MOCK PARLIAMENT PRO- ROGUED

People's Party Brings Defeat to Liberal Government, and Turns
Out Conservative Successors

The last session of the Acadia Mock Parliament was held on Saturday evening, April 12th. A third party, "The People's Party", was organized since the previous sitting, under the leadership of E. L. Currie. This party, which drew its followers from both the Liberal and Conservative parties, injected new life into the proceedings, and was instrumental in overthrowing the government on a vote of confidence.

The Conservatives were called upon to form a new government, and were defeated on the first measure they introduced. The Governor-General then prorogued Parliament. A large assembly witnessed the proceedings.

The session opened with the introduction of the Budget by the Minister of Finance, Hon. T. W. Cook, who moved the House resolve itself into a committee of supply. The Budget was novel in the extreme. The minister, in his speech, explained how the Treasury had been found empty on their coming into power, and how they had to float loans in various quarters to meet current expenses.

A tax was to be levied on all misdemeanors during "second shift" in the dining-hall; on all quadrupeds, reptiles, Dinosaurs and Engines entering North Section, Willet Hall. It created a subsidy for all "Frogging Parties" to aid them in their Biological work; for a Psychological test of the Seminary, and many other amusing features.

The Minister elaborated at great length, and the Budget seemed to be quite popular. The Budget was seconded by the Hon. J. Dexter.

A. A. McLeod, of the Opposition, attacked the Budget and brought some of its weak points to light. Nevertheless, when a division was called for, it carried by a large majority. The House resolved itself into a committee of supply, and H. M. Bannerman took the chair.

The leader of the Government moved that the House report progress, and the motion was carried. The Speaker then resumed the chair, and the House proceeded as usual.

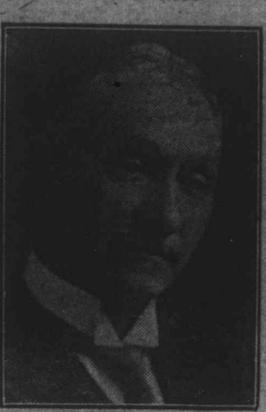

E. L. Currie, the leader of the People's Party, introduced a Bill on Woman Suffrage. This was seconded by M. M. Maclean. The House then resolved itself into a committee of the whole, and a large discussion took place.

The Conservative Party immediately formed a new Government and the Parties changed sides in the House. The new cabinet and appointments were read by the Speaker and some questions were asked by the Opposition.

The Government then introduced a measure, which was in reality an amendment to the Suffrage Bill, and they were defeated, after having been in power for about ten minutes.

The Parliament prorogued in the formal manner. The Governor-General, Prof. Norman Rogers, was unable to attend, due to illness, so the Chief Justice, Dr. deWitt, acted in his stead. He was ushered in by the guard amid a blare of bugles, and in his speech, thanked the government for their valuable services to the country. He was ushered out, and the Acadia Mock Parliament came to an end.

HON. J. A. ROBB

Acting Minister of Finance, who gave the annual budget to the Federal House, announcing reductions in the tariff. The budget provides for reductions in taxation amounting to $2.70 per capita. Farmers will benefit by the reduction on farming implements and equipment. The Sales Tax is also reduced slightly.

GIRL GUIDE OPENING

Interesting Entertainment Given by Girl Guides at Baptist Church.

A most interesting and instructive event took place in the Sunday-school room of the Baptist church on Friday, April 11th, when the Girl Guides of Wolfville, under the direction of Miss Marjorie Haley, their leader, gave a demonstration of the work which they are doing.

Each of the 6 Patrols had a corner decorated for the occasion and it was hard to say which one deserved the most credit. The programme opened with the Roll-call, which was followed by Inspection of Guides by Captain Haley and Lieutenant Parry, after which came the salutation of the Flag which was brought forward by the "Color Guard".

The knot-tying contest, between the "Bobolink" and "Robin" Patrols, was most interesting, and was a close contest.

The revival of the old-time country dance was announced and an example given by the "Bluebirds" and "Crows" in which they displayed both gracefulness and agility.

Next came a play entitled "A Good Turn", in which a demonstration was given of their knowledge of "flag-signalling" and "first-aid" and also displayed considerable dramatic art.

After this part of the programme was completed the "Guides" all assembled and after a short drill formed a horse-shoe and took part in an old-time "Sing-song".

At the end of the programme Miss Harry had the honor of being made a Lieutenant of the Company and the following recruits took the "Guide promise" and were enrolled in the company—Ruth Ingraham, Betty de Witt, Margaret Fullerton, Eileen Harrington, Alice Guo, Pauline Bishop, Glenville Spicer, Vivian Walsh, Katherine MacDonald, Dorothy Angus, Dorothy Dakin, Hazel Dakin, Viola Caldwell, making a complete company of 48.

The Guides appeared at their Opening, for the first time, in their new uniforms, which are very trim and becoming.

Miss Haley is certainly to be congratulated on the work that she has done among the girls—and also the "Guides", and we as towns-people should congratulate ourselves that we have such a painstaking and energetic leader as Miss Haley who, by her untiring efforts has done so much for our young girls, in training them to uphold the "guide law" and to become useful and patriotic citizens.

Resurrection Time

The March winds swept the desolate earth;
Chilled and dead lay once bright flowers;
The woodland songster forgot his mirth;
And gloom, supreme, held this world of ours.
But the healer Sun, with His magic balm,
Quickens the pulse of the mother-heart;
And breaks with thrills, the wintry calm;
And groves, to life and beauty, start.

