baby's Own Tablets have been a great comfort to me while baby was teething. He was cross and fretful but as soon as I began giving him the Tablets the effect was wonderful. He became a good natured baby right away and is now big and fat and healthy.' AN APPEAL.

To the Electors of Kings County: Seventy barrooms are licensed to sell liquor in Halifax.

The people of Nova Scotia, through their representatives make the law that licenses them. Our Temperance Act prohibits the sale of liquor elsewhere in the province because it is wrong. Then why allow it in Halifax? Should we license wrong and protect it by law?

Is not prohibition needed most where the evils of the traffic are greatest? Halifax is the capital. Our legislators go there to make our laws. Our boys and girls go there to the various colleges and schools and our people in general to conventions and exhibitions. It should be a clean city.

Instead, it is blotted with bar-rooms and their adjuncts, the brothels. From it, liquor pours forth freely debauching the rest of our beautiful province. Its newspapers, circulating everywhere, are full of glaring advertisements by the advertiser to invite our country boys to send to Halifax for liquor. Ruin is caused on all sides.

The remedy is in the ballot of the conscientious voter. If enough Temperance men are elected the prohibition law will be applied to Halifax and its ramshops be closed. In Quebec, the liquor men propose to put up candidates who will stand for the boys and home against the saloons?

The government candidates in this county are against applying prohibition to Halifax. When Mr. Campbell introduced a resolution in the legislature to do so, last session, Mr. Wickwire voted against it. Mr. Campbell has been referred to by Rev. H. R. Grant as 'the Father of Provincial Prohibition.' Mr. Eaton is a lifelong temperance man and a strong supporter of it. Will you not help these two men to join with other prohibitionists who may be elected both liberals, such as Pursey and Smith, of Queens, Reid and Wilson of Hants, McKenzie and McKay, of Pictou, Nickerson and Irvin of Shelburne, etc. and Conservatives from many of the counties, in closing the bar-rooms of Halifax at the next session?

We do not believe that the government of Nova Scotia should say to any city or town whatever: 'You may take a Plebiscite and decide whether you will continue to permit wrong or not, to sell liquor or not to sell it.' No city is allowed to vote on whether it will legalize stealing, obscenity or murder, etc. within its borders. The law says of these, 'Thou shalt not. So it shall be in regard to the mother of nearly all crimes, the liquor traffic.

Independence is the keynote of the present age. Voters are no longer led around by a string of monkeys as they are attached to street hardy gurdies. Thus says a leading party newspaper in reference to the campaign of Mr. John Joy, the Independent candidate in Halifax.

Conservative campaign literature gives credit to Mr. Campbell for his independent action in voting with the Opposition and against the government, when he believed the latter was wrong. He and Mr. Eaton stand alike for a vote according to the merits of every question, whether originated by the government or by the opposition.

Mr. Edward Fulton, owner and manager of the Dominion Chair Company, writes, 'You men of Kings have challenged our admiration during recent years. We feel you will not fall now. I sincerely hope that the record Kings county has made will be maintained on June 14th.'

'Every time we join political forces that strive to defeat an enemy by dishonest means, we betray our country and deny our God. There was never a time when the call was louder for men, for men who will strive and stand; and stand for the right and the true, in the belief that we shall yet see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living.'—Acadia Baccalaureate sermon, by Rev. G. H. Ferris D. D., pastor of First Baptist church, Philadelphia.

Messrs. Campbell and Eaton stand for a road policy that will expend upon the roads every dollar that is voted for the roads. Such a policy would have settled the road question years ago. The enormous cost of inspection as at present must be done away with. They stand for cheaper school books and a consequent lower cost of living for the masses of our people. Nova Scotia should not lag behind Ontario and New Brunswick where the cost has been cut down about 40-60 per cent.

They believe that a great effort should be made to improve our common schools, where all the children of our province receive their education and to retain in Nova Scotia our bright and ambitious teachers instead of driving them to the west or out of the profession.

They believe that the utmost attention and consideration should be given to the great subject of agriculture, which lies at the basis of the prosperity of all classes of our people. All branches of the farming industry should receive the careful study of skilled men and the results of their research placed in the hands of the farmers. The abandoned farm should be made a thing of the past.

Messrs. Campbell and Eaton stand for honest, economic expenditure of public money, a progressive administration and the betterment of all conditions that tend to the general uplift of our people. A vote for them is in the best interests of our province. We are opposed to bribery and corruption in every form. The honest, conscientious citizen should not have his vote counterbalanced by that of the man who sells his franchise and his manhood for money, liquor or of vice. All are urged to watch diligently for evidence that will convict the bribe giver and the bribe taker. Both are traitors to our country.

We thank the citizens of this county or the generous way they have stood by us in the past and we trust that at this most critical time they will continue to support our movement by casting their votes on June 14 or Messrs. Campbell and Eaton.

EXECUTIVE KING COUNTY TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.

At the Opera House.

We recommend all lovers of Charles Dickens works to read his 'Tale of Two Cities,' as on Tuesday night next over three thousand feet of moving pictures, descriptive of this story, will be shown at the Opera House. These are magnificent pictures and are well received wherever shown. While the Opera House is not newly completed the management will, if possible, fit it up in a temporary manner for the occasion and thus give everyone an opportunity of seeing these interesting pictures in a well ventilated and roomy house.

On Wednesday evening, June 14th, a special series of pictures will be presented at the Opera House and arrangements are being made for the installation of a direct Telegraph and Telephone service and the results of the election will be shown on the screen or announced from the stage as received from each Polling District in the Province.

Two Presentations.

The members of the St. John's Woman's Auxiliary have presented Mrs. Marshall Black with a travelling bag in recognition of her valuable self-denial as secretary of the society during the past five years. Miss May Stewart, the organist, has also been presented with a brooch on the occasion of her graduation, in appreciation of her faithful services. Both presentations were made informally.

Chafed and Aching Feet

Make walking a misery to many who do not know of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

How far can you walk without suffering in one way or another from chafed or aching feet? Modern footwear is a prison house and the result is chafed, scalded, inflamed feet.

You can get a world of comfort by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment when your feet give you trouble. This treatment is so delightfully soothing and healing that helps you at once. Unlike unsanitary powders, which clog the pores, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes the skin soft and smooth and prevents corns and bunions. When the feet are chafed, scalded, itching and tired, it takes out the stinging and burning and its benefits are both quick and lasting.

Whenever there is itching of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with most satisfactory results. 60 cts. a box; at all dealers, of Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto.