No more the creak of branches bare,
Swells the shriek of the frantic wind;
Nor swirling snowflakes fill the air;
Nor icy chains the brown earth bind,
April's tears for the tardy buds
Fall on the earth in freshening showers;
Responsive, sigh the swelling woods,
Prophetic of the coming flowers.

O glorious resurrection time,
With truth symbolic all aglow!
We follow to the hope sublime
That cheers life's gloom and heals its woe.
No, not for aye, shall dark graves hold
Our dear ones, though they fall asleep,
And rest awhile; in calm repose
Their spirits, pure, the Lord shall keep.

The fast-sealed rock tomb's heavy door
That yielded to angelic might,
Set free our hope, and evermore
Brought immortality to light.
Up from the grave that could not hold
The Lord of Life, the Conqueror rose;
Satanic power subdued, controlled,
And captive led the last of foes.

Oh, death! thy venom'd sting is lost,
Spent when he died, our glorious Head!
Oh, Grave! no more thy victory boast!
We rise in Him, and are not dead!
Bring all your blossoms, dewy spring!
Let joyous carols hail the day!
A grateful heart, for offering,
Is all His ransomed ones can pay.

BASEBALL IN WOLFVILLE

Entry in League Dependent on Use of College Campus

The annual meeting of the Valley Baseball League was held at Kentville on Monday, with delegates present from Middleton, Kingston, Bear River, Kentville Juniors, and proxies from Wolfville and Windsor. The Kentville senior team have refused to enter the league under present existing conditions. Temporary officers appointed were: President, G. L. Andrews, Middleton; Secretary, J. H. Cunningham, Bear River.

The Wolfville boys made application for admission to the league this year, as it is hoped that this season the locals will have material for a first class team. Application has been made to the College authorities for permission to use the campus for baseball, and it is expected that permission will be granted. If so this should be a big year for baseball in Wolfville.

WOLFVILLE CUB GETS CROSS FOR GALLANTRY

The award of a Gilt Cross by the Dominion Scout Council to Cub Bryce Hatfield, of the local pack, for gallantry in rescuing his younger brother from burning, last winter, has arrived and will be formally presented to young Hatfield at the annual Scout Entertainment to be held early in May.

This is the third award for gallantry won by members of the Wolfville Troop during the thirteen years of its existence. The other two were silver crosses for saving life.

Fifteen big advertisers in the United States have agreed to abolish billboard publicity which tends to offend lovers of natural scenic beauties.

A Record Cut.

Moir's logging operations for 1923-24 are completed, more logs being cut this year than ever before. You can estimate the size of the cut by multiplying by seven the logs you see piled at the head of the Arm.

Around 2,000,000 feet in all were cut, enough to make a quarter of a million wooden boxes for Moir's Chocolates and Biscuits.

Placed end to end these boxes would stretch a distance of over 200 miles.

HUGO STINNES DEAD

Germany's richest man died just two days after the report of the Reparations Committee was made public. He has tremendous interests all over Europe and has greatly increased his wealth since the fall of the mark in Germany. He was always a bitter opponent of the payment of reparations. As he was worth at least half a billion dollars, his death will give to Germany about $125,000,000 under the inheritance laws. The proposed allied loan to Germany was suggested as $200,000,000.

SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT

Given by Acadia Seminary Glee Club
Tuesday Evening

A good sized audience greeted the presentation at the Orpheum Theatre, on Tuesday evening, of the operetta, "The Feast of the Red Corn", which was splendidly given by the Acadia Seminary Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. W. A. Jones. The whole performance was much enjoyed and reflected much credit on those who had it in charge. The music was tuneful and well rendered, and the stage settings, directed by Miss Pearl Griffith, very realistic. The accompaniment was skillfully rendered by the Acadia Conservatory Orchestra, with Miss Miriam Bancroft at the piano. The cast of characters was as follows:

Weeda Wanta (soprano); Queen of the Wanta Tribe ..... Minnie Poole
Impee Light (mezzo Soprano), her younger sister ..... Beulah Wry

WANT TOWNS TO SHARE THE SHORTAGE

Conference Held At Kentville in Effort To Arrive At An Understanding

Discovery of a $50,000 shortage in the municipality of Kings, following an investigation by Price, Waterhouse and Company, auditors, has led to the recommendation by the auditors that the towns of Kentville, Wolfville and Berwick should pay their proportionate share of the shortage, so far as it applies to the expenditure incurred under joint services, and this matter claimed the attention of representatives of the municipality and the towns involved, at a meeting held at Kentville Monday afternoon and evening.

It is the contention of the auditors that the taxation has been insufficient to meet the current expenditures for the last few years. The justice of the claim has been questioned by the towns, after taking legal advice in the matter. Each of the towns was well represented by members of their committees and legal advisors.

For the county there were present Warden F. M. Munroe, Councillors C. R. Bill and George L. Bishop, Solicitor H. L. Dennison, K. C.

The towns were represented as follows:
Kentville—Mayor A. E. H. Chesley, Councillor J. W. DeWolfe, Solicitor H. M. Crase.
Wolfville—Mayor J. D. Chambers, A. B. Balcom, Dr. J. T. Roach, W. A. Reid, H. A. Peck, Town Manager Stairs.
Berwick—Mayor Parker, Solicitor A. L. Davidson.

The matters brought to the attention of the meeting included several previously considered in the joint service account. The entire afternoon was spent in the discussion of the charges which the municipality was claiming from the towns. Sheriff F. J. Porter and Mr. Chalk, accountant of Price Waterhouse and Company, gave particulars of the many items under consideration.

Several of the items considered were agreed upon as properly being joint service accounts, while others were objected to. The committee seems with a fair understanding of the accounts under dispute, but without a full agreement.

BUY AT HOME

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.
Dear Sir:—I notice from time to time your advocacy of the principle of buying at home. The work you are doing for the community is a most commendable one and deserves more hearty support than it receives. Not only should the public follow the good advice given, but all business firms should co-operate in the movement. My experience is that merchants who want supplies outside their own particular line are just as likely to offend in this regard as other people. They should seek to advance this sound economic principle by example as well as precept. What Wolfville needs, as well as most other communities, is more unity along this line. When buyers and sellers both seek to bring about the desired goal, and both are willing to sacrifice a little personal advantage for the sake of community welfare, then and not until then, can we expect to attain the condition which you are continually advocating and which all good citizens should give their hearty support. If our town government, our educational institutions, and all citizens should strive to bring about this end, Wolfville would prosper as she has never done and all would be better off. This is not a sentiment but a sound business proposition.

OPTO-MIST.

ELECTRIC RANGES

Monthly Cost In Wolfville

The low cost of operating an Electric Range is again shown by the results of the first quarter of 1924. The net average cost of current per month for Ranges for the quarter ending March 31st was $5.83. The corresponding accounts for the three months ending September 30th and December 31st, 1923, averaged $5.15 and $5.76 per month respectively.

We have lines and equipment available to supply many more Electric Ranges. Why not have the convenience and cleanliness of an Electric Range for the coming warm summer months?

WOLFVILLE'S BY-LAWS

THE ACADIAN'S monotype machine has been at work this week on a new issue of by-laws for a town in Cape Breton—which reminds us that Wolfville needs a re-issue of its by-laws, long promised and now long overdue. Possibly a little more familiarity of the ordinances which are supposed to govern the town might lead to an evidence of less rather than more contempt.

During the past two or three years the citizens of Wolfville have heard much concerning a revision of the town by-laws which as yet has not taken place. THE ACADIAN has in its possession one of the few remaining printed copies of the original by-laws passed many years ago. Like many other relicts of by-gone days these regulations have probably become old fashioned and yet they possess many good features the enforcement of which could not fail to be in the best interests of the community.

In order that citizens may become familiar with the requirements of these laws, which for the present at least are the only guide given them in the performance of civic obligations, we have been for some time considering the advisability of publishing such portions of the code as our space would permit. We do not believe that any great number of our citizens are willingly law-breakers, and yet many of these by-laws are proverbially violated. There is an old adage to the effect that ignorance of a law is not a sufficient excuse for the law-breaker, but how shall they learn unless they be taught. In this issue will be found a few extracts from the "By-laws and ordinances of the Town of Wolfville" which will be continued from time to time. The attention of our readers is invited, as well as any comment which they may desire to make.

THE V. O. NURSE

That the citizens of the town made no mistake when they decided upon making the V. O. N. a permanent community institution cannot be gainsaid. The undertaking has been now given a thorough trial and everybody is pleased with the results that have been attained. It may be that Wolfville was singularly fortunate in the selection of a nurse, but at any rate it is a safe prediction that any proposal to return to the old conditions would receive very scanty support from citizens generally.

So far very little difficulty has been experienced in financing the work, which in the hands of a capable and interested executive is proceeding in a most satisfactory manner. The advantage of having a competent and painstaking nurse always available is a boon which the people of Wolfville are only beginning to fully appreciate, while the service that is being rendered the community in the matter of schools and social service endeavor would be exceedingly difficult to estimate. Each campaign that has been put on annually to raise funds for the carrying on of this exceedingly valuable work has received generous support at the hands of citizens, and as the value of the service becomes more generally recognized a still more generous support may be depended upon.

WELCOME TO THE EASTER HAT

Much has been said of, but comparatively little for, the Easter hat. But it deserves all the good things that are said. Instead of being blamed for creating the often spoken of aching void in the family resources, it should be commended for filling with color what might otherwise be a drab period, heralding the coming of the season of rebirth and growth renewal.

The new Easter hat is a public benefactor. It is an expression of joy and faith. It radiates happiness and creates an aura of cheer. Even those persons who cannot qualify as of highly cultivated tastes, can see that the season's-product in this department of utility and beauty is of a high order—prettier than ever is the correct verdict. Those who habitually hark back to the "good old days" say otherwise, but they are outvoted by a large majority.

In this respect the local shops are maintaining their usual high standard. They and their customers are doing much to encourage the approach of Spring. There is a popular evangelistic song called, "Brighten the Corners Where You Are". There is good religion in that sentiment and helpful philosophy too. The Easter hat is an efficacious instrument in promoting the brightening process. Its coming is most welcome.

WOLFVILLE NEEDS INDUSTRIES

"Wolfville, the home of THE ACADIAN" was the manner in which a letter which recently came to this office was addressed. Many cities and towns are best known because of useful and successful industries located therein, and as this becomes true of Wolfville its citizens will reap the advantage. As we pointed out in a former issue the people of the town who are able and generous enough to contribute fifty thousand dollars towards the funds of Acadia University, might with equal or greater profit subscribe a like sum for the establishment of suitable industries that would add materially to the business interests of the community. With its favorable situation and surroundings, and excellent shipping facilities Wolfville offers many attractions which should appeal to manufacturing concerns. It will be worth while for us to place at the disposal of such desirable organizations the advantages of freedom from taxation, cheap light, power and water, in order to indicate that we want them to locate here.

ONLY WAY TO REDUCE TAXES

More consistence is needed about this tax reduction business. Folks who deplore tax burdens and demand their reduction rarely do anything else to effect it. For they demand all kinds of expenditure, vote this issue of bonds and ask more and more service from every branch of government—national, provincial and municipal—ignoring oftentimes the plain fact that everything secured in this way costs all it is worth and then some, and has to be provided by means of taxation. The only way to reduce tax rates is to spend less money.

THE DRUNKEN AUTO DRIVER

"Public sentiment favors punishing drunken drivers severely. One drink of any kind of liquor may do as much harm as many drinks. When automobile drivers learn that when they are caught on the highway with even the smell of liquor on their breaths they run a good risk of getting put in jail, then very few persons will be willing to take a drink and drive a car afterwards. "Drunken automobile drivers must be banished from the roads. This is the people's verdict."

THE CURFEW

Wolfville is by no means the largest of the incorporated towns of Nova Scotia, nor yet the smallest. It should not be too small to learn from the experience of older and larger municipalities nor too large to take a leaf from the smaller and less important incorporations. In the by-laws of the town of Mulgrave we note a provision that has for a long time been advocated by certain residents of Wolfville. Although given a place of minor importance, following such regulations as provide for the impounding and care of cattle and pigs and the licensing of dogs, it is by no means of small import. It is a by-law authorizing a curfew, and is as follows:

"No child under fifteen years of age be allowed on the Streets, lanes or thoroughfares of the Town of Mulgrave, unless accompanied by a parent or parents or some other responsible party, or by giving some bonafide satisfactory excuse after the hours of 9 o'clock p. m."

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

A bill has been under consideration in the federal parliament during the present session providing for the abolition of capital punishment in Canada. It was introduced by Rev. William Irvine, Labor representative for East Calgary, who declared that the law of the tribes, "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth", must give way to more humanitarian measures. While it is not likely that the measure will become law at the present time there can be but little doubt but that eventually a ban will be put upon "legalized murder" in this Canada of ours. Capital punishment is a relict of the dark ages that will scarcely be tolerated when people really begin to think on the subject. Time was, and not so long ago, when the death penalty was imposed in the case of common theft, which today would be regarded as nothing less than an atrocity.

PILFERING IN STORES

A Wolfville merchant recently directed the attention of THE ACADIAN to a state of affairs which exists here and of which he thought citizens generally should be aware. He referred to the habit of petty pilfering indulged in often by the children—and sometimes by the those of larger growth—who frequent local stores. Our informant stated instances which had come under his observation, both at his own establishment and at other places of business in town and intimated that he imagined parents would be shocked and grieved if they realized what was going on. The plain moral is that fathers and mothers should seek to know where and how their children spend their time and endeavor as far as possible to make companions of them and lead the young life along right and safe paths.

"How do you get so many subscribers?" asked the visitor to the office of the great magazine.
"Just between you and me I'll tell you the secret. All the manuscripts sent in I keep. I answer the contributors and tell them the stuff will be used as soon as available. That makes them subscribers for life."—Indianapolis Star.

DEATH OF FORMER HANTSPORT RESIDENT

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Anna Andrews, an old-time resident of Hantsport, which occurred at Santa Paula, California, on April 2nd. Mrs. Andrews, who was 91 years of age, was before her marriage Miss Anna Dickie, of Hantsport, a sister of the Margaret Dickie, whose interesting diary is now being published in this paper.

Following the fortunes of the sea with her first husband, the late Capt. Chipman Davidson, when the full rigged ship held away on the high seas, she studied navigation, and when her husband died of yellow fever at Genoa, Italy, she sailed the "Ann Eliza", before referred to in these columns as the first vessel built by the late Ezra Churchill, from Genoa to Halifax, as commander. This was in 1864.

She afterward married Capt. John Andrews and for many years resided in Hantsport, her home being on what is now Williams street on the north side next to the river. For the past ten years she has resided at Santa Paula, with her youngest daughter, Mrs. Otis Smith. She is also survived by four daughters of her first marriage, Idella, Mrs. W. E. Bligh, of Sarnia, Ont., and Ida, Mrs. Edwin Shaw, of Vancouver.

DIARY OF MARGARET DICKIE

Dec. 15th, 1847. I arose this morning a little after four. We did not have a very long night's sleep as it was after eleven when I went to bed, and the baby was fretful. We ate breakfast by candle light, and Hibbart went to Halifax. Joe Davidson was in here this forenoon, in the afternoon Ann came. We got supper and the children carried on quite high for a while and then went to bed. There has been a temperance meeting this evening, for the first time this winter. The boys made a great noise going home.

Dec. 16th. This has been a fine day, clear and cold. John Mitchener came in as we were eating breakfast, and when I went to milk he found my journal on the dresser where I left it last night and he would not give it up till he read it through, so I made him help me churn. While we were eating dinner Hiram Leighton came in. He was around gathering the poor rates. After dinner I went over to Mrs. Manson's. Betsy Shaw was there shopping, and Hannah Coalfield was there visiting. I finished Ezra's homespun suit this afternoon. Joe and Olivia and their babies went up home this afternoon. They might have waited till I got home. Mrs. Robert Davidson was in this afternoon, they are all over to Mrs. Mitchener's this evening. The children made a great racket after supper, and got to crying so I put them to bed. I must go too. The watch ran down last night and I do not know what time it is.

17th. This morning was squally. I was afraid it would storm so we could not go to singing school, but it was only squally. I baked and ironed a today and then packed my clothes ready to go home. John Mitchener took them for me, he met Ann coming down with Hero and the carriage. She did some shopping and then drove home. After supper I bid them good-bye and came up to singing school. The men's side was full, the teacher was there and a number of ladies. We practised beat-

Thanksgiving for their preservation the past year, having all returned in safety home. It was a very interesting meeting.

20th. This has been a fine day. There has been another meeting about surveying the river to get a good place to build an aboteau. Father went and did not get home till this afternoon, then went back and stopped till dark. Capt. Peleg Holmes and his wife spent the evening here. The crew of the "Wanderer" went to Halifax this morning. We would not have seen them but Joe yelled out as they were passing. Mr. Churchill, Joe Davidson, J. W. Holmes, Asa Hinds, Leonard Lockhart and Sandy Stevens went. We were just eating breakfast. It is after ten, I must bid my book good-night and go to bed.

GREEN TEA POPULAR AGAIN

Many people gave up drinking Green Tea because of the difficulty of buying a uniform quality until Green Teas began to come here from Ceylon. The Ceylon leaf is prepared in such a clean manner and the flavor is so delicious that it has quickly gained popularity, especially that packed by "SALADA" in the air-tight aluminum packet which preserves the original flavour so well.

AN EASTER HAT

One day in March Martha Camm decided not to have an Easter hat. A dull yellowish light from a muddy sky fell impartially on Martha's little unpainted house, with its stony yard and scraggy pear tree, and on the Judson house across the street, which had just received a fresh coat of white paint with green trimmings. In her tiny living room Martha was watering a window box in which white buds were showing amid green spears; through the window she could see Lucretia Judson in the yard across the street removing the straw jackets from her four-year old roses.

"Lucretia will have ten times as many blooms this year as she had last," Martha said aloud wistfully. "No one will see my zinnias!"

Martha's stony half acre would not produce roses without deep fertilizing, and deep fertilizing meant hiring a man, and that was as far beyond Martha as the moon. She owned the little unpainted house in which she had lived alone the seven years since death had loosed the last of her family ties, but her meagre income barely clothed and fed her, and she had no strength to work and earn money.

People going by the little unpainted house in summer had not guessed that from behind its shutters Martha watched hungrily to see whether they noticed her zinnias. Her thin drab face was transfused when they stopped; there was a look on it like a hurt child's when they hurried on. And they had not noticed that at Christmas and Easter services Martha never took her eyes from the hyacinths or narcissi she had grown in a window box for the pulpit vases. They did not know that the gift of flowers to the world made a very passion of joy surge in Martha's breast because it was the only thing she could give to justify to herself her existence.

"There's nothing I can do now to be a mite of use in the world!" she had reflected the day after her brother Stephen's funeral. "As long as Stephen lived it was different, I could make his toast to just the right brownness and see that his lamp and slippers were exactly where he liked to find 'em when he got in from work, but now there's nothing I can do for anyone. With my weak lungs I can't earn, and I haven't a speck more than what will feed and clothe me. The place will get to be an eyesore with the house needing paint I can't ever give it. In this stony yard I can't have any flowers except common ones that will grow without deep digging—now that Stephen's gone."

That spring, when she sat by the window and saw the scraggy pear tree outside putting forth its meagre bloom, she could not help thinking, "I'm like it—barely able to keep myself alive, with nothing over. There's nothing I can do for anyone!"

Then one day in August a woman leading a child had passed by, and the child had pointed its stubby finger at the zinnias and exclaimed, "Prittee!" And the woman had stopped and agreed, "Yes, they are pretty! So bright and cheerful!"

Martha listening eagerly, had planned to plant more zinnias, and that fall she had put hyacinth and narcissi bulbs into a window box, and at Christmas and Easter services she had sat in church for the first time since Stephen's death with the erect bearing of one who has a share in the world's business.

Out of that passionate desire to be of use to her fellows had grown Martha's custom of wearing an Easter hat. "I'm glad I'm alive, now that I've found I can do something of use in the world," she had reasoned, "and if we're glad we ought to show it."

She had really never had an Easter hat since her brother's death. For six seasons she had worn the same drab straw toque trimmed with durable silk loops; but every spring she made the toque into an Easter hat by changing the angle of the loops. On her way to the post office in late March or early April she would notice that little pools reflected a rosy glow, and passing the old Peyton garden she would see a yellow crocus pushing through the drifted dead leaves. Then she would cross the square and sure enough, in Fanny Pirtle's little show window was evidence that Fanny had returned from the city with her spring stock! For the next quarter of an hour Martha would stand before the little show window and try to decide how best to make an Easter hat out of her old toque.

"They're wearing the trimming on the left side, a little tilted toward the back," she would notice; or, "The general effect is a mite flatter this year."

In a day or two she would take from the wardrobe the pasteboard box in which she had put away the old toque and would set cheerfully to work. This dull March afternoon, when the yellowish light fell impartially on her house with its stony yard and scraggy pear tree and on the newly painted Judson house across the street, was the one that Martha had set apart for the re-trimming of the toque. But she stood by the window box with her watering pot suspended, watching the woman across the street remove the straw coverings from the four-year old roses. Then she said aloud again,

"Lucretia will have ten times as many blooms this summer as she had last." She bent eagerly over the window box and began to part the spears with her thin fingers. "One, two, four, of doing your best when it was so little it was no use to anyone." Martha began then suddenly to weep. The bare pear tree standing in the midst of the glory of the spring, had an unaccountable effect on the scene. "Surely it can't be that its few blooms are missed in the midst of all this!" she thought. Then a smile irradiated her thin face.

Martha Camm, she said to herself, "you've been a goose! You've been so busy sulking over how little good you could add to the world by doing your best that you forgot how much harm you could work by not doing it. You may not have much cheering effect on people with your zinnias and narcissi alongside of Lucretia's roses and that new woman's Bermuda lilies, but sulking and giving up you'd have a mighty depressing influence on 'em. In a world full of busy people you'd be like the pear tree; you'd spoil the picture."

She looked at the clock. "Seven already! I'd better hurry and straighten up my house. After dinner there'll be a vase of narcissi to cut and carry to the church, and I must get back in time to trim my Easter hat."

On Easter morning Martha ate her breakfast in a flood of gold that poured through the kitchen window. After she had washed away her plate and cup, she put on her neatly polished worn boots, pinned the retrimmed toque over her smoothly brushed hair, and set out for church.

Coming out of church after service the minister's sister from New York, who was visiting him at the parsonage, turned to him eagerly and said: "O Dick, such a satisfying service it was! Your sermon was fine, and the music so sweetly simple, and some one had put a vase of narcissi among the lilies and the incense from it was heavenly. And, Dick, there was a perfect darling of a little old woman in third pew on the left aisle. She was without a single new thing about her, but she was the springiest person in church. Who was she?"

EASTER MORNING

When he arose
The watchers saw the scars that told them how
He suffered on the cross. Upon his brow
There still remained wounds that bruised him so;
And told of all His agony and woe:
O resurrection miracle! The night
Of that low grave was conquered when the light
Of Easter morning broke.

As he arose,
So may I rise in victory today
Breaking the bars of sorrow all away;
Leaving the sackcloth of my tearful tomb,
To life indeed; and like a lily bloom,
Of triumphing, of gladness over strife,
My soul must know the resurrection life,
When Easter morning breaks.

You need not hide skin defects—now

Millions know this simple way to avoid them—to keep skin lovely, youthful

Do not make the mistake of attempting to cover or hide skin defects. It can never succeed. And there is a better way—which millions know:

This simple method to avoid them—to keep the youthful radiance and clearness of schoolgirl complexion.

For a week do this
Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful. But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse—and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way

Saving Snow-bound Deer from Starvation

How they brought the deer in.

WHEN winter comes and with it the deepest snows of the season the dwellers in the north country often have opportunities to perform humanitarian acts towards the animals that roam the woods. It is only now and then that the winter proves too severe for the furry folk. Cold weather they can pretty well stand and when the snow is heavy there are always spots in the depths of the forest where it is not too deep to move and places where an energetic and resourceful deer can dig down to the food that lies underneath.

But sometimes the deer are caught in the open by a heavy fall that makes the going hard and if the way to safety is long the deer become exhausted and likely victims of starvation.

That was the case when these photographs were taken near St. John's, a pleasant little summer and winter resort that lies among the Laurentian hills on the Canadian Pacific Railway north of Montreal. They were laid on the toboggans and towed back to the hotel where their introduction to a big hay stack, and a shed to sleep in quite reconciled them to their troubles. In an astonishingly short time they became used to being with human beings and they apparently find their new home has many advantages over their older and wilder state.

CONSERVATION OF BARREL MATERIAL

The Editor of THE ACADIAN Dear Sir—I have followed with a great deal of interest the numerous communications in the press in regard to an embargo on the export of pulp wood from the Dominion and am of the opinion that the weight of argument is all on the side of those in favor of such action.

Now Sir, there is another view of this matter all tending to the same end, I mean largely towards conserving our fast diminishing timber supply, which so far has escaped attention so far as I have seen. I allude to the vast and increasing demand for barrel material to contain our various products, principally apple barrels.

Now these are at present required for various uses, viz. Apples, Potatoes, Plaster, Fish and other purposes, not less than 2,000,000 barrels each and every year, to say nothing of boxes and other packages of various kinds all requiring more or less material in construction, and all adding to the general destruction of our forest resources.

Now leaving all else out of the question, and returning to the question of barrels alone, we have the following startling figures. Each barrel requires, allowing very little margin for necessary waste, 20 ft. to each barrel for staves and heads, making a total of 40,000,000 ft. each and every year, a very serious amount. It may be said that some may be packed in boxes, very true, but the number of feet would be quite as great, and the quality better.

In addition to this would be the matter of hoops for the apple barrels, and more for others, requiring without counting waste 6,000,000 poles for making the same, a serious matter in itself although a minor detail.

As fortunately our paternal government can not very well encourage the export of this material or encourage the manufacture of barrels as they are doing all they can towards the making of paper in a foreign country, but their ingenuity is great so perhaps they will do even that.

Enough for the present but there are other sides to the timber question which can be profitably considered. I have submitted my estimates to a prominent manufacturer of barrels and he quite agrees with my figures. G. A. P.

Attention of readers of THE ACADIAN is directed to the adv. of William Sawyer which appears in another column. Mr. Sawyer, who has been engaged in the plumbing trade in Wolfville for some time past, recently began business on his own account and invites public patronage.

The spring session of the Municipal Council will be held at the Court House, Kentville, on Tuesday of next week. If the people of the county were to take more interest in these meetings and the affairs of the municipality, conditions would probably be in a better state than they appear to be at present.

When you buy a pound of MORSE'S Tea you are always sure of getting full 16 ounces of good tea. There is no chance for any error on this point, because each package of MORSE'S is weighed by automatic electric machinery in the process of packing. And not only do you get full weight. You also get the fullest measure of quality. Remember this too! The cheapest MORSE'S Tea makes 240 cups to the pound.

Tuesday was the twelfth anniversary of the sinking of the White Star liner Titanic, with the loss of 1634 lives. This fine steamship, it will be remembered, struck an iceberg while on her maiden trip across the Atlantic and went down in three hours time with practically all on board. The remains of many of the victims of the disaster were brought to Halifax for interment.

The semi-annual "At Home" held by the girls of Tully Tavern for the faculty and students of Acadia College was held on Friday night and proved an unqualified success. As the dainty programs given the guests expressed it, this was "Ye Festival of Ye Maye Queene". After the royal procession, many delightful numbers on the program were given for the entertainment of the queen and her subjects.

The Ladies' Faculty Club of Acadia University held a social evening in the Club room of the College Women's residence on Monday evening. Both the husbands of the ladies and the lady members of the present senior class were invited to attend. Mrs. Weeks and Miss Omer were hostesses.

EARLE WILLIAMS CENTER OF ACTION

Has Role of Secret Service Agent in Stirring Film

Earle Williams, to approximate the popular fancy, must be in the exact centre of as much life and activity as can be concentrated upon him, and the smiling, handsome, resourceful hero of the whole business. "You Never Know", which will be shown at Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, gives Williams a role of this sort, and opposite him is Gertrude Astor, who never appeared more beautiful and vivacious. The story carries one from the fascinating mysteries of the San Francisco water front to the seething capitals of South America. As "Eddie Manning" Earle Williams is in his element. Manning is a secret service operative, sent to the coast for the purpose of breaking up the ring of gun-runners and filibusters which were backed by wealthy Americans, and were causing serious embarrassment to the United States government. Disguised, he is taken into the employ of the very millionaire who is financing the South American revolution. That he falls hopelessly in love with his daughter complicates matters, but happily does not interfere with his performance of duty. The feature is brimful of spirited action, including some big scenes.

During the past two days the east window in THE ACADIAN building has attracted much attention because of the miniature Naval Curtis Sea Plane which is there exhibited. This clever piece of mechanism is the workmanship of Master Horace Brown, son of Mr. E. Percy Brown, Wolfville's popular Scoutmaster. It is a complete working model one twenty-eighth the size of the original No. 4 and reflects much credit upon its young builder. Those who attend the scout entertainment next month will have an opportunity to see the plane in motion, and in the meantime those who wish to inspect it may do so at any time as it is in plain view.

Did You Ever Stop To Think ?

- THAT the wise buyer always reads the advertisements. THAT it is the way to save money. THAT everybody should know of your home town's business advantages. THAT your town is an acknowledged leader in your section for certain lines of business. THAT it is a good plan to think before you speak. THAT some men often speak before they think. THAT it often causes much grief. THAT if you think more about Wolfville and study its advantages, you are a better community booster. THAT there are two sides of human nature, optimistic and pessimistic. THERE SHOULD BE ONLY ONE SIDE IN WOLFVILLE. THAT some citizens would rather knock their own home town than to boost it. PUBLIC OPINION should make this class of citizen hard to find. THAT communities get reputations the same as men. THAT Wolfville should have the best of reputations. THAT optimism and common sense should be mingled in good proportion. THAT if you do this, you will find it easier to think, to speak and to act in a way that will help to make yours a better and bigger community. THAT pernicious propoganda in business circles should cease. Now is the time for the trouble monger, the fellow who has done his best to keep things down, to shut up and do some thinking.

PORT WILLIAMS AND VICINITY

Mr. and Mrs. D. Sutton were in East Gore last week attending the funeral of their niece Miss Kathleen Murphy, who had been ill for a long time. Miss Murphy lived here several years and by her bright disposition had many friends among the young folk.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Regan was baptized on Sunday morning by Rev. G. C. Brown at St. John's church, receiving the name of Mark Andrew Garland Regan. The sponsors were his aunt, Miss May Garland, and uncle, Mr. Norman Regan.

Mrs. Robt. Mahwinney and children, who have spent the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Gates, left on Tuesday for their new home in Amherst. Mrs. Gates accompanied them for a fortnight's visit.

Miss Hiltz (advanced) and Miss Coleman (primary) left on Wednesday to spend their Easter holidays at their respective homes, the former at Lawrencetown, Halifax Co., the latter at Burlington, Kings Co.

The Port Williams ACADIAN extends sympathy to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Parks, of Church Street, on the death of their daughter Mrs. Ralph Connell (Addie Marguerite), which occurred at Kentville on Sunday, April 6th. Mrs. Connell was born and spent her girlhood here, her father then owning the Faulkner farm. Complications following an operation caused her death at the age of 32. Drs. Miller, of Halifax, and Burns attended her. She leaves a husband and two sons.

The annual Roll Call of the Baptist church was held in the vestry on Wednesday evening. A large number were in attendance and many not able to be present sent responses. The reports from the different branches of church work were encouraging. The church has during the year in addition to the pastor's salary and current expenses, expended $1400 on repairs, etc., of which there is now but the small debt of $450 remaining. After a delicious tea in charge of Mrs. Frank Balcom and her committee, a purse of $220 was presented to the pastor by Deacon O. G. Gogswell from the church and friends who sympathize deeply with him in the serious illness of his son, whom he accompanied on Tuesday to Boston for special treatment under Dr. Lovitt, who is said to be one of the best nerve specialists in America. The church also gave him two months' leave of absence.

Miss Blanche Regan, who lately entered the Halifax Infirmary for training, was compelled to return home for a time on account of poor health.

Mrs. Shaffner, of Lawrencetown, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. O. N. Chipman, at the Parsonage.

Quite a number from here attended and enjoyed the operetta "Feast of the Red Corn", on Tuesday evening at Wolfville, given by the Glee Club of Acadia Seminary. The girls looked very striking in their Indian costumes, powder and paint galore. The acting as well as music was beyond criticism.

On Palm Sunday evening the Senior and Junior Choirs went to Upper Canada and gave their Easter Cantata "The Resurrection Light". It consisted of solo, duet, quartette and chorus work, beautifully and impressively telling the Easter story of the Resurrection of Christ. It will be repeated here Easter Sunday evening.

Mr. Oscar Chase is confined to his bed with a severe attack of pleurisy. His daughter, Dr. Margaret Chase, of Halifax, is attending him.

The "Old Maids' Convention" on Monday evening in Temperance Hall was a decided success. The audience laughed and applauded the whole program which was ludicrous in the extreme. The costumes of the whole membership were well gotten up. Some of them one would think might have belonged to Mrs. Noah and her daughters. All did their parts so well that special mention would be impossible. The officers:

President—Priscilla Hope (Miss Francis Lockwood)
Sect.—Mehitable Heywood (Miss Rita Hiltz)
Treas.—Merebah Lovejoy (Miss Claire Cogswell) on whose shoulders the whole burden of the important business of the convention rested, with Prof. Pendleton (Mr. Chas. Newcombe) who manipulated the Electric Transformer, seemed to provoke the greatest merriment. An instrumental duet (piano) was rendered by Miss Lucy Cogswell and Curtis L. Newcombe. The proceeds ($43.00) were for Hall Repair Fund.

GREENWICH

A flock of wild geese, so plainly heard, passed over toward the North West, in the night on Tuesday of last week, and another flock on Thursday morning, we understand.

The music of the Acadia College Band was very plainly heard up here last Wednesday morning (9th) when it was played in connection with the Students keeping in memory the Battle of Vimy Ridge and their fallen fellow students or former students of Acadia, who nobly did their part in the World's War.

Mrs. Margaret Bezaon, of Belcher Street, spent the day last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schofield.

A large number from this community attended the roll call and social at Baptist church, Port Williams, last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Ray Fraser and two children, Ivan and Velma, of Canaan, visited here at the home of her parents several days last week.

Mrs. Frederick Baker, Wolfville, visited at the home of her friend, Mrs. George L. Bishop, last Friday and Saturday.

Miss Freda Ritcey enjoyed a visit last Saturday afternoon, between trains, from her brother, who is spending some time in Kentville.

Mrs. Arthur Leslie—nee Dorothy Brown—of Dartmouth, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Forsythe. Mrs. Leslie went on Monday to Hantsport to visit a few days with her father, Mr. C. C. Brown.

Rev. D. B. Hemmeon, D. D. of Wolfville, again occupied the pulpit in Methodist church here, last Sunday afternoon.

noon. Many friends were glad to welcome him back from his vacation.

A good many of our residents attended the play "Old Maids' Convention", put on in hall at Port Williams by members of "Lily of the Valley" division, which is still in a flourishing condition. One of our girls, Greta Pudsey, had a part in the play.

Mr. James E. Forsythe, we are sorry to report, is still confined to his bed. Mr. Humphrey Bishop is improving in health, his friends are glad to learn.

Mr. Vernon Gove, "Ridgeland Farm", visited in Grand Pre last Sunday afternoon, finding roads down there very bad.

TOURISTS AND THE BALANCE OF TRADE

One Important Source of Wealth From the U. S. to be Cultivated

The Dominion Parks Board is throwing a great deal of effort into its campaign to make the beauties of Canada better known both to those at home and abroad. It estimates that the tourist traffic last year was worth $136,000,000 to Canada, and thinks that this figure may be exceeded this year. Its estimate by provinces is as follows:

British Columbia	$360,000,000
Alberta	200,000,000
Sask. and Manitoba	100,000,000
Ontario	300,000,000
Quebec	300,000,000
New Brunswick	400,000,000
Nova Scotia and P. E. I.	600,000,000

When it is taken into account that over nine-tenths of this tourist traffic was from the United States it is quite evident that Canada is thus setting up an invisible credit that is going a long way to offset the adverse balance of trade in favor of the United States.

DR. CUMMING ADDRESSED ACADIA STUDENTS

The students of Acadia University last Thursday morning heard a lecture by Dr. M. Cumming of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College at Truro, on "Agriculture and Its Relation to the College Student". The speaker was introduced by Prof. A. B. Balcom, professor of economics.

Dr. Cumming first dwelt upon the importance of agriculture to the nation, quoting statistics which showed that 51 per cent. of the exports from Canada (in value) in the year before the war were agricultural products. He emphasized that the products of agriculture form new wealth and that the farmer creates wealth. The economic and social conditions of the rural communities were next explained. Although labor-saving machinery was being used, it was due to economic and social conditions that the people were leaving many rural communities to go to the city. Dr. Cumming made a plea for more agriculturists. With modern methods a farm could be made, not a source of great riches, but of comfortable means and of great service to mankind.

BRIBERY A BOOMERANG FOR BIG BUSINESS

Sir Richard Squires, former premier of Newfoundland, got into financial difficulties when he started a newspaper for electioneering purposes and accepted $40,000 from the British Empire Steel Corporation, just at the time he was revising the contract between his government and that corporation on the royalties it was paying on ore production. As a result Squires is labeled by a Royal Commission of Inquiry as guilty of accepting bribes and he goes down in history as a grafter.

YOUR BOY and HIS FUTURE

No one starting out in life ever expects to fail. Youth is always hopeful, but hope alone cannot bring success.

If your hope is to see your boy a success in the world, securing independence and comfort—the vision of so many yet the attainment of so few—adopt a regular savings plan for him now, and teach him in his tender years the value of saving something out of every dollar.
